Exp. Date 00/00

Living on the

in homeless shelters listening to the stories of their inhabitants.

MONDAY sunny

OCTOBER 10, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 35

Fort Riley troops not put on alert

Iraqi troops on Kuwaiti border, U.S. troops to Saudi Arabia

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Troops at Fort Riley have not been placed on alert for possible media deployment, despite media reports to the contrary, spokesman Maj. Ben Santos said Saturday.

Those are just media reports," Santos said. "We are not on alert. We are conducting normal training operations."

Tens of thousands of Iraqi troops were reported massing on the border with Kuwait, and President Clinton said he considered the situation serious.

The Pentagon ordered 4,000 soldiers from Fort Stewart, Ga., to deploy to Kuwait and moved to add two Patriot missile batteries in Saudi Arabia. In addition, it heightened the alert status of ships moving into the Gulf region and combat aircraft out of Europe.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., voiced support for Clinton's action, adding, "The message the U.S. and the world needs to send is clear: If Saddam acts against Kuwait, the world will respond.'

Santos said some Fort Riley troops have a training event coming up in Southwest Asia, which includes the Middle East. He said he can't discuss it because of the host nation's sensitivities.

But Santos said the training was not related to the buildup on the Kuwaiti border, and that it was "part of a normal training cycle planned for quite some

"As for the current events unfolding, we're not involved in that," Santos said.

IRAQ-KUWAITI BORDER

Kuwait in this area, as close to the border as 10 kilometers.

SARA SMITH/Collegian

Attack aircraft, warships sent to Persian Gulf

ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. troops, attack aircraft and warships headed for the Persian Gulf on Sunday to counter an unexpected military buildup by Iraq near Kuwait's border.

The emirate, whose troops were crushed when Baghdad invaded in 1990, moved most of its 18,000member military to its northern

The United States, which already had troops and ships on the move, has also sent a massive contingent of Air Force and Navy attack aircraft into the Persian Gulf, Defense Secretary for the symposium.

Center, attended also.

he said.

each other.

the things I can't.'

themselves

Black Man; Family and Education."

they don't give credit to differences.

BLACK STUDENT UNION

Speaker addresses

racial difficulties

Michael Jackson's hit song, "Man in the Mirror" was a speaker's challenge to black men Saturday at the third-annual African American

Larry Dixon, assistant superintendent of Geary County schools, was the keynote speaker

The African Student Union performed welcome dances to kick off the symposium. About 60 people were in attendance. Ujima, a group of African American boys from Wonder Workshops, a program in the Manhattan Arts

Dixon spoke on the theme, "Return of the Dixon said it is rough growing up as a black

"We as black men must look within

Dixon said African Americans must respect

"We think the only way to survive is that all

Dixon said God created black people, and

"I've come to the realization that there are two things I can do in my life," he said. "Control the things I can control and pray about

Dixon offered that same realization to black

He became emotional when talking about the stereotypes that African Americans have of Dixon said it hurts more to hear a black child called an oreo; because she is playing Beethoven on the piano, than to be called a

Dixon said there are more doors opened to black people today because the law says so; however, white people don't always want black blacks must think the same, and that hurts us,' ourselves if we want to go back to the basics," William Perry said Sunday. "All in all, this is a formidable military force," Perry said. On Saturday, President Clinton ordered 4,000 U.S. Army troops to Kuwait from Fort Stewart, Ga., and two Patriot anti-missile batteries to Saudi Arabia. The aircraft carrier USS George Washington was headed for the Red Sea, where the ship's 60 to 80 combat jets could launch strikes against Iraq.

■ See SYMPOSIUM Page 12

A four-ship amphibious group with 2,000 U.S. Marines was moving northward up the Persian Gulf and

■ See CAMP Page 12

black men

must look ourselves if we want to go back to the basics."

LARRY DIXON

superintendent of

Geary County schools

assistant within

Rick Mann, Super Dog contest judge, measures Popeye, a toy fox terrier, Saturday afternoon during the Super Dog Contest in TriangLe Park. Beat by a half inch, Popeye took second place in the shortest-dog competition, measuring in at 7-1/2 inches.

Spectators surprised; Aggieville has gone to the dogs

JANELL COE

People in Aggieville Saturday were probably surprised to see a dog dressed up as a K-State cheerleader.

Twenty-nine dogs from the shortest to the tallest competed in the Super Dog Contest Saturday in Triangle Park.

Other categories included longest costume and the dog with the most spots. General, a 10-year-old Irish setter, won the tallest-dog category. "He's a people puppy, and he likes to be around other dogs," Jan

Barkey, General's owner, said.

Pets in Need, a Flint Hills Breadbasket project that helps their pet-owning clients provide food for their pets, sponsored the event.

The main purpose of the contest was to highlight the project," Ruth Ann Wefald, committee member, said. Wefald said the committee wanted to get the community involved with the project. Some unusual entries in the costume category included a pig and a cat.

Rollie, a Dachshund, was voted runner-up in the costume contest as dressed as a weiner, complete with ketchup and mustard.

Judges for the contest were Bill Colvin, editor of the Manhattan Mercury, Rick Mann, former mayor of Manhattan and Attina Hanna, former director of Flint Hills Breadbasket.

Students for the Human Animal Relationship Experience volunteered to help with the contest, Shara Barbo, third-year veterinary medicine student and vice president of SHARE, said.

SHARE, a K-State organization, takes pets to elderly people in nursing homes and does

PETS PROJECT

For more information on how to help the Pets in Need project, contact Shirley Bramhall, 537-0730, or Dr. Bill Fortney, 532-5690.

educational programs for grade schools, Barbo said.

"SHARE is sponsoring a poster contest to help the Pets in Need project," Barbo said.

is Oct. 11, she said.

Deadline for the poster contest

It's no mystery

people to walk through them.

early to see Mystery Science Theater 3000 Sunday evening in the K-State Union Forum Hall. Brad Supple, junior in sociology; Jeremy Catlin, sophomore in mathematics: Elizabeth Porras, senior in psychology; and Travis Keller, senior in premedicine, hoped they were playing their cards right by arriving at 8:10 p.m. for the 9:30 movie to get free T-shirts.

Students arrived

See story, Page 7

▶ CAMPUS

Dock access vital, changes being made

STEFFANY J. CARREL

Construction is underway to alleviate the trucker's nightmare of getting to and from McCain Auditorium's loading dock on the northeast corner of the

"We've had trouble with emergency vehicle and truck access to McCain," Tom Rawson, vice president for administration and finance, said.

"There's only one way in and one way out," Rawson said. "They drive in, and then we ask the driver to back out all that distance."

Rawson said access to the dock is vital to McCain because trucks come in to unload stage or equipment for performances. Richard Martin, director of McCain, said that in addition to McCain's need of the dock, its use is required by two other campus departments.

The speech department will build sets in McCain that need to go over to Nichols, which they use the dock for," he said. "Also, the music department has a number of ensembles where they have to move instruments.'

It is also important, Martin said, for the music department to ■ See SUPERSIDEWALK Page 12

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION TAKING BIDS FOR LOCAL ROAD REPAIRS

The Kansas Department of Transportation will take bids Oct. 19 in Topeka for state highway construction and maintenance projects in Kansas. Portions of Clay and Riley counties will be affected by maintenance work.

This will include Kansas Highway 82, from the junction of Kansas Highway 15, east to the Clay-Riley county line. It will also include K-82 from the Clay-Riley county line, east to the south junction of U.S. Highway 77, Stan Whitley, information specialist for KDOT, said. The entire distance is 11 miles.

The maintenance work consists of an overlay where new asphalt is laid over the existing roadway to improve the condition of the road.

"We have a computer system that tells us which roads across the state need repairs," Whitley said. "Then we take the ones with the greatest needs and repair them as

This section of highway isn't a highly traveled roadway, he said. On the average, a thousand cars and trucks pass over it in a 24-hour period. Therefore, this type of maintenance is not needed on a regular

The only community affected by this project will be Wakefield, located on K-82 in Riley County. Based on past projects like this one, Whitley said one lane will be shut down at a time, and a pilot vehicle will lead traffic through the project area. "Because we don't know who the contractor will be, we can't be sure how they will handle it," he Repairs may not start until next spring. Because it is so late into the season, the contractor may not be able to finish the project before winter. How long the project will take also depends on the contractor and how heavy of an overlay they put on it, Whitley said.

"The project will make it a little inconvenient for motorists and traffic will be slow, so motorists will have to be patient and aware while the repairs are being made, Whitley said.

DEANA TESKE

▶ TICKETS ON SALE FOR TRAVIS TRITT CONCERT AT BRAMLAGE COLISEUM

Tickets went on sale Saturday for the Nov. 12 Travis Tritt concert at Bramlage Coliseum.

Tritt will be appearing with special guests Lee Roy Parnell and Joe Diffie at 8 p.m. Becky Montoya-Ballou, ticket systems manager, said more than 7,000 tickets will be sold at $20

Ticket locations include the Bramlage Box Office, the Manhattan Town Center information booth, the K-State Union Bookstore, McCain Auditorium, Vanderbilts in Wamego, the Children's Book Shop in Topeka, the ITR Office in Fort Riley, and House of Sight and Sound in Salina.

Tickets also may be charged by phone at 532-7606.

"We found out about the show at the last minute," Montoya-Ballou

Tritt's current release is "Ten Feet Tall and Bulletproof." The concert is part of his Ten Feet Tall tour. Leah Leverich of Contemporary Presents in Kansas City, Kan.,

LISA ELLIOTT

► SOCIOLOGY PROFESSOR TO PRESENT LECTURE ABOUT DEFINITION OF RAPE

A K-State sociology professor will discuss the expanded definition of rape and dispel various myths about this crime Tuesday.

Lin Huff-Corzine, assistant professor of sociology, will present a faculty lecture on "Social Aspects of Rape" at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the K-State Union Little Theatre.

"Ideally, I'd like someone who has no concept of the definition of rape to learn the definition," Huff-Corzine said. "It might change the behavior of a young man that doesn't know where the line of coercion crosses over to rape." She said she also hopes to help people understand the fears of rape and will share some prevention tactics with the audience.

If time allows, she said she would discuss what friends, partners, and family can do for a rape

UPC Issues and Ideas Committee is sponsoring the event and would like to see anyone and everyone attend, Patrick Carney, chairman of Union Program Council Issues and Ideas committee, said.

The lecture is important for both genders, Huff-Corzine said.

"I think it would be great to see a strong male attendance," Carney

Males don't seem to pay as much attention to the issue as they

The lecture will educate the audience on aspects of rape it may not have thought about, Carney said.

The faculty series started last year because UPC wanted to bring faculty out of the classrooms to share their specialties with a broader audience, he said.

This is the first lecture of the series this semester. There will be one more later in the semester and three in the spring, he said.

Huff-Corzine said since rape is most common among college-age students, they will be whom her Teaching the class "Women in Crime" helped her develop a better understanding of rape, she said. "You really learn things from teaching," she said.

ANNETTE RIEDL

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6

COMPANY OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR

At 10:45 p.m., two subjects were cited for minor in possession of beer.

At 2:47 a.m., a subject was arrested for driving under the for Michael Newby. Newby had received a suspicious-activity report at the 100 block of South

Manhattan Avenue. Officers discovered a subject sniffing airplane glue. Police took the glue.

At- 10:14 p.m., police been hit in the back by a ladder.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8

At 4:52 p.m., police received an ambulance request at Interstate 70 and Kansas Highway 177 for Charles Stevens of Elkhart, Ind. Stevens had been sprayed with mace.

At 5:08 p.m., an ambulance was requested at 420 S. 17th St.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 9

At 12:29 a.m., police arrested Johnathan M. Doherty, 1430 Hartman, for DUI at the 1100 block of Moro Street. Bond was set at $500.

At 12:39 a.m., Jeffrey J. Thompson, 2008 Hayes Drive. was arrested for DUI on U.S. Highway 24 by K mart. Bond was set at $1,000.

At 2:54 a.m., police gave

Timothy D. Kyle, 1919 Hunting Ave., a notice to appear for urinating in public at 12th and Laramie streets.

At 3:30 a.m., police responded to a suspicious-activity report at 330 Vattier St. Officers met with an intoxicated male subject on the porch of a house. The subject was at the wrong house. Police advised him not to drive.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage is paid at POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

- Have lunch with the members of the United Methodist Campus Ministry from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. today in Union
- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- Chimes will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Union 213.
- Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet at 7:45 p.m. today in Union 206.
- Ann Stevens, candidate for 66th district state representative. will speak to students at 7 p.m. today in the Putnam Hall living
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a Securing Federal Employment Workshop at 5 p.m. today in Holtz Hall.
- American Society of Interior Designers will meet at 7 p.m. today at Lucky BrewGrille in Aggieville.
- College Republicans will meet at 7 p.m. today in Union 212. Ron Todd, insurance commissioner, will be speaking.
- KSU Students for Slattery for Governor will meet from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. today in Union 207.
- KSU Collegiate FFA will meet at 8:45 p.m. today in Weber
- Phi Beta Lambda will meet at 8 p.m. today in Calvin 202. Fred Rice ,from the Small Business Development Center, will
- University Parish, of the United Methodists, will present a forum on homelessness featuring Michael Stoops from the National
- Coalition for the Homeless at noon today in the Union Courtyard. ■ The College of Education will present a help session for students taking the Pre-professional Skills Test from 4 to 6 p.m. today in Bluemont 106.
  - Alpha Zeta will meet at 7 p.m. today in Waters 137.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

Sunny with highs around 70 east to the mid and upper 70s west. Lows

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TODAY

TOMORROW !

We've just made this 6-pound computer even easier to pick up.

(Buy one now, and we'll throw in all this software to help you power through college.)

When you weigh the options, it's quite possibly the best deal available for college students. For a limited time, buy a select Apple" PowerBook" at a special student price and get a unique new student software set available only from Apple. It's all the software you're likely to need to breeze through college. You'll get software that takes you through every aspect of writing papers, the only personal organizer/calendar created for your student lifestyle and the Internet

Companion to help you tap into on-line research resources. Plus ClarisWorks, an integrated package with a word processor, database, spreadsheet and more. All with the portable computer you can use anytime, anywhere you happen to be. Apple PowerBook. And now, with an Apple Computer Loan, you can own one for less than a dollar a day.

Apple It's the power no student should be without. The power to be your best:

Apple

Come to the K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE for a Great Selection of Apple Computers!

Shop at the Store that Gives Back to You!

Walk ends harmony week

 ■ Rev. Don Fallon, coordinator of religious activities, speaks about how the world can get over racism with love and acceptance during the closing ceremonies of Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week near the Vietnam Veteran's memorial.

Rounding a curve (bottom), students, faculty and staff participate in the Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week closing walk Friday afternoon near Weber Arena. More than 50 people participated in the walk and closing ceremonies.

se unity by celebrating diversity

University

Parish

United

Methodists

PHOTOS BY DARREN WHITLEY

About 100 people joined in the Racial/Ethnic Harmony walk Friday evening to show their support for racial and ethnic harmony at K-State.

The walk began around 5 p.m. at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial behind McCain Auditorium.

The walkers then paraded around campus. Students leading the walkers carried a banner proclaiming Racial/Ethnic Harmony

The people who participated in the walk all seemed to have their own reasons for doing so. "I didn't get to participate in anything else this week, so I wanted to participate in this," Stacey Weir, senior in pre-med, Weir attended Atwater High School in Atwater, Calif. She compared the racial and ethnic population at her high school to K-State's.

"Compared to my high school, K-State is not very diverse," Weir said.

"At my high school, there was about 47 percent Caucasian students, and the rest were other minorities - Hispanics, African Americans and Americans," Weir said.

Some students said this week is one of the only ways for them to show their support of racial/ethnic harmony on the K-State campus.

"I think this week is really important because it is really the only thing that we do that promotes racial/ethnic harmony," Lisa Waugh, senior in management, said. "There is a lot of animosity on campus."

After the walk was completed, the Rev. Don Fallon. assistant dean of student life, gave an emotional speech on how racial/ethnic harmony plays a part in our world, particularly because of the violence that goes on in our lives.

"Our faith takes us on a journey to find peace in the midst of violence inside us, in our homes and in our community," Fallon

He then gave several examples of racial/ethnic occurrences that have happened throughout his life.

He remembered Martin Luther King Jr.'s words at Ahearn Field House.

"Violence is going to destroy us, and we must end the Vietnam War and end nuclear devices,' Fallon said, quoting King.

"Then we marched across campus carrying a casket protesting the violence in our world. Two months after this speech, Martin Luther King was shot in an act of violence," Fallon said.

At the end of his speech, Fallon had everyone join hands in a circle. He then told the group to think of the differences within themselves and the person they were holding hands with.

"Go from here remembering the words of Martin Luther King and that old Negro spiritual.

"Free at last, free at last. Thank God Almighty, I am free at last. Free to let go of our violence," Fallon said.

► CURRENCY

Banks charge to exchange foreign money

DEANA TESKE

If you need to exchange your pesos for U.S. dollars, be prepared to pay a fee.

It could cost you between $8 and $20 to exchange foreign currency at any bank in Manhattan or Junction City.

Marilyn Wohler, Commerce Bank in Manhattan, said its $15 collection fee pays for the mailing

Most banks do not have the money in house, meaning there is no way to convert the foreign currency to U.S. currency, so it must be mailed to a correspondent bank in Kansas City, Wohler said.

The collection fee also depends on if the person is a customer. Tom Rolfs, Central National Bank in Junction City, said the bank exchanges currency for $5 for customers and $10 for noncustomers.

It could also take from a couple of days to 10 days to be returned to the bank, depending on which bank is used. Dawn Day, Manhattan National Bank, said that they receive the converted figures within three or four business days.

Mindi Werne, Kansas State Bank, said the transaction takes a week or more.

"It's not an uncommon transaction, but some banks deal with it more often, so they can be faster than others," she said.

Kevin Hartung, First Savings Bank in Manhattan, said they have an increase in currency exchanges when students are coming to or leaving school as well as during spring breaks and vacations. "We see every type of currency here, especially from students coming to college who are from other countries," he said.

HOMELESSNESS AN OPEN FORUM

Noon Monday, Oct. 10 Union Courtyard

FEATURING: Michael Stoops, National Coalition for the Homeless

Ron Zerrer, Manhattan Emergency

Students who experienced Urban Plunge

Sponsored by United Methodist Campus Ministry

Bisexual, Gay, and Lesbian Society Coming Out, Coming Home Conference

Wear KSU clothing to express your support for equal rights on campus.

7 p.m. Scaton 132 "Is Homosexuality a Sin?"

What does the Bible say about homosexuality? Come discuss, explore, and reconcile this religious/spiritual debate that challenges people on both issues. Presented by Rev. Don Fallon, KSU Religious Activities Coordinator and Cindy Meyer, KSU United Methodist Campus Minister

Tuesday, Oct.11

Dress up to express your support of equal rights in the workplace.

Noon -1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session "Straight Talk on Being an Ally to Gays, Lesbians, and Bisexuals" Being an ally to gays, lesbians, and bisexuals means working to develop individual attitudes, institutions and a culture in which gays, lesbians, and bisexuals feel they matter and are appreciated in the larger society. This work is motivated by an enlightened self interest to end homophobia and heterosexism. Presented by John Danos, Goodnow Hall Director; Kelly Fink, Lafene Health Educator; and Bridget M.

Porter, Moore Hall Director

"Being Out On-Line" Learn how to talk to gays, lesbians, and bisexuals all over America and right at your computer! Get the latest in local and national gay events. Presented by Kevyn Jacobs, On-Line Activist, Manhattan Wear blue jeans to express your support of gay, lesbian, and bisexual equal rights, not special rights.

Noon -1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session "Coming Out Issues"

Prepare yourself for situations that gay, lesbian, and bisexual people typically encounter when faced w coming out. Learn about healthy ways to come out to friends, workers, and family by a panel of area gays, lesbians, and bisexuals. Presented by John Robertson, Psychologist, University Counseling

Thursday, Oct. 13

Wear green to express your support of equal rights in marriage/parenthood.

Noon- 1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session

"Understanding Homosexual Relationships"
Gay, Lesbian, and bisexual relationships can be special, meaningful and long-lasting partnershps Understanding the diversity in these relationships is the first step in moving toward acceptance and celebration of these relationships Presented by Brenda S. Hanger, LSCSW, ASCW, Manhattan

9:30 - 10:30 p.m. at Revolutions Bar and Club, 902 West 7th, Junction City

Lesbian guitar player, Jess Hawks, will be performing an assortment of modern rock, country and pop

Wear black in memory of losses incurred by bigotry and intolerance

Noon-1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session "Gay Greeks"

Being gay and a member of a social fraternity or sorority can be difficult for both the person and Greek chapter. Come hear stories of two individuals who lived this dualistic role and the challenges they overcame. Presented by Frank A. Axell, second-year graduate student in College Student Personnel and Shel L. Barry, fifth-year architecture student

8 p.m. Purple Masque Theatre in East Stadium

This one-act comedy focuses on sexuality and relationships. Written by Sarah Kanning

Saturday, Oct. 15

7 p.m.-2:30 a.m. at Revolutions Bar and Club, 902 West 7th St., Junction City

"Family and Friends Night"

Come join our conference wrap-up celebration! Door prizes, including comedy tickets and t-shirts, will be given away. $2 cover. No cover before 10 p.m.

Participating Sponsors:

TOYOTA

CATCH THE ACTION!

Panasonic' マ・ヒ・ヘ・

SPORT COURT.

Pier 1 imports for a change

1-800-COLLECT

BarNone.

OCTOBER 10 & 11 • 10AM - 4PM

(RAINDATE OCTOBER 12) FRONT LAWN OF THE K-STATE UNION BETWEEN K-STATE UNION AND SEATON HALL

Brought to you by: K-State Union
Bookstore 532-6583

Shop at the store that gives back to you!

OPINION

OCTOBER 10, 1994

COLUMNISTS WANTED

The Collegian is accepting applications for paid columnist positions. Applicants must have a resume, cover letter and writing samples. For more information, call John Meirowsky at 532-6556.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Good Fans are losing to the Bad Fans

Try this score on, K-State Good Fans 22, K-State Bad Fans 27.

That's right. If you go back through and assign a score for each significant event of the K-State fans, you will find the Bad Fans leading.

For those of you who have missed this gridiron battle, here is the recap.

Southwestern Louisiana — First play, the Good Fans blow the doors off of the Bad Fans with a touchdown and extra-point for record attendance on opening day.

The Bad Fans couldn't be held for long. They countered with a seating ruckus for a field goal — closing the gap 7-3.

Rice — However, the Good Fans came back and scored a field goal with a fairly-full stadium, extending their lead 10-7.

Minnesota — The next scoring drive was a doozy.

The Bad Fans came out in Power Bar formation and hit band members and members of the team for a touchdown, plus a go-ahead twopoint conversion.

Good Fans stick with an excellent attendance, getting them another three points. Score 13-11.

Kansas — The Good Fans then make a break for Lawrence and score a touchdown, but the extra point is blocked.

The Bad Fans Power Bar offense makes another appearance in the KU game and is worth a touchdown and an extra point. Score 19-18.

Gaining momentum, the Bad Fans break loose, tearing down goal posts and throwing punches. The plays were good enough for a touchdown, extra point and a safety.

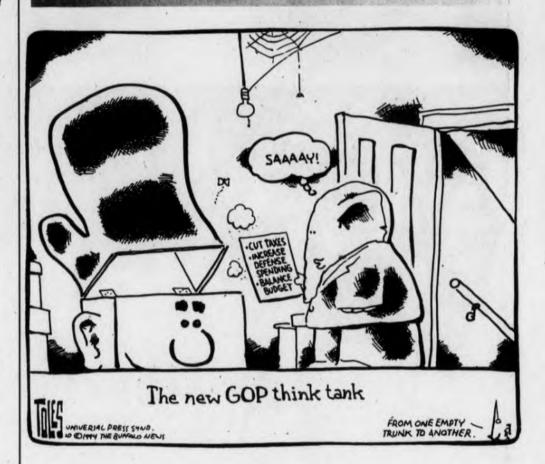

The Good Fans are able to kick a last-minute loudness field goal. But the points came a little late. Final score 22-27. The Bad Fans are ahead.

What's the point of this?

The bad things K-State fans have been doing have outnumbered the good things.

But the game isn't over.

TOLES

Heterosexual or homosexual should not make a difference saw one of the "Sex in the '90s" shows on MTV the other day.

This was the one where they were talking about homosexuality. They had this old film where it showed this man who was obviously paid to look perverted, and he was supposedly hitting on a young, teen-age boy.

The announcer's voice said something like this:

"John is sick. Oh, he doesn't have some illness like smallpox or leukemia, but it's just as dangerous. You see, John is a homosexual. A homosexual is someone who demands sex with people of their own gender."

Yeah, right. Demands. Yup. Just like heterosexuals demand sex with the opposite gender.

The reason I bring this up is because this week is Coming Out, Coming Home Week. Events are planned for and by the gay community.

Yes, there is a homosexual community at K-State. The sad thing is that many people are still afraid to "come out."

LOLA

SHRIMPLIN

Faced with ostracism by their friends and family, it's understandable why they wouldn't want to give that up for a future that is cut off from everyone they have ever loved.

I would love to say that I can't understand why they might be afraid. I can't say that, though.

See, during a discussion one summer, one of my friends said something to me that left me feeling like I'd been shot.

We were talking about relationships and fears, and she asked if I was a lesbian. I said I didn't think so. Then she told me not to ever tell her if I was, or she couldn't be my friend anymore.

We have been friends for more than 10 years, but all that would be meaningless if I were lesbian or bisexual.

why?

What does it matter?

There's a lot I do and think and feel. None of that has anything to do with my sexual orientation.

I like Star Trek, Deep Space 9 and The X Files. I read Anne Rice and Stephen King. I have a cat and love horses.

So do a lot of people. So tell me, please, where any of that has anything to do with anyone's sexuality.

The point being, there are many parts to every person, homosexual or otherwise. Both sexualities feel the same love for their partners, the same hate, the same fears.

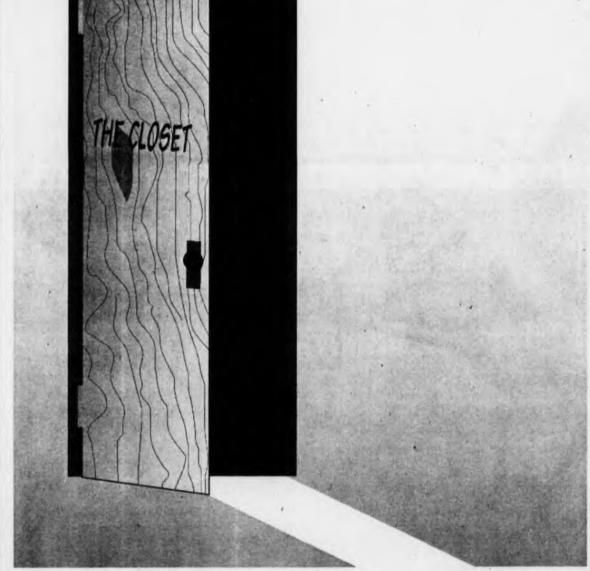

So why can't people look beyond what happens in the bedroom and see what really means something? Why can't they see the qualities that make John a great person or Mary a terrific listener?

Sexuality is but a small part of the complete makeup of a person.

People can be terribly sweet or complete asses. That never changes, and it doesn't depend on whether they are homosexual or heterosexual. It depends on what kind of a person they are.

Not who they choose to love.

Lola Shrimplin is a senior in politicial science.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ ZEV KEDEM

Speaker turnout more than expected Dear Editor,

Amazing, simply amazing. That's the only word that the Union Program Council can find that explains the attendance at Zev Kedem's lecture on Thursday, Oct. 6. For a crowd of over 1,000 to turn out at 4 p.m. in the afternoon on the day of the KU/K-State football game, no other word comes close to amazing. It is simply a testimony to K-State, Manhattan, Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week and the message of a survivor of the Holocaust. UPC is deeply honored to have brought in such an amazing speaker and even more honored by K-State's turnout. We do realize that the program was not without problems, however.

We made a mistake. For any student, faculty member, K-State staff or community member who were unable to get seats in Union Forum Hall for the Zev Kedem lecture, we apologize. Forum Hall only seats approximately 550 people, so there was an obvious lack of seating. Many people have asked UPC why the lecture was not held in McCain Auditorium. The simple answer is that, we were incorrect when estimating our anticipated crowd size. Given the situations, UPC decided that the Union's Forum Hall was large enough to handle this lecture. Let me explain how we arrived at this decision.

First of all, the lecture took place on the same day as the KU/K-State football game. This was the only day that Mr. Kedem was available to speak. We know, we tried to find an alternate date. Knowing the intensity of the KU/ K-State rivalry, we knew that many K-Staters would be going to Lawrence and would be unable to attend the lecture. We estimated that this would decrease the crowd size.

Second, we began the lecture at 4 p.m. to prevent it from occurring at the exact same time as the KU/K-State football game. UPC estimated that even more students and other K-State fans would be unable to attend this important lecture if we held it during the evening. By moving the lecture to the late afternoon, UPC predicted the crowd would be even smaller because 4 p.m. is not a prime time for an event of this magnitude. Because of this as well as the first reason, UPC felt that Forum Hall would be large enough to hold Kedem's lecture.

We apologize for any inconvenience. Please understand that we accommodated everyone as best as possible, given the circumstances. The Union staff and UPC worked quickly to provide a viable solution to an unforeseen problem.

Brent Coverdale Union Program Council president

GOAL POSTS

Fans forgot childhood lessons

Dear Editor,

Ten p.m., property damage in excess of $2,000 reported to Memorial Stadium. I'm not sure, but I think that is what the Kansas University newspaper said Friday in its police bulletin. In light of Thursday night's escapade over in Lawrence, I just have to sit back and recall all of those valuable lessons my father taught me. You know, the really lasting ones: always put the oil plug back in the oil pan, never lick the fenceposts in the middle of winter, always be careful when zipping up your pants, and almost as important, don't go into other people's houses and break things. I really wish I could have been in Lawrence Thursday night. Mostly so I wouldn't have to see Mitch Running get his head ripped off 50 times on ESPN replay, but also maybe I could have stopped a few over-zealous K-State fans from rushing the field and tearing down KU's goalposts. I know it's been a long time since we've won in KU, and it's great to go 4-0 on national television. But, I also know it is rude to tear up someone else's stadium. This does not mean, however, I condone tearing up our stadium. I just have to wonder what would happen if we lost, and the opposing team's fans tore down our goalposts. Something tells me Riley County jail would be full that night.

I don't want to give the impression I don't like K-State athletics. In fact, I would like to congratulate the team. You guys did a helluva job.

But after the game was over, instead of calling my friend at KU to gloat, I felt I had to call and apologize.

Scott Higbee senior in secondary education

GOAL POSTS

Fans in Lawrence did well

Dear Editor,

As the clock was ticking off the last minute of the Wildcat victory over the University of Kansas, I could sense that something fishy was going on. Over the crowd noise at Champion Bar and Grills, and believe me we were making noise, I thought I could hear the famous chant: Goalpost! Goalpost! Goalpost! Was it possible that the enthusiastic fans at the game would tear down the opponent's goalpost? Yes!

As everybody knows, it was 1969 the last time we beat KU in Lawrence. This was a big win for the football team, and I would like to congratulate them. As for the fans, they were loud. There was plenty of them, and most importantly, they were not afraid to show their purple pride.

I know there will be plenty of articles on how tasteless it is to tear down the opponent's goalpost. I just wanted to say to all the fans that were at the game and on that field that you were wonderful. There is no need to cry over what happened Thursday night. Is it just possible to savor the victory instead of complaining about the goalpost, or pieces of the goalpost, in the Collegian? Try spending your time calling Biff in Lawrence telling him your thoughts on the game.

Jim Maurer senior in milling science and management

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

Armed and dangerous, rubber band-it Luke Hull, Manhattan, attempts to take cover behind his mother, Bonnie, while enjoying his purchase from the Pumpkin Patch Craft Fair Saturday afternoon at CiCo Park. The fair was sponsored by the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

PENITENTIARIES

Prisoners learn trade, sell goods

SERA L. TANK

Next time you wash your hands on campus and notice how well the soap works, you might want to extend your gratitude to a Kansas

Soap is just one of the goods and services K-State gets from the Kansas Correctional Industries.

KCI sells state agencies items such as calculators and paint and services like furniture reupholstering and automobile restoration.

Jan Johnson, staff assistant to the secretary of corrections for the state of Kansas, said KCI is a program in which prisoners work for the state making goods for state agencies.

"The purpose is to provide meaningful employment to inmates while they are incarcerated and teach them a skill which will be helpful to them once they are released from the prison system," she said.

Prisoners apply to be admitted into the program, Johnson said.

"They are hired on the basis of their work history, their skills, their behavior record since they have been in prison and so on," she said.

Lenny Ewell, director of administration for KCI, said the crime the inmate committed is not taken into consideration.

"We have inmates who were convicted of violent crimes as well as non-violent offenders working in several areas of KCI," Ewell said.

Randy Slover, director of K-State facilities, said the state, as well as K-State, benefits from state agencies buying items from KCI.

"It keeps money in the state system, and most of the items are cheaper than what you can buy from private companies," he said.

According to the Prison Made Goods Act, "All state agencies shall purchase from the secretary all articles or products required by such agencies that are produced by inmates and no such articles shall be purchased from any other source."

Ewell said K-State is one of the largest customers of KCI.

"We are able to sell them quality products at very low prices. I think that is a definite plus," he said.

Slover said most of the items that KCI sells are quality products.

"Many items are as qualityoriented as you can purchase on the outside," he said.

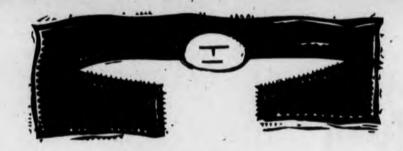

There are exceptions made if an agency does not feel that an item is of high quality. K-State gets an exception for floor wax, Norm Root, procurement officer of the facilities store room, said.

"We filed an appeal and did several tests to prove to the state that the wax just didn't work as well as we needed. They tried to improve the product, but it was never up to our satisfaction.

Slover said this is one of the few exceptions of the products.

"Most of Kansas Correctional Industries products are of very high quality," he said. ,

Fatal obsession

If you or someone you know, male or female...

- is preoccupied with weight or body size
- eats large amounts of food followed by self-induced vomiting
- wuses laxatives or diuretics to control weight
- prefers to eat alone or eats secretly
- exercises compulsively
- denies he or she has a problem
- expresses feelings of being fat although they may even be underweight
- avoids meals (though they may prepare them)

...it may signal an eating disorder.

Most persons cannot stop their self-destructive behavior without professional help. Left untreated, the disorders can result in severe health damage, even death. Find out about eating disorders and what help is available. Attend the free community forum, The Body Betrayed: Body Image & Eating Disorders.

When: Tuesday, October 11 7 to 8:30 pm

Forum Hall in the Kansas State University student union Where:

Sponsors: KSU University Counseling Services & The Menninger Clinic

More info: Call KSU University Counseling Services, 532-6927

or The Menninger Clinic, 1-800-351-9058, extension 6100

The forum will include:

- A presentation about body image & eating disorders by Jennifer Kennedy, MD, and Kathryn Zerbe, MD, both from Menninger
- ▼ Infomation about treatments & resources
- ₹ Question & answer period with five panelists, including Dorothy Farrand, PhD, KSU Counseling services; Deb Doubek, MD, family practice, Manhattan; Tamara Hawk, LSCSW, private practice, Manhattan; Maggie Davie, MS, counselor, Manhattan High School; and Theresa Chesnut, who is recovering from an eating disorder
- Reception & opportunity to obtain an autographed copy of Dr. Zerbe's book, The Body Betrayed: Women, Eating Disorders, and Treatment

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2)

$3.50 for faculty/staff

$4.25 for the public

AVAILABLE NOW

outside Union Stateroom or in 103 Kedzie

Questions? Call 532-6555

kansas state university

Picture yourself in the 1995 Royal Purple we've been there before; we'll be there again'

Photos will be taken from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and from 4-8 p.m., with the exception of fraternities, which will be taken from 3-8 p.m., on the days listed below. If you live in a residence hall, sorority or fraternity house or a scholarship hall, the photographer will come to your place of residence to take your portrait. If you are a fraternity or sorority member but live in a residence hall or off campus, please have your photo taken with your house. Watch the Collegian for locations and additional details

PORTRAIT SCHEDULE STARTING SEPT. 6, 1994

Acacia Sept. 26	Lambda Chi Alpha Oct. 3	Ford HallSept. 6
Alpha Chi Omega Sept. 6	Omega Psi Phi Oct. 17	Goodnow HallSept. 22
Alpha Delta Pi Sept. 13	Phi Beta Sigma Oct. 17	Haymaker HallSept. 7
Alpha Gamma Rho Sept. 30	Phi Delta Theta Sept. 28	Marlatt HallSept. 23
Alpha Kappa Alpha Oct. 17	Phi Gamma Delta Oct. 7	Moore Hall Sept. 8
Alpha Kappa Lambda Oct. 17	Phi Kappa TauOct. 7	Putnam HallSept. 20
Alpha Phi Alpha Oct. 17	Phi Kappa Theta Sept. 27	Smith Scholarship House Oct. 5
Alpha Tau Omega Oct. 11	Pi Beta PhiSept. 8	Smurthwaite Sept. 7
Alpha Xi Delta Sept. 12	Pi Kappa AlphaSept. 29	Van Zile HallSept. 21
Beta Sigma PsiOct. 12	Pi Kappa Phi Oct. 6	West HallSept. 9
Beta Theta Pi Sept. 29	Sigma Alpha Epsilon Oct. 6	K-State Salina Oct. 13
Chi Omega Sept. 22	Sigma Chi Oct. 10	Off Campus
Delta Chi Oct. 17	Sigma Gamma Rho Oct. 17	(in Union 209) Sept. 12-16
Delta Delta DeltaSept. 19	Sigma KappaSept. 15	Make-up pictures
Delta Sigma PhiOct. 11	Sigma NuSept. 27	(in Union 209) Oct. 18-21
Delta Sigma Theta Oct. 17	Sigma Phi Epsilon Oct. 3	Organizations
Delta Tau Delta Oct. 4	Sigma Sigma Sigma Sept. 16	(in McCain 324) / Oct 12-Nov 9
Delta UpsilonSept. 26	Tau Kappa Epsilon Oct. 10
FarmHouse Oct. 5	Theta XiOct. 4	To be
Gamma Phi BetaSept. 9	Triangle Sept. 30	Klar
Kappa Alpha Psi Oct. 17	Zeta Phi Beta Oct. 17	- STUDIO
Kappa Alpha Theta Sept. 23	Alpha of Clovia Sept. 21	SPOYAL
Kappa Kappa Gamma Sept. 20	Boyd Hall Sept. 19	W. 2. 2.
Kappa Sigma Sept. 28	Edwards Hall Oct. 17	Blakes STUDIO STUDIO

RESERVE YOUR COPY OF THE 1995 ROYAL PURPLE NOW!

To reserve your copy for $16 and pay for your portrait sitting fee for $5, fill out the information below and drop it off at or send it to: Student Publications Inc., 103 Kedzie Hall, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. Make checks payable to Student Publications Inc. ($16 for book only and $21 for book and portrait picture.)

Name	ID.	Number
School Address	Pho	one
	T 1 ( (1 D 1D 1

Due to ABC-Television coverage of the K-State-Nebraska football game on Oct. 15, several time changes have been at 9 a.m. The will-call booth will also open at 9 a.m. The game is a sell-out, so no tickets will be available for sale.

Additionally, cars left in the parking lot at Bramlage Coliseum after K-State's Midnight Madness the night before the game will be towed at the owner's expense.

OCTOBER 10, 1994

▶ COLUMN Wildcats capable of beating NU

Last Friday afternoon, I opened up the sports section of a newspaper and couldn't believe my eyes.

Sitting there, buried in text, was the Big Eight Conference standings. K-State was the No. I team on the list.

Hmmm. Yes, it's early. Much too early to sit and think what the standings will look like at the end of November.

Heck, on Friday, Nebraska and Colorado hadn't even played against a Big-Eight team yet.

But it did get me thinking. Sure, the Wildcats were on top of the chart with just one conference victory, but what if ...

What if the Wildcats can upset the No. 2ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers Saturday on ABC in Manhattan? If someone would have asked me that same question in the past, I would have quickly responded, "Are you crazy?" The question is no longer CAN the Wildcats beat the Cornhuskers. The question now is, WILL they be able to do it? K-State has evolved from a potential threat for a middle-of-the-pack finish in the Big Eight to a potential threat for the league championship

The fact that Nebraska will be starting either a walk on or a free safety at quarterback makes this victory even a stronger possibility

"Maybe we'll hold auditions on Monday,' Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said in the Kansas City Star on Sunday Anytime you talk about your quarterback position like that, your team will feel the effects. A team's quarterback must be the most confident player on the field. If the Cornhuskers don't believe in their quarterback, they won't believe in themselves. I don't care if it is the No. 2 team in the

DEREK

SIMMONS

Here are a few other reasons why I believe K-State is due for a big-time win against Nebraska:

■ History. The Wildcats have been flirting with an upset for the last three years. Sure, all have been losses (38-31 in 1991, 38-24'in 1992 and 45-28 in 1993) but none have been

K-State's passing attack. This element of the K-State offense is by far the best in the league. Nebraska always has had trouble defending the pass.

If the Wildcats' offense front can provide Chad May ample time to scan receivers, it could get ugly ■ The Wildcats' bend-but-don't-break defense.

At times, the K-State defense has been awesome (i.e., the shutout of Minnesota). But at times, it hasn't looked so hot (i.e., the 13 Kansas points in the fourth quarter). However, I think this group will shine against the Cornhuskers.

Look for Nebraska's fifth-string quarterback to play in the third quarter.

I'm bored with Nebraska. Is anyone else tired of seeing the Cornhuskers lose in the Orange Bowl? I think it's time for someone else to have a shot.

■ Home-field advantage. I've already heard Nebraska fans complaining about not being able to get a ticket to the game. May will finally be able to hear himself think, allowing him to be audible at will.

■ The players believe it. Not only do the Wildcats believe they can beat the Huskers, the K-State fans do, too. That is a deadly combination.

K-State running back J.J. Smith was optimistic about the Nebraska game just minutes after the Wildcats beat Kansas in

"We're always doing something, making a step in some kind of way," Smith said.

"We just keep making steps. We haven't beaten Nebraska, so now we have another challenge," he said.

Opportunities like the one that will take place Saturday don't happen every day. I think the K-State team understands it and will capitalize on it.

Just for the fun of it, I'll eyen throw in a prediction: K-State 34, Nebraska 31.

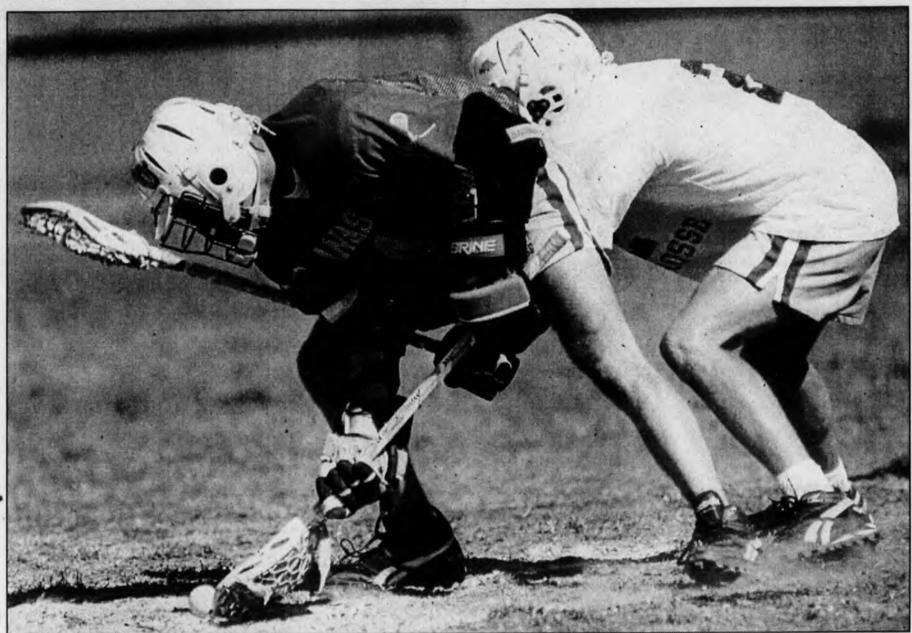

But if the Cats start feeling the pressure, you know, the pressure of millions of people watching as the No. 16 and No. 2 teams battle in front of a record-setting audience at KSU Stadium, they can always remember what their own quarterback said.

"They put their pants on the same way we do," May said.

announced by KSU Athletic Department officials.

Kickoff has been moved back to 11 a.m. The KSU Stadium parking lots will open at 6 a.m. Saturday. Stadium gates will open

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Members of the K-State lacrosse team battle for possession of the ball during an intrasquad scrimmage Sunday at Memorial Stadium. The Wildcats lost to Kansas and Kansas City during the K-State Invitational on Saturday.

State gains experience despite losses

WESS HUDELSON

The men's lacrosse team competed in the K-State Invitational this Saturday and Sunday at Anneberg Park and Memorial

Saturday, the squad dropped two tight games to the University of Kansas and Kansas City.

I feel our defense played tough," club president Curt Thurman said. "We just couldn't put the ball in the net."

The Wildcats were defeated by Jayhawks 8-5 and by Kansas City 5-4 both on Saturday.

Against Kansas, the team fell behind early before picking up the slack toward the end of the contest.

"Overall, I was happy with the way we played. We just have to do some work on offense this week," Thurman said. "We didn't move the ball well at Goals didn't come easy against Kansas City, either. Thurman said the defense played well during the contest, but the offense could only muster four goals. Sunday, the team participated against one another in an intrasquad scrimmage. The game offered an opportunity for players to get into the game who may not otherwise get to play much, Thurman

"We used today to enhance our stick skills," Thurman said. "Our biggest goal for today was to get everybody into the game for a long period of time."

Thurman played only in the second half of the game for the purple team. The purple team upended the white team 7-6.

After trailing the white team 4-2 at halftime, the purple team stormed back to tie the game 4-4 midway through the third quarter on a goal by attack Jason

The purple added to its lead on two goals by Chris Irrig, making the score o-4. Irrig led all scorers during the game with four goals.

Late in the fourth quarter, the white team cut the lead to 7-6.

The white squad had two chances to tie the game in the final minute of play. but the purple defense denied the white team's shots and cleared the ball for the victory.

Before the start of the game, a helicopter from Fort Riley landed and took off from the middle of Memorial Stadium.

Irrig, a soldier from Fort Riley, arranged for the demonstration.

The helicopter is to honor Donnie Tiller, who died in Saudi Arabia," Irrig said.

"He started lacrosse at K-State," he said.

Irrig said the helicopter, which flew in to Memorial Stadium, was identical to the one Tiller was killed in in Saudi Arabia.

Thurman said the team will a have a tournament in April to honor Tiller and contributions he made to the K-State lacrosse team.

▶ CLUB SPORTS

Hockey team captures opener

Collegia

The K-State hockey team rocked the University of Southern Illinois in the season opener, 3-1, Sept. 30 in Evansville, Ind.

the scoring with a goal in the middle of the first period. Southern Illinois rallied back to tie the first period 1-1.

Forward Scott Winot opened up

"We played down in their end most of the first period," midfielder Scott Thorne said. "They just happened to break through and scored on their first shot.'

The Wildcats regained the momentum in the second period with defenseman Chuck Downey knocking in the second goal.

Forward Mike Bachtle finished the Cats' trey of goals, putting the puck in the net during the last period. "We drastically outplayed them," team captain Thorne said. "But their goalie kept them in the game." Thorne said the Cats had a solid first performance. "I'm pretty happy with it. For starters, we won," he said. "We played well defensively, had good positioning and moved the puck

Southern Illinois' offense was shut down with only about 15 shots during the game

Bachtle, a three-year veteran, said teamwork was the main factor in the Cats' victory over Southern Illinois.

The offense and defense played pretty well and helped each other,"

The offense back-checked well, Bachtle said, which is when the forwards would help out on defense. The defense helped keep pressure on the Southern Illinois goalie. When our offense was in their zone," he said, "the defense helped us keep the puck in and have control.

The team practices once a week at a rink in Kansas City

When the Manhattan rink opens sometime in November, practices will increase to three or four times a week, Thorne said. 'The rink is pretty worthless," Thorne said. "It's maybe one-eighth the size of a real rink. The small-sized rink limits drills to shooting on the goal and wind

Another drawback is a lack of hockey teams in the area to compete

"We have to travel to find competition," Thorne said. "We'll probably have a game against the University of Nebraska in Kansas City. That's as close as we get to a home game."

Despite these limitations, the Cats expect to be stronger this year.

"It will be a lot better year," Thorne said. "We have better players, picked up a few new guys, and we're more organized." Bachtle said K-State is developing into a solid hockey organization.

"Over the few years, we've had the program, we have figured out who works together," Bachtle said. "Looking at our first game and the talent on the skates, we're much better than last year."

FALL 1994 HOCKEY SCHEDULE Opponent Drake University Friday, 10 a.m.; Des Moines, Iowa Oct. 28-30 Saturday, 7 p.m. Nov. 11-13 University of Missouri to be announced Columbia, Mo.

Kansas City drops 2nd-straight game ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN DIEGO - The last time the San Diego Chargers were this good, it was 1961, and they were wearing the same sky-blue jerseys they wore Sunday. With Natrone Means running for a career-high

125 yards and one touchdown on 19 carries, the Chargers celebrated their final "throwback" weekend and remained the NFL's only undefeated team with a 20-6 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs. "It definitely gives us confidence, because I guess this is the game that a lot of people were really judging us by," Means said. "This game kind of sends the message around the league that the Chargers are for real.' The Chargers (5-0) had been 0-8 in regular-season games against Kansas City since sweeping the series in 1989. Their only victory over the Chiefs was a 17-0 wild-card playoff win in 1992.

The Chargers are 5-0 for the first time since 1961. when they started 11-0 and reached the AFL championship game. On Sunday they wore their '61 "throwback" uniforms of sky-blue jerseys and white helmets with yellow lightning bolts. Kansas City wore its 1963 uniforms.

The Chiefs (3-2) have lost two straight games for the first time since Joe Montana moved over last season from San Francisco.

The Chargers needed a huge game from Means to eat up the clock and keep Montana off the field.

The second-year pro from North Carolina had runs of 25 and 23 yards on the decisive 77-yard fourth-quarter drive. The march was capped by Stan Humphries' 5-yard TD pass to Mark Seay that set the final score with 7:47 left.

San Diego, which has swept the AFC West the first time through, got only two first downs on three third-quarter drives.

Experiencing homelessness

K-State students take the Urban Plunge

DEBBIE PILANT

This weekend, eight K-State students experienced firsthand what homeless people experience every day as a part of United Methodist Campus Ministry's "Urban Plunge."

Plungers were told they could stay in shelters as long as they weren't taking away beds from people who really needed them.

One group of four, myself included, wandered into Topeka late Friday night.

The group decided to sleep in the Topeka Rescue Mission that night because we thought we would have a better chance of meeting people.

Fellow plunger Lisa Blume, sophomore in women's studies, and I met two women in the shelter who opened our eyes to the difficulties women have when they find themselves homeless. Both had scars that needed healing - mental, as well as physical.

Roxanne, 28, had just arrived at the shelter Tuesday. She'd been living with some people in Kansas City, but she said the conditions forced her to leave. Hundreds of little red scars from flea bites covered her from hip to toe.

'They had a dog," she said. But the dog was the least of her

'They were really heavy into drugs and alcohol, and the cops-were there all the time, so I just had to get out," she said. She didn't stay at the shelters in Kansas City because she said they were just as drug infested as the house she was in. She wound up in Topeka because of a special friend she'd met at work. His name is Michael.

She glowed as she unfolded the story.

"I met him at work and told him about what was going on, and he told me, 'You need to get out of there and get to the shelter in Topeka,' so I came. When I got here, I found out he lived here, too," she

She said she couldn't go home because her dad would blame her for the situation. "Dad wanted both his girls to go to college, and neither of us did, and he wanted at least one of us to go into the service, but neither of us did. He's really disappointed in us," she said.

Roxanne works through a temporary agency at a shoe factory nearby.

"I know this is only temporary," she said. "I'm just saving up enough to get myself back on my feet. Then I'll find a place of my own.

Roxanne said Michael has really helped her stay strong. Even after two divorces, she glows like a teen-ager in love for the first time whenever his name is mentioned. They started seeing each other the day after

"We went to the park and watched the bugs and walked and talked. It was a great day," she said.

She said her friends don't understand why she's seeing someone in a shelter.

'They say, 'why don't you look for someone who can take you to dinner and to the movies,' but he can. They just look down on him because he lives in the shelter," she said.

She said she doesn't like living in the shelter. She doesn't like sharing the room, waiting for the shower and not having her own television. But the fact that it is temporary has helped her cope with this.

Her big dream is to become an undercover

"I just don't want my kids to live with the drugs and violence that I have," she said.

Sissy came into the shelter late that night looking like she'd been crying for days. She was wrapped up in a mission blanket wearing a pair of tan shorts and a colorful, striped shirt. She was very cold when the staff brought her in, so we offered her a blanket, and she sat

She said her husband had left her that afternoon. He brought her to the area because his sister was there.

"At two o'clock, he was supposed to pick JESUS

TODD FEEBACK/Collegian

Sandy VerHage, graduate student in counseling, Eric Rapley, junior in accounting, and Lane Mills, freshman in engineering, walk to the Topeka Rescue Mission Saturday to try and find a place to sleep. The students were participating in the Urban Plunge, which gave the students a chance to experience life as a homeless person for the weekend. An open forum discussing homelessness will be today at noon in the K-State Union Courtyard.

me up, and he just didn't show up," she said.

She said he was upset because she'd been talking to a man she works with, and he didn't like it. He'd been having some problems at work and had walked off the job.

"He came up and asked me if I was coming with him, and I was mad at him so of course I said no. He said he'd pick me up, but he never did," she said.

She said she wants to go back home but is afraid he'll find her.

"He already said if he couldn't have me, no one could. He said he'd kill me, then himself," she said through her tears as the fear began to show on her face.

She said he'd already burned her clothes twice, but he didn't just destroy her property. He damaged her as well. She said he attacked her with a knife and cut her legs.

She stood up and showed us the scars. "It took over 100 stitches inside and out," she said. "I don't know why he did it, he just got mad."

She said she stays with him because she loves him, though she doesn't know

"Why would anyone stay after this? It must be love," she said. Her hope was to go on without her husband, but her fear was that he would find her. With that, the lights went out, and we all went to bed. The next morning, Roxanne went on a date with Michael, and Sissy went off to find change to make a phone call. We didn't see either of them again.

After checking out of the shelter the next morning, we met Elvis.

Elvis was an older man of about 50 years, and looked like a well-groomed, working class man. He wore a nice white western shirt with a gray suit vest and a pair of slacks. He even had a college degree in criminal justice.

"Some of these people are just like you," he said. "People just have to remember that it could be them tomorrow. Each person has their own story, and most of them want to work."

He said there is no racism in the homeless community there.

"We're all different, but homelessness is our bond," he said. "We help each other, so we can't be biased."

It isn't all harmony and peace on the streets though, he said, warning us fervently about the dangers of sleeping on the streets.

"Eighty percent of them would worry about you because they know what you're going through, but 20 percent of these people would hit you as soon as look at you," he said.

He then pointed to a bridge in the background and soberly illustrated his "Back there not too long ago, a Mexican got stabbed 17 times. People under the bridges are dangerous, so don't let each other out of your sight," he said. Blume and I found the truth of this statement when we searched under some nearby bridges and alleys. We found used drug needles and spoons. The next day, we met with the others and went to the Salvation Army in downtown Lawrence.

There, we got a firsthand account of what homelessness is.

We panhandled on a street corner and got run off by the cops, wandered the streets asking for money and hung out at the outlet mall. People shot us with their eyes as they tried to ignore us, and we were made to feel invisible. There was more visible alcohol use there, and the people seemed to like where they were.

Though we did little to actually solve the problems of homelessness in these communities, through this experience, the group has a new perspective on the problem and the mentality to make a difference.

Fans wait in line for 'Theater,' T-shirts

At 7:45 p.m. Sunday, more than 60 people were wrapped around the corridor by the Union Forum Hall.

"Mystery Science Theater 3000" was going to play, and free T-shirts were at stake.

A new episode of the show, which airs on Comedy Central, was being shown by the Union Program Council at 9:30 p.m. and midnight in Forum Hall at no charge. Adding to the allure of a show, which features three mechanical stars who rip really bad movies to shreds, was the offer of free T-shirts for the first 50 people to arrive.

Jill Danziger, assistant project manager with Collegiate Advantage for Comedy Central, said she was not surprised by the people waiting for the doors to open.

"At some schools, people start lining up at one o'clock in the afternoon," Danziger said. "At some schools, it's not as well known as others, so there's not as big of a crowd. Ones who know the show are really loyal."

Gesturing to a 6-week-old baby, Danziger said that was the youngest fan she had ever seen.

Craig Caylor, senior in physics and the child's father, said they had been in line since 5:45 p.m.

"I was here first last year, so I'm here first again this year." Caylor said he didn't think waiting in line was a big deal. "I figure if people can stay in line for days to get basketball tickets, we can stand in line for a few hours," he said. The thought of a free T-shirt was an added bonus for those who got in line early, Ray McCann, senior in secondary education, said. The main reason we came was to get a free T-shirt and to get good seats, so we could get up front and pretend that we're Crow," McCann

Chris Reeves, junior in history and faithful MST3K viewer, said he has been watching the show since its first season, six years ago.

Because TCI cable in Manhattan doesn't offer the Comedy Central station, Reeves has been making tapes of the program and cycling them along to his friends.

"We have to circulate tapes because TCI doesn't have it because they stink," Reeves said.

McCann said he also wished TCI would pick up the channel.

"Some people call them everyday, and they still don't get it." Tobias Becker, junior in art and English literature, said he is starting a club for MST3K fans because Comedy Central is not offered. We want to start a forum to watch 'Mystery Science Theater 3000' because TCI doesn't offer Comedy Central," he said.

Although the episode of MST3K was being shown for free at the Union, Josh Thompson, junior in chemical engineering, said he would have paid money to see it.

"I'd pay, but at Forum Hall, I wouldn't pay over $1.75 to see it, or I'd feel really ripped off," Thompson said. "Besides, this will be on Comedy Central, which we don't get because TCI sucks, sooner or later."

Brian VanDoren, junior in computer science, said he and Thompson had been in line since 7 p.m. The thought of a free T-shirt had prompted their early arrival.

"We wanted to walk around campus and have all our friends look at us and say 'What the heck is that?" he said.

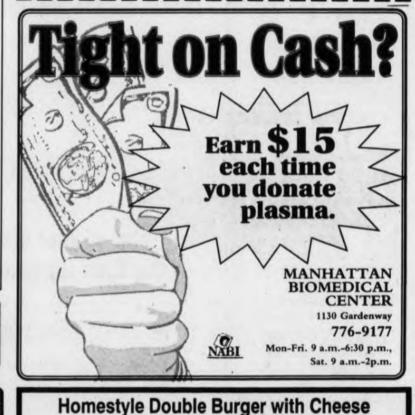

1 a.m.-Midnight

This coupon good for BEEF AND BROCCOLI $3.90

THUNAM
Dine-in & carryout
EXPRESS
Not valid with any other specials, coupons,

or on deliveries. FREE DELIVERY (Minimum order $9) Expires 10-26-94

See something interesting? We take tips! 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556 * 532-6556

(NO coupon needed NONE accepted) 'No Coupon" Specials Everyday Everyday Two-fers Three-fers - PIZZAS with PIZZAS with TOPPINGS each - TOPPING each - COKES with ice 4 -- COKES with ice $8.45 $10.34

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

UPC Issues and Ideas Presents:

Faculty Lecture Series Lin Huff - Corzine Assistant Professor of Sociology

Presents: "Social Aspects of Rape"

Tuesday, Oct. 11, 1994 at 3 p.m. Little Theater - 1st Floor K-State Union

च्यागीश जोडोंगड स्थान्यकोशी स्थान्त्रक्ष

Don't forget $2 Margaritas on Tuesday at Cactus Jack's Annual Marie Commission of the Commission of the Masetto, played by Nigel Smith, reads to Donna Elvira, played by Anne Riggio-Ellsworth, during their performance of the Don Giovanni Opera Saturday night in McCain Auditorium. English subtitles were shown on a screen above the stage so audience members could understand the dialogue. - REVIEW

'Don Giovanni' 1st-rate performance in McCain

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Conegian

"Don Giovanni," Mozart's grand opera about the wild love conquests of literature's Don Juan, charmed McCain Auditorium Saturday night.

Playing to a nearly sold-out house, the Western Opera Theater's production was a first-rate performance, a rare treat for Manhattan.

The opera, "Don Giovanni," follows the raucous misadventures of its title character and his servant, Leporello, played by Patrick Blackwell. Together, they plot their ways to get the village's women. Poor Leporello obeys his master's orders and always winds up in trouble.

Don Giovanni, played by David Okerlund, and Leporello are in completely different classes. Giovanni is the master, and Leporello is the servant. That is one reason Giovanni can get away with just about anything, and Leporello must suffer the consequences of his actions.

It is like this in Act I, when Giovanni bursts upon the lovely Zerlina, sung perfectly by Tamara Hardesty, and the lowly Masetto's, played by Nigel Smith, wedding banquet. It is only Giovanni, a gentleman, who can steal away Zerlina.

The opera ends with a moral epilogue sung by the "good" people of the company (people wronged by Giovanni): "This is the evil-doer's end. Sinners finally meet their just reward, and always will."

This is Mozart's way of commenting on society. Sometimes, the epilogue is left out, or in some modern productions, the sinners themselves have sung it.

Mostly everything about the Western Opera's production was traditional, particularly the ending. Audiences are always luckiest when they can see the established version, instead of some revisionist, modern version that can barely hold water.

Having a complete orchestra conducted masterfully by Rodolfo Fischer with the opera just made the evening. The gorgeous prelude excited as modern audiences.

the audience and set the mood.

I could have sat in McCain

I could have sat in McCain all evening and just listened to the orchestra

Nevertheless, the ensuing opera was especially gratifying.

The company of singers worked well together. Of course, how can you complain about some of the best operatic talents in America?

Anne Riggio-Ellsworth sang the obsessive, pathetic part of Donna Elvira, a past conquest of Giovanni's who is under the assumption that he meant to marry her, after conveniently sowing his wild oats.

Riggio-Ellsworth's soprano was one of the stronger voices in the show. Her Donna Elvira was amusing as she followed the fast-paced Giovanni from place to place, graciously lamenting her woes.

Another strong voice, Anna Nicolle Foland's Donna Anna, was a sweet melancholy.

Okerlund, singing Giovanni, had an encompassing baritone to match his extraordinary height and build. If ever there was a Don Giovanni, Okerlund easily fits the bill.

Okerlund and Blackwell were a hilarious duo with their background motions and playful dialogues together.

The audience laughed many times during the evening, but none more longer than during a confused part of the show:

Don Giovanni, disguised as Leporello, beats up Masetto, with a final jab in the groin.

Masetto painfully sings, in Italian, of course, of his "poor head."

I don't really think Mozart and librettist Lorenzo da Ponte really considered this double meaning, but I could be wrong.

Such occurrences were common throughout the show. For something that is about 200 years old, the libretto is remarkably smart by today's standards.

This was probably pretty daring stuff in the late 1700s. I can't imagine the Papal aristocracy laughing as much as modern audiences. ► REVIEW

Artist's work depicts youth in the South

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Collegian

Dean Mitchell's new show at the Strecker Gallery is one reason to get out of the house during the week.

Mitchell's brilliant watercolors have gained him a large following in the Kansas City area and for a good reason.

Mitchell never tries to pass himself off as more then what he is. He is a realist at heart, with some very social undertones in his painting, mostly attributed to his African-American background.

His watercolors, most notably paintings like "Stranger" and "Elder and Youth," have a very realist/Andrew Wyeth characteristic about them. His oils, especially "Conversation" and, perhaps, "Miss Highbaugh," tend to connect with Henry Ossawa Tanner's quasi-realist view of African-American culture.

It is interesting to note that the artist does share many philosophies of Tanner. Mitchell wishes to break some of the stereotypes subscribed to by Americans.

Tanner is widely considered the most prolific, and perhaps, important, African-American painter of the 20th century.

Mitchell's watercolors of homes falls back to his childhood of growing up in the South. He remembers the monstrous home his grandmother used to work in with a careful ease. Watercolor is a hard medium to master, but Mitchell has surpassed its obstacles.

Coming to Kansas City in 1980 to work for Hallmark, Mitchell began pursuing a private career as artist in 1984. Mitchell has been the subject of an East coast PBS special, numerous newspaper and magazine articles, and he has recently been commissioned by the U.S. Postal Service to design four stamps commemorating great artists of jazz.

■ See MITCHELL's Page 10

SHOW TIMES

The Strecker Gallery, 332 Poyntz Ave., presents a show of new paintings by Dean Mitchell at 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday Oct. 7-29. Call 539-2139 for more information.

Bar-B-Q Meatballs Boh's DINER 1103 North 3rd • 537-7776

YOUR SPORTS
HEADQUARTERS
$1.50 Bottles
$2.50 Bigboys
$3.50 Jumbo 60 oz.
Pitchers
$4.99 Chicken Fried

Open II a.m. Mon-Sat 'til the party's over By Cico Park Kimball & Sethchilds

Candlewood Center

BOBRY

Steak Special

HAVING A PARTY?

GIVE US A CALL FOR OUR SPECIAL PARTY RATES

539-3333

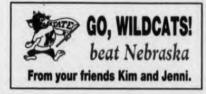

WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN

SUPPORT K-STATE WHEN NEBRASKA COMES TO TOWN

This is your chance to give the Cats a personal message.

Show your Purple Pride by placing a personalized Cat Tracker ad in the Collegian cheering on the Wildcats as they take on the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Here's how it works: you tell us what you want to say, and we'll plug it into one of the three designs above which YOU choose.

The ads will run together in the special Cat Tracker section of the Collegian on Friday, Oct. 14, the day before the Cats play Nebraska at KSU Stadium.

The ads can be from you, your family, your business, your living group, your friends or any other combination.

It only costs $5, so come on in to 103 Kedzie Hall to reserve your ad today.

DEADLINE: 4 p.m. Wed., Oct. 12

COLLEGIAN
Kedzie Hall 103 532-6560

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK!

October 10 from 3-8p.m. at your house

TKE

October 10 from 3-8p.m. at your house

$AT\Omega$

October 11 from 3-8p.m. at your house

October 11 from 3-8p.m. at your house

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are coming to take a shot at you.

the competition continues

residence halls

In each residence hall, the floor with the highest percentage of members buying a yearbook and getting their pictures taken will receive an all floor pizza party from Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook.

greeks & scholarship halls

The fraternity, sorority and scholarship hall with the highest percentage of members buying a yearbook and getting their pictures taken will receive $200 for their philanthropy from Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook.

The second and third place fraternity, sorority and scholarship halls will receive $150 and $75 respectively for their philanthropy.

The competition is divided between mens' and womens' living groups.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

off-campus & black greeks

Off-Campus and Black Greeks are offered a free studio sitting coupon at the time of the sitting.

Those who purchase a 1995 yearbook will receive the free studio sitting.

The coupon is complimentary from the Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook.

IVERSIONS

CONCERT ANNOUNCEMENTS

Live will perform at 7 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 7 at Bramlage Coliseum, with guests Weezer and Fatima Mansions: Tickets go on sale at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 12 and cost $15. Call 532-6571 for information. TravisTritt will be appearing with guests Lee Roy Parnell and Joe Diffie at 8 p.m. on Nov. 12 at Bramlage Coliseum. Tickets for the concert went on sale Saturday and

OCTOBER 10, 1994

10-10 CRYPTOQUIP

JRZXUF

UTJUOKUY KG SCVZY WCXII GP

G Z H G H X U T V O G . Saturday's Cryptoquip: MEDIATORS THAT KEEP NGZH THE PEACE IN VENOMOUS DIVORCE CASES ARE

MAKE-UP ARTISTS. Today's Cryptoquip clue: F equals R

▶ THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

'Oh, yeah! They work real hard, all day long best part - for chicken feed

LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

I CAME UP WITH THIS GREAT NEW SYSTEM FOR DOING M

RATHER THAN ALWAYS WAIT ING TO THE LAST MINUTE TO DO STUFF, I'M GONNA START ON MY ASSIGNMENTS AS SOON AS I GET HOME EVERY DAY. APROVE THE QUALITY OF

NO MORE DELAYS ... NO MORE EXCUSES. YEE HA!

Students, not bars problem with live music scene

Dear Cassandra,

There are a ton of articles in the Collegian written dogging Manhattan's live music scene and constantly comparing it to KU. It seems everyone blames it on the bars and says how KU's bars are so much "cooler."

these events for them to keep coming? It's not the bars' fault. If these people, including the writer of the article, think KU is so much better and has such a great party outlet, they should transfer.

Signed, Manhattan's Just Fine

Dear Manhattan's Just Fine,

The bars in Manhattan are just fine. As a matter of fact, many of them are great. Every weekend there are long lines of people waiting to get into all types of bars. KU's bars might have more response because their school has I wonder if any of these people have bigger numbers than K-State. ever stopped to think about the fact that Manhattan brings in a good variety of the students have to show interest in bands for its location and size. I've been to everything from country concerts to heavy-metal concerts. There are a lot of great entertainers here.

However, I must admit, after K-State kicked KU on Thursday, maybe the Lawrence bars did have one up on Manhattan.

▶ OKTOBERFEST

Aggieville festival provides crowds with culture, food Oktoberfest offers entertainment, crafts and "Volksmarch"

NOLAN SCHRAMM

What do stunt bicyclists, funnel cakes and dogs dressed up like bratwursts have in common? They were all at Aggieville's 14th-annual celebration of Oktoberfest on Saturday. Each year, Oktoberfest offers a chance for people to sample the crafts, foods and activities of the German culture, Cheryl Sieben, executive director of the Aggieville Business Association, said. "The main reason we do this is to bring the community to Aggieville, and let them know we're here," she said. Belinda McMillan, president of the ABA, said the turnout was bigger than they've ever had.

McMillan said a few of the street vendors selling funnel cakes and bratwursts asked to leave after noon because they were sold out of food.

"The streets were filled with people from one end to the other," she said.

One of the main activities was the Volksmarch, 10- or 20-kilometer non-competitive walk through a scenic or historic route.

Participants came from as far away as Nebraska to take the walk, Dale Weixelman, Volksmarch registrar, said. Barbara Wood, Volksmarcher from Atchison, Kan., said she participates in various Volksmarches around the United States. "I like to do three or four walks a weekend," she Wood said that last year she started in Colorado and walked through-12 states in 15 days.

"I do it mostly for my health," she said.

This year's group of participants toured the Manhattan countryside and the K-State campus. Diane Keller, a participant who has Volksmarched in Germany, said more people go on the walks in Germany. "In Germany, you see more people on the walks. They do it every weekend," she said.

Other activities included a freestyle bike show, featuring three of the Superhero stunt cyclists from Chicago. In one stunt, cyclists rode off ramps, turning 1-1/2 times in the air before landing backwards and rolling back down the ramps. The frenzied cheers of the hundreds of onlookers nearly drowned out the pounding music playing from two portable, amplified speakers.

Eric Horrell, freestyle stunt cyclist for nine years, said the cyclists need to have a lot of people watching them in order to perform well.

"If you don't have a good crowd, you don't have a good show," he said.

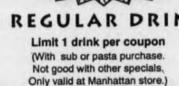

Jim Walker, stunt cyclist for sax years, said injuries go with the territory when performing on the ramps.

"You have lots of broken bones. It's a lot of fun, though.'

REGULAR DRINK

Limit 1 drink per coupon (With sub or pasta purchase. Not good with other specials, valid at Manhattan store.) Expires 12/23/94

Intramural Entry Deadline Thurs., Oct. 13

5 p.m. Rec Services Office VOLLEYBALL AND INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

VOLLEYBALL OFFICIALS' CLINICS Union Rm 212

Mon., Oct. 17 at 6:30 p.m. Tues., Oct. 18 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex MANDATORY ATTENDANCE AT

BOTH MEETINGS!

REC SERVICES

OFFICE

532-6980

MEETING Wed., Oct. 19 K-State Union, Forum Hall

5 p.m. Schedules will be distributed at this meeting only ALL CAPTAINS/MANAGERS

MUST ATTEND!

Sancho or Burrito $1.29 each

(reg. $1.65) Taco Dinner

$1.99 (reg. $2.65) Good through 10-15-94

2809 Claflin 539-2091 Open Sun -Thurs. 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Fri -Sat 11 a.m. Midnight Now Open 7 days a week

One Heart One Way One Heart One W The Women of Sigma Kappa would like to congratulate the newly initiated members of 1994 Jennifer Anderson Regie Culbertson Jennifer Lunnon Brandy Pierce Laurie Diehl Sandra Pricto Andrea Ball Kelly Mahoney Heidi &chmeltz

Claire Bloom Carey Fauss Stacey Bohn Jessica File Cynthia Bolender Janelle Coosen Julianne Brock Susan Hacker Sarah Honaker Christa Carey Amy Carpenter Janelle Kohman Jennifer Larson Dana Chaney Amy Christner · Andrea Lewis Lindsay Cochran Laurie Lovitch

Love.

Stacey Marsh Elizabeth McFadden Danielle Moszyk Jill Murphy

Debra &uhr Crystal Musgrove Ann-Janette Susan Neumann Jamie Wassberg Lisa O'Connor Heather Overley

Tosha Whitfield Stacey Wikle Rachel Williams

Jossi Sims

Rachel Smith

Katrina Stenfors

Vanlandingham

Your EK disters

STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION MOW TAKING APPILICATIONS FOR

CHAIRPERSON FOR UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES BOARD

DUTIES INCLUDE: Presiding over meetings, registering university organizations, processing fund raising requests, formulating campus policies and regulations.

AT-LARGE MEMBERS OF STUDENT SENATE ALLOCATIONS COMMITTEE

DUTIES INCLUDE: Allocating the student activity fee to campus organizations and institutional services.

Applications now available and due October 14, 1994, by 4 p.m. in the Office of Student Activities and Services, K-State Union, Ground Floor.

KSU STUDENTS ONLY!

World's Greatest Haircut Reg. $7° BUT WITH COUPON

HIS OR HERS - "MATINEE" PERMS *23*

Complete with cut! (MON.-THURS. Till 4p.m.) Long Hair-Extra

OPEN NIGHTS AND SUNDAYS JUST DROP IN

* VILLAGE PLAZA 539-4043 (Near ALCO)

* 431 E. Poyntz 776-6410

(K-MART Plaza)

Maria Jimenez, senior in interior design, dances with the Costa Rican Dancers during their performance for those attending the Hispanic Awareness Week potluck dinner Saturday evening in the International Student Center. The dinner featured Hispanic cultures with the food and dance brought by Hispanic students attending K-State.

Party kicks off awareness month

The potluck dinner, sponsored by the Hispanic American Leadership Organization, was just one of several events that will take place throughout October in recognition of Hispanic Awareness month.

Sheila

Frahm

Republican

"Latin Americans know how to party," Eduardo Arce, graduate student in agricultural economics, said Saturday at the Latin American potluck dinner.

More than 100 people gathered in the International Student Center on Saturday to kick off Hispanic Awareness month.

The potluck dinner, sponsored by the Hispanic American Leadership Organization, offered an authentic Latin American food buffet, live music and performances by three K-State dance groups.

"We are very happy with the turnout," Adriana Luna, president of HALO, said. "It was much better than we expected."

Eric Oliva, senior in construction science, from Costa Rica, introduced Arce to the customs of the Latin American culture, Arce said. "The Latin American community is very close-knit," Oliva said. "It's easy to make connections with them." Norm Sedillo, senior in pre-med, has been involved with HALO since his freshman year.

UPC Issues & Ideas Presents:

DEBATE '9

Lt. Governor's Debate

Monday, Oct. 10, at 3:30 P.M.

L.A. Cakes

776-8773

Little Theater K-State unio

& Cookie Bouquets

•Don't forget boss's day on October 14th. Give your boss a cookie bouquet.

(order early / free delivery)

"It's a great way to get together with friends and speak Spanish, share with other cultures and go to leadership conferences," Sedillo said:

The entertainment started with performances by Puerto Rico Baila and the Costa Rican Dancers. Both groups are made up of K-State students.

Dario Narvaez, graduate student in plant pathology, performed for the first time with the two groups.

'Last year, I was in a partner group called Salsa," Narvaez said. "My partner graduated, so, since I love to dance, I decided to try out for these

The Grupo Folklorico Mixtecho, a dance group from Kansas City, performed several partner dances.

Trio Atzlan, a group of guitarists from Kansas City, played familiar Latin American ballads. The crowd sang along to the Spanish lyrics.

Several students, who gathered in the lobby, said they were disappointed with the turnout "There are not very many Americans here," said Morco Vela, graduate student in biological and agricultural engineering.

Tues.-Thurs.

11 a.m.-2 p.m.

4:30 p.m.-8 p.m.

"I don't think they appreciate our culture.'

Vela, who has been at K-State for a year and a half, said he noticed that at K-State each culture keeps to itself.

"Just because we don't speak English, people don't want to try to relate," Vela said.

Vela said if the event would have taken place in the Union and had more publicity, there might have been better attendance.

Vela and several other members of HALO said their parties are different than American's parties.

"Americans play cards and drinking games. We like to mingle and dance," Vela said.

"It's strange that the bars close at 2 a.m. Usually our parties are just getting started at midnight and go until six in the morning," he said. Vela said the Latin Americans welcome Americans to their parties.

"We are all Americans. South, central and north - it's all the same,' he said.

The potluck was just one of several events that will take place throughout October in recognition of Hispanic Awareness month.

Fri.-Sat.

11 a.m.-2 p.m.

4:30 p.m.-9 p.m.

OS COMPADRES.

308 VATTIER • 537-5017

CARRY OUT AVAILABLE CUISINE

Mitchell's work successful

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

A book is also in the works by Greenwich Workshops Connecticut, as well as four reproduction prints of his work.

Julie Strecker, owner of the Strecker Gallery, is one of the gallery owners who represent Mitchell in the Kansas City area.

Mitchell has enjoyed enormous success over the past seven years. Strecker found Mitchell's work in a Corporate Woods show in 1987. In 1988, Mitchell opened his first show at the Strecker Gallery, with most works priced at less than $1,000.

A few years wiser and more developed as a painter, Mitchell's work is definitely pricey, with most works in the $2,000 to $6,000 range, with a few works priced at more than $25,000.

Mitchell said he doesn't paint for commercial purposes. Mitchell said he paints for his own spirit and sense of humanity.

Bringing African-American culture to the forefront of American culture, especially museums, is something Mitchell strives for.

In even his most simple watercolor of a house or an individual, there are very many personal meanings attached to it. Mitchell's success is not some sort of art contrived of higher artistic manifesto, but a very personal approach to work.

"The President's Own" UNITED STATES MARINE BAND Colonel John R. Bourgeois, Director

West Front of the U.S. Capitol

Monday, October 17, at 8:00 p.m.

Marine Band concerts offer a unique blend of traditional concert band and contemporary wind ensemble music that has thrilled audiences at the White House and across the United States for nearly two centuries.

Please include a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request and return to: THE PRESIDENT'S OWN" Marine Band UNITED STATES McCain Auditorium MARINE BAND Kansas State University 207 McCain Auditorium Manhattan, KS 66506-4711 Please send me ____FREE tickets for the October 17. 1994 performance of the Marine Band at 8:00 p.m. in McCain Auditorium. Name Address City. State_ Zip Ticket holders are requested to be seated by 7:45 p.m. Doors will be opened to the general public at 7:50 p.m.

NICHOLS THEATRE 8"

OCTOBER 6 - 8 OCTOBER 12 - 15*

TICKETS AVAILABLE AT MCCAIN BOX OFFICE NOON - 5 P CALL 532 - 6428 FOR RESERVATIONS

STUDENTS/ SENIORS $6

GENERAL PUBLIC $8

Daily 9 to 9, Sunday 11 to 6 · 3007 Anderson Ave.

EVERY TUESDAY!

SECOND SET OF PRINTS

Receive a second set of 3" prints FREE with any exposure roll of 35mm, disc, 110 or 126 color print film left for developing and printing at our everyday prices! C-41 process only. Exludes larger 4" size prints and photo galaxy.

Carol

Sader

Democrat

THIS PLAY CONTAINS MATURE LANGUAGE

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

PARKING

UNION

OFFICE HOURS

MONDAY-FRIDAY

SOUTH OF THE

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less -$5

each word over 20 - $.20 per word 2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25

each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

each word over 20 -$.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate) HOW TO PAY

Cash, check, MesterCard or Vise are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or

ty classify any ad. HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Training from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

HEALTH & HARMONY

PATHWAYS OFFERS WORKSHOPS IN MEDITATION RELAXATION VISUALIZATION

STRESS MANAGEMENT FOR FREE CONSULTATION CALL 537-8946

THERAPEUTIC TOUCH

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

PANTYHOSE thigh-highs, stockings. Patricia's Undercover Lingerie. 1224 Moro, Aggieville.

Earn $15 each time

you donate plasma.

NABI

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Mon-Fri.

FITNESS INSTRUCTOR training course. Learn to teach aerobics. Oct. 22, 1- 6p.m., Over-land Park, KS. Call 1-649-5678.

KSU COLLEGIATE FFA meeting Mon., Oct. 10. 8:45p.m. in Weber 111.

ZEN BUDDHIST Psycholo gy/ Philosophy, Fri. Oct. 14, 7:30p.m., BH121, American Zen Priest Shoken Winecoff will Lecture and respond to

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three

LOST OCT. 4, blue three-ring notebook in Wa-ters 231. Has four in-dexed classes for Gen-eral Psychology, Sociol-ogy, Stats 320, and American Constitution-al History. Please tall Mark at 395-3149 if found. Leave message. Reward.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

DOUGLAS— SWEET Doug-las your birthday's to-day- I thought I should say- Cool. I am loving

HEY HARASI- Happy 20th. Who would have thought you'd put up with us this long? Have a great day!! Love, Car-rie, Lilly and Chloe

Meetings/ Events

TOASTMASTERS A mu tual support group for people who want to impeople who want to improve their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering. Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Wareham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431.

HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

QUIET SURROUNDING for study. Studio one-bedroom nished or unfurnished Some with utilities paid. Nine month lease, no pets. 539-4087.

TWO-BEDROOM NISHED apartment, central air, all bills paid, including cable, $300, 537-0428.

For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

****** CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL

537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30 ************

AVAILABLE Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. baths. 776-3804.

Now Leasing Large 2 Bedroom Apartments

1/2 block from campus/ 1 or 2 baths For Appointment

call 776-3804 Managed by McCullough Developmen

AVAILABLE OCT. 1, one-bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1854 Claflin $355, cen-tral air/ heat, laundry facilities. 776-3804.

AVAILABLE NOV. 1. Onebedroom one-half block from campus. 927 Deni-son $405 remodeled unit. Central air/ heat,

MANHATTAN Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claffin.

FOR RENT- Studio apart ment, all utilities paid. Please call Jared at 539-9507.

LARGE, QUIET one-bedroom, living room, din-ing area, kitchen and bath with walk-in closet conveniently located to KSU, Aggleville and downtown. 537-7087. ONE-BEDROOM APART

MENT. Close to campus and Aggieville. $250 per month plus electric. No pets. Call 776–7636.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804. TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, remodeled $390, bills paid

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Ag gieville and campus. 1005 Bluemont. $465. Central air/ heat. Water, trash paid. 776-3804.

Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-

For Rent-Houses

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

THREE-BEDROOM, NEAR City Park, 539-4226.

Roommate

Wanted FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom apartment. Own room and bath. Near campus. $220 plus one-third utili-ties. Call 539-5501.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately. Very nice apartment. Pool, patio, own room. $215 month, one block from campus. 537-1679.

MALE NEEDED to share four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct. rent free. 587-9327.

MALE OR female non-smoker. Own bedroom and bathroom, $200/ month plus one-half bills. Call Frank bills. 539-8786.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted to help fill three-bedroom apartment. One block from Ag-gieville, one and one-half blocks from cam-pus. Great location, $220/ month. One-third utilities. October free! Ask for Dave or John. 539–2798.

NEED ONE male to com-plete three-bedroom basement apartment-washer and dryer. Close to campus. $130/ month plus one-seventh utilities. Available Oct. 1. Call 1-632-5211 after 4p.m.

ROOM FOR rent in a twobedroom apartment. Laundry facilities and pets okay. $215 plus half utilities. 539-4256/ 539-7277.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share two-bedroom apartment, one-half block from campus. $250/ month. 776-6394.

ROOMMATE WANTED Non-smoking male or female to share fur-nished two-bedroom/ two bath. Washer/ dry-er, central heat/ air, $265/ month- bills paid. 537-1125. Leave mes-

ROOMMATE(S) WANTED, female or male, three-bedroom house, close to campus and Ag-gleville. Two rooms available $150 each. All bills paid 537-1108.

THREE RESPONSIBLE Individuals looking for a fourth roommate. Close to campus. $170 plus one-fourth bills. 537-9813. TWO FEMALE roommates needed to occupy three-bedroom apartment at Woodway. $208/ month plus one-third utilities and water. Call Susan 587-8270.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

Sublease

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from camgus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balco-ny, 587–9394.

210

Resume/ Typing

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Peggie 539-1191 (evenings)

CUSTOM TYPING/ Word Processing/ resumes. QUICK FIX offers services for the busy student. Reasonable rates, delivery available. Call 1-461-5846.

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for lackie

RESUME RESUME REother word processing needs. Laser printing Call Brenda, 776-3290.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center

539-3338 Free pregnancy testing

 Totally confidential service Same day results

> Call for appointment Located across from campus in

> > Anderson Village Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hondas and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049, 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other

255

Services

ss FOR COLLEGE corpo-rate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in-come requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call (800)645-3525 for infor-mation.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

SERVICES: INTERNATION-

AL Students: DV-1 Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration. U.S. Immigration. Greencards provide U.S. permanent resi-dent status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed. For informaallowed. For informa-tion and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168; (818)998-4425 Mon-day- Sunday 10a.m.-11p.m.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

BASKETBALL OFFICIALS and Basketball Score-keepers. The City of Manhattan is seeking to fill seasonal part-time Basketball Officials and Scorekeeper positions: Officials will officiate adult basketball games in the evenings from November to March. For position description and application come to the Department of Human Resources Of-fice, City Hall, 1101 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS EOE-M/F/D

CRUISE SHIP Jobs! Attention: Students earn $2000 plus monthly. Part-time/ full-time. World travel. Carri-bean, Hawaii. All posi-tions available. No experience. (602)453-4651. Call:

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean etc.) SFa. Caribbean, etc.) SEa-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

FAST FUNDRAISER- Raise $500 in five days-Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. Fast, simple, easy- no fi-nancial obligation. (800)775-3851.

IMMEDIATE POSITIONS available for hard working fast paced, customer oriented people. Po sitions open are grill/ mexican MWF 10:30a.m.- 2p.m. or por-ter MWF 9:30a.m.-1:30p.m. or salad bar MWF 9a.m.- 2:40p.m. Substitute position available 6a.m.10:30a.m. MWF or T/TH. Apply immediate ly at the K-State Unior Foodservice Office.

LOCAL FRATERNITY is cur rently seeking an experienced Dietician. Responsibilities include planning meals for 50 men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12.50 per hour. Please send resume and cover send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

ONE INFORMATION and Assistance Clerk for Community Services. Temporary, part-time, requires computer liter-acy. Position requires drivers license and coldrivers license and college work study eligibility. Call Walt at 776-9294 to verifty eligibility. Blourly rate $5. Position available immediately. Send letter of application with three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, Kansas 66502 by October 13, 1994. For more information contact Veryl Tie meyer at 776-9294.

RESIDENTIAL ASSIS TANT: Part-time position available for a new five bed female residenfive bed female residen-tial facility for the severe and persistent mentally ill. Duties in-clude monitoring/ su-pervision of daily living skills, and planning/ su-pervising recreational and leisure skills activiand leisure skills activities. Must be available to attend a team staff meeting weekly. Contact the Community Support Program Supervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services, Phone: 587-4333. EOE.

SALES PEOPLE needed for all shifts at Manhattan Mall, apply in person at Image Perfumes, across from Mr. Bulky's.

SPRING BREAK Reps. Earn extra money and travel free. Classic Travel 537-7546.

STUDENT PROGRAM-MERS. The KSU Office of Information Systems has an immediate need for four experienced Student Programmers. Recruiting will continue

OR WRITE 532-6555 COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 532-7309 until all positions are filled. Successful candidates , will have; 1) knowledge of program-ming in a common language (such as C or CO-BOL), programming ex-perience in multi-user operating environ-ments (Such as UNIX MARKET

PHONE

PARKING

tions. Questions regarding these positions should be directed to David Hillier at 532-7843, or by electronic mail (e-mail) to deh@ksuvm. If you are unable to reach David, please leave voice- mail

and e-mail contact

points. Miniority, Women and Handicapped are encouraged

one female student to

WANTED: ONE male and (even initial setup), in-stall software, and ana-lyze whether a problem lyze whether a problem is related to ngtwork/ hardware/ software. Applications can be obtained by calling 532-6281, writing or coming to the KSU Office of Information Systems, Foundation Center, 2323 Anderson Ave. Suite 215, which is also the primary work location for these positions. Questions regardal admission football tickets for sale. Call Aaron at 776-7183.

BONEPILE . RECORDS'& DISCS NOW OPEN 1126 LARAMIE 587-8944 CA$H FOR USED CDs

ICE COLD BEER and large Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

serve as sportswear representatives in Man-hattan for a newly formed sportswear company, located in Kansas City. We have two sporting goods stores and have been in eave message business for 18 years. We have formed this company to market to college campuses, exclusively. Candidates must be professional and posses a strong de-sire and ability to sell. The individuals select-FOR SALE- Antique wood-en coffin, $250, call Gumbo Hill Antiques. 539-5778. ed for these positions will work on commission and can easily earn $200 plus per week, working in the spare time. The only re-quirement is that you sell. Interested individuals should contact Frid Long at 1-599-1794.

Business

Opportunities $1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

lease do not answe

this ad unless you are very interested. I do not want to waste my time or yours. This is not a scam! This is a real ground floor opportuni-

BEFORE YOU go looking for that second or third job, find out about the newest home business trend. Interactive distribution is the way for young entrepreneurs to be financially inde-pendent. Make a free appointment to look at the plan. Dave 539-1219.

FUNDRAISING. CHOOSE from three different fundraisers lasting either three or seven days. No investment. Earn $$$ for your group plus personal cash bonuses for yourself. Call (800)932-0528, Ext. 65.

ments (Such as UNIX or MVS), and at least junior class standing in CIS, MIS, or a directly related field, or 2) sufficient knowledge of desktop computers and Novell networking to be able to install hardware least initial eating to Items for Sale FOR SALE: Mini frig. Perfect for dorm room. $75. Call 537-9406 ask I HAVE six Nebraska gener

Furniture to Buy/Sell NEED TO sale full size fut ton, two years old $60. Call Ana 532-7924 or

Antiques

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles _1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wa-

IME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um; 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays) Manhattan, Kan. 66506 Computers

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

MACINTOSH COMPUT ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685.

> 450 Pets and

Supplies FERRET- $20 buys cute lit tle ferret, information book, and litter box. Call Georgia or Fred 776-6772. Please leave message.

king snake with 55-gal-lon aquarium and stand for $100. Call 539-2809.

FIVE-YEAR old California

PORTATION

Automobiles 1978 BUICK Century, four door. $450. 539-9574.

1983 VW Rabbit GTI, silver AW/Rabbit G11, silver five-speed, two-door, AM/FM cassette, air conditioning, 105,000 miles, $1500 or best off-er. Call 537–0773. 1985 OLDS Cutlass station wagon. Power steering break. Air condition. $2100. 1985 Subaru GL station wagon. 4WD, five-speed. Air condi-ton. $2600. Must sell one. 537-6201. 75 MERCURY Marquis, recently rebuilt engine, power everything, ex-cellent condition, must sell $1200 or best offer 539-3726, or leave mes-530

Motorcycles

1980 650 Maxim, excellent mechanically, recently re-tuned, needs tires, over $1000 invested.

Must sell, $650 or best offer, 537-8125.

1994 KAWASAKI Ninja 500, 1.1K, candy wine red, super clean, best deal around. $3600 or best offer. 587-8529.

TRAVEL/

of the same

Airplane Tickets ROUND-TRIP AIRLINE tick-

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS 532-6556

Worry about your baby while you're gone? The Collegian can help you.

A classified ad in the Collegian can help you find the right babysitter for your baby. It's only $5 for 20 words - and a night out for you. Give us call or come see us in Kedzie 103.

KANSAS STATE

Kedzie 103 (east of the Union)

OLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

their price range.

CATEGORIES

TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD

To help you find what you are Always put what item or service you looking for, the class and ads have been arranged by category are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large are confused by abbreviations. images, and sub-categories are Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in preceded by a number

designation

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Supersidewalk built for trucks, walkers

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

have access to All Faiths Chapel, where a number of their performances are.

The solution to the problem came with the decision to tear out the stairs between All Faiths and McCain, Rawson said.

"We decided, after looking at it, to regrade that area and create a 'supersidewalk' that runs past the chapel," Rawson said. "It will then go on down and back to Mid Campus Drive."

Rawson said the supersidewalk will not be open for everyday vehicles to drive on, however.

"There will be a chain blocking access to the sidewalk, which a member of campus police will unlock whenever a trucker needs to get through," Rawson said. "So 99 percent of the time it will remain a sidewalk."

Having the grade in place will also allow greater handicap accessibility to All Faiths on the south side, Rawson said.

Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning and University architect, said the job has been bid out to a private contractor, Chaney Construction.

Carter said Chaney is also working on the construction at Eisenhower Hall.

"I'm hoping we'll have everything finished, Eisenhower and McCain, well before the end of the semester," Carter said.

In addition to creating a difficult traffic situation, Martin said the one-way access situation resulted in increased costs paid to truckers.

"For 24 years, we were tolerating a situation that was not very good," he said. "We are absolutely delighted that the University found the money to do this this year."

Camp Doha awaits arrival of 4,000 U.S. troops

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

was expected off Kuwait on Sunday. U.S. supply ships were also sailing from the Indian Ocean base of Diego Garcia.

A British frigate, HMS Cornwall, arrived off Kuwait City on Sunday morning at the request of the Kuwaiti government.

U.S. officials say 20,000 Republican Guards had moved closer to the Kuwaiti border, raising the number of Iraqi troops in the area to 64,000. Some 700 Iraqi tanks were also deployed or heading there.

The closest Iraqi troops were 12 miles from the Kuwaiti border.

At Camp Doha, a desert military base

20 miles north of Kuwait City, Col. Bob Smalser awaited the arrival of the 4,000 U.S. troops from Fort Stewart.

Smalser, the camp commander, said the soldiers were familiar with the terrain and the American military hardware positioned in Kuwait under a 1992 defense agreement the emirate signed with the United States.

But he said he did not expect the Americans would have to fight.

"Nobody in history has ever attacked us when we were already there in force," he said.

"I think people need to understand that this isn't August 1990," Smalser told reporters. "Since then, both we and our Kuwaiti brothers in arms have built up a tremendous capability here."

Baghdad Radio sharply heightened rhetoric Sunday, accusing the West of plotting to crush the Iraqi people.

The radio said Iraq has been subjected to an injustice of unprecedented proportions since the U.N. Security Council imposed an economic embargo in August 1990 to punish Saddam Hussein for occupying Kuwait.

The radio harshly criticized Rolf Ekeus, the head of the U.N. Special Commission charged with dismantling Iraq's weapons of mass destruction and installing long-term monitoring of Iraq's weapons-making program.

Ekeus, scheduled to report Monday to the Security Council, met Iraqi leaders in Baghdad last week to discuss when the monitoring — a key condition for the eventual easing of the sanctions — would start.

It is not known what he told the Iraqis. But the southward movement of at least two divisions of Iraq's Republican Guard, a pillar of Saddam's regime, was first spotted after Ekeus left Baghdad on Thursday.

"Ekeus is part of a plot supported by the U.S.A. and Kuwait's rulers to take revenge on Iraq ... and to completely crush it," the commentary reported.

Symposium features speakers, workshops

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"The difference today, than in the '50s and '60s, is if we really want to (walk through the doors), they can't stop us," he said.

Dixon said the only people who can stop black people from being all they want to be are themselves.

"Don't rely on someone to change you," Dixon said. When you look in the mirror, understand that you are black, he The symposium also featured attorney James Daniels, prosecutor for Geary County, who led a workshop on the Black Man and the Law...

Daniels said black men are on the wrong side of the law.

"We need to return to spirituality from whence we came," he said. The Rev. Ellis Robinson, pastor of

The Rev. Ellis Robinson, pastor of the Second Missionary Baptist Church in Junction City, led a workshop on the Phenomenal Man.

Robinson said the God that has symposium had a positive effect on brought black men this far is what makes them strong. Freeman Davis, Pah-Hellenic adviser at K-State, and Olga Davis, assistant professor of speech, led a workshop on Man to

The two discussed the importance of individuality in a marriage. Olga Davis said she was also concerned with redefining relationships.

"You must have esteem, faith, honesty and trust," she said.

A dramatization titled "You're My Black Man" was performed by Syvette Davis, junior in English.

An awards ceremony conducted by Jawwad Abdulhaqq, president of the Black Student Union, concluded the symposium.

Those who attended said the tham

Daneeka Marshall, freshman in radio and television, said there are a lot more positive black men than she thought.

"There is hope for the future for the black man," she said.

Omar Davis, president of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc. and junior in landscape architecture, said the symposium was a complete success.

"It stressed that black men should take responsibilities for their actions and be accountable for them" he said be accountable for them," he said.

Abdulhaqq, sophomore in political science, said the symposium says black men are more than gangsters.

"We are inventors, artists, writers, musicians and poets," he said. "We are sons, brothers and fathers. We are here. Hear our voices, we are here."

"Chewing gum while calling collect is as rude as dialing zero." Please use the space provided above to store gum for after conversation enjoyment. And always dial 1-800-COLLECT when calling collect. You'll save the people you call up to 44%.

KANSAS STATE OLEGIAN

CONCERT

Live, Weezer and Fatima Mansion will perform at Bramlage Coliseum Nov. 7.

PAGE 7

WEATHER - PAGE 2

OCTOBER 11, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 36

► WORLD

Iraq announces plans to back off Kuwait

Iraq's Foreign Minister has announced that Iraqi troops have been ordered to withdraw from the Kuwaiti border.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ABDALY, Kuwait (AP) -Kuwaiti tanks were dug in behind sand berms, and soldiers watched warily Monday for invading Iraqi soldiers a few miles south of the border that Saddam Hussein refuses to recognize. Unlike 1990, when Kuwait's army was swiftly overwhelmed by Saddam's elite Republican Guards, they were confident of repelling an Iraqi assault this time, largely because they're backed by U.S. troops.

Their optimism was rewarded later Monday when Iraq announced that it had ordered its troops to withdraw from the Kuwaiti border area.

In Baghdad, Iraq's Foreign Minister Mohammed Saeed al-Sahhaf told the official news agency the withdrawal was ordered in response to appeals from "friends" and "in view of the fact that the troops' presence might be used as a pretext to maintain sanctions.

U.N. Iraq-Kuwait Observation Mission spokesman Vesselin Kostov said the situation in the demilitarized zone remained calm.

Sheik Saud al-Sabah, Kuwait information minister, said they would not move back any troops until they were sure the Iraqis meant what they said.

"We will believe it when we see it," he said. "Up to now, there is no indication, and there is no evidence whatsoever that the Iraqis are actually withdrawing their

Al-Sabah said a long-term solution had to be found.

"They could withdraw a couple of tanks north ... and send them back the next day. We cannot tolerate this kind of cat-and-mouse game being played.'

Iraq's announcement came as the first elements of a 4,000-man U.S. contingent from the 24th Mechanized Infantry Division arrived in Kuwait from Fort Stewart, Ga., to reinforce the border.

brothers in arms, our brothers in blood," said Maj. Gen. Ali al-Momen, Kuwait's chief of

One of his conscripts, 27ear-old Abdul Mahsen al-Balushi, reflected the attitude of many Kuwaitis. He said if the Americans weren't around, he'd head for Saudi Arabia.

The aircraft carrier USS George Washington began patrolling the Red Sea Monday, boosting the American buildup to counter an Iraqi military move toward the Kuwait border last week.

Before the Iraqi ambassador said troops were pulling back, U.S. officials

"We rely a lot ... on our said the closest Iraqi formations were about 12 miles north of the U.N .demarcated 130-mile frontier.

They estimated 64,000 Iraqi troops, and 700 tanks were in the area north of the demilitarized zone established after the 1991 war.

Al-Momen put the figure at 50,000 to 60,000 troops.

Although Kuwait has just 20,000 troops in uniform, al-Momen said he was confident in his experienced troops who fought for the liberation of Kuwait four years ago as well as newer recruits.

'We've got the support of our people, of our leadership, of our supreme commander. I think all of this will give us the energy and the will to protect our country," he said.

Still, Kuwaiti tanks, trucks and tents are stuck amid the wreckage left from the last time Saddam's troops invaded the tiny, oil-rich emirate.

Along the highway that stretches from the capital, Kuwait City, to Abdaly are buildings bombed and never rebuilt - an eerie reminder that the constant menace of Iraq has not been forgotten. But the mood is calm.

A military escort stopped for Bedouins moving south with sheep and camels. In the distance, black smoke poured from the Rawdatayn oil field, where operations continued

Chris Helmer,

► CAMPAIGN

Candidates agree tuition could rise

LEIGH BELLINGER

Both candidates in the race for Kansas lieutenant governor said they could not rule out future tuition increases for students in the six state universities during a debate on campus Monday.

The debate, at the K-State Union Little Theatre, was the first in the campaign between Sheila Frahm, Bill Graves' running mate, and Carol Sader; Jim Slattery's running

One of the first questions in the debate dealt with tuition increases.

Frahm, the current majority leader in the Kansas senate, said she could not promise the audience they would not have to pay more to go to a Kansas Board of Regents' school in the future.

She said the state cannot keep on spending like it does without more money coming from somewhere.

"Do you want to pay less tuition or more taxes? Or do you want to pay more tuition and less taxes? These are some of the things we'll have to balance very carefully," Frahm said.

Sader, who is serving her fourth term in the Kansas House of Representatives, agreed with Frahm and said she could not rule out an increase in tuition.

To counter possible increases, she said the state should look for alternatives so students can afford school, possibly subsidies.

"So any student can attend a two-year college, a four-year college or a technical institute if they please," Sader said.

Both candidates also agreed crime is weighing heavy on voters' minds this year.

Frahm said hiring more police alone may not solve the problem.

"We need to be tougher with the laws," Frahm, a native of Colby, said.

"We need to make sure criminals serve their time." Sader pointed out Slattery's 20-point crime plan, which he unveiled earlier in the campaign. When asked what their responsibilities as lieutenant governor will be if elected, they

■ See CANDIDATES Page 5

ATHLETICS

Price of Cats' victory comes to about $3,000

The 21-13 K-State victory over the University of Kansas isn't coming cheap for the K-State athletic department.

The department will foot the bill for the $2,700 goalpost that was destroyed in a post-game celebration by K-State fans at Memorial Stadium this past Thursday night.

"The K-State athletic director sent our athletic director a letter of apology," said Doug Vance of the KU athletic department. "The letter indicated that K-State would pay for the cost of the goalpost. We plan to accept this offer.'

One eyewitness account of the post-game fracas had some KU fans and K-State fans scuffling over possession of the goal post.

"The K-State people quit, and the KU people threw the goalpost over a security fence, and it landed on a Ford Tempo," said Paul Kotz, senior in photojournalism at KU.

Sergeant Rose Rozmiarek, a KU police officer, said it was a sea of purple that took down the goal post, but otherwise, the fans behaved well. "The possession of alcohol wasn't any different than any other game," Rozmiarek said. Students' responses to the destruction of the goalpost were Mike Meyers, junior in premedicine, didn't think it was disrespectful towards KU. "I thought it was pretty cool," Meyers said. "KU has beaten us so many times." Kristin Nichols, junior in freshman in fisheries and wildlife biologies, does the bungee run Monday afternoon at the Sports Illustrated Campus Fest in the free speech zone. If players attach a baton beyond the 30foot mark before being yanked back, they can take a second off their times in other events. The Fest runs through today.

■ See SECURITY Page 5

TODD PEEBACK

Gobs of games, golf, Gatorade

CRESTON KUENZI

The Sports Illustrated Campus Fest could be the break from classes you needed

"I did the joust, the quarterback challenge and the baseball," Cristina Miller, sophomore in secondary education and pre-law, said. "It's a tremendous amount of fun and a good break from classes.

Amy Burditt, junior in early childhood education, said the activities helped her get her mind off of classes.

"It's a good opportunity to release stresses," Burditt said.

Among the activities are the Joust-a-Bout, complete with helmets and padded pugil sticks; Sumo Wrestling, students dressed in padded suits to grapple with opponents; and Hot Shot Basketball, a timed competition that puts shooting ability to the

There is also a batting cage, golf power drive, Velcro obstacle course and bungee run.

Brian Zachgo, senior in education, said he was impressed with everything, as he was preparing to sumo wrestle. "I just got out here, but everything looks like a lot of fun to me," Zachgo said. In addition to sports-oriented events, students can visit the Sport's Illustrated Display and Theater which celebrates the magazine's 40th anniversary.

There are also 3-D video games and computer games, several sweepstakes, a Totally Tunes Trivia Game and all the free samples a person can handle. Right Guard gave away 1,500 deodorants. American Express had 50-60 people sign up for credit cards, and Gatorade gave away a few thousand drinks.

Mike Formichella, event manager, said the Campus Fest, which is based in New Jersey, travels to 25 colleges!

"We started in August at Iowa and are planning on going through April," Formichella said.

Formichella said a crew of 10 people travel with the Fest, and they hire about 45 people from the

■ See FEST Page 10

SUNFLOWER SHOWDOWN 2 THE K-STATE BLOOD DRIVE

The Red Cross-sponsored KSU Bloodmobile ended Friday, Oct. 7. Next week, results from the University of Kansas blood drive can be compared to K-State's results to see who won.

Total donors: 730 Total units: 659 People deferred: 81

News Briefs

▶ 2 ABORTION-CLINIC ARSONS IN CALIFORNIA LIKELY SET BY SAME PERSON

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — Two early morning arson fires at abortion clinics in two different towns were probably set by the same person, police say.

"It's too much to be a coincidence," said Sgt. Pete Hansen, noting that the fires occurred 70 miles — and 90 minutes — apart.

Chico police discovered a fire at a Planned Parenthood clinic at about 3:30 a.m. Sunday and notified police in Redding, about 70 miles north, and several other area cities. Past arson fires at area abortion clinics have occurred closely together, Hansen said Sunday.

But Redding police were busy and could not send a patrol car to the clinic. Hansen said.

A business owner near the clinic reported the blaze at about 4:30 a.m.

A witness told police that someone wearing a stocking mask and carrying a gasoline container sped away from the clinic just before the flames rose, Hansen said. Clinic director Dido Hasper said the Redding clinic has been targeted more often than her clinics in Chico, Sacramento and Santa

"This is the fifth time we've had significant damage at the health center — four fires and a vandalism," she said.

The fire heavily damaged the Chico clinic while a recently installed fire sprinkler spared the Redding one from serious damage.

"I'm completely disgusted that there is yet another act of terrorism aimed at women ... who might be in a position to need an abortion or any other of the clinic's services," said Eileen Schnitger, the Redding clinic's education director.

The fire at the Redding clinic was the fourth since 1989, and authorities believe at least two of the earlier fires were arson. The cause of the third fire was not determined.

The FBI and the U.S. Department of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms are helping local authorities investi-

Anti-abortion advocate Donna Ellis said she wasn't surprised to hear about the attack on the Redding center, but does not condone the violence.

"My only thinking is these people have a lot of enemies — husbands and boyfriends that would choose life and have no say so in the matter," Ellis said. "Personally, I'm opposed to violence at the center. Destroying the center is not the solution to the problem and I'm opposed to this sort of action."

A previous arson blaze at the Redding clinic was followed by a fire at a clinic about 120 miles away and police believed they were related, Hansen said.

After the Chico fire, police dispatcher Denise Nelson said she called police at Redding, Yuba City and Sacramento. When the Redding fire was reported, police there notified officials in several Oregon towns close to the California stateline

CEDRAS LEAVES; HAITIANS ANTICIPATE JEAN-BERTRAND ARISTIDE'S RETURN

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — The departure of coup leader Raoul Cedras, while a triumph for American policy makers, leaves Haiti temporarily rudderless at an uncertain time.

Extraordinary pressures will be placed on Haitians in the next few days, as excitement builds among the people for the scheduled return Saturday of exiled President Jean-Bertrand Aristide.

"The only thing I worry about is that Haiti's going to be five days without a leader," said Spc. Mike Klier, 21, of Virginia Beach, Va., sitting at the wheel at a Humvee outside Haitian army headquarters. The Haitian army melted away in the northern city of Cap-Haitien after a fire fight with U.S. Marines. The first five Haitians introduced there in an interim U.S.-backed civilian police force were hooted out Sunday by a mob calling the Haitians "attaches," the armed, terrorizing allies of the old Haitian mili-

Seeking to deal with a power vacuum and stop a series of night-time burglaries, Port-au-Prince Mayor Evans Paul announced the creation of a 500-member, unarmed municipal police force.

But no one knows how order will be maintained in the countryside, which has traditionally been run by feudal chiefs or county sheriffs.

American Lt. Gen. Hugh Shelton publicly commended Cedras for doing what he could to control the Haitian forces, and none of the 19,500 Americans sent here have been killed in action.

By resigning near the end of his three-year term, Cedças saved some face and may still counsel moderation among his soldiers and the attaches. But his announcement that he was leaving Haiti, joining fellow coup leader Michel Francois in exile, may provoke resentment among those soldiers left behind.

Election

ABSENTEE VOTING

THE ABSENTEE VOTING PROCESS

Here are the requirements for voting on an absentee ballot:

■ The deadline to register is Oct. 24, and the election is Nov. 8.

■ You must be 18 years old by Nov. 8.

Depending on the type of election, you must live in the ward, precinct or township 14 days prior to the election.

There are 20 places to register in Riley County, including the Office of Student Activities and Services in the K-State Union.

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6

At 10:45 p.m., two individuals were cited for minors in

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7

At 2:27 a.m., a subject was arrested for DUI at 12th and Bluemont

At 12:23 p.m., an officer noted a vehicle missing four tires and rims in Lot B-2. A theft #### report was filed.

block of Denison Avenue.

At 5:09 p.m., an officer checked on intoxicated subject at Goodnow Lot D-2.

possession of alcohol at 900

At 9:25 p.m., a non-injury, hit and run accident at Lot A-28.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 9

At 4:07 a.m., Larry Pickett, 401 Colorado St., No. 3, reported his nephew kicked in a door and battered him. Officer spoke with the victim. A criminal damage to property report was filed. Loss was $200.

At 4:41 a.m., Doug Oeltjen, was arrested for DUI at U.S. Highway 24 by K Mart. Bond was $500.

At 5:11 a.m., Officer Rafuse reported an assault in progress. Arrested was Joseph Wesoloski, Junction City. Bond was $300. Victim was Mark Refuse, 600 Colorado St.

At 7:26 a.m., an information report was filed concerning a sobriety check at U.S. Highway 24 by K Mart by Lt. Crosby between the hours of 12:14 and 2:30 a.m. located in the 400 block of E. Poyntz U.S. Highway 24. 154 vehicles were stopped, which resulted in three DUI arrests. One citation for an open container was also reported.

At 11:54 a.m., an employee of Food-4-Less, 222 N. 6th St., reported a theft. Victim was Food-4-Less. Taken was a pack of Newport Cigarettes. Loss was $2. A notice to appear for theft was issued to James Willie Lundy, Room 24, Westwood Motel.

At 4:35 p.m., a past battery report was filed by an employee of Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon, 1213 Moro St. Victim was Clettus Umscheid, Westmoreland, Kan. Arrested for domestic violence was Kenny Umscheid, 250 Noon St., No. 1. Bond was $300.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

BULLETINS

- The Kansas Center for Rural Initiatives will present "The Town That's Been Through the Mill" from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union 204.
- Circle K International will meet 9 p.m. today in Union 206.
- German Table will meet at 11:30 a.m. today in Union Stateroom 3. Anyone interested in German conversation is welcome.

   Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30
- p.m. today at the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- Sailing Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 205.
   Apparel and Textile Marketing Interest Group will meet at 3 p.m. today in the back parking lot of Justin Hall.
- Society of Women Engineers will meet at 7 p.m. today in Durland 161.
- Board of Student Publications will from 8 to 9 a.m. today in Union 204.
- Engineering Ambassadors will meet at 7:15 p.m. today in
- Durland 173.

   Pre-physical Therapy Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union
- 213. Jackie Rawlings will be the guest speaker.
   Habitat for Humanity will meet at 9 p.m. today in Seaton 236.
   Dairy Science Club officers will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Call 140.
- The general meeting will be at 7 p.m.

  Wheat State Agronomy Club will meet at 7 p.m. today in
- Throckmorton 3021.

  Kinesiology Student Association will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in Ahearn 02.

CORRECTION

Leporello, played by Patrick Blackwell, was misidentified as Masetto, played by Nigel Smith, in a photograph of "Don Giovanni" in Monday's Collegian.

The Collegian regrets the error.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK
Sunny and mostly clear with highs from around 70 in the east to the mid-70s in the west. Wednesday, partly cloudy in the northwest.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TODAY

Sunny and clear with a high of 70. Low around 40.

TOMORROW III

Mostly sunny with high around 70.

For less than a dollar a day, both will give you the power you need to survive this semester.

With an Apple Computer Loan, it's now easier than ever to buy a Macintosh personal computer. In fact, with Apple's special low interest and easy terms, you can own a Mac for as little as $23 per month! Buy any select Macintosh now, and you'll also get something no other computer offers: the Apple student software set. It includes a program designed to help you with all aspects of writing papers. A personal organizer/calendar created specifically for students (the only one of its kind). And the Internet Companion to help you tap into on-line resources for researching your papers. It even includes ClarisWorks, an integrated package complete with database, spreadsheet, word processing software and more. All at special low student pricing. With an offer this good, it's the best time ever to discover the power every student needs. The power to be your best."

POWER unough it.

Come to the K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE for a Great Selection of Apple Computers!

Shop at the Store that Gives Back to You!

(fire expires October 17, 1994; available only while supplies but. © 1994 Apple Computer, Inc. All rights reserved. Apple, Despute by September 19, 1994; available only while supplies but. © 1994 Apple Computer, Inc. All rights reserved. Apple, Despute bean and "The power to be your best" are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc. AppleClessign, Max. and Power Maccintosb are trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc. All rights reserved. Apple, the Apple Computer Loan of $1,59,15 for a Performar* 636 system. Prices and loan amounts are subject to change without notice. See your Apple Computer Loan of $1,59,15 for a Performar* 636 system. Prices and loan amounts are subject to change without notice. See your Apple Computer Loan of $1,59,15 for a Performar* 636 system. Prices and loan amounts are subject to change without notice. See your Apple Computer Loan of $1,59,15 for a Performar* 636 system.

Exclusion may lead to suicide

BROOKE GRABER FORT

Collegian
Members of the homosexual community between the ages of 18 and 24 are more likely to die from suicide than AIDS, cancer, heart disease or automobile accidents.

At an open forum Monday, the Rev. Don Fallon, coordinator of religious activities, said homophobia by Christian communities contributes to this problem.

The Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society kicked off Coming Out, Coming Home Week by sponsoring a panel discussion titled, "Is Homosexuality a Sin?" 7 p.m. Monday in Seaton Hall

The 80-capacity room was almost full as more than 60 people attended the discussion led by Fallon and Cindy Meyer, United Methodist campus minister.

The discussion focused on the Christian view of homosexuality.

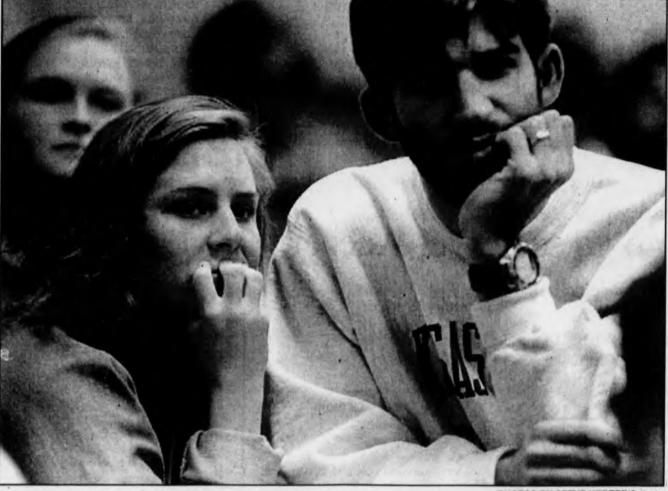

"I don't speak for my denomination. I don't speak for campus ministers. I only speak for myself," Meyer said during her opening remarks.

"Is homosexuality a sin? I don't much like the question. It seems to me that the question is looking for an easy answer. Most of life isn't that simple," she said.

Meyer said homosexuality is currently the most divisive issue in churches.

Fallon said he has discovered that homosexuals experience much pain when making the decision to publicize their sexual orientation.

"In my experience, frequently the pain is connected to the guilt and fear that comes from the attitudes we've heard over and over again, which say homosexuality is sinful," he said.

Lisa Senuta, senior in life science, and Chad Senuta, senior in secondary education, listen to panel members answer questions about homosexuality Monday night in Seaton Hall. The event started the Coming Out, Coming Home Week.

Fallon said he thinks the view of homosexuality as sinful is especially strong in small Kansas communities.

"Much of the homophobia, anger, hostility, guilt and fear has to do with our religious backgrounds," Fallon said.

"In our Christian communities, for the most part, we exclude homosexuals," he said. "We've contributed to the leading cause of death for homosexuals between the ages of 18 and 24, which is suicide."

Meyer said she feels Christian groups give much attention to the issue of sexual orientation even though sexual orientation is not mentioned in the Bible.

She said people should follow four instructions that are in the Bible: do not judge others; everyone sins, and God forgives; God loves all people; and God told everyone to love his or her

'We often seek religious bases for our bias," Meyer said.

She said many religions follow the practice of loving the sinner and hating

"Sexual orientation is an innate part of an individual and can't be torn apart," ■ See STUDENTS Page 10

Rev. Don Fallon and Rev. Cindy Meyer answer questions from audience members during the Bisexual, and Gay and Lesbian pagel discussion Monday evening in Seaton Hall.

► GOLDEN KEY

Student group has potential for growth

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

Golden Key provides opportunities in leadership and career advancement, and it is made of the top 15 percent of juniors and seniors at the University.

"Golden Key is an emerging group, and it's going to get larger and larger," Steve Eidt, vice president and senior in pre-medicine, said.

"Our mission, first of all, is recognition to let people in society know you should be honored for what you've done," Eidt said.

He said Golden Key has the ability to move a large number of people to do things. Joey Schriner, president and senior in biochemistry, said there are 600 to 700 members at K-State.

"We have a large number of people at our disposal," Schriner said. "It's a matter of calling people up and asking them."

Eidt said the group helps members to grow not only as leaders, but as people.

"The opportunities are not just to put something on your résumé, but to develop leadership skills," he said. "There is opportunity to show other people you have the ability to lead and work with other people."

This student-run organization encourages members to get as involved as much or as little as they like, Schriner said. "We allow you to join and don't require you to do anything," he said. "Golden Key can do so much for students on any level they choose to receive it.' Michelle Brock, senior in English, said that is one way the group differs from others.

"You can get as involved as you want to be," Brock said. "I could pick and choose (what events to be involved in), and I still got very involved."

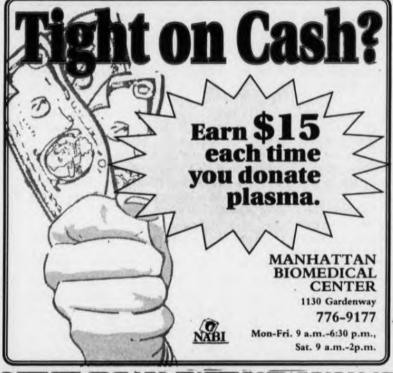

Golden Key's activities range from an honors dinner for the faculty to various conferences.

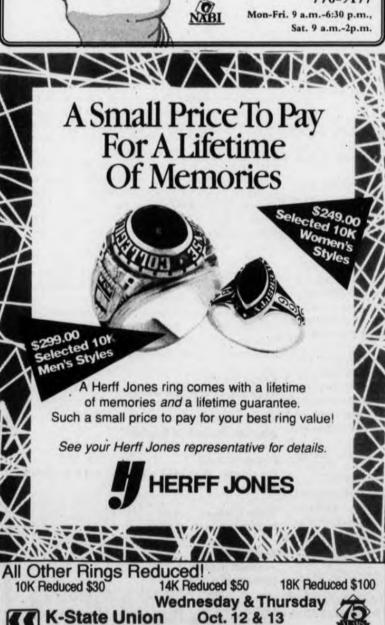

"There aren't too many organizations on campus that can say they do this much stuff," Eidt said. "Not many organizations are as handson as Golden Key.'

One of the new events Golden Key will be sponsoring is the Community College Leadership Conference, Schriner said.

■ See K-STATE Page 10

10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Bookstore 532-6583

OCTOBER 10 & 11 · 10AM - 4PM (RAINDATE OCTOBER 12) FRONT LAWN OF THE K-STATE UNION BETWEEN K-STATE UNION AND SEATON HALL

Brought to you by: K-State Union
Bookstore 532-6583

Shop at the store that gives back to you!

ASST. PHOTO EDITOR .. Mark Leffingwell

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

COLLEGIAN

EDITOR......Stephanie Fuqua MANAGING EDITOR..N. Stewart Anderson

NEWS EDITOR ...... Cristina Janney

PHOTO EDITOR ...... Shane Keyser

OPINION EDITOR .. John Meirowsky

DESIGN EDITOR .... Derek Simmons

ECOLLEGIAN EDITOR ... Mike Marlett

Good reasons not to go see Live, Weezer

Bands will not get much of an audience. Live music is coming to Manhattan, but it might not have much of an audience.

The alternative band, Live, will be performing with Weezer and Fatima Mansions as guests.

It just takes a moment to think about what the attendance will be on a Monday night concert with a list of relatively unheard of bands...

To put it nicely, the crickets will have a better representation than the student body.

Tack on the $15 charge for tickets and you have a virtual guarantee that just a few die-hard Weezer freaks will be there.

Boy, what an impression that will leave on the live-music scene.

RISTIN

RIGHTON

.

It is rough when there isn't even enough interest to come close to selling out groups like Van Halen and Def Leppard.

Surely, the Union Program Council knows there will not be enough people to come even close to filling the bottom section of Bramlage Coliseum.

While a $10 discount could be considered a savings, Manhattan cannot compete with the music market in Kansas City. A group or groups that would get $25 per ticket in the Kansas City market shouldn't expect to get the same in a smaller market. Something more in the $5-8 range might draw a few more students through the gates.

TOLES

Movie still worth seeing

on't put it off any longer. Every person on this planet should be strapped to a chair and forced to watch it. Then, they should be forced to evalute its message.

"Schindler's List," winner of the 1994 Oscar for Best Picture, is a movie that every person should see.

And believe it or not, many students on this campus have missed many opportunities to do so.

It is a movie that grips your heart. It blows your mind. It makes you ashamed at the cruelty of which humans are capable.

Many were lucky enough to have a seat during Thursday's speech by Holocaust survivor Zev Kedem. After hearing him tell of the cruelties of his experience as a Jewish child during this time, one understands the gripping honesty the movie portrays. It isn't Hollywood-ized. And that is what makes the difference. Kedem said he had been critical that such a sensitive issue could be handled in a film for mass audiences in a reasonable manner. After watching the film, he said it "grabbed me. I saw my own past."

Once he saw the power of the story on the screen, he knew he needed to break the dam of pain he had suppressed 50 years before. Until watching the movie, he hadn't even discussed his experience with his children. It is that powerful.

Set in Poland and Czechoslovakia, Steven Spielberg's true story of industrialist Oskar Schindler's transformation from a man taking advantage of cheap slave labor to a man with an empathy for those who worked for him, realistically shows its audience the horrors of World War II.

It is "an essential truth of the Holocaust," Kedem said.

Many people I have run into lately haven't taken the time to watch this monumental film for a number of lame reasons.

1. I have still heard people say things like, "I don't want to see it. It will be too gross." Is something historically accurate gross like a Freddy Krueger movie or something? Or are people just too ashamed to face the fact that the Holocaust happened? 2. "I hate watching movies in black and white."

Poor baby. You are missing out on some of the finest films of all time.

3. I've heard older people say, "I lived through World War II. I don't need to see another movie about it."

I'll guarantee you that unless you went to Europe 50 years ago, you never saw anything like this.

Excuses, excuses.

I don't think I could have eaten any popcorn during the film, but I do know that if I hadn't seen it, my only impression of World War II would have come from history books and "The Diary of Anne Frank."

This film shows the same misery from a different perspective. It is about man's ability to change, to listen to his heart, to go out on a limb and risk himself for 1,100 others. It is about doing something you do not have to do.

It eats your guts from the inside out because you know what is coming and the characters do not, Parts of it made me cringe in horror. I wanted to look away when the commandant killed for no reason but to display his so-called power. Tears swelled in my heart as we followed the little girl in the red coat wandering alone through the black and white ghettos, only to later see the same little girl in red being wheeled into a mass grave.

It isn't just a movie. It is a pledge to remember. And seeing it is like pledging that you will do your part so that the Holocaust will never be forgotten — or repeated.

As Kedem said, "The film translates political issues intopersonal issues." He is right. Seeing the Holocaust through the eyes of these characters makes the horror so much more real than videos in social studies classes did in high school.

Genocide happens in our world today as we speak. Yes, it is on a less industrial scale, but it happens. Rent the movie. Don't do it on a first date, but rent it sometime. Video gives you a second chance.

Appreciate its honesty and its craftsmanship. It will not hit you as being "gross," but instead, it will infuriate you that such human degradation was allowed to go on as long as it did.

And when it is over, watch the credits. Watch the names of all those involved go by. Listen to the haunting music. And remember the film for all its glory and horror.

Kristin Brighton is a sophomore in mass communications and

Campaigners have many K-State ties

Second District congressional candidates John Carlin and Sam Brownback have more in common than the office they are running for. Both candidates and two of their top campaign staffers are K-State graduates.

Fred Wingert, a 1994 graduate of K-State in marketing, is serving as campaign manager for the Carlin for Congress campaign. Jackie McClaskey, a 1993 graduate of K-State in agriculture-business, is serving as communications director for the Brownback for Congress campaign.

Well, if any of these names begin to sound familiar to you, they should. Wingert and McClaskey ran against one another for student body president in 1992, with McClaskey pulling off the victory.

Since she graduated, McClaskey has been at the University of Texas A&M working on her graduate studies. She began to work on the campaign in May. Wingert began working on the campaign part-time during the spring of 1994 and full-time after graduating in May.

AARON

OTTO

Both McClaskey, Wingert and their respective candidates have shared several leadership positions on campus. McClaskey and Brownback were both student body presidents. Wingert was chief of staff to the student body president, and Carlin was chancellor of the student tribunal.

McClaskey is in charge of working the media.
 Along with writing press releases, she also works with the Riley County Brownbackers committee.

"I try to get them the type of press that they want along with we want," she said. "If an issue comes out in Washington or in eastern Kansas and he has an opinion on it, we try to get it out. I'm just trying to let people learn more about Brownback."

Wingert handles many campaign aspects.

"There is no such thing as a typical day," he said. "I spend a lot of time working with people on projects, oversee scheduling and meetings on issues and, at least one day a week, I meet with people outside the office when I travel with Carlin."

There is something else Wingert and McClaskey have in common with their respective candidates. Wingert and Carlin are both members of FarmHouse fraternity. Brownback is an alumnus of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, and McClaskey was a little sister with the house. Both McClaskey and Wingert said that several members of their respective houses have asked to become involved in the campaign.

"I see it as a positive thing, not a negative one between the two houses. Everyone says that our generation doesn't care and I think this will spur on a couple of hundred more voters," McClaskey said.

When most people think back to the relationship between McClaskey and Wingert, they think of the hard fought battles between them during the 1992 student body presidential campaign. What most people don't realize is that they worked together on several different issues like the Farrell Library expansion.

"In reality, we have worked on a lot of issues together," Wingert said. "However, there is rivalry during the campaign, but we are still good friends. When it is all said and done, there is no race too important to lose a friendship."

Both Wingert and McClaskey said their candidate will do a better job for the second district in Congress.

"His (Brownback) views better represent the second district, and he would represent them as they would represent themselves," McClaskey said.

Brownback has been a private attorney, secretary of the Kansas Department of Agriculture and city attorney for both Leonardville and Ogden.

"Congress is not a place for on-the-job training," Wingert said. "Carlin has 16 years experience working on a dairy farm and eight years experience running a private business he started."

Carlin has also spent three terms in the Kansas House of Representatives, one term as speaker and two four-year terms as governor.

No matter who wins the second congressional district, which covers most of eastern Kansas, we will have a K-State graduate representing us in the U.S. House of Representatives, and that says a lot of good things about K-State.

Aaron Otto is a sophomore in political science

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

GOAL POSTS

Safety is a overlooked concern Dear Editor,

In Lawrence as the game ended and the K-State fans rushed the field, I couldn't help but think about what happened at Wisconsin last year. My wife was nearly knocked down in the stands by people whose only care was getting to the field for their few seconds in the limelight. What makes this an even scarier moment was that my wife is six-months pregnant, a thought some might want to think about the next time they want to rush the field.

If human life doesn't appeal to these few fans, then maybe pride can. K-State has the opportunity to have the greatest season ever. Success is now expected on Saturdays in Manhattan. When was the last time any of you saw Notre Dame, Florida State or Miami fans tear down the goalposts? I don't think anyone needs to be reminded these teams have won much bigger games than the one the Cats won in Lawrence or the one they are about to win on Saturday (i.e. National Championships).

So when that clock runs out Saturday, and the Cats have positioned themselves for a Big Eight Championship, let's try and live by the words Joe Patterno told his players about scoring a touchdown ... "Act like you've been there before."

Mike Ashenfelter senior in accounting

▶ HOMOSEXUALITY

Knowing leads to accepting

Dear Editor,

Today is Oct. 11, National Coming Out Day.
All over the country, women and men of every age, race, social status and profession are taking the next step — coming out and admitting they are lesbian, bisexual or gay.

'It has been a long-accepted maxim in queer circles that half our battle for acceptance is the battle against invisibility. Our "difference" is often hidden, so that it isn't always obvious if a person is homosexual or not.

Our society teaches lesbian, gay and bisexual people to hide their sexual orientation — to pretend we are heterosexual. So many do just that. They don't let family, friends, neighbors and co-workers know they are in love with a member of the same gender.

Many also hide for safety. If no one knows you are a lesbian, then you can't be discriminated against, or fired, or bashed, or have your children taken away from you "for their own protection."

But studies have above an expectable thing:

But studies have shown one remarkable thing: if a person knows someone is lesbian, bisexual or gay, then that person is much more likely to favor equal rights (not special rights) for lesbians, bisexuals and gays. It's much easier to discriminate against "those people" if they are abstract. But if your sibling, your co-worker, your friend or neighbor is gay, then you begin to see the way heterosexist discrimination has an effect on your life.

And you also see the stereotypes breaking down. Most homosexuals you know are not sexual predators, deviants or freaks. We are doctors and lawyers, city officials, housewives, teachers, librarians, auto mechanics, garbage collectors, college students, pizza deliverers, Republicans, Democrats, Independents, young, old, black, white, Native American, Asian and Latina/Latino. In short, we are everywhere. And when you know us, know who we really are, it becomes easy to see through the lies. When people hold up some fringe element and say, "See, this is what a homosexual looks like! This is what a homosexual does!" — you know the truth, because you know your loved one is not like that.

There is an old story in queer circles if every gay person in the world turned purple for an hour, so that everyone could see who was gay, lesbian or bisexual (and you would be surprised!), discrimination would end

We are not foolish enough to believe this color change would be enough to solve all of the problems gays, lesbians and bisexuals face. But it would make a difference because the homosexual would stop being "one of them" and start being "one of us." Heterosexism, the belief heterosexual relationships are superior to homosexual ones, would still exist. But there are in many cases in which heterosexism exists because a heterosexist can say, "I don't know anyone gay." Coming out eliminates this. Because everyone knows someone who's gay, even if you don't know that they are gay.

So, we, the undersigned, are taking this opportunity to announce to our friends, neighbors and co-workers that we are here in Manhattan, and we are important, vital and productive members of this community. You know us. You love us, and you respect us. And yes, we do happen to be lesbian, bisexual or gay. And frankly, we're pretty much like everybody else!

Kevyn Jacobs freshman in arts and sciences

Sarah Kanning graduate student in English

Frank A. Axell President, Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society

Terry Colbert staff in graduate studies

James Mason assistant professor Library (Farrell)

Laura Walker junior in criminal justice ▶ RESIDENCE HALLS

Chute fire forces students out of Goodnow

Goodnow residents were evacuated Monday night when a trash chute caught on fire.

A fire drill planned for Goodnow Hall this week came a little earlier than expected and turned out not to be a drill after all.

Goodnow residents were evacuated for a real fire early Monday evening.

Fire alarms were pulled by staff members at about 4:45 p.m. after a resident reported smelling smoke coming from a C-wing trash chute,

John Danos, director of Goodnow,

The cause of the fire is not known, Danos said.

"The fire was very, very limited in location," Danos said. It took about seven minutes for residents to evacuate the building, but residents were able to re-enter about 20 to 25 minutes later, Danos

"The fire department certainly responded quickly," Danos said.

"It was cleared for that long because the fire department needed to make sure there wasn't a significant amount of smoke on any of the floors," he said. "More often than not, smoke is the biggest danger to human life.'

Danos said he was extremely pleased with how quickly the building was evacuated.

Ironically, Danos said, a security task force had planned to have a fire drill in Goodnow this week.

At the K-State Union October 10-14

Check our daily menu...

In the K-State Union Stateroom At the Hot Line

Pork Au Jus Sandwiches, Pork Tortilla Soup Hearty Spaghetti with Pork, Pork Tetrazinni, Pork BBQ Sandwich, Oriental Pork Soup, Pork Chop

> At the Pizza Line Ham and Pineapple Pizza

At the Breakfast Grill

Bacon, Sausage or Ham, Egg 'n Cheese Biscuit with Hashbrowns, and an 8oz Center Beverge Drink or Milk

At the Bluemont Buffet

Mexican Pork Steaks, Pork Tortilla Soup, Carved Cajun Pork Roast, Swedish Meatballs, Pork Fried Rice, Oriental Pork Soup

Candidates outline plans

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

both said they plan to get to work as soon as they are sworn in come

"I'm going to roll up my sleeves, sit down with the best minds in Kansas and get things done," Sader said.

Once in office, she said she would work on such issues as health care, welfare reform and serve as a liaison between the legislative and executive branches of the state government.

Frahm said one of her first responsibilities would be serving as the chair of the transition team between Gov. Joan Finney's outgoing administration and the new one.

She said it would be her responsibility to work with making the 700 necessary appointments for the new administration.

When asked if either candidate supported making changes in the state's abortion laws, they both said they supported the current laws.

Following the debate, both candidates said they were impressed with the questions the students asked.

Frahm said she was surprised no one brought up the issue of school finance, one of the issues in the campaign the gubernatorial candidates have disagreed on.

Frahm and Sader have appeared at functions together answering questions during the campaign, but this was the first true debate between the two. Monday afternoon, Sader said she wanted give people what is needed to vote intelligently.

"I tried to be as informative as possible to help them make up their minds," she said.

Security to increase for game

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 elementary education, applauded

the teams effort, but not the fans. "I think it was kind of poor. The football team did a really good job, then the fans went out and made us look like imbeciles," she said.

Nichols said she predicted the same fate for K-State goalposts if K-State was victorious over Nebraska.

"I'm sure if we beat Nebraska, then they will go down," Nichols said. "I don't know that it's necessary, but I'd rather see it happen here than somewhere else."

Charlie Thomas, director of Bramlage Coliseum, said security at KSU Stadium would be increased next week, but he couldn't give

"It's too early to know yet," Thomas said. "There will be a combination of both University police and student peer group security."

Smile enhancement by the professionals

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES,

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK!

October 11 from 3-8p.m. at your house

October 11 from 3-8p.m. at your house

October 12 from 3-8p.m. at your house

Organizations

October 12 from 6-10p.m. in McCain 324

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are coming to take a shot at you.

the competition continues

residence halls

In each residence hall, the floor with the highest percentage of members buying a yearbook and getting their pictures taken will receive an all floor pizza party from Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook.

greeks & scholarship halls

The fraternity, sorority and scholarship hall with the highest percentage of members buying a yearbook and getting their pictures taken will receive $200 for their philanthropy from Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook.

The second and third place fraternity, sorority and scholarship halls will receive $150 and $75 respectively for their philanthropy.

The competition is divided between mens' and womens' living groups.

1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

off-campus & black greeks

Off-Campus and Black Greeks are offered a free studio sitting coupon at the time of the sitting.

Those who purchase a 1995 yearbook will receive the free studio sitting.

The coupon is complimentary from the Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook.

You may still reserve your copy of the

You're In The Boo

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2)

$3.50 for faculty/staff

$4.25 for the public

AVAILABLE NOW

outside Union Stateroom or in 103 Kedzie

Questions? Call 532-6555

Smooth Stroke

Jason Losch, attempts a long putt during a tournament at Lawrence. The golf team is in eighth place after two rounds of the Sundance/Men's Ram Invitational in Fort Collins, Colo.

DARREN WHITLEY

► BASKETBALL Fans involved in madness

Spectators could cash in on $40,000 at scrimmage

WESS HUDELSON

The K-State men's basketball team will make its debut at 12:01 a.m. Saturday at Bramlage Coliseum.

However, the team's first showing of the season is only a small part of the plan, assistant coach Mark Fox said.

Activities get underway at 10:45 p.m. Friday with a performance by basketball dribbling-wizard Sandy

This will be followed by bat races. Contestants will spin around with their foreheads on baseball bats and then dash for the finish line.

Next, fans can win $100 in the Grab for Cash contest.

Selected fans will be blind-folded and then try to collect points by searching for markers placed on the

The fans in the stands will help the contestants by yelling louder when they get closer to the markers. 'We wanted to get more people involved with the event this year,"

Fox said. "We've put more time and effort into this event than I think there has been in the past." The highlight of the pre-scrimmage events takes place with the $40,000 Half-Court Shoot-out sponsored by the radio station KMKF-FM 101.5. K-Rock will distribute free programs before the game. Each program has a number on it. Ten numbers will then be drawn. People whose programs match the numbers selected will have the chance to win the $40,000.

Contestants who make two of three shots from half court will win $20,000.

Anyone who makes all three shots will win $40,000.

"This is something we've kicked around for awhile," Jason Wright, broadcaster at K-Rock, said. "The opportunity was there for this game, and we took it."

Wright said K-Rock will be broadcasting live outside of Bramlage prior to Midnight Madness and will serve hot chocolate to the fans outside Bramlege waiting to get into the

"We'll do some giveaways and some games before the game because there is always going to be fans lined up early," Wright said.

Coach Tom Asbury said Midnight Madness, above all else, is for the

"This is more important for the fans than it is for the team," Asbury said. "We're going to try to capture some of the excitement the football team has created," he said. This is the first Midnight Madness of any kind Asbury has participated "I had some input in the event, but again it is mostly for the fans," Asbury said. "We're going to scrimmage for about 20 minutes and then go to bed.

"We'll have a real practice on the next day.'

▶ BIG EIGHT COACHES

jury status unknown

CRESTON KUENZI

Tommie Frazier's out, Brook Berringer's questionable, and Chad May's doing just fine.

May was awarded the Big Eight Conference offensive player of the week for his performance in the Kansas game.

Coach Bill Snyder said he's not sure whether it was May's best outing.

"He played awfully well and he didn't make many mistakes in the ball game, but I've seen him play well on several occasions," Snyder

"I haven't really thought about comparing his performance with other games, but I'm sure it's near the top.'

Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said Frazier is doing as well as can be expected.

"He should be out of the hospital Tuesday and my understanding is he'll be on blood thinners for three to six months," Osborne said. "Other than that, he's doing fine." Snyder said the loss of Frazier will affect the Cornhuskers. Tommie Frazier is a tremendous quarterback, obviously one of the finest in the country," Snyder said. "There's always going to be a drop off when you lose a number one individual, particularly at that position:"

Osborne said Berringer's status for Saturday's game is uncertain.

"He did have a recurrence of his lung injury in the Oklahoma State game," Osborne said. "It was not a major injury, but his status is not real

"He's feeling pretty good, so we'll see what he can do as the week goes on."

Snyder said the Cornhuskers will be very difficult to contend against even without Frazier. "I know Brook Berringer and I know he's a quality quarterback," Snyder said. "When you look at the statistics, you're looking at a team that's still rushing for just under 400 yards per game without Tommie Frazier. "I think they have the weapons to circumvent any kind of drop off that might take place."

Osborne said he feels like his team will play the best they can in any situation.

"They're going to go out and compete no matter who's quarterback," Osborne said. Snyder said one area the Cornhuskers might have a void in is leadership. "There is a leadership factor and I'm sure Brook is a very good leader, but I think Tommie thrived on it," Snyder said.

Snyder said his team has many reasons for thinking they can beat the Cornhuskers, beyond the quarterback situation.

"Our football team has a great deal of respect for themselves and a lot of confidence," Snyder said. "We're playing at a place where, since 1990, we're 24-2-1, and we've got a sell-out

"Also, we have played well offensively against Nebraska the last three years, and the last time that we had them here we played pretty well defensively."

Snyder said the Cats are certainly not taking the Cornhuskers for granted, however.

"That's not overconfident speaking, I can assure you of that," Snyder said. "We understand that Nebraska is truly a great football team.

"We'll have to play absolutely as well as we can and we have to play with great emotion.' Snyder said a win could take his program to the next level.

Kansas State University has not beaten Nebraska for an extended period of time, so obviously, a win would be a big step for us," he

► VOLLEYBALL

Cats collect 2nd Big 8 win

CRESTON KUENZI

The K-State women's volleyball team ran its Big Eight Conference record to 2-1 Saturday with a victory over Missouri in Columbia.

The 15-17, 15-7, 15-10 and 15-7 win increased the Wildcat's overall record to 10-4 on

Coach Jim Moore said the environment in Columbia was very hostile, and his team did not well as a result.

"It was a very difficult situation," Moore said. "So many strange things happened that it was hard to concentrate on the game.

Moore would not say whether the officials had anything to do with it, but he did say that some of the fans were abusive.

"It's strange when the fans are on our people personally, but we overcame it despite not playing our best," Moore said.

Kate DeClerk, sophomore middle blocker, led the Cats with 13 kills and only two errors on 22 attempts. Yolanda Young contributed 12 kills with three errors.

After breaking the school record in assisted blocks against Kansas, Jill Dugan continued her dominance as she tallied eight assisted blocks.

The Cats now turn their attention toward the powerful Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Eight last year with a 10-2 record. The Huskers had won the conference the past 10 years with only one loss in that period.

Moore said this year's Husker team is going to be extremely difficult to compete with. "It could be Nebraska's best team ever," Moore said. "We're going to have to play out of our minds to even have a chance."

OUTDOORS

Trout to find home at Tuttle Creek

SERA L. TANK Collegian

Kansas Wildlife and Parks-Tuttle Creek is starting a new trout-stocking program on Oct. 15 at Tuttle Creek Dam and Reservoir.

Chuck Bever, a fish biologist for Kansas Wildlife and Parks-Tuttle Creek, said the trout will be purchased by the Department of Wildlife and Parks for the state of Kansas.

"They're going to be put in the River Pond Area west of the swimming beach. "They'll be stocking them every two weeks on into summer," he said.

A considerable sum of money will be spent to stock Tuttle Creek Reservoir, Bever said

"To cover the cost, everyone who fishes will be required to purchase a trout fishing permit. They can be purchased at the post office, Dillons and some other places," he said.

Bever said he is anticipating a large turnout while the trout are being stocked.

"It's an ongoing program. Even through the winter, there should be a lot of people. Trout are cold-water fish, so it won't get slow," he said. Edwin Olson, a member of the Manhattan

Bass Club, said he will be among the many anglers at Tuttle Creek Saturday.

Olson has been trout fishing in Wyoming, Colorado, and other states and said the fishing at Tuttle Creek will be different from his former experience, but it will still be good.

'Any kind of fishing is good fishing," he Olson said there will be two kinds of anglers at Tuttle Creek Saturday, the purists and those who use live bait. "The purists are the ones who use artificial lures and fish purely for sport. The person who uses live bait like marshmallows and live insects is not a purist," he said.

Coach driven to reach lofty goals

JAMIE BUSH

Stacy Metro is always reaching for higher plateaus.

For Metro, K-State assistant volleyball coach, reaching another level of excellence has always been a driving force. "I like to say always reach for the top. That way, if you fall a bit, you will still be happy," Metro said.

While at Northern Michigan University, Metro made it look too easy as a player.

Northern Michigan went 38-1 in 1993 and won the Division II National Championship under the direction of Jim Moore, the Wildcats' new volleyball coach.

she wanted to reach those plateaus. Her quest began as she entered her sophomore year at Mayfair High School in Lakewood, Calif., and decided to try something new volleyball "I went out for the team one day," Metro said. "I didn't know anything about it, but I wanted to play."

Even though she might have not known a lot about the game early on, Moore, Metro's high school coach, said he was not about to let her slip through his fingers.

"Jim looked at me and said, 'You're tall, and you can play," Metro said. However, success didn't come instantly

"I was awful," Metro said. "I was so awful that Jim told the setter on the court, 'Don't you ever set to her when you're on the court,' because I was so bad.' Once she started playing well, Metro decided to reach for her next plateau and tried to play at the collegiate level. She chose the University of Colorado after graduation, but she transferred to Northern Michigan after only one season. Finding herself in new territory and without the support of much of the community, she said she decided to make a go at it and see where it took her.

"When I first got there (Northern Michigan), football was average, and volleyball was a losing team, and they weren't very good," Metro said.

After transferring from Colorado, Metro had to sit out for a year because of NCAA regulations. She said she saw it as an opportunity to learn more about the game.

"When I had to sit out my year, I was able to watch the game in progress, which I think made me a much better player," Metro said. "I was never taken out, so when things were occurring on the court, I never saw it, but when I sat on the sideline, I was like, 'Why can't they see this, why can't they see that this is going on?" she said. After her one-year delay, Metro said she was refreshed. She had her spirit back and was ready to play While at Northern Michigan, Metro was a three-time first-team All-American.

consecutive seasons ('92,'93). She was only the fourth player ever to do so. Metro wasn't satisfied. She said she still wanted support from the community.

Additionally, Metro became the first player to win the AVCA/Tachikara

Division II Player of the Year honors two-

"We weren't winning. It was a hockey town up there, and people loved hockey. But then we started winning, and when I left, there were 4,000 people in the stands.

It was incredible," she said. After graduating from Northern Michigan, Metro said she decided to reach for yet another plateau - coaching at the collegiate level. Moore decided to leave Northern Michigan at about the same time Metro was looking for a coaching position. "I want to build something here and get it great because I like building things and starting from ground zero and going up and saying 'We did this,'" she said.

From the beginning, the 6-foot-1-inch former setter from Lakewood, Calif., knew

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Today Mommyheads" - Noon in the K-State Union Courtyard.

Wednesday TEI Mariachi — 8 p.m. in K-State Union Forum Hall.

Thursday ☐ El Mariachi — 7. 9:30 p.m. in K-State Union Forum Hall.

OCTOBER 11, 1994

▶ CROSSWORD

ACROSS 1 Shirt protectors boat 39 "O Sole 5 Tour 40 Snap 43 Inflatable guide? 8 "Take Train" life jacket 47 "Unfor-12 Arrow given" poison director 13 Hole making 49 Lamb's

50 French 14 What we share 15 Have 51 Fluffy to grind 16 TV's 52 Burbot Dennis the 53 Indigent

54 Doctrine Menace 55 Smaller 18 One of England's Lake Poets 20 Cats' hangout

21 Painter's medium 22 Conk out 23 What snitches 26 Kerrigan's

30 Early hrs. 31 Cartesian 32 24 horas 33 Use frugally

conclusion

38 Prototypi-4 Church custodian cal love

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

pronoun

DOWN 1 Prejudice

-uncer-

3 Sweetie

tain terms

accessory

5 Barrett of affirmative "Star Trek" 28 Pinch 6 Vacation- 29 Roadside purchase 7 Thickness 31 Cartoonist's 8 Drove supply 9 Fling

EUGENE SHEFFER

26 Swindled

27 Altar

10 Art Deco 34 Pancake makeup? 35 Queued pseudonym 11 Wan 36 "A pox 17 Film director Mira upon thee!" 19 Towel desig-37 Poet nation James 22 TVA Russell structure 39 Polite 23 Scroogean term of address

24 Aussie avis 40 Incubator

25 Balaam's 41 Headrebuker Solution time: 24 mins. 42 Scandinavian city 43 Low sounds? 44 Novelist Wiesel 5 Sermon subjects 16 "Price Is Right" decor features 48 Sapporo

10-11 CRYPTOQUIP

CPFMDWRG DUFXYG APKRGK

XKGPNYQ IKGAGKKGM

IYPQ NCG Yesterday's Cryptoquip: ARNOLD PALMER MIGHT BE EXPECTED TO BUILD A BIG HOME ON THE GOLF OF MEXICO.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: A equals F

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

► LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

BILL WATTERSON

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

THAT CLOUD OF STARS IS OUR MILKY WAY. OUR SOLAR SYSTEM IS ON THE

▶ FOXTROT

JOHNSON, YOU'RE

REDO THIS REPORT.

NCOMPREHENSIBLE PARKNESS. IN COSMIC TERMS, WE ARE SUBATOMIC PARTICLES IN A GRAIN OF SAND ON AN INFINITE BEACH.

BILL AMEND

LET ME SPELL THIS STUPID IT'S GOT SPELLING MISTAKES ACCOMADATE" ?! IN JUST ABOUT EVERY SEN TENCE, IT'S TOTALLY "INDEPENDANT"?! COMPUTER WITH A SPELLCHECKER THIRD-GRADER

Reader needs football tips to converse with beau

Duveaux

.

.

.

.

VISION

as low as

$39

Little Caesars

Dear Cassandra,

I hope you can help me. I am clueless about football, but I really want to be able to talk about it with my boyfriend.

I heard on the radio the other day K-State had a really good chance of beating Nebraska this Saturday. Do you know when the last time we beat Nebraska?

On the same show, I also heard K-State was ranked No. 1 in the country. Can this be true?

Signed, Football Clueless  Dear Football Clueless,

I had to dig really deep into the piles of old, yellowed Collegians, but the last time K-State beat Nebraska was in 1968. The score was 12-0, and the game was played at Lincoln.

The rankings you are talking about where K-State is ranked No. 1 comes from the New York Times computer rankings, not from the more accepted Associated Press or USA Today/CNN polls. K-State is 16th in the AP poll and 11th in the USA Today poll.

I hope this information will help you and your boyfriend have a more fulfilling relationship.

▶ LIVE MUSIC

Alternative bands to visit Bramlage

LORI CAGLE

Collegian

Throw off those cowboy boots and grab a flannel. An alternative concert is coming to K-State.

Live, Weezer and Fatima Mansions will perform Nov. 7 at Bramlage Coliseum.

Live, from Pennsylvania, has released two big albums, 1991's "Mental Jewelry" and "Throwing Copper."

Weezer rocketed to fame after the release of its self-titled album this summer. After "Undone the Sweater Song" received considerable MTV and radio air play, the West Coast hard-rock outfit earned a reputation and an appearance at Kansas City's Spirit Festival at the end of the summer.

'They wanted to play at K-State. They had a choice of here and Kansas City, and they chose here," Christy Drake, special events chairperson for UPC, said.

"We spent many an hour on the phone, but it finally came through," Sharon Willits, Union Program Council adviser, said. "K-State will be the only stop for the tour in Kansas," Drake said. "The students said they wanted a concert, so we decided to get back in the concert business," Drake

The concert also marks the first time UPC has worked on an event with Bramlage.

"We're really excited to be working with Bramlage," Willits said.

To attend the concert, students will have to purchase a $15 ticket. UPC determined the price with the goal of breaking even on the event. Drake said the $15 price is a reduced rate, due to the added student funding made available to UPC this fall.

"We'll be elated if we can break even and not have to dig into anymore of the funds," Drake said. Drake also said if they were to break even on the event, there is the possibility of a big concert during the spring semester. Drake said with the size and popularity of the bands booked, the costs have risen, and UPC is willing to use all funding available to give the students the concert they want.

"We're not charging full price for the tickets. If Live wouldn't have chosen to come here, the ticket prices in Kansas City would be around $25," Drake

CONCERT NEWS

Live is set to perform with special guests Weezer and Fatima Mansions at 7 p.m. on Nov. 7 at Bramlage Coliseum. Tickets will go on sale at the Bramlage Coliseum Box Office Oct. 12.

They will also be available at Manhattan Town Center information booth, K-State Union Bookstore, McCain Auditorium, Vanderbilt's and The Children's Book Shop in Topeka, ITR Office in Fort Riley and House of Sight and Sound in Salina.

The cost of the tickets will be $15 and may be charged by phone at (913) 532-7606.

Westloop Coin -A- Matic 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. 539-2131 1129 Gardenway

City Farmers Surplus Flea Market Open:

Tues. - Fri. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Sat. & Sun. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Appliances, furniture, household items, jewelry and clothing, sporting goods, tools, medical supplies, lawn equipment, antiques, home maintenance items, knick knacks and A LOT MORE. (A little bit of everything new and used at affordable prices.)

201 S. 4th St., Manhattan, Kansas 539-8579

Friday and Saturday, October 14 & 15 7:00 & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall

Wednesday, Oct 12 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct 13 7p.m. & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall

> Friday, Oct 14 8 p.m. Little Theatre

Admission $1.75 with KSU ID

WEDNESDAY LUNCH

11 a.m.-1 p.m.

99¢ PEPPERONI PERSONAL PAN (NO 5 MINUTE GUARANTEE) 99¢ REGULAR ORDER BREADSTICKS 99¢ ONE TIME THROUGH SALAD BAR 99¢ LARGE SOFT DRINK

MIX & MATCH OR PICK ALL 4

OFFER GOOD WEDNESDAY ONLY AT THE AGGIEVILLE LOCATION ON DINE-IN ORDERS SORRY—NOT AVAILABLE FOR CARRYOUT.

AGGIEVILLE 1121 MORO 539-7666

NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER SPECIAL OFFER+1/20 CENT CASH REDEMPTION VALUE • PIZZA HUT OF AGGIEVILLE 1992 • EXPIRES 8-15-94

DARREN WHITLEY

► CANDIDATE

Stevens: Don't rely on GTAs to teach

"K-State is my No. 1 priority."

ANN STEVENS

Republican candidate for 66th district state

NOLAN SCHRAMM

Graduate teaching assistants should work as back-ups in labs and recitations, not as the main teaching element in classes, Ann Stevens, Republican candidate for 66th district state representative, said.

"A professor or associate professor brings more to the position than a GTA," she said.

Stevens, administrative assistant for the dean of Human Ecology, said GTAs would be great for assistance in recitations and labs while working toward a teaching degree, but that students deserve more.

"You paid for a professor and that's what you're entitled to," she said to a group of 15 students in the lobby of Putnam Hall Monday night.

needs smaller classrooms and a greater number of classes instead of the trend toward mass-lecture classes.

Money is required for this, and Stevens proposes a plan similar to the Chronister Plan, which was defeated in April 1993.

Under the Chronister Plan, schools under the Kansas Board of Regents would be allowed to retain 80 percent of all revenue gained from student fee

This would have provided K-State with around $225 million over three fiscal years. Stevens also said that the University should be run as a business for profit instead of not for

"We should study how things are Stevens also said that K-State now run and decide what dollarsaving techniques could benefit K-State," she said.

> Stevens said that she doesn't have any real political experience. She is running against six-year incumbent Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan.

"I don't have all the answers to all the questions," she said.

Stevens is working on finishing her graduate degree in business at K-State, but she will have to take a leave without pay in order to run for a state office.

Stevens handed out registration applications and encouraged all students to vote. She also said she will not forget about K-State.

"K-State is my No. 1 priority," she

(NO coupon needed, NONE accepted) 'No Coupon" Specials Everyday Everyday Three-fers Two-fers PIZZAS with 3 - PIZZAS with - TOPPINGS each - TOPPING each - COKES with ice 4 -- COKES with ice $10.34 $8.45

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Bisexual, Gay, and Lesbian Society Coming Out, Coming Home Conference

Tuesday, Oct. 11

Dress up to express your support of equal rights in the workplace.

Noon-1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session

"Straight Talk on Being an Ally to Gays, Lesbians, and Bisexuals"

Being an ally to gays, lesbians, and bisexuals means working to develop individual attitudes, institutions, and a culture in which gays, lesbians, and bisexuals feel they matter and are appreciated in the larger society. This work is motivated by an enlightened self interest to end homophobia and heterosexism. Presented by John Danos, Goodnow Hall Director; Kelly Fink, Lafene Health Educator; and Bridget M. Porter, Moore Hall Director.

Learn how to talk to gays, lesbians, and bisexuals all over America and right at your computer! Get the latest in local and national gay events. Presented by Kevyn Jacobs, On-Line Activist,

Wednesday, Oct. 12

Wear blue jeans to express your support of gay, lesbian, and bisexual equal rights, not special

Noon-1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session

"Coming Out Issues" Prepare yourself for situations that gay, lesbian, and bisexual people typically encounter when faced with coming out. Learn about healthy ways to come out to friends, workers, and family by a panel of area gays, lesbians, and bisexuals. Presented by John Robertson. Psychologist, University

Thursday, Oct. 13

Wear green to express your support of equal rights in marriage/parenthood.

Noon-1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session "Understanding Homosexual Relationships"

Gay, Lesbian, and bisexual relationships can be special, meaningful and long-lasting partnershps. Understanding the diversity in these relationships is the first step in moving toward acceptance and celebration of these relationships. Presented by Brenda S. Hanger, LSCSW, ASCW, Manhattan

9:30-10:30 p.m. at Revolutions Bar and Club, 902 West 7th, Junction City Lesbian guitar player, Jess Hawks, will be performing an assortment of modern rock, country and pop songs.

Wear black in memory of losses incurred by bigotry and intolerance.

Noon-1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session "Gay Greeks"

Being gay and a member of a social fraternity or sorority can be difficult for both the person and Greek chapter. Come hear stories of two individuals who lived this dualistic role and the challenges they overcame. Presented by Frank A. Axell, second-year graduate student in College Student Personnel and Shel L. Barry, fifth-year architecture student.

8 p.m. Purple Masque Theatre in East Stadium

This one-act comedy focuses on sexuality and relationships. Written by Sarah Kanning.

Saturday, Oct. 15

7 p.m.-2:30 a.m. at Revolutions Bar and Club, 902 West 7th St., Junction City

Come join our conference wrap-up celebration! Door prizes, including comedy tickets and t-shirts, will be given away. $2 cover. No cover before 10 p.m.

2 PITCHERS SIVITS Bar

By Cico Park

Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center pen Mon. Sat. II a.m. til the party's o

"The President's Own" UNITED STATES MARINE BAND Colonel John R. Bourgeois, Director

West Front of the U.S. Capitol

Monday, October 17, at 8:00 p.m.

Marine Band concerts offer a unique blend of traditional concert band and contemporary wind ensemble music that has thrilled audiences at the White House and across the United States for nearly two centuries.

Please include a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request and return to:

UNITED STATES MARINE BAND

Marine Band McCain Auditorium

Kansas State University 207 McCain Auditorium Manhattan, KS 66506-4711

Please send me ____FREE tickets for the October 17, 1994 performance of the Marine Band at 8:00 p.m. in McCain Auditorium.

Name Address_ City State

Ticket holders are requested to be seated by 7:45 p.m. Doors will be opened to the general public at 7:50 p.m.

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

CREF Stock Account . . . . CREF Bond Market Account .

CREF Social Choice Account .

ISN'T IT NICE WHEN THE EXPERTS DISCOVER SOMETHING YOU'VE KNOWN ALL ALONG.

ver 1.6 million people in education and research know that choosing TIAA-CREF was a smart move. And now everyone else does too. Because Morningstar-one of the nation's leading sources of variable annuity and mutual fund information-has some stellar things to say about our retirement investment accounts.

After studying CREF's performance history, Morningstar gave five-stars-its highest ratingto both the CREF Stock and Bond Market Accounts, and an impressive four-stars to the CREF Social Choice Account.** In fact, the CREF Stock Account was singled out as having "...one of the best 10-year records among variable annuities."*** Of course, past performance is no guarantee of future results.

... CREF is far and away the cheapest

Morningstar also called attention to CREF's "...rock-bottom" fees-something that can really add to the size of your nest-egg down the road.

What's more, TIAA's traditional annuitywhich offers guaranteed principal and interest plus the opportunity for dividends-was cited as having the highest fixed account interest rate among all annuities in its class.

We're happy to accept Morningstar's glowing ratings. But nice as it is to focus on stars, we'll keep focusing on something more down-to-earth: building the financial future you want and deserve.

For more information about our Morningstar ratings or TIAA-CREF, just call 1800 842-2776.

Ensuring the future for those who shape it.54

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 1 DAY each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate) HOW TO PAY

assifieds must be paid in advance you have an established account ck, MasterCard or Visa are d. There is a $10 service charge

We reserve the right to edit, reject or As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge. HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

DEADLINES CANCELLATIONS

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS

if you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

BOARD

Announcements

Tight on Cash?

Earn $15 each time you donate

plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

NABI

Mon-Fri. ADVANCED FLIGHT Traininstructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

FISHNET PANTYHOSE thigh-highs, stockings. Patricia's Undercover Lingerie. 1224 Moro, gy/ Philosophy, Fri. Oct. 14, 7:30p.m., BH121, American Zen Priest Shoken Winecoff will Lecture and respond to questions.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days

LOST OCT. 4, blue three-ring notebook in Wa-ters 231. Has four in-dexed classes for Gen-eral Psychology, Sociol-ogy, Stats 320, and American Constitutionerican Constitution al History. Please call Mark at 395-3149 if found. Leave message. Reward.

Meetings/

TOASTMASTERS A mu-ASTIMASTERS A mu-tual support group for people who want to im-prove their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, hot tub 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func Weddings, Alumni fullo tions. Catering any where, discounts, Ware ham, Days Inn, Houston Street. Cal 539-9431.

MALE EXOTIC Dancer, available for birthdays etc. Ladies embarrass her with the funniest gift ever. Professional entertainment, reason-able rates. Rob able rates. 539-6623. Rob

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great pric 537-1666, 537-2919.

QUIET SURROUNDING for study. Studio or one-bedroom fur-nished or unfurnished. Some with utilities paid. Nine month lease, no pets. 539-4087.

TWO-BEDROOM FUR NISHED apartment, central air, all bills paid, including cable, $300, 537-0428.

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE NOW, 1000 N. Manhattan Ave. large, one-bedroom, washer and dryer hook up, offstreet parking, very nice $350 plus utilities, 537-1940.

AVAILABLE NOW Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. baths. 776-3804.

AVAILABLE OCT. 1, one bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1854 Claflin $355, central air/ heat, laundry facilities, 776-3804.

SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE

> *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

AVAILABLE NOV. 1. One bedroom one-half block from campus. 927 Deni-son $405 remodeled unit. Central air/ heat,

***********

CHASE MANHATTAN Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of

FOR RENT- Studio apartment, all utilities paid. Please call Jared at 539-

LARGE, QUIET one-bedroom, living room, din-ing area, kitchen and bath with walk-in closet conveniently located to KSU, Aggieville and

ONE-BEDROOM APART MENT. Close to campus and Aggieville. $250 per month plus electric. No pets. Call 776-7636.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, remodeled, $390, bills paid.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville and campus. 1005 Bluemont. $465. Central air/ heat. Water, trash paid. 776-3804.

Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

For Rent-Houses

N-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554. NON-DRINKER

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom apart-ment. Own room and bath. Near campus. $220 plus one-third utili-ties. Call 539–5501.

ALE ROOMMATE needed immediately. Very nice apartment. FEMALE Pool, patio, own room. $215 month, one block from campus. 537-1679.

MALE NEEDED to share four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct. rent free. 587-9327.

MALE OR female non-smoker. Own bedroom and bathroom, $200/ month plus one-half bills. Call Frank

ROOM FOR rent in a twobedroom apartment. Laundry facilities and pets okay. $215 plus half utilities. 539-4256/ 539-7277.

ROOMMATE WANTED-Non-smoking male or female to share fur-nished two-bedroom/ two bath. Washer/ dryer, central heat/ air. $265/ month- bills paid. 537-1125. Leave mes-

ROOMMATE(S) WANTED, female or male, three-bedroom house, close to campus and Ag-gieville. Two rooms available $150 each. All bills paid 537-1108.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed to occupy three-bedroom apartment at Woodway. $208/ month plus one-third utilities and water, Call Susar 587-8270.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

150

Sublease

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two-bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balco-ny, 587-9394.

DIRECTORY

Resume/ Typing

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings

CUSTOM TYPING/ Word Processing/ resumes. QUICK FIX offers services for the busy student. Reason-able rates, delivery available. 1-461-5846.

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

RESUME RESUME RE-SUME and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing, Call Brenda, 776-3290.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Same day results

*Call for appointment

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Automotive Repair

NISSAN-DATSUN Repair NISSAN-DATSON Negs Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other Services

255

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor-

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716.

SERVICES: INTERNATION-AL Students: DV-1 Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration. Greencards provide U.S. permanent resident status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed. For information and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168; (818)998-4425 Monday- Sunday 10a.m.-EMPLOYMENT/

CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classificament/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such employment op-portunity with reason-able caution. The Col-legian urges our read-ers to contact the Bet-ter Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, To-peka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext. A57882 A57682.

CRUISE SHIP Jobs! Attention: Students earn $2000 plus monthly. Part-time/ full-time. World travel. Carribean, Hawaii. All posi-tions available. No ex-perience. Call: perience. (602)453-4651.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682.

FAST FUNDRAISER- Raise $500 in five days-Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. Fast, simple, easy- no fi-nancial obligation. (800)775-3851.

IMMEDIATE POSITIONS available for hard work-ing fast paced, custom-er oriented people. Positions open are grill/ mexican MWF 10:30a.m.- 2p.m. or por-ter MWF 9:30a.m.-1:30p.m. or salad bar MWF 9a.m.- 2:40p.m. Substitute position available 6a.m.available 6a.m.–
10:30a.m. MWF or T/TH. Apply immediately at the K-State Union Foodservice Office.

LOCAL FRATERNITY is curpartition of the control of the cont send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

NEEDED- SERVERS and bartenders. Apply at Bobby T's, 3240 Kim-ball Ave., Candlewood

SALES PEOPLE needed for all shifts at Manhattan Mall, apply in person at Image Perfumes, across from Mr. Bulky's.

SALES/ MARKETING Rep-To contract for place ment of point of pur chase advertising with-in a specific industry. Rquirements: over 21, two years college or equivalent sales/ mar keting experience. Smaller marketing areas may be limited time of employment, re location to larger mar-ket optional. Flexible hours, student ok, com-mission for each placement plus regular bo-Box 2236, Topeka, KS 66601.

SPRING BREAK Reps. Earn extra money and travel free. Classic Travel 537-7546.

STUDENT PROGRAM-MERS. The KSU Office MEHS. The KSU Office of Information Systems has an immediate need for four experienced Student Programmers. Recruiting will continue until all positions are filled. Successful candidates will have; 1) however of programmers. knowledge of program-ming in a common lan-guage (such as C or CO-BOL), programming experience in multi-user operating environ-ments (Such as UNIX or MVS), and at least junior class standing in CIS, MIS, or a directly related field, or 2) suffi-cient knowledge of desktop computers and Novell networking to be able to install hardware (even initial setup), install software, and analyze whether a problem is related to network, is related to network/ hardware/software. Ap-plications can be ob-tained by calling 532-6281, writing or coming to the KSU Of-fice of Information Sys-tems, Foundation Cen-ter, 2323 Anderson Ave. Suite 215, which is also the primary work location for these posi-tions. Questions regarding these positions should be directed to David Hillier at 532-7843, or by electronic mail (e-mail) to deh@ksuvm. If you are unable to reach David

please leave voice- ma

and e-mail contact

points. Miniority, Women and Handi-capped are encouraged

You must be familiar with AP style. Job requirements: You must have an overall grade point average of 3.0 or above and you must have taken reporting 1. Students who also have taken editing 1, or who have additional journalism experience, are preferred. You must be able to work in blocks of at least two hours at a time. If this description fits you , come to Room 9 Anderson Hall to fill out an application. We need someone to start as soon as possible. We are looking for excellence. If this describes you, let's get together. Be a part of the state's top news services team!

serve as sportswear representatives in Manhattan for a newl

hattan for a newly formed sportswear company, located in Kansas City. We have two sporting goods stores and have been in business for 18 years. We have formed this company to market to college campuses, ex-clusively. Candidates must be professional and posses a strong de-sire and ability to sell. The individuals select-ed for these positions will work on commis-

will work on commission and can easily earn $200 plus per week, working in the spare time. The only requirement is that you sell. Interested individuals should contact Eric Long at 1-599-1794. Please do not answer this ad unless you are very interested. I do not want to waste my time or yours. This is not a scam! This is a real ground floor opportunity!

WANTED: ONE male and mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information (202)298-9065. BEFORE YOU go looking for that second or third job, find out about the newest home business trend, Interactive distri-bution is the way for STUDENT WRITER- We have an opening for a student news writer who can produce news articles quickly and ac-curately. You must be a "self-starter" with a high energy level. You young entrepreneurs to be financially inde-pendent. Make a free appointment to look at the plan. Dave L. 539-1219. high energy level. You must be able to work 12- 15 hours per week Schedules are flexible but you must work at least two hours at a time (noon- 1p.m. ex cluded). High school or college journalism ex-perience is necessary.

MARKET

Items for Sale

BONEPILE RECORDS'& DISCS NOW OPEN 1126 LARAMIE 587-8944 CA$H FOR USED CDs

FOR SALE: Mini frig. Perfect for dorm room. $75. Call 537-9406 ask

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Convenient westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

Buy/Sell

Furniture to

NEED TO sale full size fut-ton, two years old $60. Call Ana 532-7924 or leave message.

Antiques

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wa-

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles estate jewelry, furni-

GET THE WORD OUT PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

PHONE 532-6555

532-7309

Business

Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible

330

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 lanhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m.

Computers ATTENTION DOOM Play-ers. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hun-dreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539-0801.

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

Pets and Supplies

FERRET- $20 buys cute lit-tle ferret, information book, and litter box. Call Georgia or Fred 776-6772. Please leave FIVE YEAR old California king snake with 55-gal-lon aquarium and stand for $100. Call 539-2809.

Tickets to Buy/Sell

> FOR SALE: two tickets to Billy Joel Concert in Kansas City Thurs., Oct. 13. Call 1-784-4051.

PORTATION

Automobiles

1983 VW Rabbit GTI, silver five-speed, two-door, AM/FM cassette, air conditioning, 105,000 miles, $1500 or best off-Call 537-0773.

1985 OLDS Cutlass station wagon. Power steering, break. Air condition. $2100. 1985 Subaru GL station wagon. 4WD, five-speed. Air conditon. $2600. Must sell one. 537-6201.

75 MERCURY Marquis, recently rebuilt engine, power everything, exsell $1200 or best offer, 539-3726, or leave mes-

530

Motorcycles

1980 650 Maxim, excellent mechanically, recently re-tuned, needs tires, over $1000 invested. Must sell, $650 or best offer, 537-8125.

1990 HONDA CBR 600 great condition, well maintained $3200,

TRIPS

Tour Packages ITTH ANNUAL CHRISTMAS

COLORADO ANUARY 2 - 15, 1996 - 4, 5, 6 OR 7, BIGHTS

1·800·SUNCHASI GET

THE WORD OUT. 532-6555

KANSAS STATE CLASSIFIEDS 103 KEDZIE • M-F 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. 532-6555

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

020 Lost and Found 030 Personals

040 Meetings/Events

050 Parties-n-More

REAL ESTATE Apt. Furnished 110 For Rent -

Apt. Unfurnished

115 Rooms Available 210 Resume/Typing 120 For Rent - Houses 215 Desktop Publishing 125 For Sale - Houses 220 Sewing/Alterations

130 For Rent -225 Pregnancy Testing Mobile Homes 230 Lawn Care 135 For Sale -Mobile Homes

140 For Rent - Garage 240 Musicians/DJs 145 Roommate Wanted 245 Pet Services

150 Sublease

20

SERVICE

205 Tutor

DIRECTORY

155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale 300 EMPLOYMENT

CAREERS 310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Neede

Opportunities

250 Automotive Repair

OPEN MARKET

405 Wanted to Buy 235 Child Care 410 Items for Sale 415 Furniture to Buy/Sel

425 Auction 255 Other Services 430 Antiques 435 Computers 440 Food Specials 445 Music Instruments

450 Pets and Supplies

455 Sporting Equipment 460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

50U O TRANS-PORTATION

520 Bicycles 530 Motorcycles 420 Garage/Yard Sales 540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/

510 Automobiles

TRIPS 610 Tour Packages

620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets 640 Bus Tickets

CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price.

This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price WE DO NOT USE PHONE

NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

REAL ESTATE

Students discuss sexuality, religion

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 Meyer said.

Persons cannot be fully accepted if we ask them to deny a part of themselves and keep their important relationships a secret."

Fallon said the Bible condemns certain sexual acts but not homosexuality.

"I would affirm that the Bible is very silent about sexual orientation," he said. "The Bible talks about exploitive sexual behavior that is sinful whether it is homosexual or heterosexual behavior."

denomination has active groups working for affirmation and support of homosexual rights.

"I hope the church will become a safe place, not a threatening one - a loving place rather than one of conditional acceptance."

Both Meyer and Fallon said they believe sexuality is a gift

"So often we get so uptight about our sexual feelings. I think in intimate relationships, sexual expression is part of the intimacy between homosexual and heterosexual partners," Fallon said.

Both Meyer and Fallon said the Bible should not be taken literally.

"The Bible is mainly a heterosexual book. It also was a slave book and a male-dominated book," Fallon said.

There are places where the Meyer said every religious Bible directly contradicts itself. You can't take it literally," Meyer said, Traditionally, many religions have condemned sexual activity before marriage. Meyer said churches need to be accepting of sexual activity among the homosexual community.

"It's not currently really possible for a homosexual couple to be married. This is very different from heterosexual couples. They have the option to be married," Meyer said.

Frank Axell, BGLS president, said he feels many people assume that all gay and lesbian relationships are sexual.

Kevyn Jacobs, freshman in arts and sciences, said he knows of a number of gay and lesbian couples that are choosing to be celibate until they can be married.

"If you put the emphasis of homosexuality on sex, you're limiting their relationship to the sex act," Jacobs said."Maybe homo love would be a better term."

Axell said he thinks that anyone in a committed, monogamous relationship should have the opportunity to be married.

'Axell received his bachelor's degree at Ball State University in Indiana. He said he feels homosexuality is more of a n issue in Kansas than Indiana, since Kansas is in the Bible Belt.

Delcie Arnett, freshman in elementary education, said she thinks the homosexual community is larger than the estimated 10 percent of the population, even though she knows only a few homosexual people in Manhattan, because many people have a hard time coming out.

Fallon said society should become an advocate for homosexual rights.

"It's time for us to break the silence. It's time for us to stand in solidarity. It's time for us to become advocates, not only at our University, but in our homes and churches as well."

Fest lasts through today

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 area. They use the money from the sponsors to pay the local workers. Gretchen Holt, who helps run the trivia game, said she heard about the event through her modeling agency. 'Sports Illustrated lets the different PR people around the area know about the event, and we decided to help them out," Holt

Holt said many of the people have expressed their amazement at the Fest.

"People can't believe all of the activities that are offered and the big-time sponsors that are offering them," Holt said.

The Gatorade Company is the presenting sponsor of the event. Other sponsors include Toyota, Right Guard Sport Stick, 1-800-COLLECT, Agree Shampoo and Conditioner, Hershey's, Kellogg Pop Tarts, IBM, Panasonic REAL 3DO Interactive Multiplayer, Pier I

Imports and Outdoor Products. Holt said there has only been one complaint by the students. "It's been a blast because everybody is so nice," Holt said.

"The only complaint is that our hours should be longer.'

Today is the last day of the event. It is being conducted outside of the Union, and the hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

K-State Golden "We show them (community

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

colleges) what the University has to Key chapter offer and how to get accustomed to college life — four-year as opposed wins Key

The K-State chapter of Golden Key was one of the 23 national around the nation.

Scholarships and the opportunities

Some employers give preferential treatment to Golden Key members,

"We have a signed contract with seeing a Golden Key member. That's one of our strong suits when offered by Golden Key.

more confident," Eidt said.

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

SUPPORT K-STATE WHEN NEBRASKA COMES TO TOWN

This is your chance to give the Cats a personal message.

how your Purple Pride by placing a personalized Cat Tracker ad in the Collegian cheering on the Wildcats as they take on the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Here's how it works: you tell us what you want to say, and we'll plug it into one of the three designs above which YOU choose. The ads will run together in the special Cat Tracker section of the Collegian on Friday, Oct. 14, the day before the Cats play Nebraska at KSU Stadium.

The ads can be from you, your family, your business, your living group, your friends or any other combination.

It only costs $5, so come on in to 103 Kedzie Hall to reserve your ad today.

DEADLINE: 4 p.m. Wed., Oct. 12

COLLEGIAN Kedzie Hall 103 532-6560

to two-year," Schriner said.

chapters out of about 214 to receive Chapter Award the prestigious Key Chapter Award, Schringer said awarded to chapters Schriner said, awarded to chapters for career placement are a few of the advantages of being a Golden Key member, Eidt said.

over 200 businesses," Schriner said. "The contract says to us that these businesses have preference upon attracting members.' Eidt said possibilities to learn from others and build confidence are Being a member changes how you act in front of people - you're

New members will be honored at a reception at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 23, in the K-State Union Main Ballroom.

UPC Issues and Ideas Presents:

Faculty Lecture Series Lin Huff - Corzine

Assistant Professor of Sociology Presents:

"Social Aspects of Rape"

Tuesday, Oct. 11, 1994 at 3 p.m. Little Theater - 1st Floor K-State Union

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY OCT. 19 & 20

MONDAY/TUESDAY

THURSDAY & FRIDAY

Nov. 10 & 11

TIMES: 8:30-11:30 A.M. & 1-4:30 P.M.

NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED

CASH/CHECKS ONLY - K-STATE I.D. REQUIRED $5.25 STUDENTS $8.25 FACULTY/STAFF

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED FOR PEOPLE WITH LONG TERM HEALTH PROBLEMS

(1ST TIME OFFERED)

OCT. 31 & Nov. 1 FREE ESTIMATES

Choose from one of our 20 tequilas. 537-8888 3003 Anderson Ave. ROSE MUFFLER HOUSE

Tuesday is MARGARITAVILLE

CACTUS JACK'S

"The biggest and best in town"

16 oz. Margaritas:

Your choice - frozen or "on the rocks" only $2!!!

FREE CHIPS AND SALSA

"Our Business is Exhausting"

•GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE MUFFLERS*TAILPIPES DUAL SYSTEMS AUTO (AMERICAN & FOREIGN) •RVs•LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS CUSTOM PIPE BENDING

•U-HAUL TRUCKS & TRAILERS

Open Mon.-Fri. 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Sat. til Noon

2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. 1-800-439-8956

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

& ASTHMA

(for youl)

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

OS COMPADRES

Tues.-Thurs. 11 a.m.-2 p.m. 4:30 p.m.-8 p.m.

Frl.-Sat. 11 a.m.-2 p.m. 4:30 p.m.-9 p.m.

CARRY OUT AVAILABLE CUISINE

FREE DELIVERY

Only $10.49

3 10" Pizzas, 4 Cokes (One Topping) Breadstix

Only $7.99 2 10" Pizzas, 2 Cokes (One Topping) Breadstix

"We deliver during the day." 539-3830 1127 Moro, Aggieville

PYRAMID PIZZA "TO THE RESCUE" PYRAMID Saves You Money

WITH PYRAMID PIZZA'S EVERYDAY SUPER SAVERS TRIPLE

SINGLE 1 10" Pizza

2 Toppings

1 32-oz. Pepsi

DOUBLE 2 10" Pizzas

2 Toppings

2 32-oz. Pepsis

2 Toppings 4 32-oz. Pepsis

3 10" Pizza

OCTOBER 12, 1994

A close look at the Korean martial art and the commitment it requires to master it.

PAGE 10

WEATHER - PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B. NUMBER 37

► STUDENT GOVERNMENT

5 exit SGA for varied reasons

Four members of Student Senate and one cabinet member have resigned. One other member plans to resign Thursday at the Senate meeting.

LOLA SHRIMPLIN

At least four members of Student Senate and one cabinet member have resigned so far this year.

Jared Becker, sophomore in prehealth professions program, plans to resign Thursday at the Senate meeting. "Student Senate provides a way for senators to feed their own egos," he He was dissatisfied with the way that Senate was run as well as the amount of time that was required. "If everyone took the time to have friends and a life outside of Senate, it would ease the situation," he said.

Becker also said that the senators showed little respect for the speakers during open period.

"During open period, no one will listen to the speakers," he said. "There are 5 million conversations going on here and there."

Karen Hester, graduate student in student counseling and personal services, also resigned from Senate, but not for the same reasons.

"I recently had a baby, and it was a bit much," she said.

Jesse Alexander was born July 31, and by the third or fourth Senate meeting, Karen knew that being in Senate and caring for a newborn was going to be too difficult, she said.

"I have no idea who will resign next," she said.

Rachel Smith, senior in English, also resigned.

"I feel like the Student Government I joined isn't here anymore," she said.

She said older students aren't taking leadership, so most committee chairs are first-year senators. The committee chairs aren't introducing legislation, so nothing gets done, she said.

She said Senate should focus more on campus issues and not state issues. Senate could do a lot more with issues like the library and campus safety and not tuition, she said. Amber Sumpter, sophomore in chemical engineering, also resigned. "I didn't have enough time," she Sumpter said that Senate funding its own retreat helped in her decision.

"It's not fair that Senate could allocate itself money to go on a retreat," she said.

"I don't agree with a lot they are doing," she said.

Becker also seemed dissatisfied with the relations between senators.

"It is an elitist organization, where you have to know the right group of people to get anywhere," he said.

AMY SIMON CONTRIBUTED TO THIS STORY

Students (top photo) paste lace, borders and buttons to pieces of paper and felt while constructing their "dream panels" for their class quilt.

Lina Audrus, professor of elementary art, explains to students what to put on their collages Tuesday afternoon.

PHOTOS BY SHANE KEYSER

A quilt that counts

K-State class helps children sew up dreams in school art project

LISA ELLIOTT

More than 500 Riley County Grade School and preschool students participated in an art project led by a K-State professor and her students Tuesday.

The students began a narrative quilt project at 8 a.m. and worked on it the whole

Lynda Andrus, assistant professor of art, and her Art in the Elementary School class assisted Riley County Grade School with the quilt project inspired by the work of African American artist Faith Ringgold.

Andrus said Yvonne Lenhart, seventh and eighth-grade English teacher, asked her to assist with the project.

She said she suggested the narrative-quilt project she used in her art class.

Seven women in the community sewed the blocks together into quilts by grade level, and 10 high-school students helped supervise the younger ones.

Students were given a square of felt and asked to make a collage with paper, fabric and sequins representing their wishes and dreams, Andrus said.

■ See PRE-TEENS Page 5

U.S. MILITARY FRONTS

Listed below are some of the latest developments in Haiti. Among the most recent, hundreds of U.S. troops took over the National Palace on Tuesday.

Army leader Lt. Gen. Raoul Cedras resigned and said he will leave the country. Cedras transferred power to the army's No. 2 commander, Maj. Gen. Jean-Claude Duperval, who asked his men to emulate the example of the American military: "We want an orderly, disciplined army, answerable to the law."

.... Cedras gave no time or venue for his exile, but U.S. Embassy spokesman Stanley Schrager lists Argentina, Panama, Spain or Venezuela as possible refuges. Schrager does not rule out the United States.

INSIDE

See page 5 for more details on the developments in Haiti and the Gulf crisis.

U.S. State Department officials said Aristide will end his own exile and return home Saturday.

■ The first American Airlines jetliner in months arrived. American Airlines spokesman John Hotard said the jet brought in personnel and equipment in anticipation of resumption today of regular commercial service.

Listed below are some of the latest developments in the Gulf crisis. Among the most recent, Rolf Ekeus, chairman of the U.N. special commission, said that there is a good chance of a lifting or easing of sanctions within six months.

■ The official Iraqi News Agency quoted Foreign Minister Mohammed Said al-Sahhaf as saying nearly all Iraqi troops had pulled back from the Kuwait

Kuwait's information minister, Sheik Saud al-Sabah, said he was skeptical of the Iraqi withdrawal announcement "They could withdraw a couple of tanks north ... and send them back the next day. Saddam has always been playing these games with us for the last two years."

U.S, officials also remained skeptical of an Iraqi withdrawal. American forces continued to rush to the Gulf region, with 19,000 troops in place and 44,500 more in various stages of deployment. An additional 156,000 troops are on alert.

MENTAL HEALTH

Compeer helps find friends for people who struggle against mental illnesses

KRISTA COZAD

Due to the nature of this story, a sources' name has been changed to Teeoti

Teeoti Smith sits nervously on the couch playing with an overly feisty gray cat. Her friend, Tracy Jackson, sits nearby in a chair and smiles at Teeoti encouragingly.

Smith is nervous because the topic of our conversation isn't one she usually talks about with a stranger. In fact, she usually only talks about it with people who already knows she suffers from depression and is in treatment at Pawnee Mental Health. People like Tracy.

However, Tracy and Teeoti haven't always been friends. The two have only recently gotten to know each other through Jackson's work at Pawnee Mental Health and their subsequent entry into the Compeer

The program, begun nationally in the 1970s, is sponsored by Pawnee Mental Health Community Support

The program pairs people with a long-range mental illness, such as bipolar disorder, depression or schizophrenia, with volunteers in the community who agree to spend one hour a week for a year with their compeer.

Applicants in the community apply and go through an interview process to see what their interests are and their motivation behind wanting to be involved in the program, Mary Alice Schlesener, coordinator for the program, said.

Kansas Driver's License Bureau and the Social Rehabilitation Services are also contacted to make sure applicants don't have a record.

Once chosen for the program, the applicants sign a confidentiality release so that their name, number and address can be given to their compeer match, she said.

The mentally ill person must also apply for the program, Schlesener

"They fill out an application, and if they're steady on treatment and their medication, then we want them to do what they can to get back into the community," she said.

Once the application process is completed, a match is made on the basis of shared similar interest.

The program only matches men with men and women with women and also tries to match people in similar age ranges, although Schlesener said this is often difficult because many of the volunteers are college-aged.

The Compeer Program's goals, Schlesener said, are twofold.

One goal is to help the public understand the stigmas attached to mental illness and learn about what person who is suffering from mental illness goes through. The second is to help the mentally ill person not have to face re-entry and adjustment into society alone. But what ends up happening is what has happened between Tracy and Teeoti Smith. A friendship forms, and the goals of the program aren't really remembered — although still in place.

Smith explained their pairing and said that it was different than how people usually are paired, since most people who are in the program don't know each other before they are

"I was talking to her (Jackson), and I'd heard something about compeer from one of my friends who had a compeer, and me and Tracy kind of clicked, so I decided I wanted a compeer, and I wanted it to be her," Smith said.

■ See COMPEERS Page 12

The Compeer Program was started in the 1970s, pairing people with a mental illness with volunteers in a community who agree to spend one hour a week for a year with them.

REGISTERING TO VOTE

Here are the requirements for voting on an absentee ballot:

■ The deadline to register is Oct. 24, and the election is Nov. 8.

You must be 18 years old by Nov. 8.

Depending on the type of election, you must live in the ward, precinct or township 14 days prior to the election.

■ There are 20 places to register in Riley County, including the Office of Student Activities and Services in the K-State Union.

▶ NEBRASKA DEAN TO SPEAK AS PART OF HISPANIC AWARENESS MONTH

Hispanics in higher education will be the topic of a speech by an associate dean from the University of Nebraska at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Miquel Carranza, associate dean of arts and sciences at the University of Nebraska with special interests in socio-linguistics and Chicano and Latino studies, will speak in K-State Union Forum Hall as a part of Hispanic Awareness

He is the publishing editor for the National Association for Ethnic Studies and the past president of the organization, said Harriet Ottenheimer, director of the American Ethnic Studies program.

Carranza's speech will address the challenges from Hispanic students' and faculties' perspectives and will share his experience in working in ethnic studies, she said.

"Miguel Carranza is the former director of the Ethnic Studies Institute, which is comparable to K-State's American Ethnic Studies program," Ottenheimer said.

The Kansas Sociological Society and the American Ethnic Studies are sponsoring Carranza's visit and are having a brown-bag luncheon in his honor Friday, Oct. 14.

The luncheon will be an opportunity for students and faculty to discuss ethnic studies with Carranza in a relaxed setting, Ottenheimer said.

"We want faculty and students to attend, and we expect to see a bunch of American Ethnic majors there," Ottenheimer said.

The luncheon is at 11:30 a.m. in Union 206. If you are planning on attending or have any questions, call the American Ethnic Studies office at 532-5738.

CHRISTI WRIGHT

► SIMPSON'S TRIAL JUDGE THREATENS TO THROW OUT DNA EVIDENCE

LOS ANGELES - O.J. Simpson's trial judge threatened Tuesday to throw out crucial DNA tests on evidence, including a bloody glove found on Simpson's estate, to punish prosecutors for delays in sending out the blood samples.

Superior Court Judge Lance Ito said he was inclined to bar any test results that arrive after opening statements to the jury, which could begin in mid-November. He didn't specify the evidence, but defense lawyer Barry Scheck said it included tests on the bloody glove.

"If it's not here by the date of opening statements, maybe you don't get to use it," Ito said to prosecutors. "We're talking about sending things out the second week in September for a crime that occurred in June. It doesn't take a genius to see which of these items should be examined closely."

He said he would rule Friday The defense contends the delay was intended to rob them of time needed to do their own tests.

Simpson, 47, is charged with murder in the June 12 slayings of his ex-wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, 35, and her friend, Ronald Goldman, 25.

With a case based on circumstantial evidence, the prosecution is relying heavily on scientific tests to connect Simpson to the crime. including sophisticated DNA analysis of blood and hair found at the crime scene and at Simpson's

The defense hired two of the nation's leading DNA legal experts, who have pounded away at the issue of prosecution delays.

"There is no excuse for not starting DNA testing in a timely fashion," Scheck told the judge.

"There's a huge number of items on which testing began only in September. Think of it. The glove. Everyone knows the glove is important evidence."

Defense documents show the glove was sent Sept. 7 to the State Department of Justice.

Deputy District Attorney Lisa

Kahn, the prosecution's DNA specialist, said 12 items were sent out for testing Sept. 7, and 11 more items were sent two days later.

But at another point, she said the numbers in the batches were 11 and 10, adding up to 21 pieces of evidence. She never specified what they were.

As Ito pressed for explanations of the prosecution delays, Kahn became flustered.

She said some evidence had to be retested, and constraints placed on the prosecution by the court such as a requirement to give the defense notice before each test slowed the process.

"The items were sent when they were sent, your honor," she said. "I can't explain anything else."

She said she didn't want to send all of the evidence at once for fear of overwhelming the laboratory

The hearing was punctuated by bitter attacks from both sides, and the judge said that lawyers should tone down the hyperbole.

K-State and Riley County Police departments.
Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

AND DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PA

MONDAY, OCTOBER 10

At 9:25 a.m., a non-injury accident occurred in Lot D-IW. Damage was less than $500.

At 12:16 p.m., there was a theft of a bicycle from 1632 McCain Lane. Loss was $40.

At 1:06 p.m., there was a theft of a bicycle from Seaton Court bike rack, Loss was $250.

At 1:06 p.m., a theft of a student parking permit from a vehicle in Jardine Terrace was reported. At 4:49 p.m., a fire in a trash chute was reported at Goodnow At 4:42 p.m., there was a theft of a bicycle from 1632 McCain Lane. Loss was $535.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 10

At 9:49 a.m., a criminaldamage-to-property report was filed by Donna Good, 204 N. Main St. Damaged was a keyed car. Loss was $150.

At 3:49 p.m., Shane Lingerfelter, 704 Dondee Drive, Apt. I, was the victim of battery. A notice to appear for battery was issued to Jeffery A. Soucie,

At 4:23 p.m., a caller advised that two male subjects were trying to take a car out of a storage lot at 130 Colorado St. An offi-

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11

At 12:21 a.m., a suicide was reported at 923 Vattier St., Apt. 2. Deceased was Kyle B. Giles of the same address. An information report was filed. Next of kin was notified.

cer was advised. The subjects left before the officer arrived.

At 7:45 p.m., Andrea Spaur, 1326 Flint Hills Place, reported the theft of her homemade bicycle. Loss was $20.

At 8:07 p.m., an employee of Kleppers, at 1709 Fort Riley Blvd., reported that two males threw a car radio into the store. Arrested for burglary was Michael P. Bohn and Charles C. Lockhart. Both were released to their parents. Two juveniledetention reports were filed.

At 1:36 a.m., Reves Retail

Liquor Store, at 1100 Laramie St., was the victim of a forgery. Loss was $19. A forgery report was filed.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS (III

Twenty-five stalls will be blocked off today in the K-State Union parking lot.

Applications for Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities #### and Services, Deadline is Nov. 18.

- The American Society of Mechanical Engineers will meet 6:30 p.m. today in Durland 129.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct an Education Job Search Orientation 4:30 p.m. today in Bluemont 101.
- There will be a gay, lesbian and bisexual coffee hour 7 p.m.
- today in Union Station. ■ National Society of Black Engineers will meet 6:30 p.m. today in Durland 163.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

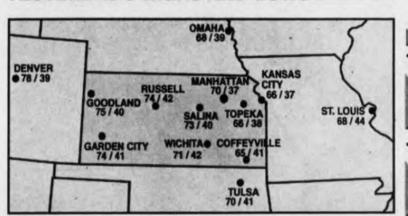

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our address is collegn@ksu.ksu.edu. You must include your name, address, phone number and student ID number with the letter. The Kansas State Collegian reserves the right to edit letters for content and clarity. Some letters may not be published due to space constraints and volume of mail on a particular topic.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

ranging from the mid-60s to the upper 70s across the state.

STATE OUTLOOK

Breezy and mostly sunny with highs

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

Sunny with a high around 70 and a low around 45.

TOMORROW III

Mostly sunny with high of 65 to 70.

NAPUALI

Get the tassle with less hassle

DECEMBER GRADUATES

Wed, Oct 12 & Thurs, Oct 13 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. K-State Union Courtyard

Balfour

ART(ARVED

HERFF JONES

Shop at the store that gives back to you!

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK!

October 12 from 3-8p.m. at your house

K-State Salina

October 13 from 9-5p.m. in Technological Building Conference Room

October 12-November 9 from 6-10p.m. Monday-Thursday in McCain 324

Wednesday, October 12

Food Science Club 6:00p.m.

B'nai B'rith Hillel 6:20p.m.

Society & Criminal Justice Club 7:00p.m.

African Student Union 7:20p.m.

Society of Automotive Engineers 7:40p.m.

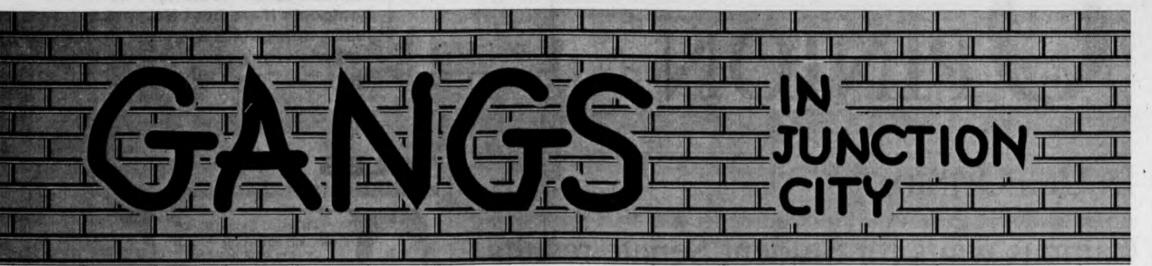

NOMAS 9:00p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

our mother was right. A bad reputation is easy to get and hard to live down.

LaMont Godsey is one of four assistant principals at Junction City High School. He has worked for the Junction City school system since 1964.

Godsey said he thinks the school has a negative reputation among surrounding

"I think it's perceived outside the Cameras, metal detectors offset gang violence community as a high-crime, dangerous place," he said. He said he thinks the high school is positively regarded among Junction City residents.

" A m o n g educators, our school system is perceived as being a good school system, as being a leader academically," he said.

He said he thinks part of the school's negative reputation is its history. Godsey said in 1964 he told his parents he was going to work for the Junction City school system, and they were concerned that the town was dangerous.

Godsey said he has seen many changes during the 30 years he has been in Junction City. "The thing I notice now that is different than 10 years ago is that 10 years ago we didn't deal with gangs - we didn't deal with weapons," he said.

"I think the attitude of the students, as far as looking at violence as a solution, has changed during the past 10 years. I think it's a combination of a lot of things. I think we have a lot of students living in the poverty level. A lot of students feel hopeless. I think that the media glorifies violence. I think all of that is involved," Godsey said.

The school has about 1,500 students and five hall monitors, Godsey said.

Godsey said the school has had hall monitors for about 10 years.

School administrators have started using metal detectors during random searches, he said. Godsey said school administrators meet each Friday, and dates for random locker and metal-detector searches are decided then.

"There are some students that have said they are gang members. We don't know if we have a lot," he said. "It's a major concern, and a lot of parents are concerned," he said.

Two specific concerns parents have are that they don't want their kids to be members of gangs, and they want their children to be safe, Godsey said.

He said school administrators work closely with both the Junction City Police Department and the Fort Riley Military Godsey said school buildings have been vandalized with gang graffiti. He said all the high-school teachers have had informational training on the history of gangs, gang psychology and how to handle gang-related incidents.

The school has a dress code, and gangrelated clothing is not be worn at school, Godsey said.

"However, it can be difficult to identify gang-related clothing because styles change quickly," he said.

The school has a 24-hour surveillance system in the building that monitors all hallways and parking lots.

The hall monitors wear a uniform of a bright yellow shirt and black pants. Each hall monitor is equipped with a two-way

The radios are nothing new. Godsey said hall monitors have been using radios for about 10 years.

The surveillance cameras were set up after a shooting incident occurred last year,

A freshman student was shot in the head in the school cafeteria after a bullet ricocheted off the ceiling. Two students had been arguing when one of them shot a bullet toward the ceiling. The shooting victim was not involved in the argument.

Godsey said he thinks the shooting was an isolated incident and was not gang-

Nikki Wolf has worked as a hall monitor for the past four years. She is the only female monitor.

She said she thinks the gang presence has the potential to worsen. Wolf said she thinks the high-school gang presence has increased during the past few years.

"Or maybe it was here, and we just didn't admit it," she said.

She said a normal working day would be eight hours, but any time the school has an activity, such as an athletic game or an activity in the building, the monitors must work the site.

Wolf said sporting events are difficult to monitor because "there are kids we don't know. We know most all the kids in our building."

Derek Petty has worked as a hall monitor since last April. He said he is earning his teaching certificate from Friends University, and his job works well with his schedule.

Petty said the hall monitors take turns watching the surveillance cameras for an hour at a time. The school has 24 cameras, two of which have telephoto lenses, he

"We are the only school in the state that has the multiplex system," Wolf said.

The multiplex system allows a person to view all 24 camera angles on one

Petty said many students have complained about how strict the school has become.

"I tell them the shooting messed it up for everyone," he said.

Amber Cook, junior in social work, said she graduated from Junction City High School in 1992.

"Everyone knew there were gangs. I felt safe then, but I wouldn't feel safe now. You have to be careful. My brother's there now, and I don't feel safe for him," Cook

Cook said she thinks the gang problem has escalated, and she doesn't think school officials are doing enough to acknowledge the problem.

"Last year, I did a project about gangs, and I went to talk to my counselors from Junction City. They denied that they had gangs," she said.

I think the majority of the people that come and visit the high school change their opinion and are surprised at how orderly the school is," Godsey said He said the administration encourages people to visit the school.

I think we have a lot of students living in the poverty level. A lot of students feel hopeless. I think that the media glorifies violence.

LAMONT GODSEY assistant principal at Junction City High School

STORY BY BROOKE GRABER FORT

Join Sinbad for a night filled with Halloween fun. We'll have safe treats for tricksters and a kettle full of laughs for everyone. Coming to the

TOPEKA PERFORMING ARTS CENTER

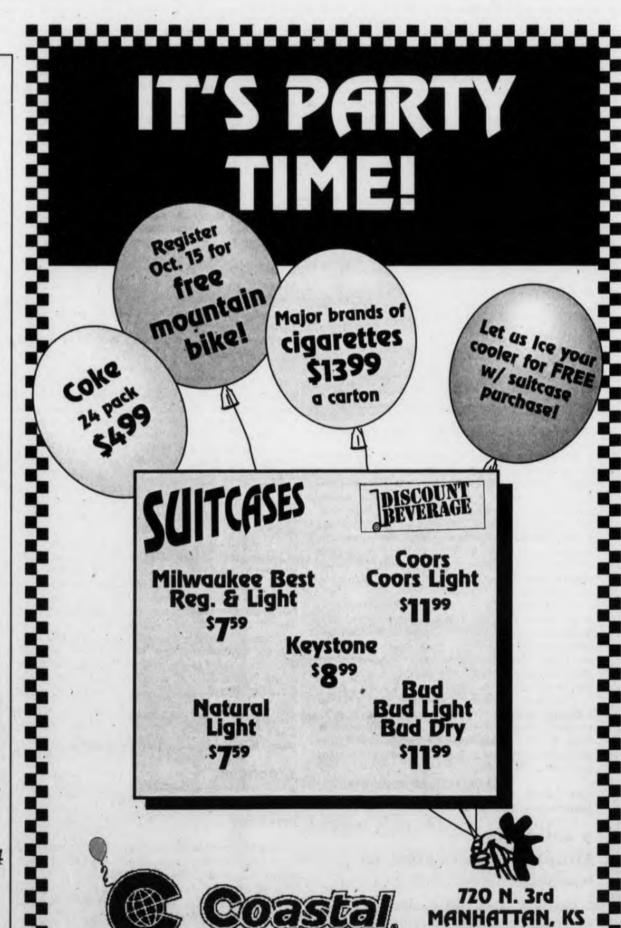

Monday • 8 p.m.

$27.50, $22.50, $17.50

Tickets go on sale at noon, Monday, October 10, 1994 at the TPAC Box Office . 8th & Quincy

KMAJ Hajia 108 FM

DAK WAR 297-9000 or 1-800-949-8722 Box Office Hours - Noon to 5 p.m. Mon. Fri.

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Campus waits for Student Senate results

Student Senate has had good ideas, but failed to do anything with them.

Student Senate needs to take its power and use it.

Student Senate has tried to do some good things this year. Some of the members tried to address tearing down the wall.

They also went to Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon to find out how students felt about issues on campus.

But Senate failed to get enough votes to even put the wall issue on the agenda.

And there have been no decisions made as a result of the Last Chance forum.

Now, senators are dropping out like flies. Four senators have quit. Another has made plans to quit. One senator said she quit because Senate was lacking in leadership. Another cited inactivity as one of the reasons he quit.

Senate was lucky enough to get a lot of fresh faces this year. This translates to new ideas but no experience.

Senior senators need to step up and take the leadership roles. Freshman senators need to get in there and get their Senators could start by addressing issues like safety and library resources and wait on issues like tuition.

Senate needs to take risks, make decisions and get moving.

Almost half of the fall semester is complete with nothing significant accomplished. The campus is waiting.

ROTC has no right to discriminate

here are times when one must stand up and fight for what is right. This is true whether we are discussing an individual, an institution or a community.

That is what National Coming Out Day and Kansas State's Coming Out/Coming Home Week are all about. It is important for bisexual, gay and lesbian individuals to be able to stand up for themselves and be open about their sexual

But, as an institution and a community, K-State has an obligation to not let it rest at that. This University participates in an activity that openly discriminates on the basis of sexual orientation, and we don't even have the power to set our own policy on this matter, Our Army and Air Force ROTC programs, in keeping with the Department of Defense policy, will not allow openly lesbian, gay or bisexual students to serve.

I would be remiss if I didn't mention the benefits of ROTC. Certainly this is a program that allows people to come to school who, in its absence, may not have had the means. These students not only receive an education, they get specialized training and already have a job waiting for them when they graduate

But these advantages are not available to all. According to Major George Stelljes of K-State's Army ROTC, the "don't ask, don't tell, don't pursue" policy established by President Clinton applies to ROTC as well.

This means that those students who publicly acknowledge their sexual orientation are denied the opportunity to receive the benefits of ROTC training.

While simply hiding one's sexual orientation may seem like a legitimate course of action for gay, lesbian or bisexual individuals to pursue, it poses several sticky problems of its own.

The first is the implicit danger of being found out. While Clinton's new policy was intended to make the services more open, the opposite has occurred. The "don't pursue" policy has been thwarted, and more individuals have been discharged than under the previous policy.

But more importantly, concealing one's very identity is demoralizing and dehumanizing to the individual. "This (don't ask, don't tell policy) may be well intended," Rev. Cindy Meyer, KSU United Methodist Campus Minister, said, "but it is a technique for ignoring the issue and denying full humanity to those who are not fully identified with a heterosexual orientation.

"Persons cannot be fully human, full accepted, fully a part of the community if we ask them to deny this important part of themselves and to keep their most significant relationships secret."

Perhaps this is why the University, in its nondiscrimination policy, indicates that discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation will not be tolerated at K-State.

Except in ROTC.

This is a thorny issue for University administration. In July 1990, President Jon Wefald wrote a letter to Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney in which he voiced his support for the ROTC program on campus but objected to the department's policy of discrimination.

"We join with all of the major professional higher-education organizations in the United States in urging you to reconsider the position of the Department of Defense in discriminating against homosexuals. The Department's position in this matter is in basic variance from our antidiscrimination policies here at Kansas State University, as well as virtually every university in the nation.'

But Wefald cannot act on his opposition to this policy, and neither can anyone else at this institution. That's because, according to Charles Reagan, assistant to the president, the Kansas Board of Regents does not allow individual universities to determine whether or not they keep their ROTC programs.

For K-State to maintain its integrity, we must make a stand. While supporting the idea of ROTC and acknowledging its benefits to participants and the University as a whole, we must refuse to allow their continued existence at K-State until such time as they are willing to be inclusive of all

And we must stand up to the regents, demanding that we be given at least enough autonomy to conform to our own ethical standards, as set forth by our non-discrimination

Because we have to stand up for what's right.

Dan Lewerenz is a senior in philosophy.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ CONCERT

Manhattan lucky to get good bands Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to the Oct. 11 editorial concerning the upcoming concert at Bramlage Coliseum, featuring Live and Weezer. First of all, we would like to commend the Union Program Councilfor their recent efforts in getting some good alternative bands to finally come to perform for the students.

Yesterday's editorial all but destroyed the idea of the concert. Does the editorial board think that it was easy to get these MTV bands to come and play in the middle of the Bible Belt? The UPC probably worked long and hard to get these bands to come here. Also, they are taking a huge risk with the concert, and it doesn't help when the editorial board rips it to shreds. K-State students should feel privileged that Weezer denied the opportunity to play in Kansas City and chose Manhattan, and the tour does not stop anywhere else in Kansas.

As for bashing the ticket price, $15 is a small price to pay to see three live bands. Also, who said these bands are unheard of? There is more to the live music scene in Manhattan than Sawyer Brown and Brooks and Dunn. More musical diversity exists on campus than one might think, but with senseless editorials like the one printed, it may seem otherwise.

Now is the time to support the hard-working, underappreciated UPC. If this concert is a success, we can look forward to some other great shows here at K-State. We are looking forward to this concert, and we would like to warn the crickets when the music starts, they'd better take over.

Erik Larsen junior in psychology

OOAL POSTS

KU fan loses respect for K-State fans Dear Editor,

Hello. Allow me to introduce myself. I am one of the many University of Kansas students and an overt Jayhawk fan. I am also one of the many who saw a pumped-up Wildcat team defeat my beloved Jayhawks. Unfortunately, I was also a witness to an event, which enraged and saddened me: the destruction of one University of Kansas' goalpost.

I have heard many excuses for such behavior. "It's a tradition!"; "It's the first time K-State has beaten KU in Lawrence in 25 years"; "It's no big deal, it's just a goalpost."; "We always do it when we win"

Although these reasons are many, they lack any qualitative significance. The first and most widely heard is the one about tradition. I hate to bust your bubble, but it may be a tradition in Manhattan, but in Lawrence, it's vandalism and an insult. I don't care if you completely destroy Wagner Field until there isn't a brick left standing, but we take pride in the beauty of our campus. As for the 25-year-loss record, there has to be a civilized way to celebrate without vandalism, violent behavior and defacement of public property. Go to a bar. Have a party at home. I don't

"We always do it when we win." You haven't won in Lawrence in 25 years. Do you think anyone might get angry if you tore up their stadium? Show a little tact and respect for others, and you might receive some back. The worst excuse is "It's just a goalpost." No, it's not just a goalpost, it's a matter of respect. The price for replacement is irrelevant.

Some of you might attribute this letter to the anger over the Jayhawk loss. That, however, is not the case. The truth is that I greatly respect the talent and ability of the Wildcat football team. But as a result of this incident, I have lost all respect for the fans that

Chris Scott senior in business at the University of Kansas

▶ CONCERT

Readers eat Collegian words

Dear Editor,

Due to your horrendous editorial, concerning the Live and Weezer concert, there were many upset people in a certain corner of the Stateroom.

Two of the disturbed, alternative flannel and Birkenstocks-wearing freaks (like us) went wild and ate your editorial, literally.

Jared Becker sophomore undecided

SALES TAX

Support the police; vote yes for sales tax Dear Editor,

Please don't make the site an issue in reference to the new Riley County Law Enforcement Center. It will be built at the original sight, even if Riley County is forced to build by court order.

The issue you will vote on in November will be how to pay for the law enforcement center, with the choice being sales tax or property tax. Do you as a property owner desire to be one of the exclusive donators, or do you desire to allow others to assist in paying? By voting yes for the sales tax, even those that reside in the jail for short periods of time will be contributing to the cost every time they make a purchase when not in jail.

It has been the goal of the Riley County Fraternal Order of Police to strive to improve the police officer and to give the citizens quality law enforcement. We have tried in every way possible to achieve these goals. Now it is time to seek your assistance to further that goal. The new center will give the police more room to professionally do their job and make a safer environment for all persons involved.

If we build now, we will save in the long run. If we wait for a law suit, then we will build less for more

The FOP has supported the community for years. Now, we are seeking your local support. Vote Nov. 8, and vote yes for the new law enforcement complex half-cent sales tax.

Richard Kellogg president of Riley County Fraternal Order of

▶ GOAL POSTS

Chickenhawks deserved what they got Dear Editor,

Is K-State really going to pay the University of Kansas several thousand dollars to replace its goalpost? Geez. Maybe we should have some kind of fundraiser to help the poor Jayhawks.

You know, if that was the case, let me be the first to donate. Here's my 2 cents.

Let the damn Chickenhawks fix their own goalpost. KU got what it deserved! I've always known if you pull a cat's tail too often, eventually it will turn around and bite. Whew. I feel better now that I've helped save an impoverished Jayhawk. I think I'll go outside now and play "fetch the piece of goalpost" with my cat, Willie.

Frank Sereno Manhattan resident

▶ GOAL POSTS

Stop embarrassing K-State

Dear Editor,

This letter is intended for the very small group of KSU students who seemingly live to embarrass the University, the Athletic department, the football team, and an outstanding group of coaches who work very hard to project a winning image for their team and the University as a whole.

Who is this small group of trash? They are the group of cowards who probably got beered up, travel in a rat pack because they can't function as individuals and went out on the field in Lawrence Thursday night to destroy property after Bill Snyder, his coaches, and his fine group of young men had done so much to let millions of people and future recruits know what a great football team and University we have at K-State.

Why do they do this? If you are a freshman, you are 4 and 0. If you are a sophomore you are 13-2-1 with a bowl victory. Juniors and seniors you have a winning record, and should know better. Bottom line, why can't you have the same class as our coaches and

If goal posts are to be torn down to end years of frustration who should have the right? I and my peers. I have attended all KU/K-State games since the late 40s. I have had season tickets to both schools since 1964, and have lived in Lawrence since 1964. But my peer and I have too much pride in our University, in our athletics and in ourselves to ever do such a thing. In addition, we were raised to have respect for others and to respect other people's rights and property, and you young idiots should learn that.

Another point many of us give of our hard-earned money to support universities and athletics so you young people can have a chance and a future, not so you can waste $2,500 to $5,000 destroying goals posts in Manhattan or any other town. I hope you will start a fund drive to raise the $2,700 to pay for the damage you caused Thursday night in Lawrence.

On Saturday, Oct. 15, K-State will beat Nebraska on national television. Please show the world that your school and you are winners with class. DO NO MORE DAMAGE TO GOAL POSTS.

I hope you will, and if you don't and if you continue to act like mid-evil barbarians, this I can assure you, that in two years, when Coach Snyder brings his winning football team to KU and again wins the game, I will be the 65-year-old man standing by the goal post with a 2x4 in hand. I refuse to let you continue to disgrace my University.

Please become winners - your teams are.

Andy Galyardt 1954 graduate

Iraq's failure to meet demands hurts credibility

ASSOCIATED PRESS

UNITED NATIONS (AP) -Saddam Hussein's saber rattling appears to have cemented support in the Security Council for delaying any talk of easing the crushing U.N. sanctions against Iraq.

"The Iraqis, frankly, have blown it big-time up here because they were trying to persuade people that they were living up to their sanctions resolutions," U.S. Ambassador Madeleine Albright said Tuesday on CBS. "That requires credibility, and they have blown their credibility.'

The Council began circulating a long-awaited report Monday night that said Iraq was cooperating with U.N. weapons monitors and that a complex system to monitor any attempts to reacquire weapons of mass destruction was functioning.

"The report is fundamentally positive," said Rolf Ekeus, chairman of the U.N. special commission that prepared the document. "We had a very good chance of a lifting or easing (of sanctions) within six months. I felt we had something coming together."

But he said that Iraqi threats to end cooperation with U.N. monitors unless sanctions were lifted "puts a question mark over our efforts.'

Ekeus disputed U.S. claims that Iraq was hiding missiles and a biological warfare program from U.S. inspectors.

"We feel that our assessment is correct," he said.

The report had been expected to set off a dispute in the 15-member body between countries that favored easing the embargo — led by France and Russia — and those that want to keep the sanctions headed by the United States and

The Gulf War cease-fire resolution calls for lifting the oil embargo, but not the full-trade sanctions, after the monitoring program is functioning and Iraq has eliminated its weapons of mass

But the lifting is at the council's discretion, and the Iraqi troop buildup near the Kuwaiti border apparently has united the council in calling for a postponement of any debate on the easing of the Security Council President David Hannay of Britain said no one in the council is prepared to discuss these issues under threats.

The oil embargo is the most crippling of the sanctions imposed after Baghdad's 1990 invasion of Kuwait, because oil sales were Iraq's major source of foreign

Soldiers escort leaders out

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) Hundreds of U.S. troops took over the National Palace on Tuesday, sweeping away the last vestiges of Haiti's military-backed administration before President Jean-Bertrand Aristide's return.

, About 500 American soldiers entered the sprawling white building and other ministries, escorting out employees of the government set up by the military leaders who overthrew Aristide in "This to facilitate an orderly transition of power," Army Lt. Col. Ed Sullivan said.

"No members of the past government will be allowed back

Aristide's Cabinet ministers fired all employees hired under a civilian figurehead government installed in May by military strongman Raoul Cedras, who resigned Monday.

Several hundred Aristide supporters crowded outside the gates of the palace grew agitated when they saw public hospital director George Dubuche trying to leave in a government car.

surrounded the car and let the air out of its tires. Soldiers escorted Dubuche to a private car, and he drove away unharmed.

One Aristide backer, Hilaire George, tried to calm the crowd.

"From now on, we the people are responsible for the country," he

"I don't agree with people who try to destroy, preventing the country from going forward."

At dusk, about 2,000 joyful people paraded outside the National Aristide's ministers were to return to their offices Wednesday, U.S. soldiers on the scene said.

'We can now roll up our sleeves and begin to rebuild democracy in the spirit of reconciliation," Aristide's commerce minister, Louis Dejoie II, said in an interview.

The government of Robert Malval, Aristide's prime minister, announced Tuesday it would take over the government ministry offices, and the American soldiers arrived in the afternoon to help.

In a statement read by Malval's spokesman, Emile Jean-Baptiste, the government expressed serious reservations concerning the Shouting at him to stop, they management of public funds and Tuesday indicated military-backed officials would be subjected to audits.

"The government has decided to take control of the ministries, occupied until now by the usurpers of May 11," the Malval statement read, referring to the date the military-designated Provisional President Emile Jonassaint was

The Malval government also announced a commemorative Mass on Friday for its former justice minister, Guy Malary, who was gunned down one year earlier on Oct. 14, 1993.

Malval has never been able to work in the National Palace for security reasons.

Military-backed thugs also prevented his finance and information ministers from working in government offices and nearly broke up his foreign minister's inauguration.

U.S. officials on Tuesday negotiated the resignation of Jonassaint while Cedras made final arrangements for exile.

U.S. Ambassador William Swing and Lt. Gen. Hugh Shelton met with Jonassaint and said he was cooperative, U.S. Embassy spokesman Stanley Schrager said

Visualizing dreams through quilt

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The quilt blocks were then sewn together by grade level into quilts, which will be hung around the school today.

To prepare the students for the project, a storyteller read "Tar Beach" to the younger students. The book is about dreams and was completed in 1988 as the first of five quilts in Ringgold's "Woman on the Bridge" series, Andrus said.

"The Last Story Quilt," a film about Ringgold, was shown to the sixth through eighth grades Monday, she said.

The project was sponsored by the Riley County Action Team, Clarice Whitesell, team member and seventh-grade math teacher, said.

The Action Team began in 1986 as part of the Kansas School Team Training project, Whitesell

At first, the goal of the organization was to make students aware of alternatives to alcohol and substance abuse, she said.

The goal of the organization has evolved into helping students and teachers feel good about being in school, Whitesell said. "This is the only opportunity students and teachers have to come together to work toward the same goal," Whitesell said. The Action Team sponsors an all-school activity once a year, Lenhart said. The activity generally has something to do with building self-esteem, she said. One of the goals of the team was to involve the whole community in the project, she said. Students also wanted more art in the school, according to a survey conducted for school improvement, Lenhart said.

The project allowed the team to meet both goals. "This is the first time we've had extensive community help," Lenhart said.

Karla Buchanan, community volunteer, made a diagram of the quilt squares for each class, Jeanie Racoma, community volunteer, said.

Racoma said she read about the project in a paper her daughter brought home, so she called Buchanan and volunteered.

'It was a group effort on everybody's part," Whitesell said.

"I think I can say it has all come together," she Andrus said she used the narrative-quilt project in her University class as the first assignment. Her students then volunteered to help teach the process to the elementary students.

Stephanie Stevens and Rachael Tofflemire, seniors in elementary education, are students in Andrus' class.

Tofflemire said the students were asked to volunteer. "Getting to work with the kids is good experience," she said.

Among the more interesting wishes Tofflemire said she had seen in the eighth-grade class was a boy dreaming and wishing for girls, and another who dreamed of being a serial killer. "These are eighth graders, so they're different from other kids," Stevens said.

Students in Riley County High School's advanced art classes helped with the project all day.

"We just got asked if we wanted to volunteer to work with the kids," Andrea Basel, sophomore, said. Jamie Siebold, senior, said the most interesting wishes were the kids who wanted to visit outer

Basel said she thought it was interesting that some kids wanted to be farmers and work with the

DREAMS AND WISHES ON A QUILT

Riley County Grade School and preschool studenst began a narrative quilt project at 8 a.m., Tuesday, each contributing a square. The students were asked to make a collage with paper, fabric and sequins representing their wishes and dreams. More than 500 students participated in the project led by Lynda Andrus, assistant professor of art at K-State. Listed below are some of the wishes.

"I was wishing for world peace. I think we need more peace in the world. In Somalia, they're fighting over food. If we had peace, people wouldn't be dying all the time, Jeremiah Feltner, eighth grade.

"I wish my sister would come back," Ryan Schurle, sixth grade. His sister died in a car accident last summer on the Keats road.

"To help children with disabilities and diseases. Because I think it's really sad when you see kids on TV that are really sick or kids in other countries with their stomachs sticking out," Camille Gill, seventh grade.

"I wish for a cure for AIDS," Sean Gibson, seventh grade.

Advertise the Collegian 532-6555

We'd like to say we can give you results in a week. We can't. We can only give you results.

Lifesteps":

Weight Management is an eating plan for life. No special supplements. No marathon exercise. No costly medical exams or weekly fees. The course is taught by a registered dietitian who will help you design a new lifestyle! She knows that changing lifelong habits isn't easy and that permanent solutions take time to work.

What you will learn

- · how to set realistic goals · how to eat healthfully and sensibly on your schedule
- · how to include regular
- exercise in your life · how to enlist the support of those around you
- · how to believe in yourself

This 10-week program will meet weekly on Mondays at 7:00 p.m. Your class fee includes three individual consultations, two body fat assessments, four weeks free at the Memorial Hospital Fitness Center, and the class manual. Maintenance classes and longterm follow-up is available.

Want to learn more about it? Be sure to attend the free introductory session on Monday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m.

We invite you to shop and compare prices ... this 10-week program is just $99.

For more information, contact Memorial Hospital's Nutrition Clinic any weekday morning at 587-4266.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

At the K-State Union October 10-14

Check our daily menu...

In the K-State Union Stateroom At the Hot Line

Pork Au Jus Sandwiches, Pork Tortilla Soup Hearty Spaghetti with Pork, Pork Tetrazinni, Pork BBQ Sandwich, Oriental Pork Soup, Pork Chop

> At the Pizza Line Ham and Pineapple Pizza

At the Breakfast Grill

Bacon, Sausage or Ham, Egg 'n Cheese Biscuit with Hashbrowns, and an 8oz Center Beverge Drink or Milk

........

At the Bluemont Buffet

Mexican Pork Steaks, Pork Tortilla Soup, Carved Cajun Pork Roast, Swedish Meatballs, Pork Fried Rice, Oriental Pork Soup

facts offered

Here is the skinny for the Nebraska game on Saturday. These are notes fans .

From the need-for-a-bigger-stadium department - Many K-State and Nebraska fans are upset there aren't any tickets for the game Saturday. Unlike the Kansas game last season, there won't be any standing-room-only tickets for the "Red Army" into Manhattan for the game. This year, Nebraska was allotted

From the need-for-a-bigger-press-

Cornhusker fans used to bring their should be aware of before the contest.

Nebraska

survival

► COLUMN

▶ PRESS CONFERENCE

iggest game of Snyder era approaches

"gosh only knows how long, 26 years or so," Coach Bill Snyder said during a weekly press conference at the Vanier

The Wildcats' last taste of victory against the Cornhuskers was in 1968, when K-State defeated Nebraska 12-0 in

Snyder said the game on Saturday is probably the biggest in his six years at K-

"A win would leave either team undefeated in the Big Eight Conference. It would certainly push us a little higher in the rankings," Snyder said.

"I think the bowl-game opportunities are obviously enhanced," he said. Receiver Kevin Lockett said the home field will be an advantage. "It is the same situation as last year with both teams undefeated, which is where we wanted to be, but this time we've got them at home," Lockett said. Snyder said Nebraska's defense and rushing game will be the toughest obstacles to overcome. "There isn't a better running offense in the United States at this time," Snyder

"Even without Tommy Frazier, they're gonna get their yards," he said.

K-State quarterback Chad May said they're ranked No. 2 for more reasons than just Frazier.

But what if Nebraska is without Brook Berringer? Will a third-string quarterback give the Cats a little breathing room?

"It depends on how good the kid is,"

"What people are a little too anxious to forget about is that this is an extremely talented offensive line," he said. "They're big, they're strong, they're fast, they're athletic, they're talented, they're good.

Snyder said Nebraska has too many weapons that K-State has to prepare for.

"Giving up big plays against a football team like Nebraska kind of depends on which way you want to die. You know that little story — quick, or you can have a slow and painful death," Snyder said. The Cornhuskers' defense is one of those weapons.

Nebraska's defense is one Snyder said is on its way to the Super Bowl.

"Every time we sit down and look at their film, they just keep getting better and Lockett said they run a lot of different things and take a lot of chances.

"Sometimes they win, and sometimes they lose," Lockett said.

'I expect Nebraska will try to hurry Chad a little more than Kansas did."

Seven days of physical and emotional preparation is what the Wildcats have worked with in getting ready for Nebraska. Snyder said the rest of this week will go reigns back quite as much" on his team. ■ Special teams sergeant Mike Ekeler is getting his hair prepared for the game as quickly, and he "doesn't have to pull the Ekeler said he will be sporting a purple mohawk for Nebraska.

For the Colorado game, he will be bald, and for the Oklahoma match-up he may shave his eyebrows — stay tuned.

"It's kind of a progressive thing," Ekeler said.

box de-partment -K-State sports information director Ben Boyle said only 4,000 tickets.

there are at least 320 press credentials for the contest. Writers from Sports Illustrated, the New York Times and the Fort Worth Telegraph will cover the game. Boyle said there are usually 150 credentials for a contest.

Even though there were members of the Orange Bowl and the Independence Bowl committees at the KU game, the only bowl represented Saturday is the Aloha Bowl.

BRIAN

ANDERSON

From the TV-exposure department - A win over Nebraska might bring K-State more TV exposure. ABC and ESPN are deciding on the Colorado game next week if the Cats win. It is uncertain when the game would start, but the scheduled kickoff is at 12:10 p.m.

The Cornhusker game marks the first time in 12 years K-State appears on network television. The Cats appeared on CBS on Oct. 9, 1982, and beat Missouri 7-0 in front of a regional audience.

K-State is 2-3 on network television. The Cats beat the Jayhawks 7-0 in 1953 on NBC, lost 17-7 against Wisconsin in 1964, lost 19-7 against Indiana in 1965 and lost 13-3 to Missouri in 1980.

From the climbing-the-polls department - A win over the Cornhuskers might mark the first time in four years the Big Eight Conference has had three teams in the top 10 in any poll. It's reasonable to think the No. 11 Cats could climb one spot to reach the top 10 with a win, and the Cornhuskers wouldn't drop more than eight spots to stay in the top 10 in the USA Today/CNN poll. The last time three teams were in the top 10 was Oct. 2, 1990, when Nebraska was No. 3 in the United Press poll. Oklahoma was No. 7 in the Associated Press poll and Colorado was No. 9 in the UPI poll. From the winning-streak department - While K-State's seven-game winning streak is the longest since the nine-game winning streak involving the 1930 and 1931 teams, Nebraska has a 19game regular season winning streak the longest in the nation.

The Cornhuskers will bring in a sevengame regular-season road winning streak. The last loss was the 19-10 embarrassment at Iowa State in 1992, and the last loss to a ranked opponent away from Lincoln, Neb., was a 29-14 loss at then-No. 2 Washington in 1992.

■ From the goal-post department — There have been six goal-post incidents in the Bill Snyder era, including last Thursday's contest at Kansas.

The first time was the North Texas game in 1989 when the Cats'ended a 30game losing streak. The posts came down against Kansas in 1991 and against Iowa

State in 1992. Last season, they were torn down against Kansas and Oklahoma.

The University of Nebraska's football program is entering a campus hungry for a K-State hasn't beat Nebraska since Sports Complex.

Phi Delta Theta members Jacob Spencer, freshman undecided, and Mark Oberkrom, junior in exercise science, try to get ahold of Tau Kappa Epsilon member Dustin Zander, senior in civil engineering, Tuesday afternoon at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. The TKEs qualified for playoffs with their 18-6 victory over the Phi

STEVE HEBERT Collegian

Delts.

▶ INTRAMURALS

Tau Kappa Epsilon finds path to playoffs

DEBBIE PILANT

Tau Kappa Epsilon defeated Phi Delta Theta 18-6 in the final day of flag football's regular season Tuesday, assuring the TKEs a spot in the playoffs.

The TKEs won despite losing their starting quarterback, Jeff Tauscher. He said he pulled a calf muscle in practice three weeks ago, and he won't be back for the Tauscher said the team hasn't changed since his injury, and he had confidence in Dustin Jamison, the TKEs' back-up quarterback.

"We're just doing the same thing, and we haven't lost a step," Tauscher said. "Dustin knows what he's doing."

Jamison said the team tried to adjust to their defense and change their attack accordingly.

"I hear they have a real tough defense, so knew they'd be tough," he said. Preston Barton, left back for the TKEs, helped in the winning effort by catching one touchdown pass and throwing for another. He said the quarterback situation hasn't hurt the team, though they miss Tauscher's leadership.

"He is a quiet leader. He leads by what he does on the field," Barton said. Though that leadership is missed, Barton said Jamison has taken the reins with no problem.

"I always thought Jeff was irreplaceable, but Dustin has done a fantastic job filling in. He's really been able to execute well," Barton said.

Barton said the key to the win was the defense, and the offense added to that by executing well.

"The defense just didn't let them get down the field, and the offense did what it had to do," he said.

Ted Simmons, center for the Phi Delts, scored their only touchdown. He agreed that the TKE defense was strong.

"We should have scored more, but they have a really good defense," he said.

Brian Harrison, Phi Delt quarterback, said they were trying to run the ball throughout the game because of the strong defense.

He said the team was having a problem with pitches throughout the game.

"Our pitches were off, and their rush was really good. That made it hard to pass," Simmons said he felt the Phi Delts had a chance to win, but the team couldn't execute. "Both teams have good athletes, but they were just better today," he said. Barton said the quality of the athletes that play on the TKE team has been the key to their success. He said the TKEs have won the championship 10 of the last 14 years. "There's always been lots of good athletes in the house," he said. "The older athletes give lots of leadership and build the younger players," Barton said. Simmons said this loss puts the Phi Delts out of the playoffs for this year, but they will have a good chance to go far next year.

"Our team is really young and talented, so we should be strong next year," he said.

▶ VOLLEYBALL

Odds stacked high against Cats

To say that the odds are against the K-State women's volleyball team tonight would be an understatement.

The Wildcats face the Nebraska Cornhuskers at 7:30 p.m. in Ahearn Field House.

In the Cats' 20-year history, they are 0-49 against the Cornhuskers. The Cornhuskers enter the 1994 season with 17 Big Eight Conference titles and 12 consecutive NCAA tournament appearances. With a 10-2 record, the Huskers finished second in the conference last year. Losing in the second round of the NCAA tournament to Notre Dame, they finished the season with a 25-6 record overall.

The Cornhuskers are 15-0 overall this year and 2-0 in the conference.

Coach Jim Moore said the Huskers will be tremendously difficult to contend with. "It could be Nebraska's best team ever," Moore said. "We're going to have to play out of our minds to even have a chance.' The Cornhuskers will be guided by junior all-America middle blocker Allison Weston. Weston registered a hitting percentage of .371 to lead the Big Eight.

Teammate Jen McFadden was named Big Eight Newcomer of the Year last season.

▶ GOLF

Young team competes at Invitational

BILL MCNALLY

The K-State men's golf team is in action right now in the 1994 Sundance/Men's Ram Invitational in Fort Collins, Colo.

K-State is taking a very inexperienced group this week to Fort Collins. Junior Scott Hovis is the only player making the trip with any significant playing experience.

"This tournament will give the other guys a chance to get some experience," Coach Mark Elliott said. After the first two rounds, K-State finds itself in eighth place out of 10 teams. The Cats as a team are shooting a score of 608 (297-311).

Individually for the Cats, Hovis is leading the pack with a two-round score of 147 (72-75), which puts him in 11th place on the leaderboard. Miller fired a 153 (73-80), to share the 25th spot with six other competitors.

"Last year this tournament was a springboard for Troy Halterman and Jason Losch. Hopefully, it will be a similar scenario for some of these other guys," Elliott said.

Halterman, Losch and Brett Waldman, who each placed well in last week's tournament, are sitting out this one. Halterman shot a 216 (72-71-73) to capture first. Losch finished second 221(71-75-75), and Waldman tied for fifth 223 (73-75-75).

College gets national grant to study futuristic mapping

HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

K-State-Salina received a $500,000 grant from the National Science Foundation for Advanced Technical Education to develop two associate-degree programs in geographical information systems and global positioning system technology.

The curricula in geographical information systems and global positioning system technology will be available to all two-year Keating. colleges, James engineering technology department head, said.

"This is the Dick Tracy era of technology," Keating said.

He said this technology will affect every aspect of our lives from how we drive our cars and fertilize fields to communicating with Geographical information systems is basically a huge databasemapping system, Keating said.

'It can map a whole city," he

The global positioning system can locate, through a receiver, any place in space, not just on earth, Keating said.

The system is based on satellite reception. There are already 24 satellites in space for GPS originally for military purposes, he Keating said some 1996 Oldsmobiles will be equipped with the GIS and GPS systems.

The car will have a receiver and a small TV screen of a map of the city, allowing the driver to locate the car as it moves along on the monitor, Keating said.

This system will be especially useful for travelers, said Jack Henry, dean of the K-State-Salina College of Technology.

They will be able to locate where they are, Henry said.

Keating said the grant money is to develop how to use the technology because GIS and GPS technology is not new.

"No one else is addressing this issue right now," Keating said.

The systems are not limited to cars, Keating said. It will be used in airplanes, tractors and just about any other form of transportation, as well as for environmental uses.

He said the core courses will be developed this year and offered next fall. The second year of the program will be hands-on courses.

Students will choose their particular area of interest for their application courses in their second year, Keating said.

Because there is a wide variety of disciplines for this area, it will truly be a team effort to develop the curriculum, said Stephen Thompson, civil engineering technology section head.

Keating said K-State-Salina is the first to develop a curriculum for using GIS and GPS.

"We'll become one of the centers of this technology in this country," he said. "People will look to us for advice."

Everyday

Two-fers

- PIZZAS with

- TOPPINGS each

- COKES with ice

$8.45

"No Coupon" Specials

FACULTY SENATE

Report monitoring faculty morale

KIM HALL

K-State faculty got another opportunity to advise the University as to what does and does not satisfy

On Tuesday, Faculty Senate approved the faculty morale and satisfaction report for next year.

The Senate appointed an Ad-Hoc Committee in 1989 to study attitudes, opinions and perceptions of faculty concerning their work at K-State. They've been evaluating these issues ever since.

Senator Jim Dubois, associate professor of interior architecture, said that the evaluation will continue on an annual basis.

"If things are not desirable in the way we'd like to have them, we'll see what we can do to improve them," he said.

In other business, Faculty Senate president Dennis Kuhlman discussed a remark made by gub-

Everyday

Three-fers

- PIZZAS with

- TOPPING each

- COKES with ice

$10.34

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

CALL 532 - 6428 FOR RESERVATIONS

THIS PLAY CONTAINS MATURE LANGUAGE

presents:

Comedian

8 pm

Daniel Roser

Friday, October 1

Union Station

GENERAL PUBLIC $8

UPC Eclectic Entertainment

STUDENTS/ SENIORS $6

(NO coupon needed. NONE accepted)

ernatorial candidate Jim Slattery.

Slattery classified tenured professors who don't require evaluations and don't perform well as 'dead wood.

"After Slattery was talking about 'dead wood' on campuses, numerous individual faculty members have made written responses to him," he said. 'At the appropriate time, I will make a response to him and invite him to come to Kansas and learn more about the universities, how we operate and specifically have him look at the evaluation processes and procedures," Kuhlman said. He said he wants to lay this issue to rest before it gets engrained into the system.

"We're not going to let it just lie," Kuhlman said.

He said the issue of chronic underachievers will continually resurface.

"There are procedures addressed for incompetence, but what procedure is there if a guy is competent and just doesn't do it?" Kuhlman said.

"Each individual campus should address those issues that are appropriate to their campus," he said. "That's my stance, and that's what I'll continue to push for," Kuhlman said.

Macbeth

Actors From the London Stage

Stephen Casey, Holly Wilson, Gareth Armstrong, Richard Howard, and David Howey.

Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22 at 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Kansas State University

Public/Faculty $18 Senior $16 Student/Child $9

Actors from the London Stage is a troupe of five who hail from such companies as the Royal Shakespeare Company, the Royal National Theatre, and the BBC's Shakespeare series. These veteran performers band together to present Macbeth, William Shakespeare's exploration of flawed ambition, of the moral and psychological consequences of evil.

Believing that the imagination is more powerful than any stage scenery, the company presents the play using minimal sets and playing multiple roles. Their production allows audience members to conjure up the setting and atmosphere.

For tickets, call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; from 3 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets ilable (with service charge) at Manhattan Town Center Service desk, K-State Union Bookston this presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and nal Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Corporate support has

MANHATTAN NATIONAL BANK

Mr. Goodcents gives you...

Sub specials every day w/ choice of chips, potato salad or pasta salad.

MR. GOODCENTS 1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store) • 539-1900

Intramural Entry Deadline Thurs., Oct. 13 5 p.m. Rec Services Office VOLLEYBALL AND INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

Special Events

UPC Issues and Ideas

presents

The Varsity Sport of Mind

Informational Meeting

November 1, 1994

K-State Union Room 205 7:30 pm Sign up in the UPC Office through

November 4

UPC Outdoor Recreation Presents

SAILING AT

Saturday, October 22

11:00 am - 6:00 pm

VOLLEYBALL OFFICIALS' CLINICS Mon., Oct. 17 at 6:30 p.m. Union Rm 212

Tues., Oct. 18 at 6:30 p.m. Kec Complex MANDATORY ATTENDANCE AT BOTH MEETINGS!

REC SERVICES OFFICE 532-6980

CAPTAINS'/MANAGERS' MEETING

K-State Union, Forum Hall

Schedules will be distributed at this meeting only ALL CAPTAINS/MANAGERS MUST ATTEND!

NICHOLS THEATRE 8 Wed., Oct. 19 OCTOBER 6 - 8 OCTOBER 12 - 15* 5 p.m. TICKETS AVAILABLE AT MCCAIN BOX OFFICE NOON - 5 P

Multicultural Committee presents: International Coffee and Tea Hours

Join us for a variety of coffees from around the

Tuesday afternoons 2:30pm - 4:30pm In Union Station Starting Oct. 18

The CAMPOUT is back! Watch for the flag to go up outside of Ahearn and then come join the fun.

Night One: Get pumped for the K-State Basketball Season by watching the greatest basketball movie of all time - HOOSIERS Night Two: Dance the night away to the sounds of local favorites -TURQUOISE SOL

Sponsored by UPC Special Events

Eclectic Entertainmen UPC Special Events and Eclectic Entertainment present with guests WEEZER and FATIMA MANSIONS Monday, November 7 at Bramlage Coliseum lickets go on sale Wednesday, October 12. For more information call 532-6571. Art Show

Equipment and training are provided. The cost is only $8.00. Sign up now in the UPC Office to enterigination & special events #

OCTOBER 12, 19

Helpful phone numbers:

- ■ Lafene Health Center 532-6554
- National STD Hotline 1-800-227-8922 National AIDS Hotline 1-800-342-AIDS

Alternative methods

- Depo-Provera An almost 100-percenteffective, nonestrogen method of hormonal contraception. Depo-Provera is given by injection every three
- Norplant This is a method of contraception comprised of six matchstick-size tubes filled with the progestin levonorgestrel that are implanted on the inside of the upper arm. It provides five years of protection.
- Female condom The Reality condom is the first form of protection against STDs aimed specifically at women. It is a double-ringed, diaphragm-like device, with one ring that slips over the cervix, another that hangs outside the vagina, and a polyurethane sheath in between the two.
- Morning-after contraception Taking two high-dose Ovral oral contraceptive tablets or four low-dose Lo/Ovral, Nordette or Levlen pills within 72 hours of contraceptive accidents, plus an equal follow-up dose 12 hours after the first one, can reduce the risk of pregnancy by 75 percent.
- Two types of IUDs are sold in the United States. The ParaGard Copper-T IUD has been approved for 10 years of use. The Progestaseri IUD must be replaced annually.
- Periodic abstinence The woman extensively tracks her menstrual cycle for times when unprotected sex will not result in pregnancy. However, this method does not protect women against the transmission of HIV and STDs.

More than the pill offered by Lafene

Lafene Women's Clinic offers a wide variety of contraceptive services related to K-State students' needs.

The pill is the most common form of contraceptive distributed at the women's clinic, Eileen Swanson, director of women's health, said.

"The pill is the most popular, because there is more knowledge about it," Swanson said. "It's something they're more comfortable with."

Birth-control methods available at Lafene Health Center include: condoms, spermicides, diaphragms, IUD (Intra-Uterine device), oral contraceptives (pill), Depo-Provera (shot) and Norplant (implant).

Swanson said students nervous about coming in to the clinic are usually put at ease when they see how friendly the staff is and understand the high level of confidentiality concerning patients at the

"The most important thing for people to realize is that we're here for the students,"

Office calls are free for K-State students at the health center, but payment is necessary for supplies.

Students requesting contraceptive services attend a preliminary visit to ask any questions and to address any necessary health problems, Swanson said. On the next visit, a physical exam is then given by a nurse practitioner or physician and a follow-up appointment time is established prior to receiving the contraception.

emstive methods source: Glamour magazine, August 1994

CHOICES

Students today agree: protection or abstinence is best option yet ore than I million peopls in the United States are infected with HIV. In the course of a year, 85 out of 100 sexually active women will get pregnant if they do not use any contraception. These statistics, from the Center for Disease Control and Prevention and from The Alan Guttmacher Institute, demonstrate that in today's world, using contraception has become more than just an alternative for sexually active Americans — it has become a necessity.

"Using contraception is a girl's issue, but it should be a combination," Nikki Frantz, junior in pre-nursing,

"Right now, it is mainly up to the female if she decides to use the pill or if she has to ask the guy to use a condom, but guys are being more active about carrying them and wanting to use them."

But some students at K-State said they weren't sure whose responsibility contraception is.

A.J. Treece, freshman in mechanical and electrical engineering, said contraception is the responsibility of both partners.

"It goes both ways," Treece said. "Because, if you're not responsible enough to have it (contraception), why do it?"

undecided, said he wasn't sure exactly whose responsibility it is. "Just as long as somebody has it, because you certainly don't want to do without it," Garcia said. Locy Smith, freshman in advertising, said he would be very supportive if his girlfriend wanted him to go with her to get on the pill.

Mike Garcia, freshman

"I'd drive the car there and open the door," Smith said. When discussing types of birth control, the third most popular contraceptive used by women in their 30s is condoms, according to Glamour magazine. But the traditional image of a man with a condom in his wallet is no longer just the status quo.

Brett Krug, sophomore in architectural engineering, said he wouldn't be offended at all by a woman who carried condoms.

"Hell no," he said. "Their sexual practices aren't for me to judge." Bethanie Crum, sophomore in apparel and textile marketing, agreed.

"Girls should carry condoms," Crum said. "If they're going to have sex, they need to take responsibility for what they're doing.'

But what about abstinence as a means of birth control? It is the only method that is 100-percent reliable, and some K-State students said it is the only full-proof way to pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases. Christy Rezza, sophomore in early childhood development, said she believes abstinence is the most effective way to prevent problems related to premarital sex.

"That way, no one ends up pregnant, getting hurt or getting a disease," Rezza said.

"I think abstinence is best, but I guess if the 14 and 15 year olds are doing it - not that I think they should then it (using contraception) is better than nothing," she said. Rezza said she believes society's attitudes toward sex were better in the 1950s when premarital sex was not as acceptable, so people just didn't have

Today, she said, people are just told to use a condom when they do have sex, and premarital sex is much more prevalent.

Jeff, junior in journalism and speech communication, said he's had sex with 10 women, which he said he thinks is below the average for most college men, but he now wishes he were a virgin.

"I think the '90s is more about being romantic and foreplay," he said. "I wish I could go back and have my virginity again and share that special moment with my wife.

"Now, when I meet a girl at a party or bar, and we go somewhere, I say this is how far we're going to go - foreplay and have some fun. This is how I am today.

"I did this with the last few girls I was with, and they said it was much more respectable and that they were much more likely to have fun with just foreplay than be thought of as a one-night stand." Garcia said the media has had a big influence on the amount of premarital sex. "It's had a bad effect," Garcia said. "People at a young age do it, and they don't know what they're doing because they don't have the knowledge to protect themselves.'

Society's acceptance of premarital sex has definitely changed, Crum said.

"It's out of control," Crum said. "But, I guess people are going to do it no matter what people say. It comes down to morals and the way your parents raised you.'

PROPER USE OF A CONDOM

1. Put the condom over the head of the erect penis. Leave about a half-inch of space at the end and squeeze the end of the condom slightly to release

2. Slowly unroll all the way to the base of the penis while still squeezing end of condom.

3. After ejaculation, the penis should be slowly withdrawn, and the rim of the condom should be held firmly to prevent spillage.

The Worst: Contracept Plus Trojan Ribbed Trojan Naturalube Ribbed Life Styles Conture

DAVE OLSON/Collect

CAMPUS

Speaker helps dispel rape myths

"I encourage self-defense classes, but that alone is not the savior."

LIN HUFF-CORZINE
Associate professor of sociology

ANNETTE RIED

"If you have survived rape, you have done the right thing," a K-State associate professor of sociology said in a lecture Tuesday.

Lin Huff-Corzine spoke on the "Social Aspects of Rape" to about 50 people in the K-State Union Little Theatre. The event was sponsored by the Union Program Council.

Huff-Corzine began by reading a poem titled "To Walk That Way Again" by a K-State English student. The poem expressed the fear women have of being raped.

"We change our lifestyles to prevent rape," Huff-Corzine said.

She asked audience members what precautions they took to prevent being raped. One student said she never walks alone. Another woman said she doesn't allow her daughters to go certain places after dark.

Huff-Corzine said some women walk with keys as a weapon in their hand, with the ends sticking out between their knuckles. Some check the backseat and even the trunk before getting in the car, she said.

Huff-Corzine said the best way for men to prevent rape is to avoid going to prison. She went on to cover the false myths about rape.

The No. 1 myth is that rape is caused by a victim's behavior, she said. Victims are not responsible for being the victim, she said.

"Most victims are either wearing blue jeans or pajamas," she said. "Over half of the rapes occur in the victims' homes."

She then went through a scenario titled "The Rape of Mr. Smith."

In the scenario, a man that was robbed was questioned the way a rape victim would be questioned.

For example, the police asked Mr. Smith what he had been wearing, had he given money away before and at what time he was walking.

what time he was walking.

A second myth is that a rapist rapes quickly and never does it again, Huff-

Corzine said.

Most men start raping at the age of 16, and more than 75 percent of the rapes are planned, she said.

Another myth is that rapes happen in dark alleys and dark streets most people fear these rapes, but more than half of the rapes happen at home, she

That taking a good self-defense class will prevent rape is yet another myth, she said.

"I encourage self-defense classes, but that alone is not the savior," Huff-Corzine said. Men don't rape because they have no other sexual outlet: Three out of five rapists are married, she said.

Rapists rape to express their power and dominance, she said.

.Physical appearance doesn't matter to a rapist, Huff-Corzine said. Not just young, pretty women have to worry about being raped.

She said one in four women will be raped during their college years, but only two or three get reported a year in Manhattan.

Women do not cry rape to get even, she said, and rapes are not misreported any more often than any other crime.

To help a family member, friend or partner that has been a victim of rape, you need to believe her, listen to her, let her make the decisions and have patience, Huff-Corzine said.

The partner needs to let her choose when she is ready to make love again, she said.

Above all, don't get so caught up in the situation that you forget to take care of yourself, she said.

Bob Irvine, graduate in history, said he was curious about where society should direct its money, time and resources.

Huff-Corzine said society can go at it in a variety of ways.

First, society needs to raise boys to respect girls, she said. This needs to be done in the family and schools.

Parenting classes in high school could give men and women the resources to raise boys with respect, she said.

► SG

Allocations Committee begins work session for spring semester

BROOKE GRABER FORT

Student Senate met Tuesday to begin allocating money to Student Governing Association organizations for the spring semester.

Ben Clouse, Student Senate Financial Allocations Committee chairman, said the $8 activity fee each full-time student paid this fall is used to help fund campus organizations.

Clouse said the allocations committee reviews all budget requests submitted by organizations and then makes a recommendation as to how much money to give the group.

The committee recommendation is then discussed and voted on by Senate, he said.

Clouse said Senate will be voting on spring budgets for campus groups throughout October.

He said the committee was recommending $18,710.48 for organization funding.

Senate has a reserves balance of $49,147.03, he said. The remaining money will have to last the entire fiscal year, which began July 1 and ends June 30, 1995.

Clouse said the money will be used as special allocations for unforeseen student group projects.

He said organizations must list line items and how much money they would like for each item when requesting funding.

The committee reviews individual group projects and considers the amount of money to allocate based on the proposed projects, he said.

Senate reviewed committee recommendations for Alpha Phi Omega, Young Democrats, Black Student Union, and Students for Disability Awareness Tuesday.

Senate approved committee recommendations for all the groups except for Students for Disability Awareness.

SDA had requested money for the publication of a newsletter, which led to much discussion among senators.

The committee recommended the newsletter not be funded.

Clouse said Senate guidelines say no money may be used to fund internal activities, which include newsletters, because they are used to alert members of group activities.

Brandon Clark, arts and sciences senator, said he felt Senate should allocate money for the publication of a newsletter because it would be sent to 180 disabled University

■ See MONEY Page 12

e Seen.

Advertise in the CANSAS STATE
OLLEGIAN
5 3 2 - 6 5 6 0

Today's Special!

GENERAL STATE AN COLLEGIAN

"If I am virtuous and worthy, for whom should I not maintain proper concern?"

CONFUCIUS

"The first point of courtesy must always be truth."

EMERSON

"A zero dialer is a zero indeed."

POLITENESSMAN

Save the People You Call up to 44%.

Aisha Siebert, 12 (left), Ann Marden (middle) and Eugene Phillips, 14 (right), high kick during tae kwon do practice Monday evening at the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.

MARK LEFFINGWI

D.C. Lehman, graduate student in economics, concentrates on her punches.

The martial arts as self-defense

ows of people of all shapes and sizes, all dressed in the same white uniform with the same intense look on their faces, are yelling, kicking and throwing punches at the same time.

This carrying-on is actually a warm-up practice for tae kwon do.

The K-State Tae Kwon Do Club, part of the American Tae Kwon Do Association, meets three times a week, teaching the art of tae kwon do to children and adults.

Tae kwon do is a Korean martial art that uses kicking, striking and blocking movements.

other martial arts," Mark House, tae kwon do instructor, said.

The techniques are simple, effective and practical, combining hand and foot movements, House

After the warm-up, the group splits up by their skill level to work on techniques. Students start as a white belt and test up to different colored belts. Black is the highest, meaning a level of expert proficiency, House said.

There are about 40 members. The majority are female.

House said he believed the reason for the female majority is an interest in self-defense.

'There has been a lot of publicity in the paper recently," House said.

Heidi Niehues, junior in apparel design, said she has learned selfdefense through tae kwon do and is not as timid. She said it has taught her respect for herself and others.

"You become more confident in yourself," Niehues said.

A lot of physical work goes into tae kwon do, Joanna Mayes, senior in animal science, said.

"The higher the level you are, "We use a lot more kicks than you have to practice more," Mayes

> Mayes said she has been practicing on her own because she is a red belt getting ready to test for her black belt.

Marvin Knoeber, freshman in engineering, said flexibility is important with all the kicks done.

The club has attracted members

Teresa Minton, Manhattan resident, goes with her son, Cole, age 7. They are involved in tae kwon do to try something different. She said he liked it so much they have stayed with it.

"They teach them things like not to kick your mother," Minton said. "It has taught the kids never to use it to be aggressive. It is a defense."

Reasons vary for interest in tae kwon do, but all said they enjoy the physical-fitness aspect of it.

"I saw it at the Activities Carnival at the Union. It was everything I was looking for - a pretty good workout, and it emphasizes flexibility," Knoeber

Al Morodo, junior in industrial engineering, attended his first tae kwon do class Monday night.

He said he has studied various martial arts for six years and decided to try something different. "I wanted something more physical," Morodo said. House said he started when he was 15 years old and has been with it for seven years, three of those as an instructor. "I was a little guy in high school and didn't like sports. This came into town, and I tried it."

The Tae Kwon Do Club is open to anyone who is interested, and it costs $35 a month. For more information, contact Mark House at 776-6208.

STORY BY SACHA HANES

Instructor Diana Tarver pairs up with Eric Van Nevel, 9, as the class works on attack and defense methods.

▶ REVIEW

Mexican films find new popularity in U.S. audiences

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Mexican films have enjoyed a recent popularity among American audiences the past few years.

There was the enormously popular "Like Water for Chocolate" (already a Kaleidoscope film this year) and, last year, the underground hit "El Mariachi."

"El Mariachi," the Mexican hit written and directed by Robert Rodriguez, deservedly received great critical, if not popular, fame in the United States.

At first, you really don't know what to make of the film. Initially, it appears as some sort of Mexican gang, shoot 'em-up film. However, after the movie progresses, it turns into a mixedup action comedy that is on par with a Shakespearean comedy.

Carlos Gallardo plays the Mariachi, a down-on-his-luck singer/guitarist who is trying to live up to his ancestor's tradition of being a mariachi. Hoping to improve his luck, he stumbles into

To his dismay, an on-the-loose criminal who fits his description is also entering the city (both are dressed in black carrying a guitar case - the criminal's case is filled with weapons). The criminal is coming to the city to get some money from a drug lord. But, because the drug lord's men confuse the mariachi with the criminal, the mariachi ends up fighting the drug lord's men.

So, in essence, Rodriguez's film is a comedy of errors mistaken identity. This is the oldest trick in the book, but it's replenished with a new vitality.

"El Mariachi" is an innocent independent film - there's no big budget to bring down quality and to boost the star power. That's the beauty of an because we don't tie stereotypes onto each of the actors. Rodriguez wrote the hilarious script. (I don't laugh out loud at independent film. It's so real, too many movies.) This is no Hollywood script, though.

Rodriguez also explores the dreams of the mariachi, delving into his childhood with recurring images of a little boy playing with a ball and then, finally, playing with a decapitated head. The mariachi is seeing his future, his transition from innocence to a life of reckless killing and low expectations.

Don't expect a glittered ending with happiness pouring into your lap. Lucky for us that independent filmmakers exist. They bring us down to a realistic ground where not all events end happily.

His direction is no less fun. He adds little nuances like a sped-up phone dialing or a strange camera angle to make the film more visually interesting.

You would think for a small Mexican city there wouldn't be many interesting things happening, but Rodriguez has infused

UPC MOVIE

The Union Program Council presents "El Mariachi" at 8 p.m. Wednesday and at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Thursday in Forum Hall, and at 8 p.m. Friday in the Union Little Theatre. Tickets are $1.75.

his film with intriguing characters. There isn't an enormous amount of dialogue in the movie, so don't get scared off from the sub-titles. (Sub-titles in movies don't necessarily mean the movie will be incomprehensible.)

Bobby Ts

Weds. Steak Night 14 oz. T-Bone 8 oz. Kansas City Strip

Salad, Potato, Vegetable, Toast

For over 6 years, the original cheap steak joint $2.75 Big Bob Beers

> By CiCo Park Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR Today Thursday

El Mariachi — 8 p.m. in K-State

9:30 p.m. in K-State Union Forum Hall.

El Mariachi - 7. IL Truck Stop Love -9:30 p.m. at Snookies.

OCTOBER 12, 1994

Eric Clapton

"From the Cradle"

Reprise Records

▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS seat? box items 10 Lingerie 1 Tabloid 30 Past 2 Jai follower purchase 4 One of the 33 One 3 Railroad Stooges playing in 14 Token, crossing 7 Lugosi of poison ivy? guard often 4 Tiny filmdom 36 Beetho-15 Catcher's 8 Coronet portion place? 10 Ovine 'Moon-5 Potters' 19 Run up the remark light," e.g. phone bill ovens 11 Put one's 37 Spud 6 Lexicogra-20 - canto 21 45s, e.g. foot down Beguiling pher 13 Jug of seductress Partridge 22 Preludes Gatorade? 23 Squealed 39 Currier's 7 Ran, as 16 Classified partner to the cops items? 40 Started 8 Type of 24 Frenzied 41 Gridlock 17 Cripples basketball 25 Greek 18 Small, low shot component island DOWN 9 Depth sonants 19 Kitten's 1 Tacklecharge 26 Yangtze toy, often Solution time: 22 mins. 20 Contempt-28 Intense look 21 Photogra-29 Earned pher Arbus an Obie, 23 Panorama maybe 25 Nursery 30 Hunting shade 31 The 26 "Wiseguy" Bee star Ken 32 Hockey 27 Follower: legend suffix 34 Blue dye 28 One place source to be on 35 Stromboli Yesterday's answer 10-12 the hot

· KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Mile - Mary waster - F I I hask.

CRYPTOQUIP 10-12

"S D V D

BWX -ARPSWUDPQ MSDU RQRNRGU CWQ TGVVRDA,

NWTDP

Q S, D

MGP BXGHDA IVRID" Yesterday's Cryptoquip: HANDSOME SINGLE FARMER GREATLY PREFERRED TO PLAY THE FIELD.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals M

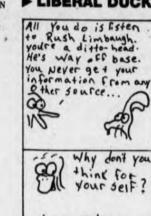

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

► LIBERAL DUCK

SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

Union Forum Hall.

He blows things vay out of Proportion he is a biggot, Antireminist, he is a lier. He speaks and you dittoheads No, but think for ? Have you ever listened The to Rush?

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

EVERYONE TAKES ME FOR GRANTED! NOBODY PAYS ANY ATTENTION TO MY NEEDS!

IS IT TOO MUCH TO ASK FOR AN OCCASIONAL TOKEN GESTURE OF APPRECIATION ?

SEE ?! I DON'T MATTER TO ANYONE! NOBODY CARES ABOUT ME!

BILL WATTERSON

FOXTROT BILL AMEND JASON, WHERE YOU TOLD ME TO I WAS THINKING OF USING I WANT THOSE ARE YOU GOING MAKE MY BED. CHERRY WOOD WITH A NICE WITH THOSE MAHOGANY FINISH, OR THE GARAGE TELLING WOULD THAT BE TOO DARK ME TO NOT MAKE 00

Reader turned off by bad sex with boyfriend

Dear Cassandra,

I have this humiliating problem. I am currently dating a man who is very charming, intelligent and sensitive. We've been dating about two months now, and last weekend we decided to take our relationship to the next level and have sex. It was awful! He was very rough and wasn't interested in much more than the actual penetration.

He's still the same person, yet after we slept together, I am now so turned off, I don't know what to do. How do you tell someone they are awful at making love?

Signed, Now What  Dear Now What,

You may be turned off about the entire situation at the moment, but I wouldn't give up on him just yet.

Everyone can use a little constructive criticism, no matter what the subject. You said he is a sensitive man, so he would probably love to know how he could make you feel great, too.

Don't say something like, "You're awful in the sack." Instead, the next time you're getting close, tell him you like to go slow or you love it when he touches you. Women can be the aggressors, too. Expecting things to be perfect the first time is unrealistic, but with practice, you can make it perfect.

▶ REVIEW

Guitar master releases the blues

AMY ZIEGLER

Clapton and the blues.

When you put those two together, you get a powerful combination.

Eric Clapton, the master of guitar, has recently released his new compact disc titled "From the Cradle," which is the first all-blues solo album that he has released since he was in John Mayall's Bluesbreakers in the late 1960s.

The CD is a live recording of 16 remakes from blues greats such as Elmore James, Willie Dickson, Sonny Thompson and Freddy King.

The songs have the signature Clapton style but feature a blues twist.

The trumpet, baritone and tenor sax, keyboards and harmonica blended with Clapton's husky voice work pure magic.

Clapton's music has always had a strong blues influence, but "From the Cradle" is his first attempt to immerse his songs in a solid blues sound since his experience with the Bluesbreakers. Clapton has come a long way since then and has proved that it is possible to make it in a solo career after performing in other bands. He first got attention for his dynamic work on the guitar in Blind Faith with Steve Winwood, and later he played with the band Cream. He began his singing career in the early 1970s with the band Derek and the Dominos and is currently known not only for his talent on the guitar, but also for his amazing vocal ability. In his newest CD, he lowers his voice, stretches out his words and repeats phrases to give his songs a distinct blues personality. The slow and melodic sound of his band and his deep and meaningful lyrics work well in a blues format I admire Clapton's courage in taking a step back in the past and releasing a blues album after performing classic rock for all these years. I thought no other CD could come even close to

"Eric Clapton Unplugged," but "From the Cradle" gives it a run for its money. It was the top seller at Streetside Records the day it was released, but it is hard to tell what

Clapton fans across the country will think of the They will either love the straight-blues style or prefer Clapton's traditional classic-rock music and stick to their old Clapton albums. Clapton will showcase his new blues songs in a concert tour, which will be coming soon to the Clapton will perform at 8 p.m. Oct. 28 at Kemper Arena.

BEEF AND BROCCOLI $3.90

Dine-in & carryout

Not valid with any other specials, coupons,

or on deliveries.

This coupon good for

FREE DELIVERY

(Minimum order $9) Expires 10-26-94

PERSONAL HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN

CONFIDENTIAL ABORTION SERVICES • Complete GYN Care • Pregnancy Testing

• Depo Provera & Norplant • Tubal Ligation

· Licensed Physicians/Caring Staff · Modern State-Licensed Facility

PROVIDING QUALITY HEALTH CARE TO WOMEN SINCE 1974

COMPREHENSIVE 345-1400 a | f h f o r w o m e n outside kcarea 4401 W. 109th (I-435 & Rose) 1-800-227-191 1-800-227-1918 VISA Overland Park, KS

OS COMPADRES. 308 VATTIER • 537-5017

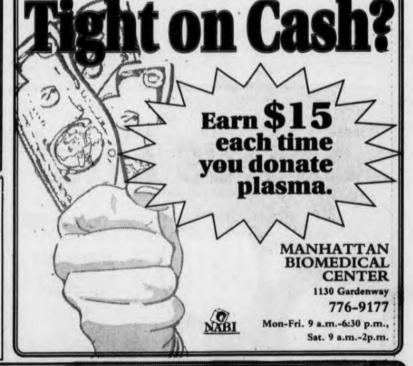

Tues.-Thurs. 11 a.m.-2 p.m. 4:30 p.m.-8 p.m.

Frl.-Sat. 11 a.m.-2 p.m. 4:30 p.m.-9 p.m.

TOLL FREE

CARRY OUT AVAILABLE CUISINE

1116 Moro

537-0886

Mon.-Sat.

11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Sun.

11 a.m.-Midnight

SERVICE for temporarily or permanently disabled students on campus. building to building. Inquire by calling

532-6441

KSU Tennis Championships Oct. 22-23 at sec complex Singles, Doubles for Men and Women

Entry forms available at Sports Page, Ballards and Pottonwood Racquet Club. Or call Brian Timmons/Aaron O'Donnell after 5 p.m. at 776-6060.

Sponsor: KSU Men's Tennis Club

Compeers talk it out

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Another reason Smith liked the idea of being paired with Jackson, senior in psychology, was that she's in college.

"She goes to college, and I intend to try to go to K-State, too," she said. "I want to be a business major.'

Smith said spending time with Jackson has helped her.

"I was on my way to recovery before we met, but yeah, I think it has helped my depression. It's helped me trust people," Smith said.

"Before I met Tracy, I kept it all bottled up. Now, I've been able to talk more.

"I'm real blunt, and before, I didn't really care if I hutt anybody's feelings, and now I care," Smith said. "If I get upset or anything, I can tell her about it. But we're from serious to funny.'

The two have found many different things to do together, Jackson said.

"Most of the time, we just like to relax," she said.

Since their pairing in July, the two have gone swimming, attended K-State games, celebrated Jackson's birthday with friends, gone to meet Jackson's parents in Topeka, gone to Pillsbury Crossing and seen movies.

"She taught me how to do my hair," Smith explained with a smile, while telling about how it used to be more frizzy and ratted. "She's supposed to teach me to drive, and I helped her when she moved."

The two said they haven't really experienced any problems in their relationship, except the usual bad mood.

"She was kind of short and cranky yesterday, but I think it was because she was tired," Jackson said.

"Yeah, I was," Smith said. "But I usually warn her if I'm not in a good mood, and I tell her why," Smith said. "We don't get offended. At least I don't think we do.'

Smith said no one knows the two are

"She introduces me as her friend, so, you know, I don't feel funny. Her roommate knows, but only because she's a compeer, too," she said.

"I'm glad they have this kind of program, because it helps you socialize. Like, in my case, to talk more," Smith said.

"We're people, too, you know. They (the mentally ill) are no different than anybody

Jackson said she enjoyed being a compeer.

"It's a really good program to be involved with. It's worthwhile because not only are you a friend to them, but she's a friend to me, too. I enjoy doing things with her. I look forward to seeing her," Jackson

"We are good friends, and I feel like I can confide in her and she, me. I don't think I've kept anything from her, or she from

Money diverted to newspaper ad

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

"We feel this is something the University should be covering anyway," Clark said. "I know this newsletter is an integral part of letting students know of the services we provide.

There are certain things, such as the shuttle service on campus, that are student-run services. Therefore, we should allow the allocation of money for the newsletter since it will benefit students," Clark said.

Derek Kreifels, business senator, said he thought Senate should fund the newsletter, but not

"I think that it should go to special allocations because I know there are some groups that didn't get funding for their newsletters," Kreifels said.

Clayton Wheeler, business senator and chair of Student Senate, spoke in favor of the allocations of funds for the SDA newsletter.

Wheeler said Senate funded itself $3,000 for a series of full-page Collegian ads.

This is a newsletter that we will reach students with," Wheeler said.

"I think (the newsletter) is a great effort and a valid effort that will affect 180 students immediately," he said.

An amendment requesting the allocation of $101.20 for the publication of the SDA newsletter was proposed by Clark and Trent LeDoux, agriculture senator.

The amendment passed. Senate will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday in Union Big 8 Room to discuss funding for Students for the Right to Life and Women's Union.

L.A. Cakes

& Cookie Bouquets

Don't forget Boss's Day on October 14th.

Give your Boss a Cookie Bouquet.

(order early / free delivery)

776-8773

LEGAL SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

Student Activities and Services (Formerly Student Government)

> K-State Union 532-6541

Legal Counseling, Document Preparation, Limited Representation

> FOR ENROLLED STUDENTS PAYING ACTIVITY FEE

FREE AND CONFIDENTIAL

MUSLIM COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

The Muslim Community Association invites you to attend the second lecture of a series of four of a short course on: "Understanding Islam - I"

"ISLAM AND THE PURPOSE OF LIFE"

HAMED GHAZALI Vice President of the Islamic Society of North America

Wednesday, Oct. 12

Room 209, K-State Union - 7:15 to 8:30 p.m.

Refreshments and coffee served. For more information contact Khalid Kebbati at 537-3759 or 532-6999.

Don't forget . Bosses Day! Sunday, October 16th

Have the K-State Union

Bookstore deliver flowers or balloons on Friday!

For just $1.00 we deliver flowers, balloons, etc. anywhere on campus, Mon. - Fri. Call in your order by noon on Friday, October 14 for delivery that afternoon or come by and see our great selection of gifts.

the Store that Gives Back to You!

K-State Union Bookstore 532-6583

Fall Shoe Showing Featuring Riekers! New Styles! Now 10% off thru October

Olson's Shoe Service in Aggieville

WACKY WEDNESDAY!

IF YOU'RE GONNA WACK SOMETHING SHOULDN'T IT BE WEDNESDAY?

Premium & Calls $2 • Big Beers $2 Kami Shots 50¢ Pitchers $2.50 • Wells $1.50 Draws $1 • Shots $2

GITUREEU/JIII

NO COVER!

WE HAVE BUD LIGHT, COORS LIGHT, AND ICEHOUSE ON TAP

ONEHOUR PHOTO = & PORTRAIT STUDIO Photo Processing At Its Best 40% off

14K Reduced $50

Wednesday & Thursday

Oct. 12 & 13 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Processing

(35 mm, 110, 126, C-41) EXPIRES NOV. 1, 1994 Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way Across from Westloop

10K Reduced $30

K-State Union

Bookstore 532-6583

C-1-6 776-9030

FLU SHOTS LAFENE HEALTH CENTER ROOM 121

DATES:

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY OCT. 19 & 20

MONDAY/TUESDAY

OCT. 31 & NOV. 1

THURSDAY & FRIDAY

Nov. 10 & 11

TIMES: 8:30-11:30 A.M. & 1-4:30 P.M. NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED

CASH/CHECKS ONLY - K-STATE I.D. REQUIRED

$5.25 STUDENTS $8.25 FACULTY/STAFF (1ST TIME OFFERED)

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

FOR PEOPLE WITH LONG TERM HEALTH PROBLEMS & ASTHMA

Macintosh Users' Group

This Saturday morning October 15, 1994

10 a.m.-Noon

Media Center Computer Lab 016 Bluemont Hall (lower level) Demonstration / Presentation

System 7.5

An Overview of New Components

Coffee & Doughnuts

™ Everyone Welcome!

1994-95 Meetings (3rd Saturday):

Sept. 17, Oct. 15, Nov. 19, Jan. 21, Feb. 18, March 18, April 15, May 20

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

PARKING

SOUTH OF THE

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering. Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Ware-ham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431 BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train

ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private

Cash?

Earn $15

each time

you donate

NABI

MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL

CENTER

1130 Gardenway

776-9177

Mon-Fri

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

FISHNET PANTYHOSE,

ZEN BUDDHIST Psycholo-gy/ Philosophy, Fri. Oct. 14, 7:30p.m., BH121, American Zen Priest Shoken Winecoff will

Aggievi

questions.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three

LOST OCT. 4, blue three ring notebook in Wa-ters 231. Has four in-dexed classes for General Psychology, Sociology, Stats 320, and American Constitutional History. Please call Mark at 395–3149 if found. Leave message. Reward.

thigh-highs, stockings. Patricia's Undercover Lingerie. 1224 Moro,

Lecture and respond to

plasma.

MALE EXOTIC Dancer, available for birthdays etc. Ladies embarrass her with the funniest entertainment, reasonable rates. Rob 539-6623. gift ever. Professional entertainment, reason-539-9431.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919. QUIET SURROUNDING for study. Studio or one-bedroom fur-nished or unfurnished. Some with utilities paid. Nine month lease, no pets. 539-4087.

TWO-BEDROOM F.UR NISHED apartment central air, all bills paid including cable, $300, 537-0428.

For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE NOW, 1000 N. Manhattan Ave. large, one-bedroom, washer and dryer hook up, offstreet parking, ver nice $350 plus utilitie 537-1940. *****

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

AVAILABLE NOW. Four-bedroom near campus, 1700 N. Man-hattan, Sundeck, hot

9:00-4:30

****

tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. 776-3804. AVAILABLE OCT. 1, one-bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1854 Claflin $355, cen-tral air/ heat, laundry facilities. 776-3804. CHASE MANHATTAN

Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

FOR RENT- Studio apart ment, all utilities paid. Please call Jared at 539-

2 Bedroom

Apartments

1/2 block

from campus/

1 or 2 baths

For Appointment

call 776-3804

Managed by

AcCullough Development

LARGE, QUIET one-bed room, living room, din-ing area, kitchen and bath with walk-in closer-conveniently located to

Birthday! Love us. Happy 20th Spacey! Now Leasings Large

TIM- HOPE that you have the best birthday yet-

Meetings/

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv er's license or other)

when placing a per

G-PHI KELLEY B. I can't wait to play in the hay on Friday. I'll try to "scoot some boots" but just promise not to shoot me like a lame horsel Luv, Adrian.

TEQUILA TO you. Beer to me! Oh what fun the 22nd will be! Happy

Events

TOASTMASTERS A mu tual support group for people who want to improve their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776–3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next parHOW TO PAY uffieds must be paid in advan-u have an established accoun-not Publication ck. MasterCard or Vise are d. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or roperly classify any sd.

HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

KSU, Aggieville and downtown, 537-7087.

MENT. Close to campus and Aggieville. $250 per month plus electric. No pets. Call 776–7636.

Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

MENT, remodeled, $390, bills paid.

ONE-BEDROOM APART

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat.

TWO-BEDROOM BASE

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Ag gieville and campus. 1005 Bluemont. $465. Central air/ heat. Water, trash paid. 776-3804.

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

N-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References: 539-1554.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bedrooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after needed immediately Very nice apartment Pool, patio, own room

Pool, patio, one block $215 month, one block from campus. 537-1679.

four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct and bathroom, $200 month plus one-half bills. Call Frank

MALE NEEDED to share

rent free. 587-9327.

MALE OR female non-

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice area, available now, male/ female. Call Kelly (H) 776–3585, (W)

ROOMMATE(S) WANTED

TWO FEMALE roommates

WANTED NON-SMOKING

and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE

LY, one room in three-bedroom house. One block from campus. Price negotiable. No de-posit. 532-9191. Leave 150

Sublease

SERVICE

Resume/

Typing

DIRECTORY

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis.

Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings).

Processing/ resumes. QUICK FIX offers services for the busy student. Reason-able rates, delivery available. Call

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

CUSTOM TYPING/ Word

female or male, three-bedroom house, close to campus and Ag-gieville. Two rooms available $150 each. All bills paid 537-1108.

needed to occupy three-bedroom apartment at Woodway. $208/ month plus one-third utilities nd water. Call Susan

539-8786.

776-6612.

ROOMMATE

Rooms

120

For Rent-

NON-DRINKER

Roommate

9p.m.

FEMALE

Wanted

Houses

Available

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display adsmust be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your a

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run to for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day
the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

RESUME RESUME RE SUME and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda, 776–3290.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

· Free pregnancy testing

Totally confidential

·Same day results Call for appointment

Located across from Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Musicians/DJs

MUSICIANS WANTED for country band, experience needed. 587-1805.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan sas. 537-5049. 8a.m. 5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corpogrants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back Call guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716.

SERVICES: INTERNATION AL Students: DV-1 Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration. Greencards provide U.S. permanent resi dent status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed. For information and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168; (818)998-4425 Monday- Sunday 10a.m.-11p.m.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readlegian urges our read-ers to contact the Bet-ter Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, To-peka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

1-800-FOR-AVON. money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

CRUISE SHIP Jobs! Attention: Students earn $2000 plus monthly. Part-time/ full-time. World travel. Carribean, Hawaii. All positions available. No experience. Call: perience. (602)453-4651.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travcompanies. World tel (Hawaii, Mexico, el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEa-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682.

FAST FUNDRAISER- Raise $500 in five days-Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. Fast, simple, easy- no fi-nancial obligation. (800)775–3851.

IMMEDIATE POSITIONS available for hard work-ing fast paced, custom-er oriented people. Po-sitions open are grill/ mexican MWF mexican MWF 10:30a.m.- 2p.m. or por-ter MWF 9:30a.m.-1:30p.m. or salad bar MWF 9a.m.- 2:40p.m. Substitute position available 6a.m.10:30a.m. MWF or

LOCAL FRATERNITY is cur rently seeking an experienced Dietician. Responsibilities include planning meals for 50 men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12.50 per hour. Please send resume and cover send resume and cove letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

bartenders. Apply at Bobby T's, 3240 Kim-ball Ave., Candlewood

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V5788!

SPRING BREAK Reps. Earn extra money and travel free. Classic Travel 537-

STUDENT COMPUTER OPerator: 20 hours per week. Must be willing to work hours indicated: Tuesday and Thurs day and every other Saturday. Must be en-rolled in at least six resident semester hours during spring semes-ter. Willing to work dur-ing student recesses and summer months Applications will be accepted until 5:00p.m. Oct., 14, 1994 in room 2 of Information Systems has an immediate need for four experienced Student Programmers. Recruiting will continue until all positions are filled. Successful candidates will have; 1) knowledge of program-ming in a common lanming in a comm (such as C or COguage (such as C or CO-BOL), programming ex-perience in multi-user perience in multi-user operating environ-ments (Such as UNIX or MVS), and at least ju-nior class standing in CIS, MIS, or a directly related field, or 2) suffi-cient knowledge of destrop computers and desktop computers and Novell networking to be able to install hardware (even initial setup), in-stall software, and ana-lyze whether a problem is related to network/ hardware/software. Aphardware/ software. Ap-plications can be obplications can be ob-tained by calling 532-6281, writing or coming to the KSU Of-fice of Information Sys-tems, Foundation Cen-ter, 2323 Anderson Ave. Suite 215, which is also the primary work location for these posi-tions. Questions regard-ing these positions should be directed to David Hillier at David Hillier STUDENT WRITER- We bave an opening for a student news writer who can produce news articles quickly and accurately. You must be a "self-starter" with a high energy level. You must be able to work 12- 15 hours per week. Schedules are flexible, but you must work at have taken editing 1, or who have additional journalism experience, are preferred. You must be able to work in blocks of at least two hours at a time. If this description fits you, come to Room 9 Anderson Hall to fill out an application. We need someone to start as soon as possible. We soon as possible. We are looking for excel-lence. If this describes you, let's get together. Be a part of the state's serve as sportswear representatives in Man-hattan for a newly formed sportswear company, located in Kansas City. We have two sporting goods stores and have been in business for 18 years. We have formed this company to market to college campuses, ex-clusively. Candidates must be professional and posses a strong de-sire and ability to sell. The individuals select-ed for these positions

will work on commis sion and can easily earn $200 plus per week, working in the spare time. The only requirement is that you sell. Interested individu-als should contact Eric Long at 1-599-1794. Please do not answer this ad unless you are very interested. I do not want to waste my time or yours. This is not a ground floor opportunity!

This is a rea scam!

Business

Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66807-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

BEFORE YOU go looking for that second or third job, find out about the newest home business trend. Interactive distri-bution is the way for young entrepreneurs to be financially inde-pendent. Make a free

330

WANTED: ONE male and

but you must work at least two hours at a least two hours at a time (noon-1p.m. excluded). High school or college journalism experience is necessary. You must be familiar with AP style. Job requirements: You must have an overall grade point average of 3.0 or above and you must have taken reporting 1. Students who also have taken editing 1, or

T/TH. Apply immediately at the K-State Union Foodservice Office.

NEEDED- SERVERS and

SALES PEOPLE needed for all shifts at Manhattan Mall, apply in person at Image Perfumes, across from Mr. Bulky's.

SALES/ MARKETING Rep-To contract for place-ment of point of purchase advertising with Rquirements: over 21 two years college or equivalent sales/ mar-keting experience. Smaller marketing Smaller marketing areas may be limited time of employment, re-location to larger mar-ket optional. Flexible hours, student ok, commission for each place-ment plus regular bo-Box 2236, Topeka, KS 66601.

Farrell library. Under-graduates with employ-ment potential tor two years will be given pref-

STUDENT PROGRAM-MERS. The KSU Office David Hillier at 532–7843, or by electronic mail (e-mail) to deh@ksuvm. If you are unable to reach David, please leave voice-mail and e-mail contact points. Miniority, Women and Handi-append are encouraged 532-6555

532-7309

PARKING

anhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS MONDAY-FRIDAY

8 a.m.-5 p.m.

435

Computers

ATTENTION DOOM Play

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

MACINTOSH PLUS 4 meg

SMITH CORONA 425 Word

AKC REGISTERED cho-

FIVE YEAR old California

FOR SALE one student football pass with Ne-braska, lowa State and Oklahoma tickets. Call 587-8618.

FOR SALE: two tickets to

Billy Joel Concert in Kansas City Thurs:, Oct. 13. Call 1–784–4051.

colate lab puppies. Both parents point. 537-4069.

king snake with 55-gal-lon aquarium and stand for $100. Call 539-2809

Supplies

Tickets to

Buy/Sell

ers. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hundreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539–0801.

ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call ram 20 meg harddrive with lots of software. $395. 537-0308.

Processor. Great for student papers. Has spread sheet capability. Like new, $200. Call 587-0683 leave message.

MARKET

Wanted to Buy

NEEDED: MANUAL for Lotus 1-2-3 version 2.3 and WordPerfect ver-sion 5.1. 776-4544.

Items for Sale

FOR SALE: Four Temp-co Goose Down coats, like new, 776-4544.

FOR SALE: Mini frig. Perfect for dorm room $75. Call 537-9406 ask

BONEPILE . RECORDS'& DISCS NOW OPEN 1126 LARAMIE 587-8944 CA$H FOR USED CDs

HAVE five Nebraska tickets. Reserved seating. Call 539-3897. Leave

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at

Furniture to Buy/Sell

NEED TO sale full size fut ton, two years old $60. Call Ana 532-7924 or

Antiques

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wa-

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles estate jewelry, furniture, 4910 Skyway Dr four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

GEORGE STRAIT tickets, two floor seats. Call 539-1822. Ask for Tricia.

I NEED: Nebraska tickets!

KANSAS STATE FAN tickets needs KSU/NU game (402)488-3888.

KSU TICKETS WANT-ED. NEBRASKA OR COLORADO GAMES. TOP $ PAID. (800)817-2820.

> GET THE WORD OUT.

Automobiles

PORTATION

1985 OLDS Cutlass station wagon. Power steering, break. Air condition. $2100. 1985 Subaru GL station wagon. 4WD, five-speed. Air condi-ton. $2600. Must sell one. 537-6201.

1986 CAMARO Z28. Black and gold. Excellent con-dition. Call 776-7477. Can see at 912 Thur-

75 MERCURY Marguis, re cently rebuilt engine, power everything, excellent condition, must sell $1200 or best offer, 539-3726, or leave mes-

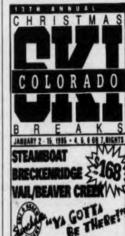

530

Motorcycles 1990 HONDA CBR 600

great condition, well maintained $3200,

TRAVEL/

Tour Packages

1-800-SUNCHASE 532-6555

Look in the service directory Need to type a paper but don't have the time?

Check out the Classifieds and let out a sigh of relief. You just might have a life after all. KANSAS STATE

OLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

TIPS FOR WRITING A

Always put what item or service you

Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for.

CLASSIFIED AD

are confused by abbreviations.

their price range.

designation.

CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number

PERSONALS.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN

GGAINBIRGSSEAL This is an advertisement paid for by K-State SGA Vol.1

Walking alone, is there another alternative?

It is something you have probably done at least one time or another. You're on campus late, whether it is to write a paper, take a test, finish up in studio, or cram for a quiz in your next morning's class. You look at your watch and notice it's 2 a.m. and you live about five blocks away. You tell yourself, "It's not that far, I'll be OK walking alone."

So off you go, walking alone through campus. The lighting is pretty good and there is no one around--at least that's what you're hoping. You make it through campus OK and now you have to walk off campus where the lighting isn't that good. You suddenly begin to feel afraid. Every noise you hear gets louder and the shadows around you appear to be moving towards you. Then you see the light on at your house. Your pace quickens to a jog. You shuffle through your bag to find your keys, the whole time you are looking around. You finally get the door open and swiftly shut it behind you. You deadbolt the lock and think to yourself you wish you hadn't done that.

Well Student Senate members don't want students to have to get through that scenario. That is why they are working on several different proposals so that students don't have to walk alone on and off campus.

Student Body President Jeff Peterson said, "We want to ensure students' safety. We want to help students feel safe on campus and this takes priority over whether or not you can ride your bike on campus."

Some of the funding that will help ensure your safety will come from annexation dollars. Another fund is from the Student Life Enrichment Fund. You remember that extra $.50 you had to pay during tuition, without your knowledge? Well, that's the Student Life Enrichment Fund. Some of the things to look for that will be coming out of these dollars are escort services off campus, a parking garage, shuttles, or just more campus parking. But, Student Senate needs to know exactly how you want your money spent. According to Peterson, there will also be surveys sent out during this semester in order to get more of your views on how to spend this money to ensure your safety.

And how soon will you see this money being spent? Well, according to Peterson, the annexation dollars will not be put to use until the Spring semester. But the Student Life Enrichment Fund money can be spent at any time. Students just need to decide on where the money goes and it could be put into effect tomorrow or next week, Peterson said.

Peterson also said, "It will be hard to measure the success of campus safety because it will take more long term evaluation." But, Peterson said he is confident that he will see campus safety improve in the future.

A Closer look... talking with Trish Nolfe

Each month Student Senate will interview someone in the Student Government functions. This month Trish Nolfi, coordinator of student activities talks with a member of the communications committee.

Interviewer: What is your official job title and what do you do?

Trisha Nolfi: I am the coordinator of student activities and my duties include: overseeing the office, advising student government, advising the campus judicial system administering the activity fees, an working with the Dean of Student Life's office.

I: How long have you been at K-State?

TN: For a year and a half, and I love it.

I: Where did you go to college at?

TN: I did my undergraduate and graduate school work at Ohio University.

I: Is that where you are from?

PN: Yes, I grew up in Cleveland.

I: Why did you come to K-State?

TN: I have always worked in student activities and Bernard (Franklin) talked me into coming down here.

I: What do you like best about your job?

TN: There are two things that I really like. The first is that the students in SGA are a bunch of fun, very interesting characters. The second is I have terrific boss.

second is I have terrific boss.

I: What do you think of Union expansion?

TN: I am very excited about it. There is a lot of potential. The thing that I am most excited about is the activities center where all of the different campus groups can get together.

I: What is the one thing that you really want people to know about you?

TN: (Pauses) I really believe in what I do. What I do, I do for the students, not for my own personal gain.

Having a say: what you want in the Union

Pizza Hut in the stateroom, beer in the rec center? These could be realities. During the Spring semester of 1994, Student Senate recommended a Union enhancement fee $25 ($2 of which goes towards programming) per semester. Over a period of 25 years, this money will generate over 9 million dollars.

The actual enhancement program is on a short time line; scheduled for completion in January 1998, with the program suggestions due Nov. 8 of this year. There is still time and many avenues for involvement.

There are 10 committees committees that need your input:

Food Service, technology, union plaza, activities center, vending, bookstore, self-op and lease shops, meeting rooms, infrastructure, and recreation.

This is the best level for getting involved in union enhancement. All the brainstorming, dreaming and idealizing happens at this level. It is the place to bring all of your suggestions on what to add, alter, merge or eliminate in our union.

Remember, this is our Union, the students' Union enjoyed by and serving of the entire K-State community. It is your right and duty to express your opinions, needs and wants. If interested and for further information about any of these committees please call Baid Pretzer in the Union Director's office at 532-6591 or Becca Korphage in SGA office at 532-6541.

Student Senate Communications Committee members are the writers for SGA Unplugged. They are: Brian Bowen, Sarah Loise Engler, Paul Friedrichs, Michael Henry, Aaron Hurst, Tim Kukula, Douglas Lamunyon, Jeff Kleinschmidt, Melissa Miller, Andy Tomb, Stacy Schirmer, and Jamie Congrove.

Study Abroad:

A Hidden Treasure

Most students at K-State are probably aware of the existence of the Study Abroad Program. What most of those students don't know is what a wonderful opportunity Study Abroad is for them.

The Office of Study Abroad links K-State with over 150 countries around the world. There are schools for those who speak almost any foreign language. What may be surprising to some, is that there are also programs in many countries for those who only speak English. Language skills do not have to be barrier between you and a great school abroad.

Many students believe that Study Abroad won't fit their course needs. That couldn't be further from the truth. In most cases a school can fit your major in the country of your choice. This is especially true for engineering, architecture, and agriculture, three of our schools most popular majors.

By now you're probably saying, "This sounds great, but I can't afford to study abroad?" Wrong again, In most cases Study Abroad is very near to the price of K-State. Through ISEP, popular program, the student pays only in-state tuition, fees and residence hall costs to K-State. Plus the cost of airfare, insurance and related expenses. For an out-of-state student, studying abroad can be less expensive than studying here.

All of the additional costs of Study Abroad can be considered on your financial aid package. Additional scholarships are sometimes awarded to students who wish to study abroad. If you're interested, check with you advisor to see if your major offers these scholarships. You can also check in the Office of Study Abroad, they have directories of scholarship assistance and are more than happy to talk to anyone about their programs.

Study Abroad is a terrific opportunity to expand your horizons, learn new languages, and see the world. When else will you be able to tour Europe, explore Australia, or drink tea in China for what it costs to go to K-State? Find out more information, you have no excuse!

Office of International Programs 304 Fairchild Hall 532-5990

Giving the Gift of Life

Each year thousands of Americans and many more worldwide face certain death unless they can find a potentially life-saving bone marrow transplant

This year K-State students will have the opportunity to participate in the Heart of America Bone Marrow Drive as a new part of Homecoming activities.

The Bone Marrow Drive is set to take place Tuesday, November 1 and Wednesday, November 2 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., in the third floor of the Union. Groups participating in Homecoming will receive points based on the highest percentage of group participation.

Bone marrow is the organ responsible for producing many vital blood components. Diseases such as aplastic anemia, some leukemias, and lymphomas are fatal unless a bone marrow transplant can be made.

A system was developed several years ago that enables physicians to classify blood types and match patients and donors. Unfortunately, it is very difficult to find matches, even within the patient's family. Every person that registers makes the pool of possible donors larger and increases the chance that a lifesaving match can be found.

Registering simply requires filling out a few forms and taking a small blood sample. "The process is easier than giving blood, takes only a few minutes, and is a very worthy cause," says Matt Urbanek, member of Student Alumni Board, which is helping sponsor the event.

This year the Alumni association has received a grant that will cover the entire cost of registering students. The event is sponsored by the K-State Student Alumni Board, K-State Alumni Association, and Heart of America Bone Marrow Donor Registry.

Support Your K-State Wildcats when they play Nebraska. Wear purple (lots of it) to the game!

Making Improvements with your money

The Student Affairs and Social Services Committee (SASS) have discussed some big issues affecting K-State and are ready to make improvements and changes.

Just a few of the topics under discussion include the Student Life Enrichment Fund, which is probably the most crucial in terms of student input. Other issues are union enhancement, teacher evaluations, and the Educational Opportunity Fund.

The Student Life Enrichment Fund is the account where the students paid an extra $.50 in fees this semester. This is the students' money, so therefore, we would like to know how the students want it spent.

A new issue of discussion for SASS this year is the review of how teacher evaluations are done and what should be done with the results.

There are many other issues in which SASS is discussing, and we need your input. Please feel free to express your feelings on these issues or any issue you feel needs to be addressed by the SASS.

Leave a message in the office of Student Activities and Services in the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee box. Include your name, idea, and phone number.

Also, Senator Aaron Otto can be contacted in the office of Student Activities and Services by phone or leaving a message in the committee's mail box. The phone number is 532-6541.

Learning the Process

Interested in the inner work of Student Senate and the legislative branch of Student Government? Then Senate Operations is the place for you.

The Senate Operations Standing Committee consists of student senators and interns, and regulation of senate requirements.

During this school year, Senate Operations Committee hopes to expand those duties to also include more progressive goals. Senate Operations allows for its committee members to learn how the senate process works, and apply that knowledge to projects which interest them. Currently, members are working on such projects as the computerization of past legislation and modernization of the Student Government Constitution and By-laws.

Be responsible

Voter registration tables will be set up Tuesday, Oct. 18 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the first floor of the K-State Union and from 5 to 6 p.m. at Kramer, Derby, and Van Zile Dining Centers.

X-press yourself with an X!!!

Tell us what you think... If you have suggestions or improvements concerning Student Government

concerning Student Government Association or any K-State related item, we would like hear about it. Please feel free to drop this off in SGA office located on the ground floor of the Union.
What I would like to see done is:

(please feel free to continue on another sheet of paper, if needed)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN WEEKLY SPORTS SECTION

ILDCAT WATCH

OCTOBER 12, 1994

STANDINGS

TEAM	W	卫山震	PCT
Nebraska	5	0	1.000
Colorado	5	0	1.000
K-State	4	0	1.000
Oklahoma	3	2	.600
Kansas	3	2	.600
Missouri	1	4	.200
Iowa State	0	4	.000

BIG 8 FOOTBALL

Preview for Oct. 15

Oklahoma at Colorado

When: 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 15 Where: Folsom Field (89,025)

About the Sooners: Oklahoma dropped their second game of the season Saturday against Texas at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas 17-10. Running backs James Allen and Jerald Moore have combined for 790 yards rushing so far this season. The Sooners have not beaten the Buffaloes since 1988.

About the Buffaloes: Rashan Salaam and Kordell Stewart lead the second best offense in the league. Salaam has collected 893 yards rushing this season with an average of 5.6 yards per carry. Stewart leads the conference in passing efficiency with a 164.5 rating. Colorado returns home for the first time since Sept. 17.

Kansas at Iowa State

When: 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 15 Where: Cyclone Stadium (50,000)

About the Jayhawks: Kansas fell behind K-State 21-0 before closing the gap to 21-13 by game's end. The game against the Wildcats marked the return of starting quarterback Asheiki Preston who was sidelined with a fractured rib and a partially collapsed lung sustained in the Texas-Christian game Sept. 17.

About the Cyclones: Iowa State is still searching for its first victory of the season. Help may be on the way with the return of starting quarterback Todd Doxzon. The Cyclones did not play last Saturday. Two weeks ago Oklahoma pounded the Cyclones 34-10.

Missouri at Okla.State

When: 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 15 Where: Lewis Field (50,614)

About the Cowboys: The Cowboys trailed Nebraska by only six points at halftime before dropping the contest 32-3. Senior wide receiver Rafael Denson has tallied the second highest total of yards receiving in the Big Eight with 312. The Cowboys will be looking for their first Big Eight win in two seasons

About the Tigers: Missouri fell to 1-4 on the season after Colorado beat the Tigers 38-23. Coach Larry Smith called the game Missouri's best four quarters of the season thus far. Members of the 1969 Orange Bowl team were on hand to watch the contest between the Tigers and the

BIG 8 LEADERS

RUSHING LEADERS: Lawrence Phillips, Nebraska, 1,006 Rashaan Salaam, Colorado, 893

PASSING EFFICIENCY Kordell Stewart; Colorado, 164.5

Chad May, K-State, 145

Wildcats gunning for Huskers

JEREMY CRABTREE

No. 16 K-State will face No. 2 Nebraska at 1 a.m. Saturday in Manhattan. The game is to be televised on ABC.

As the final seconds ticked off of the clock at Memorial Stadium, the K-State football team switched its focus from the Kansas Jayhawks to the No. 2 ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Two undefeated teams, national television, everything is on the line," K-State linebacker Percell Gaskins said. "Big Eight Championships, the Orange Bowl, I mean everything is on the line. "That's all we thought about as soon as we hit the locker room. Nebraska is ranked No. 1.' K-State coach Bill Snyder said this is a big game.

"I think that anytime you beat a team Coach Tom Osborne said. that you haven't beat in a long time, it would be a great win."

Nebraska should be the Cats' stiffest challenge of the season, as they enter the contest facing the top-ranked rusher in the country with Lawrence Phillips.

Phillips became the first rusher in the country to reach the 1,000-yard plateau with 221 yards on 33 carries against Oklahoma State. He also scored three touchdowns

Last year against the Cats he ran for 73 yards on five carries and one touchdown.

"Phillips has shown the potential to be as good as any I-back NU has had,"

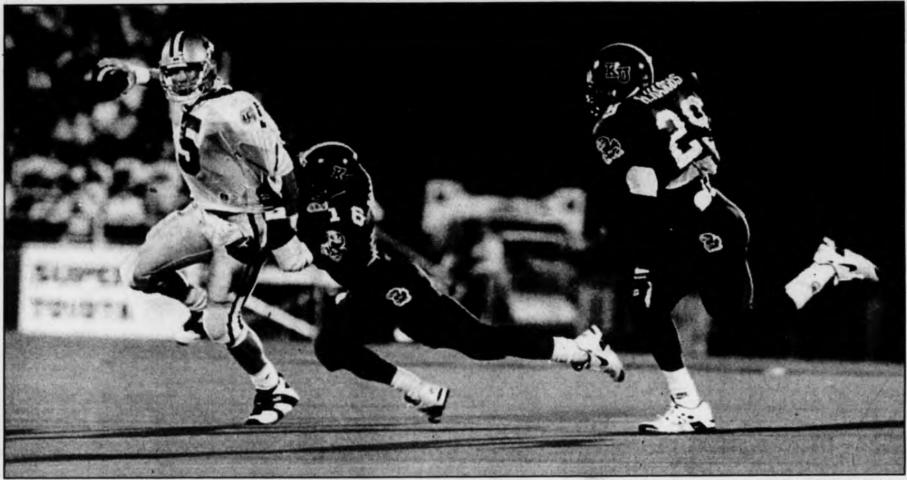

"It's too early to compare this guy to Rozier (Heisman Trophy winner Mike Rozier, 1981-83) but he could be pretty K-State receiver Kevin Lockett said it will take an almost perfect game to defeat Nebraska.

"We're going to have to correct our mistakes that we made against KU to be able to beat Nebraska.

However, the real story of this season's Husker team is the quarterback position. Tommie Frazier started the season off a Heisman Trophy candidate,

■ See BERRINGER'S Page 4

K-State quarterback Chad May eludes the Kansas pass rush in the Cats' 21-13 victory. May finished with 33 completions, along with 371 yards passing.

May: National audience wants to see Cats on television

K-State to be seen on the tube 2nd-straight week

NICOLE POELL

This week's TV Guide isn't lying.

For the second-consecutive week, the K-State football team will be featured on national television as ABC will broadcast the Wildcats' game against No. 2 Nebraska Saturday.

After defeating Kansas last week on ESPN's Thursday night telecast, K-State coach Bill Snyder said he is pleased to have his team featured twice on national television.

"This is a real tribute to the players, the system and the coaches," Snyder said.

One of those players, K-State running back J.J. Smith, said he hopes this year's additional television exposure will continue to boost the Cats' football program.

Being on national TV just lets everyone see how K-State has changed things around, and it helps us to become a household name,'

While fame and glory are nice, K-State quarterback Chad May said the large amount of media coverage this year means the Cats have earned something even more vital - respect.

"This is so important to us because we've lacked the respect for this program in the past," May said. "Since we were successful at the end of last season, we started to get a little more respect.

"But now, people around the nation want to see us.'

The K-State athletic department had to make several time changes to accommodate ABC.

The official game time has been pushed back from 1:10 p.m. to 11 a.m., with the KSU Stadium parking lots opening at 6 a.m.

Since the game is a sell-out, athletic department officials said they want to make sure all fans use their tickets correctly, especially persons who purchased the family child's ticket will not be permitted

This plan lets two adults and two children to enter the game, and officials said adults caught using a to enter the stadium and will not have the option to purchase a

Officials also said fans will not have the option to pay the difference for an adult-priced

More than 7,000 K-State fans traveled to Lawrence to watch the Cats defeat the Jayhawks. The match-up was also televised on ESPN, and this weekend's game with Nebraska will be shown on ABC at 11 a.m.

SHANE KEYSER

Phillips takes the reins for NU, leads the nation in rushing

MITCH SHERMAN

In the history of Nebraska football, no position has been more decorated than Iback.

Since 1977, the Cornhuskers have had 19 all-Big Eight selections at the

But no I-back in Cornhusker history ran for more yards than Lawrence Phillips as a true freshman.

Phillips was thrust onto the scene last season when Calvin Jones went down with a knee injury in the season opener against North Texas.

The six-foot, 200-pound true freshman from West Covina, Calif., stepped in the following week and ran for 80 yards on 14 carries in Nebraska's 50-27 win over Texas Tech.

One week later, Phillips ran for a season-high 137 yards on 28 carries in the Cornhuskers' 14-13 win at UCLA.

He hasn't looked back since.

Phillips finished the season with 508 yards on 92 attempts, not including a stellar fourth-quarter performance against Florida State in the Orange Bowl. So when Jones left Nebraska as the No. 2 rusher in Cornhusker history after his junior season, Phillips knew his time had arrived.

"I never really thought I would be in the starting spot right now," Phillips said. "I thought maybe I would be competing for a starting spot, but I didn't think I would be in that spot.

"He probably came out ahead in the spring," Osborne said. "He's a very talented player, a lot of speed and a lot of ■ Phillips has started this season right

"But here I am, trying to hold

However, Coach Tom Osborne is not surprised about Phillips' rise to the .

everybody off. That's kind of surprising.'

starting position.

where he left off. Nebraka quarterback Tommie Frazier was side-lined for the rest of the season with an injury, and Phillips started carrying the offensive load. Against Oklahoma State, he ran for 221 yards on 33 carries and scored three times.

Phillips' 1,006 rushing yards make him the first Division I-A player to surpass the 1,000-yard mark.

Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

Domino's Pizza

KSU vs. Nebraska October 15, 1994

Devon Ryning has made the transition from high school to playing at the Division-I level. She started right away for K-State, and set a three-game assist record earlier this season.

DARREN WHITLEY

Freshman starter making the adjustments

Tith all the exuberance of a freshman and a set as sweet as her smile, Devon Ryning is helping . the K-State women's volleyball team to its best season in years.

Ryning is a 5-foot, 11-inch starting setter for the Wildcats. Ryning grew up in Enumclaw, Wash., and has had to make adjustments in her move to Manhattan.

Enumclaw is about the size of Manhattan, but it doesn't have any of the college students," Ryning said. "It's more of a small town where everyone knows everyone."

Ryning said despite the differences between the town and the people, she still

"People dress and act a lot differently here, but I like it because everybody is nice," Ryning said.

Not only has Ryning had to become accustomed to Manhattan, but she also has had to get used to college life in general.

"College is a lot harder," she said. "You only have three or four hours of class, but you have 50 times more homework.

"I basically don't do anything besides homework and volleyball." Back home, she said she participates in outdoor sports unrelated to volleyball.

"At home, I like to do lots of athleticoriented stuff like mountain biking, hiking and swimming," she said.

So what is a girl from Enumclaw doing at K-State?

"Actually, I didn't know a lot about K-State, but the coaches were what attracted me," she said. "I talked to them this summer at a tournament in California, and they recruited me.

Then, I liked what I saw when I came

Ryning said the quality she most appreciates in Coach Jim Moore is honesty.

'He's really neat because his coaching philosophy is unique, and he's a really honest person," Ryning said. "If you ask him something, he'll tell you the truth."

Although Ryning likes Manhattan and her team, she said she does become homesick sometimes.

"My parents fly to as many matches as they can, so I see them quite a bit," she said. "It is kind of hard not to see anybody else, like my grandparents, until Christmas. "So, I do get kind of homesick."

Unlike many college athletes, who start their sport at a very young age, Ryning didn't touch a volleyball until six years ago. "I first played in seventh grade, which was not any big deal," Ryning said. "I started playing seriously my sophomore year in high school."

Perhaps more impressive is the fact she didn't start setting until last year.

"I'd never set before," she said. "I had always been an outside hitter until my

"I didn't really even set that much, so this is the first year I've set full time.'

Ryning said her genes might have something to do with her athletic ability.

"My parents were pretty athletic, and my sister, who's a sophomore in high school, is a really good volleyball player," she said.

Ryning said she's not surprised with the success the K-State volleyball team has had

"I've never experienced anything with which to compare this season, so I'm not really surprised," she said.

Ryning said there's more pressure as a freshman in college volleyball than high

"In high school, I knew that I'd make the team my freshman year and start through my senior year with no problem," she said. "Now, I have to work hard everyday not only to play, but to be the best that I can Ryning's goal for the remainder of the year is not unique in that she merely wants to do her best.

"I just want to play to the best of my abilities and work hard," Ryning said.

Ryning said she likes everyone on the team, and she looks up to everyone in a certain way.

"When I came here, I didn't know anybody," she said. "It was really nice, though, because it was like I already had 12 friends the moment I got here.

"That was probably the best part." Although graduation is four years in the future, Ryning said she already has a plan for life after volleyball.

"I'll probably go to medical school, so I have a lot more school to go."

We've just made this 6-pound computer even easier to pick up.

(Buy one now, and we'll throw in all this software to help you power through college.)

When you weigh the options, it's quite possibly the best deal available for college students. For a limited time, buy a select Apple" PowerBook" at a special student price and get a unique new student software set available only from Apple. It's all the software you're likely to need to breeze through college. You'll get software that takes you through every aspect of writing papers, the only personal organizer/calendar created for your student lifestyle and the Internet

Companion to help you tap into on-line research resources. Plus ClarisWorks, an integrated package with a word processor, database, spreadsheet and more. All with the portable computer you can use anytime, anywhere you happen to be. Apple PowerBook. And now, with an Apple Computer Loan, you can own one for less than a dollar a day.*

It's the power no student should be without. The power to be your best.*

Apple

Come to the K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE for a Great Selection of Apple Computers!

Shop at the Store that Gives Back to You!

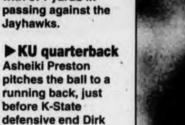

K-State 21 Kansas 13

Cats end 11-game losing streak at Memorial Stadium

▲ K-State's Mitch

Running makes a reception against KU. The Wildcats finished with 371 yards in Ochs made the tackle.

ays before the Sunflower Showdown last Thursday, the K-State Wildcats knew they had to do three things successfully to escape Memorial Stadium with a win.

Those three things were: pass the ball effectively, give quarterback Chad May time to pass, and stuff the Jayhawk rushing attack.

That's exactly what the Cats did, as they ended an 11-game losing streak in Memorial Stadium with a 21-13 victory in front of a national TV audience and more than 7,000 K-State fans who made the trip from Manhattan.

■ The first factor in the Cats' victory over the Jayhawks was the precision passing game.

May burned the Jayhawks' secondary for 379 yards passing and one touchdown through the air. In fact, May had 271 yards in the first half alone, completing 22 of 29 attempts.

The 271 yards in the first half had already totaled the second-highest passing total of May's career, elapsed only by his 489 yards against Nebraska last season.

"He didn't make a whole lot of mistakes," Snyder said. "He threw the ball well, expect for two exceptions. He made good decisions on where he went with it."

KU coach Glen Mason said he was impressed with May.

"I give all of the credit in the world to May," Mason said. "He is an awful good quarterback."

With May delivering the ball for 33 completions, that also meant that the K-State receivers performed well.

"I thought that we played well at times," receiver Kevin Lockett said. "We still had too many drops. The Cats opened their play book against the Jayhawks as it seemed like K-State ran about every pass route possible. With 44 passing attempts, Kansas defensive backs saw every route from the quick hitch to the fade route.

To make things even more complicated for the KU secondary, May spread the ball out to eight different receivers. Running back J.J. Smith was the leading receiver with nine receptions, but whenever the Cats were in a third down and long passing situation, Lockett was K-State's go-to guy.

Lockett finished the game with eight receptions for 116 yards, but most importantly, he caught three

■ See TEAM Page 4

Jayhawk fans find varied excuses, but score remains the same —

hey made excuses. They made up stories.

But when the final seconds ticked off the clock, KU fans couldn't make reality disappear.

K-State 21, KU 13. One of their excuses:

"A lot of people are injured," Matt Gage, KU freshman in business, said. One of their stories:

"We decided to give our second-string players some starting time," Marc Smookler, KU freshman in pre-med, said. "Those really aren't our starters - they'll be back next week."

One of their unbelievable stories:

"That's not really Asheiki Preston out there quarterback," Jason Lyons, KU freshman in physical therapy, said. "That's his evil twin who kidnapped Asheiki and is wearing his jersey."

Whatever.

While these select few fans seemed to be living in a world of make-believe, some Jayhawks in the crowd actually swallowed their pride and praised the Wildcats.

"I've been impressed with K-State tonight," Brad Metzger, a KU fan from Topeka, said. "Their offense is spectacular."

"I don't think that KU is a better team than K-State, but I hope they're a better team than how they're performing tonight," Rob Cleavinger, a KU grad from Lawrence, said.

While it was hard for Kansas fans to find anything to be happy about Thursday night, one K-Stater said both schools should be proud of their programs, no matter who wins or loses the yearly war.

"I think Kansas and Kansas State have both been improving

▶ K-State

receiver in the

was averaging more than 300 yards coming in the game.

their programs, and now they've both gotten their names on the map," Tim Shearer, K-State sophomore in milling science, said.

"While Bill Snyder has just done an excellent job with the K-State program, I think Glen Mason is also doing an excellent job with the University of Kansas," he said.

"I think if both Bill Snyder and Glen Mason can put K-State and KU on the map in college football, it just shows the whole country how far both of us have come.

While both football programs have risen to greater heights in the last five years; that alone wasn't enough to console the die-hard Jayhawkers as the final seconds ticked off the clock.

"I was just hoping KU could pull it out and win, but K-State's a great team, and they should go far this year," KU alumnus Ron Ruback, of Lawrence, said.

"But even though I'm happy for K-State and wish them all the luck in the world, I' am very, very disappointed in my Hawks.

▶ Wildcat linebacker Mike Ekeler is welcomed while getting off the bus early Friday morning after the Cats' 21-13 win over KU. About 100 fans were there waiting for the team buses.

Stories: Jeremy Crabtree and Nicole Poell

■ Photos: Mark Leffingwell and Cary Conover

Design: Derek Simmons

K-State continues to roll in league

The K-State women's volleyball team won its second Big Eight Conference match Saturday with a victory over Missouri in Columbia,

The 15-17, 15-7, 15-10 and 15-7 win increased the Wildcat's conference record to 2-1 and their overall record to 10-4 on the year.

Coach Jim Moore said his team did not play well despite the win. He said the poor performance was in part, a result of the hostile environment.

"It was a very difficult situation," Moore said.

"So many strange things happened that it was hard to concentrate on the game."

Moore would not say whether the officials had anything to do with it, but he did say some of the fans were abusive. "It's strange when the fans are on our people personally, but weovercame it despite not playing our best," Moore said.

Kate DeClerk, sophomore middle blocker, led the Cats with 13 kills and only two errors on 22 attempts. Outside hitter Yolanda Young contributed 12 kills with

After breaking the school record in assisted blocks against Kansas, middle blocker Jill Dugan continued her dominance as she tallied eight assisted blocks.

The Cats now turn their attention toward the powerful Nebraska

The Cornhuskers finished second in the Big Eight last year with a 10-2 record. The Cornhuskers have won the conference the past 10 years with only one loss in that period.

Moore said this year's Cornhusker team is going to be extremely difficult to compete with. "It could be Nebraska's best team ever," Moore said. "We're going to have to play out of our minds to even have a chance."

The Cornhuskers are 15-0 overall and 2-0 in the conference. Nebraska has never lost to K-State in 49 matches.

The match will be at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Ahearn Field House.

On Friday and Saturday, the Cats will compete in a triangular at Wichita State. The Cats will face the Shockers and Creighton.

■ GOLF RESULTS

Men's golf team captures first tournament victory since 1992

Donita Gleason

Staci Bush

Mitzi Taylor

Richelle Bond

WILLIAM MCNALLY

The K-State men's golf team took the lead in the opening round and never looked back in capturing the championship of the D.A. Weibring Intercollegiate Golf Classic in Bloomington, Ill.

The men shot a three-round team score of 886 (293-297-296) to win the championship by 12 strokes over second-place Nebraska.

It was the first tournament championship for the men's team since winning the Iowa State Invitational two years ago.

Individually, K-State junior Troy Halterman topped the leaderboard by firing an even-par 216 (72-71-73). His score was five shots better than teammate and second-place finisher Jason Losch.

"I'm awfully happy for Troy," K-State coach Mark Elliott said. "He's been in two of his last three tournaments, "I was upset for some after the Kansas reason or another, he has always Invitational, fallen down but then we the stretch. In this turned things tournament, around at this he went to tournament."

bed with a three-stroke lead and finished five shots ahead."

K-State golf

MARK ELLIOTT

Despite winning the tournament, Halterman said his play could be

"I could've played better," Halterman said. "I still made some mistakes.

"We played the first round in a pretty tough wind, but it was actually in our favor because we are used to playing in the wind every day. I think it helped us to get out into an early lead."

Losch shot scores of 71-75-75 (221) to share second place with Drake's Zach Johnson.

GOLF RESULTS place Troy Halterman 1st 72-71-73=216 Jason Losch 71-75-75=221 2nd Brent Walder 5th 73-75-75=223 Chad Buckridge 13th 77-76-73=226 Max Pinney 78-80-79=237 Women's .

80-81-78=239

79-81-81=241

85-83-83=253

84-89-93=266

TRISHA BENNINGA/Colleg

K-State's Brett Waldman gave K-State three players in the top five by finishing in a fifth-place tie with Nebraska's Jamie Rogers. Both shot scores of 223 (Waldman 73-

Also finishing strong for K-State was Chad Buckridge, who improved his score each of the three rounds and finished with a 13thplace score of 226 (77-76-73).

After a disappointing finish at last week's Kansas Invitational, Elliott said he was extremely pleased with the entire team's effort in the tournament.

"It's kind of crazy how things change," he said.

"I was upset after the Kansas Invitational, but then we just turned things around at this tournament.

'We've played a couple of decent tournaments, a terrible tournament and now a great tournament.

"This is great for us because we had three guys finish in the top five," he said.

Also important in the tournament championship was beating Big Eight Conference foes

Nebraska and Iowa State. "It was a real good win for us because we beat Nebraska and Iowa State," Halterman added.

"This win should help us out later in the year." ■ The K-State women's golf team finished third at the three-day Husker Golf Classic at the Pioneers Golf Course in Lincoln, Neb.

The women's golf team shot a three-round team score of 976. finishing behind champion Nebraska and runner-up Wichita State in the 13-team field.

K-State was led individually by senior Donita Gleason, who shot rounds of 80, 81 and 78 for a total score of 239. Gleason's 239 was good enough for a sixth-place tie in the individual standings.

Staci Bush finished ninth with a three-round score of 241 (79-81captured the Nebraska championship by firing a threeround score of 936. Cornhusker Heidi Wall seized individual honors by scoring a 229 (76-80-78) total. Nebraska's Rachelle Tacha finished second with a 234 (76-80-

Wichita State finished second, 31 strokes of the pace with a team score of 967.

Berringer's status is still uncertain

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

but he has been side-lined for the rest of the season due to a blood clot in his leg.

Frazier played a big role in last season's 45-28 win over K-State as he accounted for 312 yards in 35 offense attempts.

The 312 yards of total offense missed the Cornhuskers singlegame record by 7 yards.

Gaskins said if he could change things he would rather have Frazier "What happened with him was very unfortunate," Gaskins said. "I take my hat off to Frazier, he was a Heisman candidate."

Then there is the Huskers second- string quarterback Brook

Berringer, who suffered a collapsed lung two weeks ago against Wyoming.

Berringer returned for the Huskers' match-up against Oklahoma State, but he reinjured his lung and missed the second half.

"He had a reoccurrence of his lung injury," Osborne said. "We'll just see how thing go as the week goes along.'

A key factor in the game will be the battle between the K-State defensive line and the Nebraska offensive line. NU's on-line is led by two-time all Big Eight selection Zach Wiegert.

Osborne said the K-State defense could have the ability to hold Nebraska.

behind 14-0, but I also think that K-State played very sound defense." When the Huskers played "Against KU, I think what they did most was control the ball on offense," he said. "KU also got against UCLA earlier this season, the Bruins said to beat Nebraska you have to outscore them. Running back J.J. Smith agreed with the statement. "I like our chances to outscore

Nebraska," he said. "I think that we will put some points on the board. "Last year when we played them the offense did a real good job, got a lot of yards passing. I hope that we can get the same schemes down and get in there and do some of the same things."

Cats stuff Jayhawk's rushing attack

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 passes that resulted in K-State first downs. His three third down receptions were all at least 14 yards. After allowing nine sacks the last time K-State played in Lawrence, the Cats' offensive line redeemed themselves by only allowing one sack. In addition to not allowing more than one sack, the offensive line gave May plenty of time to survey and to make the correct reads. "It was a good day for our offense," offensive tackle Jim Hmielewski said. "After the first couple of drives we settled down. We then knew that we could move them. We gave Chad a lot of time. and he got the job done."

Thursday the Jayhawks had the

DELIVERED!

AGGIEVILLE

1121 MORO

539-7666

second-rated rushing attack in the Big Eight Conference. However, the Jayhawks were held to only 70 yards rushing on 25 attempts.

"Our guys shot those guys down, because they can run, and I respect their line and their backs. The first few plays they ran over us, but after that we did a good job. To hold them out of the end zone for over 52 minutes, I think that was an excellent defensive period of time."

When the K-State defense shut out the Jayhawks in the first half, it was the first time since last season that KU failed to score in the first 30 minutes. KU's leading rusher was L.T. Levine, who finished with only 23 yards rushing on the game.

Jayhawk offensive lineman ■ Coming into the game on Hessley Hempstead said it wasn't entirely the defense that caused Delivery,

Carryout, Dine-In

Up to 3 Toppings

$10.99

WESTLOOP

2931 CLAFLIN 539-7447

problems for KU's running game.

"We had some miscommunications," Hempstead said. 'We had some problems in line. They had a good package that was playing against what we were trying to do. That's what hurt us. Now that the Jayhawks are behind the Cats, No. 2 ranked Nebraska will travel to Manhattan to face the K-State.

"Actually, as soon as the game was over I started thinking about Nebraska. It's a big game,"Gaskins

Confetti & Party Shop 712 N. Manhattan 537-2002

Carryout Only 1 Topping $8.99 3RD & MORO 231 MORO M-Sat 9:30-6:30 · Sun. 1-5

Price does not include sales tax or delivery charge if delivered. €1993 Pizza Hut, Inc. ⊕ and ™ designate registered trademark and trademark of Pizza Hut, Inc. Limited-time offer at participating units. Limited delivery area. €1993 Pizza Hut, Inc. ⅙ cent cash "A Tradition of Caring" ....

776-4334

UNITED WAY

Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow ... Continue The Tradition of Caring By Sending Your Gift Today!

Golden Anniversary T-Shirts Are Available At: It's Greek To Me, Varney's Book Store, K-State Union Book Store, Monograms Plus, Vista Drive-In, Alco, Memorial Hospital Gift Shop and St. Mary Hospital Gift Shop.

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2)

$3.50 for faculty/staff

$4.25 for the public

AVAILABLE NOW

Get Yours in 103 Kedzie Hall

Questions? Call 532-6555

WEATHER - PAGE 2

OCTOBER 13, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

Exp. Date 00/00

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 38

Make your mark: register

KIMBERLY WISHART

X marks the spot, and in order to mark yours, you need to register

The general election is coming up on Nov. 8, and the Oct. 24 deadline to register is approaching.

Student Governing Association members will be working with employees of the county clerk's office to make this task easier for students.

Tables will be set up between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Oct. 18 on the first floor of the K-State Union, as well as in Derby Food Center, Kramer Food Center and Van Zile dining hall from 5 to 6 p.m., Derek Kreifels, SGA member and sophomore in business administration, said.

There will also be 25 outposts scattered around the county.

"Students have the option of registering here in Riley County or in their home county," Ilene Colbert, county clerk, said.

"If you register here, you give up your former residence at home and become a Riley County

If students are already

REGISTERING TO VOTE

Here are the requirements for voting on an absentee ballot:

- The deadline to register is Oct. 24, and the election is Nov. 8.
- You must be 18 years old by Nov. 8.
- Depending on the type of election, you must live in the ward, precinct or township 14 days prior to the election.
- There are 20 places to register in Riley County, including the Office of Student Activities and Services in the K-State Union.

from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the phone number is 537-6300.

Election

registered in their home county and will not be present during the voting period, they need to obtain an absentee ballot, Colbert said.

They can contact their county clerk or an election officer to apply for an absentee ballot, or their parents can request one in their behalf," Colbert said.

"Students need to let parents know if they apply because otherwise the parents think they forgot so they request one for them, and then the student has two ballots, and that's not legal."

Before last June, it was not as simple for students to vote in city elections.

Last June, Manhattan annexed

K-State, making anyone who lived here a Manhattan resident.

"Before, students could only vote in county elections and not the city elections," Suzie Hernandez, secretary of student activities, said.

"There have been some difficulties with the process, and the rules by which we are given to go by."

Most students live in Manhattan nine months out of the year for about five years, but when they register as a Manhattan resident, they must follow the rules of a Manhattan resident yearround.

"When they become registered

The county clerk's office is open citizens of Manhattan, they have to pay their taxes here and pay tags here," Hernandez said. "They have to jump through all these hoops. It's very discouraging."

Hemandez said college students are the type to decide to do something and then just do it.

"It creates a hassle for students. We don't want to lose a whole generation of voters 18 to 23," Hernandez said. "We want the voters. If they want to vote here, let them register to vote."

Despite this, Hernandez said she has seen more of an increase in students registering to vote, but said she didn't know if they followed through and voted.

► CAMPUS

Mastering the horror

Stephen King talks, autographs

SERA L. TANK

Stephen King, novelist and master of horror, will at K-State at 7:30 p.m. Saturday as part of a 10stop, cross-country motorcycle tour to promote his new novel, King will be host to "An Evening With Stephen King" in McCain Auditorium. The event will be sponsored by Varney's Book Store in Aggieville. Tickets are on sale at McCain for $5 each.

While in Manhattan, King will also privately autograph 200 books that have already been purchased from Varney's. Leigha Bolton, assistant trade manager at Varney's, said it was literally the luck of the draw as far as Manhattan being one of the cities that King chose to come to.

"He pretty much mapped out the route that he wanted to take and spaced out how far he could travel in a day. He sort of drew names out of a hat to decide where to go," she said.

Bolton said there has been a huge response about the visit.

"A lot of people have been calling in and telling us how excited they are. We even had someone drive all the way up from Oklahoma to get an autographed copy of 'Insomnia,'" she said.

Donna Altobello, textbook supervisor at Varney's and a selfproclaimed fanatic of Stephen King books, said she is excited about the possibility of meeting King.

"I'd like to find out what kind of person he really is. I want to see if he's really as unusual as everyone says he is," she said.

Altobello also said she thinks this is a tremendous opportunity for both K-State and Manhattan.

"It's not every day that someone with the popularity of Stephen King visits any city, especially a smaller city like Manhattan," she said.

Kent Mendenhall, fifth-year undergraduate in landscape architecture, said he's not sure what to expect from King.

"I'll be getting my book autographed, so I might get to meet him. I've heard he's a little strange and doesn't like to do a lot of public appearances. I'll be interested to find out if that's really true," Mendenhall said.

▶ COMING-OUT WEEK

Homosexuality not easy to admit

BROOKE GRABER FORT

factors Many considered when a homosexual person decides to come

The Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society sponsored a panel discussion titled 'Coming Out Issues," at noon Wednesday in Union 212 as part of Coming Out, Coming Home Week.

Jim Mason, assistant professor at Farrell Library, said people should consider how they are going to come out; to whom they are going to come out; how far they want to come out; when to come out; and what consequences will follow the decision to come out.

Mason said he considers himself to be out.

Coming out is often difficult, he said.

"Coming out in San Francisco is very different than coming out in Kansas City or Bucklin, Kansas," he

TODAY'S EVENTS

Brown bag lunch, noon - 1 p.m., Union 212. The topic is Understanding Homosexual Relations.

■ At 9:30 p.m., at Revolutions Bar and Club in Junction City, Jess Hawks, a lesbian guitarist, will perform.

Before coming out to others, you should be honest, and come out to yourself, Mason said.

"The results are a greater comfort to yourself and a feeling of honesty," he said.

When telling others about his'sexual orientation, Mason said he has encountered several questions, such as, "Who plays the woman?" and "What do lesbians do in bed

■ See COMING Page 12

▶ SOLDIERS

Gulf war produces mystery disease; cause unknown

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spc. Gary Steensgard has more on his mind than Saddam Hussein. Like other American troops rushing back to Kuwait, he's aware that thousands of his comrades were afflicted by a mystery ailment during Operation Desert Storm.

Repeat rappeller

Michelle Snyder, freshman undecided and ROTC cadet, rappels down the west wall of Memorial Stadium Wednesday afternoon.

"I'm concerned about it, but my main concern now is getting over there safely and completing any missions. I don't think that'll be a problem," said Steensgard, 29, of St. Louis.

While the military is watching for specific health problems, there is no special precaution being taken against Gulf War Syndrome a collection of illnesses for which no single cause has been identified.

'We know that people are sick. We have acknowledged that. But we don't-know the cause," U.S. Army spokeswoman Capt. Bonnie Hebert said. "If there's no specific thing you can pinpoint, you can't take some kind of preventive action.'

Troops heading for the Persian

Gulf have stood in line for the standard inoculations for tetanus, typhoid and influenza, plus a dose of gamma globulin that wards off several infectious diseases such as hepatitis. Training has been intensified to guard against chemical warfare, and carrying a gas mask is a requirement.

After Desert Storm, veterans complained of such symptoms as debilitating fatigue, skin rashes, headaches, pain in muscles or joints, memory loss, sleeping problems and diarrhea.

In April, a panel of experts organized by the National Institute of Health concluded that something sickened at least 20,000 men and women. The panel could not pinpoint a single disease or cause. The best theory is it was caused by a combination of stress, chemicals and parasites. "One thing we probably failed to recognize in the past is the need to be aware," said Kimo Hollingsworth, a Marine artillery platoon commander who was stricken with some symptoms after his return from Kuwait. Some have recommended the Pentagon protect troops against environmental factors and monitor stress, experts who identified the Gulf War Syndrome said.

This is the time to think about preventive monitoring," 'Dr. Gareth Green, who chaired the NIH panel, said. "As in any kind of potential epidemic, we want to maintain surveillance of the troops. We want to pick up any symptoms in its early stages and track it down.'

However, Green doesn't necessarily expect a repeat because the original outbreak was due to circumstances of the rapid deployment of troops in the environment of Desert Storm.

"We don't feel there's any sort of mystery agent over there lurking to cause the same problem. We think it's more complicated than that," he said.

Troops encountered a hostile mishmash in the 1991 war, including fumes from hundreds of oil-well fires set by the Iraqis, exposure to ammunition made from depleted uranium, sand flies, pesticides, doses of pills or inoculations designed to ward off the effects of a chemical attack, and what some believe was biochemical warfare. The Pentagon has said it has no proof Iraq used chemical weapons.

One veteran who testified before Congress about a rash he attributed to the mystery ailment is concerned about American troops returning to the desert.

'If I had known then what I know now, I wouldn't have gone in the first place," said Sterling Sims, of Birmingham, Ala. "The government hasn't done anything to take care of us as far as medical needs go.'

Veterans groups, such as the American Legion, which fought for compensation for Vietnam vets exposed to the defoliant Agent Orange, have urged that the Pentagon be aware of any potential health threats.

"This is clearly a medical deja vu," said Legion spokesman Phil Budahn. "If we had been a little quicker and a little smarter at the end of the war, maybe we'd be in a better position right now as we're sending the troops back in

DEVELOPMENTS

Listed below are some of the latest developments in the Gulf crisis. Among the most recent, Secretary of State Warren Christopher greeted U.S. soldiers in Kuwait and said troop deployment will continue.

Maj. Gen. Everett Pratt Jr., commander of U.S. air forces in the region, said Iraqi troops are still heading toward rail lines for a presumed re-deployment, and Iraq has enough firepower in place to attack Kuwait.

The United States, Britain and six Persian Gulf countries pledge to unite against Iraq. A U.S. proposal to declare tanks and other heavy armor off-limits in southern Iraq gets a cool response from France and Britain.

Listed below is one of the latest developments in Haiti:

Haiti's 81-year-old civilian figurehead president, Emile Jonassaint, formally resigns, three days before the scheduled return of exiled President Jean-Bertrand Aristide.

NEWS BRIEFS

► FORMER K-STATE LIBRARIAN DIES, NEVER FORGOT HIS K-STATE ROOTS

K-State has received word of the death of Richard Allen Farley. Farley was director of Farrell Library from 1966 to 1972. He passed away Sept. 24, at his home in Sedalia, Mo. Brice Hobrock, KSU Dean of Libraries, said Farley was well-liked. John Johnson, a Farrell reference librarian hired in 1969 by Farley, remembers him as being a take-charge kind of man.

"At that time, there was nowhere near the administration that there is now," Johnson said. "When I was hired, I talked to Richard and Richard only. He presided over all of the staff meetings. He was the head and, there wasn't any doubt about it."

Johnson said he still has good feelings about Farley.

"He had more of a background in librarianship than anyone we've had here since," Johnson said. "His whole career was in libraries.'

Farley was responsible for overseeing and designing the 1970 addition to Farrell.

After leaving K-State in 1972, he went on to McGill University in Montreal, Canada, where he served as director of libraries.

Farley is best remembered as the director of the National Agricultural Library, in Beltsville, Md. He served as director from 1974 until he retired in 1983.

"That was probably his most important accomplishment. He became a person well-known throughout the country," Hobrock said.

Despite his national position, Hobrock said Farley still kept close ties with K-State. He was a member of the Friends of K-State Libraries, and he came to a number of events at the library in the '80s.

"He never lost his interest in K-State," Hobrock said.

► K-STATE GRADUATE STUDENT COMMITS SUICIDE WITH PRESCRIPTION DRUGS

Giles Byron Kyle, age 25 and a graduate student working on his master's degree in environmental engineering at K-State, died as the result of suicide Monday night at his home.

He died due to an overdose of prescription drugs and cyanide, said Captain Allen Raynor of the Riley County Police Department.

Kyle was a life-long resident of Manhattan, He attended Bluemont Elementary School, Manhattan Middle School and graduated from Manhattan High School in 1988.

"Buzzy," as Kyle was called by his immediate family, will be remembered for his sweet disposition, good nature and happy smile.

He was a 1993 graduate of K-State with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering and a member of the Chi Epsilon engineering fraternity.

In high school, Kyle was active in cross country. In college, fitness remained an integral part of his life through hockey, basketball, weightlifting and tae kwon do.

Kyle had a very genuine concern about the environment and loved all aspects of the outdoors. He traveled to the Grand Canvon on four separate occasions. In June, he presented a research project to the Environmental Protection Agency conference in Montana on the contamination of soil and ground water by petroleum products.

Faculty remember him as a very good student with great potential, accomplishing a rare feat by becoming a research assistant as an undergraduate

He is survived by his wife, Wendy Ann Nicholson. He is also survived by his parents, Dana and Ada Kyle, of Manhattan; brother, Joshua Kyle, of Manhattan; paternal grandparents, Byron and Anona Kyle, of Salina; maternal grandmother, Betty Potter, of Chanute and great grandfather, Giles Whitworth, of Chanute.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Edwards-Yorgensen-Meloan Funeral Chapel. Internment will be at the Carnahan Creek Cemetery.

Friends may call on Thursday and until service time on Friday at the funeral home. A memorial has heen established for the "Giles Byron Kyle Memorial Fund." Contributions can be left in care of the Edwards-Yorgensen-Meloan Funeral Home, 1616 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, Kansas, 66502.

MIKE HIND

BEST-SELLING DRUGS IN THE UNITED STATES Sold in 1993: What they treat: 1. Zantac $1.9 billion ulcers $1.2 billion 2. Procardia heart pain, high blood pressure 3. Mevacor $1.1 billion high cholesterol 4. Vasotec $895 million high blood pressure 5. Prozac $875 million depression 6. Cardizem $797 million heart pain, high blood pressure 7. Tagamet $648 million ulcers 8. Premarin $644.2 million post-menopausal pain 9. Cipro $613.9 million respiratory, skin, bone infections anemia caused by kidney failure, AIDS drugs, chemotherapy 10. Epogen $586.9 million Source: Med Ad News DAVE OLSON/Collegian

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11

At 7:05 p.m., Nathan reported the theft of his hubcaps. Bergman, 118 Goodnow Hall, Loss was $100

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12 |

At 5:31 a.m., Charle Charleton, X23 Jardine Terrace, reported damage to pop machines. Vietim was K-State Union Concessions

At 8:38 a.m., Parking Services requested an officer to administer a wheel-lock and confiscate an altered permit.

At 10:18 a.m., Parking Services requested an officer to administer a wheel-lock and confiscate a stolen permit in Lot A-29.

ed the theft of her purse and contents. Loss was $43. At 12:24 p.m., a bike/pedestrian accident was reported involving Tim Holden and Maggie Connell. At 2:39 p.m., Parking Services requested an officer to administer a wheel-lock and confiscate an altered permit at Lot

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11

At 6:26 p.m., a major-damage, minor-injury vehicle accident occurring at K18 and Tabor Valley Road involving Maurice McNeil, 435 Edgerton Ave., and bicyclist Eric Lagergren, 221 Goodnow Hall.

At 8:19 p.m., Shanieka reported a minor-damage, noninjury hit-and-run accident at McCain Auditorium.

At 11:24 a.m., Kimberly

Hefling, 518 Sunset Ave., report-

At 8:54 p.m., April Pearson, 3012 Sandstone Drive, Apt. 12. reported a minor-damage, noninjury accident involving her car

Foster, 421 N. 16th St., Apt. 2, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12 #

At 12:44 a.m., Tina Eveland, 2488 Woodside Lane, reported she was bitten by a dog. Aggravated battery report filed.

At 2:03 a.m., John Rose,

13th/Ash Apt. 8, Ogden, was arrested on DUI and issued a notice to appear for driving with a suspended license. He was released on $500 bond.

ANNOUNCEMENTS COMMISSION

The deadline for applications to the Community Service Program International Teams has been extended to Oct. 21. Applications are still available. For more information, call 532-5701.

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

BULLETINS CONTROL

- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual Student Development Group meets today from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in Lafene 238.
- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.
- K-State Aikido Club will meet today from 7 to 8:30 p.m.
- today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.
  - Al-Anon will meet from 5 to 6 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.
  - Icthus will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 212.
  - Alpha Epsilon Delta will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union 213.
- Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 7 p.m. today in McCain 324.
- Rotaract will meet at 8:30 p.m. today at the Little Apple Brewing Company.
- McCain Student Development Board will meet at 5 p.m. today in McCain Auditorium
- KSU Environmental Professionals will meet at 7 p.m. today in
- Minority Assembly of Students in Health will meet at 5 p.m.
- today in Union 204. ■ American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 1:30
- p.m. today in Ackert 120. K-State Students for Slattery for Governor will meet from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. today in Ackert 205. There will be a discussion on

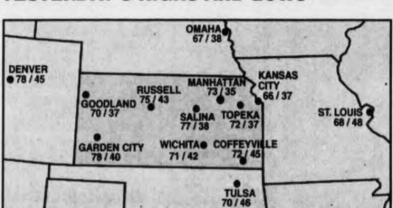

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage is paid at

Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State

Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan, 66506-7167, how to write letters to the editor.

WEATHER YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

Mostly cloudy in the southeast with a chance for showers. Mostly sunny across the rest of the state with highs around 70.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK Sunny with a high around 70 and a low around 55.

Partly sunny with a high in the lower 70s.

For less than a dollar a day, both will give you the power you need to survive this semester.

With an Apple Computer Loan, it's now easier than ever to buy a Macintosh personal computer. In fact, with Apple's special low interest and easy terms, you can own a Mac" for as little as $23 per month! Buy any select Macintosh now, and you'll also get something no other computer offers: the Apple student software set. It includes a program designed to help you with all aspects of writing papers. A personal organizer/calendar created specifically for students (the only one of its kind). And the Internet Companion to help you tap into on-line resources for researching your papers. It even includes ClarisWorks, an integrated package complete with database, spreadsheet, word processing software and more. All at special low student pricing. With an offer this good, it's the best time ever to discover the power every student needs. The power to be your best."

POWER throughtt.

Come to the K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE for a Great Selection of Apple Computers!

Shop at the Store that Gives Back to You!

Linda Uthoff, artistic director, Clark Balderson, board of directors member, and Terry Thibodeau, executive director, stand in front of the Columbia Theater's stage in the ballroom. The theater in Wamego features six large paintings dated from the 1893 World's Fair in Chicago. The theater has recently undergone total renovation. When the renovation is done, the paintings will be in a climatecontrolled area.

DARREN WHITLEY

Columbia comes alive

CHRISTI WRIGHT

The long-awaited completion of the Columbian theater in Wamego, is approaching, and the town is preparing for the grandopening celebration.

The theater was built in 1895 by J. C. Rogers, a local banker. Rogers named the theater the Columbian because he filled its walls with memorabilia from the Columbian Exposition at the 1893 Chicago World's Fair.

The Columbian Exposition was a celebration of the 400th anniversary of Columbus' discovery of the new world. Rogers bought many various works of art at an auction after the fair, including many large mural paintings.

The first event at the theater was a New Year's Eve-party in 1895 organized by the Ladies Progressive Club. Woodward Colored Band provided the entertainment for a crowd of about 900 people.

"That event set the stage for all the things to come at the Columbian," Ray Morris, executive director of the Columbian Theater Foundation,

During the Columbian's 30 years of business, it served as a dance hall, auditorium, movie theater for silent and talking movies and reception center for local parties and meetings.

World War II brought about many changes in the country, and many small-town institutions shut down. In 1950, the Columbian closed its doors.

The Columbian didn't receive much attention again until the late 1980s. Wamego's Main Street Committee checked into the Columbian theater in an attempt to remove the boards from the windows that face the street. The committee discussed the idea of remodeling the theater and one day reopening it.

The renovation project officially started in fall 1989, when a corporation formed by people in the community bought the building. After several town meetings, the community expressed an interest in participating in the fine arts and having the theater in town.

A feasibility and marketing study was conducted to estimate the cost of the project.

'We first estimated to spend around a quarter of a million dollars on the theater," Morris

Wamego theater makes its longawaited debut

"The engineers said the theater There were doubts that a small would cost between $1.3 and $1.5 community with about 3,800 people could raise $1 million, million," he said. Since the original estimation, Morris said.

"So far, the community has the project has expanded, and Morris said there will be about $2 donated a little over $1 million, million invested in the renovation. and we have received about The foundation has raised $500,000 in grants," Morris said. The group of 35 directors is most of the money needed to responsible for the majority of finish the theater but has not monetary gifts. "All the directors together have given about $1 million," Morris said. The foundation has received many monetary donations, but ■ See VOLUNTEERS Page 12

Fun Starts at 9 p.m. OVER 1000 JIMMY BUFFET & CORONA PRIZES-FREE!!

CD'S, T-SHIRTS, HATS, CUPS ETC...

Why Don't We Get Drunk!

Coronas Margaritas Wasted Again In Margaritaville Huskers on Saturday!

S Coors Light KSU Pep Rally $150 Tall Boy Coors Light & Coors Prizes (On Back Patio) Let's SMASH the

No Cover, Never Had It, Never Will

we've been there before; we'll be there again reached the $2 million mark.

"Right now, we have about $1.75 million," Terry Thibodeau, the foundation's development director, said. "We plan to get the remaining quarter of a million dollars through fundraising and

WE'RE BACK!

I/ Ctata Calin

Oct. 13 from 9-5 p.m. in Technological Building's Conference Room

rganizations

Oct. 12-Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. Monday-Thursday in McCain 324

Thursday, Oct. 13

KSSSLHA 6:00 p.m. Society of Women Engineers 6:20 p.m. Union Governing Board 6:40 p.m. Alpha Kappa Psi 7:00 p.m. AISES/NASB 7:20 p.m. NULEOA 7:40 p.m. Collegiate 4-H 8:00 p.m. College of Education Council 8:20 p.m. Ag. Tech. Mgt. Club 8:40p.m. & 9:00 p.m. KSDB Executive Staff 9:20 p.m. Alpha Epsilon Delta 9:40 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

"You know, I hate to admit it, but I think he's done it pretty well." -former Republican Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger said on Wednesday.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Voting gives students voice in local affairs

K-State has 20,000 students. If all of them voted, the student body as a group would wield significant political power in Manhattan and Riley County.

Another reason students should register to vote is that the University has been annexed into the city of Manhattan and is therefore within the city limits.

This means that even students living in the residence halls are in the city. It also means that decisions made by the city commission will more directly affect the campus and the students, so governmental bodies need to hear what students have to say.

It is blatantly hypocritical for people to complain about the actions of the government if they have not voted.

Before students start criticizing the government, they need to get involved in the election process.

Elected officials are also more likely to listen to opinions of registered voters.

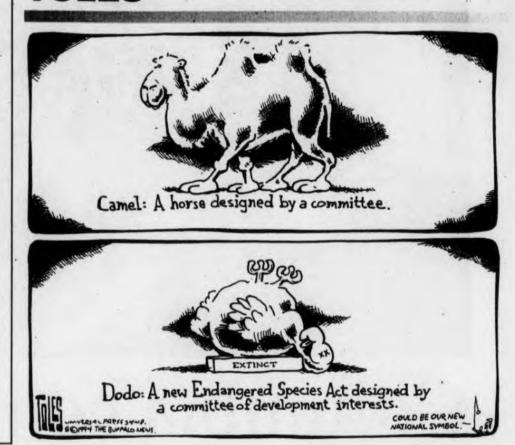

If they know you are registered, you send them the message that you care enough to take action.

You're not just whining to them without taking any responsibility.

Students have no excuse not to register. It's free and painless.

You don't even have to declare a party if you don't want to.

Just go to one of the 20 places in Riley County where you can register, including the Office of Student Activities and Services in the K-State Union before the deadline on Oct. 24, and vote on Nov. 8.

Dishwashings replace need for paper money

You don't realize it yet, but as a poor, sleep-deprived, homework-laden college student, you actually have it made. Because once you graduate and get a job, marry, buy a home, have children, and thus reach what is generally considered the pinnacle of happiness and success, you will find that you are 100 times more in debt, sleep-deprived and overworked.

But you are happy. Life is good, because sometimes on frequently occurring, multiple, compounded twice daily special occasions, your spouse and kids will even let you have some of THEIR extra work. This is commonly referred to as DIVISION OF LABOR and, as it applies to men, is a lopsided theory largely based upon the time-honored Roman tradition of selecting slaves over perfectly good horses to carry large, heavy objects long distances across rough terrain. In a nutshell, this explains why women traditionally delegate men the task of taking out the trash and following the dog with a pooper-scooper on early morning jaunts. This of course leaves women to do the difficult, labor intensive, highly intellectual chore of scouring women's magazines for moneysaving coupons while spending most of the time reading marriage enrichment articles like "How To Train a Man To Not Pick His "Breast Implants: Will They Explode At High Altitudes?

CAUTION TO READER: Marital* divisions of labor ultimately digress into a no-holds-barred, black-market bartering system with profound (but as yet unknown) consequences on the gross national product and other disgusting manufactured items.

Husband: OK, I'll trade you two trash for four dishwashings.

Wife: Make it one trash for five dirtydiaper changes Husband: FIVE DIRTY DIAPER CHANGES, ARE YOU

CRAZY? DO I LOOK LIKE DONALD TRUMP? DO YOU THINK TRASH CARRIERS GROW ON TREES? Make it one trash and two doggy-poop scoops for four dishwashings, and NO

SEABOURN

Wife: Ha! Two dishwashings and three dirty diaper changes that's my final offer.

Grocery clerk: That will be $16.23, sir.

Husband: Will you take two dishwashings and three dirty

What little hard currency you DO have (that does end up getting spent on essential children's household items like Mutant Dinosaur Eggs With Edible Embryos) makes for numerous congenial discussions not unlike those that occur at congressional budget hearings or high-level international diplomatic meetings: Me: "That's MY money.

My Wife: "No, it's MY money."

Me: "MY MONEY!" My Wife: "MY MONEY!"

much hair I actually have left).

Both: "MYMONEYMYMONEYMYMONEYMYMONEY ..." These situations are usually resolved by one of us throwing sand in the other's hair, grabbing the money and then running as fast as possible out of the sandbox. This explains why I always read personal junk mail offering ways to get rich - it gives me something to do while I pick sand out of my hair (which is not too difficult when you consider how

The latest get-rich scheme I received in the mail is from Harold W. Gourgues Jr., from Des Moines, Iowa, and is touted as "the surest, safest way to get rich." It is called the "Get Rich Slowly" scheme and costs $270 for the complete course. Not surprisingly, Mr. Gourgues Jr. from Des Moines, Iowa, "became a millionaire 14 years ahead of schedule and is now dedicated to helping others achieve financial independence." Now, I have heard of many getrich schemes. There is the "Get Rich Selling Expensive, Useless Cleaning Products" scheme, the "Get Rich Selling Get-Rich Schemes to Others" scheme and the highly regarded "Get-Rich Stuffing 10 Billion Envelopes" scheme, but never a "Get Rich Slowly" scheme. Personally, I would prefer to get rich as fast as possible under the present circumstances (the value of a single dirty-diaper change is rising quickly on the black market). However, I decided to respond to the generous offer by Mr. Harold W. Gourgues Jr., from Des Moines, Iowa, with an offer of my own. One dirty-diaper change for the complete course on how to "Get Rich Slowly," AND THAT'S MY FINAL OFFER. I recently received notice that Mr. Harold W. Gourgues Jr., from Des Moines, Iowa, gladly accepted my offer. Now there's a man who knows the value of a dirty-diaper change.

Delcie Arnett freshman in elementary education

Friend grew tired of being ashamed

Coming Out Day, a time when gays and lesbians are invited to "come out of the closet" and be honest with themselves and their respective worlds about their sexuality.

This day takes me back to when I was attending Trenton State College in New Jersey. TSC has a residence-hall floor known as The Pit. It's one of the only allmale floors on the campus, and the one with the most notorious reputation. Living there was an honor, and surviving the floor antics was an accomplishment. With legends of Volkswagens and motorcycles in its hallway, The Pit was the coolest place for a guy to live at TSC.

I had friends on the floor before I had even graduated high school. I had hoped to live there once I started college in the fall of 1989, but it was not to be. Luckily, an acquaintance who lived in The Pit told me he needed a roommate for the spring

Last Tuesday was National semester. I jumped at the chance to could be. move in with him so I could be around the other guys I knew in The

> My new roommate (let's call him Paul) was pretty cool. He let my girlfriend and me have the room to ourselves, he supported me when I broke up with her, saved me money by offering his automotive expertise with the repairs I had to do on my heap of a car, and gave me rides when the car finally met its demise. He also had an awesome stereo and TV.

I eventually noticed that Paul exhibited classic symptoms of depression. He usually overslept and missed class, he smoked and drank by himself a lot, and he didn't join in any of The Pit's sports or hallway antics. He was a nice guy, but he had some problems he was keeping to himself.

No one in The Pit seemed to like Paul, which was unusual for such a fraternal floor. Their disdain for Paul eventually was directed at me. too. but no one would say why they didn't

One day, I came back from class and saw that our door had been torched. No one would say who had done it or why. I was told, however, that it was done to harass Paul, not me. I couldn't understand the animosity toward Paul. He was depressed, and he kept to himself, but he wasn't half the jerk those guys

► ARMY

Dear Editor,

There's a reason for excluding gays

In the Army, there is a saying. There are two ways of doing things. The right way and the Army way. On Wednesday, you ran a column that accused the ROTC program of being unfair and wrong in their discrimination against those who, are openly gay. You are right. It is discrimination and for the most part it is wrong, but there is almost always a reason to the Army way. The reason is simple. When you join the Army, you are joining their Army. What this means is that the individual must conform to the group. The group will not conform to the individual. If you want to join us, you have to be like us. Or, as another Army saying goes, there is no "I" in the Army. You might say that the Army allows women and minorities, why not open gays. The reason is the difference between birth and choice. Women and minorities are born the way they are and have no choice in the matter.

Open gays can and do make a choice to be the way they are. The argument that gays are born that way is silly. I was born with homicidal tendencies. That does not give me the right to kill

In the fall of 1990, I chose another roommate and lived in another dorm because I didn't want the cold treatment the guys in The Pit had given me for being Paul's friend. I lied and gave him another reason for moving out. We remained friends nonetheless. In October of 1990, right after my birthday, Paul sat down in front of me at the dining table with a tray full of slop and his usual four glasses of milk and blurted out that he was gay and was tired of being ashamed of it. He said he was going to a psychiatrist for his depression and drinking problems and was using Prozac. He looked like a new person, like he was on top of the world that had once been on his shoulders.

He looked and felt happy for the first time in his life because he was finally honest with himself and everyone else about who he really

My barely 20-year-old sensibilities and prejudices were challenged. I had partied with, slept in boxer shorts in the same room as, and put new brake pads on my car with help from a gay guy. I had shared a room with a homosexual for a semester and never suspected it.

These realizations upset my common but ignorant assumptions about homosexuality. Then I realized that Paul wasn't just gay. He was also a friend who needed and deserved my

The guys in The Pit, Paul told me, had suspected he was homosexual all along. They had harassed him and all of his roommates to try to get him to move out.

My college experience even as a straight person was marred because of homophobia.

Paul never let his sexuality compromise our friendship. He certainly had never attacked me or come on to me even in the subtlest of ways. He retained my respect. The guys in The Pit who I thought were so cool lost it.

I eventually went, at my request, to a gay and lesbian bar with him just to see what it was like. I also spoke, at his request, to a couple hundred people at a gay support group meeting in Morristown, N.J., on National Coming Out Day 1991.

I reminded them then, and I remind you now that life is too short to live up to other people's limited expectations.

Define yourself only with guidance from your Higher Power. Find your peace. Live well. Don't let anyone or anything, including yourself, block your path to bliss.

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in radio/television.

"Rape is a but this speaker's figures just

DAVID S. ROGERS

Graduate student in computer science terrible crime,

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ HOMOSEXUALITY

Bibles says lifestyle is a sin Dear Editor,

Last Monday night I went to the "Is Homosexuality a Sin?" lecture, and I am really upset about two things. The first thing that bothered me was the fact that the lecture was very one sided. Basically, what happened was two clergy persons came in and said, "Homosexuality isn't a sin, and it's OK." Why wasn't there a spokesman there to tell the truth-- homosexuality is a sin. Thanks to a gentleman in the audience, the truth was heard. I guess there was a spokesman for the truth. He just wasn't up front, where he belonged.

The other thing that really upset me was the fact that those two clergy persons said that because Jesus never talked about homosexuality, then it wasn't a sin. God tells us several times in the Bible that homosexuality is a sin. Do we ignore the word of God and say it's OK, because Jesus doesn't talk about it? I think

"God tells us several times in the Bible that homosexuality is a sin."

> Freshman in elementary education not. So, the next time someone asks, "Is homosexuality a sin?" show him/her Leviticus 18:22 and he/she will know the answer ... YES! IT IS A SIN!

DELCIE ARNETT

people or expect society to forgive me or accept me. In conclusion, I would like to say that if you want to understand the Army or criticize the Army, you need to join the Army. Without going through what we go through, you will never know why we do the things we do. Jared Seery freshman in chemical engineering

RAPE

Speaker's statistics don't make sense Dear Editor,

I'm writing about the article "Speaker helps dispel rape myths." It is clear to me that the speaker has no concept of logic and made grossly incorrect statements. How is it possible that I of four women are raped during their college years and only two or three are reported in Manhattan each year? There are about 10,000 women going to school here, and let's suppose that college years means four. That works out to 625 rapes a year at KSU! If even 10 percent of all those rapes were reported (that's the lowest estimate for reporting that I can find from my feminist friends), that means that 62 should be reported every year. She has overstated the rape problem at least 30 times. Our supposed myth don't add up." dispeller is handing out her own myths.

Common sense tells us the speaker had an agenda, and she was there to support it. Not to clear up myths, but instill her own. She is here to breed fear and mistrust between the sexes. Did she quote the study that came up with these ridiculous numbers? Can't the Collegian sift out the obvious falsehoods she spreads?

She says that rapes are not misreported more than any other crime. However, one-third of rape convictions that are challenged with DNA testing result in an overturn of the conviction. Where does she come up with this bogus reporting stat?

Rape is a terrible crime, but this speaker's figures just don't add up. I'd take everything she said with a barrel of salt.

David S. Rogers graduate student in computer science

► RELIGION

5 pillars of Islam support peace

"There are people who are wicked, and there are people who are nice and sacrifice themselves for others. The nice will get happiness and enjoyment from the inside. The wicked will be held accountable for what they've done."

HAMED GHAZALI

vice president of the Islamic society of North America

All people have the choice to make the world a better place to live in.

This was the theme of a speech given by Hamed Ghazali, vice president of the Islamic Society of North America. Ghazali spoke about Muslim beliefs to a small, diverse crowd Wednesday night in the K-State Union.

The presentation, sponsored by the Muslim Community Association, was the second in a series of four. It was titled "The Purpose of Life."

Ghazali began by reviewing the five pillars of Islam.

The first pillar is the faith declaration. "This means that you believe in God (Allah) and Muhammad as the prophet," Ghazali said.

The second pillar is prayer.

"A Muslim should establish a fiveprayer minimum per day," Ghazali said. The third pillar is fasting during the month of Ramadhan.

"Muslims believe that everyone should have to suffer in this world. It is an essential part of testing human beings to find out if they are worth being called human beings," Ghazali said.

The fourth pillar is zakat, or paying

"Every year, whatever money one has that he has not touched for a year, it is an obligation to give 2.5 percent of that sum to charity," Ghazali said.

The fifth pillar is a Mecca pilgrimage. "Every Muslim must make one lifetime trip here, if it is physically and financially possible," Ghazali said.

Ghazali talked about two important teachings of the Qura'n, the basic source of Islamic teachings and law.

"One, and probably the most important, is that we should make the earth a beautiful living place. This is considered pure worship and involves all aspects of life. The other is that this life is a test to see who deserves to be called a human being, and then be rewarded," Ghazali said.

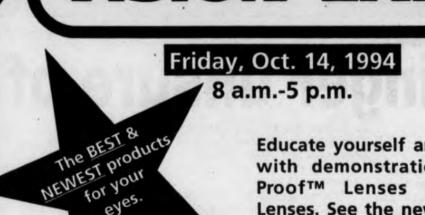

There are people who are wicked, and there are people who are nice and sacrifice themselves for others. The nice will get happiness and enjoyment from the inside. The wicked will be held accountable for what they've done," Ghazali said.

Ghazali went on to speak about how Muslims believe they will be granted salvation.

"First, you must have the mercy and love of God. Second, you must have the correct belief about God and the pillars. Third, we are judged by our deeds,'

"Our philosophy of life includes everything. Removing a stone from the street, smiling at someone, going to school, anything we do in life is considered worship," Ghazali said.

In closing, Ghazali said, "Love your neighbor, help others, be a good person. Don't get into this punishment thing or blaming others for everything wrong. Why don't you just help others?"

Educate yourself and your eyes with demonstrations on Kid-Proof™ Lenses and Safety Lenses. See the newest looks in Sports Eyewear and the latest Flexible Frames!

5 p.m. Drawing for 2 FREE tickets

to KSU VS.

 $g_{ame}$

Special Video-Imaging shows you how you would look with different colored eyes! We have the newest in tinted contact lenses (even occasional-wear tints).

40% Off Retail SUNGLASSES

See our special Kansas State Purple Sunglasses (official Power Cat logo).

Also: Giveaways: T-shirts, KSU sunglasses, prescription ski goggles, soccerball, etc.

Drs. Price, Young, Odle, Horsch, P.A. And Associates • Optometrists 1-800-675-1128

3012 Anderson • Manhattan, KS 66502 • (913) 537-1118

A Little Space Can Say A Lot! Collegian Advertising 532-6560 Westloop

Coin -A- Matic 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. 539-2131 1129 Gardenway

Student Discount!

Nautilis Fitness Center 11th & Moro 776-1654

· EYEWEAR FOR LESS · EYEWEAR FOR LESS ·

THURSDAY NIGHT SPECIALS $4.25 PITCHERS OF PURPLE BEER $1.75 BOTTLES

OPEN AT 11 A.M.

COME EARLY FOR A GOOD SEAT

OPENING AT 8 A.M. SATURDAY FOR PRE-GAME WARM-UP!

2413 Stagg Hill Rd. 776-6699

Bisexual, Gay, and Lesbian Society Coming Out, Coming Home Conference

Thursday, Oct. 13

Wear green to express your support of equal rights in marriage/parenthood.

Noon-1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session "Understanding Homosexual Relationships"

Gay, Lesbian, and bisexual relationships can be special, meaningful and long-lasting partnershps. Understanding the diversity in these relationships is the first step in moving toward acceptance and celebration of these relationships. Presented by Brenda S. Hanger, LSCSW, ASCW, Manhattan

9:30-10:30 p.m. at Revolutions Bar and Club, 902 West 7th, Junction City Lesbian guitar player, Jess Hawks, will be performing an assortment of modern rock, country and pop songs.

Friday, Oct. 14

Wear black in memory of losses incurred by bigotry and intolerance.

Noon-1 p.m. Union 212 Brown Bag Lunch Session

Being gay and a member of a social fraternity or sorority can be difficult for both the person and Greek chapter. Come hear stories of two individuals who lived this dualistic role and the challenges they overcame. Presented by Frank A. Axell, second-year graduate student in College Student Personnel and Shel L. Barry, fifth-year architecture student.

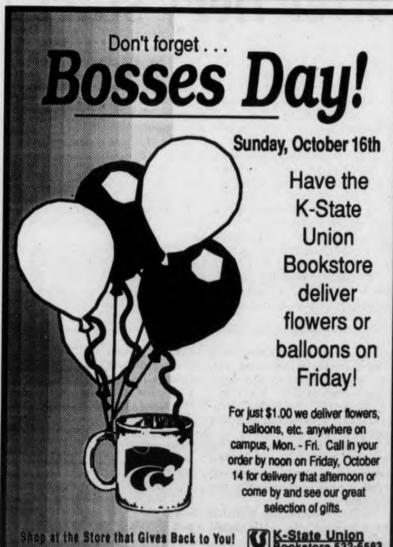

8 p.m. Purple Masque Theatre in East Stadium "Straight Girl"

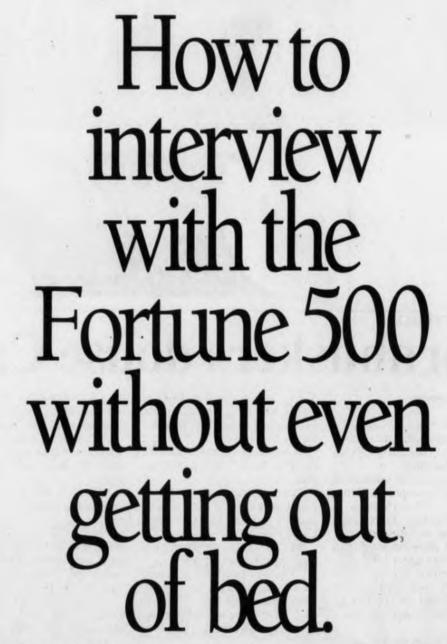

This one-act comedy focuses on sexuality and relationships. Written by Sarah Kanning.

Saturday, Oct. 15

7 p.m.-2:30 a.m. at Revolutions Bar and Club, 902 West 7th St., Junction City "Family and Friends Night" Come join our conference wrap-up celebration! Door prizes, including comedy tickets and t-shirts, will be given away. $2 cover. No cover before 10 p.m.

OK, graduate-to-be. You can get up early or you can get Career/NET.™ It's simple: You give us your resumé in a personal profile on the disk we provide. And we guarantee to deliver it to 10,000 employers (including the Fortune 500) in exactly the form they're looking for. Your Career/NET enrollment kit—a preprogrammed disk and a booklet of step-by-step instructions—is $99.95* To be in the next nationwide distribution to employers, order today. Call 1-800-682-8539.

Career NET

*Plus $4.95 for shipping and handling

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Berringer unsure of playing status

LINCOLN. Neb. Uncertainty over Nebraska's quarterback situation has Brook Berringer, Matt Turman and Clester Johnson anxiously waiting.

All three players at No. 2 Nebraska say they are ready for whatever comes when the Cornhuskers travel to Manhattan on Saturday to take on No. 16 K-State (4-0).

Berringer, backup to injured star quarterback Tommie Frazier, is waiting to hear whether his left lung will have repaired itself enough to let him play. Meanwhile, he deals with X-rays and uncertainty.

Turman is waiting to hear whether Berringer will be well enough to take the helm or if he has to step in. Meanwhile, he deals with excitement and uncertainty. "I grew up here in Nebraska.

always dreamed about coming to Nebraska and playing. And it is kind of a dream come true," Turman said Tuesday.

Uncertainty has been the name of Nebraska's game since Frazier was sidelined two weeks ago with recurring blood clots in his right

No. 3 quarterback is Johnson, a second-team wingback who last played quarterback three years ago. Johnson was recruited as a quarterback, but the junior moved to defensive back and then wingback his first season at Nebraska.

"It's kind of a surprise, but I'm ready to take on the challenge," Johnson said Wednesday. "I kind of like the pressure of a big game."

"I want to play," Berringer said, who led the Cornhuskers (6-0) to a 42-32 win over Wyoming with 131 yards passing, 74 yards rushing

I've lived here all my life, and I've and three touchdowns."If there's Turman helped any way they'll let me play, I want to play.

But doctors, family and coaches will have to decide by game day what is best for Berringer and what is best for the team. "Unfortunately, those two may not coincide," Berringer said. His lung is damaged like a finger might be cut and needs time to repair itself, Berringer said.

The lung is X-rayed every day,

It's not life-threatening, but reinjuring it could lengthen the cut and slow the healing time, he said.

Turman, a sophomore walk-on who coach Tom Osborne has described as a player who doesn't look like anything but seems to get the job done, said the team gained confidence in him when he took over in the second half last week against Oklahoma State.

Nebraska was ahead 9-3, and Cornhuskers to a 32-3 win. Osborne hasn't said a great deal to him, Turman said.

"Nothing really like a pep talk or anything, he just told me to be ready, be prepared for the game," Turman said.

The Cornhuskers will face an undefeated K-State, a team that is coming off a 21-13 win over arch rival Kansas.

The Wildcats have Big Eight standout Chad May, who last year threw a conference record 489 vards against Nebraska on 30 of 51 completions. K-State lost that game 45-28.

"I wouldn't consider it myself against Chad May," Turman said. There are 21 people out in the field besides the quarterback, and they all have a role to do. With the supporting cast that I'd have around me on offense, I think we'd be able to move the ball."

Clearly, it's the supporting cast the Cornhuskers are counting on to lead them through their quarterback difficulties.

SHUTTLE AVAILABLE ON GAME DAYS

Parking Services and Bramlage Coliseum are offering a park-and-ride shuttle during football game days. The shuttle will be routed from the West Stadium parking lot at Denison and Anderson avenues and from the Weber lot at McCain Lane and Mid Campus Drive. It will begin operating 2-1/2 hours before kickoff and will be available after the game for the return trip. Cost is $3 per vehicle for parking and $1 per passenger for the shuttle service.

Running back Lawrence Phillips has rushed for 1,006 yards in six games and carried the ball a career-high 33 times for a careerhigh 221 yards against Oklahoma

The offensive line is big and talented, and the defense is quick.

Phillips said the whole team will have to step up its efforts in light of the quarterback situation, and he expects the Huskers to go to him more.

But the sophomore said he's never been injured in a ballgame and, he likes to carry the ball more than 18 or 19 times a game.

You start getting into it a lot more when you carry 30 or 35 times," Phillips said.

"You get a chance to wear the defense down."

► COLUMN Media protected from fans

So far, my time as a Collegian sports reporter has been exciting and enjoyable.

I've met various coaches and players from the Big Eight Conference, interviewed a couple of professional athletes and attended some of the best collegiate ballgames around.

But as I discovered Thursday night at the KU football game, behind the glamour and excitement of covering college athletics, life as a sports reporter involves certain hazards. Let me explain.

When I first found out that my assignment for the KU game was to mingle among the fans and do a, as I like to call it, "Velveeta-cheese" story for the paper, I was a bit disappointed. It was my birthday, and I wanted to be where the big boys were, up in the pressbox.

Call me a wimp, call me pampered, but by now, I'm used to life in the nice, warm pressbox, where sportsinformation staffers cater to your every need with statistics, briefs and beverages.

But after some thought, I changed my attitude. I'd go out where the fans were, get some killer quotes and get caught up in the "real" atmosphere of the game. Who knew that I could have used a police escort for this undertaking. The evening started out harmlessly enough. I interviewed a sweet but intoxicated K-Stater who had painted his chest in the hopes of appearing on good. I then made my way up the stairs of

ESPN. So far, so

Memorial Stadium, constantly looking around for those fans who could give me those killer quotes.

NICOLE

POELL

That's when some guy - I don't even know if he was a Jayhawk or a Wildcat - grabbed, not brushed, but grabbed my rear as I was heading up the steps. He was gone before I could give him my death stare.

OK, so I was a bit shaken, but forged ahead, fully intent on completing my mission.

I decided I needed to get away from the stands for awhile, so I ventured over to the infamous Hill, hoping to run into some nice, harmless K-State students who wouldn't give me a hard

I picked the wrong group of students. They looked friendly enough, actually, a bit too friendly. As I attempted to get their insights about the game, I also got their insights about how I looked and what they all wanted to do later.

After that ordeal, I was ready to talk to some older, mature fans who, sure, may not be as exciting, but would hopefully be a little bit more refined. Who was I kidding?

The first KU alumnus I approached wasn't terribly hostile as I innocently asked him how it felt to be losing to K-State late in the fourth quarter. His friend, however, was a bit upset, and didn't hold back.

"Listen here, missy, you guys are on third down, and this game ain't over yet," he said.

"This guy's sucking up to you just because you're hot - I don't care how cute you are, your team still sucks. Print that in your paper, baby!" he Needless to say, the tape recorder went off at that point. With tears in my eyes, I politely said, "Thanks for your time," and finally left, just wishing that this whole night would end. After cranking out my story by 11:15 p.m., it was all over. We had won the game, but I felt as if I'd been through hell and back. I did come away from the entire experience with a couple of new insights. One, forget the total fan experience - I will never leave the safe confines of the pressbox ever And two, what do you get when you hit a drunk KU fan on the head with a tape recorder? Instant bleep.

Devon Ryning, freshman setter, pins the ball against the net during K-State's match against Nebraska Wednesday. The Wildcats took a game from the Cornhuskers for the first time since 1987. TODD FEEBACK

▶ VOLLEYBALL

Cornhuskers douse Cats after fiery start

CRESTON KUENZI Collegian

K-State women's The volleyball team sent a message to the rest of the Big Eight Conference last night. The Wildcats took undefeated

Nebraska to four games before losing 15-13, 2-15, 5-15 and 6-15. The Cornhuskers showed from the beginning why they are 16-0. The tall and powerful team used crushing kills to take a 3-9 lead.

The hustling, scrappy Cats clawed back with diving saves and big blocks to fly by the surprised Cornhuskers to take a

After two errors by the Cats to make the score 14-13, Yolanda after a long rally. At game point, Jill Dugan blocked a Cornhusker for the 15-13 win.

It was only the third time the Huskers have lost a game this

"I truly felt deep down that we could beat them if we blocked, and we did that in game one," Coach Jim Moore said.

Moore said he was not satisfied after the first game.

"The kids said for a long time all we want to do is take a game from Nebraska," Moore said. "I said 'I don't care whether we take a game from Nebraska, I want to

However, in the second game,

Young scorched one on the line the Cats looked out of sink and overmatched. The Cornhuskers dominated in a 15-2 victory.

"We tried to relax, but I think we relaxed too much," Dugan said. "We didn't keep going after them."

Moore said he was not surprised by Nebraska's relentless

"It's a sign of a good team when they get beat, they come back and hammer you," Moore said. "They were coming after us big time, and I knew they would."

The Cornhuskers once again jumped out with the early advantage in the third game at 5-0. After the Cats made the score 5-2, the Cornhuskers took over

In the fourth game, the Cats spotted the Cornhuskers a 2-10 lead. The Cats made it interesting, but the Cornhuskers were just too tough, and the Cats fell, 15-6.

Moore said he disappointed with the loss.

"I truly believe the only reason we didn't come out of here as winners was that we played not to lose," Moore said. "If we're going to upset somebody like that, we have to play to win.'

Dugan said she thinks they have a good chance of beating the Cornhuskers in Lincoln, Neb.

We can play with any top-10 team in the country," Dugan said.

"When Nov. 2 rolls around, they Canyon cruised to the team title better watch out.

year's game.

to get 10 points.'

tonight," Moore said.

"If we can become more

Young said she can tell a big

"The thing that I'm proud difference between this year's game with Nebraska and last about is that we're all upset that we didn't beat them," Young said. "Last year, we were happy found a dent in the Husker's beforehand that Nebraska is a machine, but they're not unbeatable, and we proved that

Moore said his team may have

"The kids were saying consistent, they're in trouble.'

Other K-State players were Totler Miller, who finished in a 36th-place tie with a 232 (73-80-79). Chad Myers tied for 43rd with a score of 235 (77-79-79), while B.J. Walter rounded out the Cats' squad, finishing in a tie for 45th with a score of 236 (76-78-82).

▶ GOLF

Inexperienced team finishes 8th

A scaled-down K-State golf team finished in eighth place at the 1994 Sundance Steak House/Ram Invitational Golf Tournament conducted by Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colo. After winning the D.A.

weekend, K-State did not send its full squad to the Sundance

"I really don't know why we didn't play very well," Coach Mark Elliott said. "The course was perfect. The weather was perfect. It was a tournament to gain Weibring Invitational last experience at the collegiate level," Elliott said.

"It was a tournament that we played very bad in, and I'm going to need some players to improve before the spring season starts in March," Elliott said. "We usually have seven or eight solid players, but right now, I have about five."

K-State got a 13th-place finish from Scott Hovis, who tied with two other golfers shooting a threeround score of 223 (72-75-76). Finishing next for K-State was Max Pinney, who finished in a 33rd-place tie.

"It was a disappointing trip for the kids," Elliott said. "We basically have the next month off, so we wanted to play well in this tournament."

Pat Fry, of Wyoming, captured the individual title, while Grand with a score of 874 (296-282-296). Grand Canyon won the tourney by 13 strokes over runner-up Wyoming. Host Colorado State finished third.

> ZONING BOARD

Duplex plan sparks opposition

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

Collegian .

The Board of Zoning Appeals passed six of seven variances presented at the 7 p.m. meeting yesterday.

Eric Hodge's request was denied to allow a reduction of the minimum lot area from 7,500 square feet to 7,000 for a proposed duplex at Fremont and Fifth streets.

Many residents of the area attended the meeting in opposition.

"I don't feel it will go along with the architectural integrity of this neighborhood," Greta Bloomberg-Ellis, Manhattan resident, said.

Jan Borst, Manhattan resident, said she was concerned about preserving old neighborhoods, such as that in question.

"It's traditionally a blue-collar neighborhood," she said. "There are elderly people who have lived there longer than I am old."

Linda Glasgow, Manhattan resident, objected to the plan also.

"When this person says 'new construction practices,' maybe it's a code name for shoe box," Glasgow said.

Diana Hatch, Manhattan resident, said she was concerned about the population density increasing, as well as other factors, and requested it be denied.

"Denial should not be viewed as a hardship," Hatch said. "A singlefamily home could still be built."

Connie Hamilton, Board of Zoning Appeals chair, reminded board members and speakers the limits of their decision.

"There's very little we can do with design review," she said. "We cannot stray into whether or not it has a basement, whether it has air conditioning or not, if he's a good guy or bad guy.

"That goes into the character of the applicant, and that's not really in front of us," she said.

Hamilton, as well as the other board members, did not view the request needy of breaking the rules.

"There's too great a variance for the size of the lot," Hamilton said. Dan Upson, owner of the home at 1733 Cassell Road, asked for a variance to allow a reduction of the minimum front-yard setback for a proposed detached garage.

Some questions about Upson's plans included potential drainage problems, construction machinery taking already sparse parking space, and why Upson was not building an attached garage.

"The slope problem (next to the house) would make it more difficult, and there's no need," Upson said. "We prefer it this way."

Other considerations that were granted included a variance of 7 feet to clear a title, proposed home addition, minimum lot area and depth reduction and yard setbacks for commercial reasons.

Advertise in the Collegian 532-6555

Bobby T's

THURSDAYS

Burger & Beer Night

$1.75 Zimas 50¢ Zima Shots

• Free Jukebox • DISCO & DANCIN'

By CiCo Park Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

(for you!)

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

LONGHORNS

Tonight... George Strait ticket giveaways.

Four pair given away during:

"Biggest Buckle & Biggest Hair Contest"

25$ Draws

Rocky Mountain Oysters 7-10 p.m.

n. Bud Light Prizes & Giveaways

1115 Moro • Aggieville • 776-8770

OF ILES

Friday and Saturday, October 14 & 15
7:00 & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall

A. MARIACHI

8 p.m.
Thursday, Oct 13
7p.m. & 9:30 p.m.
Forum Hall

Friday, Oct 14 8 p.m. Little Theatre

MK-State Union
UPC Kelekloscope
Admission $1,75 with KSU ID

For more information, call the UPC Entertainment Line at 532-6570

DOWNTOWN WAMEGO

13MWZ

Vanderbilt's gives you one of the largest selection of men's 13MWZ jeans in the Midwest. Basic equipment for a western lifestyle. They're made of 100% cotton & 14 3/4 oz. heavyweight broken twill denim.

$49599 speg. retail:

Special Group

MEN'S & WOMEN'S ROPERS

Step into style of all-leather ropers! Nothing else bends and breaks-in quite like leather. Acme's realhide gives you uncompromising softness & value without the high price! Genuine full-grain cowhide. Comfortable semi-round toe, super cushion insole, Softflex sole and walking heel. 1ST QUALITY!

You're In The Book

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2)

$3.50 for faculty/staff

$4.25 for the public

AVAILABLE NOW

Get Yours in 103 Kedzie Hall

Questions? Call 532-6555

GRADUATION FAIR

Get the tassle with less hassle

DECEMBER GRADUATES

Wed, Oct 12 & Thurs, Oct 13
10 a.m. - 4 p.m. K-State Union Courtyard

Balfour

ARTCARVED

HERFF JONES

K-State Union Bookstore 532-6583

Shop at the store that gives back to you!

In Focus Kansas State Collegian 8 HAT GOES IN UST COME OUT October 13, 1994

Jeff Pendergraft checks the weight of one of the horses. Each horse's weight has to be recorded at the beginning and end of every session.

tudents in the animal science nutrition department do more than take fecal and urine samples from horses.

Jeff Pendergraft, graduate student in animal science and industry, is conducting a study to determine how well horses use various types of forage, or hay.

"The whole study is for producers," Pendergraft said. "This will give producers an idea of what they're feeding their horses."

Pendergraft is using six horses for his experiment: three quarter horses and three miniature horses. He said he is using two different sizes to determine a correlation between larger and smaller sizes of horses.

In his project, Pendergraft said he is using various maturity levels of four types of forage: fescue, alfalfa, brome and prairie. The horses will be fed a certain type of forage for 15 days.

Collection bags are buckled onto harnesses on the horses during the last five days. The bags are weighed empty, then put on the horses. They are then removed every six hours, weighed, and fecal samples are taken. The bags are then emptied, weighed and put on the horses again. Gloves are used to take the samples. Pendergraft said having to do this process for each horse takes a lot of time.

In addition, urine samples are taken once a day, and samples of uneaten forage are taken, Pendergraft said.

The samples are dried and tested for content, Pendergraft said. "We measure what goes in, and what comes out. The difference is what they utilize."

Between feeding sessions, the horses get a five-day rest period, he said. During this time, he said the horses are fed the best available feed.

Besides time spent feeding the horses, Pendergraft said that lab work must be done, and the horses must be exercised every day. One of these sessions proved to be interesting.

At the beginning of the semester, Pendergraft said the horses got out during one of their exercise sessions in Weber Arena. He said he lets them run loose in the arena, which has gates all the way around. He said he had let them out in the arena, and had gone back to clean their stalls. When he came back into the arena, the horses were gone, he said. The double doors on the west side of the arena were open, he said, and one of the big horses knows how to open the gates that surround the arena. He said he was relieved to find them in the supply area and not outside.

Pendergraft has four undergraduate students assisting him with the project. Kristi Shackelford, sophomore in animal science and industry, said she helps with chores, exercising the horses and doing lab work.

"I love it," Shackelford said. "I'm getting a lot of insight on how horses communicate among themselves

Matt Shackelford, junior in animal science, is also assisting Pendergraft. "Some people don't realize the importance of the work going on here," he said.

Pendergraft said the project will end in February. At the end of the project, he said he hopes to have an estimate relative feed value for horses for the various forage used. This will help producers decide which types of forage are the most cost-effective, and which provide the highest nutritional values.

> Pendergraft hooks up the harness for the collection bags to the miniature horses.

> Kristi Shackelford artificially digests fecal material to test it for crude protein.

PHOTOS BY MARK LEFFINGWELL STORY BY SOME JULIE KRAMER

Kristi Shackelford, sophomore in animal science, works on grinding up dried horse fecal matterinto a powder that can be tested for energy content.

Looking closely at a thermometer, Pendergraft reads the temperature change after "bombing" pelleted fecal material.

Traveling through the parking lot behind Weber Arena, the horses used in the study are taken out for some exercise every morning.

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

-7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

Truck Stop Love -9:30 p.m. at Snookie's.

The Flintstones" -7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

OCTOBER 13, 1994

▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER Ronald -ACROSS 40 Count's 2 Topping Tolkien 1 Chasm counter-Actress 5 Shilling 24 Chip in Turner part slangily 41 Forest 4 Airline a chip 25 Ollie's pal 8 Tater related 26 Growing 12 October 45 Automaker Part of a Santa abundantly stone 13 Mound 47 Mork's costume 27 Approval 6 Stick 14 Sagacious 32 College figure? planet 15 Author 49 Wheels of certificate Carla on "Cheers," 33 He took a Morrison fortune day off in 16 Timetable 50 At a prior 8 Benny a 1986 abbr. time 51 The word? 17 Estival Goodman's movie "kingdom" 35 On behalf 52 Jacob's desserts 18 Wild ass 9 Took part brother 36 Whatever 53 Means 20 Semiin a strike 10 Exploit amount aquatic mates 38 Demolweasel 54 Candle 11 - Moines 19 Pinkerton 22 Shrubs count ishes 39 "- no with large 55 Ohio nine Agency logo 21 B&B flowers DOWN ques-26 Singer-1 "You tions... actress My Head" 23 John 42 Workbench Lenya Solution time: 23 mins. 29 Aachen attachment 30 Stick with 43 "Diary of -Housea kick 31 Guitars'

CANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

32 Flop

35 "For

33 Ray type

34 — Diego

shame!

36 Isherwood

collaborator aunt 37 Skim over 48 Bad Yesterday's answer 10-13 water hairpiece

10-13 CRYPTOQUIP OKHHKF KWTS MKWL, KQEFIMKKN PKD DXTOKDN DSK EIEZFWL

NZXDK." "QZDDTLWTOKL Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHEN DISHONEST POLITICIAN GOT MARRIED, "HERE COMES THE BRIBE" WAS PLAYED.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: O equals K

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

► LIBERAL DUCK

ite his repeated efforts to explain things to her cookies and milk to the accursed

SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

CALVIN AND HOBBES

4 Strictly entre

Stern's handful

16 Bambi's

5 Isaac

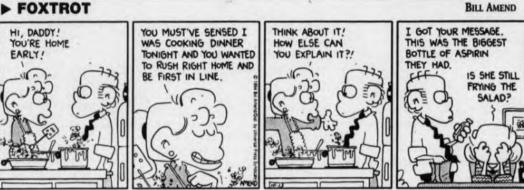

BILL WATTERSON

BILL AMEND

Giant fork flung from afar frightens a few readers

DEAR CASSIE. Duveaux

Dear Cassandra,

My friends and I have been walking by the huge fork-like object in front of King hall for six weeks now, and we are still confused because we don't know what it is exactly and/or what its purpose is. Could you please explain and enlighten us as to what it is, where it came from, and what symbolic meaning it has?

Thanks,

a T.B.S.

Dear a T.B.S.,

The fork belongs to Johnny Kaw, who resides in Manhattan's own City Park. You see, Johnny would have been a K-State alumnus if it hadn't been for a chemistry class he flunked back in the early 60's.

The department head made the mistake of telling the big guy during lunch. Johnny was so mad, he flung his silverware every direction. His spoon ended up in somewhere west of New Mexico, and his knife cut all the way to Atlanta. And his fork left such a hole in the earth, only a building could fill it. So they built King Hall in 1966 to fill in the eyesore Johnny had caused.

K-State decided to keep Johnny's fork displayed outside of King, though, as a symbol to all those people who don't pass their classes.

LIVE MUSIC

Truck Stop Love graces Snookie's

NOLAN SCHRAMM

All people who think that Manhattan's live music scene sucks should get off their butts and go see Truck Stop Love at Snookie's tonight.

Truck Stop Love, the first band from Manhattan to be signed to a major label, has recently been featured on the Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers tribute album with it's rendition of "Listen to Her

The band recently played at Worlds of Fun to a crowd of thousands of people, some of whom threw money at the band for T-shirts.

It even antagonized KU fans by playing in Lawrence last weekend after K-State thrashed the Javhawks.

A band with such a wonderful history cannot be

It all began on Halloween night in 1991, when the band was really born, Brad Huhmann, bass gui-

"I was dressed up as the Pillsbury Doughboy for our first practice," he said.

Eric Melin, drummer, and Rich Yarges, guitarist, are the two original founding members of Truck Stop Love.

Melin doubled as the drummer for the Moving Van Goghs before getting serious with TSL.

They were soon joined by Matt Mozier, guitarist/vocalist, and Huhmann on bass and vocals.

In 1993, the band gained favorable reviews and were signed to Scotti Bros., a national record label. They soon released it's self-titled EP.

The band's latest taste of flattery came with the release of the Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers tribute album, which features TSL, along with 11 other groups on their way to the top.

Melin, music director for KSDB-FM 91.9, said the album is doing well in college radio, and it should cross over into commercial radio next

"It's getting our name out so that people know who we are," he said.

The band is now writing material for its second release, which will be a full-length album, Melin

The new album will be recorded in Memphis, Tenn., and it should be released in January, he said.

In the meantime, Truck Stop Love is getting ready to tour the Midwest, hitting cities in Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Nebraska, just to name a few.

Tonight's show at Snookie's is being sponsored by KMKF-FM 101.5. Panel Donor will open for Truck Stop Love as part of K-Rock's Rocktoberfest

Panel Donor opened for Pavement and Polvo

Melin describes the band as unique, loud-guitar

TRUCK STOP LOVE

Truck Stop Love will play tonight at Snookie's in Aggieville at 9:30. Panel Donor will be the opening act.

Entry Deadlines VOLLEYBALL & INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

> October 13 5 p.m.

Rec Services Office • 532-6980

Friday, Oct. 14 All Faiths Chapel

Glee Clubs

8 p.m. Admission - $3

Tues.-Thurs. 11 a.m.-2 p.m. 4:30 p.m.-8 p.m.

Fri.-Sat. 11 a.m.-2 p.m. 4:30 p.m.-9 p.m.

CARRY OUT AVAILABLE CUISINE

James Milligan

COLUMBIA LAW SCHOOL

Dean of Admissions

Will conduct three informational meetings for prospective applicants

on Monday, Oct. 17 9:30-10:30 a.m. 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. 2:30-3:30 p.m.

Location: Room 203 Student Union

B4, 127, N36, G54, O69

STEFFANY CARREL

t's Monday night, and there is a hush in the filled-to-capacity room at the Manhattan Eagles Lodge.

The air is tinged with the smell of dozens of nervous cigarettes. Old and ragged coughs punctuate the tension.

And suddenly, it's over.

"N-45." "BINGO!"

Groans and sighs ripple around the room as the sixth bingo game of the night finds a

A floor worker scuttles over to the woman who yelled "bingo" and takes her upheld bingo card. He reads her numbers back to the announcer, who then proclaims, "We have a good bingo. Give that winner 20 dollars."

Bingo starts at 7:30 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays at the Eagles Lodge, with a total of 25 bingo games that are played each Beverly Wade, vice president of the Eagles, said that of those 25 games, 17 are games of regular bingo, five are special games, and three are paper card games.

"Now, regular bingo on the hard cards is the straight bingo or four corners, but the special games can be anything," Wade said.
"We have the bowtie, the plus or the X, the Indian Star, the T, the fireplace, the equal sign, the White Diamond - just anything you can imagine."

Regular games are played for winnings of $20, while the special games are worth $30, she said.

Now if two people win, the winnings are split between the two of them, but we'll only split it four ways," Wade said.

Some nights are busier than others here, she said.

"We have anywhere from 70 to 150 people in here on any given night," she said. "Fridays are busier. The first of the month is busier. And if the jackpots are high, that's when they really come.

Wade is from St. George and is what some could call a bingo expert.

She said she comes to the Eagles Lodge every Monday night and sometimes even Fridays.

"My husband works the floor on Monday, so I come," she said. "I just love

But bingo is surely not limited to this organization, as Mary Miller, also of St. George, can attest.

TODD FEEBACK/Collegian

Jack Woodard, Manhattan, calls out numbers during bingo at Eagles Lodge 2468. During the two hours of play, three people take turns calling. Woodard has been calling numbers at the Lodge for about 20 years. He said that avid bingo players become superstitious and consider a certain caller to be good luck.

I'd like to go: Salina. They have a $500 jackpot," she said. Spread out in front of Wade are several items crucial to her night's play. Each

"The American

on Wednesdays and

Legion has bingo

Sundays," Miller

said. "The Knights of Columbus has it on Tuesdays and

Sundays, and the

VFW has it on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.'

Nodding in agreement, Wade

Group with bingo

can play bingo

you when up north of Wamego."

Swiss

Steak

Bob's DINER

every day of the week," Wade said,

"and I can even tell

Junction's having it and Lewisville too.

Miller smiles

and leans forward.

"I tell you where on Saturday nights. "Basically, you said there's also the Christian Youth article is strategic in its placement. First, there are 12 bingo boards; or "hard cards" as she said she calls them, lined up just so to be kept track of.

"The hard cards cost a dollar each, and you can play on these all night," she said. "I play with 12 cards all the time, but any more is too expensive. Besides, I'm scared to go with 15. The boards are about 6 inches square and made of wood. Over each of the cut-out numbers, there is a little transparent red "window" that can be slid over a number when it is called.

To Wade's left is her much-frequented metal ashtray.

To her right is a half-full basket of fries and another basket of cooling fried buffalo

Beside the wings, there stand five different colors of bingo ink daubers and one carefully aligned glue stick. These items are for the paper card games.

The paper card games are played for higher stakes. Wade said.

"Each night, we have three games that are played on paper cards. You buy the paper cards for a dollar a set, and the sets have either three or four bingo cards on them, depending on the game," she said.

"The first paper card game is called 'Frame the Card,' and the winner gets half of the proceeds from the sale of the cards, usually about $100," Wade said.

For the "Frame the Card" game, the winner has to get all the edge numbers of the card, she said.

"That means all the B's, all the O's and two of the I's, N's and G's," Wade said.

"It's been, oh, two months ago when I got 86 bucks from 'Frame the Card,'" Wade said with a delighted twinkle in her eyes.

The second paper card game of the night is won by having all of your numbers covered, or having a "Blackout," she said.

"Now here with this game, they call 50 numbers for a prize of $300. If no one wins after 50 numbers, then the next night they call 51 numbers, and the pot goes up 15 dollars to $315," Wade said.

"It just keeps going up until someone wins it."she said.

And has Wade ever won the big jackpot? The highest I ever remember it getting was $450, and that night I won half of it,'

she said with satisfaction.

The third paper card game is really two games in one, Wade said.

"First, we go for a regular double bingo for $50 and then on for a full blackout for another $50," she said.

Mary Alice Hodgson, sophomore undecided, said she went to play bingo on a Friday night for the sake of trying something new.

"It's like a pre-activity to the evening," Hodgson said.

"It's over by 10 p.m., so instead of sitting around and being bored until then, you go play bingo to try and win some money," she said.

Hodgson said she could see herself going back to play again with certain restrictions "It was definitely addicting when you were there, so I'd go back, but I'd only take a certain amount of money I know it would be OK to spend."

To many of the regulars, playing bingo is all they need for entertainment, Wade

"It's a clean game," she said, "and it sure is better than drinking your money away at the bars.

MEN'S BASKETBALL 1994-95

WALK-ON TRY-OUTS

Sunday, Oct. 16 3:45 p.m. Ahearn Gym 532-6531

Refined yet relaxed atmosphere ·Daily Specials

Steak. Seafood, Pasta, Cajun BBQ, Oriental, & Southwestern  All major credit cards welcome Catering & Banquet Rooms ·Children's Menu

Banquet Rooms, Seating Up To 180

 Sunday Brunch Buffet 10:30 a.m. to 3p.m.

•TV's Televised Sports Coverage

 Club Keno, Kansas Lottery Open until 1 a.m. weekends (Closed 10 p.m.Sunday)

AAH AAA AX HBO  $\Sigma \Phi E$ AKA A $\Sigma \Phi$  KY HKA  $\Sigma \Sigma$ ATO ATA AXA HKO TKE

ΦΔΘ ΣΑΕ ΘΞ

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-8888

·All Parties Welcome

·Weddings, Receptions

Excellent Food and Service • Biggest & Best Margaritas in Town Over 20 Tequilas • Earn Your Degree at Tequila University · Sunday Brunch Special · Daily Specials Tex-Mex Southwestern Style • Hrs: Open 11 a.m. Every Day Closed 10 p.m. Sun-Thurs-11 p.m. Fri & Sat

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are ed. There is a $10 service charge

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad. HEADLINES

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ac

DEADLINES

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

PHONE 532-6555

532-7309

K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

UNION

PARKING

SOUTH OF THE

BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Tight on Cash?

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

> MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway

NABI

776-9177 Mon-Fri

FISHNET PANTYHOSE, Patricia's Undercover Lingerie. 1224 Moro, ZEN BUDDHIST Psychology/ Philosophy, Fri. Oct. 14, 7:30p.m., BH121, American Zen Priest Shoken Winecoff will Lecture and respond to 020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three FOUND: ONE season foot ball ticket in public place. Call Donna 776-9542 after 7p.m.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a per-G-PHI KELLEY B. I can't wait to play in the hay on Fri. I'll still try to "scoot some boots." But just promise not to shoot me like a lame horsel Luv, Adrian.

Meetings/ Events

tual support group for people who want to im-prove their public speaking skills. Also, an speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

TOASTMASTERS A mu-

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, BDCKERS II Catering.

Dances, bars, dinners,
Weddings, Alumni functions. Catering anywhere, discounts, Wareham, Days Inn, Houston Street. Call 539-9431.

HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

MOVING AWAY, must rent my part of two-bedmy part of two-bed-room, one bath apart-ment, large bedroom with walk-in closet, washer/ dryer, cable TV, nice neighborhood, covered parking, fully carpeted and furnished (if necessary) $225/ month olds shared utilimonth plus shared utili-ties 539-4137. QUIET SURROUNDING for

study. Studio or one-bedroom furnished or unfurnished. Some with utilities paid. Nine month lease, no pets. 539-4087. TWO-BEDROOM FUR

NISHED apartment, central air, all bills paid, including cable, $300, 537-0428.

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. AVAILABLE NOW, 1000 N.

Manhattan Ave. large, one-bedroom, washer and dryer hook up, offstreet parking, very nice $350 plus utilities 537-1940. ^^^^^

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL

> 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30 ****

Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. 776-3804. AVAILABLE OCT. 1, one-bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1854 Claflin $355, cen-tral air/ heat, laundry facilities. 776-3804. MANHATTAN

NOW

AVAILABLE

Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin. FOR RENT- Studio apartment, all utilities paid Please call Jared at 539 9507. LARGE, QUIET one-bedroom, living room, dining area, kitchen and bath with walk-in closet conveniently located to KSU, Aggieville and downtown, 537–7087.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804. TWO-BEDROOM BASE

MENT, remodeled, $390, bills paid. 539-8401. TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Ag-gieville and campus.

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention. 1005 Bluemont. $465.

Rooms

Houses

Wanted

9p.m.

$215 month, one block from campus. 537-1679. FEMALE TO share nice

HUGE HOUSE, own room (big). Next to campus, all bills paid, $225/ month. 587-9694.

four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct. rent free. 587-9327.

MALE OR female non-smoker. Own bedroom and bathroom, $200/ month plus one-half bills. Call Frank

NON-SMOKING FEMALE needed to share onethird bills, five minute walk from campus. 776-6184.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice area, available now, male/ female. Call Kelly (H) 776-3585, (W) 776-6612. WANTED NON-SMOKING cessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings).

Typing

20 words 5 days $8.50 KANSAS STATE

OLLEGIAN Classifieds

103 Kedzie 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. 532-6555

Central air/ heat. Water, trash paid. 776-3804.

CHRISTIAN FAMILY WOULD like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

NON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

Roommate

FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after sapartment, own room $175/ month. Call 539-0147.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately. Very nice apartment. Pool, patio, own room.

Available now or se mester. Two available. MALE NEEDED to share and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities.

Sublease

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spacious, modern. Balco-ny, 587-9394.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE LY, one room in three-bedroom house. One block from campus. Price negotiable. No de-posit. 532-9191. Leave

SERVICE DIRECTORY

Resume/

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordpro-

CUSTOM TYPING/ Word Processing/

REAL ESTATE

resumes. QUICK FiX offers services for the busy student. Reasonable rates, delivery available. Call 1-461-5846.

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

RESUME RESUME RE-SUME and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda, 776–3290.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

testing Totally confidential service

·Free pregnancy

 Same day results Call for appointment

Anderson Village Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Musicians/DJs

240

MUSICIANS WANTED for country band, experience needed. 587-1805.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repai Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hondas and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kansas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corpo rate scholarships and grants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back Call guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Glinton, M.D. Lawrence, (913)841-5716. SERVICES: INTERNATION

AL Students: DV-1 Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration. Greencards provide U.S. permanent resident status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed. For information and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168; (818)998-4425 Monday- Sunday 10a.m.-

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. peka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

1-800-FOR-AVON. money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext. COACHING ASSISTANT boy's basketball at Luck-ey Junior High. Oct. '94 through Feb. '95 apply at 306 South Juliette.

Deadline Oct. 26. CRUISE SHIP Jobs! Atten tion: Students earn $2000 plus monthly. Part-time/ full-time. World travel. Carri-bean, Hawaii. All positions available. No ex-perience. Call:

perience.4 (602)453-4651. HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time employment available. No ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682.

FAST FUNDRAISER- Raise $500 in five days-Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. IMMEDIATE POSITIONS available for hard working fast paced, customer oriented people. Positions open are grill/ 10:30a.m.-2p.m. or por ter MWF 9:30a.m.-1:30p.m. or salad bar MWF 9a.m.- 2:40p.m. Substitute position available 6a.m.10:30a.m. MWF or T/TH. Apply immediately at the K-State Union Foodservice Office.

LOCAL FRATERNITY is currently seeking an ex-perienced Dietician. Re-sponsibilities include planning meals for 50 men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12.50 per hour. Please send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

NEEDED- SERVERS and bartenders. Apply at Bobby T's, 3240 Kim-ball Ave., Candlewood

SALES PEOPLE needed for all shifts at Manhattan Mall, apply in person at Image Perfumes, across from Mr. Bulky's. SALES/ MARKETING Rep-To contract for place-ment of point of pur-chase advertising with-in a specific industry. Rquirements: over 21, two years college or equivalent sales/ marketing experience. Smaller marketing time of employment, re-location to larger mar-ket optional. Flexible hours, student ok, com-mission for each place-

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more information call: (206)634-0469 ext.

ment plus regular bo-nuses. Send resume, Box 2236, Topeka, KS has an immediate need for four experienced Student Programmers. Recruiting will continue until all positions are filled. Successful candi dates will have; 1) knowledge of program-ming in a common lan-guage (such as C or CO-BOL), programming ex-perience in multi-user operating environ-ments (Such as UNIX or MVS), and at least junior class standing in CIS, MIS, or a directly related field, or 2) suffi-cient knowledge of desktop computers and Novell networking to be able to install hardware (even initial setup), in stall software, and analyze whether a problem is related to network/ hardware/ software. Ap-plications can be ob-tained by calling 532-6281, writing or coming to the KSU Of-fice of Information Sysfice of Information Sys-tems, Foundation Cen-ter, 2323 Anderson Ave. Suite 215, which is also the primary work location for these posi-tions. Questions regarding these positions should be directed to David Hillier at David Hillier a 532-7843, or by elec tronic mail (e-mail) to deh@ksuvm. If you are unable to reach David, please leave voice- mai and e-mail contact points. Miniority, Women and Handicapped are encouraged TUTOR NEEDED imme-diately Org. Biol 201, hourly rate plus bonus. Must have good grades

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454. $1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For STUDENT PROGRAM-MERS. The KSU Office MARKET of Information Systems Wanted to Buy Lotus 1-2-3 version 2.3 and WordPerfect ver-sion 5.1, 776-4544. NEEDED: MANUAL

410

Items for Sale BONEPILE RECORDS'& DISCS NOW OPEN 1126 LARAMIE 587-8944 CA$H FOR USED CDs

COPIER RECONDITIONED

Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m. FOR SALE: Four Tempco Goose Down coats, like new, 776-4544. FOR SALE: One student ticket for KSU vs NU, $40, 537-6894.

ICE COLD BEER and large Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

STUDENT DRAFTING table 42X31, 776–0753.

in Organismic Biólogy. Jeffery 776-6690. 430 YOUNG, AGGRESSIVE, advertising agency look-ing for "fresh," "red hot" designer. Recent Antiques graduates encouraged to apply. Must have Macintosh experience. Send resumes to: Pro-duction Director, P.O. KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wamego. Box 4512. Topeka, KS TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

ATTENTION DOOM Play ers. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hundreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539-0801.

lator with book and case. $100. Call Trever at 537-2989. Please, leave message if gone. MACINTOSH COMPUT ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

HP48S- SCIENTIFIC Calcu

MACINTOSH PLUS 4 meg ram 20 meg harddrive with lots of software. $395. 537-0308.

Complete system with desk. 10 months old, loaded with software, $900. Call Will at 587-4123. SMITH CORONA 425 Word Processor. Great for student papers. Has spread sheet capability. Like new, $200. Call 587-0683 leave message.

Pets and

Supplies

AKC REGISTERED chocolate lab puppies Both parents point. 537-4069. FIVE YEAR old California king snake with 55-gal for $100. Call 539-2809.

Tickets to Buy/Sell

GEORGE STRAIT tickets two floor seats. Call 539-1822. Ask for Tricia. HAVE KSU-NU ticket for sale. Taking best offer. (539-3441). Ask for KANSAS STATE FAN needs tickets to KSU/NÚ game. (402)488-3888. KSU TICKETS WANT-ED. NEBRASKA OR COLORADO GAMES. TOP $ PAID. TOP $ P (800)817-2820.

I NEED: Nebraska tickets!

PORTATION

Automobiles

1986 CAMARO Z28. Black and gold. Excellent con-dition. Call 776-7477. Can see at 912 Thur-

1986 SPRINT, drive it all day with the change in your couch. $1000. 1976 Mustang, 69,000 miles, $750 power steering, power brakes, 539–1991. 75 MERCURY Marquis, recently rebuilt engine, power everything, ex-cellent condition, must sell $1200 or best offer, 539-3726, or leave mes-

Motorcycles 1990 HONDA CBR 600 great condition, well maintained $3200, 537-3679.

PACKARD BELL 486/33 TRAVEL/

Tour Packages

TRIPS

You'll never know unless you try...advertising. COLLEGIAN

BODY DOES SHI BREAKS BETTER

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals

040 Meetings/Events 050 Parties-n-More

105 For Rent -Apt. Furnished

Apt. Unfurnished

110 For Rent -

115 Rooms Available 120 For Rent - Houses

Mobile Homes 140 For Rent - Garage

145 Roommate Wanted

150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space

125 For Sale - Houses

Mobile Homes

130 For Rent -

DIRECTORY

205 Tutor

210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing 220 Sewing/Alterations

225 Pregnancy Testing

230 Lawn Care 135 For Sale -235 Child Care 240 Musicians/DJs

255 Other Services

307

245 Pet Services

250 Automotive Repair

EMPLOYMENT. CAREERS 310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Needed

*Opportunities

FORSALE 400 OPEN MARKET

405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale

415. Furniture to Buy/Sell

420 Garage/Yard Sales

430 Antiques 435 Computers 440 Food Specials

425 Auction

450 Pets and Supplies 455 Sporting Equipment 460 Stereo Equipment

445 Music Instruments

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

530 Motorcycles 540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/ TRIPS

610 Tour Packages 620 Airplane Tickets

630 Train Tickets 640 Bus Tickets

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories

CATEGORIES

preceded by a number designation. TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD

Always put what item or service you are advertising first.

This helps potential buyers find

are marked by one of the large

images, and sub-categories are what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Volunteers crucial for new theater

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 devoting time to the cause is just as valuable, Morris said. The foundation relies heavily on the support of volunteers. "We usually have three or four volunteers a day come in and help us, but we have a list of about 200 volunteers," Morris said.

One volunteer effort was a historic dig in fall 1990.

"We had 50 to 60 people from all over the state come and help us start the clean-up process," Morris said.

During the cleanup, workers found about 900 items involved in the history of the theater and from the 1893 Chicago World's Fair. Among these items was a crate containing 14 large paintings.

The paintings are in Fort Worth, Texas, being restored. The restoration of the paintings is a long and costly process.

"Each painting costs $25,000 to restore," Morris said.

"They have to clean all the grime off, stick a new canvas on the back of the old one and fill in the paint chips. The first painting took nine months to fix.'

"These paintings are so valuable because they are the only remaining decorative art pieces left from the 1893 World's Fair," Morris said.

The foundation is trying to make the theater look as it did at the turn of the century. The Columbian will now be a place for the performing arts, grand balls, parties, wedding receptions, meetings and even highschool proms.

The theater has been renovated to have modern technology and keep the 1900s atmosphere.

Todd Sump

The new theater complex includes many features the theater did not have at the turn of the century. The new theater in the top level will seat 280 people, or the seats can be removed for dances and receptions. The theater also has one grand piano and two electronic keyboards.

The main level now has a gallery to display various forms of art work, a kitchen to cater events and a gift shop.

The basement level is now an art-education facility. basement is equipped with classrooms for teaching art classes and the summer-theater academy.

The next play the academy will perform in the theater will be the 'Wizard of Oz.'

"This spring they'll do the Wizard of Oz, and we plan to have a big display of memorabilia from the original show," Morris said.

The foundation has planned the first public event on Oct. 29 with musical entertainment from the Glotzbach Trio.

"On opening night, we also plan to have 70 to 80 pieces of art on display in the gallery," Morris said.

The event is for the directors, the people of Wamego and anyone who has helped in the process.

"We are letting the people who have been working on this project have a first look at the theater." Morris said.

The theater will be open every day, except for holidays. Bus tours can be scheduled that will include tours of the Columbian and luncheons in the Wamego area.

944-3682

"Music the way you like to hear it.

Coming out could have harsh consequences

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

together, anyway?"

A consequence of coming out may be losing friends, he said.

Terry Colbert, office specialist, has been Mason's companion for 17 years. He said he told his parents about his homosexuality when Mason was coming to visit during the Christmas holidays.

"I felt it was imperative to tell them," Colbert said. He said he told his parents when they were all relaxing at his parents' home.

"My father reached across the table, took my hand and said, You're the same person you were 10 minutes ago. We just know you a little better now," he said.

Colbert said his mother was initially concerned with the way others would perceive his homosexuality. He and Mason are very involved with his parents now, and they are all a loving family, Mason

Many people try counseling to deal with their sexuality.

Tim Aumiller, graduate student in speech, said he saw a therapist for four years, starting when he was 14 years old.

"When I came to school, I decided I wasn't going to avoid issues and answer questions indirectly anymore," he said.

Telling his family about his homosexuality was not an easy thing to do, he said.

"I came out to my mother at the age of 18, after being here for one semester. My mother took it all right. She cried for about three days, but I kind of figured she would," Aumiller said.

He said his parents were divorced, which made it easy for him to not tell his father about his homosexuality.

"I never told my father, and he passed away in June. As a result of this, my sister has made a 180degree turnaround," he said.

Aumiller said he initially told his sister's husband that he was gay, knowing that by doing so he was indirectly telling his sister. He eventually told his sister he was gay, even though her husband had already relayed the news. Aumiller said his sister could not accept his homosexuality initially.

"Now, every time I talk to my sister, she naturally finds ways to bring issues into the conversation, whereas my mother comes up with strange euphemisms."

"As I've become more comfortable in talking about it, my mother has become more conservative," Aumiller said.

Becoming comfortable with one's homosexuality or bisexuality can take time.

Heather Nelson, junior in psychology, said she came out about a year ago to her family and close friends. She said she found it difficult to come out to her roommate, who is also her cousin.

"I felt I needed to tell her because first, I live with her, and it's hard to lead a gay life when you're trying to hide that you're gay. And secondly, she is very important to me," Nelson said.

Nelson said she would advise people to think of the worst consequence of coming out when deciding who to tell.

"Most likely, your worst-case scenario won't happen," she said.

"What you need to realize, when you do come out, is that their initial reaction is not always their final reaction," Nelson said.

They may need time to work through it just like you did." Nelson said her roommate was taken aback to learn she was gay. "I could tell from her reaction that it was OK, but it was kind of a shock. She said it was awkward the first time she had her girlfriend over. Nelson said her girlfriend put roommate was a little uncomfortable. That has changed with time, her hand on Nelson's knee, and her

Nelson said. "Now I have a steady girlfriend, and she is more comfortable. Now she could even see us kiss, and it wouldn't bother her," she said.

Dealing with co-workers is another concern that homosexuals

Colbert and Mason have been Manhattan residents for six years.

Mason said he feels fortunate to work in an environment that is not homophobic. "If the library was homophobic atmosphere, I probably wouldn't have stayed, either by my choice or theirs," Mason said. Another faculty member, Deb Taylor, English instructor, said she thinks people should wait to come out when they are comfortable with their sexual orientation.

New Shop in Aggieville!

Greenware, Bisque, & Items Firing & Repairing Supplies

Lots of Southwestern! Wildcat Clocks $29.50 10% off for students

Order for Christmas 776-0840 715 N 12th St. Aggieville

Don't miss Bob's Daily Lunch and Dinner Specials for October!

Thursday, Oct. 13 Swiss Steak

Sunday, Oct. 16 BBQ Beef Sandwich

Tuesday, Oct. 18

Friday, Oct. 14 Chicken Noodles

BOL'S DINER

Saturday, Oct. 15 Cod Dinner

Monday, Oct. 17 Meat Loaf Liver & Onions Wednesday, Oct. 19 INTRAMURAL ENTRY DEADLINE TODAY

VOLLEYBALL

OFFICIALS' CLINICS Mon., Oct. 17 at 6:30 p.m. Union Rm 212

Tues., Oct. 18 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex MANDATORY ATTENDANCE AT BOTH MEETINGS!

REC SERVICES OFFICE 532-6980

CAPTAINS'/MANAGERS' MEETING Wed., Oct. 19

K-State Union, Forum Hall 5 p.m. Schedules will be distributed at this meeting only ALL CAPTAINS/MANAGERS MUST ATTEND!

REETSIDE RECORDS®

IS NOW BUYING AND SELLING USED CDS OR 'GOOD AS NEW'

WE WILL TRADE OR BUY YOUR ROCK, JAZZ, BLUES, R&B, COUNTRY, CLASSICAL, REGGAE, EASY LISTENING, NEW AGE,

LET OUR STATE OF THE ART PURCHASING SYSTEM GIVE YOU OUR BEST DEAL

LOOK FOR THE BLUE TRIANGLE AND CHECK OUT THE BIG SAVINGS!

51 Moro - 776-7373 Streetsmart - Shop Streetside

KANSAS STATE

sunny WEATHER - PAGE 2

OCTOBER 14, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 39

Sea of seats

Rick Boatman, operations manager at Bramlage Coliseum, arranges some seating on the north hill of the football stadium Thursday evening. The 3,000 seats were brought in anticipation of a full crowd for Saturday's football game against Nebraska. Both the men's and women's rugby clubs were paid to set the seats up.

Cat fans to hang banner behind enemy

AMY ZIEGLER

Busses and carloads of Nebraskans will trickle into Manhattan on Saturday, but not all of them will be wearing red.

K-State graduates who live in Nebraska have discovered a way to showcase their purple pride and passion for K-State football through an organization called Nebraskans for K-State.

Dianna Philippi, Catbacker coordinator, said Nebraskans for K-State was started to give K-State graduates who live in Nebraska an opportunity to support their alma

"Everyone got tired of living in a sea of red," Philippi said.

Nebraskans for K-State will show their spirit by hanging their banner in its traditional location, which will be in the Cornhusker section of the stadium.

"At the risks of getting our necks hung, we'll be hanging our banner in the same spot," Marc Whitehead, president Nebraskans for K-State, said.

Brent Rockers, one of the founding members and a Lincoln resident, said the Wildcat mascot will join in on the fun by drawing attention to the K-State banner in the Nebraska crowd.

"Willie's going to make a big production of it," Rockers said.

■ See CATBACKERS Page 10

- CAMPUS

Union blows a fuse, suffers power loss

The K-State Union lost power for a half hour Thursday

'We blew a fuse at the oil switch at the back of Ahearn." Randy Slover, director of facilities maintenance, said.

The 200-amp fuse caused facilities to shut down the power for a half hour while the fuses were checked and replaced, Slover said.

Genita Silva, work leader assistant for food services, said she was told that the power failure would shut off all the lights in the Stateroom. "They just dimmed a little bit ago," Theresa Strohm, freshman in pre-medicine and Stateroom cashier, said. "They're all going to go out, but they don't know when."

Lights on the second floor of the Union went out at 2:08 p.m. Sills said the conference room in the director's office went out first. Then his office lost power, and then the lights went out in the outer office.

to have the electricity back on by 2:30 p.m., but if it didn't stay on then, it was an indication of a much larger problem, Sills said. Students caught in the outage

Facilities said they would try notice before the lights went completely out, Becky Lind, food services Stateroom supervisor, said.

in the Stateroom were given

'We had a little warning with the brownout," Lind said.

Maintenance told food services they would lose power, but the power didn't go out for a half hour after the brownout.

"This is the first time I remember it going out slow and coming back on slow," Lind

Food services unplugged everything that they could and waited out the brownout. Once the power came back on at 2:30 p.m., they were asked not to plug things in or turn the compressors on for 10 minutes,

During outages, food services sell what they can access.

"This is the first time we weren't allowed to open the coolers, but we could still see to serve," she said.

Lind said she thought their biggest loss of sales was in fountain pop. The drink island and the ice-cream coolers were the first to lose power.

Lind said food services didn't lose any computers, but they lost two cash registers and possibly an ice-cream machine.

► CAMPUS

Club denied right to sell shirts in Union

The KSU Marketing Club wanted to raise money to go to a convention in New Orleans, so it decided to sell K-State vs. Nebraska T-shirts the week before the game.

The club had one problem. Marketing Club president Jeremy Blair said when he went to the K-State Union to get a permit to sell the shirts inside the Union, he was turned down because the shirts would be in competition with the Union Bookstore. The shirts Blair was selling were Union Bookstore sells.

The club was selling its shirts for $12, while the Union Bookstore's Blair said he began selling shirts Wednesday and will continue to sell them on Friday.

"SGA doesn't have enough money to fund groups. I figured I'd make it myself. It's the American way, and the Union is fighting us. A lot of clubs are taking the students

The person Blair talked to at the Union said he could not sell the shirts outside of the Union either, Blair said.

Blair went to the Student Governing Association office and asked Amy Collett, graduate assistant to Student Governing Association, if there were any regulations against selling things in the free-speech zone outside of the Collett looked into the regulations, and the regulations said the Union Bookstore has no also cheaper than the T-shirts the jurisdiction over what goes on outside the Union.

Blair brought this to the attention of the Union Bookstore officials, and they backed away from their resistance to him selling the shirts, he said.

The supply manager of the Union Bookstore, Kathy Yates, said she may have mentioned the price in passing to Blair. The shirts the bookstore was selling did not arrive until Thursday. They cost $15.95.

Yates said she didn't approve the request on the club's shirt sales inside because the club's sales were in direct competition with the Union. She said there was nothing the Union Bookstore could do about the sale of anything outside the building. She said Blair didn't say anything about selling the shirts outside.

"We normally try to sign off on student groups doing fundraising inside the building if it's not in direct competition with the Union," Yates said. She said her shirts were printed Short Circuit in Dallas, Texas, and Blair got his printed at It's Greek To Me. That is why the Union Bookstore did not have their shirts until Thursday. "I know that because they offered me the same design, and I didn't like it," Yates said. Ben Clouse, chair of the University Activities Board, said from his limited analysis of Blair's complaint, it was not legitimate.

Clouse said there is a three-step process every group must go through to sell shirts in the Union, which Blair may not have understood.

First, the design is reviewed by the Union Bookstore to determine if the shirt will be in competition with any apparel sold by the Union.

Then, a permit must be issued by The University Activities Board is the SGA segment that controls

After UAB reviews the permit request, the Union director must approve the sales.

Clouse said he thought Blair was attempting a publicity stunt. Clouse said he did not know of any point in the evaluation of the Marketing Club's request where Union officials tried to interfere with the sales outside the building.

Barb Pretzer, administrative assistant to the Union director's office, said she doesn't know the specifics of Blair's case because it never made it to the level of the director's office.

> SENATE

3 senators formally resign, senators consider changes

Student Senate formally accepted the resignations of three student senators at Thursday night's Jared Becker, arts and sciences senator, spoke in open period about his resignation.

"I don't think you are doing your job," Becker said to fellow senate members. "There is just no place for me in the system of SGA anymore.'

Doug LaMunyon, education senator, and Faye Premer, architecture senator, also formally resigned at this meeting. However, they were not at the meeting to offer their reasons for resigning. This brings the total number of Student Government resignations to seven this year., Liz Ring, Senate vice-chair, said this is not an unusual rate of turnover. "It's my third year in Senate, and this has happened every year," Ring said. "It's midterms. People get busy and decide that they don't want to spend the time anymore.'

Senate is making changes to address concerns raised by several who have resigned, Ring said.

Clayton Wheeler, Senate chair, and Ring will meet with the chair of each committee weekly. Meetings will be arranged with each senator three or four times each semester. A bulletin board in the SGA office will track progress on issues and keep senators and other students informed.

"Hopefully, this will help us to find senators who want to get involved but don't know how, or don't feel like they are able to," Ring said.

Senate also dealt with several financial issues. It passed a bill that set guidelines on how to spend $17,000 in overcharged fees, which was placed in the Student Life Enrichment Account.

Money in this account must not be used for more than three cost $15, Blair said.

See FUND Page 10

▶ CAMPUS

Carranza: Demographics a vital research area

MOLLY WEIGEL

A speaker for Hispanic Awareness Month said it is the best of times and the worst of times for Latin Americans in higher education.

Miguel Carranza, associate dean of arts and sciences at the University of Nebraska, used Dickens' opening line from "A Tale of Two Cities" to describe the current status of ethnic and racial relations in the United States.

Carranza gave a speech Thursday titled, "The Latino Presence in Higher Education: Current Challenges and Future Prospects" in the K-State Union Forum Hall.

The speech was also part of the Kansas Sociological Society Program, Lin Huff-Corzine, associate professor of sociology, Carranza explained the increased need for non-minority students to educate themselves on ethnic issues.

the opportunity or will need inknowledge minority/majority relations," Carranza said.

He said pursuing this knowledge would be important in succeeding in the workplace.

"I firmly believe we all have

"If you want to do a good job and be successful, you will have

Currently, there is a dramatic shift in the demographics of the population, he said.

By the year 2000, 30 percent of all Americans will be Hispanic or of a racial minority," Carranza said. to the shift in demographics, he said, there is a vital research area for interracial "Religion used to be the hot topic," Carranza said. "Now, we need to find out how interracial children's identity and self-esteem are affected." Carranza described the United States as a magnet for immigrants. Around 3,000 immigrants arrive in the United States every day, he said. The Immigration Act of 1990 is currently being reviewed, and it is being recommended that everyone should have a national identification card, he said.

"Proposition 187 is also being considered," Carranza said. "This would deny health care and education to all undocumented immigrants.

The shifts in demographics are prevalent not only in the United States, but the Midwest also, he

"Nebraska and other states in the Midwest mirror the national changes," Carranza said. "In fact, sometimes the changes are greater.'

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Miguel Carranza, associate dean of arts and sciences at the University of Nebraska, speaks on the need for sociologists to be well-versed in racial relations Thursday night in Forum Hall. Carranza was the first guest speaker at K-State for Hispanic Awareness Month.

The changes will have a direct effect on businesses, schools, churches and daily life, he said.

The American Council on Education recently published statistics about Latinos in higher education, Carranza said.

"In 1984, there were 860,000 Latinos in higher education," Carranza said. "More than half of those do not receive their undergraduate degrees after six years in college."

It is imperative to reach out to them, he said.

Another problem is the high drop-out rates of Latinos, he said. Carranza said there are several areas to focus on to improve minorities' success in higher education as well as society.

"First, universities and colleges need to take risks for effective outreaches," Carranza said.

These outreaches are crucial-in changing the course of events for the minority youth, he said. "Latino parents, families and communities need to be seen as assets to society, not debits,' Carranza said. The Latinos and other minorities need to be integrated into the schools and involved in the community, he said. "Finally, all students need to return to their communities with a better understanding of majority/minority relations," Carranza said.

NEWS BRIEFS

► KASSEBAUM, ROBERTS TO SPEAK TODAY AT THROCKMORTON DEDICATION

U.S. Senator Nancy Kassebaum and U.S. Rep. Pat Roberts are among the scheduled speakers for the Oct. 14 dedication of the Throckmorton Plant Sciences

The dedication is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m. Friday on the lawn of Ackert Hall just south of Throckmorton Hall.

The ceremony will then move to the regional entrance of Throckmorton for the ribbon cutting, Gerry Posler, head of the agronomy department, said.

Those attending will then move inside for the reception.

Refreshments will be served. and tours will be offered from 5 to 7 p.m. by individual departments, Posler said.

Those offering tours are the departments of agronomy, plant pathology and horticulture, forestry and recreation resources.

Guided tours will be available from the agronomy and plant pathology departments, and a continuous open tour will be available from horticulture forestry.

"People could tour for the whole two hours if they would like," Posler said. "The guided tours are offered every half hour."

There will also be tours offered on Saturday from 8 to 9:30 a.m. for those unable to attend the Friday ceremony, he said.

Other speakers invited are President Jon Wefald and Sidney Warner, of the Kansas Board of Regents. U.S. Sen. Bob Dole and U.S. Rep. Dan Glickman were also to attend but have canceled.

"This is a very significant event, and the dedication is an mportant part of campus," George Ham, associate dean and director of the Agricultural Experimental Station, said.

LORI CAGLE

▶ 4 ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH WASH-HOUSE BURGLARIES AT JARDINE

K-State Police arrested four suspects in connection with several wash-house burglaries at the Jardine Terrace student-housing complex early Thursday morning.

University detective Richard Herrman said campus police discovered three pop machines damaged at 5:31 a.m. Wednesday.

"Two machines were extensively damaged, and one was damaged but not entered," he said.

Sat. David Johnson, of the campus police, was setting up a stakeout when he saw the four suspects leaving a wash house carrying products from vending machines, cleaning supplies and money. He was assisted by Lt. Rick Howard and an unnamed officer from the Riley County Police Department.

Those arrested were Thomas L. Coffee, 17, of 3500 River Bend Road, Michael B. James, 18,

Miami, Okla.: David F. Moses, 22. Ft. Riley; and Stephen L. Woolenberg, 20, 300 N. 11th St. They were taken to Riley County

Coffee was released to the custody of his parents. The others were booked in the Riley County

BOB MACHA

▶ ROAD IMPROVEMENTS, WATER TESTING TOPICS AT COMMISSION MEETING

A joint meeting of the Rilev County and City commissions met on topics concerning road improvements and water testing Thursday afternoon at City Hall.

County Commissioners wanted the city to annex the northern sections of Browning, Denison and College avenues up to Marlatt Avenue if they were expected to maintain Kimball Avenue.

"We want to get something for our money," said Karen McCulloh, county commissioner of the city's wish for the county to maintain Kimball Avenue.

Both sides agreed to have their respective staffs look at figures to see what would be the most economical solution to the road-maintenance problem.

The issue of water testing for Hunter's Island and Moehlman residents was also discussed. Because of past water contamination by the landfill, these two areas were made into two separate water districts

State law requires that all water districts be tested individually. The tests are estimated to be about

Dan Harden, county engineer and director of public works, suggested that the county contract the city water department to do testing.

"They have big-league facilities that can handle this," Harden said.

REGISTERING TO VOTE

Here are the requirements for voting on an absentee ballot: ■ The deadline to register is Oct. 24, and the election is Nov. 8.

- You must be 18 years old by Nov. 8.
- Depending on the type of election, you must live in the ward, precinct or township
- 14 days prior to the election.
- There are 20 places to register in Riley County, including the Office of Student Activities and Services in the K-State Union.

The county clerk's office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the phone number is 537-6300.

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12 #

At 11:24 a.m., a subject reported the theft of a purse and its contents from Eisenhower Hall, Loss was $43.

At 12:24 p.m., a bicycle and pedestrian accident occurred at Oak Drive and Vattier Street. The pedestrian received minor injuries but refused ambulance

THURDAY, OCTOBER 13

At 4:39 a.m., Thomas L. Coffee, Stephen L. Wollenberg, David F. Moses and Michael B. James were arrested for burglary and damaging the vending machines in Jardine laundry facility #3. The subjects were apprehended and taken to Riley

At 6:24 p.m., Rachel

Sullivan, 440 Boyd Hall, reported her hubcaps stolen from her

At 6:15 p.m., a female sub-

1964 Impala parked in Lot B-3.

ject reported being assaulted at Ahearn Field House.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

At 9:38 p.m., the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, 1614 Fairchild Ave., reported a stolen composite picture. Loss was $800.

At 10:33 a.m., a Riley County Police officer heard two shots fired in the area of 12th and Bertrand streets. The officer heard one subject call "Here. kitty kitty," but was unable to

THURDAY, OCTOBER 13

At 12:19 a.m., loud bass music was reported at 1430 Watson Ant & locate any activity.

At 10:58 p.m., Teric D. Lindsley, address unknown, was arrested for theft. Taken and recovered was $4.68 in miscellaneous food items from Food-4-Less at 222 N. 6th St.

At 11:15 p.m., Christina Rhodeman, 1704 Fair Lane, Apt.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12

At 2:08 a.m., a noise complaint was reported at 1021

18, reported aggravated assault.

Leavenworth St.

At 2:10 a.m., a fight in progress was reported at Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant &

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS INVESTIGATION

The deadline for applications to the Community Service Program International Teams has been extended to Oct. 21. Applications are still available. For more information, call 532-5701.

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

For information on WIC-Healthy Foods and Nutrition Education for Women: pregnant and breast feeding, and for infants and children up to 5 years old, call the Riley County Health Department at 776-

All undergraduate students in health-related degree programs are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. The application deadline is Dec. 2.

BULLETINS WITH

- K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- KSU Women's Union will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday in Union
- Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m
- today in Throckmorton 1019. K-State Aikido Club will present an Aikido seminar from 8 to 9 p.m. Friday, noon to 6 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. to noon Sunday at
- the Manhattan Gymnastic Center. ■ Sigma Lambda Gamma Sorority will have an informational
- meeting at 6 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry. ■ Hillel will meet at 6 p.m. Sunday in Union 205.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

ST. LOUIS 9 GARDEN CITY 73/41

STATE OUTLOOK

Mostly cloudy in the southeast with a chance for showers. Sunny to partly cloudy across the rest of the state with highs around 70 to 75.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TODAY

Morning fog, otherwise partly coudy. High around 70 with east wind 5- 15 mph.

TOMORROW

Partly sunny with a high of 70 and low of

You're In The Book

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University 1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Available now in 103 Kedzie (east of the Union)

Union Program Council Presents:

LIVE

Special Guests: Weezer, Fatima Mansions

> Monday, November 7th 7:00 p.m. Bramlage Coliseum Manhattan, KS

> > Tickets On Sale Now!!

Tickets *($15.00) available at the Bramlage Coliseum Box Office, Manhattan Town Center Information Booth, K-State Union Bookstore, McCain Auditorium, Vanderbilts and The Children's Book Shop in opeka, ITR Office in Ft. Riley, and House of Sight and Sound in Salina.

> Charge By Phone (913) 532-7606 *Plus service charges (where they apply).

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK!

Oct. 14 from 3-8 p.m.

at your house

Oct. 14 from 3-8p.m. at your house

Oct. 17 from 9a.m.-2p.m. and 4-8p.m. in Union 209

ΣΛΒ

AKA

КΑΨ

ΣΛΓ

АФА

 $\Phi B \Sigma$

Edwards Hall

ΖФВ

 $\Delta X$

AKΛ

ΔΣΘ

 $\Omega \Psi \Phi$

 $\Sigma\Gamma P$

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

the competition continues

residence halls

In each residence hall, the floor with the highest percentage of members buying a yearbook and getting their pictures taken will receive an all floor pizza party from Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook.

greeks & scholarship halls

The fraternity, sorority and scholarship hall with the highest percentage of members buying a yearbook and getting their pictures taken will receive $200 for their philanthropy from Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook. The second and third place fraternity, sorority and scholarship halls will receive $150 and $75 respectively for their philanthropy.

The competition is divided between mens' and womens' living groups.

Off-Campus and Black Greeks are offered a free studio sitting coupon at the time of the sitting.

hispanic & black greeks

Those who purchase a 1995 yearbook will receive the free studio sitting.

The coupon is complimentary from the Blaker Studio Royal, the official photo studio of the Royal Purple yearbook.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

COMING OUT, COMING HOME WEEK

Workshop focuses on struggles for gays

CORI CORNELISON

"I'm a queer, and I'm here." "I'm not gay, but my lover is."

"I like dykes."

These are a few of 12 buttons passed out at a brown-bag lunch session as part of the Coming Out, Coming Home Conference sponsored by the Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society, Thursday.

Brenda Hanger, a licensed specialist clinical social worker in Manhattan, guided a group of about 30 people in an audience-participation workshop. It concentrated on some of the unique qualities of gays and lesbians and their struggles to survive in a heterosexual world, including overcoming homophobia.

Hanger asked audience members, whether straight or not, to take a button and wear it for the next 24 hours. They could also pass it on to someone else if they didn't think they could wear it all day.

"The button is so you can actively existence," she said. "When you go to work and see peers, see how quickly the button comes off."

It's important not only to talk about things but to experience things, and that is the purpose of the button,

"The purpose of the workshop isn't about being militant," Hanger said. "It's centered around unique differences in gay and lesbian relationships. We're talking about humans first, although this is focusing on gay, lesbian and bisexual relationships," she said.

Hanger challenged the heterosexual audience members to try and hide the fact that they are heterosexual for one day. This is in order to relate better with what homosexuals have to deal with daily, she said.

"Is there anyone in this room that is homophobic?" Hanger said. "I am. I think homophobia exists for everyone in this room to a certain

► CAMPUS

2 new environmental chambers introduced

Seaton builds chambers for testing and research

KRISTA COZAD

In Seaton Hall, deep in the basement, lie seven environmental chambers that can be made so hot or so cold that no human could survive if placed in one of them.

Jerry Sipes, research technologist at the institute for Environmental Research, guided students and faculty on tours through the chambers during the institute's open house Thursday.

The open house was to introduce the two new environmental chambers that have recently been built.

The chambers, along with the five others already in place, were built for the purpose of testing and researching thermal issues, Elizabeth McCullough, co-director of the Institute for Environmental Research, said.

Some of the items tested are clothes for hot or cold comfort, protective clothing and buildings systems, such as heating and air conditioning, she said.

The institute is supported by the research it conducts for companies, such as Hoechst Celanese, a company that makes fibers, and The North Face, a maker of sleeping bags.

McCullough said the purpose of the institute is to provide an interdisciplinary research facility and scientific expertise.

"Faculty and students from different areas can come and do research here, as long as it's thermal in nature," she said.

For the open house, the two new chambers were set at 40 degrees and 130 degrees so guests could see how the chambers felt and functioned.

Each chamber contains porous walls, so air flow can be directed through them, creating light or imperceptible air flow or strong wind, Sipes said.

Six of the chambers can also be controlled for humidity, he said.

Only one, the cold chamber, is not humidified because the chamber can be made as cold as minus 60 degrees; the humidity would simply freeze, Sipes said.

Besides humans, who are used in testing air conditioners and heaters in simulated weather conditions, the institute is also equipped with two thermal mannequins, Sam and Fred, Sipes said.

Fred, the most advanced of the two mannequins, has a body divided into 18 sections, each of which can be monitored and controlled for temperature, Sipes said.

The entire mannequin can average the same temperature as the human body, making Fred ideal for testing clothing for extreme temperatures for long periods of time, he said.

The mannequins are often used to test sleeping bags for cold weather, Chil Soon Kim, a graduate assistant at the Institute, said.

The mannequins measure how resistant the cotton is to heat transfer to figure out which bag is more insulated, she said.

Larry Keehn, junior in mechanical engineering, attended the open house.

"I just happened to see the sign up for the open house, and it's in our field of interest, so we decided to come," he said. "It's really a good thing to have these, because students don't really even know they're here."

► FACULTY Khrushchev to join faculty

In May 1995, K-State will be the envy of many universities when Sergei Khrushchev joins the faculty as a visiting distinguished professor.

Sergei is the son of Nikita Khrushchev, leader of the former Soviet Union.

"It wasn't hard at all to get him," Dale Herspring, head of the political science department, said.

"A whole lot of universities will be very jealous. Our sister university down the road will go ballistic."

Khrushchev was a visiting scholar at Brown University, and K-State is the only other university in the United States to have him in this capacity.

Khrushchev will be living in the Brockman House, which is owned by Helen Brockman.

Helen Brockman, who taught fashion design at K-State from 1968 to 1974, lets many visitors to the University stay in her house, President Jon Wefald said.

"I don't think it was difficult to get Mr. Sergei Khrushchev," Wefald said. "He could see that students have very serious questions about the world we live in. He was impressed with our faculty and Wefald said that the University is paying $6,000 to Khrushchev for the month he will spend here.

"Dr. Peter Nichols is paying half, and half is coming from the president's office," Wefald said. Wefald said that he hopes to make inviting an honored speaker from the former Soviet Union an Khrushchev's wife, Valentina, likes Kansas, Herspring said.

"The people in Kansas are more like the Russians she grew up with She's more excited than he is.

KSU SHUTTLE

$3 to park

50° per person

each

way

KSU Parking Services in cooperation with Bramlage Coliseum will operate a shuttle service to Bramlage during home football games.

Departure begins 21/2 hours before kick off and will be available after the game for your return trip.

Shuttle locations:

• West Stadium Lot (Anderson & Denison Aves.)

• A-28 Lot (Denison Ave. & Claflin Rd.)

. B3 / B16 Lots (McCain Ln. & Mid Campus Dr.).

Passengers will be dropped off and picked up at gate 11 located on the east side of Bramlage. PARKING IS NOT REQUIRED

> TO RIDE THE SHUTTLE. For Information: 532-PARK

MIDNIGHT MADNESS ... "RUN & GUN at 12:01"

"The moon lingers high as stars glisten in the Manhattan sky.

You hear the murmur of a stray meow ... Cages have been busted, the WILDCATS are on the Prowl!!!"

> Intrasquad scrimmage, Oct. 14 Doors open at 10 p.m. Cash prizes will be given!

Come see Tom Asbury and his boys take the court! Featuring Dribbling Wizard Sandy Slade, along with the "Voice of the Wildcats," Mitch Holthus!

Don't Miss the MADNESS!!!

For once, a cut in educational spending that actually helps students.

With Apple's special low student pricing, you can get a terrific deal on Macintosh," the best-selling personal computer on college campuse's today. You can choose the affordable Macintosh Performa," which comes complete with lots of powerful software to help get you through college. You can also choose the portable Apple' PowerBook' or the Power

Macintosh"—the world's fastest Mac." And because Macintosh is still the easiest personal computer, you won't have to dig through complex manuals. Plus, with low student pricing, a Mac is as easy to afford as it is to use. All of which makes it the ideal time to discover the power all college students need. The power to be your best. Apple

Come to the K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE for a Great Selection of Apple Computers!

Shop at the Store that Gives Back to You!

CAMPUS EDITOR......J.R. Prather A&E/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ..... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR......Sara Smith COPY CHIEF ...... Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR.....Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR...Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR .. Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER ..... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet SALES MANAGER....Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MGR...Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ..... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Union should've given right to sell T-shirts

K-State Union was wrong to deny a K-State club the right to sell T-shirts.

Capitalism has no place on this campus - that was the thinking of a K-State Union Bookstore official.

Jeremy Blair, president of the KSU Marketing Club, was selling K-State vs. Nebraska T-shirts in the area between the Union and Seaton Hall.

Kathy Yates, supply manager of the Union Bookstore, told Blair the Tshirts couldn't be sold insidethe Union.

The Marketing Club shirts were being sold for less than the Union's T-

The Marketing Club was selling the T-shirts to raise money to finance a trip to a convention in New Orleans.

The Union Bookstore didn't have the shirts it was going to sell until Thursday, and Blair began selling the shirts for the Marketing Club on Wednesday.

After Blair said he was told he couldn't sell the T-shirts, he went to the Student Governing Association office to ask about regulations.

According to the regulations, the Union Bookstore has no jurisdiction over activities outside the Union.

The Union is a good place for clubs to conduct fundraisers, such as the one the Marketing Club conducted. The Union shouldn't have a problem with it.

The Marketing Club is trying to turn a profit to avoid asking SGA for the money; the Union wants to mononpolize the marketplace around them.

Walkers: watch your step

Picture a dark weeknight, 11 p.m. My friend and I' approach the crosswalk between Goodnow Hall and the Durland parking lot. From the distance, the far, far distance, the headlights of a jeep come to view. I clutch my backpack and retreat back on the sidewalk.

My friend, one of those rightof-way rebels, firmly goes forward. "We have the right of way," she asserted. "He can see us. Let's just SEE if he speeds up!

She has now crossed a quarter of the walk (I remained at start). The jeep does speed up. The jeep definitely intends to hit my friend. My friend definitely plans to make it to the other side. I sense conflict.

The jeep, originally cruising at 30 mph, is now definitely going at least 55 mph down Denison Avenue. The jeep is going to eat my friend for dinner.

After flirting with certain death, my friend finally gets the picture and leaps onto the sidewalk as the jeep speeds past. The driver honks, as if to be friendly.

My friend bellowed something unrepeatable. A few room lights back at Goodnow went on.

"Shhh," I said. "People are sleeping." "WHY?" she hollered, oblivious to me. "Why did he want to hit me SO BADLY?

It's a good question. There are lots of bad things in the world that we learn about as we get older. There are murderers, perverts, stupid cartoons and flaky women's magazines. There are also people who try to hit pedestrians at every opportunity. Don't doubt for a minute that these people will stop once you are within the beam of their headlights. They'll hit you. They'll

To the credit of the city, our crosswalks have become more sophisticated. Rather than just marking crosswalks with faded white strips running across the road, Manhattan has civilized its streets with yellow pedestrian crossing signs before and right at its crosswalks. For those who once felt entitled to run over pedestrians for possibly jaywalking, now the message is very clear: These are, in fact, crosswalks. Let us by.

But my faith in humanity suffers. Once I thought these drivers hoped to run pedestrians over to punish them for not crossing at traffic light intersections. Now I understand, as I see a driver pass three pedestrian signs in bright daylight yet nearly swerve into oncoming traffic to avoid stopping for a pedestrian, that some people are just in too much of a hurry to stop. We ignore what we don't want to see. There's also people like one friend of mine, who will see crossing students, elderly people or any animal, then speeds up and shouts, "20 points," hoping to hit the target. In life's big picture, they just don't fit in.

Sometimes, I can understand why drivers barrel down the road, oblivious to those in their path. As I drive around the campus, nearly every day I stop for a pedestrian at the edge of a crosswalk who will not cross the road. All traffic has stopped. Five cars line up behind me. I hear the screeching of brakes somewhere in the background. The whole world is waiting for me while I'm waiting for the student to cross the street. The student stares back. We have a conversation through mental telepathy.

"Go," I say to her. I wave her on.

She firmly stands where she is. She pointedly ignores my waving and encouragement. Although it is midday and there will be continuous traffic for another half hour or so, she, a Careful Crosswalker, does not plan on crossing the street until no cars are within

"Well, Fate has narrow-minded people open the world."

their minds to in the English department

DEB TAYLOR

Instructor

a strange way of making

I rev my Oldsmobile's engine (which sounds neat, because I really need a new muffler) and release my brakes. It is a threat. I plan to proceed, and she'll be standing there until the Second Coming waiting to cross again.

She looks at me blankly.

I begin to pull forward. I have places to go, people

She steps forward! Yes, after approximately two minutes of waving and shared telepathy, I decide to drive, and she decides to cross. How nice of her to change her mind.

I brake, and she stops. I look at her. She is angry. She retreats to the sidewalk.

We wait a while. Backed-up traffic has extended beyond two blocks or so.

Finally, I drive away. I look in my rearview mirror, and she is flipping me off. The next driver is looking at her warily. I wish people like that would go cross at a traffic light, but it isn't a perfect world.

What can be improved: driving etiquette. It's simple. Pretend crosswalks are stop signs. Stop when someone would like to cross. It's polite. It's safe. It's the law, even if no one can see you try and mow down

K-State's reputation is that of a friendly place. Be as friendly behind the wheel as you are everywhere else.

Christy Little is a junior in secondary education.

After much resistance, parents accept children's sexuality

TAYLOR

found out that my older brother is gay from my cousin, Teresa, back when I was a high school junior.

CHRISTY

LITTLE

Teresa, a wise old college senior, felt that I could take the news much better if I was drunk. After about three beers, Teresa belched out the news, "Steve is gay." Me? I belched (a few times, I recall), and then replied with all the seriousness a 17-year-old intoxicant could muster, "Of course he's gay. Steve is the happiest guy I

The time was the '70s, gay still meant happy, and I did not have a clue what a "fag" was. I grew up in the tobacco lands of North Carolina, and so I knew that fag was also slang for cigarette, but why was Teresa likening Steve to the Marlboro Man? I cannot remember how long Teresa worked on me until she convinced me that Steve is a homosexual (again, a new word) because he really likes boys. Finally it clicked.

I can laugh at my naivete now, but I still cringe when I think of the events that followed discovering Steve's "secret." His homosexuality certainly opened Pandora's Box in the Taylor household. Mom called Steve a pervert. Dad called him a sissy. Younger brother Chris merely hated Steve. I told him that I loved him but hated the fact that he was going to Hell. My sister Dianne was dating a married man at the time, so no one in my overly righteous family cared much for what she had to say.

Years went by, and the family's punishment to Steve was similar to the "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" rule. We didn't ask, and he didn't tell. Once I was settled in to college, however, I began to realize that people are different and not everyone believes the same way. More than anything, I missed my brother. So, we began to reestablish our bond. I did not understand his "abnormal" interest in men, but I believed in Steve, and that is what counted. My parents, however, still treated Steve with much disdain. No fag-boy could ever come home with Steve for Christmas. They loved Steve, my

And until something changed, Steve would not be welcomed in their home.

Well, fate has a strange way of making narrow-minded people open their minds to the world. In the middle '80s, my younger brother, Chris, came home from college one day and announced to my parents that he's gay, thereby adding himself to the Sinner's List. Chris articulated his "coming out" speech in a different fashion from Steve. Whereas Steve had made the big announcement with shame on his face and fear on his voice, Chris gave the proclamation with the ecstasy of one who has won $10 million: "Mom, Dad, I have wonderful news to share with you. I'm gay, and I'm the happiest man alive.

Actually, Chris' self-confidence played a big role in my mom and dad's transformation from hateful homophobes to caring parents. I don't think that they were any happier with Chris' news than with Steve's; in any case, they began to examine all of their own prejudices. My brothers' courage in telling my parents enabled them to examine all of their prejudices and fears, from homosexuality down to their hatred of African Americans and all who are not white or Protestant. Instead of shutting out half of their children, my parents educated themselves so that they no longer would be afraid of what they did not know or understand.

More years have gone by, and my parents are quite accepting of homosexuality, or as much as they can for now. Their acceptance has been tested again, this time in the '90s, when I finally decided to tell them that I'm a lesbian. Realizing that I'm gay took much longer for me to figure out (my brothers say they've always known they were gay; I did not make the discovery myself until I was in my late 20s). By the time I was comfortable enough to approach my parents, any news of homosexuality was old hat to them. The conversation went like this:

By the way, Mom and Dad, I really need to tell you something. I'm a lesbian."

To which they responded, "So? We To which I responded, quite parents said, but they hated his sin. defensively, "So, I know you know Mom's response: "So, why are you telling us this?

I answered, "Because I just wanted to VERBALIZE it to you!

I created the five-second pause. And then I asked, "So, how did you find out?" My mom answered very matter-of-factly, "Your cousin, Teresa; told us.'

Teresa sure has a way of infiltrating

my family's affairs. Many would describe us as a family horror, but my family is presently the happiest we've ever been. I don't think Mom and Dad are ready to carry "75 percent of Our Kids Are Gay" signs at the next Gay Pride March, nor do they think the button I sometimes wear - it says "Viva la Vulva!" - is very funny. But they certainly realize that their queer children are wonderful and smart and successful, and they can be proud of us. And they can still worry about whether or not we are dating the best people for us.

Boyfriends, girlfriends and spouses are all invited to family gatherings. We kids talk about our relationships freely, as well as our hopes and fears, without having to keep secrets and risk family banishment. Dianne, the token heterosexual, sometimes marvels that she is the oddball sibling. (We joke that another decade's coming; perhaps her time is next!) She's teaching her children that everyone is uniquely special, including their aunt and

I'm sorry for gays and lesbians who have no family to talk to, and no friends to support them. I pity the close-minded parents and "friends" who disappear when they find out someone they know is gay or lesbian. My family has learned over the decades that the most important thing we can do is be available to each other, and that I have a wonderful network of gay and straight friends. Their love and support takes the sting out of those who still feel compelled to preach at me and be cruel. Maybe someday, in the not-too-distant future, everyone will learn to accept each other, as my family has learned to accept ourselves.

Deb Taylor is an instructor in the English department.

READERS WRITE

▶ HOMOSEXUALITY

Bible says lifestyle is a sin Dear Editor.

This letter addresses the information given in Wednesday's Collegian article, "Exclusion May Lead to Suicide." The article is in regard to the Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society's panel discussion, on Monday, Oct. 10, focusing on the Christian view of homosexuality. My response is intended to be informative. Simply, for you to know what the Bible says about you and your destiny, pick up that powerful book and read it yourself. Why let someone interpret the uncomplicated Truth for you. In class, you are challenged to find out for yourself if what your instructor says is true. The truth is found in the source, the text. The Bible is the source. In it, you will find what is truth and what is lies. How long will you follow others, not questioning them? Do for yourself what others cannot do for you. Seek the truth. If you are unsure of where to begin, may we suggest the book of John and the book of Proverbs. If you wish to be challenged further, then read the book of Romans, with special attention given to chapter one as it relates to the article in question.

Jon Hilton senior in mechanical engineering

ANN STEVENS

Removing GTAs doesn't make sense Dear Editor,

In regards to the article in Tuesday's, Oct. 11, Collegian, "Don't Rely on GTAs to Teach," by Ann Stevens, I found it to be close to absurd! I paid for qualified teaching, not professors. If I can get the same quality, and I do, from GTAs, I don't see the problem. Ann Stevens wants to increase student fees to show position "status" (a word I learned from a GTA in sociology). KSU is a wonderful institution and it sounds as if she would like to change KSU into Harvard or Yale.

She then goes to say, "we should study how things are now run and decide what dollar-saving techniques could benefit K-State." Like spending more for professors and removing qualified teachers like GTAs from the classroom.

I can see the common sense in this thinking!

Debra Sayre freshman in secondary education

Freshmen who do poorly in class receive letters

Freshmen may have received an unexpected and unwanted piece of mail last week.

The letter didn't contain a bill or advertisement. It had mid-semester progress reports. The reports were distributed to the freshman class through the registrar's office and contained slips from classes in which the instructor reported the student was performing unsatisfactorily, Bill Feyerharm, associate dean of arts and sciences, said.

To give students as much information as possible as to why they are not doing well in a certain class, Feyerharm said instructors were asked to mark one or more of the following reasons: poor attendance, poor performance on an exam or assignments, insufficient out-ofclass preparation, lack of prerequisite skills or other.

Reports were also accompanied by a letter requesting that students see their advisers.

"If students take the information and do something with it, like getting a tutor or going to academic assistance, then they can turn the situation around," Mike Lynch, assistant vice principal, said.

If students choose to do nothing and let their grades decrease below the 1.0 gradepoint-average mark, then they will be dismissed from K-State,

Feyerharm said.

He said research on freshmen has shown that students who have a huge deficit in their GPAs during their freshman year are usually gone after two or three semesters, anyway.

"If a student gets a miserable grade point, then they need to have a serious discussion about if they're ready for college," he

Lynch said that upperclassmen are not given progress reports because they already know the ins and outs of college

"Typically, after being here a year, you know how to read the terrain. You know how the class is going. For freshmen, they're really new at reading the signals," he said.

"For a junior, they'll talk to other classmates, talk to other people who've had the instructor or taken the same class, or have access to exam files," Lynch said. "A new student doesn't have that experience to draw. from.'

Feyerharm reiterated how important it was for students to see their advisers.

"If we know who they are and the nature of their problem, then we can help them. If they stay away from us, then it's too late, and we can't help them," he

Student Governing Association is currently accepting applications for

FINE ARTS COUNCIL CHAIRPERSON

Responsibilities include: Overseeing the fine arts line item fee; coordinating meetings of the Fine Arts Council; managing the fine arts allocation process; communicating with student government

Applications available in the Office of Student Activities and Services, K-State Union Ground Floor.

DUE BY 4 P.M. FRIDAY, OCT. 21, 1994

about Fine Arts Council Issues/concerns.

▶ PREVIEW

Musical portrays rags-to-riches life

COLLEGIAN STAFF

Andrew Lloyd Weber's classic musical "Evita" is one of the most phenomenal musicals of the past two decades.

'Evita" is arguably among the best musicals of the 1970s. The musical is based on the life of Argentine political wife turned celebrity Eva Peron, born in 1919.

Eva's life was one of constant ascension. She came from a poor peasant background, so she sought fame, fortune and power. When the chance to join forces with powerful colonel Juan Peron arose, Eva grabbed it.

After Juan and Eva met. (and were eventually married), they set their sights on the most powerful position on Argentina, the presidency.

On June 4, 1946, Juan Peron became president, and Eva Peron became a country's obsession.

The rest, as they say, is history. Eva Peron is to Argentina what Jackie Kennedy Onassis was to America.

Jackie performed beneficial social functions, like making goodwill visits to other countries, speaking out about mentally ill people and lecturing the nation about etiquette and house-keeping.

Eva functioned very much the same way; however, Eva's performances didn't actually

75%

Entire Stock!

open 9-8 daily

TICKET INFORMATION

McCain Auditorium presents the musical "Evita" at 7 p.m. Sunday. Call 532-6428 for ticket information.

benefit anyone but herself. Jackie's social triumphs were won out of hardship and work. Peron made unsuccessful social trips to Europe, promising all sorts of programs to the lower class under her Eva Peron Foundation. She never made good on those programs, but the masses didn't Peron was one of them. She was the peasant girl made good. That alone assured her icon

The musical itself has gained a sort of icon status. The show plays around the world to millions of people.

original Broadway The production garnered seven Tony Awards including Best Musical of 1980 and a 1981 Grammy for Best Original Cast Album.

It's not hard to understand why the show has achieved such Lloyd Weber's score is classically luscious, with a fair amount of Argentine undertones.

Lloyd Weber is best known for his musicals, "The Phantom of the Opera," "Cats," "Joseph and the

Up to 5: Peanuts in a shell!

Glencia reanuts

From New Mexico

st deals of the year!-

BALL GAME Snack!

Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" and the recent success, "Sunset Boulevard."

In the 1970s, when productions like "Hair" and Lloyd Weber's own "Jesus Christ Superstar" were popular with rock 'n' roll-loving audiences, "Evita" made waves.

The show premiered in London in 1978, after a few years of having gained success as an album.

Among the enchanting music is the internationally popular song, 'Don't Cry For Me, Argentina,' Eva's haunting signature ballad.

"Don't Cry" achieved the status of "standard," bestowed upon universally recognized songs.

Manhattan citizens lucky enough to get tickets will see the show Sunday evening at McCain Auditorium.

It looks like the K-State/Nebraska game isn't the only sellout, as only a few tickets are left for the performance.

Today's Special! Chicken & Noodles Bol S DINER

Manhattan's Sports Leader

Coverage Sponsored By:

Macbeth

Actors From the London Stage

Stephen Casey, Holly Wilson, Gareth Armstrong, Richard Howard, and David Howey.

Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22 at 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Kansas State University

Public/Faculty $18 Senior $16 Student/Child $9

Actors from the London Stage is a troupe of five who hail from such companies as the Royal Shakespeare Company, the Royal National Theatre, and the BBC's Shakespeare series. These veteran performers band together to present Macbeth, William Shakespeare's exploration of flawed ambition, of the moral and psychological consequences of evil.

Believing that the imagination is more powerful than any stage scenery, the company presents the play using minimal sets and playing multiple roles. Their production allows audience members to conjure up the setting and atmosphere.

For tickets, call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. ble (with service charge) at Manhattan Town Center Service desk and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

Macbeth is presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency. wment for the Arts, a federal agency. Corporate support has

MANHATTAN NATIONAL BANK

Game Day Special One MEDIUM PEPPERONI PIZZA for 2 =Carryout Only= -KSU Home Football Game Days Only= "Not Valid With Any Other Offers"

Domino's Pizza

517 N. 12TH - AGGIEVILLE

776-7788

East Huy. 24 or West K-18 Manhattan of Manhattan Steaks / Seafood / Pasta

Fostside+Westside Market

The Greater Kansas Steak House

Across from the Holidome on Ft. Riley Blvd. 2304 Stagg Hill Road 537-8440

ONLY from Clyde's! Two Great Game Day Buffets

Breakfast

Saturday 8-10 a.m. Sunday 8:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. It's the best breakfast in town.

- Cinnamon Rolls
- Homemade Buttermilk Biscuits
- Creamed Chipped Beef
- Biscuit Gravy
- Home fried Potatoes
- * French Toast
- Potato Pancakes
- Escalloped Apples Scrambled Eggs
- * Bacon / Sausage Grilled Ham

All-You-Can-Eat For Only $4.95

Dinner 2:30-9:30 p.m.

- Prime Rib of Beef Honey Dijon Chicken
- Hot & Spicy Chicken Strips Baked Ziti
- Grilled Chicken & Broccoli
- Fettuccine Alfredo
- Bull Fries
- Baked Potatoes
- Corn Souffle Broccoli Au Gratin
- Salad Bar & much more

All-You-Can-Eat

Only $13.95

The K-State volleyball team is competing in the Wichita State Invitational today and Saturday at Levitt Arena. The Wildcats will face Creighton and Wichita in the two-day triangular tournament.

On Thursday, K-State took its first game from Nebraska since 1987 but was then subdued 15-2 in the second game. From there, Nebraska never looked back, downing K-State in the third and fourth games 15-5 and 15-6.

The loss evened the Cats' record in the Big Eight to 2-2. K-State's overall record stands at 10-5.

OCTOBER 14, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

► COLUMN Fans need to respect Huskers

Walking around campus, I hear all of the talk about how this is the year K-State destroys Nebraska.

Fans are absolutely convinced that the Wildcats are going to win. They're more convinced than before K-State took on True, Nebraska may be down to its third-string quarterback and its defensive backfield is banged up, but the Cornhuskers are still the No. 2 team in the country, and they are still the nation's best rushing attack with or without Tommie Frazier. Even last season, K-State couldn't realistically even consider beating a team ranked this high.

Has the team improved that much in the last 12 months?

The situation is nearly identical to a year ago. Both teams enter the game undefeated, both are ranked, and Nebraska is still in the hunt for the national title.

The difference that seems to have K-State fans glowing with confidence is the fact that the game is at home.

The Cats defense, despite a valiant effort in one of the season's most exciting contests, did yield 545 yards of total offense to the Huskers, 391 of which came on the ground.

Granted, K-State's defense has been impressive the last two games against Kansas and Minnesota. However, the rushing games of the Jayhawks and Golden Gophers hardly compare to the Big Red machine.

Lawrence Phillips has already eclipsed 1,000 yards rushing after only six games behind an offensive line which boasts two preseason all-Americans at the tackle positions, Zach Wiegert and Rob Zatechka.

When has Nebraska ever not had a dominating offensive line?

WESS

HUDELSON

The entire outcome of the game rides on the Cats' ability or inability to stop the Nebraska rushing attack. Despite a lessthan-challenging schedule this season, you would have to go back to the Oklahoma game last season to find a team that kept Nebraska at less than 200 yards.

A ray of hope for K-State may lie within its passing game. This is where K-State's offensive line comes into the picture. Chad May must have time to scan the secondary.

However, if Coach Tom Osborne watched any film at all, he surely noticed the two times the Jayhawks blitzed May. Both plays resulted in sacks.

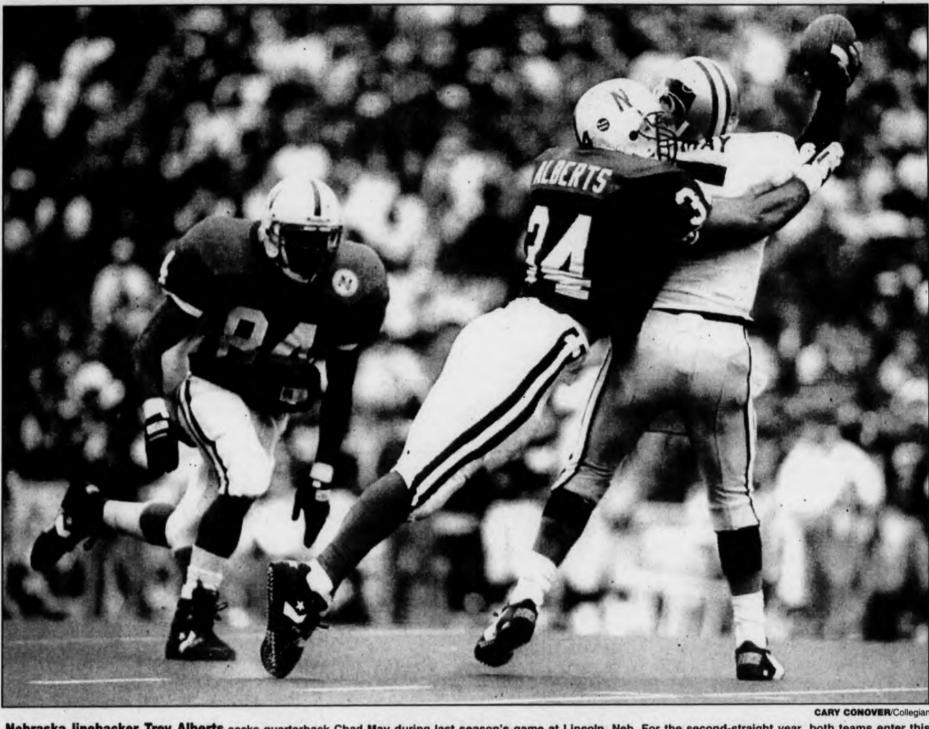

Despite allowing only two sacks last season, May was continually pressured and forced to throw some terrible passes.

Another factor to consider is the number of big-time games the teams have played. Nebraska annually battles Colorado with the Big Eight title on the line, not to mention the last two Orange Bowls. The biggest game anybody on K-State's team has played in is the Copper Bowl against an unranked Wyoming team.

I'm nervous about putting my mug by this prediction, but here it goes: Nebraska 38, K-State 28.

Nebraska linebacker Trev Alberts sacks quarterback Chad May during last season's game at Lincoln, Neb. For the second-straight year, both teams enter this Saturday's contest undefeated.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

ornhuskers invade Manhattan

The biggest game of the Bill Snyder era lies dead ahead of the K-State football team.

Coach Snyder said he could not comment whether this was the biggest game in K-State football history because he doesn't know enough of the Wildcats' history. However, after some prodding, Snyder did confess it was the biggest of his career at K-State.

"There are big implications involved with this game," Snyder said. "I guess it is the biggest since I've been here."

What is on the line? Both teams are ranked, both teams are undefeated, and both are playing on national television.

"I told the players yesterday that things may be too good," Snyder said. "As always, we're anything for granted. We have to remember to take care of things that are important to us.

One factor staring K-State in the face is stopping the nation's top-ranked rushing attack spearheaded by sophomore Iback Lawrence Phillips. Phillips has rushed for 1,006 yards this season.

"I'm not going to say our defense can't play well against Nebraska, but even if you take out Frazier, they are still far and away the best rushing team in the nation," Snyder said.

Phillips surpassed the 1,000yard plateau by rushing for 221 yards on 33 carries against Oklahoma State last Saturday. Phillips added three touchdowns to the performance.

Last season against K-State, Phillips rushed for 73 yards on five carries. Phillips rushed for more yards a year ago than any not in any position to take other true freshman running back just Tommie Frazier," it doesn't add any additional in Nebraska football history

"We can't let Phillips out of the gate early in the contest, or he's gone," Snyder said. The burden of this assignment falls squarely on the shoulders of K-State linebackers and defensive linemen. "I don't think you can shut down Nebraska," linebacker Mike Ekeler said. "All we can do is play as hard as we possibly can and see what happens." K-State's defense has defended the run well in the last two contests against Minnesota and Kansas. The Jayhawks' rushing attack was limited to 70 yards for the game.

Additionally, the Cats kept Minnesota running back Chris Darkins to 73 yards. Darkins entered the game averaging more than 100 yards per contest.

"They are No. 2 in the country for more reasons than quarterback Chad May said.

Wide receiver Kevin Lockett said K-State's offense is starting to come together as a team.

"It's hard not to get caught up in all of this," Lockett said. "I think coach is keeping us pretty focused on our job.

Lockett caught a season-high eight receptions for 116 yards. Last season against Nebraska, Lockett hauled in eight passes for 143 yards, including a 58yard touchdown at Lincoln,

May set a Big Eight record at Nebraska with 489 yards passing. As a team, K-State ran up 565 yards total offense before falling to the Huskers,

Last Saturday, May threw for his second-highest career total against KU with 379 yards.

Despite all of the excitement surrounding the game, May said anxiety for him.

"I haven't thought about national TV or that kind of stuff too much," May said. "It really doesn't add any extra pressure."

Date: Saturday, Oct. 15 Kickoff: 11 a.m. Place: KSU Stadium The opponent: Nebraska Comhuskers

This season's record: 6-0 Huskers to watch:

#56 Rob Zatechka, OT

#1 Lawrence Phillips, IB #14 Barron Miles, CB

#32 Ed Stewart, LB

#72 Zach Wiegert, OT

▶ BASKETBALL

Asbury, players anticipate season

K-State men's basketball coach Tom Asbury admits that basketball isn't the one sport on Wildcat fans' minds

"I think our coaching staff and our players are about as excited about the football team as anybody, but I think that's really going to help generate interest throughout our program, too," Asbury said as he addressed members of the press Thursday during K-state basketball media day.

The interest should be there just in time for Friday's Midnight Madness scrimmage, as K-State fans get to know a new coaching staff, new players and new playing style Coach Asbury said he's anxious to see what's in store for his team this season. "This year is unique in a sense that it's been, I guess, a season where everything is brand new to everybody," Asbury said.

That will be an adjustment for our players and our coaches and for everybody involved in our program, but that doesn't lessen the anticipation -- it might heighten it, if anything."

One of those new faces who is already adding some anticipation to the Cats' season is junior transfer Tyrone Davis, who last week was declared eligible to play for the Cats for two more

Davis, a 6-foot, 8-inch center, is expected to help the Cats, on the front line, rebounding, post defense and inside scoring. He comes to K-State from Baylor, where he sat out the entire season after the school ruled him ineligible. But as Asbury explained,

16 seasons since I've gone this decision probably should not have been made. "Basically what happened was that Davis was one of four players who they did not allow to play because of some potential academic problems," Asbury said. "But as it turns out, Tyrone was exonerated of any charges and probably should not have been ruled ineligible, but because he was lumped in with the other three junior college transfers, they did not allow him to play.

The school publicly made the statement later on during the year that he should have been allowed to play, and that it was just one of those things that happened." So how did Davis end up in Manhattan? Asbury said it was a combination of several

"Tyrone saw potential sanctions coming to Baylor, and over the course of the summer, he decided that he didn't want to return," Asbury said. "K-State had recruited him last year, but once he got here, we had to gamble on whether we would have him for one or two years."

This gambling paid off. "We thought, 'He's a quality person, he's a good student,' and even if we just had him for one year, at least we'd have him for practice this year," Asbury said. "So we gambled, hoping we'd get him for two, assuming we'd get him for two, and if not, we would have taken him for one. So, fortunately, it's worked

Davis, for one, said he is also very glad that everything worked out.

"I don't know exactly what they did, but as soon as I got my release, I called here first," Davis said. "I'm not an emotional guy, but inside, I

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach has gut feeling about harriers' chances at Michigan

DEBO ADEJUNMOBI Collegian

The cross country teams will compete this Sunday at the Wolverine Inter-Regional Meet in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Coach Terry Drake sees this meet as an opportunity, for his teams, especially the women, to move forward.

"I just have a good feeling about this week," Drake said. "I think the girls and guys are ready to take another step forward. More so with the women because they're a little better team right now. The last two weeks have been the best practices we've had all year. I definitely think that we're ready to do some good things."

Both the men and women definitely have incentive to do good things after disappointing finishes at the NCAA Championship Pre-Meet two weeks ago.

The women finished in 12th place in the 21-team field, while the men placed 15th. But Drake did manage to find something positive in the teams' performances.

"I really wasn't too disappointed,"

Drake said. "It was hard to sit there and watch us be pretty far back, but I think it was a good learning experience.'

Drake referred to two runners, junior Billy Wuggazer and freshman Charity Swartz.

"On the men's side, Billy did great," Drake said. "He mixed it up with some of the best kids in the country and did real "For the women, Charity Swartz got a real good lesson. She was still our No. 1 person, but after one kilometer, she was in about 100th place. She moved up to 40th, but she realized just how hard she needs to go out. So it was a pretty good stepping stone, even though we got thumped.'

Junior Geoff Delahanty said that the team's training routine will allow it to finish this season out strong.

'What we're doing right now is going from high mileage to starting to back off a little bit," Delahanty said. "As the bigger meets come up, we're going to back off in miles so that we are well-rested for them."

Compiled from Collegian staff and Associated Press reports

Destroying the evils of cheap soft drinks and Nebraska communists

the Big Red is coming, so the Big Red is going. Big Red soft drink has been pulled off the shelves at six of Manhattan's grocery stores in a show of support for the K-State Wildcats football team, which takes on the Nebraska Cornhuskers on Saturday.

Russ Simons, who works for Full Service Beverage Distributors of Colorado, supervised the gesture Wednesday at the city's two Dillons stores, three Food-4-Less stores and Blue Hills Dutch Maid.

"My boss is from Colorado Springs, and when Nebraska came out to play the Colorado Buffaloes, they did the same thing," he said. "It went over real well. So my boss suggested I try it here."

The soft drink, which is bottled in Texas, will go back on the store shelves Monday, Simons said.

The real problem here still has not been solved, though.

Big Red chewing gum is still everywhere in this town.

It is in vending machines, convenience stores, even in our own K-State Union.

What the heck is going on here? Are we giving the enemy a foothold?

The whole thing is obviously a plot from that Big Red guru himself, Nebraska coach comrade Tom Osborne.

Why red? Because they're all commies, Go Cats, teach those redcoats a lesson.

K-State football mania hits Ohio: "Hello, Cleveland!"

s if those wacky local K-State football fans were not enough, it seems Lour team has caught the attention of an unlikely group of fans.

Students at Cleveland State University. led by Bill Thompson, senior in public rela-tions and sports editor of CSU's student paper, want to adopt our team.

Thompson said the Ohio school has no football team of its own, and that several CSU students are following the Wildcats.

"Kansas State seemed like a great choice for a team to adopt, because you're the underdog," Thompson said.

Thompson said that several CSU students will be rooting for K-State when they play Nebraska Saturday.

"This is catching on," he said. Wouldn't it be cool if after we beat Nebraska, the CSU K-State fans run to a local high school and tear down their goalpost?

smat.internet

K-State, Nebraska flame wars

The following exchange took place on the internet bewtween a Big Red fan and a Wildcat we'll call Willie.

Date: Thu, 13 Oct 1994 16:48:34 -0500 To: huskers@notes.tssi.com (Huskers Newsgroup)

Husker wrote:

Hell, the University of Nebraska at Omaha . could've been the #2 rushing team in the nation with the competition that KU played before the KSU

Willie's response:

With the teams on Nebraska's schedule, maybe you should have scheduled the University of Nebraska at Omaha. They would have made better competition!! What the hell have the Huskers proven? That they can beat Pacific 72-21?

They haven't played anybody and the win against KU doesn't prove a damn thing!

A NU fan complaining about a weak schedule? Isn't that like the pot calling the kettle black? Look who you guys have played in the last few years: North Texas, Pacific, Wyoming (almost an upset, huh?), Middle Tennessee State, Northern Illinois, Oregon State. Boy, those are powerhouses!!!

Wake up KSU, your overconfidence will only cause you to get destroyed this Saturday!!

Look, you can just bring the Huskers and your 4,000 fans into KSU Stadium and see what

The arrogance is enough to fill Memorial Stadium. If Nebraska wins, K-State loses nothing. If K-State wins, Nebraska loses everything. Have a nice day.

SMATTERINGS WERE NOT SPONSORED BY UPC

n an ideal world, college students would go home and study until midnight and go to bed dreaming of formulae and thesis statements. Well, folks, it's not an .

ideal world. Students watch television In fact, they watch a fair amount of televi-

Recently, Collegian conducted an extremely unscientific poll of TV-viewing habits on the K-State campus (in other words, this poll has a plus/minus quotient of 100 percent) If this poll proved anything, it is that K-State has a varied interest in television. There were a few standouts, but for the most part, the answers to the 20question survey were colorful.

"Seinfeld," the hipper-than-hip sitcom about nothing, edges out the tooltime, do-it-yourselfer "Home Improvement" as K-State's favorite TV show (all-around).

Notable runners-up include the campy "Melrose Place" and "Beverly Hills, 90210.

According to the Nielsen Ratings for Sept. 29 through Oct. 2, "Home Improvement" is the No. 1 show in America with a 35.0 rating (one rating point equals 1 million viewers).

"Seinfeld" is No. 2, with a 32.4 rating, followed by "Grace under Fire," which wasn't even mentioned in our survey.

The sure-fire winner for favorite rerun show was, expectedly, "Cheers." There were a couple "Who's the Boss," "Star, Trek: Next Generation," "Wings" and "Roseanne" nods.

Come on down, "The Price is Right" ranks as the No. I game show among

Is it Rod Roddy's zany comments, or is it the suggestive hijinks of Bob Barker and his so-called "beauties" that makes "Price" the No. 1 pick?

Maybe it's the just the varied format one minute it's the Alpine climber, the next it's Planko. Surprisingly,

Staters were split on how they felt about TV violence and nudity (see statistical Roughly half felt television has gone too far. There was one response that agreed it was a problem, but the respondent admitted to liking it. Another felt television was only getting more realistic. Like David Caruso's butt on national television is getting more realistic.

Televised court trials were not extraordinarily popular, but almost half of the respondents mentioned watching the O.J. Simpson trial to some degree.

That can be attributed, mainly, to timeliness. If the Bobbitt trial was still on television, it would surely have an audience. Three respondents mentioned the Menendez trial.

Headline News and CNN are the TV news sources most students turn to. Primetime Live, 20/20 and 60 Minutes got a few responses.

A majority of students watch "any" news - generally meaning whatever local news happens to be on. There was a fair amount of respondents admitting they watch no news. They probably turn to the Collegian for their news o' the

. The average amount of television watched per week by respondents was a whopping 13 hours. That's approximately two hours a day.

Figuring most students get home at 5 p.m. and go to bed at 11:30 p.m., that means respondents spend 30 percent of their evening time watching the boob

Disturbingly, two respondents clocked their TV time at 30 hours a week. I guess watching Nick at Nite is really habit-forming.

For every 13 hours per week spent on TV viewing, respondents spend 10 hours per week doing homework. Roughly 30 percent of the respondents registered their homework hours at four per week.

Two respondents figured their weekly homework wattage at 25 hours.

These two probably don't watch

"Beavis and Butt-head."

Sports wasn't really a key player in the results of the poll. There were a few mentions of ESPN's "Sports Center" and Monday Night Football, but no one considered sports programs as one of their favorite shows.

Obviously, politicians don't really count as K-State students (or even humans), but doesn't everyone really want to know what they watch after a hard day's work lunching with special interests?

U.S. Sen. Bob Dole surprisingly picks "Murder She Wrote" over "Rush Limbaugh" as his favorite TV show. I'm sure Angela Lansbury just shud-

Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, although she doesn't have a favorite regular program, recently enjoyed every episode of Ken Burns' documentary, "Baseball," that ran a few weeks ago on PBS.

"She loved it. She watched all of it," Mike Horak, press secretary for Sen. Kassebaum, said.

Gov. Joan Finney doesn't have a favorite TV show. She just doesn't have

It must be all those important decisions she makes every day that take up her time, whether to open casinos in western Kansas or to send some more busy work over to Secretary of State Bill Graves.

President Jon Wefald, though he isn't really a politician, (we had to stick him somewhere) enjoys CNN

It's hard to say what all of this means, though. Are K-Staters normal viewers?

The best way to answer this question is: Are K-Staters normal?

K-State's

favorite game show: "The Price is Right."

KANSAS

State employees may lose jobs to contracts

LEIGH BELLINGER Collegian

The state of Kansas is considering turning to private companies to operate or maintain public services and, as a result, classified state employees could be out on the streets, a union representative said Thursday night.

Myrlene Kelly, executive director for the Kansas Association of Public Employees, was in town to discuss the Kansas Council on Privatization, which was set up by the Legislature this year to look at the possible effect privatization would have on the state's 40,000 employees.

"If all of us were wealthy people, we wouldn't need the service of the government," Kelly said. "But the common good of the people has to be met. This cannot be done when the organization is for profit only.'

In the past week, Kelly has traveled across the state talking with state employees about the possibility of privatization and what it would mean to them. She said her stop in

Friday October 14

10 p.m.-1 a.m.

Union Station

Book Shop

We're Open Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m -7 p.m.

What do we have for you?

office

Manhattan brought out one of the best crowds of the week, with more than 30 coming out to listen to her talk about privatization. KAPE represents 15,000 state employees.

"We can stop it. We really can," Kelly said. "What you've got to do is talk to your neighbors, your friends and convince those people you're working with that they've got to be voting the right way."

She said Bill Graves has gone on record saying he will turn to privatization in the state if elected. KAPE endorsed Jim Slattery earlier in the gubernatorial campaign.

David Schlosser, political director for the Bill Graves campaign, said privatization is a cost-saving measure that would be evaluated on a case-by-case basis and something Graves would work on with the legislature.

He said turning to private companies would benefit the state. They could do it better, more efficiently and give Kansas tax payers more value for their money,"

Westloop Shopping Center

International

Keggãe Nite

Saturday October 15

9 p.m. - Midnight Union Station near Hunam's Restaurant

Sat., Sun. 10 a.m.-7 p.m.

he said in a telephone interview from Topeka.

Kelly said privatization is happening across the nation, with Massachusetts already replacing state employees. One of the reasons is an anti-government movement.

Privatization would also have an effect on state employees who could see a cut in wages, a loss of benefits or even lose their jobs, she said.

Laurie Harrison, who works in the K-State Police department, said she's concerned about what happens if the state turns to private companies.

'It would be devastating. I'm barely making ends meet right now," Harrison, a single parent, said. "It doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out if they take my money away, they're taking money away from the community and the whole state," she said.

Tues.-Thurs.

11 a.m.-2 p.m. 4:30 p.m.-8 p.m.

Fri.-Sat. 11 a.m.-2 p.m. 4:30 p.m.-9 p.m.

CARRY OUT AVAILABLE CUISINE

RESTAURANT & BAR

Friday Night 4:30 -7 p.m.

Munchie Buffet Saturday Night Steak & Shrimp Night

Friday & Saturday Night Entertainment & Drink Specials

Specials

Open 11 a.m. Mon.-Sat til the party's over! 37 8383 • Candlewood 1-800-226-8624

London Paris

Tel Aviv

Bangkok

Tokyo

Mexico City

1.800.2COUNCIL Call for a FREE Student Travels magazine!

TICKETS AVAILABLE AT MCCAIN BOX OFFICE NOON - 5 PM CALL 532 - 6428 FOR RESERVATIONS

STUDENTS/ SENIORS $6

GENERAL PUBLIC $8

THIS PLAY CONTAINS MATURE LANGUAGE.

OPENING AT 8 A.M. SATURDAY FOR PRE-GAME WARM-UP!

2413 Stagg Hill Rd. 776-6699

-State vs. Nebrasko

Men's & Women's Glee Clubs

> Friday, Oct. 14 All Faiths Chapel 8 p.m. Admission - $3

Mr. Goodcents Subs & Pastas®

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store)

6) Pepperoni & Cheese

12) Mr. Goodcents Steak

(green peppers & onions) 15) Chicken Salad

Cheeses Available

Swiss-American-Mozzarella

Cheddar-Provolone-

Standard Dressings

Lettuce-Tomato-Onlon

Oregano

Salt-Pepper-Oil-Vinegar

Also Available

Mustard-Mayonnalse-Pickler

Jalapenos-Spicy Mustard

299

299

299

339

100

499 cents

499 cents

499 cents

539 cents

499 cents

499 cent

499 cents

499 cents

499 cents

8) Roast Beef

9) Turkey

10) Tunafish

11) Capicola

& Cheese

13) Meatball

16) Cheese Mix

17) Seafood Sub

Double Meat

We Deliver! (limited delivery area) 539-1900

Sub Sandwicher	8		Contract to	. H	ot Pastas
(White or Wheat Bread)	Half	Whole	(Served with white or red sauce & garlic
1) Mr. Goodcents Combo	299	499 cents			bread)	200
(Ham, Bologna, Salami, Per	peror	11)
2) Centsable Sub	269	479 cents	Section 1	Pasta	w/Meatballs	w/Sausag
3) Penny Club	299	499 cents	Spaghetti	289	349	359 cen
(Roast Beef, Turkey, Ham)			Mostacciol	289	349	359 cer
4) Italian Combo	299	499 cents	Rigatoni	289	349	359 cen
(Capicola, Pepperoni, Salar	nl)
5) Ham & Cheese	299	489 cents	NEW.	E
			-

499 cents Las

Sides (2) 99 (4) 185 (6) 260 cents Sausage (2)149 (4)289(6) 399 cents (2) 69 (4) 129 (6) 189 cents

Salads & Sides 299 cents Chef Salad 299 cents Chicken Saled 279 cents Tuna Salad 279 cents

179 cents

65 cents

65 cents

75 cents

75 cents

Large

99 cents

99 cents

30 cent Soup (seasonal) 150 cents Pasta Salad Potato Salad

Beverages

Coke, Diet Coke Sprite, Mr. Pibb Seltzer Water 79 cents Coffee 60 cents

Party Trays Available

vou donate plasma. MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177 NABI Mon-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2p.m.

Earn $1

each time

on Cash?

James Milligan Dean of Admissions

COLUMBIA LAW SCHOOL

Will conduct three informational meetings for prospective applicants on Monday, Oct. 17 9:30-10:30 a.m. 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. 2:30-3:30 p.m.

Location: Room 203 Student Union

Little Caesars Pizza

YOUR PARTY! PARTY! SPECIALISTS  CALL 539-3333 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN, KS

VALUE MENU

WITH ONE TOPPING

ADD TOPPINGS OR

YOUR OWN

CREATE YOUR OWN

START WITH

WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR

participating Little Coesars. EXPIRES: 10-29-94

> Little Caesars VALUABLE COUPON

participating Little Coesars. EXPIRES: 10-29-94

Little Caesars

ADD TOPPINGS OR

EXPIRES: 10-29-94 Little Caesars

CREATE YOUR OWN

NEW line of quality pizzas

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES!"

2 LARGE $13.98

loaded with more of what you want! ONE MEDIUM $5.99 * ONE LARGE $7.99 Offer valid of participating carry-out stares. No coupon recessary. ©1994 L.C.E., Inc.

IVERSIONS Straight Girls"-8 p.m. —7 and 9:30 Puple Masque Theatre. Forum Hall.

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

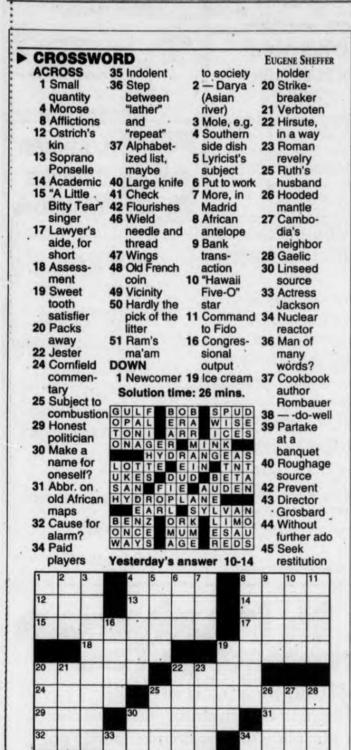

Girls" - 8 p.m. - 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union

"The Flintstones" -7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union

Musical "Evita" -7 p.m. McCain Auditorium.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OCTOBER 14, 1994

10-14 CRYPTOQUIP MF DNKNBMW ENF-FVENFLNBD, NUEWODL WOFNBMFCBN R W M D D JVCWI IMURN

VWOKNB FJODF. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: EACH YEAR, KENNEL EMPLOYEES GET TICKETS TO THE POPULAR "MUTTCRACKER SUITE."

Today's Cryptoquip clue: W equals L

'No Coupon" Specials

► LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

▶ CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON THEY SAY WINNING ISN'T EVERYTHING, AND I'VE DECIDED TO TAKE THEIR WORD FOR IT.

BILL AMEND

Bar-hopper looking to make love connection

(NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)

Dear Cassandra,

I was at Lucky's late Saturday night, and I saw a woman whom I would love to meet. She was in the midst of a crowd, and I wasn't forward enough to "cut in." Besides, I didn't know what to say, everything sounds like a line when you're immersed in such an obvious meat market. So I waited.

She was wearing jeans and an opendenim shirt over a tan cut-off.

So if she sees this, please take a chance! At the very worst, I'll completely embarrass myself, and you can laugh about it with your friends.

Thanks Cassie, Anxiously Waiting

SINGLE

VISION as low as Dear Anxiously Waiting,

Well, well. Isn't this calling the kettle black? You're telling this woman to "take a chance" and look you up, when you can't even ask her to dance at a bar? Did you ever think it might have been a lot less humiliating asking her out oneon-one instead of in front of 20,000 students and the rest of Manhattan?

This isn't the want ads, but since I'm always for helping out someone looking for companionship, I'll keep your name and number here at the Collegian and pass it on to her if she contacts me.

And next time, just ask her to dance. Chances are, she'll say yes.

our monthly specials.

811 COLORADO

▶ LIVE MUSIC

Blind Fly offers originality to all music listeners

Carpetburn, Phantasmagoria to open concert Saturday at Charlie's

NOLAN SCHRAMM

If you want a taste of almost every kind of music possible, members of the band Blind Fly think they can accommodate.

'We are completely original and totally different from anyone else," Lance Woodruff, bass guitar and vocalist, said. "We don't really sound like any other kind of music or band.'

Blind Fly will perform Saturday night at Charlie's Neighborhood Bar. Carpetburn and Phantasmagoria will start the night off, with Blind Fly starting around 11:30 p.m. and going until about 2 a.m. "There is a little bit for everybody — fast, grunge, psychedelic and even slow," Mike Whalen, vocalist and guitar player, said. "I know that I will get wild on Saturday night." The band got started in Hollywood when Whalen met Woodruff at the Musician's Institute in Hollywood. After graduation, they moved to New Orleans, where drummer Danny Watkins joined them, and the present configuration of Blind Fly was born. Blind Fly recorded its first self-produced tape in December.

The tape, "Phil," is available at Streetside. Records and On the Wild Side.

Earlier this year, Blind Fly played in the K-State Union during the lunch hour.

"All that they said is that we were loud," Whalen said. "That's a pretty good description of our music," he said.

Blind Fly plays original pieces at local bars and "We have played parties here in Manhattan, and also, we have played at Charlie's before," Whalen said. "We have been together for about a year and a half, and we do all of our own writing," he said. They said they do not plan on making the band any bigger unless they have to.

If the writing part gets too hard, we may need someone else to help out, Whalen said.

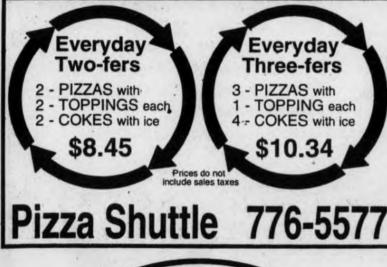

'If we did get someone else, they would have to be ready to do just about everything and maybe even take orders from us," Woodruff said.

Drummer Danny Watkins said he is not interested in making it big.

"We just love to play music," Watkins said. "That is why we are playing."

CONCERT SATURDAY

Blind Fly. will perform Saturday night at Charlie's Neighborhood Bar with Carpetburn and Phantasmagoria. The show will start around 9 p.m., and a modest cover will be charged, so save those dimes.

Free Admission Tonight Jurassic Park Oct. 14 at 8 p.m.

you mother huskers

the AD STAFF

OLLEGIAN

Call 532-6560 by 4 p.m. Nov. 2 to reserve your Cat Tracker space for the Iowa State homecoming game.

Fund use to be decided

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

projects. Funds must be used for a non-recurring expense that will benefit a majority of students. This project must be decided by the end of this semester.

Student Affairs and Social Services Committee will present a proposal to Senate about how to spend the money. It will gather ideas from students in several ways.

The committee will meet for an open discussion at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the SGA Office.

Students can write suggestions on a bulletin board in the K-State Union, and there will be several open forums. Committee members will be in the Union from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Wednesday to gauge student opinion.

SGA also allocated money to several student organizations. Students for the Right to Life was given $694 for Life Awareness Week. Women's Union was allocated $525 for a speaker and $349 for Women's Film Festival.

Catbackers to raise funds

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The Nebraskans also plan to have a tailgate party with both Cornhusker and Wildcat fans to raise money. "We're expecting around 250 K-

State and Nebraska fans for the pre and post-game party. It will be a fun ballgame fundraiser," Whitehead

Philippi said the organization not only plans tailgate parties for the home games, but also promotes season ticket sales and gets the group together to watch the games on television for the away games.

The group also raises money for the scholarship foundation.

Philippi said the 29 Catbacker clubs from around the area raised $90,000 for the student athletic scholarship fund through dinners, auctions and a golf tournament.

The organization charges a $25 membership fee, which covers expenses and serves as a donation to the scholarship fund.

Nebraskans for K-State, originally formed by graduates of the veterinary school, now has around 80 members.

The organization first began in the early 1980s, faded out for a few years and then was brought back to life in 1990 by three Lincoln, Neb., residents.

"It died down, and we fired it back up through a membership drive," Brent Rockers, Lincoln resident, said.

The organization built up its membership by contacting K-State graduates who lived in Nebraska.

"Early on, a lot of people thought it was funny, but now a lot of people know about it and respect us as a core group," Rockers said.

Rockers said K-State's impressive season is forcing the Nebraskans to look at K-State in a new light.

"Nebraska fans have always been in a position where they could dominate a Kansas team. Since they're now dealing with a peer rather than someone that they can come on down and trounce, it's going to be an attitude adjustment," Whitehead said.

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. For free transportation within city limits. call the church.

Pastors Karen & Alan Selig 2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691 An American Baptist Congregation

Grace Baptist Church (2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)

◆ Sunday ◆ Three Unique Worship Opportunities

8:15 + 9:30 + 11 a.m. Bible Classes For All Ages - 9:30 a.m. All-Age Family Hour - 11 a.m. Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m. 776-0424

> Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship

Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m. Pastor Harris Waltner Child Care Available

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH 5th & Humboldt 776-8790

Worship & Praise 8:30 a.m. Traditional Worship 10:55 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. COLLEGE FELLOWSHIP Live Broadcast 11:30 a.m. Angel 95 (95.3 FM) Wed. Eve. Bible Study

& Youth Programs

PASTOR DR. DONALD E. BREZAVAR

UNITY CHURCH of MANHATTAN 1021 Denison Ave. (E.C.M. Building)

Meditation 10:15 a.m. Service 11 a.m. "The Daily Word People"

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH

Welcome Back, Students Morning Worship 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday School 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groups) 6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays

ST. FRANCIS CANTERBURY EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY

537-7173

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel every Sunday at 5 p.m. Call 532-9099

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

Advertise in the Collegian

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30., 11a.m. & 5 p.m. Confessione: Set. & 5 p.m. ions: Sat. 3:30 p.m.

711 Denison Chaplain: Father Keith Weber

English Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m Sunday School 9:15 a.m. Chinese Worship 1 p.m. 4761 Tuttle Creek Blvc. (3 miles north of Kimball Ave.) 776-3798

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

(LCMS)

Campus Pastor James Gau Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m. Sat. Worship 6 p.m. Bible Class Sunday 9:30 a.m.

330 N. Sunset Ave. 539-2604

FIRST UNITED

8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship 9:45 a.m. Church School

METHODIST CHURCH

Nursery provided for all services Omer G. Tittle, Pastor

612 Poyntz DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

First Congregational Church 700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006

Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m.

Sermon: Is There Life After Divorce? Sunday, Oct. 16

Rev. Donald Longbottom

Lutheran Campus Ministries

WORSHIP Sundays 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel

Holy Communion celebrated every Sunday

+sing, pray, meditate +pursue your questions of faith

+hear a word of acceptance and forgiveness +bring a friend

Pastor Jayne Thompson

539-4451

-Open to AII-

Phi Kapppa Tau

The Children's Heart Foundation was established in 1985 to help children and youths who have heart diseases or other conditions which require transplants. The Phi Kappa Tau Cannon Crew is on a mission to help save the lives of those children who need our support. For the third year, every time the Cats score, our cannon on the hill roars to support the children's Heart Foundation. You can help save a child's life by purchasing a CANNON CREW t-shirt at all home football games.

FOR MORE INFORMATION ON HOW TO JOIN THE CREW, PLEASE CONTACT: PRESTON PEINE - PHI KAPPA TAU at 913-539-7416

We'd like to say we can give you results in a week. We can't.

anhattan Job Service Apply in person at 621 Humboldt

ISION EXPO

TODAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Educate yourself and your eyes with demonstrations on Kid-Proof™ Lenses and Safety Lenses. See the newest looks in Sports Eyewear and the latest Flexible Frames!

5 p.m. Drawing for 2 FREE tickets

to KSU vs.

Nebraska

 $g_{ame}$

Special Video-Imaging shows you how you would look with different colored eyes! We have the newest in tinted contact lenses (even occasional-wear tints).

40% Off Retail SUNGLASSES

See our special Kansas State Purple Sunglasses (official Power Cat logo).

Also: Giveaways: T-shirts, KSU sunglasses, prescription ski goggles, soccerball, etc.

Your Total Eyecare Center

Drs. Price, Young, Odle, Horsch, P.A. And Associates • Optometrists 1-800-675-1128

3012 Anderson • Manhattan, KS 66502 • (913) 537-1118

design a new lifestyle! She

What you will learn

- · how to set realistic goals
- · how to eat healthfully and
- · how to include regular · how to enlist the support of 7:00 p.m. Your class fee the Memorial Hospital Fitness Center, and the class manual. Maintenance classes and longterm follow-up is available.

Want to learn more about it? Be sure to attend the free introductory session on Monday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m.

compare prices . . . this

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

105 Superit P.O. Box 1208 . Maintestan: Kame is 66502 . 01 (175) 136

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25

each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $,30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are

d. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or property classify any ad.

HOW TO PAY

HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention. DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS

If you self your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

emaining days. You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published. CORRECTIONS

CANCELLATIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion. As a service to you, we run for three days free of charge.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

Announcements

Tight on

Cash?

Earn $15

each time

plasma.

you donate

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL

CENTER

1130 Gardenway

776-9177

Mon-Fri.

ADVANCED FLIGHT Training from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private

ATP multi-pool

Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-

ZEN BUDDHIST Psycholo

questions.

Personals

gy/ Philosophy, Fri. Oct. 14, 7:30p.m., BH121, American Zen Priest Shoken Winecoff will Lecture and respond to require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-

when placing a per-

letter in the alphabet; I hope this birthday is this much!-Orie

the best yet! We've shared good times and laughs; looking into the future we're bound to have a blast! I love you this much! Orio

PHI KELLEY B. I can't

NABI

-9431 HOUSING/

Apts. Furnished

MOVING AWAY, must rent my part of two-bed-room, one bath apart-month plus shared utili-ties 539-4137. QUIET SURROUNDING for Studio or

TWO-BEDROOM FUR NISHED apartment central air, all bills paid planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m. For Rent-FISHNET PANTYHOSE, Patricia's Undercover Lingerie. 1224 Moro,

SQ. APT. *POOL 537-9064

AVAILABLE

****************

wait to play in the hay on Fri. I'll still try to "scoot some boots." But just promise not to shoot me like a lame baths. 776-3804. horse! Luv, Adrian SHUCKS! Go Cats; you can shuck 'em, you can pop 'em, you can boil 'em, you can silk 'em, you can fry 'em, you can roast 'em, you can beat 'em! Large eetings/

ents

TOASTMASTERS A mu-tual support group for people who want to im-prove their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call prove their public speaking skills. Also, an meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Parties-n-More

W

ZONOHORNS VEBRASKAS 601X6Open Saturday

AOD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Warewhere, discounts, Ware ham, Days Inn, Hous Street.

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. room, one bath apart-ment, large bedroom with walk-in closet, washer/ dryer, cable TV, nice neighborhood, covered parking, fully carpeted and furnished (if necessary) $225 month plus shared utili-

study. Studio or one-bedroom fur-nished or unfurnished. Some with utilities paid. Nine month lease, no pets. 539–4087.

including cable, $300, 537-0428.

Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent loca tions with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

*******

CAMBRIDGE 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heát. Two baths. Call now. 776-3908

Wow Leasing 2 Bedroom Apartments 1/2 block

from campus/ 1 or 2 baths For Appointment call 776-3804

tral air/ heat, laundry facilities. 776-3804. CHASE MANHATTAN

AVAILABLE OCT. 1, one

Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin. FOR RENT- Studio apart ment, all utilities paid Please call Jared at 539 ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804. TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, remodeled, $390, bills paid. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Ag gieville and campus. 1005 Bluemont. $465. Central air/ heat. Water, trash paid. 776-3804.

Rooms

Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, exchange for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

For Rent-Houses

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for raping semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776–0096 after 9p.m.

FEMALE TO share nice apartment, own room $175/ month. Call 539-0147.

HUGE HOUSE, own room (big). Next to campus, all bills paid, $225/ month. 587-9694. Available now or se mester. Two available.

MALE NEEDED to share four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct. rent free. 587-9327.

MALE/ FEMALE nonsmoker. Available now share two-bedroom apartment. $210/ month 913 Vattier, quiet, clean, near school. Eileen 587-8442 before 12p.m. NON-SMOKING FEMALE needed to share one-third bills, five minute walk from campus. 776-6184.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice area, available now, male/ female. Call Kelly (H) 776-3585, (W) 776-6612.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

Sublease

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two-bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balco-ny, 587-9394.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE-LY, one room in three-bedroom house. One block from campus. Price negotiable. No de-posit. 532-9191. Leave

DIRECTORY

Typing COMPUTER SUPPORT for

Resume/

your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordpro-cessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, re-ports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings) CUSTOM TYPING/ Word Processing/ resumes. QUICK FIX offers services for the busy student. Reason-able rates, delivery

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

RESUME RESUME RE-SUME and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda, 776–3290.

Musicians/DJs

240

MUSICIANS WANTED for country band, experi-ence needed, 587-1805.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hondas and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-

Other Services

255

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in-come requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716.

SERVICES: INTERNATION-AL Students: DV-1 Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration. Greencards provide U.S. permanent resi dent status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed. For information and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)998-4425 Monday- Sunday 10a.m.-EMPLOYMENT/

CAREERS

Help Wanted

1-800-FOR-AVON. money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170.

FTERNOON WORK, 8- 12 hours/ week, $5/ hour. File, clean, pack boxes, light assembly, occa-sional lifting to 60 pounds. AGTECH/ Man-hattan, 776-3863.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

COACHING ASSISTANT boy's basketball at Luck-ey Junior High. Oct. '94 through Feb. '95 apply at 306 South Juliette.

CRUISE SHIP Jobs! Attention: Students earn $2000 plus monthly. Part-time/ full-time. World travel. Carri-bean, Hawaii. All positions available. No ex perience. (602)453-4651.

Giorgio's

Manhattan's most authentic Italian restaurant is now accepting applications for managers, kitchen manager, trainees, waiters and waitresses.

Apply in person at 100 Bluemont.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

FAST FUNDRAISER- Raise $500 in five days Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. Fast, simple, easy- no fiobligation.

IMMEDIATE POSITIONS available for hard work ing fast paced, custom er oriented people. Po sitions open are grill/ mexican MWF 10:30a.m.-2p.m. or por-ter MWF 9:30a.m.-1:30p.m. or salad bar MWF 9a.m.- 2:40p.m. Substitute position available 6a.m.10:30a.m. MWF or
T/TH. Apply immediately at the K-State Union Foodservice Office.

LOCAL FRATERNITY is cu rently seeking an exsponsibilities include planning meals for 50 men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12.50 per hour. Please send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

IDENTIAL ASSISTANT: Part-time posi-RESIDENTIAL tion available for a five bed male residential facility for the severe and persistent mentally ill. Duties include monitoring/ supervision of daily living skills, and planning/ supervising recreational and leisure skills activities. Must be available to attend a team staff meeting weekly. Contact the CSP Supervisor at Paw-nee Mental Health Serv-ices, Phone: 587-4333.

SALES PEOPLE needed for all shifts at Manhattan Mall, apply in person at Image Perfumes, across from Mr. Bulky's.

SALES/ MARKETING Rep. To contract for place ment of point of pur chase advertising with-in a specific industry. Rquirements: over 21, two years college or equivalent sales/ mar keting experience. Smaller marketing areas may be limited time of employment, relocation to larger market optional. Flexible hours, student ok, com mission for each place ment plus regular bo-nuses. Send resume, Box 2236, Topeka, KS

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 openings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

STUDENT COMPUTER OP erator: 20 hours per week. Must be willing to work hours indicated: Tuesday and Thursday and every other Saturday. Must be enrolled in at least six resi rolled in at least six resident semester hours during spring semester. Willing to work during student recesses and summer months. Applications will be accepted until 5:00p.m. Oct., 14, 1994 in som 2 Farrell is 1994 in room 2 Farrell li-brary. Undergraduates with employment potential tor two years will be given preference.

STUDENT PROGRAM-MERS. The KSU Office of Information Systems has an immediate need for four experienced Student Programmers. Recruiting will continue until all positions are filled. Successful candi-dates will have; 1) knowledge of programming in a common la guage (such as C or CO-BOL), programming ex-perience in multi-user operating environ-ments (Such as UNIX or MVS), and at least junior class standing in CIS, MIS, or a directly related field, or 2) suffi-cient knowledge of desktop computers and Novell networking to be able to install hardware (even initial setup), in stall software, and analyze whether a problem related to network hardware/ software. Ap-plications can be obplications can be ob-tained by calling 532-6281, writing or coming to the KSU Of-fice of Information Sys-tems, Foundation Cen-ter, 2323 Anderson Ave. Suite 215, which is also the primary work location for these posi-tions. Questions regarding these positions should be directed to David Hillier at 532-7843, or by electronic mail (e-mail) to deh@ksuvm. If you are unable to reach David, and e-mail contact points. Miniority, Women and Handi-capped are encouraged to apply. TUTOR NEEDED imme diately Org. Biol 201, hourly rate plus bonus. Must have good grades in Organismic Biology. Jeffery 776–6690.

PARKING

FAX

VAN DRIVER: Part-time po sition available imme-diately. Responsible for transporting clients to/ from Day Treatment Program. CDL required. Contact CSP Supervisor, Pawnee Mental Health Services, phone: 587-4333. EOE.

YOUNG, AGGRESSIVE, ad vertising agency look-ing for "fresh," "red hot" designer. Recent praduates encouraged to apply. Must have Macintosh experience. Send resumes to: Pro-duction Director, P.O. Box 4512. Topeka, KS

Business Opportunities

330

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

MARKET

Wanted to Buy NEEDED: MANUAL for

Lotus 1-2-3 version 2.3 and WordPerfect ver-sion 5.1. 776-4544.

Items for Sale COPIER RECONDITIONED Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction

- BONEPILE RECORDS'& DISCS NOW OPEN 1126 LARAMIE 587-8944

CA$H FOR USED CDs

$195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m. FOR SALE: Four Tempco

Goose Down coats, like new, 776-4544. FOR SALE: One student ticket for KSU vs NU, $40, 537-6894.

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

STUDENT DRAFTING table

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wa-

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

ATTENTION DOOM Play

ers. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hundreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539–0801.

lator with book and case. $100. Call Trever at 537-2989. Please, leave message if gone.

386, 40 meg hard drive, 3.5 and 5.25 disk drives, color monitor, mouse lots of software. Easy to use. $600. 539-2042.

IBM COMPATIBLE laser

MACINTOSH COMPUT

PACKARD BELL 486/33

SMITH CORONA 425 Word

AKC REGISTERED cho colate lab puppies. Both parents point. 537-4069.

FOR SALE one student

KANSAS STATE FAN

needs tickets KSU/NU ga (402)488-3888.

KSU TICKETS WANT-ED. NEBRASKA OR COLORADO GAMES. TOP $ PAID.

TOP $ (800)817-2820.

football pass with Ne braska, Iowa State and Oklahoma State tickets.

Pets and

Supplies

Tickets to

Buy/Sell

Complete system with desk. 10 months old, loaded with software, $900. Call Will at 587-4123.

Processor. Great for student papers. Has spread sheet capability Like new, $200. Call 587 0683 leave message.

HP48S- SCIENTIFIC Calcu-

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555 532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

Antiques

OFFICE HOURS

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

Automobiles 1984 CAMARO Z28 305 V-8

5.0 liter, excellent condition. $3000. Call 587-9470. 1985 CHEVROLET Celebrity Eurosport sedan, V6, automatic, extras, runs, looks great, ex-patrol car, comfortable, reli-able, $1350, 539-2528.

1986 CAMARO Z28. Black and gold. Excellent con-dition. Call 776-7477. Can see at 912 Thur-

1986 SPRINT, drive it all day with the change in your couch. $1000. 1976 Mustang, 69,000 miles, $750 power steering, power brakes, 539-1991. 75 MERCURY Marquis, recently rebuilt engine, power everything, ex-cellent condition, must sell $1200 or best offer, 539-3726, or leave mes-

530

ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Motorcycles Chris (800)289-5685. 1990 HONDA CBR 600 great condition, well maintained $3200, MACINTOSH PLUS 4 meg ram 20 meg harddrive with lots of software. $395. 537-0308.

TRAVEL/

1.800.SUNCHASE

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY 115 Rooms Available 210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

020 Lost and Found 030 Personals

040 Meetings/Events

010 Announcements

050 Parties-n-More 100

105 For Rent -Apt. Furnished 1.10 For Rent -

Apt. Unfurnished

HOUSING/

REAL ESTATE

125 For Sale - Houses 130 For Rent -225 Pregnancy Testing Mobile Homes

140 For Rent'- Garage 145 Roommate Wanted

135 For Sale -

150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture

120 For Rent - Houses

160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale

DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

200

220 Sewing/Alterations

230 Lawn Care

245 Pet Services

250 Automotive Repair

255 Other Services

Mobile Homes 235 Child Care 240 Musicians/DJs

> 300 EMPLOYMENT

310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Neede 330 Business

Opportunities

OPEN MARKET 405 Wanted to Buy

420 Garage/Yard Sales 425 Auction 430 Antiques

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

410 Items for Sale

440 Food Specials 445 Music Instruments 450 Pets and Supplies

435 Computers

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

455 Sporting Equipment

500 TRANS-PORTATION 510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

530 Motorcycles

540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/

610 Tour Packages 620 Airplane Tickets

630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets.

preceded by a number designation TIPS FOR

Don't use abbreviations. Many

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

range.

CATEGORIES To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are

WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price

ANNOUNCING THE DISCOVER® CARD $25 NEW MEMBER REBATE.

Apply for the Discover Card by November 10. Spend $75. Get $25 back* NO Annual Fee.

Look for applications and certificates on campus.

IF YOU DON'T GOT IT, GET IT."

KANSAS STATE

Stephen King stopped in Manhattan Saturday as part of a national book tour.

MONDAY WEATHER - PAGE 2

OCTOBER 17, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 40

A large group of people gather on the lawn of Ackert Hall for the dedication of Throckmorton Plant Sciences Building Friday afternoon.

Throckmorton construction complete, opens

"It will put forward a great quality of doors to wheat production, plant research education and research that will help the agriculture of our nation."

Speakers and donors conclude the dedication of $27-million ribbon.

second phase

by cutting the

DARREN WHITLEY

Throckmorton's

Throckmorton is a different kind of field of dreams. It will attract the top scientists and students from around the world."

U.S. Representative

THROCKMORTON THOUGHTS

PAT ROBERTS

NANCY KASSEBAUM

U.S. Senator

LORI CAGLE

After 15 years of planning, fundraising and construction, the Throckmorton Plant Sciences Center is complete.

At 4 p.m. Friday, the dedication ceremony and ribbon cutting took place with U.S. Senator Nancy Kassebaum and U.S. Rep. Pat Roberts speaking.

Other speakers were K-State President Jon Wefald and Sidney Warner, member of the Kansas Board of Regents.

Many private donors attended and were recognized by Marc Johnson, dean and director of agriculture, who served as the master of ceremonies.

This dedication marked the completion of the facility that began its phase-one construction in

"In the mid '70s, we were in dire need of facilities," Gary Paulsen, professor of agronomy,

An $8.5-million first phase was put into action in 1981, he said.

This phase consisted of remodeling the Dairy Barn into the Head House for the Greenhouse Complex. It also included the construction of the Greenhouse Complex and the initial building of Throckmorton Hall, Paulsen said.

Throckmorton Hall was named for R.I. Throckmorton, agriculture dean emeritus, he said. Throckmorton was a noted soils scientist who came to K-State in 1911.

Phase two began construction in 1992 and consisted of final construction of the Greenhouse Complex and Throckmorton, along with some much-needed equipment. Its total cost came to $27 million, Paulsen said.

Throckmorton now has a total of 255,000 square feet, 160,000 of which is assignable

The Plant Sciences Center houses three departments - plant pathology, agronomy and horticulture, forestry and recreation resources, Paulsen said.

All costs have been divided between the state and federal legislatures, with some substantial private donations, Paulsen said.

One private donor, Fred Merrill, donated $1 million in honor of his father, E.F. Merrill,

At the November meeting of the Kansas Board of Regents, it will be voted on to approve the honorary naming of the west wing as Merrill

Hall in his recognition, Johnson said. As the ceremony progressed, President Wefald thanked all the supporters for caring about rural Kansas. Wefald also added that he felt that if K-State's football team can make the top 10, so can the college of agriculture. Kassebaum said Throckmorton was a project that has been near and dear to her heart since the beginning, and that it was a combination of the federal, state and private support that made this glorious day happen. "It will put forward a great quality of education and research that will help the agriculture of our nation," Kassebaum said.

Roberts said there was no finer or more worthwhile mission than the center.

"Throckmorton is a different kind of field of .

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

Holding a shock of Jagger Wheat, President Jon Wefald addresses the audience at the dedication. Wefald said Jagger Wheat, which was bio-engineered at K-State, is an example of the influence of the agriculture department at K-State.

dreams," Roberts said. "It will attract the top scientists and students from around the world.

He said there may someday be a new plant produced at K-State that will set the agricultural world on end.

As the ceremony came to an end, plaques were given to architect Vince Cool and Dick Tillman, project manager, who Johnson said had large parts in the construction of the project, in recognition of their outstanding contribution. Throckmorton has already seen great things in the wheat-production areas, and supporters are looking for much more with K-State's recent ranking of 11th nationwide in the poll of top agriculture schools, Johnson said.

COMING OUT, COMING HOME

Homosexuality an issue in greek living

BROOKE GRABER FORT

honesty," Axell said.

he greek system is not immune from homosexuality.

The Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society had a panel discussion titled "Gay Greeks" at noon Friday in K-State Union 212.

Frank Axell, BGLS president, and Shel L. Barry, fifth-year senior in architecture, led the discussion.

Axell said he was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity while he was an undergraduate at Ball State University in Indiana.

He said he did not come out until his senior "Part of the ideals my fraternity stood for was

He said he felt he had to come out as a way of upholding his fraternity's ideals. "I began to tell the clique that I hung out with, knowing that word would travel through the house, and it did," he said. He said he had a difficult time grappling with the decision to come out to his fraternity

He said he left his fraternity for a semester while he was trying to make a decision.

"I decided I had to break away from it for a semester," Axell said. "I thought once everyone found out, my fraternity would be labeled as a gay house. I didn't want that because I loved my house very much."

Axell said he cited financial problems as reason for leaving.

He said his fraternity brothers had mixed

■ See ACCEPTANCE Page 10

► CAMPUS

World events conflict with lecture planning

INSIDE

upset plans

Huskers sack Cats'

The then-No. 2 Nebraska

Cornhuskers denied

K-State a victory Saturday, escaping with a 17-6 win. Quarterback Chad May was sacked six times in the World events have caused two Landon Lecturers to postpone their appearances at K-State this semester.

Page 6

Events in Haiti were the determining factors for U.S. Defense Secretary William Perry's postponement.

U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Madeleine Albright was forced to cancel because of a U.N. meeting in

Charles Reagan, the executive assistant to the president and chairman of the Landon Lecture Series on Public Issues, said scheduling was always a problem when working with the caliber of people that the Landon Lecture office in the summer, we never even thought of this Haiti business," Reagan said. "When you go after the top people, sometimes it's hard to get a date

This degree of difficulty is one of the reasons the Landon eries tries to bring to K-State.
"When we talked to Perry's Lecturers are not publicized in advance, Reagan said.

It also sets them apart from Convocation Lecturers, he said. The Convocation Lecture Series can list their speakers early on. With us, we never know who we're going to have as speakers — they're different kinds of people," Reagan said.

See PERRY Page 10

Nebraska played a role in Aggieville's quiet

Aggieville post-game rained out were already people waiting to get in,"

CHRISTI WRIGHT

The goal posts were left standing, and there was no riot in Aggieville. The weather and K-State's loss to

"We had all of Aggieville blocked off with snow fence, and we took it down because there's really no one down here," one policeman on Aggieville patrol said.

"It's really a routine day here. We have had a few open containers, but it's mostly a peaceful and quiet crowd." Some students chose to have their pregame celebrations in Aggieville. The Aggie Lounge was a popular place for K-State fans to watch the game. The Aggie Lounge opened at 6 a.m. for the fans, and when the owners arrived to open the bar, there was a line waiting to get in. "We got here about 5:45 a.m., and there capacity during the game. "It was packed in here during the game, but no one got out of control. It would have been much different if more," Pultz said.

Pultz, said.

we would have won," Jason Favrow, sophomore in milling science and Lucky's doorman, said. The post-game Lucky's crowd was well-

Sharon Pultz, wife of bar owner Dwayne bartenders to wear on game days. "Everyone loved their overalls, and I got orders for 10

She also made purple overalls for all the

The Lucky BrewGrille was also filled to behaved Saturday afternoon. "It was nothing like the K-State/KU game last year. I worked at Kite's then, and that was the worst night of my life," Charlie Firestone, senior in economics and advertising, said.

■ See NEBRASKA Page 10

► HAITI

Euphoria restored in Haiti; Aristide returns

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti - Jean-Bertrand Aristide has seen Haiti euphoric before — at the departure of dictator Jean-Claude Duvalier, the ouster of army boss Prosper Avril and at Aristide's own election and inauguration. The promise of change has always been ephemeral, however, and it is up to Haiti's just-returned leader to change the sad course of his nation's history.

President Aristide begins with the good will of the Haitian people and the support of nearly 20,000 American troops to help meet his promise of safety for a traditionally brutalized

See ARISTIDE Page 10

▶ BROWNBACK, CARLIN TO DEBATE ISSUES IN UNION LITTLE THEATRE

The increasingly negative campaign in the 2nd Congressional District race comes to K-State Tuesday when both candidates will meet for a debate sponsored by the Union Program Council Issues and

The last few weeks have seen Democrat John Carlin and Republican Sam Brownback, both K-State graduates, take verbal potshots at one another.

Carlin raised the issue of his opponent's trustworthiness earlier in the month, and Brownback responded by accusing his Democratic challenger of mudslinging and attacking his family.

Joseph Unekis, associate professor of political science, said this campaign is not unique when it comes to bad-mouthing.

"There seems to be a trend in campaigning. People seem to respond to negative campaigns,"

The reason political candidates turn to negative campaigning, he said, is the simple fact that it seems to work.

At a point in the campaign where both candidates are relatively close in the polls, each debate or public appearance is important - at least that's how the candidates look at it.

"Every joint appearance has the potential to impact the voters," Carlin said in a telephone interview from the campaign trail. "It's probably the best possible way for voters to make decisions." Brownback said he agreed.

"It will have an impact," Brownback said, following Friday's dedication for the Throckmorton Plant Sciences Center. "Voters get to see the candidates and hear the issues.

Patrick Carney, the moderator for Tuesday's debate and the UPC Issues and Ideas committee chair, said he would like to see the Union

DEBATE

Candidates for the 2nd Congressional District, Democrat John Carlin and Republican Sam Brownback, will debate at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the K-State Union Little Theatre. The event is sponsored by the Union Program Council.

Little Theatre filled to capacity to send a message to the candidates that students are concerned.

"We need to impress upon them the student voice is a political voice," Carney, senior in political science and history, said.

LEIGH BELLINGER

▶ 'SPOOK INSURANCE' TO HELP CLEAN UP AFTER HALLOWEEN ACTIVITIES

Beware! Protect your property from witches, ghosts and goblins' ghoulish pranks this Halloween by investing in Spook Insurance.

For the 13th year, the Kansas Association of Life Underwriters will sell policies for a minimum of $5 for businesses and $2 for homes, Adrian Dewendt, director of Development for Kansas Special Olympics, said. All donations from the policies collected by the insurance agent members will go to the Kansas Special Olympics Inc.

"This is a fun way for the KALU members to contribute to Special Olympics," Dewendt said. "The policy is good for one day, Oct. 31, and is backed up by our volunteers."

"If someone calls us saying their house was TPed or soaped, these volunteers will really go out and clean it up," he said.

There are 11 geographical areas in Kansas for Special Olympics. Manhattan and Junction City are in area 3. Mitchell Foote, of Foote Insurance in Manhattan, is the local contact person for KALU.

"The nice thing about this program is that all of the money collected in this area goes right back into this area's Special Olympics program," Foote said.

Locally, 60 children will participate. The money will go to buying uniforms for the annual track meet in the spring as well as other

VOLUNTEERS

For more information on volunteer opportunities, contact Kansas Special Olympics at 1-800-444-9803.

expenses. Foote said. During the past 12 years, members and regional associations of KALU generated approximately $142,000 through the Spook Insurance project.

THETA CHI EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR TO LECTURE ABOUT FRATERNITY HAZING

Members of the K-State greek system will have the opportunity to hear the executive director of a national fraternity talk about hazing Tuesday evening in McCain Auditorium

Dave Westhol is the executive director of the Theta Chi national fraternity. He has been to nearly every fraternity and sorority national meeting and has spoken at more than 300 college campuses, Barb Robel, adviser of greek affairs, said. His first presentation will be at the 6:30 p.m. meeting of Greek 101. Greek 101 is a series of meetingsthat new greek members attend throughout the semester, Robel said.

Westhol's Greek 101 presentation is called, "Hazing on trial."

About 600-700 people are expected to attend. Robel said. New greek members are encouraged to attend this presentation. However, it is open to any student.

"I have heard he is really well known, so I think a lot of people from my house will attend," Angie Mohr, senior in human development and family studies and member of Alpha Xi Delta, said.

Westhol will give a second presentation at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. This presentation, called, "Leaving the baggage behind," will deal with ethics in leadership, Robel said.

MANDY HANSON

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

CONTROL OF STREET AND STREET STREET

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13

At 8:47 a.m., a burglary/theft report was filed on computer parts from the power plant. Loss was $515.

At 11 p.m., an injury acci-

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15

Hospital by ambulance.

At 5:28 p.m., police received a suspicious-activity report from 809 N. 11th St., where a male subject was streaking through the area. They were not able to locate the subject. At 6:00 p.m., police arrested Kevin A. Bogart, 1423 Hillcrest Drive, for DUI at the corner of Todd Road and Jarvis Drive. Bond was set at $1,000. At 8:48 p.m., police issued a noticed to appear to David F. Horner, of Lincoln, Neb., for unlawful possession of liquor in a city street at the 600 block of dent involving a single bicycle occurred. Ying Bian was transported to the Saint Mary

At 9:06 p.m., police received a report of intoxicated subjects throwing up on people at the Westloop Dillons. The subjects were seen leaving in a truck with a Nebraska tag.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 16

· At 12:06 a.m., police were called to the Speedwash in Aggieville, where they discovered three subjects in the dryers. Three free-information cards were filed.

At 1:49 a.m., police arrested Christopher A. Chapman, 1632 McCain Lane, for DUI at the corner of 12th St. and Bluemont Ave. Bond was set at $500.

At 2:20 a.m., police received noise complaint at 1017 College Ave. The subjects were outside "boxing." Police made contact with Wayne Kiefer, who complied.

At 3:36 a.m., police arrested Michael J. Poppe, 143 Redbud, for DUI at Farm Bureau and Seth Childs roads. Bond was set

CAMPUS BULLETI

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

The deadline for application to the Community Service Program International Teams has been extended to Oct. 21. Appplications are still available. For more information, call 532-5701.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. The application deadline is Dec. 2.

BULLETINS .....

Have lunch with the members of the United Methodist Campus Ministry from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.

K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.

Chimes will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Union 213. French Table will meet from 12:30 to 1 p.m. today in Union

CORRECTION

Jared Becker, arts and sciences senator, was misquoted in a Student Senate story in Friday's Collegian. His quote should have read, "I do think you are doing a good job. There is just no place for me in the system of SGA anymore."

The Collegian regrets the error.

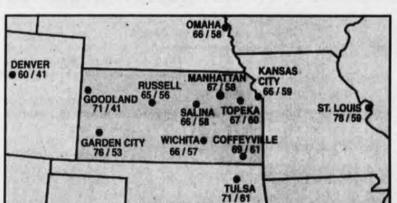

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State

Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Chance for rain. Highs 65 to 70. Lows 35 to 45 west and 55 to 60

STATE OUTLOOK

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

Thunderstorms likely. High 65 to 70. Chance for rain 70 percent.

TOMORROW !

High 65 to 70 with a 30 percent chance for rain in the morning. Partly sunny later.

CONVOCATION LECTURE

Kansas State University

Carl Djerassi

Chemist and "Father of the Pill"

Birth Control in the Year 2001

In cooperation with the Enloc Lectures

10:30 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 18, 1994 McCain Auditorium

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

> Oct. 12-Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Monday, Oct. 17

Business Admin. Student Council 6:00 p.m. DSAC 6:20 p.m. ASIA 6:40 p.m.

> Teachers of Tomorrow 7:00 p.m. . Business Education 7:40 p.m. Pi Omega Pi 8:00 p.m. College Republicans 8:20 p.m. Marketing Club 9:00 p.m. Phi Upsilon Omicron 9:40 p.m.

Oct. 17 from 9a.m.-2p.m. and 4-8p.m. in Union 209

ΣΛΒ АФА КАЧ

 $\Sigma \Lambda \Gamma$

AKA.

Edwards Hall

ΖФВ

 $\Delta X$

 $\Phi \Psi \Omega$

ΣΓΡ

ΔΣΘ The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers

 $\Phi B \Sigma$

are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

Author Stephen King talks during a press conference at Varney's Bookstore Saturday afternoon. King was in Manhattan as part of a 10-stop independent bookstore tour.

▶ BOOKS

King on motorcycle crusade

Tour supports book, independent bookstore

SERA L. TANK

Coming into town Saturday afternoon reminded Stephen King, a horror novelist, of his book "The Stand.

"It was totally deserted, with clouds hanging overhead. It was like everyone in Manhattan was dead," King said.

Manhattan was the seventh stop on King's 10-stop tour. King has been traveling across the country on his motorcycle to promote his new book, "Insomnia," and to talk about the importance of independent bookstores, such as Varney's Bookstore.

"I'm 47 years old. I think I wanted to do it because I'm too old to do it," he King said "Insomnia" stacks up very well compared to his past books and is optimistic about how it will be received by the public.

"As far as horror stories go, this one is going to be a classic because it's got a lot of fairy tale in it. It's also set in the same town where 'It' was set in," he said.

This was the first tour for King in almost 10 years. Part of the reason for his reclusiveness is that he is not comfortable with being an American pop icon.

"I don't know what people expect from me. When I'm driving along on the street and some lady sticks her head out the window and says 'I love you,' what am I supposed to say?" he said. Standing before the sold-out crowd at McCain Auditorium, King began by saying how nervous he was. "Believe me when I say that I'm scared to death, which is something I'm supposed to inflict and not feel."

Before he began reading from "Insomnia," King took the opportunity to give people a warning, tell people about himself and talk about the importance of independent bookstores.

King also warned the audience to check their cars before getting into them.

"While it's not likely, there could be a psychopath out there trying the door of your car and slipping into the back seat.

"So, check before you get in because that psychopath may have a sharp object. Even though he may be crazy, he may know how to use it," he said.

King said one of the questions he is asked the most is what he was like when he was growing up.

This is a code way of saying what fucked you up? Actually, I was normal. That's the scary part of it," he said.

His fascination with horror began when his mother used to read "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" to him, King said.

"I thought, 'That scared the hell out of me. I won't sleep tonight, and I'd like to do that to other people," he said. King said he went on his first tour in 10 years to promote "Insomnia" and talk about the importance of independent bookstores in communities. He said he wanted to urge his readers to buy the book at an independent bookstore. King discouraged readers from buying it at a discount warehouse or chain store because they have put a stranglehold on the market. "Discount houses and chain stores began discounting on books to the point that the independent bookstores can no longer compete," he said. King also said chains and warehouses have a philosophy of 'Buy narrow and stock deep' so the selection of books is limited and not very diverse.

"In an independent bookstore, you'll find a wide selection of materials that make a community a community and make Manhattan, Kan., different than any other city in the country," he said.

King said another thing you can find in an independent bookstore, and not in a chain, are alternative subjects and

"Chains try to remain middle-of-theroad. You can find Howard Stern and Rush Limbaugh, but you can't find a gay and lesbian anthology," he said.

After talking about independent bookstores for about half an hour, King read for 30 minutes from "Insomnia." Penny Cullers, an employee at Varney's and an audience member, said she loved the reading and is interested in reading the book. "It was great to hear him reading from his book. It seemed strange, but interesting," she said. Kelly Farrell, a graduate student in special education, said she was able to gain perspective on King's personality. "I thought he was very funny and informative. I also liked the reading and the concept behind the book," she said.

"This is a code way of saying what fucked you up? Actually, I was normal. That's the scary part of it."

STEPHEN KING

NOVEMBER ENROLLMENT SPRING 1995

WHO:

If enrolled on-campus MANHATTAN for Fall 1994

DATES:

November 2-4, 7-11, 14-18, 21-22

NOTE:

Your appointment time to enroll will be printed on the top right hand corner of your Class Enrollment form, and is assigned on a priority system of hours you have completed.

If you miss your appointment time, you can enroll after your assigned time through November 22.

If you have a financial hold(s), it will be printed on the lower left-hand corner of your form.

All financial holds must be cleared before you can enroll.

Spring 1995 Class Schedules are available in the K-State Union Bookstore October 27.

CLASSIFICATION Graduate student Senior/5th year Junior

Sophomore

Engineering

Freshman

November 2 November 2 November 4 November 8 November 14

LOCATION OF CLASS ENROLLMENT FORM:

Agriculture Architecture & Design Arts & Sciences

Business Administration Education

LOCATION Advisor's office Department office Pre-professional & undeclared in dean's office; others in department office

Advisor's office

Dean's office

Pre-professional & general in Calvin 107; others in department office Pre-professional & general in Bluemont 13; others in advisor's office Department office

APPROXIMATE STARTING DATE

Human Ecology Graduate School

If enrolled in a SALINA course(s) for Fall 1994

DATES:

November 2-4, 7-11, 14-18, 21-22

NOTE:

If you have a financial hold(s), it will be printed on the lower lefthand corner of your form.

All financial holds must be cleared before you can enroll.

Spring 1995 Class Schedules are available on October 31.

PROCEDURE:

Beginning October 31, pick up your Spring 1995 Class Schedule in your department office and schedule an appointment with your

Beginning November 2, bring your completed Class Enrollment form to the Library Conference Room (Tech Center).

kansas state university the tradition continues

Picture yourself in the 1995 Royal Purple we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK!

Photos will be taken from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and from 4-8 p.m., with the exception of fraternities, which will be taken from 3-8 p.m., on the days listed below. If you live in a residence hall, sorority or fraternity house or a scholarship hall, the photographer will come to your place of residence to take your portrait. If you are a fraternity or sorority member but live in a residence hall or off campus, please have your photo taken with your house. Watch the Collegian for locations and additional details.

Lambda Chi Alpha.

Omega Psi Phi

Phi Beta Sigma

PORTRAIT SCHEDULE STARTING SEPT. 6, 1994

Oct. 17

Oct. 17

Acacia	sept. 2
Alpha Chi Omega
Alpha Delta Pi	Sept. 1
Alpha Gamma Rho	Sept. 3
Alpha Kappa Alpha	Oct. 1
Alpha Kappa Lambda
Alpha Phi Alpha	Oct. 1
Alpha Tau Omega	Oct. 1
Alpha Xi Delta	Sept. 1
Beta Sigma Psi
Beta Theta Pi
Chi Omega	Sept. 2
Delta Chi	Oct. 1
Delta Delta Delta	Sept. 1
Delta Sigma Phi	Oct. 1
Delta Sigma Theta	Oct. 1
Delta Tau Delta	Oct.
Delta Upsilon	Sept. 2
FarmHouse
- Gamma Phi Beta	Sept.
Kappa Alpha Psi	Oct. 1
Kappa Alpha Theta	Sept. 2

Kappa Kappa Gamma ...

Sept. 20

Phi Delta Theta Sept. 28 Phi Gamma Delta . Oct. 7 Phi Kappa Tau .Oct. 7 Phi Kappa Theta Sept. 27 Pi Beta Phi Pi Kappa Alpha Sept. 29 Pi Kappa Phi .Oct. 6 Sigma Alpha Epsilon . Oct. 6 Sigma Chi Oct. 10 Sigma Gamma Rho .Oct. 17 Sigma Kappa Sept. 15 Sigma Nu Sept. 27 Sigma Phi Epsilon Sigma Sigma Sigma Tau Kappa Epsilon Theta Xi . Oct. 4 Triangle Sept. 30 Zeta Phi Beta Oct. 17 Alpha of Clovia Sept. 21 Boyd Hall Sept. 19 .Oct. 17 Edwards Hall

Oct. 3	Ford HallSept. 6
Oct. 17	Goodnow HallSept. 22
Oct. 17	Haymaker HallSept. 7
Sept. 28	Marlatt HallSept. 23
Oct. 7	Moore HallSept. 8
Oct. 7	Putnam HallSept. 20
ept. 27	Smith Scholarship House Oct. 5
Sept. 8	Smurthwaite Sept. 7
ept. 29	Van Zile HallSept. 21
Oct. 6	West HallSept. 9
Oct. 6	K-State SalinaOct. 13
Oct. 10	Off Campus
Oct. 17	(in Union 209) Sept. 12-16
ept. 15	Make-up pictures
ept. 27	(in Union 209) Oct. 18-21
Oct. 3	Organizations
ept. 16	(in McCain 324) Oct 12-Nov. 9
Oct. 10
Oct. 4	To bes

RESERVE YOUR COPY OF THE 1995 ROYAL PURPLE NOW!

To reserve your copy for $16 and pay for your portrait sitting fee for $5, fill out the information below and drop it off at or send it to: Student Publications Inc., 103 Kedzie Hall, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. Make checks payable to Student Publications Inc. ($16 for book only and $21 for book and portrait picture.)

Name	and the second	ID Number	-
School Address		Phone
	Thouh you for your continued outboat of the D	Postal Dueble smarkenh

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Landon Lectures are left without speakers

The international crisis in Haiti has finally hit home at K-State.

Due to the nature of their positions, U.N. Ambassador Madeleine Albright and Defense Secretary William Perry will not be able to speak as scheduled as a part of the Landon Lecture series this semester. They have more important things to do, obviously.

The Landon Lecture selection committee should be commended for getting lecturers that are active in foreign policy.

But the fact remains that the Landon Lectures are extremely popular with students, and an effort should be made to find somebody else to speak at K-State. There is a myriad of people out there K-State would love to listen to.

William Bennett, Norman Schwarzkopf and Oliver North come to mind.

How about some more women and minorities? Carol Mosley-Braun, Janet Reno, Ruth Bader Ginsberg and Antonin Scalia are possibilities. As long as the lecture series is up for grabs, K-State doesn't necessarily need to have anyone that's directly connected to politics. Authors like Michael Crichton, Tom Clancy and James Michener would be huge draws and a welcome change from politically oriented speakers.

As the past year has proven, K-State is not intimidated by controversy or controversial speakers. A college campus is the perfect place, and one of the only places, where young people have the opportunity to hear such influential people speak in person. We shouldn't waste the chances we

The door is open at K-State. Let's bring the lecturers in.

TOLES

initiative, AmeriCorps.

"It's a new start for me, too, but this is something

I believe in. There's a lot of motivation in these kids to change the world." - Jeff Biel, Navy officer and campus director of the National Civilian Community Corps, part of President Clinton's larger national service

Backwards hats show respect for dead tribe

have to addres a serious problem that is plaguing our campus.

Something so heinous, it is actually making me ill just writing about it.

I'm talking about people wearing their hats backwards. In my book, there are only three excuses for wearing a baseball cap backwards.

Either you are playing catcher, riding a motorcycle really fast, or most likely, advertising the fact that you are a complete idiot.

It looks stupid, serves no purpose and reflects poorly on your parents.

There is this guy I see walking to class every morning. He is constantly wearing the same goofy baseball cap, turned around on his goofy watermelon-shaped head.

I do not know him personally, but just by looking at that damn hat, I can tell he is unsure of himself, lacks self-esteem and probably wears silly-looking

My father is a college professor. He has done an informal study of his students over the years and has noticed an extreme difference in the academic performance of the hat-backwards crowd and the rest of us. Concerned about my immense hatred for those who wear their hats backwards, Jake Spreewell, worldfamous fashion historian, gave me a lesson on the origin of this peculiar fad.

It seems that there was once a tribe, deep in the wild, before there was any connotation to calling it Africa or South America, or whatever, who had peculiar eating habits. The members of this tribe wore a headdress that was actually very similar to the modern baseball cap.

Some revisionist historians actually claim this group invented baseball, but the honest truth is that the large brim of their hea they tried to eat.

You see, this tribe, called the 'Scuggbleegee Huk" (pronounced Scugg-BLEE-gee, with a little snort-like sound at the end practice, you'll get it) did not use any utensils when they ate, and the large pieces of fruit and hind quarters of animals tended to knock their large headresses

So, legend has it, they started to just turn the things around.

Obviously, Miss Manners was not around to tell them that it was rude to wear hats at the dinner table, but it was probably a good thing, because they'd have probably eaten her.

I was really amazed when Spreewell told me that now when people wear their hat backwards, they are just subconsciously expressing their solidarity with the Scuggbleegee Huk, who were apparently slaughtered by some evil group of land-grabbing imperialists.

Well, who knew? I felt really bad about the whole thing, and immediately sent a check off to the Disabled Haberdashers Defense Fund.

I stopped that goofy hat-backwards kid on the street the other day, and apologized to him and the Scuggbleegee Huk for my insensitivity.

He seemed confused at first, but looked relieved as I walked away from him, obviously happy to be reconciled after struggling with the cause of the Scuggbleegee Huk for many years.

I couldn't help feeling really good about myself, knowing I had done my part, especially so soon after Racial and Ethnic Harmony Week.

Andrew Tomb is a senior in political science and loves

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

OMB

GAME DAY

K-State has some things to work on Dear Editor,

This letter is in no way intended to diminish the effort put forth by the Wildcat football team on Saturday vs. Nebraska. However, I do have two complaints relating to the overall perception of K-

State by the national-viewing audience. First, Willie the Wildcat was, to be quite honest, pathetic. The only cheer he led was a meager KSU after our score. After that score, Willie was either absent or seen talking to reporters along the sideline.

"Our scoreboard is already a poor representation of an otherwise

TIMOTHY LEHMANN

Senior in economics and political science

first-class

stadium."

Meanwhile, Herbie Husker was leading cheers during the game and was especially active during time-outs. What has happened to Willie's days on top of the press box, driving around with the giant KSU flag and the overall rowdy Williness that has made him such a great mascot? If the current Willie(s) can't get fired up and do better, give the job to somebody who will! Secondly, for most of the season, lights on the scoreboard have been burned out. The situation was no different on Saturday. How difficult and expensive can it be to replace some lights so we know what the score is and how much time is left in the game?

Our scoreboard is already a poor representation of an otherwise first-class stadium, but with a large amount of lights burned out, it is quite frankly embarrassing to the University when seen by a television audience in a game the caliber of Saturday's. Why can't the athletic department remedy this for future games?

Timothy Lehmann senior in economics and political science

Senator should have stuck with it Dear Editor,

As a former student senator and an active member of Student Government here at K-State, I was a tad irritated at the negative attitude one of the resigning senators had about K-State's Student Senate. Former senator Rachel Smith complained that the "older students aren't taking leadership ..." which leads me to ask the simple question. Why, Rachel, since you are a veteran senator, are you not taking a leadership role in Senate? The saying goes that if you are not part of the solution, then you are part of the problem. Leadership can come in many different aspects and even if one does not have a FORMAL leadership role, he or she should not use that as an excuse to be apathetic. They also shouldn't expect senatorial work to be OTHER people's responsibility. Stating that the committee chairs are to blame for nothing getting done is quite ludicrous. Legislation can come from any senator or any member of Student Government with the sponsorship of a senator. That means that the initiative could be taken by anyone regardless of whether he or she is a committee chair. It should also be pointed out that all of the present committee chairs have had experience with Student Government. Nothing in the constitution or the by-laws states that a committee chair has to have been a student senator. It's ridiculous to assume that former senators can do a better job as a committee chair than someone who has been a student-senate intern or a cabinet member. Smith's final point about Senate focusing too much on state issues, not campus issues, is also a bit shortsighted. Students do care about state issues like TUITION and if Student Government three of four years ago had not decided to make capital improvements one of its top legislative priorities in Topeka, then projects like Throckmorton Hall may have never been completed. Thank goodness for the hard working and dedicated leaders of student government we do have.

Ann Woodbury graduate student in sociology

▶ SGA

Being a senator takes time Dear Editor,

It is clear that the article in the Oct. 12 Collegian, regarding Student Governing Association resignations, was not only biased but also inadequately researched. This semester is not the first semester in K-State history where student leaders have resigned. It has happened in the past, and it will continue to happen. This is certainly not a new trend. There are an array of reasons as to why student leaders resign from their positions, but much of this can be prevented if those who accept or run for a position not only do their research beforehand but also approach the whole notion of student government more realistically.

One of the issues is the time commitment involved. SGA is an organization which represents each and every student at K-State, and if anyone thinks that becoming actively involved in SGA means meeting once a week, an hour a week, has something else

Funding for the SGA retreat was something SGA was entitled to, just as any other campus organization which receives funding is entitled to. The money SGA received was not spent on a cruise or a party, it was spent on a retreat as a means to enhance and enrich student leadership for the benefit of K-State.

SGA may have changed throughout the years, but everything and everyone changes. SGA does have problems and is not flawless, but what constructive efforts have been made by those who criticize this organization? Fortunately, there are a lot of new people in student government this year. They may not know all the policies and procedures, but everyone starts off at the same place. Instead of being so conflictive, the senator who claimed this as a problem regarding productivity should have been more cooperative in terms of helping new members out.

The claim that senators or anyone else in SGA 'have no life" is fallacious. We have lives, and believe it or not, a lot of us have pretty interesting ones, but we also have priorities, and among these are following through with our commitments.

On a final note and a final suggestion to anyone who plans on getting involved in SGA, if you can't deal with your responsibilities, if you can't fulfill your obligations and if you are going to give up without really trying, then don't bother to get involved; it will result in a sheer waste of time.

Nabeeha Mujeeb Kazi SGA public relations director junior in political science and public relations

▶ HOMOSEXUALITY

Perception comes from Old Testament Dear Editor,

Delcie Arnett's letter, (Oct. 13) addressing homosexuality and the Bible, brought up an interesting question of Christian interpretations. I'm sure that she could submit some several other passages of Scripture to support her and many others who claim of the sinful nature of homosexuality. But the question that this topic has always raised to me is, which God is she worshiping?

Now I'm no expert on the Bible, but I have a good understanding of it from being raised Baptist. But whenever someone quotes the Bible in reference to God's feelings on the matter of homosexuality, they always quote verses from the Old Testament. If you've read the Old Testament, you will commonly find God striking fear and obedience into the followers. This God demands that the people obey the Word or face eternal damnation. I know this explanation is "In the New Testament, which is rarely quoted by antigay people, it shows a God of love."

> WILLIAM T. MOORE in secondary education

somewhat simplified, but it is basically true.

In the New Testament, which is rarely quoted by anti-gay people, it shows a God of love - inclusive

Jesus refused no one into his fold; some of His disciples were the worst people in the world until they found Him. Furthermore, the New Testament is where the answer to salvation is found for most Christians, Ms. Arnett contends that even though Jesus has this undying love for everyone, He contradicts that love in the Old Testament.

Well, I hate to tell you, but the God that I know LOVES EVERYONE! No matter who you are or how you feel about another human being, God loves you. Although I'm not homosexual, I would never deny them or anyone else the opportunity to worship the

It is not for me to judge, I am far from sinless remember Romans 3:10? As far as homosexuality being a sin, maybe it is if you follow some unloving, uncaring god that Phelps preaches, but not the one I

William T. Moore senior in secondary education

McCain acoustics mar Evita

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

A work of art, such as the critically acclaimed, internationally popular musical "Evita," has the very real possibility of growing stale with age.

Not to say last night's McCain Auditorium production of Andrew Lloyd Weber's "Evita" was stale, but it wasn't necessarily fresh off the shelf, either.

Obviously, touring productions don't offer near the caliber an established, in-house show does. Especially power-house musicals, where most of the show's strength is in its production.

For instance, the integral part of Che, the storyteller of the entire show, was muddled and annoying.

Che's hauntingly beautiful song "High Flying Adored" was lost to Fernand Roderick's poor delivery.

Roderick had nowhere near the voice capacity to pull off Che. If anyone heard him at all, they were probably sitting in the front row (a luxury only few can afford).

What a waste to present an entire show where the storyteller's performance was not enjoyed.

Now, the problem wasn't entirely Roderick's fault. McCain obviously doesn't have the sound-equipment capabilities to handle a complex show. The balcony audience got a very nice performance from the orchestra but a roller-coaster ride of audible voices from the performers.

Perhaps the sound problems lay in McCain's design. Regardless, the sound was awful.

Act II suffered worst, with the unexcusable inaudibly of "High Flying Adored," "Rainbow Tour" and "And the Money Kept Rolling In (and Out)."

No one deserves to see a show and not be able to hear the songs.

Kerri Jill Garbis, singing Eva Peron, was engaging but not the caliber of entertainer to perform the backbone of an entire musical.

Garbis' range was terribly limited. That could actually go for the entire cast. Every time the singer dipped below, they instantly fell flat and were completely inaudible. Nonetheless, this is not the kind of performance one expects from a leading lady.

Eva Peron could be consideredone of the strongest female roles in musical theater. She's a tough, ambitious woman with more on her mind than the average peasant (which she happens to be).

It's easy to understand how this glorious heroine could make Patti LuPone a Broadway star. At once, you question Eva's intentions, but by the next scene, you're totally in love with her. Is she bad, or is she good? Are you glad she died, or do you miss her spirit and vitality?

Eva works her way up to wife of the president, not by embracing the people in her way but by stepping on them.

Shorey Walker, playing Peron's mistress before the presidency, gave a heartfelt performance of the song "Another Suitcase in Another Hall." Walker's sweet, clear voice was a breath of fresh air after the muddled performances that preceded.

Peron's mistress asks, "So what happens now? Where am I going to?" Ultimately, her poor fate must be met by Eva herself.

The company, outside of being inaudible during some crucial songs, was relatively good. The dancing was exacted with an unexpected verve, especially for a touring company.

I'm sure they sang very well, but the blasted orchestra didn't let anyone hear them.

The entire show's problems can't be blamed on the performers themselves. With the right auditorium and equipment, even a bad company can rouse a decent applause.

However, discarding some marginal performances, the show was technically a mess.

Granted, touring productions always have a cheese quotient attached — easy lighting and minimal sets. There's always the frightening aspect of expecting a platform to fall apart.

Well, "Evita" was no exception.

Apart from the annoying sound problems, the screen used to project pictures from Eva's extraordinary life was not in view for the entire audience. These pictures are as integral to the showas the music; without them the mood is not set.

This production needed to take a shot of Eva Peron's gusto and pep itself up.

Traveling across the United States with a decade-old show, day in and day out, must get old, but no audience deserves an expensive, sorry performance.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

Aaron Howard and Joe Finney, sixth graders at Mariatt School, air up their balloon, "The Flying Guano," before its maiden voyage Friday. The sixth-grade students were in charge of making their own balloons.

Marlatt students send balloon project up, up and away

DEANA TESKE

Students at Marlatt School are learning basic science principles by making their own hot-air balloons. On Friday morning, 28 balloons were released into the sky to prove that hot air rises.

Brandon Boone, teaching assistant for Ken Garwick's sixth-grade science class, said they have been studying flying for four weeks. Garwick started the unit with hot-air balloons because they were one of the first forms of flying.

The students were split into groups of three and were responsible for making a balloon. The balloons were made of tissue paper and glue and were nearly 8 feet in height.

"The tissue paper was kind of hard to work with because it would tear, or the glue would stick if it didn't get dry," sixth grader Katie Seymour said. "That's why some of them have dark spots. That's where they had to patch it."

Garwick said one of the most valuable lessons learned by this experiment is working together in a group.

"They learned to cooperate and accomplish

"They learned to cooperate and accomplish their goal by dealing with problems making their balloon," he said.

Bottles

STEVE HEBERT/Colle

Jacob Stevenson, sixth grader at Marlatt School, keeps an eye on a hot-air balloon as it floats through the sky. On Friday morning, 28 balloons were released.

After the students gathered in the school yard, Garwick started the propane tank that would heat the air for the balloons. Several students plugged their noses from the smell as he explained how it worked.

he explained how it worked.

The students worked together to hold up the balloon while the others held the base around the heating tube. When it was full, everyone chanted "Hot air rises," and released it.

The wind direction was checked earlier with a helium balloon that indicated the hot-air balloons would go straight up. The school address was on each balloon in case they blew away, but they all fell within the playground.

Joel Erickson said his group was the first to finish its balloon.

"Ours is going to go the highest, too," he said.

Vance Lamb, Shawn Dryden and Zach Hudec's red and white balloon was called "The Wildcat Massacre."

As it was being inflated, the crowd chanted "Burn Big Red," obviously in the spirit of the coming weekend's game with Nebraska. After it landed, the creators ripped it to shreds. Others weren't so destructive. They had to decide who would get to keep the balloon, Boone said.

The last balloon to go up was the "Barney Balloon," named by four girls. It was 15 feet high and bright purple, orange and black.

Garwick said he wants to keep his class as hands-on as he can. "I want the students to leave my classroom excited about science and wanting to take more science classes in middle school and high school," he said.

KSU PUBLIC LECTURE

Dr. Burkhard Fricke, Professor & Chair of Physics University of Kassel, Germany

The Periodic System of Elements: Past, Present, Future

Wednesday, Oct. 19, 1994

Cardwell Hall 102 - 4:30 p.m.

People to take inventory in retail stores.

ekday mornings and weekends, mostly on fundays. Ten-key calculator experience is helpful, but not necessary.

Apply in person at 621 Humboldt

m ccain

Macbeth

Actors From the London Stage

Stephen Casey, Holly Wilson, Gareth Armstrong, Richard Howard, and David Howey.

Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22 at 8 p.m.

McCain Auditorium

Kansas State University

Public/Faculty $18 Senior $16 Student/Child $9

Actors from the London Stage is a troupe of five who hail from such companies as the Royal Shakespeare Company, the Royal National Theatre, and the BBC's Shakespeare series. These veteran performers band together to present Macbeth, William Shakespeare's exploration of flawed ambition, of the moral and psychological consequences of evil.

Believing that the imagination is more powerful than any stage scenery, the company presents the play using minimal sets and playing multiple roles. Their production allows audience members to conjure up the setting and atmosphere.

For tickets, call 532-6426 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matiness; from 3 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets also available (with service charge) at Manhattan Town Center Service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

Macbeth is presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Corporate support has been provided by Manhattan National Bank. Additional funding has been provided by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

VISION

as low as

$39

1. Penn State 2. Nebraska 3. Colorado

6. Florida

8. Arizona 9. Texas 10. North Carolina 11. Colorado St. 12. Michigan 13. Virginia Tech

14. Syracuse

15. Utah 16. K-State 17. Duke

21. N.C. State

18. Brigham Young 19. Ohio State 20. Washington St.

22. Virginia 23. Boston College 24. Indiana 25. Illinois

K-State is ranked 19th in the Associated Press football poll.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

COLUMN

Cats missed opportunity for big win

Knock, knock. Who's there? Opportunity. Were we expecting you? I guess not. Maybe I'm lost.

K-State had its best chance in a long time to beat Nebraska Saturday. The setting was perfect.

The game was at home ... the Wildcats hadn't been beaten at KSU Stadium in 16 contests ... Nebraska was down to a third-string quarterback ... K-State's offense was clicking ... The stadium was packed with mostly purple.

But somehow, some way, it wasn't meant to be.

For the 26th-straight time, the Cornhuskers put more points on the board than the Wildcats, scoring 10 points in the fourth quarter en route to the 17-6 victory.

This loss was different from the others, though.

For the first time in many years, Wildcat fans and players knew they had the ability to break the streak.

"We knew it was right there, smack in the face," K-State running back J.J. Smith said. "We expected to win but didn't get the job done. "All losses hurt," Coach Bill Snyder said. "The greater the investment, the greater the loss the greater the pain."

But what is important now has nothing to do with Nebraska. The question is whether the Cats will be able to pick themselves up and regroup for the game Saturday at Colorado. The game will be televised on ESPN at 6:30 p.m., and the Cats are 3-0 on the network.

DEREK

SIMMONS

However, the Cats haven't escaped Boulder, Colo., with a victory since

Add to that the fact that Colorado jumped from No. 4 to No. 2 with a 45-7 shellacking of Oklahoma last Saturday at

The Buffaloes bumped the Cornhuskers from the No. 2 spot in the Associated Press Poll.

"We just really have to suck it up," Smith said. "We have to suck it up now probably more than we ever have. We have a pretty tough team. This will show how we can bounce back."

So, can the Wildcats beat the Buffaloes?

That's iffy. Really iffy. If K-State can dramatically improve its special-teams play, establish a running game and eliminate mental mistakes, then it is possible.

Not probable, but possible. Don't think for a minute that Colorado will be looking past K-State to its Oct. 29 showdown with Nebraska in Lincoln, Neb. Sure, the game will probably decide the Big Eight's Orange Bowl representative, but the Buffaloes will be foaming at the mouth to get back at the Cats for the 16-16 tie in Manhattan last

"I think it's going to show a lot of character of our team," quarterback Chad May said of the upcoming game with Colorado. "We're going to have to bounce back and play well. "I think next week is going to tell where this team is going."

A win would do wonders. If K-State could pull off the upset and win its remaining league games, and if Colorado could travel to Nebraska and win, the Wildcats would still make it to the Orange Bowl.

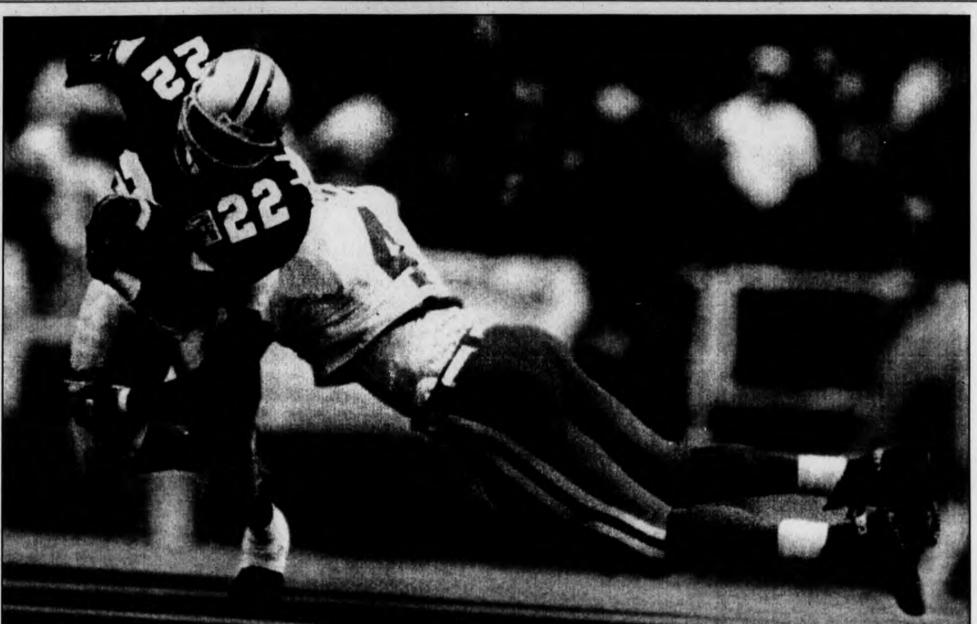

Yes, the Orange Bowl. The way the contract is set up, the team that has the longest drought of appearances in the bowl game receives the bid. Of course, that would be the Cats since they have never been to the Orange Bowl.

I'm not sure the Wildcats can beat the Buffaloes; in fact, I'm not sure anyone

But what I really want to know is if anyone can beat those meddling Cornhuskers.

"That team can be beat," May said. "They are going to get beat this year, I know that. It's going to happen, probably in the Big Eight Conference."

I hope May's prediction turns out better than mine have.

Running back J.J. Smith tries to run past linebacker Troy Dumas during K-State's loss to Nebraska Saturday. Nebraska's defense kept Smith to 29 yards rushing. The Cats' entire rushing attack was limited to negative 7 yards for the game.

► K-STATE/NEBRASKA GAME STORY

GAME AT A GLANCE

STATS

First downs

Yards Rushing

Net Yards Rushing

Net Yards Passing

Passes Attempte

■ Passes Completed

Passes Intercepted

Fumbles: Number/Lost

Penalties: Number/Yards

Punts: Number/Yards

Avg. Per Punt

Possession Time:

Interceptions: Number/Yards

Cornhuskers crash K-State's party

WESS HUDELSON

Mistakes killed K-State. K-State fell to No. 2-ranked Nebraska 17-6 in front of 42,817 fans at KSU Stadium Saturday. The Wildcats were flagged 12 times for 102 yards during the

"We got over 100 yards in penalties, and that's 100 yards of field position," head coach Bill Snyder said. "We were working off our goal line, and Chad spent a lot of time throwing off our goal

K-State 6

Nebraska 17

Nebraska benefited from good field position on its first touchdown drive.

Eric Hardy punted to Tyrone Williams on fourth and 16 from the Cats' own 11-yard line. Williams returned the low, 31yard punt 14 yards to K-State's 28.

Sophomore I-back Lawrence Phillips then carried the ball every down of the scoring drive before capping it off with a 2-yard scamper into the end zone. The score put the Cornhuskers ahead 7-0 with 6:12 remaining in the first

NU

16

226

210

52

11

262

2/1

9/70

1/54

7/261

37.3

31:26

\ 17

55

249

22

242

2/0

12/102

8/288

28:34

126 yards rushing, making it his seventh-straight 100-yard rushing game of the season.

"He's a great player," Snyder said. "Anyone who has 1,000 yards after six games has to be

"However, they are very tough up front. He's not doing it by himself."

K-State answered early in the second quarter when Chad May completed a 29-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Mitch Running for the Cats' only score of the game.

The extra point was blocked when holder Matt Miller bobbled the snap. As a result, Martin Gramatica's kick was blocked, making the score 7-6, where it stayed until the fourth quarter.

May was intercepted for the first time of the season late in the second quarter by linebacker Troy Dumas. May threw 188 passes dating back to last season without an interception.

"They tried to get pressure on me and some guys came untouched," May said. "Sometimes I couldn't see where I was throwing the ball."

Dumas returned the ball to the Cats' 29 yard line. Four plays later, kicker Darin Erstad missed a

Phillips finished the game with 35-yard filed goal, keeping the score 7-6 at halftime.

Arguably, it was the Huskers' offensive line that put K-State away. Nebraska scored 10 points in the fourth quarter on two, long punishing drives.

The first of the drives covered 75 yards on 11 plays and took 4:25 off the clock. Every play except for one incomplete pass was on the ground.

Fullback Jeff Makovicka scored on the drive from 15 yards out, extending Nebraska's lead to 14-6.

"The defense held on, but obviously we didn't hold on well enough," linebacker Percell Gaskins said. "We knew what was coming, and we just couldn't stop

K-State's offense was shoved back for negative 9 yards on its next two drives.

Then, Nebraska put the game out of reach with a 12-play drive resulting in a 24-yard field goal by Erstad, rounding out the scoring at

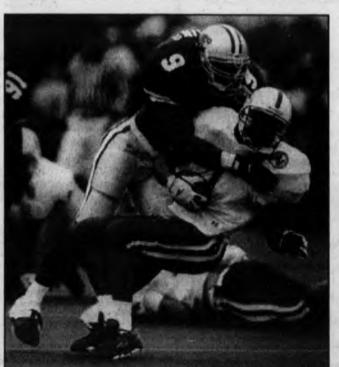

"They were able to sustain long drives when they needed to,' defensive back Chuck Marlowe

During the drive, quarterback Brook Berringer, who was questionable before the game with ■ See BERRINGER Page 7

Nebraska's win over K-State Saturday ended the Cats 16- nome game unbeaten streak, which consisted of 15 wins, zero losses and one tie.

	100	The state of the s	4.04
	L	Colorado	0-10
	W	Missouri	32-0
	199	2
	W	Montana	27-12
	W	Temple	35-14
	W	New Mexico State	19-0
	W	Iowa State	22-13
	W	Oklahoma State	10-0
	199	2
	W	New Mexico State	34-10
	W	Western Kentucky	38-13
	W	UNLV	36-20
	W	Kansas	10-9
	T	Colorado	16-16
	W	Oklahoma	21-7
	W	Missouri	27-14
	199		TO THE
	COMPANSAL.	THE COURSE OF THE PARTY OF THE	24.0
	W	SW Louisiana	34-6
	W	Rice	27-18
5	W	Minnesota	35-0
	L	Nebraska	6-17
		Control of the last of the las	The same of the same of

TRISHA BENNINGA/Collegia

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

Percell Gaskins tackles running back Lawrence Phillips for a loss Saturday. Phillips finished with 117 yards rushing.

▶ K-STATE/NEBRASKA SIDEBAR

Pre-game hype angered defense

JEREMY CRABTREE

After Saturday's game was over, the hits continued, as Nebraska linebacker Ed Stewart used the postgame press conference to exact some revenge against K-State.

"They talked a lot of stuff all week," Stewart said. "I don't know for what reason they were saying that stuff for.

"They tried to make this thing a rivalry, but what I think people have to remember is that we're still Nebraska, and they're still Kansas

Stewart was then asked what the Wildcats were saying in the papers.

"The stuff that was going on in the papers all week wasn't that classy," he said. "Well, they were talking about how they were going to rip us apart, and we suck. It was all in the

Then the topic with Stewart turned toward respect for the Cats.

"I guess no one had any respect for us before the game," he said. "I wouldn't say that this was an ugly win. Before the game, everyone said that they were all that, and we were nothing. So supposedly we sucked.

In last season's game, the Huskers allowed the K-State offense to rack up over 500 yards, including 489 passing yards by Chad May.

This season's game was a different story, as the Nebraska defense held the Cats to just six points, and negative 7 yards rushing.

"We just brought it to them," Stewart said. "We screwed them up with the things that we were doing. Our coaches put together a good package for us to go against their Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said the Nebraska defense played extremely well.

"Overall, I'm just really pleased with the effort of our team," Osborne said. "We showed a lot of poise today.

"Our defense really stepped it up today. We played a lot of man-to-man coverage, and we kept Chad May offbalance by showing blitz."

The blitzing that Osborne talked about resulted in six sacks of May, one interception and two fumbles.

Another reason for the success of the Nebraska defense had to do with the play of the Huskers' secondary.

After having several blown coverages last season, cornerback Barron Miles said the Huskers had only one mix up on Saturday.

'We got a hold of ourselves and came back and played hard," Miles

K-State receiver Kevin Lockett said the Husker defense was motivated after last season's game.

"I definitely think that they had something to prove after last season's game," Lockett said.

Run-N-Gun At 12:01

Fans enjoy first practice

JULIE KUHLMAN

It wasn't just the Wildcats who got to show their stuff on the court Friday.

Fans who showed up early for the Midnight Madness scrimmage Friday evening had a chance to be picked from the crowd to win $40,000, as well as compete for other

The first of the three contests for the evening was an obstacle course in which two students were challenged to put their heads to a baseball bat and spin around it 10 times.

Students then dribbled the basketball around cones and attempted to make a lay-up. The first person to make a lay-up out of the two competing was a winner of two tickets to home non-conference games.

K-State student Garrett Rediker, junior in elementary education, was one of the obstacle-course participants.

"At first, I was a little dizzy and fell on my butt, but once I got up, it was good all the way," Rediker said.

The next contest was a dash for cash in which students were blindfolded and crawled on the basketball court to grab fake cash. The student with the largest amount of paper money won $100 from the basketball department.

Jody Griggs, senior in marketing/management, was picked out of the crowd to compete in the contest. "I hope they do this again next year," Griggs said. "It gets the students involved."

Finally the chance to win $40,000 came after basketball coach Tom Asbury pulled program numbers from a hopper.

Those with programs that matched the numbers announced were given a chance to make three half-court shots for $40,000.

Students who made two shots could win $20,000, and one out of three shots would win students two non-conference basketball tickets.

The contest was sponsored by KMKF-FM 101.5, and TCI of Kansas.

Kevin Schaffer, senior in management information, explained his strategy before he took his turn.

"I'm just pretty much going to throw up a prayer and hope it goes in," he said.

Unfortunately, no one put one through the net, although one did draw iron.

It didn't damper spirits, though.

"I'm just excited about getting a chance," Chuck Harris, senior in accounting finance,

Other pre-scrimmage activities included a performance by Sandy "Spin" Slade, a dribbling wizard who played for Fresno State. Slade said she decided to perform for Midnight Madness because of Coach Asbury.

"Tom is a friend of mine, and I'm in the area visiting my brother, so it was a good time to perform.

Slade did a combination of fancy ballhandling movements and even had eight balls spinning at one point.

"It takes me 3-5 hours a day to get to the point I'm at," Slade said.

"She was awesome," Griggs said. "I'm even a basketball player, and I thought she was awesome."

Asbury was impressed with the fans' enthusiasm throughout the evening.

"I was pleased with the turnout, and I appreciate it," Asbury said. "We could never have a midnight madness at Southern California."

K-State coach Tom Asbury welcomes fans to Midnight Madness Friday night in Bramlage Coliseum. This is Asbury's first season at K-State, and more than 4,000

Noland leads both teams in scrimmage with 14 points

NICOLE POELL

Standing underneath one of the basketball goals, Wildcat basketball coach Tom Asbury got an up-close view of his team at Friday night's Midnight Madness

Did he like what he saw?

"Overall, I'm pleased," Asbury said. "But it's too early to be overly pleased or displeased, either one.

"They just don't know how to play the way I want them to play yet, but how could they - we haven't even practiced yet."

While the Cats' 20-minute scrimmage in front of an estimated 4,000 fans was without any previous coaching from Asbury and Co., there were some notable performances.

Leading the way for both squads was senior Belvis Noland, who topped the Cats' scoring charts with 14. points on the night.

However, it took a late rally from his purple squad, made up of Brian Gavin, Stanley Hamilton, George Hill, Kevin Lewis and Ayome "Paco" May to come

It was the white team, led by 10 points from senior captain Demond Davis, who came out swinging early in the game, holding a 16-8 lead by the first timeout of the Helping out Davis for the white team were Tyrone Davis, Elliot Hatcher, Hamilton Strickland, Aaron Swartzendruber and Mark Young.

While the white team controlled the lead throughout the game, Noland's teammates for the purple squad

Stanley Hamilton shoots a jump shot over guard Aaron Swartzendruber during the Cats Midnight

Madness practice. didn't quit, battling back to pull within five points with 8:21 left on the clock, 21-26. The white team managed to score just four additional points during the remainder of the game, as a three-pointer from Noland sealed it for the purples, 33-30. While it was the two K-State seniors leading both squads, some of the Cats' newcomers got on the board,

Junior guard Hatcher chipped in seven points on the night, followed by six from Hamilton, five from Gavin, four from Davis, Young, Hill and May, and two from These performances didn't go unnoticed.

"I thought everybody had their moments," Asbury said. "They played hard, and some of the guys shot the ball pretty well. They all scraped and made some nice unselfish plays.

'We obviously need to shore up some areas, but again, not having even practiced yet, it's hard to even make any strong determinations at this point," he said.

One of those determinations is what sort of lineup Asbury will assemble on the court for the Cats' first game on Nov. 16.

"I have no idea what kind of lineup we're going to put on the floor," Asbury said. "There's just no way of knowing yet. We've got a whole new system and a lot of new players, so we've got a lot of work to do between now and Nov. 16."

Saturday's first practice in Bramlage. With this workout lasting from 3:30 to 6 p.m., Asbury said his players will get some idea of the job that lies ahead. "It'll be a long one tomorrow," he said. "We've got a

All of that work officially got underway at lot we've got to start putting in. We've got every single thing to do starting tomorrow.' They got winded tonight, but they didn't get tired.

By tomorrow night at this time, they'll be very tired. They may be in Aggieville, but they'll be tired.'

BIG EIGHT FOOTBALL

Colorado, Salaam smash Sooners 45-7

ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOULDER, Colo. - Memo to that cable sports channel: Colorado would like to suggest a permanen't programming change.

No. 4 Colorado overwhelmed No. 22 Oklahoma 45-7 Saturday night, its second-straight rout of a highly regarded opponent in ESPN's late game. Colorado has romped over Oklahoma and Wisconsin by a combined score of 100-24.

"I guess ESPN, 7:30 p.m., is our slot," Buffaloes running back Rashaan Salaam said, who ran for 161 yards and four first-half touchdowns.

"I feel real blessed to be up for the Heisman," Salaam said. "But I've got other goals. I want to help this team be 11-0 come Jan. 1, and I want us to be national champs. If the Heisman comes, that's great.'

In winning their 10th straight, the Buffaloes (6-0 overall, 2-0 in the Big Eight) posted their highest point total ever against the Sooners (3-3, 1-1).

"We dominated in all phases of the game," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said. "That team (Oklahoma) has a lot of offensive weapons, but we never let them get anything going."

The Sooners managed just 40 yards rushing on 35 carries - their lowest production ever against Colorado.

"We played an outstanding football team tonight," Oklahoma coach Gary Gibbs said.

"This is the best Colorado team I've seen. They won the national championship in 1990 and played for it in 1989, but I would say this team, with all its, weapons, is every bit as good as those two.

"I was surprised that their defense completely dominated our offense. And their offensive line knocked us off the line of scrimmage 4 or 5 yards."

▶ VOLLEYBALL

K-State struggles, but gets split at Wichita State Triangular

CRESTON KUENZI

It should have been an easy two wins for the K-State women's volleyball team at the Wichita State Triangular this weekend.

After all, it was playing Creighton and Wichita State, two teams the Wildcats swept earlier this year in three games.

However, the Cats came out of the triangular with a 1-1 record. The first opponent for the Cats was

Despite not playing well in the game, the Cats handled the Bluejays 15-7, 16-14 and

"We absolutely played awful against Creighton." Coach Jim Moore said. We're having a difficult time playing against teams that we know we can beat right That statement became apparent in the second match against Wichita State as the Cats lost in four games, 13-15, 13-15; 15-11 and 14-16.

"We came out flat, and we came out thinking it would be easy," Moore said. "It took us too long for us to get going, and they took advantage.

Moore said his team's poor play in the first match carried over into the Wichita State

VOLLEYBALL STATS

■ The Cats defeated Creighton 15-7, 16-14 and

■ The Cats were then defeated by Wichita State 13-15, 13-15, 15-11, and 14-16.

"I think that was part of the problem," Moore said. "We needed to get off to a good start, and we didn't."

Moore said Yolanda Young played well in Toy played well, especially toward the end," Moore said.

"I think she ended up with 26 kills and 22 kills in the match.' The Cats will attempt to bounce back

Wednesday when they take on Iowa State in Ames, Iowa. "We've seen them on tape, and they are very good," Moore said. 'I know they've beat Kansas and Oklahoma. They also went four with Nebraska.'

Berringer plays 2nd half despite injury

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

a partially collapsed lung, connected with receiver Abduhl Muhammad for a 34-yard completion.

"That play really broke our backs, but I think we proved today that we can play with anybody," defensive back Chris Canty said.

Berringer did not enter the game until the second half. From there, he shared time with starter Matt Turman, mostly on passing downs.

"I thought Brook did well as the game went along," Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said.

"I think above all else, the thing we wanted to do was to get Brook through a game without having that lung collapse again."

May said a true test of character lies

'We're all hurt right now," May said. "We expected to come in and win the ballgame, but it didn't turn out that way.

Everybody is kind of upset, but we have to bounce back against Colorado next week.' Marlowe said the game was a chance for K-State to make an impression. "We had an opportunity to do something great, and we didn't do it,"

Marlowe said. "Basically, they made the plays when

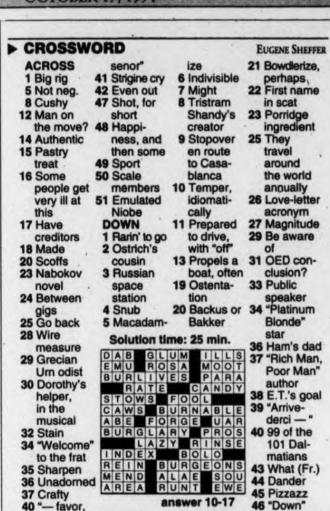

K-State travels to Boulder, Colo., to face No. 2-ranked Colorado Saturday.

Pi Kappa Lambda "Faculty Follies" - 8 p.m. at All Faiths Chapel.

Donna Flor and Her Two Husbands" - 8 p.m. at Union Forum Hall.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OCTOBER 17, 1994

40 "- favor

CRYPTOQUIP 10-17

VTTFSW

ZMJNTGTBO QVZMM GPWEMJ QZBY

JDS

FEGGO WEYYSN Saturday's Cryptoquip: WHY ARE MOST BEGIN-NING GEÓLOGISTS, WORKING IN THE FIELD, FOOLED BY SHAM-ROCKS?

ZJ

Today's Cryptoquip clue: N equals R

THE FAR SIDE GARY LARSON

"Excuse me? Excuse me? ... I believe the biggest set of fang marks belong to me, my frie

LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

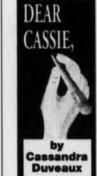

WE'RE GOING TO BE LATE.

▶ FOXTROT BILL AMEND GARY LARSON? YEAH, I HEARD THINK ABOUT IT! OVERNIGHT, YOUR LITTLE BROTHER COULD BECOME ONE OF THE WORLD'S WITH PITCHFORKS I HEARD THAT THE GUY WHO DRAWS "THE WELL, I FIGURE THAT JUST BECAUSE HEE HEE IF YOU MOST LIKELY. MOST WIDELY READ CARTOON IT DOESN'T MEAN THAT RETIRING AT THE THAT ONE PEOPLE WOULD BE BEATING I'LL JUST TAKE IT OVER FOR A PATH TO OUR DOOR!

Student seeking anonymous, local HIV testing

Dear Cassandra,

I hope you will be able to give me the information I, and others, might need. Where can people obtain free and anonymous HIV testing?

Signed, Information Needed

Dear Information Needed,

Unfortunately, there are only a couple places in Kansas that will give anonymous HIV tests any more. Health centers are trying to get away from anonymous testing because numerous people end up testing positive but never showing up again to find out the results. Therefore, there are hundreds or maybe even thousands of people out there who may have HIV. And because the only identification health centers have to go on is an anonymous number, there's no way to contact these people.

However, if you go in and get tested at Lafene Health Center, your test will remain completely confidential, just like everything else in your file. There's no way anyone would ever know unless they broke into Lafene, stole your file and understood how to read the test results. As far as where you can go for anonymous testing, you can call the Riley County Health Department at 776-4779, and they can give you more information.

▶ LIVE MUSIC

Panel Donor makes debut; Truck Stop plays new songs

NOLAN SCHRAMM

Collegian

At 10:14 p.m., the guitarist struck a power

Cheers and smatterings of applause rang throughout the small, smoky, dimly lit room as the other guitarist played a C-scale to tune his guitar.

Someone knocked over a big cup of beer, which fell to the floor and added to its stickiness. Snookie's bar almost had the atmosphere of a real club last Thursday night when Panel Donor took the stage, except for the guy tossing K-Rock T-shirts out to the crowd. The Lawrence band began its set with a song titled "Ensar's Kiln," a gritty-teeth song that featured the pounding drums of Charlie Hines and the glass-shattering vocals of Brandon Aikin. The greatest asset of this band lies in its versatility — the ability to go from hushed instrumental music to ear-piercing rock within seconds.

One such tune is "Sniper at the Gates of Dawn," a dynamic song with an 80-second intro of nothing but soothing guitar and a restrained drum beat. Suddenly, the song explodes into machine-gun drumming and a brief vocal score that highlights the horrors of warfare. Panel Donor is another Lawrence success story.

The band was signed to Lotuspool Records earlier this year after touring the Lawrence area extensively, Aikin said.

"I think people are getting sick of us in Lawrence," he said with a chuckle. Panel Donor was relatively unheard of in Manhattan, but it nevertheless received hearty applause. After a brief intermission, Truck Stop Love took the stage, and the audience went nuts. They announced that the first song would be a

A melodious tune sprang forth as the drums, guitars and vocals blended together to create a sound that can only be called Truck Stop Love. It would be the first of several songs that were so new they had no titles.

Despite the less-than-ideal acoustic properties in the upstairs of Snookie's, its sound was full-bodied, even fat.

Guitars were exceptional, with Matt Mozier playing what fellow band member Eric Melin would later call some of the best lead guitar work he'd ever done.

The precision drumming of Melin gave the music a pounding force instead of simply a forced

The vocals of Brad Huhmann and Mozier harmonized perfectly into what seemed like one voice.

The members of TSL were visibly tired after the entire set, but the intense cheering and yelling from the 200-300 people prompted them to play on.

One of these songs was the band's cover of "Listen to Her Heart," from the Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers Tribute Album.

Truck Stop Love performed flawlessly. Even after two more encores, the members gave tired smiles and played a third.

The final song played was the first song TSL had ever written. It was a fitting end to a great

Student Discount! Nautilis Fitness Center 11th & Moro 776-1654

VEJJVS

Tacos 3 for $1.35 Chili Burrito §1.99

(reg. $2.65) Good through 10-22-94

2809 Claflin 539-2091 On The Hill Overlooking Westloop Fri-Sat. 11 a.m. Midnight Now Open 7 days a week

New Shop in Aggieville!

Greenware, Bisque, & Items Firing & Repairing Supplies Lots of Southwestern!

Wildcat Clocks $29.50 10% off for students

Order for Christmas

776-0840 715 N 12th St, Aggieville

XPRESS

1116 Moro

537-0886

Mon.-Sat.

11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.

FREE DELIVERY (Minimum order $9) Expires 10-31-94

Tonite!

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF INTERIOR DESIGNERS KSU STUDENT CHAPTER PRESENTS: TWO-DAY GRAPHICS WORKSHOP BY MIKE LIN

A former professor in Landscape architecture at KSU, Mr. Lin is world-renowned for his motivational graphic and design workshop.

Intensive workshop to teach rendering skills to any student who uses visual representation in their work.

$55 Cost includes two full days of instruction. The regular cost of his two-week workshop is $775 for students and $1200 for professionals. So take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity!

Mr. Lin's private studio at 2815 Amherst Ave., Manhattan will accommodate 90 students, so act fast!

Date & Time: October 22 8:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. AND October 23 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

$55 Fee due by October 21 to: ASID mailbox, Justin Hall-Room 236C OR Phil Leamons, Seaton Hall-Room 211B • Make checks payable to ASID

 BRING THE FOLLOWING TO THE WORKSHOP: 20" wide trace paper Colored Pencils (12 min.) 1 Fine Point Felt Tip Pen Markers-Lt. Values &

1-6B Drawing Pencil 1-"Sharpie" Pen Straight Edge

Cheeseburger. Add crispy fries, a 16 oz. soft drink and a 5 oz. sundae for a meal that will satisfy a big appetite for a little money. But this is for a limited time only at participating Dairy Queen Brazier stores.

1015 N. 3rd

We Treat You Right

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25

each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

each word over 20 - $.35 per word 5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

classifieds must be paid in advance as you have an established account Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are

ed. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or coerty classify any ad.

HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention. DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you wan your ad to run. Classifed display ads nust be placed by 4 p.m. two wo days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS

PARKING

SOUTH OF THE

case. $100. Call Trever at 537-2989. Please, eave message if gone.

386, 40 meg hard drive, 3.5 and 5.25 disk drives,

color monitor, mouse, lots of software. Easy to use. $600. 539-2042.

ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris

Complete system with desk. 10 months old, loaded with software, $900. Call Will at 587-4123.

TWO K-STATE fans want

tickets to cheer Cats to victory at Colorado. Please call Jeannie at 539-6874.

IBM COMPATIBLE laser

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

(800)289-5685.

Tickets to

TRANS-

PORTATION

Automobiles

tion. $ 587-9470.

1984 CAMARO Z28 305 V-8 5.0 liter, excellent condition. $3000. Cal

1985 CHEVROLET Celebri-

1986 SPRINT, drive it all

ty Eurosport sedan, V6, automatic, extras, runs, looks great, ex-patrol car, comfortable, reli-able, $1350, 539-2528.

Buy/Sell

PACKARD BELL 486/33.

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays

Announcements

HEALTH & HARMONY PATHWAYS

> OFFERS WORKSHOPS MEDITATION

RELAXATION VISUALIZATION THERAPEUTIC TOUCH STRESS MANAGEMENT

CONSULTATION CALL 537-8946 ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor, Private ATP multi-engine Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

Tight on

Earn $15 each time vou donate plasma.

> NABI MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Mon-Fri

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-sonal.

DELTA CHI Adrian, My bi-ology buckarool I had a knee-slappin', cow pat-tie kickin' time in the hay. Dose doe 'til dawn again sometime? Luv, Cowgirl KB.

GOTTA BE, GOTTA BE BOSSES DAYII
We're so glad, we're so glad it was Sunday! We're takin' off, we're takin' off,
is that ok? Happy,
happy, Happy happy Bosses Day! From,
your Fun Loving Staff (hint: your picture appeared a few years ago). PAWJ

Meetings/ Events

TOASTMASTERS A mu-tual support group for people who want to improve their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

ADD AN extra touch of ty. Call Wayne's Water

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Ware-hard, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices.

MOVING AWAY, must rent my part of two-bed-room, one bath apart-ment, large bedroom with walk-in closet, washer/ dryer, cable TV, nice neighborhood, covered parking, fully carpeted and furnished (if necessary) $225/ month plus shared utili ties 539-4137.

QUIET SURROUNDING for study. Studio or one-bedroom furstudy. Studio or one-bedroom fur-nished or unfurnished. Some with utilities paid. Nine month lease, no pets. 539-4087. TWO-BEDROOM

NISHED apartment, central air, all bills paid, including cable, $300, 537-0428.

For Rent-Unfurnished

Now Leasing Large 2 Bedroom Apartments 1/2 block from campus/

1 or 2 baths For Appointment call 776-3804 Managed by McCullough Developmen

AVAILABLE FALL very nice

one, two, three and four-bedroom aparttions with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919. ***********

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL

537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30 AVAILABLE

Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. 776-3804. AVAILABLE OCT. 1, one bedroom, one-half block from campus. 1854 Claffin $355, cen-tral air/ heat, laundry facilities. 776-3804. CHASE MANHATTAN

NOW

Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin. FOR RENT- Studio apartment, all utilities paid. Please call Jared at 539-9507.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus

TWO-BEDROOM BASE

$390, bills paid.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR AG gieville and campus. 1005 Bluemont. $465.

Rooms Available

> CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-

For Rent-Houses

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References 530_1554

TWO-BEDROOM, UNFUR-NISHED basement, washer, dryer, refrig erator, fenced yard pets ok, year lease avail-able after finals or Jan 1, $450/ month, 531 Thurston, 587–0217.

Roommate, Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after

FEMALE TO share nice apartment, own room $175/ month. Call 539-0147.

HUGE HOUSE, own room (big). Next to campus, all bills paid, $225/ month. 587-9694. Available now or se MALE NEEDED to share four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct. rent free. 587-9327.

MALE OR female, nonsmoking to share home beginning in December. Quiet, wooded, westside. 539-6455. MALE ROOMMATE want ed to share three-bed-room, two-bath, furnished double-wide trailer. Non-smoker, non-drinker. $100. Share bills. Call 776-1038. MALE/ FEMALE nonsmoker. Available nov share two-bedroom apartment. $210/ month 913 Vattier, quiet, clean, near school. Eileen 587-8442 before 12p.m. NON-SMOKING FEMALE walk from campus. ROOMMATE NEEDED. nice area, available now, male/ female. Call Kelly (H) 776-3585, (W) 776-6612.

SEEK MALE/ female room mate. Wanted, Excel mate. Wanted. Excel-lent location, great place, all utilities paid, free laundry facilities. Cheap rent. Call Chrissy 537-0438. WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

Sublease

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two-bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balco-ny, 587–9394.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE-LY, one room in three-bedroom house. One block from campus. Price negotiable. No de-posit. 532-9191. Leave

Resume/ Typing

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprographs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings).

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

RESUME RESUME RE-SUME and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda, 776–3290,

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing Fotally confidential

Service

 Same day results Call for appointment Located across from Anderson Village Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Musicians/DJs

MUSICIANS WANTED for ence needed. 587-1805.

Automotive Repair NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas, 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri

Other Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call (800)645-3525 for infor-

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

SERVICES: INTERNATION-AL Students: DV-1 Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration. U.S. Immigration. Greencards provide U.S. permanent resi-dent status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed! For informa tion and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168; (818)998-4425 Mon-day- Sunday 10a.m.-

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readlegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454. 1-800-FOR-AVON.

money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170. AFTERNOON WORK, 8- 12 hours/ week, $5/ hour. File, clean, pack boxes, light assembly, occa-sional lifting to 60 sional lifting to 60 pounds. AGTECH/ Manhattan, 776–3863. ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext. ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box

COACHING ASSISTANT boy's basketball at Luck-ey Junior High. Oct. '94 through Feb. '95 apply at 306 South Juliette Deadline Oct. 26.

Giorgio's Manhattan's most authentic Italian restaurant is now accepting applications for managers, kitchen manager, and waitresses. Apply in person at 100 Bluemont trainees, waiters

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information

FAST FUNDRAISER— Raise $500 in five days-Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. Fast, simple, easy- no fi-nancial obligation. (800)775–3851.

IMMEDIATE POSITIONS

For more information

call (206)634-0468 ext.

available for hard working fast paced, customer oriented students. Positions open are grill/ mexican MWF 10:30a.m.- 2p.m. or porter MWF 9:30a.m.-1:30p.m. or salad bar MWF 9a.m.- 2:40p.m. Substitute position available am.available 10:30a.m. MWF or T/TH. Apply immediately at the K-State Union LOCAL FRATERNITY is currently seeking an ex-perienced Dietician. Responsibilities include men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12.50 per hour. Please send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

RESIDENTIAL ASSIS-TANT: Part-time posi-tion available for a five bed male residential facility for the severe and persistent mentally ill. Duties include monitoring/ supervision of daily living skills, and planning/ supervising recreational and leisure recreational and leisure skills activities. Must be available to attend a team staff meeting weekly. Contact the CSP Supervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services, Phone: 587–4333. SALES HELP wanted. Ener getic person to travel eastern Kansas and western Missouri. Must have reliable auto and insurance. Conduct group seminars on college campuses. Our company has 40 year proven and successful program. Highly motivated self-starters can achieve above average earnings at this entry level position. Guarantee, incentives, benefits and expenses paid. Training provided in an exclusive territory. For a personal interview call Mr. Huston at (800)835-9312 through Oct. 15 or call 539-7531 (Ramada Inn) after 6p.m. Oct. 17 or 9– 12 noon Oct. 18. SALES/ MARKETING Rep-

To contract for place ment of point of pur-chase advertising with in a specific industry Rauirements: over 21 two years college or equivalent sales/ mar-keting experience. Smaller marketing Smaller marketing areas may be limited time of employment, re-location to larger market optional. Flexible hours, student ok, com mission for each place-ment plus regular bo-nuses. Send resume, Box 2236, Topeka, KS

532-6555

532-7309

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir-ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 openings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681. TUTOR NEEDED imme diately Org. Biol 201, hourly rate plus bonus. Must have good grades VAN DRIVER: Part-time po sition available imme-diately. Responsible for ransporting clients to/ from Day Treatment Program. CDL required. Contact CSP Super-visor, Pawnee Mental Health Services, phone: 587–4333. EOE. YOUNG, AGGRESSIVE, ad vertising agency look-ing for "fresh," "red hot" designer. Recent graduates encouraged to apply. Must have Macintosh experience. Send resumes to: Pro-duction Director, P.O. Box 4512. Topeka, KS

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065. FUNDRAISING. CHOOSE from three different fundraisers lasting eith er three or seven days. No investment. Earn $$$ for your group plus personal cash bonuses for yourself. Call (800)932-0528, Ext. 65.

MARKET

Wanted to Buy

NEEDED: MANUAL for Lotus 1-2-3 version 2.3 and WordPerfect version 5.1. 776-4544.

Items for Sale

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

COPIER RECONDITIONED Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m.

FOR SALE: Four Tempco Goose Down coats, like new, 776–4544. IBM SELECTRIC II typewriter with correction. Re-cently checked and cleaned. Excellent con-dition. $100. Call, 776-4398 mornings or ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Convenient westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson. STUDENT DRAFTING table 42X31, 776–0753.

Antiques

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wa-

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

435

ATTENTION DOOM Players. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hundreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kimball Ave. 539–0801.

lator with book and day with the change in your couch. $1000. 1976 Mustang, 69,000 miles, $750 power steering, power brakes, 539-1991. HP48S- SCIENTIFIC Calcu

Surprise your pledge daughter with a KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN Personal Classified 103 Kedzie 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

ID must be shown when placing a Personal ad.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events 050 Parties-n-More

110 For Rent -

Apt. Unfurnished

115 Rooms Available 120 For Rent - Houses 125 For Sale - Houses

140 For Rent - Garage

135 For Sale -Mobile Homes

130 For Rent -

150 Sublease

160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale

155 Stable/Pasture

SERVICE DIRECTORY

205 Tutor

210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

225 Pregnancy Testing 230 Lawn Care

235 Child Care

240 Musicians/DJs

255 Other Services

145 Roommate Wanted 245 Pet Services 250 Automotive Repair

> 300 EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS 310 Help Wanted

320 Volunteers Neede

Opportunities

220 Sewing/Alterations

405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale

OPEN MARKET

400

420 Garage/Yard Sales 425 Auction

430 Antiques

A35 Computers

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

445 Music Instruments 450 Pets and Supplies

440 Food Specials

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

455 Sporting Equipmen

500 TRANS-PORTATION 510 Automobiles

520 Bicycles 530 Motorcycles

540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/ TRIPS

610 Tour Packages 620 Airplane Tickets

630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads

CATEGORIES

have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation. TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first.

This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price

range.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

NAMES OF STREET OF STREET, STR

Acceptance, rejection face greeks who come out

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

reactions to the news about his homosexuality.

"A lot of my fraternity brothers were upset that I left the house. They made me come back to the house, which made me feel good," he said.

"That was the most rewarding feeling in my life," he said.

Others that come out face rejection, however.

Barry said he joined a K-State fraternity his freshman year. "A lot of people didn't even give me the time of day after they found out," Barry said.

Barry said he dated women fraternity at Ball State.

before he came out.

had feelings one way, but I had to act another," he said.

Since coming out, Barry said he doesn't do much with his fraternity brothers anymore. He said part of the difficulty of coming out in a large fraternity is the fear of being judged. "People don't know you and will judge you if they find out," Barry

Axell said there are a few homosexual greek organizations that are nationally recognized,

He said there was a homosexual

"They were a fraternity just like "It practically drove me crazy. I all the others. Nothing was different," Axell said.

He said the gay fraternity at Ball State called itself a "progressive fraternity" and had some heterosexual members.

Axell said he thinks the greek community tends to heterosexually oriented.

"The greek community needs to be open-minded that there are gays, bisexuals and lesbians in the greek community," he said.

Both Barry and Axell said they feel the greek community tends to be resistant to dealing with homosexual issues.

"Fraternities and sororities are so founded upon history. You can't change that history," Axell said.

Axell said some of his fraternity brothers talked about his homosexuality behind his back.

"I think a lot of times they don't realize how hurtful the statements are," Axell said.

"I think the gay community needs to publicly respond to comments," he said. Axell said he feels society has come a long way in dealing with racism, but still does not fully accept homosexuals.

"If Shel (Barry) heard someone call me a nigger, he would say,

'Hey, don't call him that," he said. Axell said there are many homosexuals that are leaders in the greek community.

He said a recent study interviewed 50 bisexual, gay and lesbian greek members about their roles in the greek community.

According to the survey, homosexuals have held such positions as vice president, social chairman, president and secretary.

Axell said he was social chairman, vice president and recording secretary during his years at Ball State.

"My senior year, I was very involved on campus and within my fraternity. I was homecoming king of my school, which is a little larger than K-State," Axell said.

He said the president of the Association of Fraternity Advisers announced he was gay in 1993.

Axell said a survey of homosexual greek members indicated that they join greek organizations for the same reasons as others - for friendship, for a social life, for status and for a support group.

He said he publicly denounces anti-gay statements that are based on ignorance.

'What, do you want us blacks at the back of the bus, too?" he said.

Perry, Albright may speak in December, next semester

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Both Perry and Albright have assured the University they will present their lectures at a later date, and Reagan said he was looking to reschedule them either in December or early next

"We want people, especially Landon Lecture Series patrons, to know that we were close to having two very important speakers who, for reasons beyond our control, couldn't be there," he said. "Most patrons understand

Chris Kallenbach, senior in secondary education, said he has gone to most of the Landon Lectures and was planning on listening to Perry and Albright's

"I was disappointed that they ouldn't be coming, but I also el that we need to keep the same high standards," Kallenbach said.

If we want to get people pertinent to the time period cople who will be discussing hot

MR. GOODCENTS

1317 Anderson (behind Varney"s Bookstore

to be gone some of the time." Kallenbach said

Kallenbach said he would rather not have a Landon Lecture this fall if it meant they would be resorting to a low-caliber speaker.

"If they could get a world leader who'd discuss pertinent issues, I'd love to have one this fall, but I'd rather see them not bring somebody in than bring somebody not worthy of being a Landon Lecturer," he said.

Reagan would not speculate on who will be the next Landon Lecturer, but said there may still be a speaker this fall.

"We're working hard, but you can never tell how things will work out," Reagan said.

"I don't like to announce someone's coming, and then perfect, we'd have lectures evenly spaced out with one on a Wednesday and one on a Thursday, so they wouldn't be on the same day of the week, and people wouldn't have to miss the same classes," he said.

"It doesn't work that way. though. There are constraints in when the auditorium is available, times of the school year, and the people we get to speak have busy schedules," Reagan said.

Shanna Francisco, senior in psychology, said she is frequently unable to attend Landon Lectures because of conflicts with her class

She also said the number of students who will be attending the lectures should be taken into account when determining

Nebraska fans invade Aggieville after game

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

For the masses of Nebraska fans, Aggieville was a place to come and brag about the victory. "Even with Frazier gone, there was never a doubt we would lose," Katie Luellen, senior at the University of Nebraska, said.

Other Nebraska fans who have followed the team started planning the trip to Manhattan months ago.

"We came with a group of about 20 people, and we got our tickets and made our hotel reservations months ago. The closest place available was in Marysville," Sandy Almquist, Omaha resident, said.

"Overall, I thought it was a good game, and it was nothing for K-State to feel bad about," Almquist

Even though the post-game atmosphere was fairly calm and quiet, the Friday night crowd in Aggieville wasn't so friendly. "We have had about five fights all year, and last night we had 12 different fights, and they were all gamerelated," Favrow said.

"The Nebraska and K-State people were talking shit, and the more they drank, the more violent they got."

Aristide returns to Haiti, addresses job problem

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

population. Aristide has also promised jobs but will be unable to deliver in a traditional Haitian manner. He must convince his people that they must look beyond Haiti's No. 1 employer

- the government - for work. Few specifics emerged during Aristide's address Saturday at the National Palace. Afterward, his listeners wandered off aimlessly, symbolic of a happy but confused

The crowd was smaller than expected; many of those personally invited didn't show up for fear that they would be targeted by Haitians who have not turned over their weapons to the American soldiers.

The world has pledged $272 million in the next four months to help Aristide's new government, said Brian Atwood, administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development. The U.S. government agency expects to create jobs for 50,000 Haitians and hopes businesses such as assembly plants will restart in the next few months.

SECOND SET OF PRINTS

Daily 9 to 9, Sunday 11 to 6 • 3007 Anderson Ave.

each time

plasma.

MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway

Mon-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., 776-9177

Sat. 9 a.m.-2p.m.

vou donate

NABI

Receive a second set of 3" prints FREE with any exposure roll of 35mm, disc, 110 or 126 color print film left for developing and printing at our everyday prices! C-41 process only.

Exludes larger 4" size prints and photo galaxy.

1 REGULAR DRINK Limit 1 drink per coupon (With sub or pasta purchase. Not good with other specials. Only valid at Manhattan store.)

Expires 12/23/94

PERSONAL HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN

CONFIDENTIAL ABORTION SERVICES

• Complete GYN Care • Pregnancy Testing

 Depo Provera & Norplant • Tubal Ligation
 Licensed Physicians/Caring Staff • Modern State-Licensed Facility PROVIDING QUALITY HEALTH CARE TO WOMEN SINCE 1974 COMPREHENSIVE 345-1400

VISA

ealth for womenoutside KCAREA 4401 W. 109th (I-435 & Rose) 1-800-227-1918 Overland Park, KS TOLL FREE

KSU Friends of

Meeting TONIGHT OCT. 17 9 p.m. Union 212

SPILLWAY CYCLE AREA, TUTTLE CREEK

SATURDAY OCTOBER 22 $15 PRE-RACE ENTRY FEE (INCLUDES T-SHIRT) WHEN: SIGN-UPS TO BE HELD OCTOBER 17,18, & 19 WHERE: OUTSIDE K-STATE UNION

$20 DAY OF RACE REGISTRATION (INCLUDES T-SHIRT) FOR MORE INFORMATION: CONTACT BILL RYAN AT (913) 537-9655 JOE REINTJES AT (913) 537-4089

No Coupon" Specials

(NO coupon needed NONE accepted)

Everyday

Everyday Two-fers

PIZZAS with TOPPINGS each - COKES with ice

$8.45

Three-fers - PIZZAS with - TOPPING each 4 - COKES with ice

$10.34

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED (for youl)

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

"The Convenient Opponent: The Wehrmacht and D-Day"

The Sixth

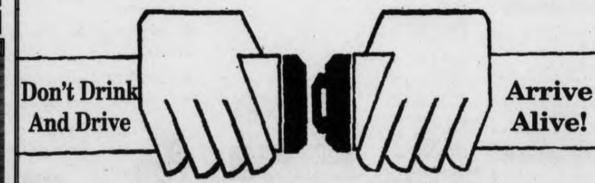

Dwight D. Eisenhower Lecture in War and Peace

Forum Hall K-State Union Tuesday, Oct. 18, 1994 8 p.m.

Dennis E. Showalter The Colorado College

BUCKLE UP SOBER

Funding in part provided by the City of Manhattan

DEBATE The debate between 2nd

Congressional District candidates John Carlin and Sam Brownback has been moved from the Union Little Theatre to The Union Main Ballroom. The debate will be at 1

Tuesday

OCTOBER 18, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 41

DENISON HALL

Facilities rule fumes non-toxic; students able to complete test

LEIGH BELLINGER

GEOG 220. Environmental Geography I

A basic physical geography course emphasizing the atmosphere, hydrosphere and treating related problems such as air pollution, drought and flood.

And as a field experiment, students will experience firsthand the hazards of sitting near a broken gas line for an entire hour while taking an exam.

More than 130 students in an Environmental Geography class probably wish they would have read the class description a little closer before they decided to take the course this fall.

Students in the class had to sit through gas fumes Friday morning in Denison Hall after workers cut a gas line during construction on Farrell

Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning and University architect, said no one in the classroom, Denison 113A, was in danger because of the broken

"My understanding was it was a minor problem; and those things are handled very quickly," Carter said.

Some students noticed the smell immediately, while others didn't smell it the entire hour.

Rachel Gilliams, junior in social work, said someone from facilities came in to let students know the gas was not coming from Denison, but from a broken line next door in the Farrell construction site.

"That kind of irritated me, because it was coming into the building," Gilliams said, "We could smell it."

She said facilities told the class it was safe to be in the building. Two teaching assistants were administering the exam for the instructor, who was out of town. Even with the fumes, the two GTAs decided to go ahead and give students

"I have to admit, it (the gas) was real strong," Becky Schuerman, graduate student in geography, said, "but I don't think it disrupted their thinking that

She said some students were trying to get them to move the test date back, but because the leak was not lifethreatening, they decided to go ahead

"We really don't have the authority to postpone a big test like that, Schuerman said. "We pretty much told them they were going to take it."

She said she let the class know that if anyone did pass out, they would reschedule the test.

Heather Grimes, senior in elementary education, said even though she sat up front, where the gas was the strongest, it didn't affect her. But she couldn't say the same for others.

"The girl sitting next to me got a severe headache immediately after walking into the class," Grimes said.

She said she personally didn't think they should have taken the test.

Weekend fire at Durland causes damage to room

CRESTON KUENZI

"The girl sitting

next to me got a severe headache

immediately

after walking into the class."

HEATHER GRIMES

elementary education

Senior in

A fire in Durland Hall during the weekend resulted in about $80,000-$100,000 in damage.

The Manhattan Department responded to an alarm at 4 a.m. Sunday.

The fire started and was contained in Durland 279, a mechanical engineering graduate student office and heat transfer

Although the cause is not yet determined, it is thought a coffee pot started the blaze, according to a University press release.

John Kent, assistant director of facilities maintenance, said he was not surprised the fire was "The beams are coated with fire-retardant materials, so fires do not spread readily from one room to another," Kent said.

In addition to the fire damage in Room 279, there was some minor water damage to the labs below, due to water leaking through the ceiling, and minor smoke damage to the room

Kent said the facilities employees have begun to clean and redo the room, which will include the removal and replacement of the walls in Durland 279. Kent said the project will take three to four weeks to complete.

Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning and University

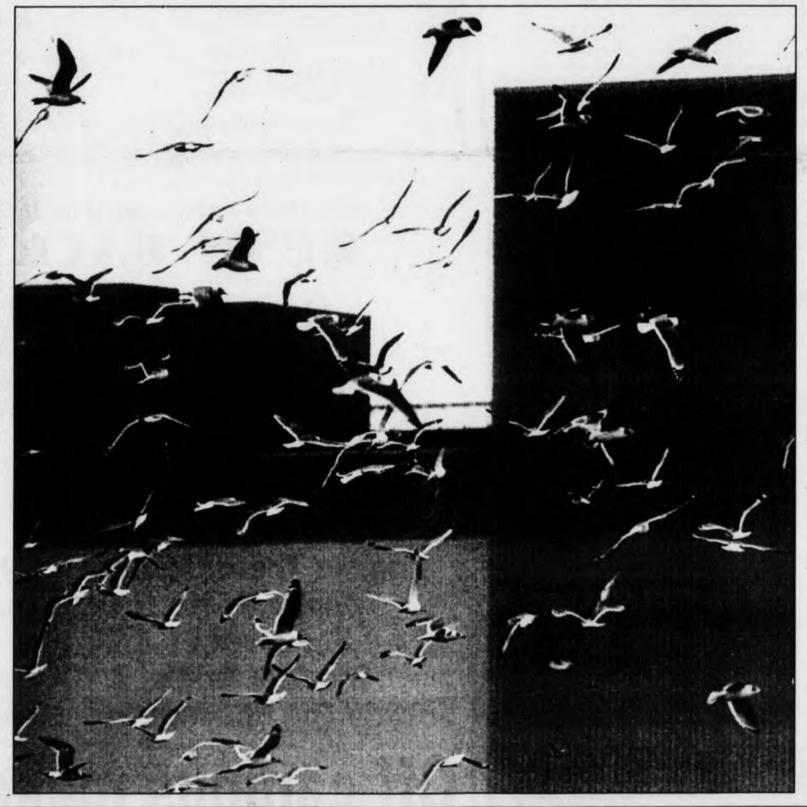

See CLOSER Page 10

A bunch of birds

A group of Franklin's gulls glide, climb and reel above the west parking lot of KSU Stadium Monday morning. Several thousand of the gulls were scavenging food in the east and west lots. The birds are on their annual course south to the Gulf of Mexico from their breeding grounds in the Canadian prairies and are in Kansas from mid-September to mid-October, David Rintoul, division of biology associate professor, said.

J. KYLE WYATT

Group hopes to make voting easier for college students

Voting may become as easy as picking up a class schedule if a national student group succeeds in its mission.

INSIDE

See page 5

for details

on how to register to vote.

Derek Kreifels, legislative affairs director for Student Governing a conference this weekend in Washington, D.C., to discuss easier voting registration for college students

Kreifels joined representatives from each of the Kansas Board of Regents universities to discuss "Register Once." Under this program, students would be able to register during either enrollment or fee payment.

Kreifels said he will begin to work on the bill by getting 25 percent of K-State students to sign a petition.

"After the election, we will be asking state senators and representatives to co-sponsor a bill," Kreifels said. "Hopefully, we will have the bill ready by early January.

Other goals of this bill include establishing polling places on every campus and providing an easy way for students to vote by absentee ballot.

"I think a lot more students would vote if it were easier to register," Kreifels said. "Students would have a lot more power in deciding issues if they would vote."

Tuition, financial aid and student insurance are just some of the issues decided by our elected representatives, Kreifels said.

"Several years ago, the county passed a law requiring people to buy car tags in Riley County if their car was garaged here for nine months of the year," he said. "Laws like that should not pass without student input."

Tim Kukula, SGA Communications . Committee chairman, also attended the conference. The meeting was sponsored by the national organization, Lead or Leave.

Pearson: $44 million in revenue bonds would be Cessna's debt

ASSOCIATED PRESS

MANHATTAN - The stakes are high for the five Kansas cities bidding for the new Cessna Aircraft Co. plant.

Manhattan announced late last week its original 'proposal to the Wichita-based manufacturer included $9.7 million in property tax abatements, up to $4 million from a proposed sales tax, and $31 million in industrial revenue bonds.

That adds up to more than $44 million, but Manhattan City Manager Jim Pearson said Monday the revenue bonds won't cost the city and would be Cessna's debt. "I wouldn't consider it an incentive because there is no local financing involved," he said

Cessna had asked the finalist cities to keep confidential as many specifics of the packages as possible, but Pearson said the company understood some figures would be released for discussion by city commissions or other

The Manhattan proposal is to be discussed by the Manhattan City Commission Tuesday night. "Our final package will be very close to

See PROPOSED Page 10

MAL BEHAVIOR

Specialists make life easier for pets, owners

Collegian

ets are becoming a more essential part of our families.

Fido isn't just a best friend anymore. To many people, he has become more like a sibling or child.

But there are problems when that fluffy and much-loved family member begins to mark his territory or show too much aggression.

You may want to consult a behavioral specialist. Dr. Kathy Gaughan, a K-State doctor of veterinary medicine with an interest behavior specialists try to help people and their animals get along better. "We try to foster the relationship between people and their pets and work out a better way for them to communicate," she said.

Wayne Hunthausen, veterinarian at Animal Behavioral Consultants in Westwood, said studying an animal's behavior is nothing new.

"Behavioral modification was used experimentally on animals before it was used on people. It's just really come into the forefront in the last 10-15 years," he said.

The reason for the recent popularity is because pets are becoming a part of our families, Hunthausen said. in animal behavior, said animal "People refer to their pets as their babies and their children. People's pets are important to them," he said.

Hunthausen said the three most common problems in dogs and cats are aggression, urination in the house and destructive behavior. Gaughan said many of these behavior problems are instinct. "A lot of animal behavior is normal, but it's just unacceptable to humans. People have to try and realize that that's just their instinct," she said. There are two main ways to approach these problems - change the

See VETS Page 10

NEWS BRIEFS

► CARL DJERASSI TO SPEAK ABOUT HIS ROLE IN THE INVENTION OF THE PILL

The "Father of the Pill" will speak at 10:30 a.m. today in McCain Auditorium in the second Convocation Lecture this semester.

Carl Djerassi is known for his work in chemistry and his association with several developments in the fields of oral contraceptives. antihistamines and topical corticos-

Djerassi's reputation and notoriety is expected to bring a good turnout for the lecture, Robert Robel, professor of biology, said.

"We hope to see anywhere from 500 to 1,000 people at the lecture," Robel said. "A person of his caliber won't be back to visit K-State for probably another 10 years."

Djerassi was born in Vienna and attended Kenyon College and the University of Wisconsin.

In 1949, he joined Syntex, S.A. in Mexico City as associate director of chemical research. He is current ly a professor of chemistry at Stanford University in California.

For his work in developing oral contraceptives, Djerassi received the National Medal of Science and was inducted into the National Inventors Hall of Fame.

He has won numerous awards and honors for his work in chemistry, including 12 honorary doctorates from colleges all over the world.

Dierassi is a member of many honorary science academies and institutions and has had over 1,200 chemistry articles published.

In his lecture titled "Birth Control in the Year 2001," Djerassi will discuss his role in the invention of the birth control pill in 1951.

"He's going to talk about how he invented the pill and discuss other contraceptive methods used today."

SPEECH

Carl Djerassi, known as "Father of the Pill," will speak at 10:30 a.m. today in McCain Auditorium. Djerassi's speech is the second Convocation Lecture this semester.

Djerassi will also share his personal opinions on the improvements of contraceptive methods and the effects the Pill has had on women, Robel said.

610 Ford, reported criminal dam-The material in Djerassi's-lecture age to property to her dark blue 1987 Volkswagon GTI. The rear is explained more extensively in his wiper blade was broken, and the autobiography "The Pill, Pygmy Chimps and Degas' Horse." tail pipe was bent and loose, A CHRISTI WRIGHT

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 16

At 12:56 a.m., a domestic battery was reported between Nikita Culbreth and Keith Porter

at a fraternity dance at Brandenberry Indoor Complex.

Subjects were arrested and transported to the Riley County Jail.

fire was reported at 279 Durland.

Police were notified of a heavy burning smell by Norman Burge and upon arrival found heavy smoke. The Manhattan Fire

At 12:17 p.m., Chris Sander,

Department responded.

At 3:57 a.m., an accidental

At 10:54 a.m., Jill Jernigan, 427 N. 16th St., No. 8, reported a past theft. The victim was Todd Jernigan, Overland Park. Taken was a men's purple and black 26-inch Rockadile mountain bike. Loss was $500.

At 1:10 p.m., Joel Flint, Colby, was arrested on Riley County Warrant #93CR111 for misdemeanor checks at 225 N. Court, Coiby, by the Colby

Police Department.

At 1:14 p.m., Scott

Hagemeister, 932 Haymaker, reported he discovered what he believed to be a controlled substance Southwest of Derby on the sidewalk. An officer responded and took as evidence

a small green Ziploc bag containing a green vegetation ambulance responded to the area of Boyd Hall after Todd Stewart,

726 Moore, suffered a possible head injury playing football. He declined transportation and was taken by personal vehicle to Memorial Hospital for examina-

At 5:38 p.m., a Riley County believed to be marijuana.

At 2:52 p.m., Linda from St. Mary Hospital reported a domestic fight between a patient and a male visitor. The male was currently in the parking lot. An officer advised, and the matter was settled for the present. The male was transported to his residence and the female stayed at the hos-

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

The deadline for applications to the Community Service Program International Teams has been extended to Oct. 21. Teams will be sent to Jordan, India, Mexico, Paraguay, Zaire, Applications are still available. For more information, call 532-5701.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

BULLETINS IN THE PROPERTY OF T

- Circle K International will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union 206. German Table will meet at 11:30 a.m. today in Union Stateroom 3. Anyone interested in German conversation is wel-
- Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 p.m. today at the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.
- University Convocations Committee will meet at 10:30 a.m. today in McCain Auditorium. Carl Djerassi will present "Birth Control in 2001."
- Kansas Center for Rural Initiatives will present "Hereby Notified and Called to Meet," which will examine the rural infrastructure, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union 204.
- Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch for nontraditional students from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union KSU College Republicans will have a brown-bag lunch from
- noon to 1 p.m. today in Union 212. Guests will be Sam Brownback and Nancy Kassebaum.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66566. The ·Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

➤ COLORADO COLLEGE PROFESSOR TO TALK ABOUT WORLD WAR II. D-DAY

A speaker will discuss World War II and Germany's role in D-Day at 8 tonight.

Dennis Showalter, professor of history at Colorado College, will present a lecture in the K-State Union Forum Hall titled, "The Convenient Opponent: The Wehrmacht and D-Day." Mark Parillo, assistant professor of histo-

K-State's history department is sponsoring the lecture, part of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Lecture Series in War and Peace, Parillo

He said the lecture is timely because there has been much said about the 50th anniversary of D-Day in the media.

The reason this is unique, Parillo said, is because most-commemorative events concerning D-Day only represent the allied point of view.

"Showalter will discuss what Germany's plans and expectations were," Parillo said.

Showalter was born and raised in the United States but has spent time in Germany as a guest lecturer and short-term teacher in several military academies, Parillo şaid.

Showalter is a trustee and vice president of the Society for Military History, he said.

"The Society for Military History is the largest scholarly group of its kind," Parillo said. In addition to the lecture, Showalter will speak to several K-

State military history classes and history faculty members, he said. The K-State history department, Parillo said, is one of the top three or four in the country because of its

SPEECH

Dennis Showalter, professor of history at Colorado College, will give a lecture titled, "The Convenient Opponent: The Wehrmacht and D-Day," at 8 tonight in the K-State Union Forum Hall.

In the past, Parillo said, the speakers have had good credentials but were not the best public

"Showalter is a dynamic speaker and an internationally known military historian," Parillo said.

MOLLY WEIGEL

▶ GOVERNMENT DENIES CHANCE TO APPEAL RULING REINSTATING GAY SAILOR

military history department.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The Clinton administration passed up an opportunity to challenge a court ruling that allowed reinstatement of a sailor who publicly declared his homosexuality.

The ruling affects Navy sonar operator Keith Meinhold, who revealed on national television in 1992 that he is gay. Meinhold was discharged under old military regulations that were replaced last year. John McGuire, an attorney for Meinhold, said the Justice Department let pass a Friday deadline to appeal an August decision by a panel of the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco. That 3-0 ruling found the military can dismiss open gays or lesbians only if they say they intend to have homosexual sex, not for simply

"coming out."

The deadline applied to seeking review by the full appeals court, and'the government still has 45 days from Friday to decide whether to appeal to the Supreme Court, Justice Department spokesman Joe Krovisky said. He said Solicitor General Drew Days had not yet decided whether to take the Meinhold case to the high court.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Lows 35 to 45 in the west and 55 to 60 in the east.

STATE OUTLOOK

Chance for rain. Highs 65 to 70.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK A chance for morning rain. High of 70. Tonight, thunderstorms with a low of 60. TOMORROW MAN

High in the 60s and partly cloudy to sunny.

NOVEMBER ENROLLMENT SPRING 1995

WHO:

If enrolled on-campus MANHATTAN for Fall 1994

DATES:

November 2-4, 7-11, 14-18, 21-22

NOTE:

Your appointment time to enroll will be printed on the top right hand corner of your Class Enrollment form, and is assigned on a priority system of hours you

If you miss your appointment time, you can enroll after your assigned time through November 22.

If you have a financial hold(s), it will be printed on the lower left-hand corner of your form.

All financial holds must be cleared before you can enroll. Spring 1995 Class Schedules are available in the K-State Union Bookstore

CLASSIFICATION Graduate student Senior/5th year Junior Sophomore Freshman

APPROXIMATE STARTING DATE

November 2

LOCATION OF CLASS ENROLLMENT FORM:

Agriculture Architecture & Design Arts & Sciences

Education

November 2

November 4

Business Administration

Engineering Human Ecology Graduate School  November 8 November 14

LOCATION Advisor's office Department office Pre-professional & undeclared in dean's office; others in department office

Pre-professional & general in Calvin 107; others in department office Pre-professional & general in Bluemont 13; others in advisor's office Department office

WHO:

If enrolled in a SALINA course(s) for Fall 1994

DATES:

November 2-4, 7-11, 14-18, 21-22

NOTE:

If you have a financial hold(s), it will be printed on the lower lefthand corner of your form.

Advisor's office

Dean's office

All financial holds must be cleared before you can enroll. Spring 1995 Class Schedules are available on October 31.

PROCEDURE:

Beginning October 31, pick up your Spring 1995 Class Schedule in your department office and schedule an appointment with your

Beginning November 2, bring your completed Class Enrollment form to the Library Conference Room (Tech Center).

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Tuesday, Oct. 18

KSU Student Foundation 6:00 p.m. Pi Sigma Epsilon 6:20 p.m. Gamma Theta Upsilon 6:40 p.m. Alpha Pi Mu 7:00 p.m. Tau Beta Pi 7:20 p.m. Block & Bridle 7:40 p.m. Society For Advancement 9:40 p.m.

Off campus make-up

Oct. 18 & 19 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and 4-8p.m. in Union 209

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

NEWS ROUND-UP

World HOTSPOTS

KUWAIT

LONDON

Rail authorities from Britain, France and Belgium amounced Monday schedules for train service through the Channel Tunnel for travelers begithing nov. 14.

Operators had wanted the "Chunnel" open in time for heavy summertime traffic, and in January had projected a May opening date for passenger traffic, but problems forced numerous delays.

The railways said there will initially be two trips a day on each route — morning and evening Monday through Friday. The tunnel will be closed most of the weekend for testing,

HAITI --- *

President Jean-Bertrand Aristide preached anew for reconciliation from behind his bulletproof shield Monday, hours after a mob torched the family home of Haiti's new army commander.

Fifteen buildings were set afire, and one man was killed in the coastal town of Gonaives after a false rumor spread Sunday night that Maj. Gen. Jean-Claude Duperval had led a coup attempt against Aristide.

After three years of army rule, Aristide faces a challenge in persuading his nation to put aside the desire for

At the same time, concern for Aristide's security has practically made him a prisoner of the National Palace, where his appearances have been from behind a bulletproof shield on the palace steps.

The mob attack in Gonaives, 100 miles north of Port-au-Prince, occurred after Aristide summoned Duperval to the National Palace on Sunday to discuss how to dismantle

U.S. troops guarding the palace unloaded Duperval's normal sidearms, prompting unfounded rumors to spread that the army chief had tried to topple Aristide.

At least 10 houses and five stores were burned in the city of Gonaives, including one belonging to Duperval's mother. A grain depot owned by the Brandts, one of Haiti's richest families was looted.

richest families, was looted.
Radio Signal FM said U.S. and Haitian soldiers arrested
109 people in putting down the violence in Gonaives.
In a brief speech Monday, Aristide urged "creating a state of law like all modern societies."

Underlining Aristide's plea for reconciliation, Duperval joined the Haitian leader on the palace stairs and helped him hoist the the Haitian flag.

Later Monday, Duperval ordered all soldiers on leave to return to their posts on Tuesday. Only a small fraction of Haiti's soldiers have been reporting for duty since Cedras' resignation. Aristide plans to cut the forces from 7,450 to 1,500.

Aristide officials sought Monday to put an end to the violence. Information Minister Herve Denis said anyone caught looting or targeting the homes of Aristide's political opponents would be arrested.

although there will be one train in each direction Sunday oductory fares between London and Paris in many Round-trip train fares range from $152 for tickets bought 14 days in advance to $312 for a first-class round trip, which includes meals. Tickets go on sale next Monday.

The train will take about three hours between London and Paris and just 15 minutes longer between London and

JORDAN -

AMMAN, Jordan — Jordan and Israel initialed a draft treaty Monday to end nearly a half-century of hostility, intensifying pressure on Syria to move toward ending one of the world's pressure on Syria to move toward ending one of the world's longest-running conflicts.

The accord, reached after an all-night session that resolved disputes over water rights and borders, was expected to be quickly ratified by the Jordanian and Israeli legislatures. The Israeli Cabinet approved it within hours after it was signed.

After Monday's ceremony, Israeli President Ezer Weizman said Syrian President Hafez Assad "should look around and see ... He may be the last in line" to make peace with Israel.

But in Damascus, where government numerous pages and the same content of t

But in Damascus, where government-run newspapers have said daily that Israel was not to be trusted, Syrian Foreign Minister Farouk al-Sharaa said, "We hope the Israeli government will realize the fact that without achieving peace with Syria and Lebanon, there will be no peace in the region ... This is the reality."

King Hussein of Jordan, who maintained clandestine contacts with Israeli leaders for years despite the state of war, insisted the treaty heralded a new era.

"Hopefully, it is a fresh beginning and a fresh start," he said. And Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin of Israel called it a

"historically unique moment," and he said he hoped a full-fledged treaty would be signed by the end of next week. Israel TV said the full accord would be signed Oct. 26 on the Jordan-Israel border. President Clinton accepted an invitation to attend, the White House announced.

FORT RILEY — A five-member public affairs detachment has been sent from Fort Riley to Kuwait to help relay news to U.S. troops and help reporters gathering news on Army activities in Kuwait.

The 19th Public Affairs
Detachment is the only unit based at Fort Riley to be alerted and sent to Kuwait so far, said Mark Meseke, of the post's Public Affairs Office.

The unit — composed of an officer, a senior noncommissioned officer and three soldiers — had previously been deployed during Operation Desert Storm and has covered relief efforts in Somalia and firefighting efforts in Idaho.

It was not announced how long the detachment would remain in Kuwait.

IRAQ

BAGHDAD, Iraq — Iraq's parliament praised Saddam Hussein on Monday for his efforts to get crippling U.N. sanctions lifted, but gave no public sign it was prepared to recognize Kuwait.

Western and other diplomats in Baghdad had expected the parliament to approve a such a resolution. But following a three-hour closed meeting of the National Assembly, the official Iraqi News Agency Issued a one paragraph report saying only: "The Iraqi parliament reiterated its support for all the steps taken by President Saddam Hussein to guarantee Iraqi security and ... to get the sanctions imposed on Iraq lifted," Madeleine Albright, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, said earlier Monday that to meet Security Council demands, Iraq's parliament must unequivocally and formally recognize Kuwait, the statement must be signed by Saddam, and it must be published in the Iraqi Parliament's official gazette — the same actions Iraq took when it annexed Kuwait in 1990.

It was not clear whether the parliament might meet again to take up the issue of recognizing Kuwait.

The Revolutionary Command Council, Iraq's top decision-making body headed by Saddam, is believed to have approved recognizing Kuwait on Saturday, Western and Middle Eastern diplomats in Baghdad said. The parliament had been expected to rubber-stamp the decision.

N. KOREA-*

The United States and North Korea have reached a framework agreement to ease months of tension over the North's nuclear program, the chief U.S. negotiator said Monday.

Robert L. Gallucci said the draft accord would be sent to capitals for approval, and negotiators hoped to sign the document in Geneva on Friday.

He declined to give details of the accord.

Gallucci said the accord was broadly acceptable and positive.
He said it served the interests of the United States, South Korea and Japan and addressed concerns about the past nuclear program of North Korea.

and Japan and addressed concerns about the past nuclear program of North Korea.

The agreement builds on an outline accord, reached in August, in which North Korea offered to open up its nuclear facilities to international inspection and scrap its outdated atomic-energy program. That program uses old-fashioned technology that produces more bomb-making plutonium than modern reactors. In return, Washington offered low-level diplomatic ties and help in building safer nuclear power plants.

Since then, little progress has been made. Some speculated that a power vacuum in North Korea following the death of Kim II Sung made it impossible for negotiators in Geneva to act with authority.

authority.

Negotiators had reported talks were deadlocked for days.

In Beijing, Chinese Defense Minister Chi Haotian told U.S.

Defense Secretary William Perry on Monday that China would try to help end the impasse. A senior U.S. official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said China did not want North Korea to have nuclear weapons.

China is a traditional ally of communist North Korea.
Kim Jong II, the late leader's son, appeared in public Sunday for the first time since his father's funeral, signaling that he has taken power. However, he has not formally assumed the positions of president and communist party leader.

The latest round of talks started in Geneva about three weeks

In Seoul, South Korean officials said Sunday that the latest sticking point was the U.S. demand that North Korea open dialogue with the South before Washington establishes diplomatic liaison offices.

North Korea contends any dialogue is an issue between the two Koreas and does not concern the United States.

riefs by the Associated Press

Westloop

Coin -A- Matic

7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

539-2131

1129 Gardenway

(A) Little Caesars

CHEESER! CHEESER!

MEATSA! MEATSA!

PEPPERONI! PEPPERONI!

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

Expires 11-2-94

DATES:

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY OCT. 19 & 20

MONDAY/TUESDAY

OCT. 31 & Nov. 1

THURSDAY & FRIDAY

Nov. 10 & 11

TIMES: 8:30-11:30 A.M. & 1-4:30 P.M. NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED

CASH/CHECKS ONLY - K-STATE I.D. REQUIRED

$5.25 STUDENTS $8.25 FACULTY/STAFF (1ST TIME OFFERED)

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED FOR PEOPLE WITH LONG TERM

HEALTH PROBLEMS

& ASTHMA

You're In The Book

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2) $3.50 for faculty/staff $4.25 for the public

AVAILABL

Get Yours in 103 Kedzie Hall

Questions? Call 532-6560

City Farmers Surplus Flea Market Open:

Tues. - Fri. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Sat. & Sun. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Appliances, furniture, household items, jewelry and clothing, sporting goods, tools, medical supplies, lawn equipment, antiques, home maintenance items, knick knacks and A LOT MORE. (A little bit of everything new and used a affordable prices.)

> We Buy Used 501 Levis 201 S. 4th St., Manhattan, Kansas (the old Sears building) 539-8579

No Coupon" Specials Everyday Everyday Two-fers Three-fers 2 - PIZZAS with 3 - PIZZAS with 1 - TOPPING each 2 - TOPPINGS each 2 - COKES with ice 4 - COKES with ice $10.34 $8.45 Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Executive Director of Theta Chi Fraternity and International Speaker Dave Westol will be presenting two speeches:

"Hazing on Trial"

A presentation aimed towards the New Members of Sororities and Fraternities. It will explore the issues of hazing through a mock trial of a chapter being accused of hazing. All are welcome to attend.

6:30

"Leaving the Baggage Behind"

A presentation addressing issues such as the ethics of leadership, apathy, date rape, hazing, and image. Everyone is invited to attend.

8:30

Tuesday, October 18 McCain Auditorium

> Brought to you by Greek Affairs

"For the Very Best in Greek Sportswear"

This ad sponsored by

OCTOBER 18, 1994

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board,

Students should not have remained for test

Even though there was no gas leak, students' lives endangered.

Yesterday in Denison Hall, students arrived to take a test and smelled gas in their classroom.

The professor was out of town, and two graduate teaching assistants were giving the test.

Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning, was called, and he said the smell couldn't be gas because the building didn't have any gas lines. Even though some students complained that the smell was making them sick, the test was not moved or rescheduled.

Although no one was hurt, the decision to continue the test endangered students' lives. It could have been a real gas leak. That was dumb and reckless.

Common sense should have overridden duty to administer a test. If a bomb threat had been made, the class would have been evacuated. But when gas was smelled, nothing was Fire departments and educators have told students for years that gas is dangerous; that the flick of a light switch could have removed the building, and its contents, from the planet. They got lucky.

But students still didn't get a fair chance to take the test. Distracting odor and nausea don't create a good environment for taking an exam.

The GTAs should have worried more about the students than keeping any schedule. No test, class, diploma or job is worth a life.

TOLES

City entertainment is in full swing

RISTIN BRIGHTON

ou know, I used to complain about life in Manhattan. It just seemed so small townish. So hicksville. So uncouth.

Well, I take it all back.

It used to be such a special occasion to have anything cultural to attend. It was a rare treat to dress up in my Sunday best and practice theater etiquette. Often, I had to go to Kansas City or somewhere to see aplay I was curious about.

But now I feel like I am attending a play, musical, lecture or performance

The opportunities for live entertainment have just exploded, and I am thrilled. Three cheers for everyone in this town involved in planning and booking groups and performances. This year, you deserve a raise. The arts are in full quality swing this year in Manhattan. Finally.

It is so much fun to have an excuse to dress up in nice clothes and just sit and stare in amazement. Which is exactly what I did the night Manhattan was honored with a performance by the Principal Dancers of the New York City Ballet.

I just stared in an amazed stupor and was inspired to sign up for a dance class next fall. I just can't believe people can bend that way. I better begin limbering back up right away. But the ballet was just the beginning. Since then, the McCain Series has brought opera and, most recently, Andrew Lloyd Webber's musical "Evita," to town. This weekend, Actors for the London Stage will be performing their rendition of Macbeth at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday. With 13 other promising performances on the calendar, I want to encourage more students to attend. Students get a 50-percent discount, so some tickets are not much more than the price of a movie.

And seeing a live performance is certainly more memorable than watching a movie you can rent again and again. With live entertainment, no two performances are ever the same. But wait - there is more.

K-State Theatre just closed its first show of the season, "Speed the Plow," last weekend, and they, too, have an excellent record of performances. The good thing about seeing student shows is that you do not have to buy tickets as far in advance to get good seats as you do in McCain, and it is fun to watch people you know in a different

Don't miss the upcoming performance of "Chicago," this year's musical. It will perform Nov. 10, 11 and 12 in McCain Auditorium. I reserved my tickets a few weeks ago and they were going fast, so get yours right away. And don't forget about performances in the Purple Masque Theatre and the many music department performances scheduled throughout the year. These performances may not get as much press, but the performers put in as much hard work and dedication into their roles as a muscle-bound prima ballerina.

And there are still more artistic endeavors going on in Manhattan.

Manhattan Civic Theater will be presenting their next play, "Arsenic and Old Lace," in November in the Wareham Opera House.

The Manhattan Arts Council is renovating what used to be a Dutch Maid Supermarket into an Arts Center for the entire community to enjoy. Already, this has provided the community with a chance to explore the arts, and it will continue to do so as it nears its grand opening.

When you add surprise events like the visit by Stephen King last weekend and the earlier lecture by Zev Kedem, Manhattan has been lucky this fall.

Who needs a calendar to remember your reading assignments? I need an organization system just to keep all of these dates straight. Take advantage of the many opportunities people have worked so hard to provide us. If you have never been to a performance of any kind while at K-State, then pick an event and try it. Don't let a bad play from high school or something ruin your chance to appreciate theater. Who knows? You might find yourself a No. 1 fan.

Kristin Brighton is a sophomore in mass communication and English.

Brownback is best guy for job

Sam Brownback and John Carlin, the Republican and Democrat candidates for Congress in the Kansas 2nd District, will face off in a debate today in the Union Little Theatre from 1 to 2:30 p.m. The debate is a great opportunity for K-State students to gain a better understanding of the issues that affect our lives within the university, the state of Kansas and our nation, and to decide who we want to send to Congress to represent our district.

If today's debate is like most political debates, both candidates will sound good and appear competent. They will extol family values, promise economic growth, and pledge to fight crime through proven leadership, hard work, and common sense Sounds like Bill Clinton. That is, after he and his supporters decided Dan Quayle was right about the importance of family values.

Indeed, politicians sound good for a living. The difficult task of the voter is to decide who will achieve the goals we all agree with. This depends on two factors: the candidate's character and their political philosophy. The candidate who best fulfills both requirements Sam is Brownback.

Back in the fall of 1992, when liberals had to find a way to rationalize why Bill Clinton should be President, the public decided character didn't matter.

Now, after Clinton has flipflopped on most major decisions, broken numerous promises, such as his pledge to cut taxes for middle-class Americans (he raised them), attempted to cede one-seventh of the U.S. economy to the federal government through health-care reform, and been linked to the shady Whitewater affair as well as

Brownback believes government should empower people, not itself.

Paula Jones, the public has concluded that character does

Character is the most important quality a public official must have to be successful. As we have seen with Clinton, a politician's ability to make wonderful promises is not a good indicator that they intend to keep them. Invisible character like ' motives, traits trustworthiness and honesty make or break a politician. Private morality translates into public policy. Neither candidate is perfect, nor could they be. Brownback, however, appears to have the edge in this respect. According to yesterday's issue of the Topeka Capital-Journal, last week the Brownback campaign charged that Carlin lied about signing a death penalty bill and lowering citizen's utility bills during his 1978 campaign for governor. They also charged that while Carlin was governor, he blocked construction of new prisons then turned around and tried to take credit for new prisons after the need for them became obvious. Many people want to dismiss these charges as negative campaigning. However, what is often "negative labeled campaigning" is often keeping public officials accountable for their actions.

Because we can't see what a candidate will do before they're elected, voters can only look to the candidate's values and history as an indicator of how they'll perform once in office.

Brownback also adheres to an effective political philosophy. He is a conservative reformer who believes our political institutions should be improved by following ideas and policies that have been proven to work. Brownback believes government should empower people, not itself. He supports term limits and opposes exclusive perks. He supports health care reform, but opposes employer mandates, and also supports welfare reform. He's in favor of restoring voluntary prayer in public schools and opposes raising income taxes.

All things considered, Sam Brownback is the best qualified candidate to represent our district in Congress.

Go to today's debate and educate yourself about where the candidates stand on specific issues and what they propose to do if elected. Then decide for yourself who the best candidate is. And vote.

John Hart is a senior in political science.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.èdu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

All men seem to be potential rapists

I have been disturbed by the amount of articles involving violence toward women that I have read lately. They all seem to preach to women of learning self-defense as well of a high distrust and fear of men. It seems to me, with the amount of attention the subject of rape and violence gets, about one in five males here at K-State will assault a woman by the time they graduate. This bothered me, so I took a poll and found that zero out of 40 men said they ever felt any inclination to assault women. Of course my poll won't be published, but there will be many more stories published to remind everyone that all males are potential rapists.

This atmosphere of mistrust hit me hardest on Tuesday when I had my first assignment as a member of the escort service. I am an escort with a female escort to make sure that I didn't go wild and attack the woman I was escorting. The University seems to feel it necessary that all male escorts be chaperoned like schoolchildren. I thought that the screening process was there to decide if we could be trusted with remaining nonviolent. This practice does little more than reiterate that ALL MEN can't be trusted. It's sad when one can only find suspicious looks when they wish to lend a hand to others. I am now very well aware that I AM A POTENTIAL RAPIST. Thank you, K-State, for this realization.

Michael Nawrocki freshman in pre-vet

SALES TAX

Students shouldn't allow tax raise

Dear Editor,

K-State has been annexed into the city of Manhattan, even in the face of fierce opposition ... I'm sure that every student has noticed that the now free fire department coverage has more than paid for itself with the recent outbreak of fires on campus. While I also rest assured that the K-State administration will spend vast amounts of time deciding what annual projects be suggested by the city for the betterment of K-State (I say "suggest" because the city can complete any number of these projects including none), there are some upcoming events you may wish to inform yourself on and hopefully take action on. I'm referring to the 3-percent jump in taxes that K-State students will be forced to pay over a time period of less than one year.

The first jump has happened. On-campus taxes increased from 5.4 percent to 6.4 percent after the annexation. While it may be too late to do anything about this tax increase, please feel free as part of the voting public to take action on the rest of the proposed tax jumps the city and the state have planned.

The city of Manhattan has proposed a 0.5percent tax increase to add on to the county jail (no doubt to house the sidewalk-riding bicyclist and roller-blading heathens that destroyed this once-proud nation). This would raise K-State taxes to 6.9 percent. The city has also proposed a 0.5-percent tax increase for the city economic development. I have been told by local politicians that this is no more than a city-party fund. I have no doubt that the city will buy us all a sandwich and a beer as it economically develops the area with first-class luncheons. Anyway, this would raise the taxes for the student body to 7.4 percent. These raises would put Manhattan in a two-way tie for the highest taxes in the state. Just what we wanted, right?

The state has also proposed a 1- percent tax rise for state education. While this might not be too bad in itself, (we might actually see some positive side effects, but not likely) in conjunction with the recent tax hikes, it means that a student at K-State could be paying 8.4 percent in taxes rather than the previous rate of 5.4 percent, all of this in less than a year.

It's time to show your collective muscle by not allowing ourselves to be the highest-taxed city in the state while receiving essentially nothing in return. The collective student body taxes from the Union alone (not to mention ticket sales, copy centers and all other sales on campus) would more than pay for adequate fire protection as well as the token projects the city will approve for completion. Please use your new power as a member of the city to educate yourself on these matters and vote accordingly.

Christopher McGill senior in industrial engineering

Political parties prepare for '94 election

Democrat headquarters visible and in operation

Volunteers are important part of Republican Party

JENNIFER PETERSON

Displayed in the window of Democratic Party headquarters in Manhattan is a sign that says, "Bob Dole's Health Care Plan." The sign has arrows pointing to a figure of a person sitting in bed, with a thermometer in his mouth and a caption that says, "Get Well Soon." Located in Aggieville at 1101 Moro, the headquarters is serving as the Riley County Democratic Party's home base for the 1994 election.

"I think we're happy with the location, it has good visibility and good access," David Margolies, Sheila Hochhauser's husband and campaign worker,

Mary Nyberg, Manhattan Democrat, said she was glad to see the party pick a central location.

"We are closer to the folks here than we would be in some distant place," Mary Nyberg, Manhattan resident, said.

However, getting a prime location didn't come easily.

We had a hard time finding an open space to rent, Robert Littrell, Riley County Democratic Party chairman, said.

"All the buildings are filled up, it was a struggle to find empty space," he said.

■ You must be 18 years old by Nov. 8.

township 14 days prior to the election.

■ The deadline to register is Oct. 24, and the election is Nov. 8.

■ Depending on the type of election, you must live in the ward, precinct or

The headquarters is being used for a variety of purposes.

"The headquarters will be our base of operations for the campaign, it will serve as a focal point," Littrell, said. Martha Miller, John Carlin's Riley County campaign coordinator said campaign workers will plan strategies from the headquarters. "We will have candidate meetings here and the K-State Y o u n g Democrats will meet here," Miller said. Margolies said volunteers will call constituents, and mailings will all be coordinated through the headquarters. "There will be a bank of telephones at the headquarters that we might use for mass callings," he said.

The headquarters will be important to the Democratic Party because there are more registered Republicans than Democrats in Riley County, L.V. Withee.

"But there are a lot of Independents that vote Democrat and a lot of Republicans that switch when it comes to voting,' he said.Democratic precinct committee member, said.

Littrell'said the Democrats will be a force in the election despite the numbers.

We (Democrats) are the minority party in the Riley County area," Littrell said, "but we are able to hold our own and

REGISTERING TO VOTE IN RILEY COUNTY

JENNIFER PETERSON

Addressing envelopes and calling volunteers is nothing new to two Republican Party veterans who are co-chairpeople of the Republican Party headquarters.

"Leota and I have been working for the Republican Party for a long time," Della Wray Blythe, cochairperson of the County Riley headquarters, said. Involvement in the Republican Party has been a long time investment for some

Republican Party

"I moved here in 1968 and I've been involved in every campaign in one way or another,"Wray Blythe said.

The Republican Party seems to draw people for different reasons. "I like the fact that the Republican Party thinks you're responsible for yourself, they don't look after you. It's basically conservative," Leota Rader, co-chairperson of the Riley County Republican Party headquarters said.

Wray Blythe agreed. "We're the good old girls and boys," Wray Blythe said.

The headquarters is staffed by volunteers mornings and afternoons five days a week.

"I've never called anybody to volunteer that's turned me down,' Rader said.

There are also new people that come in too, Rader said.

Activities and Services in the K-State Union.

number is 537-6300.

■ There are 20 places to register in Riley County, including the Office of Student

■ The Riley County CLerk's office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the phone

K-State students have also taken an interest in the upcoming

"I'm impressed with the interest shown by K-State students in government today," Wray Blythe said.

"We will need them more toward the end of the campaign when we are doing our blitzing," Blythe said.

"We realize they're busy with tests when we need additional help," she said.

One of the attractions of working at the office is meeting the candidates. "I like meeting people and working with candidates, hearing different ideas and going to different activities," Wray Blythe

The Riley County Republican central committee funds the headquarters.

"It's fine. It's clean, neat and the location is good," Wray Blythe said.

"It's enough for what we need to do," she said.

The candidates take priority though.

"It's our responsibility to make sure that the facilities are open and we have volunteers as needed for the candidates," Blythe said. In addition, Blythe said that at the headquarters they visit with drop-ins and if a candidate has a project they work on that, she

Powerball ticket worth $21 million to elderly woman

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - A 63-year-old widow who takes care of her elderly mother became a millionaire when she bought a Powerball ticket from her son in a liquor store where he works.

Lois Hampton of Olathe won nearly $21 million with the Powerball ticket she purchased last Saturday. She shared a $42 million jackpot with an as-yet unidentified second winner.

Hampton, who was introduced during a news conference Monday at the Kansas Lottery offices, bought $15 worth of tickets from her son, Dennis. She went to the liquor store, where he works one of his three jobs, to drop off his

"I thought I spent too much (for tickets), but I guess I got a good return on my investment," Hampton said during a news conference. Her four adult children and mother appeared with Hampton won $20,969,337 from Powerball, the multistate lottery game. She will receive a check for $695,071 in about 10 days, the first of 20 annual installments.

Two tickets, the other sold in Washington D.C., matched the six Powerball numbers. Kansas Lottery officials did not know if the Washington winner had claimed his or her prize, which is the same amount as that of Hampton.

"I guess I'll share some with my children and set up an account for college for my grandchildren," she said of her winnings.

Hampton has six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

For herself, the first thing she plans to buy is a new sewing machine, she said.

She learned that she had the winning ticket Saturday night while watching television and immediately called her sons, who thought she was ill.

'I was shaking so bad, I was afraid I was going to tear the ticket," Hampton said.

Dennis Hampton, who sold her the winning ticket, works for a computer manufacturing company and at an apartment complex as well as at the liquor store.

He said he was not sure if he would quit one of his jobs.

"Probably, if they can find someone to replace me," he said.

Besides the sewing machine, Hampton said she would like to buy a ranch-style house. She said she does not know if she will remain in Kansas or move.

"I may buy a new computer," she added.

"I'm going to invest some, with counseling."

She is the fourth Kansas Powerball jackpot winner since the game began in April 1992, and received the second-highest prize of the four. Felix Kane of Gardner won $22 million in May 1994.

Hampton's husband died two years ago. She currently takes care of her mother, Florence Frazier, who was in a wheelchair at the news conference.

"I can just hear my husband saying, 'Lois, baby, you're all right. Where is my share?" Hampton said. "He loved to play the lottery.

She admitted that she is nervous about winning so much "I don't think it'll affect my life that much, with the way I live," she said. "It'll make it easier with what I want to do. I'm getting my phone When a television cameraman moved in for a close-up during the news conference, Hampton said: "This is the worst part."

Co-Op Month

811 COLORADO

3003 Anderson Ave.

537-8888

"The Convenient Opponent: The Wehrmacht and D-Day" The Sixth

Dwight D. Eisenhower Lecture in War and Peace

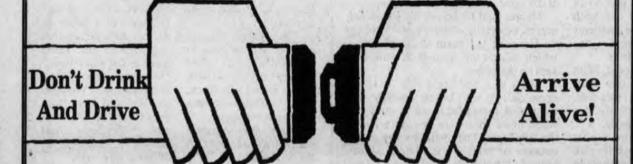

K-State Union Tuesday, Oct. 18, 1994 8 p.m.

Forum Hall

Dennis E. Showalter The Colorado College

SAFETY-BELT USE SAVED 40,000 LIVES FROM 1983 TO 1994!

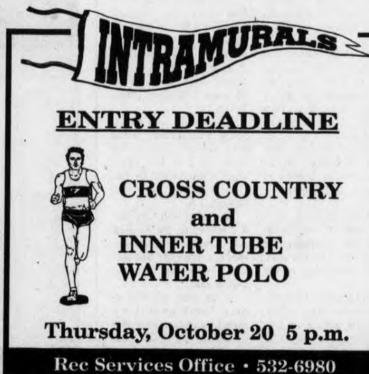

BUCKLE UP SOBER

Funding in part provided by the City of Manhattan

"A Tradition of Caring" ....

Yesterday, today & tomorrow!....from the original 4 agencies funded by The Community Chest in 1944...to the current 13 agencies funded by The United Way, a strong community tradition of caring has and will continue far into the future with your continued support.

Your Local United Way Agencies: Red Cross, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan, Boy Scouts, Crisis Center, Homecare & Hospice, Girl Scouts, Ks. Children's Service League, Manhattan Day Care Center, Manhattan Emergency Shelter, Retired & Senior Volunteer Program and Salvation Army.

In The 40's & 50's

1940's-The Community Chest began in 1944 in response to needs of war veterans. The Community Chest goal was 9,000 ... to fund 4 agencies.

1950's - The decade of the 50's was dominated by the '51 flood. The theme of "helping people", began in 1951 ... was carried on for the rest of the decade. In 1951, 14 agencies were funded by The Chest.

United Way of Riley County

Ward Keller Fund Drive Chairma

J. Robert Wilson Fund Drive Chairman

United Way

Manhattan

▶ BIG EIGHT TELECONFERENCE

Cats respected by CU coach

Bill Snyder's rebuilding of K-State football has gained him the respect of many people.

One person that is appreciative of what Snyder has done is Colorado coach Bill McCartney, who rebuilt the Buffaloes in the mid-'80s.

"I don't think anybody's approximated what he's done," McCartney said. "In my case, Colorado had a great football tradition at one time, but he's taken a team that didn't have a good football tradition."

McCartney said the improvements of K-State are the most impressive in college football history.

"What happened at Kansas State is unprecedented," McCartney said.

"I don't think that anybody in college football has done a job rebuilding a program to compare with what's being done in Manhattan," he

McCartney said the changes at K-State go far beyond those on the

"It looks like to me the entire University has gotten behind them," he said. "They seem to me to be hitting on all cylinders: in terms of recruiting, in terms of academics, in terms of everything.

"It's a cohesiveness that everybody has gotten into." Coach Bill Snyder said both Chad May and Kordell Stewart have a good chance to make it in professional football.

"I think that both of them are going to have lengthy careers.

beyond their college days," Snyder said. Snyder said both May and Stewart have the qualities that would make a professional quarterback.

"Chad has a tremendous amount of toughness," Snyder said. "He's physically and mentally strong in the game, and I know that Kordell is the same way.

"Obviously, both of them throw the ball extremely well and make smart decisions.'

Responding to accusations made by Chad May and some of the other K-State players that Nebraska played dirty in its 17-6 win Saturday, Coach Osborne said he regrets any foul play that occurred.

"I did see one late hit on Chad where one of our players did not hear the whistle, but other than that I did not see anything on the film," Osborne said. "If we did do something else, I'd like to apologize to Chad May and those players.

"It's never anything that's coached."

Coach Snyder said he would not comment on dirty play by Nebraska and that the only thing that matters is the fact that his team lost.

"We don't have any excuses," Snyder said. "Bottom line is they played well enough to win, and we didn't."

Chiefs gain revenge

Montana breaks Broncos' hearts with drive

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DENVER - Even battered and bruised, Joe Montana is still the best.

Montaña threw his third touchdown pass of the game, a 5-yarder to Willie Davis with eight seconds left, lifting the Kansas City Chiefs over the Denver Broncos 31-28 Monday

In a classic game between classic quarterbacks, it all came down to the final two minutes. Neither quarterback disappointed.

First, it was Elway, leading Denver on a 39-yard, six-play drive. It ended when Elway ran 4 yards for a touchdown on a quarterback draw, putting Denver ahead 28-24 with 1:29

The scoring run came one play after his apparent TD pass to Cedric Tillman was nullified. The officials ruled Tillman stepped out of bounds while running his pattern, then came back and made the catch. Elway then scored despite the Broncos having only 10 men on the field.

Next, it was Montana's turn, and he had almost 90 seconds to do what he does best.

The Kansas quarterback, who missed significant practice time last week because of sore ribs and a bruised hip, moved his team 75 yards on nine plays, completing 7 of 8 passes and managing the clock perfectly.

"We knew they'd concede a certain part of the field to us, so we could throw underneath. We did that and kept moving," Montana said.

The last four plays on the drive were all completions -11 yards to Kimble Anders, 12 yards to Derrick Walker, 19 yards to Tracy Greene and, finally, the 5-yarder to Davis. Davis extended his arms and caught the ball at the goal line, headed toward the outside and slipped inside the end zone pylon. "He made a great catch and made a real effort to get it in the end zone," Montana said.

Montana completed 34 of 54 passes for 393 yards with one interception. Elway was 18 of 29 for 263 yards with two touchdowns and interceptions.

The stunning drive ended Kansas City's 11-game losing streak at Mile High Stadium and also gave Montana and Chiefs coach Marty Schottenheimer their first victories there. Schottenheimer was 0-7 going into the game.

Denver (1-5) lost its fourth straight at home dating to last season and opened the season with three straight home losses for the first time in franchise history. Kansas City improved

Kuregian wins Hoosier Classic

The K-State tennis competed at Blomington Indiana last weekend in the Hoosier Classic.

tournament The brought the team a firstplace victory from all-American Karina Kuregian and a thirdplace finish by freshman Dinah Watson in No. 1 singles.

"Dinah Watson's win was significant because both of her two wins were against the No. 1 people on the two 7-5, 6-2. Coach Steve Bietau said.

Watson beat Rachel Epstein of Indiana, 6-2,6-4, and Maria Torres of Arkansas, 6-2, 2-6 and 6-

"Dinah is new, so I don't know if she has an idea of the significance of a good win," Bietau said.
"A lot is sinking in for her."

Kuregian entered the tournament ranked No. 16 in the nation and as the top-ranked player in the field of No. 1 singles. She beat Meredith Chiles of Vanderbilt 6-0,6-2 in the championship match.

"I knew, at some point in this tournament, she would begin to play pretty well, and that's what happened during the championship match,' Bietau said.

Kuregian lost only one set in her victories during the tournament, and the tournament win is her first since returning from surgery last summer.

The doubles team of Kuregian and Karen Nicholson placed third in their No. 1-doubles division by beating Alabama's top doubles team, 6-4 ,6-4 and Missouri's doubles team,

Their only loss came from Vanderbilt, who they played close in the first set 5-7, but they were overpowered by the Commodores in the second, 1-6.

Kuregian will take her 4-1 record to the Riviera All-American Tournament, a premier tournament in college tennis, Bietau said.

"Last year, she had to play 7-to-8 qualifying matches to get into the tournament, and this year, she gets straight in,"

Bietau said she will play one round on Thursday and will play on Friday, regardless if she wins or loses and goes into the consolation

Nads team member Eric Farmer, junior in math and computer science, is run down by a member of Dream Team 3 Monday night at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. Dream Team 3 defeated the Nads 21-15 and advanced to the all-University championship to face the fraternity division champion.

► WALK-ON FEATURE

Meares learned from big-league brother

JAMIE BUSH

"Strike one, strike two, strike three you're out.'

This phrase is heard on the ball field and in songs, normally with a negative

Although for David Meares, a walkon for the K-State baseball team, this is music to his ears, in more ways than

The young man with the strong arm and sharp mind on the mound has grown up with the sport of baseball. He said he has learned if life throws you a curve ball and you miss, all you can do is dust yourself off and take another shot at it.

Meares said he has worked hard to perfect his baseball skills, often under the watchful eye of his older brother Pat, the Minnesota Twins' starting shortstop. "I have an older brother who plays baseball with the Minnesota Twins organization, so baseball kind of runs in the family," Meares said. The older Meares, who played for Wichita State from 1988 to 1991 and was a member of the national champion Shockers, went on to play single, double and triple A baseball in Wisconsin, California and Oregon after finishing college. He taught his younger brother just how to deal with the strikes life often throws.

"My brother has been a big influence on me to just keep playing baseball and to never give up," David Meares said.

The younger Meares said he has taken the advice of his older brother and decided to try and walk-on to the K-State squad this year, something that Meares said he feels has caused a big change on his outlook on both baseball and life.

"In order to play the game, you must put in a lot of time practicing everyday, so there is less time to work on your homework and free time to just do stuff on your own," Meares said.

Not only is time a factor, but the company Meares is faced with everyday can also throw several hard balls his

"The guys at this level are a lot faster, they throw it a lot harder, and they hit it a lot farther; it's a big step from high school or Legion ball," Meares said.

Meares had his share of success while attending Sacred Heart High School in Salina.

In 1992, he was an all-city pitcher and led both his high school and Legion teams to state crowns the same year. After experiencing some success in the game, Meares said he can both understand and appreciate the problems the professional players are experiencing with the latest strike. "I have heard both sides of it. With my brother playing, I see one side, while everyone else sees the other side, but there are really a lot of details that are not being let out," Meares said. "The guys in the league aren't worried about money, because they've got their money. They are worried about the guys younger than them who will be coming up in the years to come," he He said he is hoping after receiving a college education and playing in the college ranks for three or four years, he is able to make his way to the big show. Until that day comes, Meares said he is just going to keep working hard at practice and let destiny take care of

'Whenever I get the chance to play, I do the best I can and just go in there and throw strikes, keep the ball in play, and make the guys behind me field the ball to make the play. That is the way I look at the game," Meares said.

Meares said he knows his job is not secure, especially after this year's ruling on limiting the team to 28 players, which affects the amount of walk-ons kept on the roster.

This is a Big Eight rule. It is all about dealing with gender equality and by cutting the squad down in numbers when more sports are introduced into the Big Eight. They will have an equal balance of female and male studentathletes," baseball coach Mike Clark

"As a walk-on, we're not treated any differently, but you just got to go out and push yourself a little bit harder because you're not on scholarship and show them something that is going to get you on the team and get you out there to play," Meares said.

Teams place 2nd, 3rd at tournament

WESS HUDELSON

The men's and women's rugby teams competed in the Heart of America Tournament in Kansas City, Mo., last weekend The women's team captured second place in the tournament after falling to the Ozark Ladies from Little Rock, Ark., 26-5 in the championship game. The Kansas women's team finished third in the tournament.

The K-State's men's team finished third in the Plate Division of the tournament despite having only 75 percent of its usual starters participating. The men's tournament was divided into three divisions: the Collegiate division; the Plate division and the Cup division. The Collegiate division is considered the weakest.

"We can't seem to get all of our players together in the same place at the same time," club president Steve Jackman said. "We have students and guys from the military on the team, and everybody just seems to be going in different directions.

The men's team was beaten in the first round of the tournament by Kansas City 13-10, but it moved on to beat KU, 29-0, and Lincoln, Neb., 32-10, en route to its third-place finish.

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Royal Lipizzaner Stallions - 7:30 Bramlage Coliseum

Pi Kappa Lambda "Faculty Follies" - 8 p.m. at All Faiths

Wednesday O/I "Donna Flor and Her Two Husbands' -8 p.m. at Union Forum

OCTOBER 18, 1994

► CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS 21 One of fixture adjective 1 Lotion 37 "America's - shoethe Three add-in string Bears 5 Rain-de Wanted' Tops 22 Mine 5 Do circus lay need 38 Territory 23 Burn work 6 Green relentof India preventive 40 Depressed Conks out essly span of the 24 12 Saucy 42 Cool, Federal 26 Yogi had a Reserve hand in it wench today 13 Jai 43 Napkin 27 Estival Board quaff 28 Raw rocks 48 Put to work 7 Malt eater follower 49 Genealogy of rhyme 14 Uneasy chart 8 Tools for 29 Story 15 Settings 50 Hoodlum go on them 31 Withstands duels 51 Mal de -9 Terry-cloth 34 - -di-dah 35 Horse-17 Witness 52 Stitched item 53 Ogled 10 Bread 18 Tied manship 37 1914-18 19 Nevada DOWN spread resort lake 1 Electric 11 Exultation event, for 21 Syrup 16 Leading short source need: abbr. 38 Percus-24 Porter's 20 Melody sion item 39 Relaxation "Let's -Solution time: 24 mins 25 Fusses 40 One of the 26 There are Barrymores more than 41 36 Across, e.g. 44 Prior to 30 Cambridge 45 Item in sch. Santa's 31 Carnival bag 46 Placeattractions 32 Twisted kicker's 33 Olympride pians, e.g. 47 Here. 35 Bump into appropri-Yesterday's answer 10-18 ately 36 Potter's

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CRYPTOQUIP 10-18

OHVVH DPAARDDZPW DOHR

CH H L .' Yesterday's Cryptoquip: OUR ASTRONOMY

CLASS AT THE NUDIST CAMP LOOKED AT THE LITTLE SKINNY DIPPER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals M

► LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN why are you dressed like

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

I'D LIKE TO ADVANCE HA HA! UM WILY? ARE

HI ROZ. MY PARENTS CHANGED THEIR MINDS ABOUT GOING DING DONG HI ROSALYN OUT, SO WE WON'T BE NEEDING TALKING ABOUT CAN'T FIND IT'S ROSALYN ! ANSWER THE YOUR SERVICES HER SHOES DOOR, WILL

Readers from Iowa expect more out of Cassie Dear K-Staters in Iowa,

DEAR CASSIE Cassandra Duveaux

Dear Cassandra,

Your response to the giant fork sculpture was utterly stupid and non-

Now that there is an E-Collegian, your forum has broadened past the KSU Perhaps you will think twice before publicly writing such nonsense.

Why not fill your column with something useful?

Signed, K-Staters in Iowa

Well, who the heck pissed in your

Has being in Iowa dampened your

Maybe if you guys would add a little "nonsense" to your life, you'd be a little more bearable. I hoped I could just add a little fun to this column, instead of the average "my girlfriend left me for another woman" type of thing. A motto that my mother once gave me comes to mind:

If they can't take a joke, screw 'em.

▶ REVIEW

'Suck Pump' appropriate title for Bile's new album

"Suck Pump" Energy Records Ratings: *** Sell plasma

*** Check it out ** Think twice * Giggle at it in barg

AMY ZIEGLER

Before I heard Bile, I thought Nine Inch Nails was about as angry as a band could possibly get. After reading Bile's compact disc cover, I quickly discovered I was wrong.

Members of Bile act as if they have been to hell and back.

The songs are heavy with phrases such as "put a gun to my head, wish I was dead," "as I bake in this rancid oven that we call earth" and "looking like shit, feeling like shit and talking like shit, and I just want to die.

Suicide seems to be the main theme for this

The lyrics convey the message that life means: nothing, and death means everything.

After reading the lyrics and song titles such as "Feeling Like Shit," I wasn't sure what to expect. from the actual music.

The songs confirmed my original beliefs on the quality of Bile's work.

The CD, "Suck Pump," is a nerve-wrenching, head-splitting and severely depressing set of eight songs about death, suicide and anger. The music is not music, but noise.

If the lyrics weren't printed on the CD cover, I wouldn't have a clue what the band was saying in its songs

The drums and guitars were poor, and the vocals were even worse. The vocalist came through sounding like the fuzz from a television on an off channel or feedback from speakers at a heavy-metal concert. His grating and irritating voice was amplified, but his lyrics were undecipherable. I thought after. I heard one, I had heard them all, until I listened to "Suckpump." This 10-minute song had a refreshing start because it didn't begin with the bland drum beat that introduced all the other songs. "Suckpump" had no lyrics but featured unusual sounds that resembled a bumblebee buzzing, an airplane taking off and an atomic bomb exploding.

It would have been the perfect music to have in a haunted house because of its eerie sounds, but was strange compared to the rest of the album's songs

At the end of the marathon song, a human voice softly said a phrase, but you couldn't understand it unless you listened to the song over and over and intensely concentrated on it.

I laughed at Bile's attempt to make music, but others might find the CD a high-energy, thrashing, and severely depressing experience and enjoy every minute of it.

Student Governing Association is currently accepting applications for

FINE ARTS COUNCIL CHAIRPERSON

Responsibilities include: Overseeing the fine arts line item fee; coordinating meetings of the Fine Arts Council; managing the fine arts allocation process; communicating with student government about Fine Arts Council Issues/concerns.

Applications available in the Office of Student Activities and Services, K-State Union Ground Floor.

DUE BY 4 P.M. FRIDAY, OCT. 21, 1994

COME Get Mesmerrrizzzed by .... International

....Exotic Food, Dance and Music from Around the World An Evening to Remember ....

> Presented by ICC

October 22, 1994

Venue: Manhattan Middle School Food: 5:00 p.m. - 7:00 p.m. (Tickets Required) Entertainment: 7:00 p.m. - onwards (Admission Free)

Tickets: $3.00

(sold at K-State Union between October 18 - 20, 1994)

For More Information Contact Foreign Students Office at 532-6448

DRESS IN BLACK TO SUPPORT National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week

r if you care!

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF INTERIOR DESIGNERS KSU STUDENT CHAPTER PRESENTS: TWO-DAY GRAPHICS WORKSHOP BY MIKE LIN A former professor in Landscape architecture at KSU, Mr. Lin is world-renowned

See BACCHUS booth in the Union for his motivational graphic and design workshop. Intensive workshop to teach rendering skills to any student who uses visual representation in their work

$55 Cost includes two full days of instruction. The regular cost of his two-week this extraordinary opportunity! Mr. Lin's private studio at 2815 Amherst Ave., Manhattan will accommodate 90 students, so act fast! Date & Time: October 22 8:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. AND October 23 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

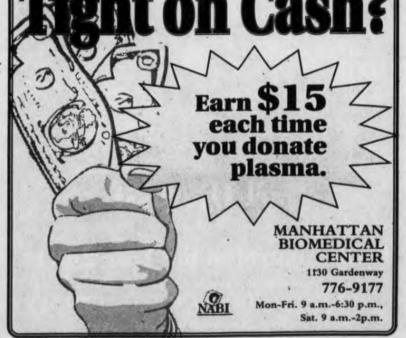

ASID mailbox, Justin Hall-Room 236C OR Phil Leamons, Seaton Hall-Room 211B Make checks payable to ASID •BRING THE FOLLOWING TO THE WORKSHOP: 1-6B Drawing Pencil'.

20" wide trace paper Colored Pencils (12 min.) 1-"Sharpie" Pen 1 Fine Point Felt Tip Pen Straight Edge Markers-Lt. Values & Earth Tone

For more information call 537-8465 or 587-8238.

▶ PULP FICTION

Movie includes humor, violence

Collegian

Tarantino's latest film, "Pulp Fiction," requires a strong stomach and a sense of humor.

Tarantino is, know for presenting grisly subject matter (Reservoir Dogs), but "Pulp Fiction" easily surpasses anything the young-blood director has done.

In sharp juxtaposition to the violence in the film, Tarantino forces us to laugh at some of the funniest dialogue to grace the screen in several years,

The plot actually weaves several storylines, all about criminals operating in the L.A. underground.

Hoods Vincent Vega (John Travolta) and Jules Winnfield (Samuel L. Jackson) have a classical buddy relationship, similar to that found in war movies or westerns.

Vincent and Jules' dialogue is disturbing, backlit by the violent acts they commit, but as comedic interchange, it is unparalleled.

The fatherly Jackson gives advice and (Harvey Keitel).

apologizes for the younger and greener Travolta character. They work over the complex issues of McDonald's food in France, theology, and personal hygiene with the delivery of stand-up comics.

Later, Vincent finds himself responsible for Mia (Uma Thurman), wife of crime boss Marcellus Wallace (Ving Rhames), for an

Thurman is playful as the druggie wife of a gangster, and Travolta's performance is enough to change anyone's mind who may have written him off after "Grease" or those white suits in "Saturday Night Fever."

Another storyline centers around boxer Butch Coolidge (Bruce Willis), who wins a fight he was supposed to throw for Marcellus. He runs into Marcellus (literally) on his way out of town, and they are then taken captive by wo white-trash S&M freaks. It could happen.

Willis as Butch redeems the former star of 'Moonlighting" with his dark portrayal of the boxer, forced to murderous behavior by his

The film returns to Vincent and Jules in a messy situation, requiring assistance from ultimate problem-solver Winston Wolf

Vincent and Jules accidentally blow the head off of the kid riding in the backseat of their car, creating a bloody mess. They decide that the best thing to do is hide out at Jules' home-owning friend Jimmie's (Tarantino)

Tarantino is the highlight of this scene, playing the pissed-off friend of Jules with a wife and mortgage. He is forceful, funny and makes a great pot of coffee.

Tarantino counteracts the violence in his film with a strong redemption message.

When Willis escapes from the S&M dungeon, he leaves on a motorcycle named

After being saved by what Jules determines as "divine intervention," he decides to leave the gangster lifestyle. Each character is forced to answer serious moral questions about his behavior, and like real life, some respond and others ignore.

Guest appearances throughout the film enhance this masterpiece's incredible cast. Look for Steve Buscemi (Mr. Pink in Reservoir Dogs) as Buddy Holly.

"Pulp Fiction" is an instant masterpiece, and Tarantino will not be ignored at this year's awards shows for his contribution.

▶ QUIZ SHOW

4 stars for Redford's historical TV drama

TRENT FRAGER

Collegian

It's the 1950s, and America's favorite pastime is television, particularly game shows. Geritol and NBC's "Twenty One" is the toast of the American public. Two contestants secured in isolation booths are pitted against each other answering questions on history and popular culture. Strangely, the more-popular, more-WASP contestant always seems to win.

'Quiz Show," from director Robert Redford and screenwriter Paul Attanasio, is a chronicle on the deception of the public.

As one character puts it, "Audiences didn't just tune in to watch some amazing display of intellectual ability. They just wanted to watch the money.

John Turturro is Herbert Stempel, an intelligent Jewish man from Queens, whose face is better suited for radio and whose popularity with the audience has supposedly reached a plateau.

Enter Charles VanDoren (Ralph Fiennes, last in 'Schindler's List"), a clean-cut, white, good-looking professor from an intellectually prominent family. He is the perfect winner on "Twenty One."

Herbert is dumped by the network, and VanDoren quickly becomes the greatest American hero. His lifestyle changes; his social life advances; his celebrityhood is born.

seeks compensation, and soon an intricate investigation proceeds, administered by young attorney Richard Goodwin (superbly portrayed by Rob Morrow of television's "Northern Exposure"), and a meticulous scandal is unveiled. There is an incredible abundance of complexity in both Morrow's and Fiennes' Oscarcaliber performances.

Nuances in Fiennes' demeanor suggest a glint of a conscience in VanDoren's egotistical character. VanDoren's despair about living in his famous father's shadow is also convincing.

The audience wonders if he could be a victim, as well.

And, the relationship between Goodwin and VanDoren as they apprehensively move toward Angry and despondent, Herbert friendship is bittersweet and

"Ouiz Show" might just be the finest cast of actors this year.

In addition to Morrow and Fiennes, David Paymer, playing slimy producer Dan Enright, is in top form, and Turturro gives a brilliant portrayal as the contestant scorned.

By the end of this sophisticated, historical drama, which delves into each characters' insecurities, one man is suddenly the shame of America.

One thing is clear. This was America, in a time when ethics and honesty took a back-seat in order to achieve the American

"Quiz Show" is assuredly one of the most-entertaining, mostexhilarating and most-outstanding films of the year.

▶ JOB MARKET

Ag students to have no problem finding jobs after school

positive outlook when beginning their job searches.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said there are more jobs in agriculture than graduates. There is estimated to be an annual 11percent shortage through 1995.

The USDA reports marketing, merchandising and sales positions will most likely be hardest to fill, along with scientists, engineers and specialists.

These areas are approximately 60 percent of ag employment opportunities, the USDA said.

Production agriculture has the smallest percentage, with only 7.5 Agriculture students can have a percent of ag employment opportunities, the USDA said.

James Akin, director of Career and Employment Services, said he thinks agricultural opportunities are good, and job availability will be increasing.

He said while some areas have been hit pretty hard in the '90s, agriculture hasn't had as big a problem, due partially to agriculture's hit in the early '80s.

Akin said most K-State students have done well in the job market.

"Students do an excellent job in preparing themselves, and our faculty is good and cares about the students," he said.

John Riley, assistant director of academic programs in the College write a résumé and cover letter, and of Agriculture, teaches Ag interviewing etiquette. Employment.

He said salary offers, the number of companies looking for ag students, and diversity are all

In the Ag Employment class, Riley said students go through a self-assessment process and are taught how to research companies,

The students also participate in a mock interview, he said. Riley said the class is open to all students, but he recommends it to juniors and second-semester sophomores. The class is offered in the fall and spring semesters.

You're invited to join Sen. Nancy Kassebaum for a brownbag lunch with

Sam Brownback

Tuesday, October 18 12 p.m.-1 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

Visit with Senator Kassebaum and U.S. Congressional Candidate Sam Brownback. Talk about the issues and hear how Sam will make a difference in Washington, D.C.

Bring your lunch--light refreshments will be served.

Sponsored by: KSU College Republicans and Riley County Brownbackers

Paid for by Brownback for Congress; Mark Russell, Treasurer

Salina tech center to offer assistance for local industries

HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

K-State-Salina recently opened a new center to assist businesses and manufacturers.

The Technology Assistance Center will provide consulting. manufacturing and business assistance to local, regional and state-wide industries, newly appointed director Carl Crutchfield

Crutchfield said he brings to K-State-Salina strong expertise in manufacturing, quality assurance and technical management.

"I am exceedingly happy to have the opportunity to work at K-State-Salina in the area of technical development and business expansion," he said.

As the director, he said he will work with the various service agencies and resources to decide the best mix of resources to serve each client and company.

The center consists of the Mid-America Manufacturing Technology Center, Four Rivers certified Development Center, Salina Area Chamber of Commerce, K-State-Salina, small Business Development center and area business and industry resources.

Jack Henry, dean of the college of technology, said the college wants to help manufacturers become more competitive.

"Manufacturers are so busy making their product they don't have the chance to think about making enhancements," Henry

Companies can come to the Technology Center and ask for help in both business and technology, he Crutchfield said changes in technology are occurring faster than private and small businesses can keep up with. 'We're not focusing on inventing new technology, but how to use the new technology," he said. The center will focus on helping small businesses, Crutchfield said.

The businesses will come to the center, where experts will analyze what kind of technology will enhance them and if the new technology is cost-effective, he said. Crutchfield said Kansas eighth in the nation science and engineering in Kansas.

Kansas colleges are training students well, but they're forced to take jobs outside their fields or in another state because some of the businesses in Kansas can't adjust fast enough to the changes, Crutchfield said.

Funding for the Technology Assistance Center was received through a $246,000 grant from the National Institute of Standards and Technology, Henry said.

The grant money will pay for a director, part-time secretary and marketing efforts. The center is also funded by service fees charged to manufacturers, Henry said.

He said the goal is to be selfsupporting in three years.

Customers of the center will benefit with a single-point contact of all technical business resources, faster response to industry via central management of resources and closer cooperation between service providers, Crutchfield

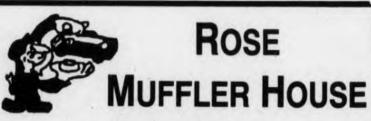

The center will market its program to the entire state of Kansas, he said.

Pat Mills, Small Business Development Center, said the Center will do enhancements in technology that make good business sense.

Small Business The Development Center works with businesses to help them use its resources to reach their goals quicker, Mills said.

She said business, financial and technical aspects of each business will be analyzed.

"It's like one-stop shopping," Mills said.

"Our Business is Exhausting"

•GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE MUFFLERS-TAILPIPES DUAL SYSTEMS AUTO (AMERICAN & FOREIGN) •RVs•LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS CUSTOM PIPE BENDING U-HAUL TRUCKS & TRAILERS

Open Mon.-Fri. 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Sat. til Noon

FREE ESTIMATES

(48 Months)

2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. 1-800-439-8956 776-8955

Membership Benefit Loan Life Insurance is a benefit you receive with each credit union loan, but the insurance premium is not added to your Celebrate with us!

International Credit Union Day is Thursday, October 20.

Stop by for refreshments!

New Vehicles, Boats RVs and Motorcycles

(SU Federal Credit Union 1455 Anderson Avenue loan.

Call Doug Today!

Doug Biswell, Loan Officer

In cooperation with the Enloc Lectures

10:30 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 18, 1991

McCain Auditorium

CONVOCATION

LECTURE

Kansas State University

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25

each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words orless - $8

each word over 20 - $.35 per word 5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

classifieds must be paid in advance as you have an established account d. There is a $10 service charge

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad. HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

$175/ month. Call 539-0147.

FEMALE TO share nice

HUGE HOUSE, own room (big). Next to campus, all bills paid, $225/ month. 587-9694.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be pisced by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000

plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext

materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-

GET THE WORD OU PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555

532-7309

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

BULLETIN BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine ATP multi-engine Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

Tight on Cash?

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

NABI

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Mon-Fri.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Lost and Found Found ads can be placed free for three days.

Personals

030

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) placing a per-

T- THANKS for the past year. It's been a ride and I Love you more than than before. Happy Anniversary love. Wendy

Meetings/ Events

TOASTMASTERS A mu-ASTIMASTERS A mu-tual support group for people who want to im-prove their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825. ADD AN extra touch of

class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561. BOCKERS II Catering.

Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Ware-ham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431 ton St 539-9431.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. MOVING AWAY, must rent month plus shared utili-ties 539-4137.

QUIET SURROUNDING for study. Studio or one-bedroom fur-nished or unfurnished. Some with utilities paid. Nine month lease, no pets. 539-4087.

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE

**** CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS

> *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30 CHASE MANHATTAN Apartments, four-bed room apartments ava able now, Corner of College and Claffin. FOR RENT- Studio apartment, all utilities

Please call Jared at 539 ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804. TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, remodeled, $390, bills paid.

$390, b 539-8401.

Available CHRISTIAN FAMILY would

Rooms

like to help college girl, room and meals, exchange for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhattan. KS 66502.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE Jan. 1. $187.50 plus utilities. Living room, dining room, backyard, washer, dry-er. Call Anne, 776-2389 or 532-1354.

For Rent-Houses

NON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, UNFI-O-BEDROOM, UNFI-NISHED basement, washer, dryer, fefrig-erator, fenced yard, pets ok, year lease avail-able after finals or Jan 1, $450/ month, 531 Thurston, 587-0217.

For Sale-

Mobile Homes

BRAND NEW '95 Champion Homes 14x64 through 28x56. Very affordable, immediate delivery C/A skirting, excellent financing. Countryside, 539-2325.

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after

ROOMMATE FEMALE needed to share clean large two-bedroom apartment. Length of sublease and rent negotiable. Call 587-0034

7

VING AWAY, must rent my part of two-bed-room, one bath apart-ment, large bedroom with walk-in closet, washer/ dryer, cable TV, nice neighborhood, covered parking, fully carpeted and furnished (if necessary) $225/ month plus shared utili-

110

Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. 776-3804.

needed to share one-third bills, five minute walk from campus.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice area, available now, male/ female. Call Kelly (H) 776-3585, (W) 776-6612.

Contact Pegi 539–1191 (evenings). NEED SOMETHING typed?

needs. Laser printing Call Brenda, 776–3290.

Pregnancy Testing

539-3338

Free pregnancy

·Same day results Call for appointment

Anderson Village Mon.-Fri.

Musicians/DJs MUSICIANS WANTED for country band, experi ence needed, 587-1805.

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in-come requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor-

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

AL Students: DV-1
Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration.
Greencards provide U.S. permanent resident status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed. For information and forms: New tion and forms: New

Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168;

(818)998-4425 Monday- Sunday 10a.m.-

EMPLOYMENT/

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such employment op-portunity with reason-able caution. The Col-legian urges our read-ers to contect the Res-ers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170.

AFTERNOON WORK, 8- 12 hours/ week, $5/ hour. File, clean, pack boxes, light assembly, occa-sional lifting to 60 pounds. AGTECH/ Man-hattan, 776-3863.

1-800-FOR-AVON.

11p.m.

CAREERS

Help Wanted

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

SERVICES: INTERNATION

Lawrence, (913)841–5716.

Available now or se-mester. Two available. MALE NEEDED to share Automotive four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct. rent free. 587-9327. Repair

255

Other

Services

MALE OR female, non-smoking to share home beginning in Decem-ber. Quiet, wooded, westside. 539-6455. MALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom duplex. $145 plus one-third utilities. Half block from campus. Call Frank 776–3158.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bed-room, two bath, fur-nished double-wide trailer. Non-smoker, non-drinker. $100. Share bills. Call 776-1038. MALE/ FEMALE nonsmoker. Available now share two-bedroom apartment. $210/ month 913 Vattier, quiet, clean, near school. Eileen 587-8442 before 12p.m. NON-SMOKING FEMALE

SEEK MALE/ female room-mate. Wanted. Excel-lent location, great place, all utilities paid, free laundry facilities. Cheap rent. Call Chrissy 537-0438.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

Sublease AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two-bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balco-ny, 587-9394.

Resume/ Typing .

COMPUTER SUPPORT for

your academic or per sonal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis

I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 page. Call 537-5460 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

RESUME RESUME RE-SUME and all your other word processing

Pregnancy Testing Center

Totally confidential

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

105 For Rent -Apt. Furnished 110 For Rent -

OU

REAL ESTATE

COACHING ASSISTANT boy's basketball at Luck-ey Junior High. Oct. '94 through Feb. '95 apply at 306 South Juliette. Deadline Oct. 26.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682. DELIVERY HELP needed!

Responsible person needed part-time to help deliver pianos. Flexible hours, good pay for the right per-son. Apply in person, Mid-America Piano, 406 Poytnz. ENERGETIC, MATURE per-

ERGETIC, MATURE per-son to provide fun after-school activities for four children, Tuesday, through Thursday, some Mondays, 3:30– 5:30. Experienced, refer-ences, and have safe, reliable vehicle. Call 776-7341. If no answer, leave name, phone, and leave name, phone, and brief qualifications on nswering machine. FAST FUNDRAISER- Raise $500 in five days-$500 in five days-Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. Fast, simple, easy- no fi-nancial obligation. (800)775-3851.

IMMEDIATE POSITIONS available for hard work-ing fast paced, customer oriented students. Positions open are grill/ mexican MWF 10:30a.m.- 2p.m. porter MWF 9:30a.m 1:30p.m. or salad bar MWF 9a.m.- 2:40p.m. Substitute position available 6a.m.10:30a.m. MWF or T/TH. Apply immediately at the K-State Union Foodservice Office.

LOCAL FRATERNITY is currently seeking an ex-perienced Dietician. Reperienced Dieticlain. Kes sponsibilities include planning meals for 50 men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12,50 per hour. Please send resume and cover send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

phone sales of basket-ball tickets for the Kanball tickets for the Kan-sas State Athletic De-partment starting Mon., Oct. 24 through Fri., Nov. 25. Work would consist of days and/ or nights Monday through Friday paying $5\(\) hour plus represses $5/ hour plus generous commission. Will work

NEEDED: 10 people to do around class schedule. To apply, go to Bramlage Coliseum Suite 143 or call Jason at 532-7715 to set up appointment or ask questions.

RESIDENTIAL ASSIS-TANT: Part-time posi-tion available for a five bed male residential facility for the severe

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir

TUTOR NEEDED imme-diately Org. Biol 201, hourly rate plus bonus. Must have good grades in Organismic Biology. Jeffery 776-6690. VAN DRIVER: Part-time po-and persistent mentally ill. Duties include moni-toring/ supervision of daily living skills, and daily living skills, and planning/ supervising recreational and leisure skills activities. Must be available to attend a team staff meeting weekly. Contact the CSP Supervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services, Phone: 587–4333. EOE.

western Missouri. Must have reliable auto and insurance. Conduct group seminars on college campuses. Our company has 40 year proven and successful program. Highly motivated self-starters can achieve above average. achieve above average earnings at this entry level position. Guarantee, incentives, benefits and expenses paid. Training provided in an exclusive territory. For a personal interview call Mr. Huston at (800)835-9312 through Oct. 15 or call 539-7531 (Ramada Inn) after 6p.m. Oct. 17 or 9– 12 mation call: (206)634-0469 ext.

sition available imme-diately. Responsible for transporting clients to/ from Day Treatment Program. CDL re-quired. Contact CSP Sutal Health Services, phone: 587-4333, EOF.

YOUNG, AGGRESSIVE, advertising agency looking for "fresh," "red hot" designer. Recent graduates encouraged to apply. Must have Macintosh experience. Send resumes to Pro-

SALES HELP wanted. Energetic person to travel eastern Kansas and western Missouri. Must ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-

Send resumes to: Production Director, P.O. Box 4512. Topeka, KS 66604.

330 Business Opportunities

> The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertise-ments in the Employment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

saryl Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

$1500 WEEKLY possible

Mailing our circulars! No experience neces-

410

Items for Sale COPIER RECONDITIONED Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m.

MARKET

FOR SALE: Four Tempco Goose Down coats, like new, 776-4544. IBM SELECTRIC II typewritcently checked and cleaned. Excellent con-

776-4398 mornings or evenings.

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

Antiques

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wa-

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

ATTENTION DOOM Play ers. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hundreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539–0801. HP48S- SCIENTIFIC Calcu-

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685. PACKARD BELL 486/33. Complete system with desk. 10 months old, loaded with software, $900. Call Will at 587-4123.

lator with book and case. $100. Call Trever at 537-2989. Please,

eave message if gone.

Tickets to Buy/Sell

NEED TWO tickets to CU game. If selling please call 532-9102. TWO K-STATE fans want victory at Colorado. Please call Jeannie at 539-6874.

TRANS-PORTATION

Automobiles 1984 CAMARO Z28 305 V-8

5.0 liter, excellent condition. $3000. Call 587-9470. 1985 CHEVROLET Celebrity Eurosport sedan, V6, automatic, extras, runs, looks great, ex-patrol mfortable, reliable, $1350, 539-2528.

1986 SPRINT, drive it all day with the change in your couch. $1000. 1976 Mustang, 69,000 miles, $750 power steering, power brakes, 539–1991.

Motorcycles

1990 HONDA, CBR 600F Hurricane, good condition, helmet included, $2400 or best offer. Must sell. Call 587–8261.

COLLECIANCIAS 532-6556

Procession of the Contraction of

WHAT TO WHAT THE WAY OF THE WAY WE CONTRIBUTE OF THE WAY OF THE WA

CLASSIFIEDS 103 KEDZIE · M-F 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. 532-6555

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found 030 Personals

040 Meetings/Events

050 Parties-n-More

120 For Rent - Houses 125 For Sale - Houses

130 For Rent -Mobile Homes 135 For Sale -

Mobile Homes

115 Rooms Available

140 For Rent - Garage 145 Roommate Wanted 150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space

165 Land for Sale 20

SERVICE DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

215 Desktop Publishing 220 Sewing/Alterations

210 Resume/Typing

225 Pregnancy Testing 230 Lawn Care 235 Child Care

245 Pet Services 250 Automotive Repai

255 Other Services

240 Musicians/DJs

300 EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Needed

Opportunities

408 OPEN MARKET

420 Garage/Yard Sales 425 Auction 430 Antiques

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

410 Items for Sale

445 Music Instruments 450 Pets and Supplies 455 Sporting Equipment

160 Stereo Equipment

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

435 Computers

440 Food Specials

500 TRANS-PORTATION 510 Automobiles 405 Wanted to Buy 520 Bicycles

540 Car Pool

530 Motorcycles

610 Tour Packages

640 Bus Tickets

TRAVEL TRIPS

620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets

CATEGORIES To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for.

buyers are confused by

TIPS FOR

abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price

Don't use abbreviations. Many

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

major employers - Fort Riley and Manhattan, said last week the sales-tax proposal is essential if the city we pass this tax. I think we have to realize if we don't invest in ourselves, then we will blow in the winds of economic fate," Glasscock

Rep. Kent Glasscock, R-

"I think it is critically important

Kansas State University."

is to attract Cessna.

Closer look endures after Durland fire

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 architect, said they began to clean the building immediately.

"A smell of smoke is pervasive throughout the building," Carter said. "We are going through the HVAC equipment (heating, ventilating, and air conditioning) and changing the filters to eliminate the odor."

Carter s'aid repairs will be paid similar to the Anderson Hall fire from last year.

'We'll be getting the money from the repairs and maintenance accounts, which is money set aside for roofing repairs, sidewalks and general renovations," Carter said.

Carter said they are in the process of checking the building

"We don't think there is any structural damage, but we want to uncover the structural beams and check them out to be sure," Carter

Carter said he credited the building's structure and the brisk reaction of the Manhattan Fire Department for containing the fire.

The Manhattan Fire Department responded very quickly to the emergency call, and we are appreciative of the way they respond to all emergencies on campus," he said.

"The fire-resistant nature of the structure and their fast response kept it from being worse than it

Vets able to cure your pet's peeves

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 environment or change the animal, Hunthausen said. "Changing the environment may be as easy as, if the cat doesn't like his litter, change it," Hunthausen said.

There are several aspects to changing the pet, he said.

"Surgery is one option. We can neuter an animal who is spraying and marking 'his territory," he said.

Drugs can be another treatment that falls under the category of changing the pet.

"Pharmacology is a hot area right now. There are certain drugs that help stop aggression or spraying," he said.

Another aspect of changing the pet is behavioral modification. Gaughan said this is one she commonly uses in her

For example, if a puppy chews on slippers, Gaughan said the best thing to do is to make the slippers less desirable. This can be done by putting an unsavory flavor or smell on Sadly, one possible treatment is to put the animal to sleep.

"Euthanasia is at the bottom of the list of options for treatment for a behavioral

Hunthausen said the No. 1 cause of death for dogs and cats is euthanasia because often, pet owners get frustrated with a behavior and don't consult a professional about the problem.

They think their only option is to put the animal to sleep, he

"It's sad, but a dog might be put to sleep for going to the bathroom on the rug one too many times," he said.

Gaughan said many people either don't know most veterinarians can help with training and behavioral problems or they are too embarrassed.

'Some people embarrassed to come forward," she said. "What they don't realize is that we know these things. This is what we went to school for. People need to realize that vets can help."

In the past, animal behaviorists may have been scoffed at as "pet shrinks," but Hunthausen said that isn't the case anymore.

"It's not a joke anymore. It may sound far-fetched to some people, but when you're talking about euthanasia as the No. 1 cause of death for pets, it becomes pretty serious," he said.

Today's Special!

Pork

Roast

Proposed sales tax to fund economic development

downsize the Fort Riley Army to Cessna, the city offered up to $4 million in sales-tax revenues during region's economy right now is going to have the effect of offsetting any downsizing," Pearson on for almost a year about

"We have had a discussion going

In the original package offered

"Any diversification of the installation near Junction City.

a 10-year period.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 the preliminary proposal," Pearson predicted. Randy Martin, president of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, said Monday the value of the city package is considerably less than $44 million.

"We feel good about what we're proposing, and we think it's fair,"

Final proposals from the five cities - Pittsburg, Emporia, Hays, Independence and Manhattan - are due Oct. 26. Cessna is expected to decide where to locate its new plant with about 1,000 employees and a $20 million payroll by December.

The Manhattan Mercury said the Manhattan offer includes an undetermined amount of incentives from Geary, Riley and Pottawatomie counties and Junction

Pearson said the Manhattan package had "regional cooperation" but would not specify where it came from or how much was

The proposed sales tax is on the Nov. 8 ballot and initially was proposed to fund economic development in the area when fears arose that the federal Base Alignment and Closure Comdiversifying Manhattan's economy mission might decide to close or and reducing reliance on our two

CONOCO

DISTINGUISHED GRADUATE FACULTY MEMBER

AWARD

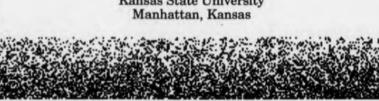

Science, Fads, and Quackery: Physical Culture and Medicine in the American Past Lecture by Donald J. Mrozek Department of History

Recipient of the 1994 Conoco Distinguished Graduate Faculty Member Award

> Nichols Theatre 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 18, 1994

> > Kansas State University

537-3200 537-3200 537-3200 IMAGINATION GO TO YOUR HEAD!

Convenient Hours Open Sundays & Evenings 537-3200

Across from Goodnow Hall, Denison & Claflin, Manhattan, KS

COUPON

537-3200 $5 OFF Full-Priced Haircut $10 OFF Full-Priced Perm

Ask for Lori or Michelle

537-3200

537-3200 537-3200

537-3200

Accepted at more schools than you were.

O Visa U.S.A. Inc. 1994

It's everywhere you want to be

Friday and Saturday, October 21 & 22

7:00 p.m. 9:30 p.m. in Forum Hall

K-State Union UPC Feature Films

Dona Flor and Her Two Husbands

Wednesday, Oct 19 7p.m. & 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct 20 7p.m. & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall

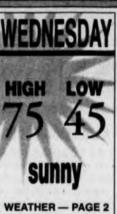

> Friday, Oct 21 8 p.m. Little Theatre

Admission $1.75

KANSAS STATE

CAMPOUT!

The flag that signals the beginning of the campout was raised at approximately 12:15 a.m. Wednesday morning. Look for coverage in tomorrow's Collegian.

OCTOBER 19, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME'99B, NUMBER 42

"The reality

is people concerned with issues

far beyond reforming,

returning."

JOHN CARLIN

candidate for reducing

and

CONGRESSIONAL DEBATE

Candidates square off in debate at K-State

Democrat John Carlin didn't waste any time attacking his opponent in the 2nd Congressional District race, Republican Sam Brownback, in a debate Tuesday afternoon on

Beginning with his opening remarks in the K-State Union Forum Hall, Carlin dismissed his opponents platform of three R's - reform Congress, reduce the size and scope of the federal government and return to the basic values. Carlin said he wanted to talk about a fourth R reality.

"The reality is people are concerned about issues far beyond reforming, reducing and returning," he said.

are things such as health care. crime, jobs and the future of Fort Riley.

"I'm running to make a difference," he said. "I believe I can because I understand the real problems that are of concern to real people in the 2nd District of Kansas

Brownback responded during his opening remarks, defending his proposals.

John talks about the reality," Brownback said. "The reality is he has no plan, and I

He went on to discuss how he would accomplish the three R's. Reduction would be accomplished through such things as privatization and reform through term limits, and

The real issues, Carlin said, return could be done with taxcode changes that support families.

Once the candidates got through their opening remarks, they answered questions from the moderator, one another and the audience on subjects like the future of Fort Riley and crime.

The candidates were asked what experience they would have in helping to ensure Fort Riley would remain open and still play an integral role for the nation's military.

Carlin said he would draw on his eight years of experience as governor, when he was the commander-in-chief of the state's air and army national guard.

■ See CANDIDATES Page 8

"John talks about the reality. The reality is he has no plan, and I do."

SAM BROWNBACK Republican candidate for 2nd Congressional District ► CAMPUS

University, Nero settle after years of litigation

After nearly 4-1/2 years of litigation, K-State has finally settled the negligence case filed by a former student who was sexually assaulted by another student in a residence hall.

The case of Shana Nycole Nero v. Kansas State University, which went all the way to the Supreme Court of Kansas, was settled Oct. 11 when attorneys for Nero agreed to a reduction in the $156,825 in damages she was awarded by a jury in June.

In exchange, the University agreed to waive all rights to appeal once Nero paid a counterclaim of $4,188.84 filed by the University in November 1991. The counterclaim originated from loans and housing bills the University said Nero owed them from the 1990 summer semester, when she was a student in pre-law at K-State.

Nero was living in Goodnow Hall when she was sexually assaulted by Ramon Davenport, a football player, who had been accused of raping another student in Moore Hall about a month

In July of this year, a jury ruled the University negligent in allowing Davenport to move into a coed residence hall without warning the other residents of the accusations against him.

On Sept. 6, University attorneys Richard Seaton and Jennifer Kassebaum filed motions for a new trial or to reduce or amend the judgment, which Judge Harlan Graham denied.

■ See NERO Page 3

PHOTOS BY J. KYLE WYATT/Collegian

The "Symphony in White" show displayed exercises characteristic of the Spanish Riding School of Vienna, Austria. The Lipizzaner stallions descended from the Spanish Andalusian and is a premier dressage horse. Right photo — A rider takes one of the Lipizzaner stallions through a Courbette, an "air above the ground" exercise during Tuesday's performance of the Wonderful World of Horses at Bramlage Coliseum.

Every step is natural to Lipizzans because of trait

CHRISTI WRIGHT Collegian

sually host to basketball, rock concerts and garden shows, Bramlage Coliseum was transformed into a dance hall for horses last night.

The Royal Lipizzaner Stallions performed their show, "Symphony in White."

"Our show is an American show," David King, narrator and performance director, said. "We audition riders from all over the world."

King said among the many qualifications, riders must like living out of a suitcase.

The Lipizzaners are based in Winter Park, Fla.

"We have about 35 head of horses there and we take 14 horses and 15-18 people on the road tours," King said. 'The horses travel in a semi.'

Though the Lipizzaners have been performing for 25 years, this is only their third visit to Manhattan. This year's show featured all new choreography and costumes, King

The show was divided up into eight parts, and the introduction was followed by a training session of equestrian art exhibiting steps and movements. This show demonstrated and defined the basic steps including the walk, trot and canter, as well as higher level maneuvers like turns, trots in place and canter steps where the horse changes the lead steps.

The riders demonstrated the moves while riding the horses and also by walking beside the horses and leading them with long or short reins.

"Every step and leap comes naturally to the Lipizzans because it's a trait born in them. The trainers draw out these traits and perfect them, which creates a partnership between horse and rider," King said.

The crowd's favorite segment was titled, "Airs above the ground."

"They always love that part because it has the most action," King

> this show, the horses In

> > ■ See STALLIONS Page 3

▶ POETRY

Shakespearean actors to present a variety of classic poetry, prose

NOLAN SCHRAMM Collegian

Manhattan may not have a live music scene comparable to Lawrence, but check out its live poetry scene

Two of the actors from "Actors from the London Stage" will present free poetry readings tonight in Nichols Theatre.

Shakespearean actor Gareth Armstrong will portray Dylan Thomas through Thomas' poetry and prose.

Armstrong said his presentation will last less than one hour.

It will be composed of short stories, poetry and prose, illustrating the life of Thomas, he

"Some of his poetry is quite dense, and some is lighthearted it's meant to be enjoyable," he said.

Thomas was born before World War II, and he died in America in 1953. He is best known for his play, "Under the Milkwood," he

"He was a heavy drinker, a partier and a forceful presence on the poetry scene," Don Hedrick, professor of English, said.

Shakespearean actor Richard Howard will present the second reading, a selection of Irish figure writing and prose, featuring Goldsmith, Yeats, O'Casey and

See READING Page 10

► CAMPUS

Alumni Association president retires

MIKE HIND

The president of the K-State Alumni Association, Fred Thibodeau, has announced his retirement, citing personal reasons, effective Dec. 31.

"I resigned because there are some priorities in my personal life that I need to address," he said. "It has nothing to do with K-State."

He would not elaborate.

Thibodeau first came to K-State as the associate director of the alumni association in

He took over as president in September of the same year, following the retirement of

Born in Fort Kent, Maine, Thibodeau began his formal education at K-State in 1970 and graduated cum laude with a bachelor of science degree in secondary education.

In 1974, he attended the St. Paul School of Theology in Kansas. City, Mo., becoming a master of divinity.

From 1977-81, Thibodeau was the minister for the United Methodist Church in Centralia.

He moved on to become part of Baker College and ultimately was named as director of corporate relations in July

Thibodeau returned to Maine as director of development and alumni relations at Thomas

College in Waterville in June 1987 and remained there until being hired by K-State. Thibodeau said he enjoyed the working working for a common good." Thibodeau said his plans for the future would be to get situated as best he could.

environment at K-State.

Robert Krause, vice president for institutional advancement, said Thibodeau would be missed at the University, and he wished him the best of success.

"I enjoyed working with the alumni staff,

President Wefald, Robert Krause and the foundation," Thibodeau said. "Everyone is

"He's done an excellent job in putting together a stronger Kansas City Alumni Club and Multicultural Alumni Club," Krause said.

"He's a consummate team player," he said. "The work he did with the Copper Bowl last year was absolutely phenomenal.

Krause said the job of finding Thibodeau's replacement was up to the Alumni Association's board of directors.

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ COMMISSION ENDORSES HALF-CENT SALES TAX FOR NOVEMBER BALLOT

A 0.5-percent sales-tax increase for economic development and a proposal to help bring a Cessna plant to the city were endorsed by the Manhattan city commission Tuesday night.

"Economic development is not something you can just sit down and say exactly what we are going to do," Roger Maughmer, commissioner, said.

Voters will decide on Nov. 8 whether to increase the city sales tax by 0.5 percent in order to promote economic development.

"I think our citizens are taxed to their limit," Steve Hall, commissioner, said. "Let's be fair. Let's get our facts together and let the people vote on it Nov. 8."

The commission will be ultimately responsible for the approval of the distribution of funds from this source and all policies and procedures related to this program, Maughmer said.

"I have supported the 0.5-percent sales tax from the beginning, Helen Cooper, mayor, said.

Cooper said public input would be encouraged. The Manhattan Economic Development Opportunity Advisory Board, consisting of seven to 11 members, will be appointed by the commission to develop a set of

"This board should review all of the ideas," Sydney Carlin, commissioner, said.

Edith Stunkel, commissioner, said the community wants to know what the criteria for the sales tax

"How about we participate with the board with the development of criteria," Maughmer said. He said if the 0.5-percent sales tax does pass, there won't be a nickel collected until January. After much discussion, the city commission said it would endorse the 0.5-percent sales tax. Representatives of the City Economic Development Committee approached the governing body to approve support of the proposal to Cessna to locate a new business in Manhattan. "I want this project to go,"

Maughmer said he didn't want to raise taxes for the Cessna project.

"I would do nothing to jeopardize Cessna from coming to this area," The commission voted to support the Cessna proposal. JANELLE COE telling the crowd that he had been a part of the majority of the examples

"I was a mad man during Hell

Every time he makes this

A close fraternal friend recently

"He hated it. He had to tell me how much he hated it. Through psychological counseling, he discovered he lost his personal confidence during one week of his life -

"It still haunts him. He still has

Some of the new fraternity and

"If I experienced any hazing, I

"I would ask other pledges if they nightmares," he said. "I hope this made you uncomfortable. We must sorority members said the speech opened their eyes to the conse-would tell my pledge trainer or my pledge mom," Tracey Russell, had experienced any hazing experiences," Heather Raffety, freshman freshman in sociology, said.

in elementary education, said.

Hell Week," Westhol said.

make a change."

quences of hazing.

speech, he said, he is trying to stop another act of violence from taking told Westhol how he felt when he had described.

Week," Westhol said.

Westhol hazed him.

► HAZING AN ACT OF VOCAL MINORITY IN FRATERNITIES, SORORITIES

No sleeping, no eating, no showering, yelling, screaming, blindfolding, paddling and psychological

Sound like boot camp? It's not. These are all different acts of haz-

David Westhol, executive director for national Theta Chi fratemity, spoke about hazing to a packed house in McCain Auditorium Tuesday evening.

Westhol's energetic speech, "Hazing on Trial," was given at the second meeting of Greek 101, a required seminar for new members in the greek system.

Westhol has delivered this speech more than 470 times, but this was not at all apparent during his dramatic presentation

"The Greek system here at K-State is an excellent system," Westhol said.

Westhol said he is against hazing in any form.

"Any hazing is bad. It's wrong. It's stupid," he said. "Hazing is a cancer. It grows and it feeds." People join fraternities and sororities for many reasons, one of which is not to be hazed, Westhol

If people enjoy hazing, they should just ask for a new shipment of little robots so they can tell them what to do without any questions being asked. Westhol said.

"Hazers are the shallow end of the gene pool. It is ego driven,". Westhol said.

Hazers usually account for about 10 percent of a chapter, and are usually the loud-mouthed minority, Westhol said. Many pledges are told they are being forced to do things they don't want to do because it's in the name of the brotherhood, or that they must comply because of pride for the house, he said.

"Hazing is premised on lies; it complicates the whole (fraternal) process." Westhol said.

He said hazing is a toy. "Hazers get upset when their human Nintendo is taken away," Westhol said. Hazing can also have serious consequences, he said.

"In the past 12 years, 37 men have died during acts of hazing," Westhol said.

If a house is known for hazing, there is no human dignity in the house. Westhol said.

"You never hear about or see respect in a hazing chapter," Westhol said.

He ended his presentation by

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 17

At 2:40 p.m., Patricia McKinney, 10 Red Bud Estates, reported her blue 90 Mazda was hit by an unknown driver while parked and unattended in Lot D-IW. Damage was less than $500.

At 12:05 n.m. report filed on a previous hit-and-run accident that occurred last week in Lot D-IW. Damage was less than $500. Victim was Jocelyn Wall, 2232 Snowbird Drive.

At 10:23 p.m., Charles Patrick Matlach, 3032 Kimball Avenue, Apt. I, was arrested and transported to Riley County

MONDAY, OCTOBER 17

At 7:43 a.m., Northview School, at 300 Griffith Drive. suffered damage to exterior walls with paint. Loss was $300.

machine. Loss was $1,000.

At 8:45 a.m., Bonnie MONDAY, OCTOBER 17

block of Osage Street, an intoxicated subject was reported lying on the hood of a truck and would not let the owner drive. The sub-

Jail for DUL. The passenger in the vehicle was given a notice to appear for transporting open container of cereal malt liquor. At 12:14 a.m.; an information report was filed in reference to a chair being on fire in the back parking lot of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at 1015

Denison Ave. Manhattan Fire Department responded and extinguished fire. SAE and FarmHouse was also spoken to by officers regarding a noise complaint and fireworks.

reported the theft of two fire extinguishers. Loss was $130. A was the victim of battery.

Arrested for battery was Leronald B. Fleming of 605

Laramie St., Apt. A. Bond was

At 9:23 a.m., Toni Miotke

theft report was filed.

set at $300.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

Wellmeier, 1221 Thurston St.

At 7:56 a.m., High Plains mobile home service suffered criminal damage to property. Damaged was a beverage

At 2:10 a.m., Julius Wilson Jr., 1032 Gardenway, was arrested for obstruction of the legal process. Bond was set at $300. At 2:28 a.m., at the 300 ject was gone on arrival.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The world is getting smaller. Make yours larger. Volunteer to tutor an international student in the Conversational English Program. Contact Kathy-Hund at the International Student Center.

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

The deadline for applications to the Community Service Program International Teams has been extended to Oct. 21, Teams will be sent to Jordan, India, Mexico, Paraguay, and Zaire. Applications are still available. For information, call 532-5701.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

■ Adult Student Services will have a brown bag lunch from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in K-State Union Stateroom 1 for non-traditional students

■ The Horticulture Club will sell pumpkins from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. today in the free-speech zone.

■ There will be an intramural captains/mangers' meeting at 5 p.m. today in Forum Hall.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. We need your name. address, phone number and student ID number.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Partly cloudy west, mostly sunny east. Mild. Highs in the mid-60s to mid-70s. Evening lows in the 40s.

STATE OUTLOOK

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK TODAY III

Mostly sunny. Highs 70 to 75. Partly cloudy at night with lows around 45.

TOMORROW III

Partly cloudy. High around 70.

Today's Special!

Bob'S DINER

1103 North 3rd • 537-7776

A Flawed Plan

- · More sales tax for students
- Maximum security prison next to elementary school
- Overpriced: McPherson built a 48-bed facility for $3.2 million, but Riley County wants $8.2 million for a 54-bed facility!

Vote NO on the Jail Tax on Nov. 8

Paid for by JAIL CORP, Richard Bachamp, Finance Chairman

You're In The Book

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2) $3.50 for faculty/staff $4.25 for the public

AVAILABLE

Get Yours in 103 Kedzie Hall

Questions? Call 532-6560

HECK YOUR NECK!

You Might Be a Redneck If...

Someone asks to see your I.D., and you show them your belt buckle!

You see no need to stop at rest stops because you have an empty milk jug in the car!

Directions to your house include "turn off the paved road"

You have a rag for a gas cap!

JEFF

Coming to the KU campus for one night only, October 22, 1994.

To order tickets by phone, or for additional information, call (913) 864-3477

Tickets on sale at the SUA Box Office Fourth Floor Kansas Union $14 Reserved Seating $18 Gold Circle Seating

Convocation lecturer Carl Djerassi, professor of chemistry at Stanford University, speaks about population growth and his hopes for the development of new contraceptives Tuesday morning in McCain Auditorium. Djerassi, who synthesized the first oral contraceptive in 1951, issued a challenge to pharmaceutical companies to develop six new types of contraceptives. DARREN WHITLEY
Collegian

Ideal contraceptive nonexistant

LISA ELLIOTT

Collegian
One hundred million acts of sexual intercourse occur in a 24hour period, leading to 910,000 conceptions, the developer of the first oral contraceptive said Tuesday.

Carl Djerassi, professor of chemistry at Stanford University, spoke about the rapid populationgrowth patterns around the world and his hopes for developments in the contraceptive-research field during his Convocation Lecture in McCain Auditorium.

Djerassi, who synthesized the first oral contraceptive in 1951, said the world population was less than 2 billion when he was born in

If he lives to be 100, at the current rate of population growth, he said the world population will exceed 8 billion.

Dierassi said the population growth may be attributed both to increasing birth rates and decreasing death rates.

"We have practiced very effective death control," Djerassi

The problem with the influx of population is it is not evenly distributed around the globe, he

Instead of developed and undeveloped countries, Djerassi split the world into two categories geriatric and pediatric Geriatric countries have lower birth rates and much longer life expectancies. Pediatric countries have very high birth rates and short life expectancies, he said.

Contraceptive methods that work in industrialized nations can't be applied to all countries, he said. They have to be compatible with the social and cultural structure of the country.

Djerassi said he dislikes the words population control.

It is not a question of the method of birth control, he said. It is the availability and the education that are the issues.

He said he does not support governmental interference in choosing contraception for the people of a country.

Birth control is an unbelievably private decision, Djerassi said.

"There is no such thing as an ideal contraceptive," he said.

quality of the contraceptive methods is not the only factor that influences a country's birth rate, he said.

The highest illegal abortion rate was in the Catholic countries prior to the legalization of abortions, Djerassi said.

As people climb up the socioeconomic scale, the number of children a couple have has declined, he said.

"If a woman doesn't have to have 10 children to get two that survive, she won't," Djerassi said.

challenged pharmaceutical companies to begin research on six different kinds of contraceptives.

Djerassi's first challenge was for research into a once-a-month contraceptive pill that would effectively induce menstruation. It could be taken after intercourse or when a woman is expecting her

The pill would regulate menstruation and would only be taken in the months when the woman was sexually active, Djerassi said.

■ See SPEAKER Page 10

DJERASSI'S LIST

Carl Djerassi, who synthesized the first oral contraceptive in 1951, challenged pharmaceutical companies to begin research on six new contraceptives:

■ New spermicide with anti-viral

■ Once-a-month pill effective as a menses inducer for use after coitus or when a woman expects her period.

■ Reliable ovulation predictor with a "red light" as well as a "green light." ■ Reliable, easily reversible male

Male contraceptive pill.

Anti-fertility vaccine.

INSIDE ► Three other lectures took place Tuesday. See Page 8

Savings

ATM

Cards

Travelers

Checks

Accounts

with Life

Insurance p to $5000

Nero, University settle case

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Under the terms of the settlement, Nero will receive $125,000, from which she will pay the $4,188.84 to the University, her attorney, Scott Hesse, said.

"K-State insisted she pay some bills for her room and board even though she got attacked by that guy," Hesse said.

In the counterclaim against Nero, the University demanded she pay $1,109.23 in outstanding loans and interest, an unpaid housing contract balance of $556.96 and $428.29 in long-distance telephone calls made while she lived in University housing.

The University also claimed that Nero had misrepresented herself as a Kansas resident when she enrolled and owed the $2,120 difference in out-of-state fees and tuition and $24.64 in interest accrued since Oct. 21, 1994.

Hesse said his client agreed to the settlement because she wanted to put the case behind her.

We didn't want to drag it out another year." Hesse said. "She wanted to get this over with and get on with her life."

Hesse said both parties agreed to the settlement so they could get their money faster.

Kassebaum said by acquiescing with the judgment, the University had limited its right to an appeal.

However, Kassebaum said she filed a notice of appeal in Riley County District Court on Oct. 14 to preserve the right to appeal.

The University only had 30 days since the last judgment on Sept. 16 in which to file an appeal, she said.

"We fully anticipate this judgment will be satisfied," she said. "I fully expect to be filing to withdraw the appeal as soon as the judgment is paid."

Stallions have long history

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

demonstrated the levade, where the horse stands up on its hind legs; the courbette, where the horse stands on its hind legs and jumps; and the capriole, where the horse jumps with the hind legs together and the forelegs off the ground.

During the show, the horses seemed to be foaming at the mouth. King reassured the audience that when horses slobber, it is a good sign.

"Judges give low scores when horses don't slobber," King said. The history of the Lipizzaner Stallions goes back 400 years, King said. The Emperor of Austria started breeding the horses, and a royal stud farm was established in Lipizza, Austria.

The Lipizzans were frequently moved around in times of war. The horses thrived on the rough countryside, and it made the breed strong, fast and raised their endurance of the climate.

With the breakup of the old Austrian Empire, the Republic of Austria took the horses to Steirmark. The stud farm was founded in 1798 to breed horses for the army. In 1858, it became the government breeding farm for producing Lipizzans.

More than half a century ago, the horses were rescued by General George Patton's troops in World War II. With the bomb dropping on Vienna, the horses were in danger, and the horses were kept under U.S. Army care.

The Lipizzan stallion is a late

"We don't start training them until they are between 3 and 4 years old," King said. "We train them for three to five years and take them out on the road when they are around 8 years old."

The Lipizzans are known for shining white coats, but when they are born, they aren't white.

'The horses are born a dark brown or black color. By the time they are 6-10 years old, the horses have turned completely white," King said. "I guess you could say a Lipizzan is a horse of a different color."

This is the 25th anniversary of the Lipazzaner show, and it has a traditional theme representing the Spanish Riding School of Vienna, Austria. The horses have the Spanish title because of their strong Spanish blood line. The Royal Lipizzaners tour 11 months out of the year and travel about 60,000 miles, visiting the United States and Canada.

What a Wednesday! 1800 Claflin

KSU PUBLIC LECTURE

Dr. Burkhard Fricke, Professor & Chair of Physics University of Kassel, Germany

The Periodic System of Elements: Past, Present, Future Wednesday, Oct. 19, 1994

Cardwell Hall 102 - 4:30 p.m. Co-sponsored by: KSU Departments of Physics, Chemistry, Office of International Programs

Credit Unions are unique financial institutions. They are owned and operated by their members and are not for profit. Earnings are returned to members in the form of higher rates on savings, lower on loans, or are invested back into the credit union to develop more products and services members need.

There are over 71,000 credit unions in 87 nations. More credit unions are being organized to serve people in Hungry, Poland, the Commonwealth of Independent States, Ukraine, and China.

Management and staff invite you to STOP BY FOR REFRESHMENTS and see how you can benefit from credit union membership.

(SU Federal Credit Union

POPULATION & ENVIRONMENT BEYOND THE NUMBERS

PATRICIA WAAK

DIRECTOR, POPULATION PROGRAM, NATIONAL AUDUBON SOCIETY

MEMBER, U.S. DELEGATION TO THE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON POPULATION AND DEVELOPMENT

THERE ARE NOW OVER 5.7 BILLION PEOPLE INHABITING THE EARTH, AND WE'RE INCREASING OUR NUMBERS BY 95 MILLION EVERY YEAR! FROM GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE TO SPECIES EXTINCTION, WE CAN NO LONGER IGNORE THE DEVASTATING EFFECTS OF GLOBAL OVERPOPULATION AND OVERCONSLIMPTION.

MS. WAAK WILL REVIEW THE RECENT UN CONFERENCE ON POPULATION AND DEVELOPMENT, AND WILL PRESENT AN OVERVIEW OF THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN POPULATION AND ENVIRONMENT AS DEMONSTRATED IN INTERNATIONAL AND DOMESTIC POLICY.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1994 7:30PM / UMBERGER HALL 105 KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

SPONSORED BY .... KSU STUDENTS FOR SUSTAINABILITY, NORTHERN FLINT HILLS AUDUBON SOCIETY, KSU DEPT. OF GEOGRAPHY, AND KSUI DEPT. OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE / REGIONAL & COMMUNITY PLANNING. MAJOR FUNDING BY KSU STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION.

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

University settlement shows lack of class

The University once again marred its public image by refusing to pay the full amount awarded to a former student who was sexually assaulted in Goodnow Hall.

K-State put its own financial interest in front of the well-being of K-State students again.

K-State appealed a district-court jury award this summer of $156,825 to Shana Nycole Nero.

Nero was sexually assaulted after a man accused of rape was put in a coed dorm.

The University filed motions for a new trial or an amendment of the amount of the award. It did not attempt to dispute its negligence in its motions.

A district court judge denied the University's request.

The University filed another appeal to the Kansas Supreme Court.

K-State has the resources to wage a drawn-out legal battle. Nero does not. She settled for about $25,000 less than what the jury awarded her.

The K-State legal team played on Nero's desire to end an ordeal that has lasted more than two years and her lack of resources to fight its endless appeals to get her to settle for a lesser amount.

Getting this case behind us is the best situation for the University, students and Nero.

However, the University's handling of this situation has sent a message to students that the University is not willing to make amends for its mistakes, and it puts more of a priority on money than the well-being of students.

The University needs to re-evaluate its priorities. The University had a legal right an appeal, but it should have shown some class and just paid the amount set forth in the orginal judgement.

TOLES

Think before you vote

lacks in South Africa fought for and won it.

American women and blacks fought for and won it. People under the rule of despots envy it. You may take it for granted. You have the coveted right to vote. Are you going to exercise it? If so, learn who and what you're voting for.

Certainly, you're not one of those people who only learns about presidential candidates every four years. Such political slacking is foolish, although understandable. Presidential candidates are the most visible.

Presidential elections are also the only elections in which your vote as a Kansan doesn't necessarily equal the votes of people in other states. The "one-person/one-vote" rule does not apply to presidential elections because presidents aren't elected by popular vote.

Voting for the president is important but no more, and maybe even less important than voting for members of Congress, state legislators, governor and local candidates and referendums. After all, federal spending and tax increases are not controlled by the president. Neither are sales taxes. They're controlled by Congress and the Statehouse, respectively. The amount of taxes you pay to the government probably affects your life much more than the president's sex life or whether or not he's a wimpy blueblood. It's wise to vote with your wallet as well as your heart and mind.

The two political parties in power offer relatively few choices for voters. In light of this, perhaps the Libertarian Party deserves a closer look. Many voters don't know what Libertarians stand for because they get so little press. It's the third largest political party in the United States, with members in several local and state offices around the country. Like any other party, there is something for everybody to love and dislike about the Libertarians.

One fact about the Libertarians is the messes it's in, and they don't ask voters to re-elect them to fix the problems they caused, unlike the GOP and the Democrats.

Third parties and independents can serve as wild cards that open election races up to a wider debate of ideas and possible solutions. They also serve as excellent protest votes in elections that are increasingly pitting Tweedle Dee against Tweedle Dum.

Unfortunately, third parties and independents have to receive high numbers of votes to be considered serious contenders in future elections. Without the votes, they aren't invited to debates and are often kept off ballots altogether.

Finally, please do not vote unless you know who, and what you're voting for. Please don't vote out of habit or reflex for only one political party, for a good-looking face, for an interpretation of the Bible, for what candidates say they will do for you, or just because you think they have the best chance of winning. Certainly don't vote for someone who is the lesser of two evils.

The only wasted votes are those cast out of ignorance, reactionism or cynicism. Vote wisely, or don't vote.

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in that they didn't get our country into radio/television.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ GTAs

Stevens wrong to throw out GTAs

Dear Editor,

I remember going to McDonald's and buying a cheeseburger, as do many college students. This time, I got a horrible burger, the meat was overdone and the ketchup was all over the side. I did go back and several weeks later, I got a great one - it was perfect. I would say it was worth more than I paid for, in a manner of speaking. Ann Stevens, you have a lot in common with McDonald's: In your opinion, we should only have professors teaching class and have GTAs for recitations and lahs. After all, that's what we paid for, right? Let's look at this

First, she says that GTAs don't bring as much as a professor does to class. This is highly opinionated. The only way to determine this as factually as possible would be to go to the kids in the class and ask them how their teacher is affecting them and look at their grades. The teachers that have a good turnout on both questions would be bringing something to the class. There will always be some bad teachers, but to blame GTAs isn't right. But what good are they, anyway?

The GTA program is a lot like K-State. It's an option to help graduate students pay for college. It also exposes GTAs to teaching in a classroom, like all the required courses for your major that don't even remotely have anything to do with your major. It also helps save money for K-State by enrolling more students in classes that would normally have to have a professor. If Ann Stevens is concerned about money, where is she going to get it for all of these professors that she plans on hiring: taxes and/or tuition increases?

What it comes down to is that GTAs are overseen by professors. These professors that Ann Stevens has so much confidence in say that these GTAs are doing a good job (on average). These GTAs come back year after year and get better and better. It saves the students and K-

I would like to see this program be expanded to classes like General Psychology, where there are at least 200+ people enrolled. They are doing a good job in areas like Expository Writing 1. Let the psychology and other graduate students have the same opportunity. It sure would beat paying eight to 10 new professors and passing the costs to the students. Don't waste our money.

Justin DeMoss freshman in psychology, criminal justice

▶ RESPONSE

Nothing wrong with backwards hats

I have never written to the Collegian before, but I am so ticked off I want to share three short First, why is it that almost every day there is one or more DUI arrests in the paper? Why are people so stupid? Don't they realize that driving drunk kills others? A friend of mine died this summer. Perhaps severe caning should be the punishment for this crime. Second, who was that guy with the microphone in the student section during the game, and who gave it to him? Surely someone more qualified could be found. No offense, dude, but you don't have the voice for it. Call DB-92 and get a local DJ for the job.

Third, who is Andrew Tomb, and who made him the head of the fashion police? I wear my hat backwards all the time, and I do not fit any of his three "sacred" criteria: I do not have a low sense of self esteem, a low GPA or give a flying fork about the Scuggbleegee Huk tribe. I wear my hat that way because I like it. A friend of mine, who also does not fit the three criteria, wears his hat that way because when he wears it forward, he looks like a cross between Forrest Gump and Gomer Pyle.

Brent Miller junior in pre-medicine

EVITA

McCain not responsible for mistakes Dear Editor,

The review of "Evita" that appeared in the Collegian of Monday, Oct. 17, makes a number of mistaken assumptions, which may mislead your readers.

Assumption No. 1: "McCain obviously doesn't have the sound-equipment capabilities to handle a complex show."

McCain does not furnish the sound system for productions like "Evita." Although such shows may tie in to our sound system and use the central speaker cluster above the proscenium, road companies tour their own sound and bring the mixing board, the side fill speakers, etc.

In addition, sound is mixed by a member of the road company. McCain staff can advise on the acoustics of the theater and can remonstrate with the "roadies" about what makes for good sound here, but ultimately, control of the sound is vested by contract in the company touring the given production. Road companies are here for the night; their technicians may not care as much about sound quality as McCain staff members do. We, on the other hand, are here for the long run, and it is in our interest to try to give our audiences the best show possible.

Assumption No. 2: "Perhaps the sound problems lay in McCain's design." The quality of sound at dozens of other events presented in the auditorium - touring musicals, plays, orchestra, choral and chamber concerts, plus praise from artists who have performed here - are evidence that McCain has first-rate acoustics.

Assumption No. 3: "The show was technically a mess ... touring productions always have a cheese quotient attached - easy lighting and minimal sets." Musicals are typically restaged for touring - especially musicals on tour as onenighters that play cities like Manhattan. It does not follow, however, that the set and lighting will be minimal or cheesy.

The production of "M. Butterfly," seen here Oct. 15, 1991, had a set virtually identical to that of the Broadway production. "City of Angels," presented here Nov. 9, 1993. "M. Butterfly" toured in three 48-foot trucks. McCain was one of the few theaters where all the sets could be used. "Oklahoma!," "Fiddler on the Roof" and "A Doll House" are all touring productions presented in McCain to which one would hardly attribute a "cheese quotient."

Everyone's expectations must be realistic. Live performance is not the same as Memorex. Musicians may miss notes, actors may throw lines away, dancers may take a fall. A designer, director or choreographer may not be able to take into consideration sight lines of every theater in which a show may be presented.

We'll continue to look for the best that can be brought to you, our audience, and do our best to make your outings to McCain an enjoyable experience. We ask that you judge us and what we present in an enlightened fashion and not on the basis of preconceived notions that may not be grounded in fact or reality.

Richard P. Martin Director, McCain Auditorium

Words hold power to hurt

The Jews stood back to back, with pillows held out against them like shields, and the blacks circled them like vultures.

It was very loud. Everyone was screaming. There were shouts of "kike" and "Hitler didn't finish the job." There were pushes and pokes and laughter when the Jews lost their balance and almost stumbled.

In the beginning, they fought us. Or tried to. They struck out with their pillows and yelled back. But, there were too many of us, and they tired quickly. One of them didn't fight at all, just hugged his pillow to him and stared at everyone with great big

RIN MANSUR-

SMITH

Even when we described, in detail, how we'd killed his brother, surrounded him and stabbed him four times, even when we detailed how, while he lie bleeding to death in the streets, he'd called out his brother's name, he still didn't say a word to us. He just stood there, and watched as we circled him. When the director of "Fires in the Mirror" called a halt to the exercise, none of us spoke. She asked us how the whole thing had made us feel, if we'd gotten anything out of our attempt to recreate racial tension. I didn't know what to say to her.

I couldn't look at any one of my castmates in the eyes. All I could think about was what had been said to me, the names I'd been called and the pushes I'd felt, as well as what I'd said and done to the others.

I didn't even want to speak. I just wanted to drop down on all fours and puke up the self-loathing and hate those words had caused, rolling around in my stomach like a lead ball.

Instead, I sat down on the edge of the stage and started to cry. My director reminded me it was just an exercise. All the things that we had said and had been said to us were just words. We weren't our characters. They were words directed at our characters. Not us, personally. But they weren't "just words." I heard those words and felt them in my

"Fires in the Mirror" is a play about the race riots that occurred between blacks and Jews in Crown Heights, Brooklyn three years ago.lt is the account of people's feelings and thoughts, during the tense four days that followed the accidental death of a 7-year-old Guyanese-American boy, run over by the driver of a Hasidic

In response to the incident, a Hasidic man was stabbed to death, allegedly by a group of young black

All the words that we said were words that were taken verbatim from interviews with everyone from Minister Conrad Muhammad of the Nation of Islam to the Rev. Al Sharpton to Norman Rosenbaum, the brother of the man who was stabbed. And they were words that they believed in.

"Kike," "Hilter didn't finish the job," "Jews are the only ones who address blacks in their rage" all of these and other statements were words people used like a bunched fist. They were weapons used to push people's buttons and to perpetuate hatred and misconceptions. They inspired the hatred that killed.

It's easy to say that we, out in the Midwest, in a college town, wouldn't succumb to the kind of hatred that sparked the riots in New York. I'd like to think that's true. But there isn't a spot on this entire earth where any one of us couldn't succumb to the ignorance and fear that started the mayhem of three years ago.

If working with this play hasn't taught me anything, it's taught me this - there isn't any one of us who couldn't fall into the trap of the right words spoken by the right people at the right time, no matter how educated we think we are, or how

And we only have to listen carefully to the words that have been spoken by our political and religious leaders to see how close many of them come to stepping over the line.

We must listen. We must pay attention. For it is only when those usually stupid, definitely ignorant and deliberately hateful people who perpetuate the kind of hate and anger expressed in this play have down, died and been buried will the ponderous weight of their words be off us all.

Only then, will we be the human beings, the humane beings, that we should be.

The words will lose their power. And we can all stop playing the game.

Erin Mansur-Smith is a senior in English, theater and pre-law.

Tidbits-

WHO IS AT RISK

One of every two people killed in alcohol-related automobile accidents is not the drinking driver

Tidbits.

FETAL ALCOHOL SYNDROME

One out of every 750 babies born has fetal alcohol syndrome. FAS causes poor coordination, mental retardation, short attention spans and behavioral problems.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Drinking alcohol, college students are stereotypically connected

rinking alcohol tends to be almost the norm for college-age students, but does this mean a majority of college students are struggling with alcoholism?

Many K-State students think the answer is no.

"It's more of a problem of the college scene as a whole, not necessarily a problem of society as a whole," Jamie Krannawitter, senior in business, said.

"I think when you get out of college, you accept more responsibilities and grow out of it," Krannawitter said. 'Alcoholism is around, but a lot of people quit abusing alcohol once they get out of college."

Statistics from Psychology Today report that alcoholism is the most prevalent disorder among men of all age groups and among women age 18 to 24.

The life-long chance of an American developing an abuse or dependence disorder is 15 percent for alcohol and 6 percent from other drugs, the same study

Because drinking alcohol in college is so prevalent, Kari Allen, senior in accounting, said it is difficult to recognize a person with a drinking problem.

"I think it's hard to tell who has a drinking problem because alcohol is so much a part of college students' lives," she said.

Allen said drinking heavily is aproblem with college-age students, but she believes it is also a genetic problem. "I think it's kind of a college-stage, but I believe it has to do with genetics, too," Allen said. "For example, if you didn't drink before college, but started drinking when you got to college, your problem could start from there," she said.

Allen said she does not believe she is suffering from alcoholism.

"I've never thought I had a problem with drinking," Allen said. "I've been out of control before and thought, 'Damn, I shouldn't have done that,' but I knew I didn't need a drink to help me cope with the night before."

Drinking is very much a part of college life, said Leslie Cutting, junior in

"I don't think it's too much of a problem, it just kind of goes with coming to college," Cutting said. "It sounds cliché, but everyone does it."

Cutting said she does not believe any of her close friends are struggling with alcoholism, but if they were, she said she would try to help them find a solution to the problem that was causing them to

"I don't think they suffer from it, but they maybe drink too much with the purpose to get drunk," Cutting said. "I think that's when the problems start."

Drinking is so prevalent in college, Castelano, sophomore Shayne undecided, said.

He said that if you are suffering with a drinking problem, it is difficult to keep up in school.

"When you get to college, you are allowed to drink anytime," Castelano said. "If you can't deal with alcoholism, you're probably going to fail."

Castelano said he knows people who he believes are suffering from alcoholism.

"Alcoholics seem to have a negative attitude about life. They always see themselves in a hole and can't see themselves in a good position," Castelano said. "Others can adapt and see a way through things. That possibly can be where alcoholism comes in. The negative attitude tends to feed the alcoholism."

Jennifer Lunnon, sophomore in elementary education, said she believes many alcoholics suffer from depression.

"I think being depressed causes people to turn to alcohol, which is really the cause of the problem," Lunnon said.

"The problem with alcoholics is that they think alcohol can cure their problems," she said.

DRIVING DRUNK

IN KANSAS

- More than 112 people died in alcohol-related traffic accidents on Kansas Highways in 1990.
- Two of every five Kansans will be involved in an alcohol-related traffic accident at some time in their lives.
- In 1990, 3,600 people in Kansas were injured in alcohol-related accidents. That's an average of 10 a day. Twenty-four percent of these involved serious injuries.
- In 1990, there were 20,260 DUI arrests in the state.

NATIONWIDE

- In 1990, 22,000 people died in alcohol-related traffic accidents.
- 362,000 people were injured in alcohol-related traffic accidents in 1990

Source: Kansas Department of Transportation

COMMON MYTHS ABOUT ADDICTION

Myth: There is such a thing as an addictive personality. Fact: Most of the aberrations of personality and the poor adaptations seen among addicted people are the product of years of substance abuse, rather than problems that predated their reliance on drugs.

Myth: Ethnic groups vary in their vulnerability to alcoholism. Fact: When groups more likely to develop alcoholism in epidemiological studies, such as Native Americans, are assimilated into American society, their patterns of drinking come to resemble those of other Americans.

Myth: The best way to start a recovery is to go into "rehab" for a month. Fact: When patients are psychologically disturbed or when they have no residence, inpatient hospitalization is recommended. Most people, however, can achieve stability with careful outpatient care.

Story by Kimberly Hefling • Art by Mike Marlett • Design by N. Stewart Anderson

SPORTS

OCTOBER 19, 1994

▶ PRESS CONFERENCE

Cats maintain confidence after loss

WESS HUDELSON

K-State is in the process of bouncing back from a loss for the first time in seven games.

Coach Bill Snyder said at his weekly press conference at the Vanier Football Complex the Wildcats aren't having any problems.

"I have doubts about our players and their frame of mind," Snyder said. "The next step is to re-focus on the next game, as it is every week, and I think they've done that."

Snyder said the confidence of his players has not been destroyed.

"We're not a different team than we were a week ago today," he said. "We're a good football team that got beat by a good football team."

For the second-straight week, K-State must focus on the secondbest team in the nation. Colorado is ranked second in the Associated Press poll and third in the USA Today/CNN Coaches' poll.

Linebacker Percell Gaskins said it is K-State's toughest challenge to date

"Our defense played pretty well against Nebraska, but if we play pretty well again, we'll get the same result," Gaskins said.

The focus of the Cats' concern against Colorado is the Buffaloes' balanced offense, which features the nation's top running back, Rashaan Salaam, and the country's second-rated quarterback, Kordell Stewart.

"They have the leading rusher in the nation and the second or thirdbest passer in the nation," Snyder said. "They pose all of the threats a great offense can pose."

The Buffaloes' offense ran up 45 points against Oklahoma last Saturday in their 45-7 victory.

With four victories over top-25 teams, Snyder said Colorado should be considered as a legitimate national-championship contender.

"There are many fine football teams in the country, but I would be hard pressed to find a better team," Snyder said.

Another concern for K-State that Snyder addressed at the press conference was the Cats' own kicking game, which he said was suspect at best against Nebraska.

"All of our players work hard, but sometimes it isn't there, which was the case Saturday," Snyder said. Eric Hardy and Scott Collins shared the punting duties against the Cornhuskers and averaged 36 yards per punt.

Special teams as a whole was a concern.

"We had the mix-up on the extra point, which isn't always the kicker's fault, but we have some problems to take care of," Snyder said.

■ K-State to appear on ESPN at 6:30 p.m.

For the third-straight week, the Cats will appear on national television, a situation Snyder said Colorado probably has more experience in.

"I don't know how much of a role it will play, but we're talking about a team that plays 50 percent of its games on national TV," Snyder said. "However, I think it's a compliment to us because they still have enough respect for us to put us on TV after a loss."

Chad May said it does show a measure of respect for K-State to be on television, but he said it might be more because of Colorado's reputation.

"I think it's more for Colorado rather than us," May said. "I think maybe they see us as a tough opponent for Colorado though, which makes me feel pretty good."

► VOLLEYBALL

Cyclones stand in way of winning Big 8 record

CRESTON KUENZI

Collegian

The K-State women's volleyball team looks to rise above .500 7:30 p.m. today in the Big Eight Conference when they take on the Iowa State Cyclones at Ames, Iowa.

Coach Jim Moore said his Wildcats, who are 2-2 in the conference, will have a stiff test against the Cyclones.

"We've seen them on tape, and they are very good," Moore said. "I know they've beat Kansas and Oklahoma, and they took Nebraska to four games."

In addition to the Jayhawks and the Sooners, the Cyclones, who are 3-2 in the conference and 14-5 overall, have also beaten Missouri.

The most recent match for the Cyclones was a loss against Nebraska. The Cyclones took a game against the Huskers, but the final scores were 15-2, 14-16, 15-10 and 15-5.

The Cyclones have all six of their starters returning from last year's team, which went 5-7 in the conference for a fourth-place finish. In the two matches last year against the Cats, the Cyclones only lost one game.

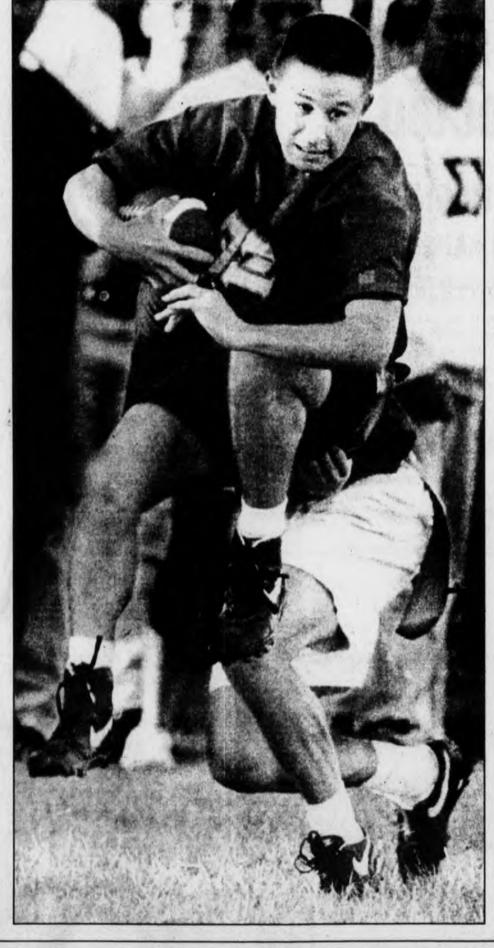

Leading the charge for the Cyclones for the secondconsecutive year are junior outside hitters Kirstin Hugdahl and Stephanie McCannon.

Hugdahl leads the team in kills with 316 on the year, including a school record-setting performance against Oklahoma, in which she accumulated 38 kills.

Squeeze play

Theta Xi member Mark Howey, sophomore in parks and resource management, evades a Sigma Chi's aggressive grasp at his flag during the fraternity-division championship game at Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. Theta Xi captured the win 23-20 and will face the independent champion, Dream Team 3, for the all-University championship at 5 p.m. Thursday at the Rec Complex.

DARREN WHITLEY

FOOTBALL TICKETS

Plane bound for Vegas full

Collegian

Fans are so confident in the Wildcat football program that students may have problems finding access to the airways for the K-State vs. University of Nevada-Las Vegas game Nov. 26.

"A package trip that we offered was so popular that an entire 727 has already been filled," Bruce Slimmer, manager of Classic Travel and Tours of Manhattan, said.

Slimmer said Classic Travel and Tours plans to charter a second plane when they can be assured the plane will be filled.

"We currently have 250 to 300 more people on a waiting list for another plane," Slimmer said.

Niki Hostetler, senior in human resource management, is one K-State student on the waiting list for the next plane

"I think K-State will continue to have an extremely successful football season, and I'll go the extra mile to watch our team," Hostetler said.

Slimmer said there are still some commercial flights remaining. However, it is a big convention time in Las Vegas, and the Thanksgiving holiday will make arrangements expensive and more difficult to make.

"My friends and I wanted to make plans early. We are hoping we can take advantage of the package because it sounds like the most affordable way to get to the game." Hostetler said.

The package being offered includes round-trip air fare from Kansas City to Las Vegas, lodging for three nights, game tickets, transportation to and from the game from the hotel and tickets to the K-State tailgate party.

The total cost per person for the first sold-out plane was $389, Slimmer said.

"We are in the process of making final decisions and setting the exact price of the second flight. We should know details on Monday," he said.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

5 teams could finish season without a loss

ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you love to argue about college football rankings, this could be your most enjoyable season ever.

Imagine this — five teams go undefeated in the regular season, and none meet in a bowl game because of conference commitments or bowl bans. The debates would be endless.

"It would be wild," ESPN commentator Beano Cook said. "There'd be arguments in every bar in America."

It may sound far-fetched, but it could happen this season with Penn State in the Rose Bowl, the Nebraska-Colorado winner in the Orange, the Colorado State-Utah winner in the Holiday, Alabama in the Sugar and Texas A&M sidelined by probation.

Or, if Auburn beats Alabama, scratch the Tide and add the Tigers to the list of unbeatens.

Like Texas A&M, Auburn can't play in a bowl because of NCAA violations. Both teams are eligible for the national championship in the Associated Press media poll, although probation teams are barred from the USA Today-CNN coaches' poll.

beaten four they played?

Is it No. 3 win despite the Frazier?

What about the USA Today-CNN win despite the played?

The last time five Division I-A teams had perfect regular seasons was 1979, when Alabama, Brigham Young, Ohio State, Florida State and McNeese State did it. They all played in different bowls, and they all lost, except for national champion Alabama, which beat Arkansas 24-9 in the Sugar Bowl.

The situation could be more confusing this year because of the sanctions against No. 4 Auburn (7-0) and No. 6 Texas A&M (6-0). What happens if the probation teams are the only ones left without a loss after the bowls?

Cook said he might vote for Auburn because the Tigers would have completed their second straight 11-0 season. They finished fourth in the AP poll last season behind a trio of once-beaten teams, including national champion Florida State.

"If they're allowed to play, their games should count," Cook said. "You can't ignore a team that goes two years without a loss."

Cook's ESPN colleague, Lee Corso, said he disagrees.
"Probation teams should not win the national championship because they can't take the last step, which is winning a bowl game," Corso said.

So who's got the inside track to the title?

Is it top-ranked Penn State (6-0), which leads the nation in scoring and just beat Michigan at Ann Arbor?

Is it No. 2 Colorado (6-0), which has already

Is it No. 2 Colorado (6-0), which has already beaten four teams that were ranked at the time they played?

Is it No. 3 Nebraska (7-0), which continues to win despite the loss of star quarterback Tommie Frazier?

What about No. 8 Alabama (7-0), which keeps winning close games with clutch plays?

Nebraska-Colorado on Oct. 29 and Auburn-Alabama on Nov. 19 will serve as elimination games. And we'll know more about Penn State's chances following the Lions' upcoming stretch against Ohio State, Indiana and Illinois.

In his preseason predictions, Cook picked Penn State to win the national championship, but he said he thinks the Nebraska-Colorado winner will take over the No. 1 ranking.

► COLUMN

High altitude poses problem for K-State at Folsom Field

I am a frequent visitor to a tavern in Aggieville where people know I'm a columnist.

The bartenders, employees and other patrons have asked me to predict the outcomes of the past two K-State football games, but I don't give them one because I'm afraid I would be off-base.

out on the limb and make a Wess Hudelson prediction so my column can be used as bulletin-board material for the Wildcats and predict Colorado will beat K-State this Saturday.

This week, I will go

'Granted, I did predict games with former sports editor Derek Simmons, but I worried about ending with an egg on my face.

Picking the Cats to lose is simple to me but not because Colorado has the best running back in the nation, Rashaan Salaam with 175.7 yards a game; the second-best quarter-back in the nation, Kordell Stewart, who has completed 66 percent of his passes; and an all-American wide receiver, Michael West-brook.

NDERSON

K-State will lose because of the altitude.
Everyone knows there is less oxygen in higher altitudes, and athletes have had problems competing in the stagnant air. It is obvious Colorado has done well at the high elevation of 5,435 feet.

K-State has not won a football game in Boulder, Colo., since getting by Colorado 17-14 in 1973. Overall, the Buffaloes are 22-2 against the Cats at Folsom Field.

There have been nine meetings between the two schools in Colorado since that win, and Colorado has won by margins of 33-7, 23-0, 21-6, 24-21, 38-21, 30-0, 56-14, 64-3 and 54-7—a total of 343-79.

Since 1972, the Cats have gone 1-3 in high elevation, including a 28-16 loss at Utah State in 1992. The last win was a 19-6 victory over Air Force in Colorado Springs, Colo.

In fact, this elevation theory can apply to the Colorado men's and women's basketball teams. The men's team was won 70 percent of their game in Boulder in the past 16 seasons, while the women have won 73 percent (66-24) in the Coors Events/Conference Center.

Colorado has had some great football teams, and K-State has had some very, very poor football teams, but I see the Buffaloes having the better team because of the altitude.

This Cats team is better than the previous nine teams, but this is the best Buffalo team ever. Just ask Oklahoma coach Gary Gibbs, who watched his Sooners get run over last Saturday 45-7 in Boulder.

"This is the best Colorado team that I've seen (23 years as a player and coach at Oklahoma)," Gibbs said. "They won the national championship in 1990 and played for it in 1989. I would say this football team, with their weapons, is every bit as good."

My prediction: Colorado wins 26-14.

IVERSIONS

BE THE NEW BRECK GIRL

Breck is searching for three new Breck Girls of 1995. To qualify, you must send them a 1- to 3-minute videotape of yourself, telling why you want to be a Breck Girl, a completed entry form and two proofs of purchase from any Breck product. Brooke Shields, Kim Basinger, Cybill Shepherd and Jaclyn Smith were all Breck Girls in the beginning.

OCTOBER 19, 1994.

▶ CROSSWORD

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

lower?

4 They're said

5 Polar blue, it's employee

6 TV alien

7 For fear

9 Watch-

10 Sun Yat-

union

17 Average

19 "- Lazy

River"

capital

23 Rogers'

22 South

acronym

American

11 Hollywood 38 Music

8 Allen's ex

ACROSS 44 "Cabaret" 1 Fond du lyricist -, Wis. 4 Osso buco feature base often 8 Bother 50 Rose 12 Ms. Kennedy, Gardner e.g. 55 "Ulalume" 13 "Winnie -Pu" poet 56 Medicinal 14 Blueprint

Laine

ence

DOWN

2 Admit

1 Stromboli

spillover

15 Abbr. on 57 Sweetheart a binding 58 Abby's sis 59 Singer 16 Children 18 Horren-60 Squawk dous 20 One for 61 Interferthe road 21 Soccer legend 24 "The Thinker 3 A little sculptor 28 Kinsperson 32 Dark reddish 33 "Diamonds

34 Buss 36 Greek H 37 Overlook 39 Descendant's opposite 41 Linguine topping 43 Bristle

Solution time: 28 mins.

52 Pirouette

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. 10-19 CRYPTOQUIP

BCDKS QCDDQA

KSHOF IKSNNQ Yesterday's Cryptoquip: FITTING MOTTO FOR SUCCESSFUL SHOE SALESMAN: "THE SHOE MUST

Today's Cryptoquip clue: J equals N

THE FAR SIDE

EUGENE SHEFFER

mate

25 Regimen

26 Busy with 27 On the verge of access

vania port

35 It can make bottle

42 Kyoto

you hit the lover's buy

40 Gal of song

cummer-

45 New kid on

47 Autumnal

48 Ice cream

holder

Planet

staffer

51 The whole

enchilada

Stephen of

"The Cry-

50 Buddy

49 Daily

stone

the block?

bund

29 Pennsyl-

30 Smaller 31 "- homo!" GARY LARSON

Scene from "Fiddle Attraction

► LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

CALVIN AND HOBBES

HEE HEE! DO YOU THINK

PHOOEY. MOM AND DAD LEFT. NOW WE'RE HERE ALONE WITH THE BABY SITTER BLACK LAGOON.

SHE REMEMBERS, HOW LAST TIME WE THREATENED TO FLUSH HER SCIENCE NOTES HA HA HA! OUR

SHE REMEMBERS, ALL RIGHT. SHE CAN'T GET WE'LL CALL THE RESCUE SOWAD

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT BILL AMEND The Far Side II Wait a minute... this by Jason Fox Earth has humans

Roommate feeling overshadowed, wants respect

NEVER notice me.

Write to Cassie: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS

Duveaux

Dear Cassie, I am an attractive, outgoing gal and I like to have a lot of fun. I love to dance and go out on weekends, but I have a problem. My roommate is my best friend, and we spend a lot of weekends doing things together. The problem is this: she is drop-dead gorgeous, and

They flock around her like they haven't seen a beautiful woman in years. And anytime we go to a bar, the only time a guy glances my way is to ask who my friend is and if she's single.

Cassie, I have a lot of things going for me, and my roommate's the greatest, but whenever we are out together, I get tossed aside.

What can I do to get a little attention myself? Sincerely

Dear Cutie in Envy,

What a tough situation. It would be a lot easier if your roommate was a nasty, two-faced, sleazeball that you couldn't stand to be around. However, it sounds like the two of you are good friends and 'you can't hate her because she's beautiful." You sound like a great gal, too though, and I don't think you're giving yourself enough credit. You just need to be patient. Or if you're sick of being patient, the next time a guy comes up and asks, "Is your roommate single?" simply reply, "No, but I am."

► LIVE MUSIC

Musician, style changes don't dampen 'Sol'-full band

AMY ZIEGLER

Collegian

A horn section, eight musicians and a congo drum has set one band in Lawrence apart from the Turquoise Sol, a band with jazz, Latin and folk alternative music to Manhattan with a performance at 9 p.m. Thursday at Snookie's Bar in Aggieville. 'We're different compared to bands in Lawrence because our roots are not in rock. Another thing is influences, will bring their unusual approach to we're not a four-piece band, but instead are an eight-piece band," vocalist Dain Estes said. Estes said he and percussionist Tony Magliano started the band during their senior year in high school and are now the only two remaining original members of the band. "Since 1991, we've been through 20 different musicians," Estes Turquoise Sol will play at 9 p.m. Thursday at Snookie's Bar Aggieville. Estes said not only the band's members, but also the style and the sound of Turquoise Sol have changed since they released their first compact disc, "Fields of Joy," two years ago. Back then, we were young musicians in a young band. We had people write songs for us, and they were good songs, but our performance was underdeveloped," Estes said.

TURQUOISE SOL

Estes said the band has matured with experience, but he's uncertain what lies ahead for Turquoise

"The band's gone full circle. The way the music is going, I don't know what's going to happen, but we hope to find a crowd who understands us for who we are and doesn't expect us to change," Estes

Sax player Laura Bornholdt said an appreciative audience is vital to a good performance.

"When people are excited about seeing us and are dancing, it makes us play better," Bornholdt

Nolan Sellers, bass guitarist, said it takes time and energy to write lyrics.

"We get together and spend hours writing music and practicing old songs," Sellers said.

Estes said being in a band has dramatically changed his life.

"Everything is different about being in a band. You have to give up your social life and have to deal with trying to get people together for practice,"

Guitarist Pat Schehane said the rewards of performing onstage outweigh the time commitments and sacrifices of being in a band. "It feels so good to be up onstage. It makes it worth all the hassles and the stress from travel," Schehane said. Turquoise Sol has performed in college towns across the country, played at the Spirit Festival for the past two years, and is planning to be a part of the 1994 Grassroots alternative-music festival in Schehane said the band also enjoys performing in Manhattan.

"We play in Manhattan all the time. It's one of our bigger venues," Schehane said.

Intramural Volleyball Captains'/Managers' meeting is TODAY at the K-State Union, Forum Hall 5 p.m. Schedules will be distributed at this meeting only.

ALL CAPTAINS/MANAGERS MUST ATTEND! REC SERVICES OFFICE • 532-6980

COME Get Mesmerrrizzzed by ....

International

....Exotic Food, Dance and Music from Around the World An Evening to Remember ....

> Presented by ICC

October 22, 1994

Venue: Manhattan Middle School Food: 5:00 p.m. - 7:00 p.m. (Tickets Required) Entertainment: 7:00 p.m. - onwards (Admission Free)

Tickets: $3.00

(sold at K-State Union between October 18 - 20, 1994) For More Information Contact Foreign Students Office at 532-6448

Fall Shoe Showing Featuring Riekers! New Styles! Now 10% off thru October

Olson's Shoe Service in Aggieville

MUSLIM COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

The Muslim Community Association invites you to attend the third lecture of a series of four of a short course on: "Understanding Islam - I"

"ISLAMIC LAW (Shari'a)"

HAMED GHAZALI

Vice President of the Islamic Society of North America

Wednesday, Oct. 19

Room 213, K-State Union - 7:15 to 8:30 p.m.

Refreshments and coffee served. For more information contact Khalid Kebbati at 537-3759 or 532-6999.

1116 Moro 537-0886

Mon.-Sat.

This coupon good for CHICKEN CHOP SUEY $3.90

Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries. FREE DELIVERY

Dine-in & carryout

11 a.m.-1 a.m. (Minimum order $9) Expires 10-31-94 11 a.m.-Midnight

ULTIMATE SURVIVOR

MIKE BUCKINGHAM'S STORY WAS PRESENTED IN THE VIDEO "ULTIMATE SURVIVORS" HOSTED BY WILLIAM SHATNER

WITH A 10% CHANCE OF SURVIVAL AND A SEVEN-MONTH HOSPITAL STAY, MIKE IS A LIVING EXAMPLE OF TURNING SOMETHING BAD INTO SOMETHING POSITIVE.

> THURSDAY, OCT. 20, 1994 7 p.m. K-STATE UNION STATION

MICHAEL W. BUCKINGHAM

his presentation is co-sponsored by KSU Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service, KSU B.A.C.C.H.U.S., KSU Greek Affairs, and KSU Housing and Dining Services.

Funding in part provided by the City of Manhattan.

Past health reformers responsible for fad cures

Throughout history, many people have treated illnesses with fad remedies endorsed by quacks, the head of the history department said in his lecture Tuesday.

Donald Mrozek, a 1994 recipient of the Conoco Distinguished Graduate Faculty Member Award, spoke in Nichols Theatre about these innovations and how they were used in the past.

Mrozek said in his lecture, "Science, Fads, Quackery: Physical Culture and Medicine in the American Past," that in 1861, writer James Jackson had his own ideas about quackery.

"It was with entirely unintended irony that James Jackson, a noted health reformer, believed that diet cured masturbation," Mrozek said.

"Historic men prescribed drugs for illnesses as quacks."

He said Jackson emerged as a categorical enemy of all drugs and saw them as a block to the natural processes that promote self healing.

He said scientist Horace Fletcher received support from the government early in the 20th Century and was taken seriously because of his careful methodology.

"He advocated an all-potato diet, which was adopted for several months by the United States Navy," Mrozek said.

Mrozek said Fletcher was also the great advocate of thorough mastication, the chewing of food.

"Also known as fletcherizing, the practice reached excessive levels such that all foods were chewed, including milk," he said.

Mrozek said this particular dietary pattern lasted well into the 20th Century.

Another fad was one of statistician Edward Atkinson.

"Atkinson thought that immigrants' heavy use of spices in cooking cause them to be sexually hyperactive," he said.

He said Atkinson and his colleagues sought to reduce the non-WASP population by putting immigrants on a bland diet.

Mrozek said in 1978 writer Joel Henning believed running was a form of worship and an attempt to find God.

He said Henning thought running integrated our physical and spiritual selves.

"Dare I say that we live in a new age of thought?" Mrozek

"What the American future will be in matters such as this is not technically a historian's question to answer," he said.

"I suspect, however, that the puzzle of whether human behaviors are the realm of science and aspiration or whether they are the product of quackery and selfabsorption is a puzzle that will last as long as we humans and our culture," Mrozek said.

Timothy Donoghue, vice provost and dean of the graduate school, said Mrozek's many accomplishments qualify him for the Conoco award.

"He richly deserves to be selected as the recipient of the Distinguished Graduate Faculty Member Award this year," he

"Don is a good citizen to the University," Donoghue said. "He has contributed in many ways."

Mrozek's research is among his outstanding achievements, he said. Mrozek has studied the different preconceptions about the nature of war, which shape specific conflicts, Donoghue said.

The experience in the chain of research remains as fresh as ever," he said. "We're very lucky in the academic world, unlike people in sports such as swimming, where you max out early," Donoghue said. "We should just get better atit, indefinitely."

Mrozek received undergraduate degree at Georgetown University and his Ph.D. at Rutgers University.

The other award recipients are Robin Denell; professor of biology and John Iandolo, professor of pathology.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

Dennis Showaiker speaks to a crowd about D-Day as part of the Dwight D. Eisenhower lecture series Tuesday evening in K-State Union Forum Hall.

50 years later, professor questions D-Day victory

The D-Day invasion celebrates its 50th anniversary this year, but was it a victory for the United States and its

Dennis Showalter, professor of history at Colorado College, doesn't necessarily think so. Showalter spoke Tuesday evening in the K-State Union Forum Hall about World War II and Germany's role in D-

The speech, titled "The Convenient Opponent: The Wehrmacht and D-Day," focused on D-Day from the German point of view.

One of the main themes Showalter focused on was the fact that Germany began preparing for Allied invasions in the early 1940s.

"Germany began establishing air support in 1940," Showalter said. "Also, Hitler focused on Russia as a key

While taking a defensive position in the west, Showalter said Germans thought the most crucial factor was to establish superiority in the sea and in

The Germans, he said, began preparing for an attack that might come anywhere along the Atlantic Ocean, long before the Normandy Invasion.

"In March of '42, the high command west began taking immediate defense of threatened points," Showalter said. "That was the best thing Germany could

At this point, he said, Germany was fairly sure the United States would hit

Hitler received a comprehensive memo on Oct. 25, 1943, which included recommendations of what measures should be taken to prepare for an invasion, Showalter said.

Although Hitler acknowledged the memo, he didn't take any immediate Hitler encouraged his generals to Showalter said. focus on obtaining more commands and maximizing their resources at hand, Showalter said.

The Allies' Operation Fortitude convinced the Germans that the Allies had 86 military divisions in England, when they actually only had 13, Showalter said.

For this reason, he said, it would make strategic common sense for Germany to concentrate its efforts on the false information distributed by Operation Fortitude.

The Germans diverted attention is what led to the Allies' successful D-Day Invasion on June 6, 1944, Showalter said.

Showalter discussed the roles of several key German military commanders. Rundstedt was the overall commander, and Rommel was his subordinate, Showalter said.

'Rommel was to Rundstedt what Hillary Clinton is to President Clinton,"

Rommel wanted to lead a counter attack several hours after the D-Day invasion, Showalter said. The U.S. military sees problems as grand strategic, whereas the German military sees problems as tactical, Showalter said. Showalter provided an analogy for the strategic difference. "We (United States) think of how to get from Fort Riley to Saudi Arabia," Showalter said. "The Germans think of how to get 300 yards.'

Showalter said since the Germans couldn't think in grand strategic terms, they were unprepared for the attack.

The debate about D-Day will continue into the next century, Showalter said.

'The Germans' preparation for the D-Day Invasion did not occur in a vacuum. There were three years of war that led up to it," Showalter said.

■ See SPEAKER Page 10

Objectification of women in media can result in pornography, assault

CORI CORNELISON

"Hold her down."

"Come on, she's loving it." "Is she ready to come? I can't

A group of men cheered while woman was forced onto a pinball machine, stripped and brutally gang raped in the movie, "The Accused."

The rape scene in "The Accused" was part of the movie, "Dangerous Amusements: MTV, Pornography and Violence Against Women," which was used as an eye opener in the first Awareness Week Tuesday afternoon.

Melissa Divine, group and community educator for the Crisis Center Inc., led the discussion to the audience of about 30 people, most of which were women.

The Crisis Center is a community-based program for battered women and rape victims in Manhattan.

Cara Petree, sophomore in premed, said she had never seen the rape scene in "The Accused"

"To actually see it play in a discussion for Sexual Violence movie is pretty surprising that men could do that to a woman," she said. "They turn it into fun."

Anything in isolation is safe, but when some things are combined, they become dangerous, Divine said.

"A 4-year-old by himself isn't dangerous. A gun by itself isn't dangerous. Put the two together, and it's dangerous," Divine said.

MTV and the way it objectifies women is a bad combination, she

The movie focused on how women who are on MTV are presented as wanting to be watched and are objects of desire. The movie also depicted women's bodies looked at and analyzed, just like a person would look at a landscape. "When you think of women only as a body part, you deny them subjectivity," Divine said.

One of the most popular shots of movie cameras in rock videos is done between the legs, Divine

"I asked myself, am I watching the Playboy Channel, or am I watching MTV?" Divine said.

closer, she said. MTV argues that if you pull anything out of context, you've taken away from the larger meaning, Divine said.

These same arguments were used by white supremacists, the Ku Klux Klan, Adolf Hitler and the Nazis, she said.

"The danger in objectifying someone is we turn them into pieces and parts, and then it is much easier not to treat them like person," Divine said. "Objectivity pornography. MTV takes pornography a step

See MTV Page 10

AWARENESS WEEK

Dori Lambert, clinical director of University Counseling Services. will moderate discussion on, "In the Aftermath: Adult Women Confront Childhood Sexual Abuse" at 4 p.m. today in K-State Union 208.

Candidates against further defense cuts

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

As far as the future of the post, he said now is not the time to make even more military reductions.

"I don't say that because it sounds good because of Fort Riley," Carlin said. "I say it because, quite frankly, we're at a point where we've had significant reductions, and it shouldn't continue as long as we have spots like North Korea to deal with."

Brownback said the reason Fort Riley is in danger is because of last year's federal budget - a budget, he said, that Carlin would have supported.

"I think we cut back the military today at our own peril, and we should not be doing that," Brownback said. "We should not be going to the levels that President Clinton is on cutting back on the military."

He said the post is needed, not just for local economic reasons, but for the interest of national security.

On the issue of crime, Carlin said the problem is that politicians must use their heads when searching for a solution.

"We absolutely must be tough. There is no question about that," he said. "But where we fail so frequently is not being very smart. We need a system where there are consequences when someone makes a mistake the first time, so lessons are learned."

Carlin also said communities need to get involved to see that children are raised right. Prevention, he said, has to start with prenatal care.

Brownback said he has a threepoint plan for crime. It calls for punishing criminals for longer periods of time, for a partnership, which would see the conversion of federal facilities so they could house these criminals and prevention.

On the subject of prevention, he said the number of births to unwed mothers in this country has risen dramatically during the last 30

"I'm not castigating or moralizing on anybody," Brownback said, "but I think we need to get those numbers down. If we're going to try to cut back crime, I think the best social agencies and the best social institution to do that is the family."

The debate gave the two candidates the opportunity to ask each other one question.

Carlin asked about a case that came up when Brownback left his position of Kansas Secretary of Agriculture to work as an attorney. Carlin said four months after leaving the office, he was back in front of the same agency working on a case, and he wanted to know if

Got a news tip?

Call the Kansas State Collegian, day or night.

• 532-6556 • 532-6556 • 532-6556 • 532-6556 • 532-6556 • 532-6556 • that made ethical sense.

Brownback said he did go to a law firm after stepping down as secretary of agriculture. He said the case Carlin was speaking of involved the city of Morganville and its water rights. Brownback said he checked with state ethics agencies beforehand, and they told him there was no problem. Next, Brownback asked Carlin about a statement he had made about Bill and Hillary Clinton during the 1992 presidential election. According to the Topeka Capital-Journal, when Carlin introduced the couple, he said this was the finest couple he had ever known in his lifetime to run for public office. Brownback asked if Carlin still felt this way.

Carlin said he did work on the President's campaign. "I certainly don't in any way deny I know them," Carlin said. "I certainly don't deny that I helped them to campaign two years ago, and I think most people in this audience and across the state would have expected anyone in my position to do so." Carlin did not say if he still felt the same way about the first couple, but he did say he would be independent as possible if elected.

"I won't hesitate, as I already have, to disagree with the president," Carlin said.

Dedication

Mary Kyle, RN, CEN Critical Care Staff Nurse

Trauma Nurse Core Course Certified Advanced Cardiac Life Support Provider Pediatric Advanced Life Support Provider

"I enjoy emergency nursing because most of the time we are able to see results from our actions. It's a very rewarding area to work in."

The People of Memorial Hospital

24-Hour Emergency Room

staffed by physicians who are certified in advanced trauma and cardiac life support

Yesterday's values, tomorrow's technology

Sunset and Claflin

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $:20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 — $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

fleds must be paid in adva have an established acco k, MesterCard or Vise are ere is a $10 service charge

We receive the right to edit, reject or reporty classify any ed. EADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a sedifine above your ad to catch the seder's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ade must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run for for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, pl call us. We accept responsibility o for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

532-6555

PARKING

532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

PARKING

TRANS-

PORTATION

Automobiles

tion. $ 587-9470.

1984 CAMARO Z28 305 V-8

1984 PLYMOUTH Reliant

1985 CHEVROLET Celebri-

5.0 liter, excellent condi-tion. $3000. Cal

Excellent condition. Great work or school car. Very reliable, $1600 or best offer, call 776-0882.

ty Eurosport sedan, V6, automatic, extras, runs, looks great, ex-patrol car, comfortable, reli-able, $1350, 539-2528.

day with the change in your couch. $1000. 1976 Mustang, 69,000 miles, $750 power steering, power brakes, 539-1991.

5.0 liter, red, five-speed one owner, new tires

$4800, negotiable. Call Darren at 539-8395.

V6, cassette automatic transmission, power locks, air conditioner.

low mileage. Located in Silver Lake, KS. About 45 minutes east of Manhattan. Call after 5p.m.

four-door, manual, air, good condition, best offer 539-4672.

1-582-5254

Motorcycles

TOYOTA, COROLLA, 1982

1981 SUZUKI 550. Good

1990 HONDA, CBR 600F

Hurricane, good condi-tion, helmet included, $2400 or best offer. Must sell. Call 587-8261.

condition, 8900 miles.

1987 MUSTANG GT V-8

1994 BERETTA must sell

1986 SPRINT, drive it all

SOUTH OF THE

BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

NABI MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-sonal.

Meetings/ Events

TOASTMASTERS A mu-tual support group for people who want to improve their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825. ADD AN extra touch of

class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561. BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering anyham, Days Inn, Hous ton Street. Cal ton St 539-9431.

For Rent-

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-

MOVING AWAY, must rent my part of two-bedroom, one bath apartment, large bedroom with walk-in closet, washer/ dryer, cable TV, nice neighborhood, covered parking, fully carpeted and furnished (if necessary) $225/ month plus shared utilimonth plus shared utili ties 539-4137.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Minimum seven month lease, 537-8389.

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two Call baths. 776-3804.

Now Leasing Large 2 Bedroom Apartments 1/2 block from campus/ 1 or 2 baths

For Appointment call 776-3804 Managed by McCullough Development

MANHATTAN Apartments, four-b able now, Corner of College and Claffin.

CLOSE (ONE block), to campus. Two-three-bedrooms, nice. Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths. Not in complex. No pets. 539-4641. *******

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30 ****

FOR RENT- Studio apart-ment, all utilities paid. Please call Jared at 539-

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, remodeled, $390, bills paid. 539-8401.

Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAIL-ABLE Jan. 1. $187.50 plus utilities. Living room, dining room, backyard, washer, dry-er. Call Anne, 776-2389 or 532-1354.

For Rent-Houses

AVAILABLE 12/1 or 1/1 two AlLABLE 12/1 or 1/1 two-bedroom, one bath, one-half block from campus. $380/ month plus deposit. Washer and dryer, fenced yard/ pets ok. Lease runs through 5/31 with op-tion for renewal. Call 537-9528. Leave mesNON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, UNFIN-ISHED basement, washer, dryer, refrigerator, fenced yard, pets ok, year lease available after finals or Jan 1, $450/ month, 531 Thurston, 587-0217.

For Sale-Mobile Homes

BRAND NEW '95 Cham-pion Homes 14x64 through 28x56. Very af-fordable, immediate de-livery C/A skirting, ex-cellent financing. Councellent financing. tryside, 539-2325.

Roommate

ALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share three-bedroom FEMALE duplex. Close to campus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. 537-8967.

needed to share clean large two-bedroom apartment. Length of sublease and rent nego-tiable. Call 587-0034

FEMALE TO share nice apartment, awn room $175/ month. Call 539-0147.

room (big). Next to campus, all bills paid, $225/ month. 587-9694. Available now or se-

MALE NEEDED to share four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct. rent free. 587-9327. MALE OR female, non-smoking to share home beginning in Decem-ber. Quiet, wooded, westside. 539–6455.

MALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom duplex. $145 plus oneird utilities. Half from campus. Call Frank 776-3158.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bed-room, two bath, fur-nished double-wide trailer. Non-smoker, non-drinker. $100. Share bills. Call 776-1038.

MALE/ FEMALE nonsmoker. Available now share two-bedroom apartment. $210, month 913 Vattier, quiet, clean, near school. Eileen 587-8442 before 12p.m. NEED ONE male to complete three-bedroom basement apartment-washer and dryer. Close to campus. $130/ month plus one-sev-enth utilities. Available Oct. 1, Call 1-632-5211 after 4p.m. NON-SMOKING FEMALE needed to share one-third bills, five minute walk from campus. 776-6184. ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom, nice, new house, $200, 723

Bluemont, washer/ dryer, own bathroom.
539-1056. Dec. 1.

SEEK MALE/ female room-mate. Wanted. Excel-lent location, great place, all utilities paid, free laundry facilities. Cheap rent. Call Chrissy 537-0438.

THREE RESPONSIBLE Individuals looking for fourth roommate. Close to campus. $170 plus one-fourth bills, 537-9813.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

Other

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, twobedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balcony, 587-9394

150

Sublease

SERVICE

Resume/

210 testing

Call for appointment

Mon.-Fri.

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

Services

rate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in-come requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

DIRECTORY

Typing

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprocessing spreadsheets graphs. Papers, re ports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings). NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

RESUME RESUME RE-SUME and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda, 776–3290.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338 ·Free pregnancy

·Same day results

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Automotive Repair

SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

SS FOR COLLEGE corpo

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716.

SERVICES: INTERNATION-AL Students: DV-1 Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration. Greencards provide U.S. permanent resident status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed. For informa-tion and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168; (818)998-4425 Mon-

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readlegian urges our read-ers to contact the Bet-ter Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, To-peka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

1-800-FOR-AVON. NO Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry, Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

COACHING ASSISTANT boy's basketball at Luck-ey Junior High. Oct. '94 through Feb. '95 apply at 306 South Juliette. dline Oct. 26.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext. C57682.

DELIVERY HELP needed! Responsible person needed part-time to help deliver pianos. Flexible hours, good pay for the right per-son. Apply in person, Mid-America Piano, 406 Poytnz.

EARN $6- $7/ hour. Just Roses has part-time weekend and evening sales openings for outgoing people. Must be 18 years old and have transportation. Call Rosemary -776-7123.

ENERGETIC, MATURE per-RGETIC, MATURE person to provide fun after-school activities for four children, Tuesday through Thursday, some Mondays, 3:30–5:30. Experienced, refer-ences, and have safe, retiable vehicle. Call 776–7341. If no answer, leave name, phone, and brief qualifications on answering machine. ering machine FAST FUNDRAISER- Raise $500 in five days-Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. IMMEDIATE POSITIONS available for hard work-ing fast paced, custom-er oriented students.

Positions open are grilly mexican MWF 10:30a.m.- 2p.m. or porter MWF 9:30a.m.-1:30p.m. or salad bar MWF 9a.m.- 2:40p.m. Substitute position available 6a.m.10:30a.m. MWF or T/TH. Apply immediately at the K-State Union Foodservice Office.

INTERVIEWERS NEEDED, two shifts available. 11:30- 3:30 and 4:00- 8:00. Please apply between 12:30 and 2:30 at R.L. Polk, 3003 Anderson, Suite 913. Bet-ween Old Chicago Bar and Grille and Cactus Jacks in Village Plaza. LOCAL FRATERNITY is curperienced Dietician. He-sponsibilities include planning meals for 50 men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12.50 per hour. Please send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

NEEDED: 10 people to do phone sales of basket-ball tickets for the Kan-sas State Athletic Desas State Atmetic De-partment starting Mon., Oct. 24 through Fri., Nov. 25. Work would consist of days and/or nights Monday through Friday paying $5/ hour plus generous commission. Will work around class schedule To apply, go to Bram-lage Coliseum Suite 143 or call Jason at 532-7715 to set up ap-pointment or ask ques-tions.

NOW HIRING for full or part-time help, flexible hours available, day shifts available. Apply in person Vista Drive In, 1911 Tuttle Creek

Blvd. or 2700 Anderson

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more information call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

TUTOR NEEDED imme diately Org. Biol 201, hourly rate plus bonus. Must have good grades in Organismic Biology. Jeffery 776–6690. YOUNG, AGGRESSIVE, advertising agency look-ing for "fresh," "red hot" designer. Recent graduates encouraged to apply. Must have Macintosh experience. Send resumes to: Pro duction Director, P.O. Box 4512. Topeka, KS 66604.

Business Opportunities

330

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian areas our readers to caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

MARKET

Items for Sale

COPIER RECONDITIONED Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m.

IBM SELECTRIC II typewriter with correction. Re cently checked and cleaned. Excellent con-dition. $100. Call 776-4398 mornings or

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at POWERFLEX 350 eight weight straps over 20 WERFLEX 350 eight weight straps over 20 different exercises $150, Tunturi stair climber machine $175, both like new. 537-8471.

Antiques

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wamego.

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

ATTENTION DOOM Players. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hundreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539–0801.

HP48S- SCIENTIFIC Calculator with book and case. $100. Call Trever at 537-2989. Please, eave message if gone. MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

PACKARD BELL 486/33 Complete system with desk. 10 months old loaded with software $900. Call Will a 587-4123.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

NEED TWO tickets to CU game. If selling please call 532-9102.

TWO K-STATE fans want tickets to cheer Cats to victory at Colorado. Please call Jeannie at 539-6874.

When you're making the grade, it's time to help those who aren't. Advertise your tutoring skills in the Classifieds. It's only $5 for 20 words. COLLEGIAN

Kedzie 103 532-6555

CATEGORIES

looking for, the classified ads

have been arranged by category

To help you find what you are

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

040 Meetings/Events

030 Personals

050 Parties-n-More

HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE 106 For Rent -Apt. Furnished 110 For Rent — Apt. Unfurnished

115 Rooms Available 210 Resume/Typing 120 For Rent - Houses

130 For Rent -Mobile Homes 135 For Sale -Mobile Homes

125 For Sale - Houses

140 For Rent - Garage 145 Roommate Wanted 150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space

166 Land for Sale यम

DIRECTORY

205 Tutor

215 Desktop Publishing 220 Sewing/Alterations

230 Lawn Care 235 Child Care 240 Musicians/DJs

> 250 Automotive Repair 255 Other Services

300

245 Pet Services

EMPLOYMENT CAREERS 310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Needed

Opportunities

408 225 Pregnancy Testing OPEN

> 405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale

MARKET

420 Garage/Yard Sales 425 Auction

430 Antiques

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers 440 Food Specials

445 Music Instruments

450 Pets and Supplies 455 . Sporting Equipment

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

N the pills

50U TRANS-PORTATION

510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

530 Motorcycles

540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/

TRIPS

610 Tour Packages 620 Airplane Tickets

630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets

and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

TIPS FOR

WRITING A

Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations.

CLASSIFIED AD

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price WE DO NOT USE PHONE

NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Male birth control not ready for sale

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

The pill would take 10 to 17 years to develop through all stages of research, he said.

A male pill would take up to 20 years to develop, he said.

"I don't know of a single pharmaceutical company in the world working on a male pill," Djerassi said.

Pharmaceutical companies are reluctant to do research in the area of contraceptives because the population of the affluent countries is mainly geriatric, over the age of 60, Djerassi said.

Men are also worried about their potency, he said. Fear of impotency is a stumbling block in developing a male contraceptive pill.

"Most of the women in the audience will be in menopause before a male pill will be in development," he said.

Another development in female contraceptive devices Djerassi said he would like to see is a reliable ovulation predictor.

A red light or green light would be given based on the level of certain hormones present during the menstrual cycle, he said.

"A woman is only fertile for about 24 hours in a month," Djerassi said. "If she knew when she was going to ovulate, theoretically she could abstain during that time."

Since male sperm are active for longer than 24 hours at a time, women need advanced notice of ovulation, he said.

Djerassi suggested testing estrogen and progesterone levels to indicate the OK periods.

The rise of the hormone estrogen before ovulation could be used as the indicator for the red light period, he said. Following ovulation, the rise in the hormone progesterone could be used to indicate the green light period.

Hormone monitoring is already done for women with fertility problems, and Djerassi said the green light testing is already available in France.

"In my opinion, knowing when you ovulate is as important as knowing when you menstruate," Djerassi said.

A third option for contraception is sterilization. In the United States, one third of all married couples have one partner who is sterilized, usually the woman, he said.

If sterilization could be reversed with a guarantee of success, Djerassi said he thought more men would agree to sterilization. An option he said would be feasible is the preservation of sperm in a sperm bank.

"If cryo-preserved sperm could be used after decades instead of a few years, then that could be their guarantee," Djerassi said.

If the contraceptive research situation is to change at all, then it will come because of pressure from an informed citizenry, he said.

Djerassi's visit was arranged in cooperation with the Mark Enloe Memorial Lectureship in Relevant Conservation Issues and the Convocation Lecture series.

MTV links sex, violence

Speaker talks on war decisions

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

In the last 10 years, the movie industry has gone from a little violence to a lot, Divine said.

"Sex and violence is inevitably linked," she said. A misconception portrayed in the movie was that when women say no to sexual activities, they mean yes, and they want it more.

In a vacuum, MTV can't make someone rape, but it is how women are presented that tells society it is all right, Divine

Tracy McDonald, sophomore in English, said she always enjoyed watching MTV before.
"I never really saw it like the way I will now," McDonald "I was sickened by the music videos because I've never seen them in that light before."

National Domestic Violence

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

"It is important to understand the dynamics of the German army's rational decisions," Showalter said.

of history and lecture organizer, accessible to the educated general public," Parillo said. "It was Showalter didn't just discuss the entertaining and intriguing."

military aspects of D-Day.

said he was impressed.

Mark Parillo, assistant professor

"I think his lecture was Parillo said it was important that

"He talked about politics,

Week is in October, and every year, the Women's Resource Center tries to organize something for K-State to do as a part of getting the word out about sexual violence, said Judy Davis, director of the Women's Resource Center.

Sexual Violence Awareness Week is a campus-wide event for K-State.

Davis said she hopes Devine's presentation and the other programs will leave a clear message to people who attend one of them.

"I would hope they come to a clear understanding of the consequences for all of us of coercive sexual activities," Davis said.

"I would also hope folks would come away with a better understanding of what we all can do to make this community a healthier place."

diplomacy, economics and psychology," Parillo said.

history, said it was a great thing for lecture," Davis said. "We rarely get

Ben Kristy, graduate student in history, said Showalter spoke to a sergeant, so you can't fall asleep," Kristy said. "He's a very dynamic

"He speaks almost like a drill

these opportunities."

speaker."

class of his on Monday.

the University and the department.

Mike Davis, graduate student in "This is my second Eisenhower

Reading to be informal

"It will be very informal - no blazing lights or anything like that," Howard said.

Armstrong and Howard may also be seen with three other actors from the London Stage performing Macbeth this weekend.

Macbeth William Shakespeare's exploration of flawed ambition, of the moral and psychological consequences of evil, according to the Kansas Art Commission.

This is the first visit by the troupe to K-State, Hedrick said. They have been in Kansas before, performing in Lawrence last year.

One of the main purposes of the duo's presentation is to make poetry fun, Hedrick said.

The actors comment, giving facts and figures along with the reading, he said.

"If people haven't been to a reading before, they'll be surprised at how entertaining they are," he

Hedrick said this will be one of the best readings K-State has ever

"This is a high-quality presentation, it's not available to every university," he said.

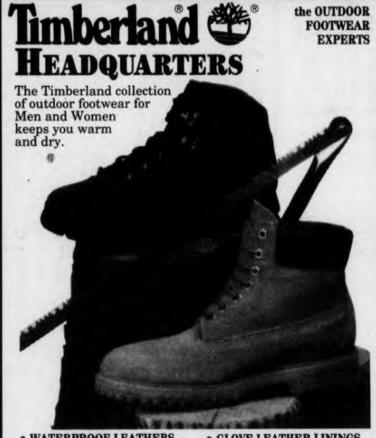

Hedrick said the presentation is being funded by the student fine arts fee, so admission is free.

"This will be a much better introduction to writing than that which your high school English instructor provided," Hedrick said.

Advertise in the K-State Collegian

- WATERPROOF LEATHERS Silicone impregnated, full-grain waterproof leather uppers.
   HEAT SEALED BOTTOMS

- bonds sole to upper so it can't leak...ever! GENUINE BRASS EYELETS
- GLOVE LEATHER LININGS
- in shaft and quarter.

  TRACTION SOLES stay flexible and skid-proof in sub-zero weather.

  STEEL SHANKS for all day
- COMFORT CONSTRUCTION

VISA • MASTERCARD • AM. EXPRESS • DISCOVER

Manhattan Town Center 537-6226

Sign up now in the UPC Office.

coffees from around the world

Tuesday afternoons 2:30pm - 4:30pm In Union Station Starting Oct. 18

UPC Outdoor Recreation Presents Rappelling at Tuttle Saturday and Sunday October 29 & 30 1:00-3:00 & 3:30-5:30

Eclectic Entertainment

Equipment, demonstrators and refresheshments provided for only $10. Sign up now in the UPC Office.

The CAMPOUT is back! Watch for the flag to go up outside of Ahearn and then come join the fun.

Night One: Get pumped for the K-State Basketball Season by watching the greatest basketball movie of all time - HOOSIERS
Night Two: Dance the night away to the sounds of local favorites - TURQUOISE SOL

Sponsored by UPC Special Events

UPC Special Events and Eclectic Entertainment present LIVE with guests WEEZER and FATIMA MANSIONS Monday, November 7 at Bramlage Coliseum Tickets on sale now For more information

call 532-6571.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN WEEKLY SPORTS SECTION

OCTOBER 19, 1994

STANDINGS Missouri Iowa State

BIG 8 FOOTBALI

Oklahoma at Kansas

When: 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22 Where: Memorial Stadium (50, 250)
About the Sooners: What has happened to the Sooners? Last week, they were smashed by Colorado 45-7 on ESPN. The Sooners' offense was ineffective, and Colorado ran all over the Oklahoma defense. OU coach Garry Gibbs could lose his job, and a loss to KU wouldn't help.

About the Jayhawks: KU rebounded with an impressive win over Iowa State in Ames. Running back June Henley returned after a shoulder injury, and quarterback Asheiki Preston played well with a rib injury. In fact, Preston is the second-rated quarterback in the Big Eight. KU's defense shut down the Cyclones' option attack last week and played well at times.

Nebraska at Missouri

When: 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22 Where: Faurot Field (62,000)

About the Cornhuskers: It wasn't pretty last week, but Nebraska continued to win. I-back Lawrence Phillips extended his 100-yard streak to seven straight games this season with 119 against K-State. NU's defense stuffed the K-State rushing attack to minus 7 yards, and held the Wildcats to just over 250 yards.

About the Tigers: Missouri finally won two road games in a row with a 24-15 victory over Oklahoma State in Stillwater. The Tiger defense stuffed OSU's offense the second half with a shutout. Quarterback Jeff Handy played well, and the Tigers had a formidable rushing game.

Iowa State at Okla. State

When: 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22 Where: Lewis Field (50,614)

About the Cyclones: Iowa State is still looking for a victory. Last week the Cyclones fell to the Jayhawks at home. The Cyclones' rushing attack never quite got going against KU, and the defense was run over. Coach Jim Walden could be looking for a new job next season.

About the Cowboys: OSU's best offensive play against Missouri was the draw play. That was about the only play that worked for the Cowboys, as the offense could never quite get on track. Two weeks ago, the Cowboys only scored three points, and the defense has given up more than 50 points the past two weeks.

BIG 8 LEADERS

RECEPTIONS PER GAME:

Tyson Schwieger, K-State, 5.20 J.J. Smith, K-State, 5

INTERCEPTIONS

Clyde Johnson, K-State, 3 Donnell Leoniti, Colorado, 3 Steve Rosga, Colorado, 3

Cats left seeing red against Nebraska

K-State receiver Kevin Lockett has a touchdown reception knocked out of his hands by Nebraska Cornerback Baron MARK LEFFINGWELL

K-State suffers an emotional loss to the Huskers

JEREMY CRABTREE

he Wildcats were so close, yet so far away from upsetting No. 2ranked Nebraska.

The final score shows the Cornhuskers won by 11 points, but the game remained close until the final minutes of the

INSIDE

▶ The Cats

travel to

Boulder to face No. 2

Colorado

on ESPN.

fourth quarter. In fact, the score was 7-6 with just more than 11 minutes left in the game, but Nebraska went on two 70plus-yard drives to make the final score 17-6.

With the loss, the Cats dropped to 1-1 in the Big Eight Conference, and the Cornhuskers improved to 2-0. The loss to the Cornhuskers was a big one, Coach Bill Snyder said. "Our team put a great deal of emphasis on this game," Snyder said. "I thought that we were capable of winning it, and so did our players. "We made a great investment in emotion, work and attitude. It just didn't pay off. Despite the final score, the Cats had several golden opportunities to win the ballgame, but not one ever panned out.

K-State running back J.J. Smith is smothered by Nebraska defenders in the Cats' loss to the Huskers. K-State finished with minus 7 yards in rushing.

"I thought that we were in the game Chad May threw his first interception of right up until the final gun," running back J.J. Smith said. "I kept thinking that the offense would make the big play. We were just a fraction of a second away on several plays from scoring."

One such opportunity was when the Wildcats drove the ball from their 28yard line, only to miss a 38-yard field

The field goal would have given the Cats a 9-7 lead.

"Obviously, that's pretty big," Snyder said. "Playing against that football team at the present time with a lead is a lot different than being behind."

Another blown K-State scoring opportunity came when quarterback

K-State had just driven the ball to the Huskers' 22-yard line with two long pass completions to receiver Mitch Running.

Then, May lined up in the shot-gun formation. After receiving the snap, May rolled slightly to his right, and then he released a bullet pass.

However, the pass came to rest in Nebraska linebacker Troy Dumas' hands. Dumas rumbled 54 yards with the interception to halt the K-State scoring

"He didn't see him," Snyder said. "There were some people in his way, and he didn't see him."

May said he wished he could have Dumas' arms. "They tried to get pressure on me, and some guys came untouched," May said.

'Sometimes, I couldn't see where I was throwing the ball." With the interception, May broke a had the pass back after he threw it into string of 148 consecutive passes without an interception. That is a Big Eight Conference record.

Late in the third quarter, Chris Canty recovered a Nebraska fumble to give the Cats the ball at the Cornhuskers' 33-yard

However, after a running play and two incompletions later, the Cats were forced to punt. "This situation was just too good,"

Snyder said. "There were so many opportunities for us, and we didn't cash in. That's us. "We didn't execute offensively. We would get a little movement in our offense and then shoot ourselves in the foot. We made some mistakes, but I'm not making excuses."

For the game, the K-State offense racked up just 242 yards; 249 yards of the Cats' yardage came on passing, but K-State finished with minus 7 yards rushing.

That was 100 yards below the Cats' average for total offense on the season.

Another reason for the Cornhuskers' victory had to do with the field-position

For most of the game, the Cats were stuck near their own end zone. In fact, in the second half, the Cats' average starting point on offense was at their own

■ See KICKING Page 4

Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

Where The Extras Don't Cost Extra

KSU vs. Colorado October 22, 1994

Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

Where The Extras Don't Cost Extra

FOTBALL MINISTRACT

JULIE KUHLMAN

Collegian

oan Friederich, the football office's main secretary, is a mother away from home to K-State football players.

However, Friederich said she prides herself in being someone players and their parents can talk to.

"I know all the players and become acquainted with those that are being recruited and their parents," Friederich said.

"I tell their mothers if they have any concerns, they can call me," she said.

"I'm a mother too, and I know they have to be concerned." she said.

concerned," she said.

Friederich said she still keeps in touch with about football players.

"There are a lot of players that are very near and dear to me," she said. "When some players are gone, they occasionally call the office."

a dozen of the former K-State occasionally call the office.

"They are glad to hear my voice and know that some things haven"t changed."

things haven't changed."
Friederich has spent 22 years with the K-State football program.

Her involvement with the football program actually began in 1971, but it wasn't until 1973 she was asked to be the assistant coach's secretary.

She was working part-time in the ticket office when ticket manager Carol Adolph asked Friederich if she could fill in at the office during enrollment.

In January of 1973, she was asked to work permanently in the office and eight years later became the head coach's secretary.

Her duties include taking calls for current Coach

Bill Snyder, doing correspondence, working with the administrative assistant and checking on those thisand-that things she said will happen in the office.

Friederich said she is very lucky to have her job.

"I'd be bored to death at any other job," she said.

She said her job has given her the opportunity to work with a lot of good people, including coaches Vince Gibson, Ellis Rainsberger, Jim Dickey, Lee Moon, Stan Parrish and presently, Snyder.

"All of the coaches have been extremely nice to me," Friederich said.

"I wouldn't change anything about those years except we didn't win," she said.

"I felt really bad when Parrish was here," she said.

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

Joan Friederich, the football office's main secretary, has worked in the K-State football office for 22 years. Friederich's jobs include taking head football coach Bill Snyder's phone calls, doing correspondence, working with the administrative assistant and other odd jobs.

Friederich said the reason teams have done better in 1982 (the season the Cats went to the Independence Bowl) and the past couple years is because of attitude and campraderie because of attitude and camaraderie.

"When you go from 0-11 to what we are now, the attitude is better," she said.

"Players' attitudes have improved with Coach Snyder's attitude," Friederich said.

"Snyder's signed a long-term contract, and I certainly hope he stays."

She said the present team's camaraderie is as good as the '82 team.

"They are just all so close," she said, "They're

"They are just all so close," she said. "They're like a family. I don't have any favorite players."

However, Friederich said she thinks linebacker Mike Ekeler is special. "I think that he is really cute," Friederich said.
"He's a great guy."

Friederich said the highlight of her 22 years was the Copper Bowl victory.

"When we went and won and had 15,000 fans there, it was just so exciting."

Friederich said she follows the team performances closely and tries to drive to the away games with her daughter, one of her three children who have graduated from K-State.

She said she doesn't go because she feels it's an obligation.

"I really care about our players," she said. "Oh, and I love sports."

Friederich said she usually gets to the office about

Then, she said she leaves and listens to "Cat Chat" on the radio.

Weekends are usually hectic for Friederich as well.

"There's always something going on," she said. "I like to work."

Her work as well as her presence in the office is appreciated.

Kevin Colon, the academic counselor for the football team, said Friederich is an important to the

"She is our battery, our Die-Hard," Colon said.
Friederich said she plans to keep right on working, too.

"I would like to work at least 7-8 more years,"

8 a.m. and usually doesn't leave until 6 p.m. she said. "I've got a lot of life left in me."

Journal Journa

through subscriptions to the Wildcat Watch in Wednesday's Collegian.

Thanks for your continued support of the Wildcats and K-State.

wildcat
Watch
and the K-State Collegian
103 Kedzie Hall 532-6555

the wildcats

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK!

Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Wednesday, Oct. 19

The Engish Society 6:00 p.m.

Pakistan Student Association
7:20 p.m.

IEEE 8:00 p.m.

Off campus make-up

Oct. 19 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and 4-8p.m. in Union 209

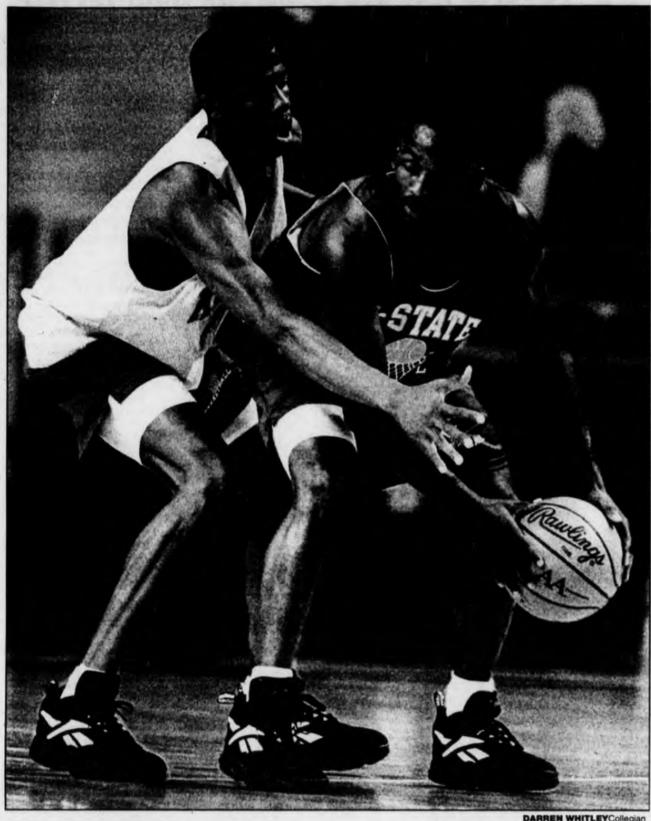

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

Beginning of the Asbury era

Junior guard Brian Gavin backs in against a defender during Midnight Madness, which was K-State's first practice.

New coach opens practice with late-night scrimmage

NICOLE POELL

This is Tom Asbury's favorite time of year.

After five months of waiting and wondering, the new man in charge of K-State's men's basketball finally gets to coach his team.

"We're really looking forward to this particular stage of the year - the start of practice," Asbury said at last Thursday's first basketball media day of the season.

"Now is the time of year that you go into coaching to do," he said. "Most coaches thrive on being in a practice element and environment, and most of us are teachers, so this is what's really fun and exciting."

Asbury isn't the only one who's excited about the season - his players share that same sentiment.

"I really like the enthusiasm we have." freshman guard Aaron Swartzendruber said.

'Everyone's enthused about the year and the new style, run and gun, so it's going to be exciting. I can't wait to get it going and start working hard."

The Wildcats will definitely have to work hard this year if they want to prove the pre-season predictions wrong.

Two of the biggest negative factors cited in these pre-season predictions are the Cats' relatively small size and the return of just two starters from last season, prompting most of the early basketball publications to rank the Cats near the bottom of the Big Eight Conference.

While

necessarily please Asbury, he they indicate they're in better said he doesn't put importance in the pre-season polls.

"For our coaching staff, and where I've been previously, being picked lower than second would be kind of an upsetting issue with us," he said.

"From what I understand by the pre-season publications, though, I think we're going to be picked a little lower than second this year. I know football has been picked generally much lower than they've been ending up lately, and for whatever reason, it's just not very important where you are picked."

These low-expectations don't seem to phase the players much, either. In fact, this underdog status acts has a motivating effect, some said.

"We were picked last or second-to-last two years ago, and we went to the NCAA Tournament," Kevin Lewis, sophomore center, said. "Being the underdog is alright with me - it just makes me go out and play harder."

Senior Belvis Noland said he agrees.

"I don't really personally look at the rankings," Noland said. "They really don't prove anything. If we just work hard during practice like we did this pre-season, things will work out for us. We won't end up at the bottom of the list just because we started there."

One of the ways Asbury is working to ensure the Cats don't finish there is his development of a stronger conditioning program, with an emphasis on weight training.

'Our players are probably in better condition, at least condition, than previous years," Asbury said:

"Obviously, they're stronger, because we've spent a great deal of time in the weight room. I've really emphasized that part of it, so we were pleased with how that went.

The players say they can already tell a difference in their game after focusing on this weight training.

"I knew that in order for me to play in the Big Eight, I had to buff up and put a little weight on this summer, so I just worked hard and did a lot of lifting on my own," Lewis

"I think it'll pay off. I'm already able to tell a difference out here scrimmaging with the guys."

Senior Demond Davis said with Asbury's new style of play, time in the weight room is even more vital.

"As you can see, we don't have too much size, so the weight room is very important," he said. "Conditioning overall is going to be very important, because we're playing a new style this year."

Just how well this new style will work is still a mystery to both Asbury and his team. But Asbury said he will have a clearer picture of the future after these initial two to three weeks.

"Probably one of the mostasked questions I get is, 'How do you think your team's going to look?' and honestly, I don't know right now," he said. I'll be able to answer that question more candidly in two to three weeks."

COLORADO PREVIEW

Buffaloes will provide tough challenge for K-State

The Cats' game against Colorado will be televised by ESPN at 6:30 p.m.

Last 'year in Manhattan, it took a late field goal by K-State's Tate Wright to tie the score at 16-16 and avoid a ninth-consecutive loss to

This year, the game will be played at Boulder, Colo., where the No. 2-ranked Buffaloes hold a 22-2 advantage over the Playing a top-25 team will be nothing new for the Buffaloes, as the game will mark the fifth time in seven ballgames in which they have faced a ranked opponent.

"Based on the schedule that Colorado has played, and how they have played so well against quality teams, I would be hard pressed to think that there is a better team in the country right now," K-State coach Bill Snyder said.

The Buffaloes seem to be a team of destiny as they are 6-0, including two dramatic last second wins over Michigan on a hail-mary pass and Texas on a field goal.

Colorado is coming off a 45-7 bombing of the then-No. 22 ranked Oklahoma Sooners.

Snyder said the domination of the Sooners by the Buffaloes was no mirage. "They have tremendous personnel and an excellent scheme and they're so balanced," Snyder said. "You can't do much more with a football team than what they do. Colorado's offense is led by two, legitimate

Heisman Trophy candidates in quarterback Kordell Stewart and running back Rashaan Stewart has 83 completions for 1,512 yards passing on the year and 318 yards rushing, while Salaam leads the nation in rushing with 175.7 yards per game and scoring with 96

"Kordell Stewart is as fine as there is," Snyder said. "He presents that combination threat of being able to run and throw.

"If you try to stop the run, you have to put an extra guy in there, and that's near suicide as far as the pass goes.' Salaam had four touchdowns and 161 yards performance entitled him to the Big Eight Conference's Player-of-the-Week award for the second time this year. "I feel real blessed to be up for the on 25 carries in the Oklahoma game. The Heisman," Salaam said. "But I've got other goals. I want to help this team to be 11-0 come Jan. 1, and I want us to be national champs. "If the Heisman comes, that's great."

Snyder said Salaam deserves to be considered for the Heisman trophy.

"He's got extreme quickness, excellent speed, and a very sufficient weight that many backs don't have," Snyder said. "Consequently, he can run with a lot of explosive power.'

All-American candidates Michael Westbrook, wide receiver, and Christian Fauria, tight end, are the main participants in the passing game.

Fauria leads the team in receptions with 22 catches for 202 yards and Westbrook is close behind with 17 catches for 356 yards.

"They're very strong at tight end, which they have been for the last several years," Snyder said. "They also have wide receivers with great speed and leaping ability."

The Buffaloes' offensive line has been a force so far this year, anchored by Outland Trophy candidate Tony Berti, and two-year starters Derek West at tackle and Bryan Stoltenberg at center.

■ See COLORADO Page 4

Cats focus on Colorado after 1st loss

WESS HUDELSON

After losing possibly the biggest game in the Bill Snyder era, K-State now confronts its biggest challenge of the Snyder era — facing the Colorado Buffaloes at Boulder, Colo.

"He have just got to put this behind us, and turn it around," Snyder said. "We can't lick our wounds because we only have six or seven days and have to do it again." For the second consecutive week, the Wildcats will face the nation's second-best team. Colorado sits at No. 2 in the Associated Press poll and No. 3 in the USA Today/CNN Coaches' Poll. For the third-straight week, K-State will appear on national television (ESPN 6:30 p.m.).

All of this comes on the heels of K-State's first loss in its last seven games - not to mention its first loss at home since 1991.

The last team to beat the Cats in Manhattan was, of course, Colorado

"Right now, we just have to bounce back," defensive back Chris Canty

"I think we proved we can play with the best of them, though." Most of the players who appeared at the post-game press conference echoed Canty's sentiments.

'We just really have to suck it up,' running back," J.J. Smith said.

"We have to suck it up right now probably more than we ever have. We have a pretty tough team. This will show how we can bounce back."

After dropping a wide-open 45-28 game at Nebraska last season, the Cats played the Buffaloes to a 16-16 tie. K-State then defeated Oklahoma 21-

- both games were at home at KSU Stadium.

In 1992, after being crushed by Kansas at Lawrence, the Cats spiraled downward, losing to Utah State," Colorado and Oklahoma, consecutively.

"We came out to win, we expected to win, but we just didn't come through," Smith said.

Perhaps the performance of the Cats' defense gives them more confidence going into the Colorado

Despite allowing 10 points in the fourth quarter, K-State limited Nebraska to 262 yards of total offense. Last season, the Huskers rolled up offense "Everybody is frustrated because we lost," linebacker Percell Gaskins said.

391 yards rushing and 545 yards total

"We're just going to have to work hard this week and pull ourselves up."

K-State could also take consolation in the number of close calls in the

In the third quarter, receiver Kevin Lockett was tripped by cornerback . Barron Miles.

A flag was thrown apparently to call pass interference, but the penalty was waved off because the ball was considered uncatchable.

"We had some unbelievably near misses," Snyder said.

"However, close doesn't count. We didn't good enought to beat Nebraska, not with all of the mistakes that we

After being poked in the eye during a pile up, quarterback Chad May threw his first interception of the season. He had thrown 188 passes since the last time he was intercepted, dating back to last season. May said he had trouble seeing his receivers on the play. "They were pressuring me," May said. "They were in my face, and that forced me to throw a bad pass.'

However, Snyder said the pressure was the cause for the interception. "He didn't see him," Snyder said.

"They were all in his face, and he just couldn't see."

Colorado quarterback Kordell Stewart is being considered as a Heisman Trophy candidate. SHANE KEYSER

Colorado vulnerable to the pass

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

The biggest key to the game could be whether the defenses can stop each team's high powered offense.

Colorado coach Bill McCartney said despite all of his weapons on offense, he is still worried about being able to put points on the board against the Cats.

"Defensively, they really know what they're doing, and they have established themselves as a real strong defensive team," McCartney

"At the beginning of the year, I was curious to see how they would react with a new secondary, but they've just picked up right where they left off."

McCartney said his own team's defense has bent throughout the year, but they haven't broken.

"We've played against some good offenses and contained them," McCartney said.

"No offense has really had their way with us.

"We haven't been a dominant defense, but we've been more of a containing defense.

McCartney said his defense's. performance against Oklahoma was its best of the year.

"We dominated in all phases of the game," McCartney said.

Oklahoma has a lot of offensive weapons, but we never let them get anything going.'

Defensively, the Buffaloes rely on Ted Johnson, inside linebacker. who leads the team with 71 tackles and two quarterback sacks.

Tackle Shannon Clavelle, who earned first-team all-Big Eight honors last year, has 39 tackles on the year and two sacks.

McCartney said he is concerned whether his secondary will be able to contain the Cats' strong passing

"Oklahoma is predominately a running team, and that probably plays to our strengths," McCartney

"We've been more vulnerable through the air than on the ground, and at times, we've been inconsistent getting pressure on the quarterback."

McCartney said his team is not looking past the Cats towards the Nebraska game the following week.

"All you have to do is look at Kansas State on film and look at their weapons, then you develop a real healthy respect for them," McCartney said.

"They are a very dangerous

Another leader for the Buffaloes is cornerback Chris Hudson. Hudson was an all-Big Eight selection last season.

Hudson was also tabbed as an all-American canidate this season, and he was an unaminous preseason all-league selection.

▶ VOLLEYBALL

Wildcats miss opportunity to improve record, but break streak against NU

CRESTON KUENZI

It was a disappointing week for the K-State volleyball team.

The Wildcats could have filled many should haves, could haves and would haves this "We can play past week. with any top-Take the 10 team in the Cats' match country. When Nebraska on Nov. 2 rolls Wednesday. around, they It might better watch have been the greatest out." win in the history of K-State volleyball if they would have beaten the Cornhuskers.

After winning their first game against the Cornhuskers since 1987, 15-13, the Wildcats went on to lose the next three games, 15-2, 15-5 and 15-6.

JILL DUGAN

K-State volleyball player

Jill Dugan, middle blocker, said she thinks K-State has a good chance of beating the Cornhuskers in Lincoln, Neb.

"We can play with any top-10 team in the country," Dugan said. "When Nov. 2 rolls around, they better watch out.

"If we can become more consistent, they're in trouble." It should have been an easy two wins for the Cats at the Wichita State Triangular last weekend.

However, the Cats came out of the triangular with a 1-1 record. The first opponent of the Cats was Creighton, who entered the tournament with a losing record.

Though the Cats didn't play well, they managed to beat the Blue Jays 15-7, 16-14 and 15-2.

"We absolutely played awful against Creighton," Coach Jim Moore said. "We're having a difficult time playing against teams that we know we can beat right now.' The Cats had an even more difficult time in the second match as they lost in four to Wichita State 13-15, 13-15, 15-11 and 14-16. "We came out flat and we came out thinking it would be easy," Moore said. "It took too long for us to get going, and they took advantage.' Moore said his team could have beaten Wichita State if they played better in the match against Creighton.

"I think that was part of the problem," Moore said. "We needed to get off to a good start and we

Moore said Yolanda Young played well in the loss.

"Toy (Yolahda) played well, especially towards the end," Moore

"I think she ended up with 26 kills and 22 digs in the match."

VOLLEYBALL STATS

■ K-State defeated Creighton 15-

7, 16-14 and 15-2.

■ The Cats will play lowa State

■ Wichita State defeated K-State 13-15, 13-15, 15-11, and 14-6.

tonight in Ames at 7:30 p.m. ■ The Cyclones have a 14-5 record this season.

The one win and two losses during the week took the Cats' overall record to 11-6 and their Big Eight conference record to 2-2.

The Cats will attempt to bounce back tonight when they take on

"We've seen them on tape and they are very good," Moore said.

"I know they've beat Kansas and Oklahoma.

"They also went four with Nebraska.

The Cyclones have all six of their starters returning from last year's team, which went 5-7 in the conference for a fourth-place finish. The Cyclones are 14-5 overall this year and 3-2 in the conference.

The Cats and Cyclones square off in Ames at 7:30 p.m. The Cats then play against Oklahoma.

Kicking game costly to the Cats

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

26-vard line. The Cats' average starting point in the third quarter was the 20-yard line.

'We have moved the ball against Nebraska, and made big plays in recent years," Snyder'said. "We had no big plays at all, and we needed them because we were working out of the shadow of the goal line."

The K-State punting game also put the Cats at disadvantage.

After the Nebraska defense held K-State on their first possession, the Cats punted the ball. The only problem was that K-State's punt only traveled 31 yards.

After a 14-yard return, the Cornhuskers had the ball at the 28yard line. Seven plays later, Nebraska scored their first

K-State's other short punts were doesn't count.'

31 yards, 16 yards and 33 yards.

"Our special teams play is suspect at best," Snyder said. "We've got a problem. That's discipline and being able to do things right."

With so many breakdowns in all aspects of the game, Snyder said the Cats didn't deserve to win.

"Nebraska was a better football team today," he said. "Close

▶ TENNIS

K-State all-American captures 1st place at the Hoosier Classic

Bloomington, Ind., was good to the K-State women's tennis team. The Hoosier Classic brought the team a first-place victory from all-

American Karina Kuregian. The Cats also got a third-place finish by freshman Dinah Watson in No. 1 singles. "Dinah Watson's win was significant because both of her two wins were against the No. 1 people on the two squads," Coach Steve

Watson beat Rachel Epstein of ndiana 6-2.6-4 and Maria Torres of Arkansas, 6-2, 2-6 and 6-4. "Dinah is new, so I don't know if she has an idea of the significance of a good win," Bietau said. "A lot is sinking in for her." Kuregian entered the tournament ranked No. 16 in the nation and as the top-ranked player in the field of No. 1 singles. She beat Meredith Chiles of Vanderbilt 6-0, 6-2 in the championship match. "I knew, at some point in this tournament, she would begin to play pretty well, and that's what happened during the championship match," Bietau said.

Kuregian lost only one set in her victories during the tournament, and the tournament win is her first since returning from back surgery last summer.

The doubles team of Kuregian and Karen Nicholson placed third in their No. 1 doubles division by beating Alabama's top doubles team, 6-4, 6-4 and Missouri's doubles team, 7-5, 6-2.

Their only loss came from Vanderbilt, who they played close in the first set 5-7, but they were overpowered by in the second, 1-6.

The Wildcats also got victories from Martine Shrubsole in No. 4 singles and Nikki Lagerstrom, who notched up a win in No. 5 singles. .

Shrubsole knocked off Kelly Squires from Miami of Ohio, 6-3, 6-3 in the championship match of the consolation bracket to claim fourth place in her division, while Lagerstrom beat Rachel Johnson of Baylor 6-2, 6-1.

"Both of those players had a ery good tournament," Bietau fell in No. 3 singles to Lee Ann Rostovsky of Indiana to 6-3, 6-3.

This dropped her record to 3-3

"We had a very strong performance this weekend," Bietau

"Several players had an outstanding tournament, The 4-1 Kuregian will leave this week for the Riviera All-American Tournament, a premier tournament

"Last year, she had to play 7-8 qualifying matches to get into the tournament, and this year, she gets straight in," she said.

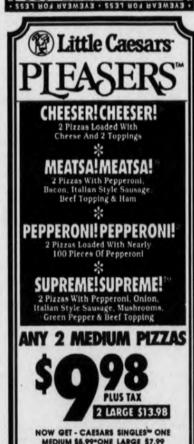

Bietau said she will play one round on Thursday and will play on Friday, regardless if she wins or loses and goes into the consolation

NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES" ONE MEDIUM $8.99" ONE LARGE $7.99

14 oz. T-Bone 8 oz. K.C. Strip Baked Potato

Salad & Toast 6 Years The Place For The Original Steak Night!

Beers Open 11 a.m. Mon.-Sat. til the party's over!

$2.50 Big Bob

37-8383 • Candlewood Manhattan

The victories gave Shrubsole a 3-3 singles record on the year, while Lagerstrom moved to 2-3.

K-State freshman Chris Schulte

Overall, Bietau said he was impressed with the team's effort at the Classic as a whole.

in college tennis.

Mr. Goodcents gives you... Sub specials every day w/ choice of chips, potato salad or pasta salad. For just MR. GOODCENTS

KSU Bakery Science Club BAKE SALE TODAY! 3-5 p.m. Shellenberger Hall First Floor

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store) • 539-1900

(NO coupon needed, NONE accepted) "No Coupon" Specials Everyday Everyday Two-fers Three-fers 2 - PIZZAS with - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each TOPPING each 2 - COKES with ice COKES with ice $10.34

Pizza Shuttle

OCTOBER 20, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 43

Two batteries reported near campus

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

At 11:43 p.m. Tuesday, three anonymous female subjects, all from the same sorority, reported being involved in two batteries that occurred on the 500 block of Sunset Avenue.

The girls said that four unidentified males driving a four-door white vehicle with the headlights turned off were responsible for the incidents.

The first incident, occurring shortly after 6 p.m., involved only one of the girls.

She was walking alone to get her car in order, to attend a meeting. The vehicle in question drove up to her and, with two of the males leaning out the side of the car, the males began grabbing at her.

They weren't being serious, but kind of saying threatening things, she said.

At around 11:30 p.m. the same night, the two other girls were walking together along Sunset Avenue when the same car drove up from behind and harassed them.

One of the women said the headlights of the car were not on, so the car was friend scream and then saw the car drive off with one of the male subjects hanging out of the passenger side window. He was holding a long, cylindrical object, supposedly used to shoot the insides of a pumpkin on her friend.

The female subject who received the pumpkin insides on her sweatshirt said the male subject

"It's hard for me to talk

"It happened very fast. We watched it (the car) drive away, but I couldn't tell you even what the car looked like," she said.

The three females reported the incidents at 11:43 p.m. Afterward, Officer Tim Schrag, of the K-State Police, came and talked to the females about

According to the females, Officer Schrag said the incidents could have taken place due to gang initiations, someone targeting their specific sorority, or just a Halloween prank.

She said she heard her grabbed her.

about," she said.

Campus police had no comment.

FORT RILEY

Troops deployed for media assistance

CORI CORNELISON

A five-member troop from Fort Riley was deployed to Kuwait

Monday morning. The 19th Public Affairs Detachment will be responsible for keeping American troops already stationed in Kuwait aware of world events, Mark Meseke, media relations officer of Fort Riley, said. They will also escort the press and help keep them informed and safe, he said. Meseke said it was uncertain how long the troops would be in Kuwait. Troops receive a warning order before they are deployed anywhere.

"As of now, there are no other Fort Riley troops that have received a warning order," Meseke said.

Fort Riley troops are carrying out regularly scheduled training and field

■ See PRACTICE Page 10

Eric McPeak, senior in life sciences and chairman of the Athletic Ticket Sales Committee, informs ticket campers that they cannot camp out or leave their couches in front of Ahearn Field House overnight. The flag will be raised between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. sometime in the near future.

STEVE HEBERT Collegian

What? You mean it's the wrong flag?

Prank flag posted, fans wait for the real thing to go up

CORI CORNELISON

In the early hours of the morning Wednesday, someone tried to start the annual camp-out for basketball tickets early by raising a black flag.

Although there's no sign of the purple K-State flag kicking off the camp-out, there are anxious fans waiting outside Ahearn Field House, and they're not leaving until an official flag goes up.

"Our plan is to come every day," Jason Larison, senior in education, said. "We'll be here till it goes

The flag will be going up sometime between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., Eric McPeak, chairman of the Athletic Ticket Sales Committee, said. A fake flag was raised between 12 p.m. and 12:30 a.m., Tuesday night, McPeak said. Basically, what we had last night was a prankster," McPeak said. The official camp-out flag will be purple, and the one Tuesday night was black, he said. "There was a black flag hanging up this morning, and the Athletic Department came and took it down," Nick Holmes, freshman in accounting, said.

People can wait outside for the flag to be raised from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., but they can't spend the night or pitch tents, McPeak said.

'We came this morning at 7:30 a.m. We've been here everyday since last week," Holmes said.

'We've been coming here every day from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. since last Monday," Larison said. Larison said he doesn't think it is fair for people like him, who have been waiting for the flag to go up every day, to be beat in line by someone who has only come a couple of days. "It seems like every day more and more people come," Larison said. "It would be nice if they could put up the flag early in the month to keep people "I don't think waiting for the flag should be couches and stuff," he said. "I think it's gotten out of Larison said this is the first year he has chosen to camp out for basketball tickets. "I'm fed up enough with the special interest and living organizations and I-CAT," he said. "To me, a basketball fan is not a fan who pays $20 extra.'

"I don't think that's what our football and basketball players play for," he said. "If the campout committee would have published rules of the camp-out like they should have to normal dormitory students, there wouldn't be any confusion."

Ticket campers James Billinger and Matt Vietti, both freshmen in business, relax on a couch in front of Ahearn Field House.

BASKETBALL IN BRAMLAGE

Croatia Marathon Basketball Nov. 11

exhibition

Wisconsin-Parkside first home game

► HEALTH

Cheaper flu shots keep you healthy

TRINA HOLMES

With the onset of the flu season approaching in late November, Lafene Health Center will be offering flu shots to students and faculty members at a discounted

Dr. Guy Smith, medical director of Lafene, said the flu shot is important for anybody with chronic conditions, such as asthma.

"Even if people only have occasional trouble with asthma, if they get influenza, it can cause their asthma to become very severe and be very difficult to treat," Smith

Times - 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.; 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Place — Lafene Health Center, room 121.

should be vaccinated every year.

LAFENE OFFERS FLU SHOTS

Only a single flu shot is needed each season for persons 9 years and older.

Dates - Oct. 19 and 20; Oct. 31 and Nov. 1; Nov. 10 and 11.

(You must bring a K-State ID card and pay by cash or check.)

The viruses that cause the flu change frequently, so people

Price - $5.25 for students; $8.25 for faculty and staff.

Influenza's damaging effects on the airways is what makes it dangerous for people with asthma, Smith said.

"Your trouble with asthma is that your airways tend to overrespond to irritation, and that irritation can also be an infection," "In other words, it can trigger a very severe asthma condition that a person really can't get control of until they get over the influenza," Smith said.

"Influenza can make people sick for two to three weeks, so that can be a significant illness for them,"

DAVE OLSON/Collegian

Karen Way, senior in biology and pre-medicine, said she thinks she gets sick more because of her

"It complicates everything," Way said. "My nose runs more, I cough more, I wheeze more - I notice the wheezing a lot - and I get tired more."

Way said she had been skeptical of the vaccinations in the past because she heard that they only worked for some people, but she decided to get one from Lafene this year because of its convenience.

"I never really believed that they worked before, but I figure I might as well try it," she said. "It's been more publicized, and I figure nothing can hurt me any more.' Besides asthma victims, Smith said the athletic teams at K-State are another group that is urged to get vaccinated. "Every year, I've always been working with one or two or several of the sports teams, and when we've used it, we've never had a problem with influenza," Smith said. "Sometimes coaches haven't wanted to use it, and we've had a problem."

Because the influenza virus changes from year to year, Smith

■ See SHOTS Page 10

► STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Registration drive draws low numbers

TERRY SCRUTON

Student Governing Association registered 94 people during a voter-registration drive Tuesday. Booths were set up in the Union and in each of the three residence-hall dining centers.

"I look at it this way," Derek Kreifels, chairman of the Legislative Affairs Committee, said, "turnout was not as high as was expected, but if we got one person registered and interested in voting, it was worth the process."

Susie Hernandez, who registers students in the SGA office, said that about 200 students have registered since the beginning of the semester.

One reason for these low numbers may be the fact that many students are already registered to vote in their hometowns. Some students aren't sure whether they are registered or not.

"I believe I am," Ken Smith, junior in chemical engineering, said. "My wife is getting all of the political pamphlets. There haven't been any addressed to me, so I'm going to check.'

to have the same reason. "I just haven't had time," Rebecca Hofelt, freshman in animal science and pre-veterinary

As for those who aren't registered, most seem medicine, said. There is still time to register. The deadline is Oct. 24. Absentee-ballot applications must be

Students can register at the SGA office or at the Riley County Courthouse, Manhattan Public Library or Dillons.

SENATE AGENDA

This is the agenda for the Student Senate meeting scheduled for 6 p.m. today in the K-State Union.

Clinton Brauer arts and sciences Becky Katzenmeir education Student Attorney Advisory Board

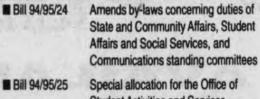

■ College Republicans ■ Native American Student Body

Brian Hess

■ Circle K International Asian American Students for Intercultural Awareness

■ Hispanic American Leadership Organization New Business

Student Activities and Services -$481.72 to fund new copier contract Allocation of EOF monies to the College ■ Bill 94/95/26 of Veterinary Medicine for tutoring

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ VICTIMS OF ALCOHOL-RELATED FATALITIES REMEMBERED BY STUDENTS

A lot of students were wearing black Wednesday. Some of them couldn't even speak

Many people probably thought there was a funeral on campus. In a sense, there was

Students dressed in black to support "Wear If You Care Day," an event sponsored by Boost Alcohol Consciousness Concerning the Health of University Students.

The day is set aside to remember the 92 people killed in alcoholrelated accidents in Kansas last

Some students also wore signs saying they were unable to speak for the day because they represented one of those 92 people

Last year, the group sponsored "White Faces Day," in which people were asked to paint their faces white for the same reason.

Christine Farr, B.A.C.C.H.U.S. secretary, said they wanted to try a different approach this year.

"People felt that the white faces drew too much attention to them." Farr said. "This is making more of a statement, and it's easier to do."

Farr said wearing black has a different meaning than the white

"The white faces were supposed to represent ghosts of those who died," she said. "In wearing black, you represent a shadow of that person."

Last year, only three people participated. Farr said this year's day has gotten a much better response.

"Eleven of 18 people in my first class were wearing black," she said. "Some people stopped to read the sign I was wearing, and some asked why I was wearing black."

Farr said this year's response was due to better publicity. They distributed flyers to the residence halls. Greek Affairs, and even went to the Student Governing Association.

"I think people were a lot more aware this year," she said.

In conjunction with "Wear If You Care Day," BACCHUS is co-sponsoring a lecture by Michael Buckingham at 7 p.m. today, in K-State Union Station.

Buckingham is a Washington State patrolman who was nearly killed in a car chase with a drunken driver.

TERRY SCRUTON

► PATROLMAN SURVIVES ACCIDENT, SENDS MESSAGE: DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

Michael Buckingham, a Washington State patrolman, almost died from injuries sustained while in pursuit of a drunken driver.

He will be talking about his experience at 7 p.m. today in the K-State Union Station as part of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week.

Roxanne Ayotte, assistant director of K-State's Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service, said she hopes students will walk away from Buckingham's presentation and realize they need to take personal responsibility for their actions.

"We hope students will come away with a greater awareness of the dangers of drinking and driving and look at their own lives and evaluate them more closely," Ayotte said

"We hope they will practice the message of using designated drivers or not driving if they've been drinking," she said.

The message is also a good reminder that nobody is invincible, Avotte said.

"It's important because we tend to forget sometimes that these tragedies can occur," she said.

"We're all still young enough to think we're infallible - that we can't get hurt. A lot of times, we know of others who've been in accidents and say 'That can't happen to me.' It's good to be reminded that yes, it can." Avotte said.

Bill Arck, director of K-State's Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service, said he hopes the speech will affect some students' choices down the road.

"I hope after hearing him, they'll say, 'Maybe I'd best not drink at all if I'll be driving," Arck said.

"There are a lot of other options too, like designated drivers, serving non-alcoholic beverages or lowalcoholic beverages and not leaving a party if you've been drinking," Arck said.

Buckingham's message goes beyond the drinking and driving issue, though, he said.

"He's very much physically disfigured, and when you first hear him talking, you see him and don't really hear what he's saying much," Arck said.

"After a while, you stop focusing on how he looks and actually hear what he's saying. You notice the person he is - how full of life he is." he said.

Arck said Buckingham's speech makes people realize how.trivial some of their everyday concerns

"We all worry about how our hair looks, but after hearing him speak, you realize how you look is not that big of a deal," Arck said. 'The kind of person you are is much more important."

Buckingham will be giving three presentations today because he likes to speak to people and do as much as he can for them, Arck "It's not like we're paying him thousands of dollars to do this." Arck said. "Basically, we're sponsoring his transportation, room and board and not paying him to speak.

"To get a speaker of his caliber, we'd usually pay hundreds to thousands of dollars, and he's doing it basically for free - he's doing it from his heart."

K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 18

At 11:43 p.m., two anonymous female subjects reported being battered at the 500 block of Sunset Avenue at around 6:30

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19

At 2:07 a.m., Kevin Gebhardt, 933 Haymaker Hall, reported criminal damage to his car parked in Lot A-14. The amount of damage is unknown. At 11:01 a.m., Sara Labbe, 1209 Chrysler Drive, Wamego.

reported being battered in park-subjects.

p.m. Numerous male subjects in a white car verbally and physically harassed the two female ing Lot D-IE At 12:34 p.m., Lillian Hinkson, 2136 Halls Landing. reported an off-campus theft of her parking permit #13900. Loss was $5.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 18

At 9:04 p.m., Joan Lebo. A female friend reportedly was 1760 5th Road, Wakefield, was being held at gunpoint by a relatinvolved in a non-injury, majored male subject. damage vehicle accident with a 4711 Harbour Hills Drive, was

At 9:34 p.m., Timothy Norman, 313 S. Riley St., was involved in a non-injury, nondamaging vehicle accident with a

At 10:03 p.m., Francis Byrd reported aggravated assault in progress in the 1000 Block of Yuma Street, in the South alley

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19

At 6:15 p.m., Robert Gleen was issued a notice to appear for Belyea, 916 Vattier St., Apt. A, transporting an open container.

her vehicle rolled over. At 11:26 p.m., Steel Truett, 16090 Sherman Road, Leonardville, was involved in a involved in a non-injury, major-damage vehicle accident when

At 11:01 p.m., Tana Henton, cle accident with a deer.

non-injury, major-damage vehi-

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS I

The deadline for applications to the Community Service Program International Teams has been extended to Oct. 21. Applications are still available. For more information, call 532-

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

BULLETINS ....

- Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual Student Development Group meets from 1:30 to 3 p.m. today in Lafene 238.
- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- K'State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
  - Al-Anon will meet at 5 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 1.
  - Icthus will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 212.
  - Horticulture Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in
- KSU Horsemen's Association will have an executive meeting
- at 6 p.m. in Weber 146. The general meeting will be at 6:30 p.m.
- K-State Students for Slattery will meet at 4:30 p.m. today in Union 204.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a Resume Critique Session at 3:30 p.m. today in Holtz 107B.
- Association of Collegiate Entrepreneurs will meet at 6 p.m. today in the Union Council Chambers.
- Rotaract will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union 205.
- Pre-Vet Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in Trotter 201.

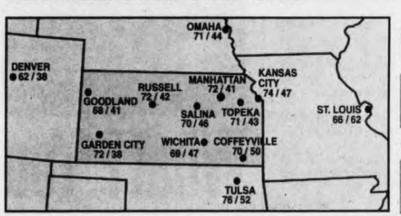

■ The Department of Geology will present "Interpreting Fluid Inclusion in Diagenetic Minerals" at 4 p.m. today in Thompson 213.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan Kan 66502

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103.

Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

in the 60s to low 70s.

STATE OUTLOOK

Dry Sunday through Friday. Lows in the upper 30s to mid-40s. Highs

TOMORROW III

Partly cloudy with a chance of rain.

Little Caesars MEATSA!MEATSA!

PEPPERONI! PEPPERONI!

NY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

Expires 11-4-94

ULTIMATE SURVIVOR

MIKE BUCKINGHAM'S STORY WAS PRESENTED IN THE VIDEO "ULTIMATE SURVIVORS" HOSTED BY WILLIAM SHATNER

WITH A 10% CHANCE OF SURVIVAL AND A SEVEN-MONTH HOSPITAL STAY, MIKE IS A LIVING EXAMPLE OF TURNING SOMETHING BAD INTO SOMETHING POSITIVE.

> THURSDAY, OCT. 20, 1994 7 p.m. K-STATE UNION STATION

MICHAEL W. BUCKINGHAM

This presentation is co-sponsored by KSU Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service, KSU B.A.C.C.H.U.S., KSU Greek Affairs, and KSU Houring and Dining Services. Funding in part provided by the City of Manhattan.

You're In The Book

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2) $3.50 for faculty/staff $4.25 for the public

AVAILABLE NOW

Get Yours in 103 Kedzie Hall

Questions? Call 532-6560

Coming to the

TOPEKA PERFORMING ARTS CENTER

Monday • 8 p.m.

$27.50, $22.50, $17.50

Tickets go on sale at noon, Monday, October 10, 1994 at the TPAC Box Office . 8th & Quincy laughs for everyone.

VISA Accepted

297-9000 or 1-800-949-8722 Box Office Hours - Noon to 5 p.m. Mon. Fri.

Due to the nature of performing arts, all dates, programs and artists are subject to change without notice. Handling charge on mail orders.

Gareth Armstrong entertains a small crowd with his poetry reading Wednesday night in Nichols Theatre.

Actors from the LOND N STAGE

'Macbeth' at McCain

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

MACBETH

Actors from the London Stage will present "Macbeth" at 8 p.m. Friday and

Saturday at McCain

Collegian

"Is this a play I see before me?"

The Actors from the London Stage will perform William Shakespeare's monumental tragedy "Macbeth" this weekend at McCain Auditorium.

This is a chance to see classically-trained actors from some of the best theatrical companies in the world perform a Shakespearean classic.

Macbeth is the classic story of power, revenge, greed, and ultimately, overpowering guilt. Shakespeare's commentary on the psychological ramifications of evildoing in Macbeth have become staples of theater, the cast in which all other psychological murder dramas take their form.

For those of you who didn't study Macbeth in high school (or just didn't study, period), here's a quick rundown, more or less, of what to expect: Macbeth does good in battle with King Duncan; Macbeth, coached by Lady Macbeth, decides to kill Duncan; after the deed, Macbeth is riddled with guilt; let the games begin.

The Actors from the London Stage is a group of five performers hired by A Center for Theatre, Education and Research (ACTER), an educational program based out of London, England, and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The Actors take up a one-week residency at each college on their performance roster.

The actors from the London Stage was founded by Patrick Stewart ("StarTrek: The Next Generation") and Ben Kingsley ("Gandhi," "Schindler's List").

The cast of actors performing Macbeth at K-State include Gareth Armstrong, Stephen Casey, Richard Howard, David Howey and Holly

asey, Richard Howard, David Howey and Holly ilson.

During their residency, the actors venture into the

■ See ACTORS Page 10

Performers tell all at bar

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Collegian

Just when Prince Charles' new tell-all, whine-a-thon book hits stores, the Actors from the London Stage pop into town and infuse Manhattan with a touch of anglophilism.

On Tuesday, the actors met with speech and English department faculty and some reporters at the University Club bar in the Ramada Hotel.

For five actors and a handful of Manhattanites, it sure was a noisy bunch.

The contrast between the Kansas drawl of the Americans and the British theater accents was strangely confusing. I kept wanting to give a go at my best Anthony Hopkins impersonation.

Friday and Saturday, the actors are performing Shakespeare's classic tragedy, "Macbeth."

Playing the title role, David Howey talked in an experienced way that hinted of his prestigious theater credentials.

Howey performed in the 1970s London staging of "Macbeth" with highly acclaimed British actor lan Mackellan, and actress Judi Dench. Howey appeared in "The Merchant of Venice" and "Danton's Death" under the auspices of Laurence Olivier's National Theatre Company. He also worked with Anthony Hopkins and Derek Jacobi in "A Woman Killed with Kindness."

He has also worked with the Royal Shakespeare Company and taught and directed at the Guildhall School of Music.

Even with all of this impressive experience, Howey still approaches the part of Macbeth with some trepidation.

"It's difficult working on the soliloquies without a director," Howey said.

"The soliloquies come very early. It's the hardest part of the play," he said.

However, once the play catches its stride, after the murder, it's a roller-coaster ride to the end, he said.

"That's one of the exciting things about it," he said.

Besides the actual performances, the Actors have been guest-lecturing in speech and English classes all week.

"We've been teaching the students how to take a scene and put it on the stage," Howey said. "They aren't a piece of literature, but a play meant to be performed."

Stephen Casey, another one of the actors, was comfortably at home in the hotel's bar.

Besides many characters in Macbeth, Casey is particularly excited about playing the awkwardly funny character of the porter.

The drunken porter's scene in "Macbeth" is the one funny scene in the midst of a tragedy.

"Kansas will be very poor if they don't give me a standing ovation for my porter," Casey said.

Casey said the format of their performance will focus mainly on the language, the story and the characters, rather than technical wizardry.

Obviously, with a cast of five, there is no way "Macbeth" could be performed traditionally.

This is the first performance with the Actors of the London Stage for Casey. Casey worked with the Royal Shakespeare Company for four years.

This is also his first trip to the United States.

"You don't see that much (of America). We have classes in the morning, then shows at night," Casey said.

Besides the unfamiliar terrain, this production of "Macbeth" is Casey's first experience with the play.

After four weeks of six-hour rehearsals. Casey has an excellent knowledge of the play, yet he still had a script in hand.

"You've got to have a copy of the play in case someone asks you a question about it," Casey said.

As the hour came to a close, I said goodbye to the few remaining actors, Howey and Casey.

Casey answered back with "Cheers!"

Poetry, prose brought to life

NOLAN SCHRAMM

Collegian

Aided only by a glass of water and a podium, Gareth Armstrong and Richard Howard spun a web of poetry and prose around Nichols Theatre last night.

The two actors are part of a five-member group, the Actors from the London Stage, who are visiting K-State this week.

Armstrong portrayed the life of poet Dylan Thomas through Thomas' poetry and prose, punctuated by brief biographical pieces.

He was loud and boisterous, on fire with his words, possessed by Thomas' spirit.

The joy of youth and memories of his birthplace dominate much of Thomas' poetry.

The audience was able to actually feel what Thomas felt, growing up in South Wales before World War II, teasing the girls in front of the schoolyard and telling tall tales of rich relatives.

Soon Thomas is seen as a young man, reporting for the South Wales Evening Post. He is trying to get in good with the senior reporter, as Armstrong sets the scene unfolding in the bathroom (young Thomas has his first cigarette).

Thomas later moves to London, where he earns a reputation for heavy drinking, outrageous behavior and finding comfort between the breasts of many women.

Before long, he marries and has children, but his relationship with his wife starts to deteriorate.

"... aside from times at night when the house would rattle, roll and groan with our murder of each other ..."

After briefly returning to his birthplace, he tries to recapture the lost innocence of his childhood after his father's death.

Failing, he moves to New York, where he eventually drinks himself to death after 16 straight whiskeys.

In contrast to Armstrong, Howard's delivery of Irish poetry was quiet, sullen at times, mirroring the graphic tales of wartorn Ireland.

He ensnared the audience in a void of complete silence. They sat, spellbound, listening to the grim tale of a mother who tells her daughter to no longer trust the priest of the local church.

"Mom told me not to speak to you / It was a bad time she told me that / Closing the doors after the house was robbed.

You have taken the moon from me / You have taken the sun from me / but most importantly, I fear, you've taken God from me."

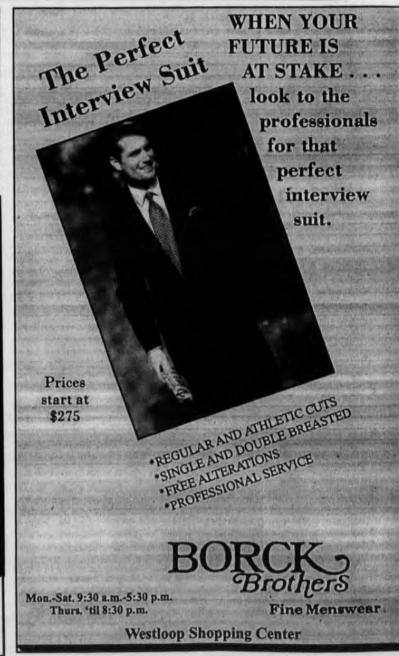

He also portrays a slightly humorous story of a woman

■ See OPEN Page 10

more bang for your advertising buck wildcat

COLLEGIAN
118 Kedzie Hall • 532-6560

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK!

Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Thursday, Oct. 20

American Society of Engineers 6:00 p.m KSU College of Agriculture Student Society 6:20 p.m. BAPP 6:40 p.m.

Pi Tau Sigma 7:00 p.m.

Ag Communications Of Tomorrow 7:20 p.m.

Ag Econ Club 7:40 p.m.

Nat'l Assoc. KSU Environmental Professionals 8:00 p.m. College of Business Ambassadores 8:20 p.m. Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers 8:40 p.m. Horticulture Club 9:00 p.m.

Fraternity & Sorority Make-up

Oct. 20 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and 4-8p.m. in Union 209

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting.
Questions? Call 532-6557.

CAMPUS EDITOR........J.R. Prather

A&E/FEATURES EDITOR...Andrew Tomb

SPORTS EDITOR.....Wess Hudelson

GRAPHICS EDITOR.....Sara Smith

COPY CHIEF.....Robin Kickhaefer

CITY-GOV. EDITOR....Lola Shrimplin

ASST. SPORTS EDITOR...Jeremy Crabtree

ASST. PHOTO EDITOR...Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER.....Ryndell Little
ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Ellet
SALES MANAGER.....Jim Stothard
TEARSHEETS MGR..lvonne Zaldumbide
NEWS ADVISER......Ron Johnson
AD ADVISER......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

SGA makes good move with voter drive

Voter drive had a certain amount of success. More than 90 students registered. The Student Governing Association has given 94 students the opportunity to voice their opinions in the upcoming election.

On Tuesday, SGA sponsored a voter-registration drive with booths in the K-State Union and in the three residence-hall dining centers. These were in addition to the option of registering at the SGA offices in the first floor of the Union.

SGA said the turnout was low for the drive, but they're on the right track by offering the booths. The booths were a good opportunity for the students because they were in convenient locations.

Many students make a trip inside of the Union every day, and still more live in the residence halls. Rather than traveling off campus to register, these booths are a great service to the students.

However, why end the booths now? We suggest SGA continue to have the booths until registration ends on Oct. 24 as a service to the students. This would give students who missed Tuesday's drive another opportunity to register.

Just remember, there are numerous reasons for you to vote. If all K-State students would vote, they would wield significant political power in Kansas, Riley County and Manhattan.

If you missed the SGA's registration drive, you can still register in the Office of Student Activities and Services on the first floor of the Union.

TOLES

New sex report reveals secrets

If I had known when I was a kid that I could essentially find out just about everything I wanted to know about sex 30 years later by reading the latest cover story in U.S. News & World Report, I could have saved myself a fortune in bubblegum that I used to bribe my friend, Johnny Dugermier, for the latest description of certain unclothed females in the girls' locker room and other valuable information he had access to.

Johnny had an "inside track," so to speak, through the suspended ceiling from the boys' shower to the girls' shower, and he was the only one small enough to crawl through the opening. It wasn't that he actually obtained any useful information regarding sex in this fashion — most of that came from his two older, dating-age, sexually promiscuous brothers. No, the "shower lookies," as these top-secret missions were commonly called, only provided visual verification of important female anatomical "landmarks," you might say, mentioned by the brothers in their detailed reports.

The article in U.S. News is really only a review of a nationwide survey recently completed by the University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center titled, "Sex in America." The report does not cover everything related to sex, however. For example, take the latest sexual craze, which involves using computers to have sex. This is called (surprise) COMPUTER SEX. I am not entirely sure how computer sex is performed because I have never actually SEEN computer sex taking place on the Discovery Channel; however, I can imagine that any kind of sex that involves the use of 14-INCH monitors, RAM, HARD drives and MICE has to be pushing the kink-o-meter past the red line and into mechanical meltdown.

In an attempt to do my own research and find out firsthand what computer sex is like, my wife and I recently tried it. I honestly can't see what all the fuss is about. Maybe with a small laptop computer things go a little better, but my desktop computer would barely fit into bed with us. Then there were all the cords to deal with. Before I knew it, I had both feet tangled in the power cord, floppy diskettes were stuck in places and hanging off things I don't even want to think about, and the mouse was flying around the room at maximum warp speed like some miniature version of the Starship Enterprise.

BRAD

SEABOURN

My frustration led me to do my own scientific survey, which is only now, this very minute being called The Seabourn Report: Sex In America. Although it has only been seconds in the making, this report, and its revealing contents will ultimately rival anything documented thus far in the area sexual research and other fun things you wish you could participate in but only dream about.

A very small portion of my astounding survey is given below:

THE SEABOURN REPORT: SEX IN AMERICA

In the area of pregnancy prevention: 96 percent of women and 100 percent of men can't even spell "prophylactic," much less know what it means. Spelling really doesn't have anything to do with sex, but it seemed like a good point at which to start my survey. Now, you mention the word "rubbers," and nearly everyone surveyed, could not only spell it but also knew what they were, with an overwhelming majority of men mentioning that they used them religiously every time it rained.

In the area of sexual dysfunction: 90 percent of men reported having experienced some sort of problem during sex. Comments ranged from "I can't see the TV" to "Difficulty breathing when Johnny Dugermier gave me a wedgie." And nearly 100 percent of women reported similar problems saying their husbands were so fat they couldn't see their feet let alone the TV, and that the only thing men WANTED to do was watch football — with or without sex, it really didn't matter as long as it included chips and beer.

In the area of "creepy sexual feelings": 93 percent of women reported the totally absurd notion that they have always felt they were being "watched" while taking a shower. Ninety-nine percent of men reported "no comment." Johnny Dugemier, who now lives in south Hollywood and is currently on location in his living room filming the movie, "Buxom Amazon Wedgie Women," could not be reached for comment.

Space will not permit further amazing revelations found in my report. However, you can purchase a copy of "The Seabourn Report: Sex in America" by calling the 800 number advertised during commercial interludes on the Discovery Channel, assuming of course that you can see the TV from bed.

Brad Seabourn is a graduate student in grain science.

Promise of prayer lifts the spirits of accident victim

My life changed on Oct. 17.

I was driving our car that morning to have it serviced in Topeka. I had to get there early so I could make it back in time for class, so I was hoping to make it before the dealership opened at 8 a.m. It was warm, rainy and dark outside. I-70 was slick and shining with hundreds of headlights.

Just west of the Wabaunsee/Riley county line, I saw a few semis and a car or two on the shoulder of the other side of the interstate blinking their hazard lights. I've learned that this usually means trouble. I saw a body wrapped in a blanket on the shoulder. Then I saw smoke coming from the ditch. I always, almost

I always, almost instinctively, stop at accidents to see if I can help. I ran across four lanes and a median in the dark wind and rain. I found one of the truckers huddling next to a body a few feet down the embankment. I saw an entire car on fire.

I asked what I could do to help. The trucker was huddling up close to keep her warm, so I gave her my jacket and ran back to the eastbound lane for the blanket I knew we kept in the back of the car. My needs that morning were no longer important.

SCOTT ALLEN

MILLER

After putting my blanket on the woman closest to the car, I ran to the first person I saw. She had apparently suffered internal injuries and was in some shock. Standing with her was one of the two brave and incredibly selfless men who saw four people in a burning car in the ditch and risked their lives to get them out. I tried to help keep her conscious. The woman in the ditch apparently had a broken leg. Two other people with relatively less serious injuries were in one of the trucks.

After some 20 minutes, Riley County police and medics from Wabaunsee and Riley County arrived. I knew I wasn't needed anymore. After one of the paramedics had put her in blankets and a neck brace, I went to where the conscious woman with the broken leg was and picked up my discarded things. I looked into her cloudy brown eyes and said, "I'm gonna pray for all of you, OK? You're gonna be all right."

The paramedic said, "Thanks." The woman stared at me, and with the most gratitude I have ever seen on a person's face, painfully mouthed the words, "Thank you." As a medical helicopter from Fort Riley landed on a dirt road parallel to the highway, and as more light seemed to be coming through the rainclouds to the east, I wiped a tear from my eye and crossed four lanes of speeding traffic to get back to my little green Geo Metro. I was in a conundrum. I believe in God and the afterlife. I have a hard time believing in intercessionary prayer. I pray that God's "will be done on earth as it is in heaven," not that mine will be. I believe in the power of prayer. I don't feel it's appropriate for Christians to pray that our needs are met but rather to accept what God decides is best. So how was I going to pray for her? My suspicion that tragedy lies just around the corner was reinforced once again. Yet seeing that poor woman's face come to life when I told her I would pray that her circumstances would improve was wrecking me. That countenance of hope she had burned, like the wreckage she had been rescued from, into my soul, which has been characterized by personal hopelessness, fear, paranoia, cynicism and skepticism.

All the way to Topeka, I cried and sang the old, not quite forgotten gospel hymns I learned as a child. I sang about what a friend we have in Jesus. I sang what a privilege it is to carry everything to God in prayer. I didn't know why I was singing or if I was praying, but I knew that God had stepped up to the plate that morning and sent me for a line drive over the left field fence of life one more time. I finally asked God to help them, if it wasn't arrogant of me to ask.

. I hope God does as so I humbly besought. I hope God blesses those men who risked having a car explode around them to help four strangers. I hope I figure this out.

Maybe God does answer prayer. Maybe the hope that our supplications are heard is itself a divine blessing. Maybe the hope that the woman had that everything would work out outweighs the very random, even cruel fate that sent her and her friends into a fiery tumble into quiet, wet Kansas grasses. Maybe there is hope for being hopeful.

Maybe.

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in radio/television.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ RAPE

Reader didn't use logical approach

I'm writing in response to a letter written by David S. Rogers published on Oct. 13 in which he contended that a speaker's figures regarding the incidence of rape among college women "just don't add up."

He took issue with the speaker's statement of the incident of rape among college campuses, stating: "How is it possible that one of four women are raped during their college years and only two or three are reported in Manhattan each year?"

I think David Rogers deserves an answer to this question, as well as a response to his application of "logic" to the incidence of rape at K-State.

Because I am currently working as a student intern at a rape crisis center in Kansas City, and because I also have had experience with research conducted in the field of social science, I think I can provide an answer.

In Rogers' approach to determining the incidence of rape at K-State, he is applying simple mathematical procedures to a complex problem. Using the results from what seems to be a national survey, he deduced that because one of every four women are raped during their college years, that one of every four K-State women will be raped.

Any professor of statistics or research methodology could point out the numerous holes of that kind of logic.

The question to be answered then is: "What does the statement 'One of four women are raped during their college years,' really mean?" The answer depends on how the study in question chose to define the "college years" in terms of age, who the researchers asked, when they asked them, and under what circumstances they were asked.

The U.S. Department of Justice reported that in 1991, 388 rapes were reported on university and college campuses. It would be naive to assume that this number is an accurate reflection of the incidence of rape among college campuses in the United States. However, this number does put the number of reported rapes at K-State into perspective.

Aside from Rogers' slipshod use of "logic," including the troublesome use of his feminist friends as a basis for the number of women that report their rape, what troubles me most was the insinuation that the problem of rape is purposely being overestimated by educators in order to "breed fear and mistrust between the sexes." This statement shows Rogers' complete ignorance of the issues of rape victims and serves to prove the point of why there needs to be more education about this issue here at K-State. Living in this society, we don't need a speaker who attempts to educate people about rape to make us afraid or mistrustful, we already are. As long as there are individuals who rape women and men in order to deal with their anger and their desire to humiliate and control others, we are all justified in being afraid. The fact is that rapes do occur, and they occur often.

The only thing that I seem to agree with in David Rogers' letter is his statement that rape is a terrible crime.

It is also a crime that has many silent victims because they believe the very myths that educators are trying to dispel. To quibble over the numbers when this crime continues to go on, in many cases unpunished, doesn't seem to address the real issue.

Kim A. McKay graduate student in human development and

SEND YOUR LETTERS VIA E-MAIL. OUR E-MAIL ADDRESS IS LETTERS@SPUB.KSU.EDU

DUI CHECKPOINTS

Information shouldn't have been given

I was shocked last Friday to see the Collegian print a map showing the precise location and times of a sobriety checkpoint. This was the most patently irresponsible act of journalistic ignorance and disregard for public safety I have ever witnessed. It served only to keep those who violate the law and endanger others' lives from being caught. I'm sure such human debris are appreciative. On the other hand, had just one impaired driver somehow mustered up enough consciousness to heed the Collegian's warning and took an innocent life along an alternative route, would not the Collegian be morally, if not legally, responsible? "... But what about civic responsibility or moral integrity?"

KEVIN BOYD graduate in economics

The Collegian staff members would be correct in saying they have a legal right to warn their readers, but what about civic responsibility or moral integrity? Journalism is replete with codes of conduct that may be legally violated (confidentiality of sources, not naming rape victims, not publishing addresses of those who are stalked, etc.) but "professional" ethics keeps most journalists from taking the legal extremes. I sincerely hope the Collegian has at least one "professional" on staff who recognizes the publishing of sobriety checkpoint maps for the public disservice they are and puts a stop to this reckless practice.

Kevin Boyd graduate in economics

In Hocus Kansas State Collegian -

Justin Demoss, freshman in psychology, criminology and pre-law, attempts to turn a bull who doesn't want to be turned during Rodeo School at Homestead Bronc Shop in

CLOWNING AROUND

After a long day of chasing bulls and steers, Demoss takes off his clown make-up before the closing meeting of the school.

Between sessions, the clowns watch videos to critique how to handle themselves in the arena.

oming to K-State, Justin Demoss, freshman in psychology, criminology and pre-law, said he knew he wanted to join the Rodeo Club.

He planned on waiting until his sophomore year, but after some thought and financial planning, he decided to Demoss said he was interested in going out for bull riding. After talking to Dan Suderman, president of the Rodeo Club, he learned that most bull riders had been riding for several years, and Suderman suggested for him to wait.

Demoss said he didn't want to wait. After talking to a couple of friends in his fraternity about his desire to be an active member of the club, they suggested rodeo clowning.

Being a rodeo clown was the last thing Demoss said he wanted to do until last week. He talked to Suderman about being a clown and was told about the Homestead Bronc Shop Rodeo School in Olathe. Last Tuesday, Demoss called and got into the school that would begin the coming Saturday.

Over the weekend, Demoss was kicked, thrown, butted, bruised and beaten during the course of the school and loved every minute of it.

There is more involved in being a rodeo clown than Demoss had imagined.

Originally, he said he thought a clown just ran around and entertained the crowd between rides, and helped get the bull out of the arena after the ride.

"The last thing I thought about was cowboy protection," Demoss said.

Protecting the rider is the first priority

Justin Demoss never thought he would be fighting bulls when he decided to get into rodeo.

of the clown, he said. If the rider falls, it's the job of the clown to put himself between the bull and rider, sometimes with painful results.

Demoss' first official save during the school was from a bull named Bar 5. "I saw the rider coming off and ran in toward the bull," he said.

Placing himself between the bull and the rider. Demoss said he was picked up and flung about 10 to 12 feet into the air.

"As I was coming down, I worried about where the fence was and where the rider was," he said. "When I landed, I got hit again as I climbed the fence."

Demoss said his distraction gave the rider enough time to get out of the arena without getting hurt.

"It's a natural high," Demoss said about making a save.

"I care about others more than I care about myself," he said.

Another thing a rodeo clown needs to know is how the rider's hand is wrapped, in case he gets hung up and needs help getting off, he said.

"You don't have time to figure it out after it happens," he said. If a rider is hung up, the clown must get in and turn the rider's hand to loosen the rope and get it free, Demoss said.

Turning a bull is where the clown gets the attention of the bull as it comes out of the chute and gets the bull into a

The stock contractor tells the clown which way the bull must turn to give the cowboy the best ride, he said.

Turning is also used as a tool for protecting a cowboy if the rider begins to

"We try to turn the bull into the rider's loose hand," he said. "That way, if he does fall, he'll fall away from the spin and give him more time to get away.'

At the end of the school, Demoss won the Most Improved Bull Fighter

"It's a good time. I'm definitely staying with it.

Aaron Caldwell, of Overland Park, and Demoss discuss bull-fighting techniques while getting ready for the ending ride-off of the weekend.

A Mexican-Brama mixed bull makes for good practice as Demoss works on his free-style moves.

Photos and Story by Mark Leffingwell

2 Strikes

ASSOCIATED PRESS

week.

for future talks.

head Donald Fehr said.

complete opposition.

since 1904.

Friday.

WASHINGTON — Baseball

players and owners met for 90 minutes Wednesday in their first formal talks since Sept. 9 and said they probably wouldn't get back together again until next moderated by new mediator

W.J. Usery, consisted only of a discussion of the ground rules discussed today at all," union players didn't change their impose a cap caused players to strike Aug. 12, wiping out the season's final 52 days and forcing cancellation of the World Series for the first time positions that are very strong, and people believe in the position, it's difficult," said Usery, who was brought in by the Clinton Administration last

When you believe you have

There was no substance

Owners did not alter their insistence on a salary cap, and Management's threat to

The session, the first

zero solutions

Owner, players meet with federal mediator

OCTOBER 20, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The meeting was the first

Usery said no decision had

"He needs to get up to been made on the sight of future speed," said Kansas City Royals pitcher David Cone, one of six players at the session. "He seems to think smaller and more-concise groups are going

Eleven management representatives attended today's session. Richard Ravitch, management's negotiator, did not move away from his threat to impose the cap if the players and owners don't agree to a on what happens if this process is not successful, because I have every expectation it will be," he moves along," Colorado Rockies owner Jerry McMorris said before the meeting began. "I look for owners to be very

The meeting was only the fourth since the union struck

"Let's see how Mr. Usery takes control and how this

"I'm not going to speculate to be better."

outside New York since May.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

1996 schedules set for Big 12

ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - The fledgling Big 12 Conference laid out a tentative schedule for football Wednesday that would have the traditional rivalry of Oklahoma and Nebraska lie dormant for two years in a four-year cycle.

The Big 12 begins football play in two divisions in 1996.

Teams would play each team in its division each year - five games - and play three games against teams in the other division in the proposed schedule that stretches through the

The Oklahoma and Nebraska game is traditionally played in the last week of the

The game was played many times for the Big Eight championship until Colorado emerged as a national power, transforming the league from what had come to be known as the Big Two and

Nebraska will play at Oklahoma in 1996 and have the Sooners at home in 1997.

The teams wouldn't play again until the 2000

Other rivalries such as Kansas and Kansas State, and Kansas and Missouri wouldn't be affected because the teams are in the same Oklahoma, which is developing a rivalry with Colorado, also is scheduled to play the Buffs only two out of four years.

The North Division includes Nebraska, Kansas, Kansas State, Colorado, Iowa State and

In the South Division are Texas, Texas A&M, Baylor, Texas Tech, Oklahoma State and Oklahoma.

The four Texas schools are joining the Big Eight to form the Big 12.

"It's important to understand that this is the first step in finalizing a schedule," said Bill Marolt, chairman of the conference and athletic director at Colorado. "We've determined who we will play and where we will play them but

BIG 12 SCHEDULE

K-State 1996: Nebraska, Iowa State, at Kansas, at Colorado, at Missouri, Oklahoma, at Texas A&M, Texas Tech.

The conference office will finalize the schedules for review by the schools, and Marolt said the process should be finished early next

Each team will play four home games and four away games in the conference schedule. No announcement was made about the scheduling of non-conference games.

The non-division opponents would be rotated

The tentative schedule was approved on an 11-1 vote in Texas. Marolt said a Big Eight school voted against it but declined to say which # not the order of games or the dates of competition." school it was.

Negotiations stagnant in 19th day of lockout

involved."

Aug. 12.

The only movement in the NHL labor situation these days seems to be players moving to Europe and Brian Burke moving around North America.

Boston Bruins forward Josef Stumpel was the latest to find a job in Europe, returning to his old club in Germany, the Cologne Sharks. Stumpel will play Friday in the Sharks' next league game, Cologne spokesman Miro Sykora said Wednesday.

Stumpel's move was more than could be said of the stalemated NHL labor situation, which continued to be at a standstill Wednesday.

The lockout reached its 19th day, bringing the total of games postponed to 105 so far. The NHL hasn't officially canceled any games, but NHL spokesman Arthur Pincus said Wednesday "we'll have an announcement soon" on a policy regarding ticket refunds.

Time appeared to be running out on the NHL's hopes of salvaging the entire 84-game schedule. NHL commissioner Gary Bettman said that no lost, they will not be made up past June. Bettman said the league would need at least a 40-or 50game schedule in order to have a legitimate season leading to the Stanley Cup. To play a 50-game schedule, the NHL would have to start by mid-December. A 40game schedule would mean starting around Jan. 1.

Since the International Ice Hockey Federation (IIHF) reversed its ban on NHL players competing in Europe, several players have found work overseas.

They include Jari Kurri, of the Los Angeles Kings; Teemu Selanne, of the Winnipeg Jets; Esa Tikkanen, of the St. Louis Blues; and Christian Ruuttu, of the Chicago Blackhawks: who are all playing in the Finnish League. Toronto's Mats Sundin has also gone back to Sweden to

The NHL Players Association reiterated its support Wednesday for players to find work wherever they can at this point.

apparent that there were internal problems

The worst display of this occurred after

Despite the low expectations both the press and the fans seem to have about this season, team members are surprisingly affecting their performances.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegi

Alpha Tau Omega member Doug Geyer battles for possession of the ball with Afro '94 team member Roman Kalinin during the all-University soccer championship game. Afro '94 denied the ATOs a third-straight all-University soccer title with its 1-0 victory.

▶ INTRAMURALS

Afro '94 claims all-University title with 1-0 win

WESS HUDELSON

Viktur Atughonu surprised himself when he scored the only goal of the all-University championship game Wednesday at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

The independent team Afro '94 denied Alpha Tau Omega its third-straight all-University soccer title by defeating them 1-0.

"I saw a struggle in front of me, and I was just waiting for a chance at the ball," Atughonu said.

Atughonu got his chance after teammate Siendon Outtara's kick was blocked and rebounded back in time for him to deposit the ball in the upper part of the goal.

"I was a little surprised when the ball came to me," Atughonu said. "It was just kind of a reflex

Despite managing only one goal, Afro '94 pressured the ATOs throughout the contest by keeping the ball on its end of the field.

The ATOs managed only two shots on goal to the Afro '94's five.

"It came down to the fact that they're in shape, and we're not," ATO forward Brian Hartis said. "They're a quick team, and sometimes I couldn't keep up.

Hartis had chances at two break-aways in the first half but couldn't catch up to the ball before being stopped by Afro '94 defenders.

"We have a good team. We just haven't played together well as a team all year," ATO center Jason Cansler said.

Cats rated low in preseason publications

While browsing through the magazine aisle at Dillon's late last night, I saw something that made my eyes light up the new college basketball previews were

I quickly dropped my case of Diet Coke and snatched up three different publications, tearing through the pages until I came to the Big Eight Conference predictions. I was anxious to see where the "experts" had ranked our own K-State

My delight turned to disappointment in a hurry. All three magazines, Athlon's, Street and Smith, and the Sporting News, had ranked the Wildcats in the Big Eight cellar, a position usually reserved for Colorado.

It didn't get any better. As I threw down the Sporting News Basketball Yearbook in disgust and prepared to stomp out, the pages fell open to the rankings of all 302 collegiate basketball programs in the country. I couldn't resist - I had to know where the Cats stood on this list.

I was concerned when I couldn't find us in the top 50. I was worried when we weren't in the top 75. I broke out in a cold sweat when I couldn't find us in the top 100. Thinking my eyes must be blurry, I reread the listings. No luck.

Finally, in the third column, tucked in between Washington State and Tennessee, was K-State, holding down spot No. 114. That's right - No. 114.

A million questions raced through my

How could this be? How could some random, obscure school like Canisius, yes, Canisius, be ranked ahead of us, at No. 110? Even my old school, Big Ten Conference doormat Northwestern, was ranked ahead of us at No. 69. Who makes up these rankings, anyway - KU sports information?

But the primary question I asked myself was this - can we prove these so-called "experts" wrong this season?

I'm going to go out on a limb and say yes. Although most of my sports colleagues here say I'm too positive, idealistic and out of touch with reality. I say a respectable finish for the Cats isn't out of the question.

Why? For a few different reasons, actually.

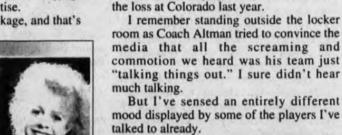

One reason is because we chose the right man, Tom Asbury, to be head coach of the Cats. Not only did Asbury bring an impressive résumé with him, he's also backed up by an experienced and talented Looking beyond the numbers while he was coaching at Pepperdine (four 20-win seasons, three NCAA Tournaments, three West Coast Conference titles, three conference tournament championships), Asbury offers more to the K-State program than just basketball expertise.

"He's got the total package, and that's the thing that's probably been most impressive to me," Mark Fox, assistant basketball coach, said. "Some head coaches are really strong in one area and not as strong in another, but not Tom. He's loyal, has great basketball knowledge and is an extremely hard worker - just has the total package."

Another reason is this team's attitude.

I covered most of the Cats' games last season, and after interviewing and observing most of the players, it was started there.'

OELL

NICOLE

upbeat and appear ready to work for their new coach. "I think everybody's going to work hard, and in the preseason, everybody put a lot of hard work in," Belvis Noland, K-State senior, said. "If we just work hard during practice like we did this preseason, things will work out for us. We won't end up at the bottom of the list just because we

McCain.

"Macbeth" - 8 p.m. at

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OCTOBER 20, 1994

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TO LEARN MANNERS,

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals C

LITTLE WITCH WENT TO CHARM SCHOOL.

THE FAR SIDE with! Genwith Inians rod me ► LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN 2 Benavior NATURAL

Life in the Old Weth

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

WHAT ARE

I HEARD SOMETHING OUTSIDE. OUT OF BED?

GARY LARSON

THUMP. WILL BUT I DIDN' YES ... YES! GO OUT THE DOOR! THO MORE STEPS! HEAR ANY OH PLEASE, OH AND MAKE SURE PLEASE! YES IT'S NOT ANY TES, TES!

BILL AMEND

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

There goes my appetite.

Cassandra rumored to be a male-chauvanist pig

Dear Cassandra,

The rumor going around campus is you are a male-chauvanist pig!

According to the article of Thursday, Oct. 6, you called condoms "filthy devices. A real columnist would be happy

Jane wasn't pregnant or spreading AIDS.

Think about what you write. I think Cassandra is a big joke, a good laugh in the morning.

They didn't ask if you approve,

Write to Cassie: Signed, 116 Kedzie Hall Pissed Manhattan, KS 66506

Duveaux

Dear Pissed,

There are also rumors going around campus that President Wefald packs a .45, that you can get a 4.0 if your roommate dies, and a host of other things.

Rumors about me being a male chaunist pig are, like everything else,

Pigs are filthy animals, and if Jane did not want my advice, she would not have wrote me. If you want to dance, you have to pay the band. As for this column being a big joke, the only people laughing are everyone on eampus laughing at your lackluster attempt at belittling me.

Please go play in traffic, bitch.

► REVIEW

Blues Traveler kicks a little bit of booty on new album

TERRY SCRUTON

The Spin Doctors and Blues Traveler have a lot in common.

Both spent their formative years in the budding New York rock scene.

They both played at the same clubs. They hung out together. They grew up together. One of the bands made it big. They recorded a hit album with a hit song about a little miss who couldn't be wrong. MTV played the video to death, but by the time their second album came out, fans and critics alike realized that this band was overrated. The Doctors just didn't spin as well as before.

Meanwhile, back in New York, Blues Traveler made two albums, continued to play great music, and went largely unnoticed.

It wasn't until their third album that they gained some recognition.

Now they have a fourth album, and they sound better than ever. Their first two releases, "Blues Traveler," and "Travelers and Thieves" were flat-out rock, backed by bluesy riffs and some kick-ass harmonica playing from front man John Popper. The band's third release, "Save His Soul" had a feeling of someone who had been kicked around by life and was down for the count. With "Four," that someone got back on his feet.

The songs on "Four" portray a sense of hope, of redemption, of getting up off the ground and kick-Blues Traveler has never strayed far from the blues/rock roots of their first album. This one however, tends to go more rock than blues. Popper's harmonica does not dominate this album like it has in the past. Here, it takes a back seat to the funky lead guitar of Chan Kinchla and the awesome bass of Bob Sheehan. This is perhaps best evident on "The Good, The Bad, and the Ugly," a two-minute "musical opus" written by Kinchla.

But Popper is still allowed to cut loose with a blistering harmonica solo on "Hook," his own personal message to commercial rock.

"What you're doing to me this MTV is not for free. It's so PC it's killing me."

Perhaps the best thing about Blues Traveler is that they seem to be refusing to go commercial.

Sure, they travel every year with the HORDE Tour, and they've had songs on the radio, but they have never made a video.

The band itself says it best in "Brother John," written by Popper and Sheehan.

"And everybody in this rock 'n' roll band don't wanna preach don't wanna give advice. But the music's playing, and all we're saying is come along anyone can join.

RESTAURANT & CLUB GUI

811 COLORADO 539-4811

THURSDAYS

Burger & Beer Night every burger comes with a frosty

$1.75 Zimas 50€ Zima Shots

· Free Jukebox · DISCO & DANCIN'

By CiCo Park Kimball & Seth Childs

LONGHORNS

Tonight ... No Cover before 8 p.m.

25¢ Draws Karaoke 7-9 p.m. Rocky Mountain Oysters 7-10 p.m.

Halloween Party Costume Contest Cash Prizes

Zima Promo on Friday

$1.50 Zima bottles Prizes & Giveaways

$2.50 burgers & fries Saturday, Oct. 29th

1115 Moro • Aggieville • 776-8770

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed.

Everyday Two-fers

- PIZZAS with TOPPINGS each
  - COKES with ice $8.45

Everyday Three-fers - PIZZAS with

- TOPPING each COKES with ice $10.34

Pizza Shuttle

ESTAURANT R

DESTINATION CHOICE

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-1515

·All major credit cards welcome

•Refined yet relaxed atmosphere Daily Specials ·Steak. Seafood, Pasta, Cajun

BBQ, Oriental, & Southwestern

 Catering & Banquet Rooms Children's Menu Sunday Brunch Buffet

10:30 a.m. to 3p.m.

 Drink Specials Every Night •TV's Televised Sports Coverage Club Keno, Kansas Lottery

(Closed 10 p.m.Sunday)

Open until 1 a.m. weekends

No One Caters Like We Do

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-7770

*Banquet Rooms, Seating Up To 180 *All Parties Welcome BANQUET & CATERING COMPANY

Sorority & Fraternity Parties & Functions

ΑΚΑΚ ΒΣΨ FH ΦΓΔ ΣΚ ΑΧΩ ΒΘΠ ΓΦΒ ΦΚΤ ΣΧ ΑΓΡ ΧΩ ΚΑΘ ΦΚΘ ΣΝ ΑΔΠ<sub>Ι</sub> ΔΔΔ ΚΔ ΠΒΦ ΣΦΕ ΑΚΑΚ ΔΣΦ ΚΣ ΠΚΑ ΣΣΣ ΑΚΛ ΔΣΦ ΚΣ ΠΚΑ ΣΣΣ ΑΤΌ ΔΤΔ ΑΧΑ ΠΚΦ ΤΚΕ ΑΞΔ ΔΥ ΦΔΘ ΣΑΕ ΘΞ

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-8888

Excellent Food and Service • Biggest & Best Margaritas in Town Over 20 Tequilas • Earn Your Degree at Tequila Universit Sunday Brunch Special
 Daily Special Tex-Mex Southwestern Style • Hrs: Open 11 a.m. Every Day Closed 10 p.m. Sun-Thurs+11 p.m. Fri & Sa

Treasurer keeps promise, wants re-election

Three-and-a half years in office and more than $100 million in non-tax revenue ought to count for something.

At least Sally Thompson said she thinks they should and hopes voters will, too.

Thompson, a Democrat and state treasurer, wants Kansans to recognize her previous efforts and put the 'X' beside her name on the ballot again.

"I wanted to run for reelection because I've made a difference, and I want to continue to make a difference. To be perfectly honest, if I didn't think I had, I wouldn't run again," Thompson said. "I ran a promise to make you more money almost four years ago, and I kept that promise."

That promise was partially carried out through her push to update the state's investment laws in 1992. The $100 million of non-tax revenue resulted from the establishment of a municipal-investment pool.

Operation of the pool works as local governments send monies from taxpayers to the treasurer's office to be invested in U.S. government securities. The non-tax revenue earned during the 3-1/2 years is equivalent to half-cent sales tax or $160 for every family of four. For Manhattan and Riley County residents, it's meant an additional return of more than $1,443,000, Thompson said.

"It works just like a CD," she said. "They send me a million dollars, and I give them back that million plus what they've earned in interest."

If she is re-elected, Thompson plans to continue to add non-tax revenues to state coffers and to increase work on bond service, possibly even doing bond-service work for other states as a way to bring in additional funds. This could give a boost to longer-range budget planning. It would also enable the state to get back to two-year budgets and five-year planning figures, which could be critical for school finances

The treasurer's biggest job is to manage the money that flows into the office, manage it efficiently and manage to gain returns, Thompson said. While sure of her own management skills, Thompson said she questions her opponent's.

Republican Randy Duncan, an advertising salesman, may not have the capabilities to work with more than $4.5 billion a day, she said. In fact, Duncan's original intent in placing his name on the ballot was to keep a spot open for the Republican party.

Thompson said that she, on the other hand, is accustomed to handling multi-million dollar budgets. Between work as a certified public accountant, banking and her time in office, Thompson has had about 20 years of professional money-management experience, all of them in trustee positions in which she has dealt with others' money.

Thompson received her bachelor's degree in business, accounting and finance at the University of Colorado in 1975. For the next seven years, she was a CPA and management consultant at Touch. Ross and Co., an accounting firm in Denver. From 1982 to 1985, she was the vice president and manager of business planning and financial analysis at the United Bank of Denver. She became the president and chief operating officer at the Shawnee Federal Savings & Loan in Topeka before becoming state treasurer in 1991.

It's this kind of professional experience and skill, not politics, that is important to the race, she said.

"This race isn't about politics - it's about money, the tax payer's money, your money," Thompson said. "It doesn't have an 'R' or a 'D' on it. It's a clear choice of who you want so that you can feel safe at night and know that your money is being managed by a professional."

Thompson

SEXUAL VIOLENCE

Students talk about childhood sexual abuse

KIM HALL

The abuse victims' names have been changed upon request. K-State students shared their experiences of childhood sexual abuse Wednesday as part of Sexual Violence Awareness Week. "A wide range of experiences fall into the area of childhood sexual abuse," Dori Lambert, clinical director of University Counseling Services, said.

Lambert moderated the questionand-answer discussion, "In the Aftermath: Adult Women Confront Childhood Sexual Abuse," in K-

State Union 206. She said acts ranging from being spoken to in an inappropriate way by a peer or parent about sexual matters to sexual contact constitutes that they are the ones at fault," Lambert said.

It is especially devastating to children when the abuse is caused by someone they trust or by someone important to them. "It can create many confused messages about what role they play in the family," she said. "The abuser distorts reality for the child." As a result of sexual abuse, she said a child can develop a low selfesteem, confusion about dealing with conflict and relationships. Lambert said the first step in the healing process is to become aware that the abuse has happened and April, an abuse victim, said our society still has a long way to go with handling sexual abuse.

"Down my road to recovery, wal abuse. self-esteem may be a life-long struggle for me," she said, "but I have found inner peace."

Having had a series of abusive relationships, April said her goal is to build a deep and meaningful relationship with another person.

"I have realized that I must first love myself before I can become involved in a relationship," she Molly, also an abuse victim, said providing support for victims helps in the healing process. "It's important to provide an environment for someone to talk," "Sex is taboo, let alone talking about sexual abuse," she said. April said simply asking, "Do you want to talk about it?" may help to bring up the issue.

Lambert said that opening the door to communication often helps the victim heal.

She said, however, for those who

AWARENESS WEEK

Marcia McCoy, psychology intern at University Counseling Services, will deliver a paper titled "To Join or not to Join? Situational Factions. and Self Statements Related to Group Rape on Campus" at noon are not ready to talk, reading about it may be an alternative.

Friday in K-State Union 205.

Lambert recommended the books "The Courage to Heal" by Laura Davis and Ellen Bass, and "Victims No Longer" by Michael

Education key to success for hispanic community

MOLLY WEIGEL

The keynote speaker for Hispanic Awareness Month will talk Friday about the importance of education for Hispanics who want to succeed.

Guadalupe Quintanilla, assistant vice president of academic affairs at the University of Houston, will speak at 10:30 a.m. Friday in the K-State Union Little Quintanilla's speech is titled "In and Ongoing Challenge: Students in Education and in Adriana Luna, president of the Hispanic American Leadership Organization, said she heard Quintanilla speak at a conference in Chicago last year."

"She is a very emotional and moving speaker," Luna, junior in business, said.

"She talked about her struggles through being a minority and how difficult it is for someone to tell you that you can't do something when you know you can," Luna said.

She said she wasn't sure if Quintanilla would speak on the same topics she did at the conference.

"I think anyone who attends the speech will be motivated," Luna said.

Arleen Baiges, public relations chairperson of HALO, said she did not attend the speech in Chicago, but has heard great things about

"Everyone in HALO who heard her speech really liked it, so we decided to try to get her to come to K-State," Baiges, senior in industrial engineering, Quintanilla will speak about her struggles in coming to the United States.

"She came from Mexico and was told her children were slow learners, simply because they couldn't speak English," Baiges

"She decided education was the key, so she educated herself as much as she could," Baiges said. "I think it's really admirable how successful she's become.'

In addition to giving the keynote address, Quintanilla will be interviewed on KKSU and get a tour of the campus, Baiges said.

▶ LECTURE

Losing your house to city may not mean losing your shirt

KIM HALL

Farm Bureau may succeed in redefining a Kansas law in 1995 that compensates people when the government takes their private

Bill Craven, an environmental lawver and lobbvist for the Sierra Club, spoke about the disadvantages of the Takings Bill

"In any given year, there will be 50 to 80 bills that have indirect or directly environment effects,"

Craven said. He said most of the bills he encounters are opposed.

"We play the defense," he said. "Support for environmental advocacy in Kansas is growing, the problems are worsening, and the needs are increasing," Craven said.
One of the problems he was referring to is the Takings Bill. "Under the Fifth Amendment to the federal constitution, when the government takes property from a citizen, the government has to pay compensation," Craven said. For example, he said, if the Kansas Department of Transportation wanted to put a highway through somebody's front yard, they would have to buy the yard.

"I fully support the notion that takings by the government be fully compensated," Craven said. He said the issue revolves around a variation of this law. "The Farm Bureau and its allies have proposed in the last two years legislation which says regulations that 'limit' private property could be considered a taking," Craven

He said, for example, that a feedlot is required by regulations to control its livestock waste so it doesn't pollute ground water.

Under the Farm Bureau proposal, he said, regulation could be viewed as interfering with feedlot owners' private-property rights, which in turn could trigger takings.

Regulations are going to have to be removed or, potentially, pay the land owner to comply," he said.

Craven said a version of the Takings Bill passed in the Kansas Senate in 1993 by a vote of 38-2.

Gov. Joan Finney vetoed the bill in 1994.

Craven distributed literature with quote from Kansas Attorney General Bob Stephan opposing the

"In short, I believe the bill is anti-environmental through its limitations on governmental action," Stephan said.

"Further, the bill would add a great deal of paper work, red tape bureaucracy to state government and would be very costly to the taxpayers of this state through its administration and its litigation costs," Stephan said.

Craven said environmental organizations oppose the bill because various environmental regulations are at stake.

'As more and more senators learn about the technicalities of the bill, more and more are disagreeing with it," Craven said.

He said the state's workforce will increase, and a takings impact assessment will be considered for every new regulation. "The bill to the taxpayers will be about $1 million each year," he

"It's not a contest between Democrats and Republicans or Liberals and Conservatives," he said. "It's a contest between all four of those groups against the radical right.'

Halloween Bash Oct. 29 Longhorns in Washington, KS Todd Sump 944-3682

A.C.E. Meeting Presents Don't miss Bob's Daily Lunch and Dinner Specials for October!

Thursday, Oct. 20

Sunday, Oct. 23

Chicken Noodles

Tuesday, Oct. 25

Spaghetti

Friday, Oct. 21 Pizza Bake

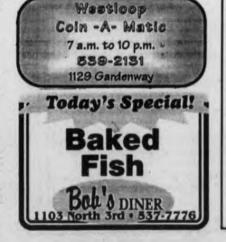

ENTRY DEADLINE

Saturday, Oct. 22 Sweet and Sour Pork

Monday, Oct. 24 DINER

Wednesday, Oct. 26 Baked Chicken

Nespor's Wines Spirits aht October KSU ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGIATE ENTREPRENEURS Student Union Council Chambers

Gruesome props & decorations Large selection of masks & costumes and much more at extended Halloween hours

for your convenience

CROSS COUNTRY and INNER TUBE WATER POLO

Thursday, October 20 5 p.m.

Rec Services Office • 532-6980

Friday and Saturday, October 21 & 22

7:00 p.m.

9:30 p.m.

in

Wednesday, Oct 19 7p.m. & 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct 20 7p.m. & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall

Friday, Oct 21 8 p.m. Little Theatre

Admission $1.75 information, call the UPC Entertainment Line at 532-6570

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 — $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY feds must be paid in advance se you have an esta d. There is a $10 service charge

HEADLINES

Jan. 1.

DEADLINES

Classified ade must be pleced by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ade must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad-

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run fou for three days free of charge.

If you self your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published. CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

Earn $15 each time you donate. plasma.

NABI

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

Mon-Fri

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days. 030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

Meetings/ Events

TOASTMASTERS A mu-ASTMASTERS A mutual support group for people who want to improve their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776–3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

ADD AN extra touch of class to your next par-ty. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub 537-7587, 539-7561.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Ware-ham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431.

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent loca-tions with great prices. 537–1666, 537–2919. CAN BE unfurnished. Nice, large, two-bedroom apartment. Water, trash, gas three-fourths paid. 539-2482, after

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Minimum seven month lease, no 537-8389.

Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE NOW.
Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Manhattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities.
Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. baths. 776-3804.

CHASE MANHATTAN Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

CLOSE (ONE block), to campus. Two, three-bedrooms, nice. Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths.

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS

*FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30

FOR RENT- Studio apartment, all utilities paid. Please call Jared at 539-

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASE-MENT, remodeled, $390, bills paid. 539-8401.

Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, exchange for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

For Rent-

AVAILABLE 12/1 or 1/1 two-bedroom, one bath, one-half block from campus. $380/ month plus deposit. Washer and dryer, fenced yard/ pets ok. Lease runs through 5/31 with option for renewal. Call 537-9528. Leave mes-

NON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM, UNFIN-O-BEDROOM, UNTIL ISHED basement, wash-er, dryer, refrigerator, fenced yard, pets ok, year lease available after finals or Jan 1, $450/ month, 531

Mobile Homes

BRAND NEW '95 Cham-pion Homes 14x64 through 28x56. Very af-fordable, immediate de-livery C/A skirting, ex-cellent financing. Coun-tryside, 539-2325. Roommate

Wanted ROOMMATE

needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to cam-pus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. 537-8967.

FEMALE TO share two-bedroom apartment. Own room, free laun-dry, one block from npus, utilities paid, smoking to share home beginning in Decem-ber. Quiet, wooded, westside. 539-6455.

MALE NEEDED to share four-bedroom apart-ment at Chase. Oct. rent free. 587-9327.,

MALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom duplex. $145 plus one-third utilities. Half block from campus. Call Frank 776-3158.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bed-room, two bath, fur-nished double-wide trailer. Non-smoker, non-drinker. $100. Share bills. Call 776-1038.

MALE/ FEMALE non-smoker. Available now share two-bedroom apartment. $210/ month 913 Vattier, quiet, clean, near school. Eileen 587-8442 before 12p.m.

NEED ONE male to com plete three-bedroom basement apartmentwasher and dryer Close to campus. $130/ month plus one-sev-enth utilities. Available Oct. 1. Call 1-632-5211

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom, nice, new house, $200, 723 Bluemont, washer/ dry-er, own bathroom. 539-1056. Dec. 1.

SEEK MALE/ female room-mate. Wanted. Excel-lent location, great place, all utilities paid, free laundry facilities. Cheap rent. Call Chrissy 537-0438. THREE RESPONSIBLE indi viduals looking for fourth roommate. Close to campus. $170 plus one-fourth bills, WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spacious, modern. Balco-ny, 587-9394. LARGE, CLEAN two-bedroom apartment. Available

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two anytime. Length of sub-lease and rent negoti-able. Call 587-0034 after 5p.m.

DIRECTORY

Tutor

Resume/

Typing

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tutor. Five years GTA ex-perience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave mes-sage: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordpro-$450/ month, Thurston, 587-0217. cessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539–1191 (evenings). For Sale-

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for RESUME RESUME RE-SUME and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda, 776–3290. Not enough time on your

Kedzie 103 532-6555

225

Pregnancy Testing Pregnancy Testing Center

·Free pregnancy testing · Totally confidential

·Same day results

539-3338

 Call for appointment. Located across from

> Anderson Village Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kansas. 537–5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.– Fri.

Other Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in-come requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716. SERVICES: INTERNATION

AL Students: DV-1 Greeneard program, by U.S. Immigration. Greencards provide U.S. permanent resi dent status. Citizens of tion and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168; (818)998-4425 Monday- Sunday 10a.m.-

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such employment op-portunity with reason-able caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeks, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170. ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-

1-800-FOR-AVON.

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000-$6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext

ARTIST NEEDED to paint or airbrush names and design on license tag. Contact Kristy 395–5998.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

BIG MONEY part-time work. Positions avail-able immediately as campus reps. Call campus reps. C (800)783-2883 today.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbase etc.) Sea. Caribbean, etc.) Sta-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682.

DANCERS WANTED. Need extra money? Become an Exotic Dancer. Must be 18 or older. Call the Malibu Club after 6p.m. 1-762-4699.

DELIVERY HELP needed! Responsible person needed part-time to help deliver pianos. Flexible hours, good pay for the right per-son. Apply in person, Mid-America Piano, 406 Poytnz. FAST FUNDRAISER- Raise

$500 in five days Greeks, groups, clubs, motivated individuals. Fast, simple, easy- no financial obligation. (800)775-3851. INTERVIEWERS NEEDED

ERVIEWERS NEEDED, two shifts available, 11:30-3:30 and 4:00-8:00. Please apply between 12:30 and 2:30 at R.L. Polk, 3003 Anderson, Suite 913. Between Old Chicago Bar and Grille and Cactus Jacks in Village Plaza. LOCAL FRATERNITY is currently seeking an ex-perienced Dietician. Re-sponsibilities include planning meals for 50 men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12.50 per hour. Please send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1.

NEEDED: 10 people to do phone sales of basket-ball tickets for the Kan-sas State Athletic De-

120 For Rent - Houses

125 For Sale - Houses

Mobile Homes

130 For Rent -

135 For Sale -

150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture

partment starting Mon., Oct. 24 through Fri., Nov. 25. Work would consist of days and/ or nights Monday through Friday paying 55/ hour plus generous commission. Will work around class schedule. To apply, go to Bram-To apply, go to Bram-lage Coliseum Suite 143 or call Jason at 532-7715 to set up appointment or ask ques

NOW HIRING for full or part-time help, flexible hours available, day shifts available. Apply in person Vista Drive In, 1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd. or 2700 Anderson

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter.
Over 15,000 openlngs! For more information call;
(206)634-0469 ext.
V57681.

EXPERIENCED STRIPPER platemaker to work 15-20 hours per week. Rate of pay is up to $6 per hour, depending on experience. Contact Larry Ernsting, K-State Printing Services, 8 Kedzie Hall, 532-6308.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classifica-$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!

No experience necessary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

MARKET

Items for Sale

COPIER RECONDITIONED Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m.

BM SELECTRIC II typewriter with correction. Re-cently checked and cleaned. Excellent con-dition. $100. Call 776-4398 mornings or

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

POWERFLEX 350 eight weight straps over 20 different exercises $150, Tunturi stair climber machine $175, both like new. 537-8471.

WALNUT OR oak trim All

PARKING

532-6555

532-7309

Antiques

Computers

Supplies

Tickets to

Buy/Sell

ATTENTION DOOM Play

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

KITTEN PARADISE at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters. Lovable and playful Per-sians- black, calico,

NEED TWO tickets to CU game. If selling please call 532-9102.

cream, blue, or red, $249. Himalayan

Siamese mixed breed $79 beautiful! 539-9494

ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

ers. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hun-dreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539-0801.

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wa-

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

cent lighting. Special $140.99. We may be hard to find, but when you get here you'll find the sweetest pets and best SERVICE in town. Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Wa-ters 539, 2464

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays

TWO K-STATE fans want

victory at Colorado. Please call Jeannie at

PORTATION

Automobiles 1984 CAMARO Z28 305 V-8 5.0 liter, excellent tion. $3000. 587-9470.

1984 PLYMOUTH Reliant. Excellent condition. Great work or school car. Very reliable, $1600 or best offer, call 1985 CHEVROLET Celebri-ty Eurosport sedan, V6, automatic, extras, runs, looks great, ex-patrol car, comfortable, reli-able, $1350, 539-2528. 1987 MUSTANG GT V-8 5.0 liter, red, five-speed, one owner, new tires. $4800, negotiable. Call Darren at 539-8395.

1994 BERETTA must sell V6, cassette automatic transmission, power locks, air conditioner, lock air conditioner, low mileage. Located in Silver Lake, KS. About 45 minutes east of Man-hattan. Call after 5p.m. 1–582–5254.

TOYOTA, COROLLA, 1982, four-door, manual, air, good condition, best offer 539-4672.

Bicycles

520

1993 TREK 930, 19-inch.

GET THE WORD OUT. 532-6555

776-9862. 530

PARKING

SOUTH OF THE

Motorcycles

1981 SUZUKI 550. Good condition, 8900 miles, great for school park-. $625. Call Jason

1990 HONDA, CBR 600F Hurricane, good condi-tion, helmet included, $2400 or best offer Must sell. Call 587-8261

TRAVEL/ TRIPS

Tour Packages

You'll never know unless you try...advertising.

COLLEGIAN

Peddle your bike

make room for that new one you want? Put your ad in the Collegian classifieds. Only $5 for up to 20 words. You'll pedal that new bike home in no time. KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

Kedzie 103 (east of the Union)

Need to sell your old bike to 532-6555

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY 115 Rooms Available 210 Resume/Typing

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events 050 Parties-n-More

100 REAL ESTATE 105 For Rent -Apt. Furnished

Apt. Unfurnished

110 For Rent

225 Pregnancy Testing

230 Lawn Care

140 For Rent - Garage 145 Roommate Wanted 245. Pet Services

160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale

SERVICE DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

200

215 Desktop Publishing 220 Sewing/Alterations

235 Child Care 240 Musicians/DJs

250 Automotive Repair 255 Other Services

300 EMPLOYMENT. CAREERS

310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Needer 330 Business

Opportunities

405 Wanted to Buy

410 Items for Sale 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

420 Garage/Yard Sales

430 Antiques 435 Computers

440 Food Specials

445 Music Instruments

425 Auction

450 Pets and Supplies 455 Sporting Equipment

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

500 PORTATION 510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

530 Motorcycles 540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/ TRIPS 610 Tour Packages

620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets

looking for, the classified ads

CATEGORIES

have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation. TIPS FOR

To help you find what you are

WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by

abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range

WE DO NOT USE PHONE

NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

EDUCATION

Sales tax, Cessna plant implications discussed

The implications of the economic-development sales tax was the primary focus of the Manhattan-Ogden board of education meeting last night.

Don Wissman, chairman of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, explained that one of the three components of the tax increase will be an opportunity fund set up by the city of Manhattan.

A portion of the opportunity fund will be used as an incentive for Cessna to build its new plant in Manhattan, Wissman said.

"We've gone about as far as we can go without additional funding for economic development," Wissman said.

If Cessna chooses Manhattan, it will mean more jobs for the community and better economic growth, he said.

'We should recognize that we have very slow job growth in this area," Wissman said.

"This is truly a one in a lifetime opportunity," Wissman said. "Cessna is known as being a very good employer."

Wissman said Manhattan does not have the necessary job openings to entice students to stay in the Manhattan area.

'We have a great educational system," Wissman said.

"I think we need to give young people a chance to get a job in Manhattan if they desire that," he

"I don't think we're doing that," Wissman said.

There will be several implications for the school district if the proposal passes and Cessna decides to build in Manhattan.

Manhattan Area The Technical Center was involved in writing the Cessna proposal, and it will be called upon for expertise if Cessna locates in Manhattan, Randy Martin, president of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, said.

"There is a real potential for Manhattan Area Technical Center to provide training for the Cessna employees, so that makes it nice from our standpoint," Flordie Pettis, vice-president of the Manhattan-Ogden board of education, said.

"A lot of money goes into the district for education. It would be nice to retain some of those nice, strong right-brains," Pettis said.

"It's really important for the public to be informed and become educated on this issue,' Mary Nichols, member of the Manhattan-Ogden board of education, said.

"We still have an awful lot of people in the community that are not registered to vote," Nichols

"It is really crucial, as a board of education, that we get people out to vote on the kinds of things that will really make a difference in the community," Nichols said.

Actors to present 'Macbeth'

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

classrooms and guest-lecture on Shakespearean topics and acting in general.

'It's a wonderful opportunity for our students to meet with professionals who are especially dealing with classics," Marci Maullar, managing director of K-State Theatre, said.

They have a knowledge they can bring to classes from experience," she said.

After the residency, the actors are presenting their version of "Macbeth" on Friday and Saturday night.

With five performers making up the cast, it should be an interesting sight to behold.

"We will confuse the audience," Stephen Casey, one of the actors, said. "It's almost impossible.

However, the central story will be very clear to the audience, Casey said.

The minor characters may be wee bit confusing," he added.

The Actors get around their small cast problems by taking on multiple roles. Instead of taking the time to change into a full costume with each character, they concentrate on creating a voice and expressions to distinguish each character.

In modern theater, it is common to perform Shakespearean play in modern

Even in Shakespearean times, the actors wore Jacobian dress instead of period costumes, David Howey, a performer for the actors, said.

Instead of hauling around a set, large costumes, and a crew, the actors carry all of their costumes and props in one suitcase (mostly because they fly to every performance).

The actors were last at McCain Auditorium in 1990 with their tour of "As You Like It."

That event was very successful. Tickets "Macbeth" may be hard to come by at this late date, but good seats are still available.

Open reading includes Yeats

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

whose husband was an alcoholic who paid little attention to her, even sex was a bi-annual event.

She later meets a man named Jesus on the way to see her actor/fantasy man, Tom Hickey. Jesus is everything she ever wanted in a man.

"It was like a fire burning

Jesus kisses her tenderly goodbye for now and promises to meet her again one day.

One of the final pieces read was Yeats's seat-gripping tale of Ireland's struggle independence from Britain's oppression near the time of World War I.

Death is the predominant theme, as old women and children are dying on their porches after being fired upon by the British Army.

Even beyond death is the surrender of the Irish Army to the English, "with the wind of death blowing upon their faces."

Shots protect from influenza, not from common cold

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

said it is important for people to get vaccinated before each flu season.

'On average, about five years after you've had it (the flu), your body will no longer recognize the strain that's there, so you can get it again," he said. "Every year we have an outbreak - certainly onefifth of the population should be getting it. That's what's unique about the flu. That's why it's always a threat."

Although the shot protects people from getting influenza, they will still get the same number of colds that they would get on average every year, Smith said.

"People tend to say 'I'll get the flu shot, so then I won't get any colds,' and that's not true," Smith said. "That isn't what it's going to do for you. It will keep you from getting influenza — the bad cold."

Every year, the Center for Disease Control tries to determine which of the strains of the virus are the ones which are most likely to cause infections, based on data collected from across the world. Then, they make the vaccinations accordingly, Smith said.

"Recently, the vaccination has been fairly successful, but theoretically, if the virus changes, it won't work. If a new strain came up that they weren't expecting, then you wouldn't be protected.'

This year is the first year that the vaccination will be offered to faculty members, Smith said.

"We've been offering it to students as long as the influenza vaccine has been available - over 20 years," he said. "This is the first year we've offered it to the faculty.

"There's always been the question of can you offer it because they haven't paid a health fee," Smith said.

'In some ways, students are offering this as a service to the faculty because their health center is providing the service. Everybody decided it was reasonable to do home by Saturday, the Adjutant

About two dozen members of

The 190th planes joined those

The Associated Press contributed to this

▶ REGENTS

Finney press conference expected to announce Bicknell appointment

FLU SHOTS

LAFENE HEALTH CENTER ROOM 121

DATES:

TIMES: 8:30-11:30 A.M. & 1-4:30 P.M.

NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED

CASH/CHECKS ONLY - K-STATE I.D. REQUIRED

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY OCT. 19 & 20

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITTSBURG - Gov. Joan Finney has scheduled a news conference here Wednesday afternoon amid speculation she appoint Pittsburg businessman Gene Bicknell to the state Board of Regents.

Her office in Topeka said on Tuesday that the news conference would begin about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, following ground breaking ceremonies on the Pittsburg State University campus for the new Kansas Technology Center. The news conference will be at the Wood Technology Building adjacent

MONDAY/TUESDAY

THURSDAY & FRIDAY

$5.25 STUDENTS

$8.25 FACULTY/STAFF

(1ST TIME OFFERED)

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

FOR PEOPLE

WITH LONG TERM

HEALTH PROBLEMS

to the land where the center is being built. Holladay, Mary governor's chief of staff, has confirmed Bicknell was under consideration for appointment, but declined to confirm or deny the governor would name him. Regents sources said rumors are strong she has decided to appoint Bicknell.

Bicknell, one of the nation's largest restaurant franchise owners, has twice unsuccessfully sought the Republican nomination for governor, in 1986 and this year. He has endorsed Democrat Jim Slattery in the Nov. 8 election.

OCT. 31 & NOV. 1

Nov. 10 & 11

Practice alert mistaken for real alert; guard unit to return from Gulf

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The weekend before last, CNN said the 1st Infantry was on alert, which never happened."

Fort Riley has been practicing for a division-wide alert the past couple of months, which is called Operation Manhattan, he said.

Meseke said some people troops at the fort to go overseas.

Operation Manhattan has four stages. During the first stage, commanders were briefed on proper procedure to be taken when troops are put on alert, Meseke said.

The second stage occurred last week, which was a notification for all troops on post, he said.

The third stage will occur Nov. 1 or Nov. 3. Troops will actually take vehicles to Forbes Field and Camp Funston and load vehicles onto planes. The fourth stage will occur in Febrary 1995. The 1st Brigade will deploy to the National Training Center at Fort Irwin, Calif.

The only Kansas unit to see duty in the latest buildup of U.S. forces in the Persian Gulf should be returning home to Topeka this weekend, the state adjutant general's office said.

Since the Persian Gulf situation has been stabilized, the 190th Air Refueling Group of the Kansas Air National Guard is expected back General Department said in a public statement on Tuesday.

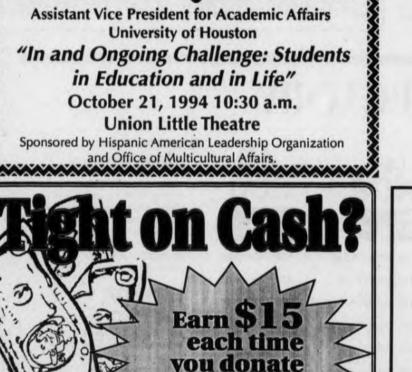

the 190th flew to Lajes Air Force Base in the Portuguese Azores two weeks ago when President Clinton ordered U.S. forces beefed up in Kuwait to blunt a buildup of Iraqi forces along the Kuwaiti border.

from groups in nine other states to help refuel U.S. aircraft as they flew to the Middle East.

HISPANIC AWARENESS MONTH KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs

NABI

plasma.

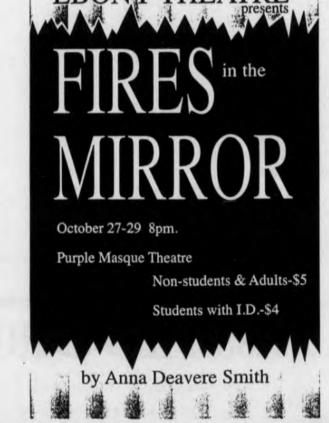

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL

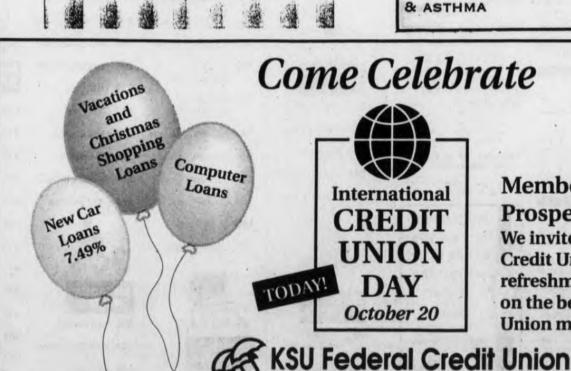

Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m.

Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

CENTER 1130 Gardenway

776-9177

1455 Anderson Avenue

Members and Prospective Members: We invite you to stop by the Credit Union Office for refreshments and information on the benefits of your Credit Union membership!

776-3003

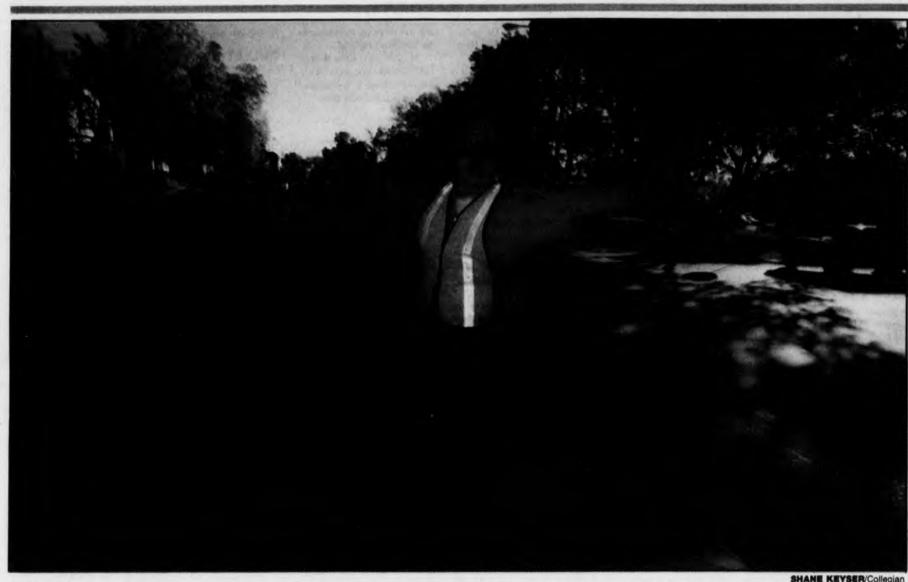

OF THE DICE' A former police officer speaks on the risks of drunk driving. PAGE 3

sunny WEATHER - PAGE 2

OCTOBER 21, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 44

William Boyle, K-State police officer, directs traffic at the intersection of Manhattan Avenue and Vattier Street during the 5 p.m. traffic rush Wednesday afternoon.

pus police direct traffic at busy inter

DOUG BASSETT

J.R. PRATHER

man in a purple shirt pauses before stepping onto North Manhattan Avenue, leaving campus to cross the street.

The officer in the orange safety vest waves him across while cars wait patiently at the crosswalk at the intersection of Vattier Street.

"Come on," the officer says. As the pedestrian crosses the center median, he holds up a hand of thanks to the officer.

Officer Bob Fenton is pulling trafficcontrol duty this Thursday afternoon, and traffic is heavy as faculty and students, finished for the day, wait for a chance to drive or walk across the busy avenue.

Fenton said that since the construction on Farrell Library closed Mid Campus Drive, K-State Police have been directing traffic at about 5 p.m. during the week at that intersection.

Fenton motions for two women jogging to wait on the sidewalk until traffic clears.

"I'll get them out of your way in a moment," he calls to them.

"OK!" they shout back.

Minutes later, a teal Chevy Cavalier screeches to a halt, leaving skid marks in the crosswalk. He obviously didn't see the officer until too late.

Fenton said he never had any close calls being hit, but a No Left Turn sign put up by the city has been knocked off about 10 times by drivers who aren't paying attention. Captain Robert Mellgren, of the campus police, said there had been no accidents involving any of the officers, but recently there have been quite a few car accidents at that intersection.

"Some of them have been more than minor ones," he said.

When the construction gets worse, so will the traffic problem, Mellgren said.

We are directing the traffic instead of the city, because the construction is our fault, not Manhattan's," he said.

Sgt. Andrew Amaro said the K-State administration's concern with the traffic was one of the reasons campus police began directing traffic from about 5 to 5:20 p.m.

"I went and watched the intersection at noon, and I don't think that it needs it at that time," he said.

Mellgren said he hopes this is a fairly short project. He said that signs or lights may go up at the intersection, but that is only speculation. "When it gets cold and rainy outside, nobody wants to stand out there and direct the traffic," Mellgren said. One pedestrian who crosses the intersection regularly said she feels safer since the crosswalk and concrete island were added to Manhattan Avenue.

"The people don't stop unless they have to," Jennifer Kadel, junior in hotel restaurant management, said.

"It seems to be busier than last year. I don't know if it is because of the construction or not," Kadel said.

Brad House II, senior in nutrition and exercise management, said he also appreciated the street improvements.

"I like the new median. It gives me more time to relax when I cross," House

Sheila Kopp, senior in nutrition and exercise science, said she thought having an officer to direct traffic was a good

"I would like to see them doing it all year-round," Kopp said. As Fenton finished directing traffic for the day, a man in a white knitted cap waved and called out. "Good job," he shouted. "Good job."

MANHATTAN

Hope, help provided by shelter

The Manhattan Emergency Shelter Inc. is a place for people to go in search of a home, help

"We exist primarily for people who have nowhere else to go," Ron Zerrer, executive director of MESI, said.

"There is a general feeling of helplessness. They have just given up hope," he said.

He said the shelter provides a sense of hope for the people who have been put into unfortunate situations and left without a place to

The shelter was established in 1985 to provide homeless and economically disadvantaged individuals and families an opportunity to regain their dignity and independence through temporary shelter, food, clothing and counseling.

It can hold 20 people, and in a tough situation, Zerrer said they can set up cots to accommodate up to 26 people.

Junell Norris, office manager, said the majority of the guests are victims of a financial

Some of the guests are also people who are traveling through on their way to another state.

Norris said that they have enough money for gas to get them where they are going but not for a place to stay. People passing through can stay up to two nights, Zerrer said.

He said the length of the stay depends on each individual case.

As long as the person is making an effort to help themselves and meet goals they have established, they can stay, Zerrer said.

"If they are doing something constructive to get themselves into independence, I'll work with them," he said.

"I wasn't doing anything productive. I want to get my life on track and in the right direction. These people here can help me do this," Greg Warne, a guest at the shelter, said.

Warne is out of work due to an injury. "I like to think we help people help themselves," Zerrer said The shelter is funded from three areas. Twenty-eight percent comes from the United Way, 20 percent from local and state government, and the rest from grants and private MESI has three full-time staff and many volunteers from the community and K-State. Meals are provided by churches, and K-State food-service students come in to help balance out the meals. Guests staying at the shelter are required to follow rules and help with daily chores.

"We try to make it as homey as possible, not to give them the idea that they can stay indefinitely, but that rules and regulations can

■ See SOCIETY Page 10

▶ CAMPUS

Taiwanese open film festival to public

What do you know about Taiwan? Think quickly. The Taiwanese film festival opening this weekend could help you learn more about everyday life in Taiwan. "Most people have heard of the country. This gives people a chance to show their friends more about Taiwan," Ming-Tie Huang, festival organizer and graduate student in physics, said. He said the Taiwanese Student Association normally just shows members the films, but this year's festival is the first time they have invited the public. It is also free, but children less than 13 years old are not encouraged to attend because of the movie content.

Huang said one of the films is a Kung-Fu movie and is rather graphic. The films were originally in Taiwanese but have English subtitles. Huang said all the films are fairly recent, with the oldest being from 1985. All but one has won at least one award.

Huang said he wanted to give festival goers a variety of different film styles but he was not sure how. 'The fact that they are award-winning makes it easier to choose these films," Huang said. The medium itself is also important,

"Film is a very powerful tool," Huang said. "Many of these films have won awards in Europe, and we want to introduce the films to people here." Huang said although the main reason for the festival is to have fun and give insight into everyday Taiwanese life, he hopes to get Americans to investigate the things that are not everyday events in Taiwan, like the political situation.

Huang said not many people realize Taiwan was once a part of mainland China, as the full name of the country is Taiwan (Republic of China). Mainland China is called the People's Republic of China and has a communist government, while Taiwan has a democratic one. There was a civil war after World War II and the losers went to what is now Taiwan.

It is also a little-known fact that Taiwan is not a recognized member of the United Nations. This has been brought up in UN subcommittee but the measure has been killed by the Chinese. Five different films will be shown.

"Wedding Banquet" is the most famous. It was nominated for the Academy Award for best foreign film. The showing is co-sponsored by the Union Program Council. Huang said "New Dragon Inn" is included because it is a Kung-Fu movie with modern film technology. He said they also wanted to show it because it is different from American martial-arts "All The Youthful Days" won the

Continental Film Festival of Nante in France. Huang said this film is different

MADE IN TAIWAN

8 p.m. Saturday Wedding Banquet Forum Hall 8 p.m. Saturday Terrorists Little Theatre

8 p.m. Sunday All The Youngful Days Little Theatre

8 p.m. Monday New Dragon Inn Little Theatre The Peach 8 p.m. Thursday

Little Theatre Blossom Land

from U.S. films because the mood of this film is created by acting rather than camera tricks such as close up shots. "Terrorists" won the Golden Horse

PHILL SPIKER/Collegian

Film Festival in Taiwan. Huang said it is a drama about modern life in the Taiwanese capital and largest city, Taipei. "The Peach Blossom Land" won its director, Sun-Chuan Lai, the Young Director award in the Toyko Film Festival. Lai has adapted his play about two theater companies who have to practice different plays on the same stage into this film.

▶ STUDENT SENATE

Roll-call vote bill passes for all votes on money

From now on, students will be able to know exactly how student senators want to spend their money. Student Senate passed a bill that requires a roll-call vote on any money bill at its meeting Thursday night. Becca Korphage, arts and sciences senator, voted against the bill because roll-call votes would require unnecessary time, she said. "We need to be accountable to fellow students, but we also have a responsibility to be efficient," Korphage said.

"I think this bill promotes inefficiency." LeDoux. Trent agriculture senator, supported the bill. He suggested several ways of voting that would make roll calls less time consuming. "I can't believe there are senators who would be against this bill because it is inconvenient," LeDoux "I am held individually responsible by my constituents, and that is

Later in the meeting, a motion was made to reconsider this bill. Patrick Carney, arts and sciences senator, said the roll-call voting seemed more inefficient than first thought.

the way it should be.'

"We can be more efficient, but that will not make us more effective," Michael Henry, arts and sciences senator, said. "We can whip through the agenda, but that will not serve the students."

David Winkler, human ecology senator, said the intention of the bill was good. However, he said he wanted the legislation to be more specific on how the vote would be taken.

The legislation was not

See ALLOCATIONS Page 6

Election * * VOTER REGISTRATION * *

THE SIGNUP: REGISTRATION

The deadline to register to vote is Monday, Oct 24.

Register at:

Office of Student Activities and Services in the K-State Union County clerk's office Manhattan City Hall Douglas Center Manhattan Public Library Dillons west

UMB Citizens Bank and Trust west First Savings Bank in Village

Plaza K-State Bank on Bluemont Avenue

K-State Bank in Westloop Commerce Bank in Westloop Manhattan High School

Social and Rehabilitation Services Office Carpenters' Union

Kinder Care Learning Centers

SARA SMITH/Collegia

NEWS BRIEFS

► ANNUAL CULTURAL NITE TO BENEFIT LUNG-TRANSPLANT PATIENT

The second-annual International Cultural Nite will celebrate the diverse cultures found at K-State and, at the same time, help a friend in need.

"All proceeds will go to the daughter-in-law of Joan Parker, an employee of the International Student Center, who has a medical ailment which will involve a lung transplant," Navin Nagiah, graduate student in electrical and computer engineering, said.

Nagiah said Parker has been a very dedicated worker and has done a lot for international stu-

The event, sponsored by the International Coordinating Council, begins at 5 p.m. Saturday at the Manhattan Middle School auditori-Nagiah said there will be a $3 charge for food but no charge for entertainment.

"Our council is made up of 18 cultural groups that promote their culture during events during the year," Nagiah said.

"We want to increase the cultural awareness among the Manhattan community and function as a platform where the different cultures of the world meet," he said.

Srini Sundhararajan, graduate student in electrical engineering, said cultural events sponsored by the council have been popular in the Manhattan community.

"Some people have asked for an international night in the fall semester in addition to the International Week that occurs each fall," Sundhararaian said.

Food from different cultures will be sold from 5 to 7 p.m., followed by songs, dancing and music from different countries, Sundhararajan said

"We have about 15 performances from nine different cultures," Sundhararajan said.

Nagiah said this year is different from last year because there are certain events that involve a mix of more than one culture.

Nagiah said one song that will be presented will involve the combination of a Taiwanese classical instrument called an ituochi peepa and a

CULTURAL NITE

International Cultural Nite begins at 5 p.m. Saturday at Manhattan Middle School. The charge is $3.

trombone from Germany.

"Puerto Ricans will be presenting a dance called the Bamba, which is cultivated by the descendants of Africa," Nagiah said.

Also, some Japanese participants will be singing a love song called Eskiaki, he said.

"Interestingly, in 1961, the English version of Eskiaki was a No. 1 song in the United States," Nagiah said. Nagiah said ICC expects between 400 and 500 international and national people to attend International Cultural Nite '94. LESLEY MOSS

► A PROPOSED HALF-CENT SALES TAX TO FUND JAIL-EXPANSION PROJECT

Karen McCulloh, chairwoman of the Manhattan city commission, and Geralyn Tracz, of Citizens Organized for Responsible Jail Placement, spoke to the Manhattan Rotary Club Thursday on the issue of the Riley County jail expansion.

The November ballot will include an initiative to raise the Riley County sales tax 0.5 percent to fund the jail expansion.

Funding the jail through a salestax increase instead of a propertytax increase will be 2-1/2 times cheaper for the average family, McCulloh said. If the jail expansion is funded by a sales-tax increase, there will be $500,000 to $1 million in interest on the loan. The interest on a loan funded through a property-tax increase would be $6 million. McCulloh said.

The city and county commissions have proposed to expand the current jail and build a law enforcement complex that would house both the police department and jail.

BOBBY T'S

Munchie Buffet

4:30-7 p.m.

75¢ Raw Oysters Live Entertainment Every Weekend

Steak & Shrimp Specials $7.99

Drink Specials

"We need to put the police department with the jail to save on staffing cost. Sixty-three percent of the cost of building and operating a jail is paying the staff," McCulloh

McCulloh is in support of expanding on the current site to save costs of buying new land and to keep the facilities close to Riley County Courthouse.

"Any time you make a move, it jumps the cost," McCulloh said.

McCulloh said that it would cost $1.5 million to purchase new land the same distance from the courthouse as the current location.

If the jail remains at the current site, there will have to be $750,000 of repairs made to the building.

it would save the taxpayers $750,000," McCulloh said. The cost of moving would not be

"By staying on at the current site.

that great, Tracz said.

"Commercial land is $6,000 to $7,000 an acre, and so even if we bought 10 acres, it would not be that expensive." Tracz said.

The 2.1 acres that the jail is on could then be sold to help with the costs of relocating.

Tracz and the other opponents of expanding the jail on the current site are concerned with the proximity of the jail to Seven Dolors Catholic Church and School. They want a new location that would put the jail away from a residential area and school.

The existing jail is obsolete and needs to be replaced, McCulloh said. A new jail must be built to meet federal regulations, or the city could face litigation.

"There are a number of issues that we could be sued over," McCulloh said.

If the voters approve the salestax increase to fund the jail, it will go into effect Jan. 1, 1995.

TRACEY STINSON

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19

At 11:01 am., a female reported being battered by an exboyfriend in Lot D-1E.

At 5:55 pm., a subject reported the theft of her purse from a room in Dickens Hall. The purse At 10:40 a.m., a subject fell contained credit cards, keys and personal items. Loss was estinated at $78.

harassing telephone calls.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20

north of the Union and suffered a leg or ankle injury. The subject was transported to Lafene Health

At 11:30 a.m., a subject was having a seizure in Bluemont Hall 101 and was taken to Lafene Health Center

At 10:20 pm., a student from Ford Hall filed an info report on

At 11:55 a.m., a subject was having a possible heart attack and was taken by ambulance to the Saint Mary Hospital.

At 12:15 p.m., Jason Walker, 1632 McCain Lane, reported hitand-run damage to his vehicle. Damage was less than $500.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19

At 4:08 p.m., Ola Guesby, 4460 Tuttle Creek Blvd., Lot 32, reported a burglary. Taken was bath towels, a purse, $450 in cash, a 14-karat-18-in. chain, a gun case, camera and misc. office supplies. Loss was $1,366.

At 5:06 p.m., a stalking and phone-harassment report was

At 7:00 p.m., a camp fire was reported on the east side of the mall by the river. The Manhattan Fire Department extinguished the

At 7:20 p.m., George Stibb,

308 8th St., Apt. 15, reported 20 cassette tapes and three compact discs taken from his vehicle. Loss was $145.

At 7:47 p.m., Jody D. Koehn, 320 Boyd Hall, and Teresa J. Williams, 1322 N. 10th St., were involved in a major-damage accident

At 8:14 p.m., Ann Martin, 751 DeHoff Drive, hit a deer on Highway 77.

At 10:59 p.m., three subjects were involved in a fight at 1124 Fremont St. No arrests were

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The world is getting smaller. Make yours larger. Volunteer to tutor an international student in the Conversational English Program. Contact Kathy Hund at the International Student Center.

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

The deadline for applications to the Community Service Program International Teams is today. Teams will be sent to Jordan, India, Mexico, Paraguay and Zaire. Applications are still available. For more information, call 532-5701.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

BULLETINS MANAGEMENT

■ InterVarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7 p.m. today at the south side of the Union to car pool to the barn party.

■ The final oral defense of Eugenio Bortone's doctoral dissertation is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. today in Waters 03G.

KSU Women's Union will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday in Union ■ Playwright's Stage will present "Sick Fucker" at 2 p.m.

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

Highs in the 60s to low 70s.

STATE OUTLOG

Dry Sunday through Saturday.

Lows in the upper 30s to mid-40s.

TOMORROW III

Sunny and dry with high of 70 and low of

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Residence Hall Make-up

From 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and 4-8p.m. in Union 209

Friday, Oct. 21

Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Monday, Oct. 24

KSU College of Education Ambassadors 6:00 p.m. Steel Ring 6:20 p.m.

Human Ecology Council 6:40 p.m.

Environmental Design Students Assoc. 7:00 p.m. National Honor Society in Psychology 7:20 p.m. BACCHUS 7:40 p.m.

American Society of Interior Designers 8:00 p.m. Alpha Zeta 8:20 p.m.

> Chimes 9:00 p.m. KSU Water-ski Team 9:20 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

$2 U Call It Night (any drink $2) $4.99 Sizzlin' Steak Night By Cico Park Kimball & Seth Childs

Candlewood Center

MES DE LA RAZA HISPANA

Dance to the rhythms of Salsa, Merengue, and Reggae

Saturday, Oct. 22 9 p.m. at Bombers 1120 Moro St. in Aggieville

> $4 WITH K-STATE ID / $5 WITHOUT SPONSORED BY THE KSU HISPAMIC AMERICAN LEADERSHIP ORGANIZATION

"A Tradition of Caring" ....

UNITED WAY 1994

Yesterday, today & tomorrow!....from the original 4 agencies funded by The Community Chest in 1944...to the current 13 agencies funded by The United Way, a strong community tradition of caring has and will continue far into the future with your continued support.

Your Local United Way Agencies: Red Cross, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan, Boy Scouts, Crisis Center, Homecare & Hospice, Girl Scouts, Ks. Children's Service League, Manhattan Day Care Center, Manhattan Emergency Shelter, Retired & Senior Volunteer Program and Salvation Army.

In The 60's & 70's

1960's—The impetus began in the previous "flood decade" ... of helping others was continued into the 60's. By 1965 the Community Chest became The United Fund with a goal of $46,985.

1970's—The challenge of caring for families of Vietnam veterans and other local humanitarian needs again found The United Fund playing a major roll locally. The "Fund" became The United Way in 1978.

Bill Varney United Fund Chairman 1962

Charles Hostetler United Fund Co-Chairman

Golden Anniversary T-Shirts Are Available At: It's Greek To Me, Varney's Book Store, K-State Union Book Store, Monograms Plus, Vista Drive-In, Alco, Memorial Hospital Gift Shop and St. Mary Hospital Gift Shop.

United Way of Riley County

106 South 4th Street

Manhattan

▶ SPEECH

A state patrolman says drinking and driving isn't worth the risk involved

Patrolman who almost died from injuries sustained while in pursuit of driver spoke Thursday

TRINA HOLMES

Riding with an impaired driver is like taking your chances on the roll of a die, Michael Buckingham, a Washington State patrolman, said.

Buckingham, an officer that almost died from injuries sustained while in pursuit of a drunken driver, spoke to a group of about 30 people in the K-State Union Station Thursday night as part of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness week.

Walking about the room, Buckingham asked audience members to raise their hands if they had ever ridden with someone who had been drinking or ever driven a car after consuming alcohol.

Most raised their hands.

Then, Buckingham asked audience members to raise their hands if they had ever been in alcohol-related

Only two people raised their hands.

Based on that, Buckingham said it probably seemed like the odds were really good that a person wouldn't get hurt drinking and driving.

But, he said taking this view was like gambling your life on the roll of a die. "If you're betting money on dice, it's one thing, but if you're betting your arm, or leg, or eyes, or future or someone else's future, that's something else," Buckingham said.

He then walked around the room and asked audience members if they locked their car doors.

Most said they did for safety reasons.

"We personalize the threat of someone breaking into our car," Buckingham said.

"Isn't it incredible how valuable our car seems, or the tapes or books and other personal items we have in our cars? Well, what about impaired driving — do we personalize it in the same way?" he said.

"If we did, I think we'd be more apt to do more about the problem and preventing the problem from affecting us," he said.

Studies have been done that show a person's thinking, judgment, inhibitions and reaction time are impaired by just one beer, Buckingham said.

"Have you ever had it happen that after one beer your inhibitions change ever so slightly, and what you wouldn't do normally, you do when you've had a beer?"

"Have you ever had it happen that you realize your own particular abilities after you've had a beer? You start to feel a little stronger? You start to feel a little sexier? That's exactly what studies have found."

Buckingham asked audience members if they would ride in an airplane flown by a pilot friend with whom they had shared one cocktail.

In the audience, Crista Shufflebarger, junior in wildlife biology, answered yes, but said she would feel uneasy if a doctor were going to take out her tonsils after having one

"I never really thought about people who'd had one drink before," Shufflebarger said.

"When your friends do it, it's like he (Buckingham) said, you trust them and don't expect them to cause you harm," she said.

Then Buckingham launched into a narrative about two men; Brian, 21, who was under the influence of alcohol, and Don, 22, who was a sober driver.

Neither were killed nor maimed in a three-person impaired-driving accident, he said.

Brian and Don's only permanent injuries were the memories that kept reoccurring after the collision that took place — their post-traumatic stress, Buckingham

He said he was the third person involved in the accident as a 28-year-old police officer.

He told audience members not to try and look at the accident through his eyes, but through Brian and Don's.

After the accident, Don had flashbacks when he was at self-service gas stations.

"He had nightmares and would wake up at midnight, shaking and screaming," Buckingham said. "Brian had a conscience — he remembered, and in his own words, that night began 'the beginning of living in an emotional hell," Buckingham said. Although Buckingham was burned, along with his patrol car, he said he wouldn't have traded places with either Brian or Don. "By the grace of God I didn't die, and I thank him very much - I thank him every day," Buckingham said. "We all have bad days, but I'm incredibly blessed - I don't remember the accident. I don't have nightmares or flashbacks. "I think the physical injuries are easier to handle. I just hit 76 earlier than most. I missed the graying behind the ears. I missed the years you go from your bones slowly getting sore to the years your bones get sore real quick, he said.

"But because I don't remember, I don't have flashbacks. You couldn't pay me enough money to trade places with Brian or Don.

Michael Buckingham speaks to a small group on the effects of drinking and driving Thursday evening in the Union Station.

(NO coupon needed. No Coupon" Specials Two-fers Three-fers - PIZZAS with - TOPPING each PIZZAS with - TOPPINGS each - COKES with ice 2 - COKES with ice $10.34 $8.45

Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Mr. Goodcents Subs & Pastas®

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store)

Sub Sandwiches

Cheddar-Provolone

Standard Dressings

Oregano

Also Available

We Deliver! (minimum $5limited delivery area)

539-1900

Large

99 cents

99 cents

79

Hot Pastas

(White or Wheat Bread)

1) Mr. Goodcents Combo 299 499 cents bread) (Ham, Bologna, Salsmi, Pepperoni) 2) Centeable Sub 269 4 479 cents Spaghetti 289 Mostaccioli 289 349 349 349 3) Penny Club 499 cents 359 cents 359 cent oast Beef, Turkey, Ham) Rigatoni 4) Italian Combo Capicola, Pepperoni, S 5) Ham & Cheese 499 cents 499 cents 499 cents 6) Pepperoni & Cheese 7) Salami 8) Roast Beef 9) Turkey 10) Tunafish 299 299 299 299 299 299 Sides 499 cents 499 cents (6) 260 cents (6) 399 cents (6) 189 cents (2) 99 (2) 149 (2) 69 499 cents 12) Mr. Goode 339 539 cents & Cheese 13) Meatball 299 299 499 cents 14) Sausage 299 cents (green peppers & or 15) Chicken Salad Chef Salad 299 499 cents Chicken Salad 279 cents 299 16) Cheese Mix 17) Seafood Sub 499 cents 279 cent 539 cents Garden Salad 169 cen Cheese Double Meat 30 cent Soup (season Pasta Salad Potato Salad 179 cent 65 cent Cheeses Available riss-American-Mozzarella

> 79 cents 60 cents Party Trays Available Prices are subject to change without prior notice

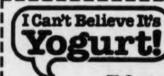

Sprite, Mr. Pibb

Jewelry Sale

Oct. 21 & 22 All Gold Jewelry 30-50% off!

Cash, Pawn & Gun, Inc. 1917 Ft. Riley Blvd. Manhattan, KS. 66502 776-3332

11th & Moro - Aggieville 537-1616

oue un

Any Coffee On Our Menu

With This Coupon

New Hours 7 a.m. - 11 p.m. Dally 10 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sundays

539-7496

St. Isidore's

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. For free transportation within city limits, call the church. Pastors Karen & Alan Selig

2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691 An American Baptist Congregation

Grace Baptist Church 2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)

◆ Sunday ◆ Three Unique Worship Opportunities 8:15 + 9:30 + 11 a.m.

Bible Classes For All Ages - 9:30 a.m. All-Age Family Hour - 11 a.m. Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m. 776-0424

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m. Pastor Harris Waltner Fremont Child Care Available

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH 5th & Humboldt Worship & Praise 8:30 a.m. Traditional Worship 10:55 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. COLLEGE FELLOWSHIP Live Broadcast 11:30 a.m. Angel 95 (95.3 FM) Wed. Eve. Bible Study

& Youth Programs

PASTOR DR. DONALD E. BREZAVAR

UNITY CHURCH of MANHATTAN

1021 Denison Ave. (E.C.M. Building) Meditation 10:15 a.m. Service 11 a.m. "The Daily Word People"

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY

CHURCH Welcome Back, Students

Morning Worship 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday School 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groups)

6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173 ST. FRANCIS CANTERBURY

EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY

Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel every Sunday at 5 p.m.

Call 532-9099

CHRISTIAN CHURCH English Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m Sunday School 9:15 a.m.

Catholic Student Center

Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30., 11a.m. & 5 p.m.

Confessions: Sat. 3:30 p.m.

chaptain: Father Keith Weber

₁ CRESTVIEW

Chinese Worship 1 p.m. 4761 Tuttle Creek Blvc. (3 miles north of Kimball Ave.) 776-3798

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

(LCMS) Campus Pastor James Gau

Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m. Sat. Worship 6 p.m. Bible Class Sunday 9:30 a.m. 330 N. Sunset Ave. 539-2604

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship 9:45 a.m. Church School Nursery provided for all services Omer G. Tittle, Pastor

612 Poyntz 776-8821 DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

First Congregational Church 700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006 Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m.

Sermon: "Flying Blind" Sunday, Oct. 23

Rev. Donald Longbottom

Lutheran Campus Ministries

WORSHIP Sundays 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel

Holy Communion celebrated every Sunday

+sing, pray, meditate

+pursue your questions of faith +hear a word of acceptance and forgiveness +bring a friend

Pastor Jayne Thompson

539-4451

-Open to All-

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Students running out of time to register

Students' last chance to register to vote is Monday.

There are probably several reasons only 94 students were registered at the Student Governing Association sponsored voter- registration drive.

The county clerk could have sent a person to the Union for two more days as the SGA requested. SGA's initiative can be praised, but they could have advertised

None of this matters now. What matters is that people still register. Send a message to the community of which we are all members, into which we pump millions of dollars through taxes and commerce that you have an opinion.

Don't let your apathy force you into silence. There are several issues important to this community that will be on the ballot.

One question asks residents to raise the sales tax by 0.5 percent in order to add on to the jail.

■ Another 0.5 percent sales-tax increase would raise money for Manhattan economic development.

Students will also have an opportunity to vote for county commissioners and a variety of state positions.

If students pull together, they can be a political force in this community. Other residents of Manhattan are afraid of that. Send them a message. Register.

Then, spend some time, get informed on the issues and go out on Nov. 8 and vote.

TOLES

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

ALLOCATIONS

$17,000 should go toward skating rink

$17,000. That's a lot of money, and the SGA just can't decide what to do with it. Well, because part of it is MINE, here's what I'd like to see done with it.

Can anyone tell me what one of the fastest growing sports in America is? HOCKEY! Both ice and roller hockey are taking off as one of the fastest growing sports both played and watched.

What does this have to do with the $17,000 burning a whole in the SGA's pocket? With that much money and a little work, there is a building right here on campus that would make a superb ice/roller rink. Weber Hall.

Think about it. The only thing Weber gets used for right now is rodeos and cattle judging. If a cement floor was put in, it could be used as an ice/roller rink and then

"H $17,000 fall into your lap the way it has for the SGA is a blessing, indeed.'

KEVIN PETERSON

dirt could be brought in whenever a rodeo or cattle judging was going on. Maybe there already is a cement floor, but if there isn't, I know of a contractor in Junction City who would be willing to lay the cement for free. Right now the closest thing to this type of facility in the area is in Kansas City. The ice rink in the City Park has good intentions, but it's just too small.

As it stands now, the KSU Ice Hockey Club travels as far away as South Dakota and Indiana to play games. They have to travel to Kansas City just in order to practice. Next semester, the KSU Roller Hockey Club will be starting up and playing other schools on a tennis court, which is not an attractive thought.

Don't misunderstand me. The Weber facility wouldn't be used just for the sports clubs on campus. Whenever the clubs aren't using it, Weber could be open to the public and admission could be charged (with student discounts, of course). Having $17,000 fall into your lap the way it has for the SGA is a blessing, indeed. I only hope they use their imaginations and don't give it to the library for books that will just get lost in the stacks, anyway.

Kevin L. Peterson senior in parks and recreation administration STEREOTYPES

Female writer should just report

To begin, I would like to applaud the Collegian to be able to go beyond stereotypes and have a female sports reporter on staff.

Challenging stereotypes is necessary in this day and age. Unfortunately, those in that position, such as Nicole Poell, have even more weight placed on their shoulders to do a good job whether they want it or not.

Too many people still feel that women can't report sports interestingly or adequately. The fact that Nicole chose to write about how many guys hit on her, or smacked her butt at the K-State/KU game, only reinforces the feeling that sports reporting should be limited to men. Can we blame them?

Nicole, it's great you like reporting and want to report sports, but please do so.

Abigail Clark graduate student, secondary education

Jeff Barrett chooses songs that can be easily captured by a singular instrument. He enjoys the music out of the 1960s, '70s and '80s.

E KEYSE

Musician's work is more than a night job

n a cell room, a bar lines the east wall; booths with patched cushions are along the west.

At the north end is an area roped off and reserved for musicians to ply their trade. This dark, momentarily quiet room provides me with a glimpse of a place similar to those where now-famous artists began their careers.

▶ GUEST

URRAN

Soon people begin to file in. From the conversations and greetings of others, it's easy to figure that they are regulars. They come to meet with friends, have a quiet drink and enjoy the incredible acoustic sounds of local musicians

The man I've come to see walks in. He's confident, friendly and suited to his mild celebrity status among the regulars. Quite comfortable in this environment, he is not unlike the person I will speak with later, who is exactly sure what it is that I want from him.

As the music begins and the sounds weave their way through the crowd, I lose my previous discomfort of being overdressed, too old and quite out of place in these surroundings, and I begin to appreciate the richness of sound.

Jeff Barrett plays tunes originally recorded by Jimmy Buffett, Van Morrison, James Taylor and others. He not only plays these widely recognizable songs, but he listens to them at home and has a philosophy built on them. He says the songs made in the 1960s, 70s and early 80s are written with a little more soul and meaning than today's music.

The music Jeff plays helps him to reach the goal he set when he first began performing, which was to provide a more friendly atmosphere than what was usually available in a nightclub. Bars and nightclubs are generally places to pick up dates or get sloppy drunk in a physically and musically aggressive atmosphere. The nights he performs, however, Jeff said he feels there is more social drinking and less drinking to get drunk; the patrons are in a much less aggressive mood and are more relaxed than on other nights.

Onstage, Jeff announces that anyone in the audience is welcome to come up and perform. Presently, a few other people join him to sing along. A woman named Sylvia takes the stage to perform a few Janice Joplin songs, which her voice is eminently suited for. While Sylvia plays, I am reminded that Jeff is very active in promoting open-mike nights, which encourage acoustic musicians to perform in public. When Jeff wanted to begin performing, Manhattan had no outlet suitable for his music. He played in Kansas City during the summer, but Manhattan was lacking in live-music entertainment and didn't promote the exposure of new talent.

He was fortunate to pair up with an experienced acoustic musician who had the equipment and knowledge to break through local barriers. This man has since left, but Jeff has kept up and expanded this new acoustic music tradition. As the evening progresses, more people begin to crowd in. The atmosphere, though still friendly, begins to change. Becoming more boisterous and rowdy, Jeff skillfully works the crowd by playing requests. With this new involvement of the audience, the show becomes one big sing-along. No one cares if it's off-key and words are missed. The fun of this type of show is the recognizability of the music and the audience participation.

It's not unlike the way Jeff himself became enthralled with the acoustic sound. During spring break of his freshman year, a friend played for a group of people. Jeff instantly responded to the emotions of the audience that were evoked by the performance. Jeff himself says the intimacy of nightclub performances captures and resonates those positive emotions, and this is one of the reasons that this artist continually exposes his talents onstage.

In listening to the songs he chooses, you not only get a feel for what type of music Jeff likes, but you also begin to understand a little about his acoustic performance. Most of the songs performed were originally recorded by big-name artists with bands and a variety of instruments. But no matter now varied the sources, every score has one thing in common: the underlying singular rhythm that is easily captured by one instrument. Jeff explained to me that there is nothing more beautiful than the sound of an acoustic guitar - I am inclined to agree with him. The music I've been exposed to tonight by Jeff and others does nothing but enrich my appreciation for basic, simple, yet melodious rhythm.

Jeff uses a harmonically perfect, 12string Ovation. This guitar has an electromagnetic pickup to amplify the waves; it is wider than normal to provide more bass and more resonance. This isn't his first instrument, not by far, but it is his favorite. Jeff began playing the piano as a child. He had no interest in lessons but soon taught himself how to play. He went from piano to drums, others instruments and eventually the guitar. And though Jeff can read a score, he still prefers to teach himself the songs rather than read them.

This night of incredible music, excellent experiences and memories of similar evenings begins to wind down. The crowd is still and quiet after the frenzied pitch of energy and excitement reached its peak. Jeff, though visibly exhausted, continues to play in a more relaxed manner, gently strumming a tune. Now, in the quiet as Jeff performs one of his (and my) favorites, "Tears in Heaven," I notice his voice takes on many of the tonal qualities and inflections found in Eric Clapton's recording of this song.

Jeff later explains that with certain artists like Eric Clapton or Van Morrison, these inflections are just as important, if not more important, than the words and chording. He feels that the tonal qualities are more important than the words or chording. Most of the songs are simple, but the way they are sung brings images to mind that otherwise would not have been there if sung by a different artist. He does make an effort to use the same chords as the original artists and to have the same inflections, but he doesn't consciously try to manipulate his voice to emulate them.

Throughout the evening, I also noticed that his voice is an original, taking on the fine qualities he learned from hearing Eric Clapton, Elton John and Billy Joel so often. Though I've yet to hear him perform one of his original songs, I'm sure he brings along the skills he's learned on a demo tape - what he will do with this tape is yet to be decided. His future is still unwritten.

Though Jeff enjoys performing, he is unsure if being a professional artist is right for him, or even if he would be wanted by the music industry. Jeff enjoys the intimacy and the immediate response of playing in nightclubs. He has no illusions of becoming a big-name star. A senior in mass communications and advertising, Jeff is looking toward having a career in this field while keeping his night job. He thinks of performing more as fun and less as work, but it's still a night job.

This wonderful night has come to an end. The bar announces last call, and Jeff thanks all of us for coming down to spend the evening with him and his friends. As I put on my coat and prepare to leave, I feel that just listening to Jeff's performance tonight, spending time talking to him about his music and writing this story, has made me appreciate the talents of Jeff, Sylvia and countless others like them so much more than I had before. I now believe that there are more incredibly excellent musicians than most of us know. Most of them never make it to a label because they choose not to.

Lori Curran is a senior in anthropology.

Flint Hills 2541 Road Race

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OCTOBER 21, 1994

Coach displeased with team's play

"Grotesque" was the word Coach Jim Moore used to describe his volleyball team's performance in Ames, Iowa.

Yes, grotesque.

"We played awful we just weren't there," Moore said.

"There's no excuse it was a lack of effort.'

K-State lost the match in three games, 15-3, 15-8, 15-7, and in one match K-State recorded seven kills with seven errors

Moore said coming into the game he didn't think his team would play well.

"Our behavior before the match indicated how we would play," he

"There was no life, no enthusiasm, no effort."

He said Suzanne Hagge did come off the bench and play well. Hagge led the offensive front, hitting .500 with five kills and only one error in eight attempts. "She came in and tried to get people fired up," he said. The Cats have lost their last three of four games, including one

And Moore said a mid-season slump is no excuse.

"That's garbage, too bad," Moore said. "I don't believe in those clichés a lot of people use, it's a lack of fight.

"I've told these girls this is the biggest week in their history and that might have hurt them a little, but we've got to come together."

Moore said the Oklahoma game is a must-win.

The Wildcats are bringing into the match a 2-3 record in the Big Eight and an overall record of 12-7, while the Sooners are 10-9 overall and 1-5 in the conference.

The match-up is essential to get back on the winning track and for the Big Eight Conference tournament.

"If we have any big hope of making the Big Eight tournament, we've got to win Saturday," Moore

"They can prove to themselves they can work well, they just need to do it," he said.

The Cats will play the Sooners at 7:30 p.m., Saturday at Ahearn

► INTRAMURALS

Dream Team III puts fraternity champ to bed

DEBBIE PILANT

Dream Team III defended their all-University flag football championship by defeating the Theta Xi team 20-14 Tuesday at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

Eight of the 13 players from last year returned to defend their title after changing the name from Legion of Doom.

The game went down to the final play as the two battled back and forth exchanging touchdown for touchdown.

Jeremy McFadden, wide receiver and safety for the Theta Xi team, scored a touchdown and made a key catch for a first down. He said missed flag pulls and a turnover cost them the game.

"The turnover cost us, because they got to run more plays, and we had to try for deep plays at the end," he said. He said those deep plays had been successful in the past, so they tried to beat the Dream Team deep.

'We had deep plays that worked before, but not at the end," he said.

Keith Sides, quarterback, running back and safety for Dream Team III, said the team tried to keep the ball on the ground, and the defense stopped Theta Xi when they had to.

"We have fast guys," he said, "They're hard to stop. They run a really good offense."

Justin Salmans, cornerback for Dream Team III, said the defense tried to let their rusher, Chuck Allen, press the quarterback to contain that speed.

'We ran a match zone and let Chuck run down the quarterback," he said, "We had to cover the guys to let him get close.' He said they gave the Theta Xis the short yardage and went for the Salmans said the Theta Xi speed was tough to handle. He said it took the team through the first quarter to get used to it.

"They have fast guys, so we had to run them down," he said."They had a good offense and good schemes.

Salmans said the defense had to make several adjustments to contain the Theta Xis.

"They like to run trips, so we had the defensive end get on the line to take away the pass," he said. "That made their passes longer,"

Sides said the Theta Xi defense was tough to figure out.

"It was hard to get through the middle," he said, "We tried to run some misdirection, but they covered it well. They really stayed at home.

He said scoring first helped relax the defense and that helped them play better.

"If you know the offense is operating, the defense doesn't have to be tense," he said.

All three said this was their toughest game this season.

"We hadn't played a fraternity team, so it was really tough," Sides

"We felt a lot of pressure since we won last year. McFadden said Dream Team III was the toughest opponent he had faced. He said he thought the Theta Xis could've won.

"They're the all-U team. They're the best out there," he said.

Salmans said Dream Team III was a very close team. He said they all played in high school, and flag football wasn't much different.

"The team has good team cohesiveness," he said, "We can tell each other exactly what we think."

Two Nebraska defenders, Christian Peter and Dwayne Harris claw at quarterback Chad May during last Saturday's game. May was sacked six times by the Cornhuskers in K-State's 17-6 loss.

▶ FOOTBALL

Wildcats tangle with No. 2 again

K-State has found a tough place to rebound after a loss. The Wildcats will face the second-ranked Colorado Buffaloes at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at Boulder, Colo. Colorado is coming off a 45-7 thrashing of Oklahoma, and the Cats are trying to bounce back after a 17-6 loss to Nebraska. However, K-State coach Bill Snyder said his team remains confident and isn't having any trouble forgetting about the loss to Nebraska. "I have no doubts about our players and their frame of mind," Snyder said. "The next step is to re-focus on the next game, as it is every week, and I think they've done that."

Snyder said although they were disappointed in the loss to the Cornhuskers, they aren't dwelling

"We're not a different team than we were a week ago today," he said. "We're a good football team that got beat by a good football team."

The Colorado offense does not allow the Cats to rest, Snyder said.

"They have the leading rusher 20.9. in the nation and the second or third leading passer in the nation," Snyder said. "They pose all of the threats a great offense can pose." The nation's top rusher that Snyder referred to is Rashaan Salaam. Salaam captured the Big Eight Conference's Player of the Week by virtue of his 161 yards rushing and four touchdowns against Oklahoma. The Heisman candidate averages 175.7 yards per game and has scored 96 points so far this season. He leads the nation in both categories.

"I feel real blessed to be up for the Heisman," Salaam said. "But I've got other goals. I want to help this team to be 11-0 come Jan. 1, and I want to be national champs."

Kordell Stewart ranks second in the nation in passing with a 161.9 rating.

The weapons don't stop with Salaam and Stewart, as wide receiver Michael Westbrook and tight end Christian Fauria are among league leaders as well.

Westbrook is atop the Big Eight in receiving yards per game with 71.3. Additionally, he leads the league in yards per catch with Fauria is fifth in the Big Eight in catches per game with 3.7. He leads the team in receptions with

"Our defense played pretty well against Nebraska, but if we play pretty well again, we'll get the same result," linebacker Percell Gaskins said.

Despite all of the stars on offense, Snyder said it is the defensive side of the ball where the Buffaloes have shown the most improvement this season.

"They've had some let downs, but they have gotten better and better week in and week out against some extremely fine football teams," Snyder said.

Linebacker Ted Johnson leads Colorado with 71 tackles and two quarterback sacks on the season. Defensive tackle Shannon Clavelle, who earned all-Big Eight honors last season, has 39 tackles on the year and two sacks.

"Based on the schedule that Colorado has played, and how they have played so well against quality teams, I would be hardpressed to think there is a better team in the country right now," Snyder said.

whether the defenses can stop each other's high-powered

Colorado coach Bill McCartney said he is still worried about being able to put points on the board against the Cats.

"Defensively, they really know what they're doing, and they have established themselves as a real strong defensive team," McCart-

GAME-DAY INFO

Date: Saturday, Oct. 22 Kickoff: 6:30 p.m. Place: Folsom Field Television: ESPN

The opponent: Colorado Buffaloes

Buffaloes to watch: #86 Christian Fauria, TE

#10 Kordell Stewart, QB #19 Rashaan Salaam, RB #81 Michael Westbrook, WR

#47 Chris Hudson, LCB #46 Ted Johnson, ILB

▶ BASKETBALL

Coach returns to Kansas to help team

NICOLE POELL

He might be new to K-State basketball, but he's not new to Kansas.

Mark Fox was the third assistant basketball coach hired by Tom Asbury, but unlike the rest of Asbury's staff, this Garden City native grew up a

"My parents are both Wildcats, so I grew up following K-State," 25-year-old Fox said. "I remember going to the Big Eight Tournament when Mike Evans was playing, the Rolando Blackman days, and going to the last game at Ahearn Field House. I know the tradition probably as well as most people."

Little did Fox know that years later, he would have the chance to revive this tradition, not as a player, but as a

"I've always known that I wanted to coach since I was young," Fox said. "I always wanted to play first, but I knew that once I'd finished playing, I'd want to coach.'

Fox did his playing first at Garden City Community College before moving on to Eastern New Mexico University.

"I went to Garden City because probably physically, I still needed to get stronger, and my two years at junior college allowed me to do that before I went on to the NCAA level to play," he said.

Almost immediately after his playing days were over, Fox found himself at the University of Washington as the graduate assistant coach for the Huskies' coach Len

Nance. A year later, Fox was promoted to Washington's third assistant position, the same one he occupies

Just coaching at the Division I level at such a young age was almost too good to be true, Fox said. "I was very fortunate to come out of college at 22 years old and be a Division I assistant coach," he said. "I mean, that just doesn't happen.' But when Nance resigned at Washington, Fox decided to leave his. PAC-10 position and return to Kansas, not to coach, but to get his master's degree in athletic administration from, of all places, KU. As long as he was in Lawrence, Fox made the most of the situation - he observed KU basketball and did player

"I tried to hang around the Kansas basketball program as much as I could," he said. "Then I went around and tried to watch as many games, teams and players as I could, and I'd just keep recruiting files on players in the All of this independent scouting began interviewing for a third "It was good for this situation, I think, that I came in and I knew some of the kids in the area who we could recruit," Fox said. Coach Asbury agreed. "Mark is really well-connected in the state of Kansas and is a perfect fit for this position," Asbury said. Fox seemingly had all of the necessary qualifications for the K-State coaching vacancy, but he said he felt as if he'd lucked out once again when he actually got the job. "I didn't know Coach Asbury at all before coming here, but being on the West coast, we knew a lot of the same people," Fox said.

"The people I knew got me an interview, so I came down here and the next thing I know, I got the job. That doesn't happen very often - it's very seldom in coaching to hire someone who you didn't know previously, so I work paid off for Fox when Asbury was really lucky.' Asbury doesn't call it luck.

"Mark comes to us on some very high recommendations from a number of people whose opinions I have a great deal of respect for," he said.
"He'll be an integral part of our

Improving this very program is the one goal Fox said he wants to achieve this year. "I don't have any goals or expectations for myself except to help make this team better," he said. "This is a team game, and I don't think about what's in this for Mark Fox. I'm in this for K-State basketball.'

"I don't have any goals for myself except to help make this team better."

MARK FOX assistant basketball coach

Holly Wilson, actor with A Center for Theatre, Education and Research, speaks to an Introduction to Shakespeare class about the images conjured up in the witches' scene in

"Macbeth"
Thursday morning.

Below:
Wilson assigns
"Macbeth"
roles to members of the class.
SHANE KEYSER
Collegian

> ACTING

Shakespearean actors teach by example, participation

LORI CAGLE

Shakespearean students spent their class period casting spells over an imaginary cauldron in class Thursday.

"Double, double, toil and trouble, fire burn and cauldron bubble," actor Holly Wilson crackled, hunched over witchlike, to the Introduction to Shakespeare class she was visiting.

Wilson had students howling like wolves, hooting like owls and cackling like witches as they went through a scene of "Macbeth."

Students were asked to repeat the lines of "Eye of newt and toe of frog," as Wilson guided their minds through a desolate forest using only their words and imagination.

Wilson is one of the five actors visiting K-State classes this week before their presentation of William Shakespeare's "Macbeth" tonight and Saturday.

The five actors will play multiple roles, and the production will have minimal sets, allowing audience members to mentally envision the setting

"I play Lady Macbeth, Lady Macduff, one of the witches, Malcom and Vance," Wilson said.

In one scene, Wilson said she must faint as Lady Macbeth and then be Malcom immediately after in the same scene.

"That's why I have a wrap-around skirt. The audience gets to see it all," Wilson said.

K-State is only one stop on the actors' 10 states in 10 weeks tour.

"This is my first time on this tour,"
Wilson said. "After four weeks of rehearsals, we began our tour. We're on our fifth week, and it's been fun."

Don Hedrick, professor of English, first arranged for the tour of A Center for Theatre, Education and Research to come to K-State seven or eight years ago.

One of the founding members of ACTER is Patrick Stewart of "Star Trek:

The Next Generation" fame. Hedrick said he was also one of the first touring actors.

"The actors on this tour should be watched closely. Who knows where their careers will lead?" Hedrick said.

"After that first year went over so well, McCain took over and decided to add it as part of their regular seasonal performances," Hedrick said.

This is the third time ACTER has appeared at McCain.

Richard Martin, director of McCain, was unavailable for comment, but McCain will be host to the production of "Macbeth" at 8 tonight and Saturday night.

Besides Wilson, "Macbeth" will include a cast of four other actors.

Stephen Casey has worked with the Royal Shakespeare Company (RSC), and Gareth Armstrong is a former member of the RSC who has toured morethan 30 countries with the British Council.

Richard Howard has worked with many repertory groups, one of which was the Laurence Olivier's National Theatre Company, and David Howey is also a former member of the National Theatre Company.

Howey is the only member who has been to K-State before. He has also taught, directed and worked on television and films extensively.

"I was here in 1990 with the tour of 'As You Like It,' and the campus hasn't really changed. Even the weather is the same," Howey said.

The group spent the week speaking to classes at K-State and passing on their experience as Shakespearean actors.

There will be an open discussion of the actor's "Macbeth" performance from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday in Nichols Theatre. Howey said it will be an interesting experience to perform a five-actor play on such a large stage as McCain Auditorium.

"People are always surprised," he said. "It's kind of like the tattooed lady — they don't believe it until they see it."

Allocations will end Tuesday

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

reconsidered, and there will be a roll-call vote on all future allocations bills.

Several groups were allocated funds at Thursday's meeting.

College Republicans received $694 to sponsor a speaker and $85 to publish a newsletter. Circle K, a campus service organization, was given $114 to help sponsor the Kansas District Convention.

Asian American Students for Intercultural Awareness was allocated $1,114 to sponsor programs during Asian American Awareness Month. Hispanic American Leadership Organization was given $44.20 for a speaker. Native American Student Body was awarded $2,108 to sponsor its annual powwow.

Student Senate will finish this year's allocations at its meeting Tuesday. Ben Clouse, allocations committee chair, said he is pleased with how this process has gone so far.

"We haven't had many amendments, so that tells me the allocations committee is doing a good job of cutting the bills," Clouse said.

In other business, Clinton Brauer was sworn in as a new arts and sciences senator. Brauer replaces Jared Becker, who resigned at last week's meeting.

> Got a tip?

Compiled from Collegian staff and Associated Press reports

'A woman is just a girl, but a good cigar is a smoke'

n Saturday night, 150 people from around the world will gather for what the menu calls "The Dinner of the Century.'

The recipe: A softly lit dining room in an old Paris mansion. Wines of the rarest vintage. Elaborate dishes prepared by two great chefs.

And clouds of cigar smoke.

The dinner of the century is a cigar dinner. Aficionados, including Rush Limbaugh, Francis Ford Coppola and Pierre Salinger, have paid $1,000 for the privilege of eating and drinking the best while smoking themselves green. Why spoil such a meal with a lot of big, smelly cigars? "Anyone who asks THAT is ignorant about cigar dinners," huffed Marvin Shanken, publisher of Cigar Aficionado magazine and host of the dinner.

"An evening built around cigars is a wonderful thing," he explained after regaining his composure. "There's this feeling of friendship and freedom." Freedom to puff: "Nobody's going to come over and say, 'Put that cigar out.'"

Not these cigars, provided specially for the occasion by Cubatobacco, Cuba's state cigar maker. They will include The Trinidad, which Cuban President Fidel Castro presents as gifts to visiting dignitaries and are not for sale anywhere. The menu promises the "first-ever public taste."

The cigars will be smoked during the reception, which features a magnum of Dom Perignon 1982; after the first course (fricassee of lobster and crepes with walnut oil); after the main course (hen pheasant breast with black truffles); and after dessert (chocolate ganache, a French pastry with cognac, of course).

1 way to get back at your math teacher

omework is unjust, takes too long and puts an unbearable strain on family life.

That's not the grumbling of an eighthgrader, but the battle cry of a school board

"It's inherently unfair, and I think we should abolish it," said Garrett Redmond, a trustee with the Cabrillo, California, Unified School District.

"We have students who can tap into the Internet and CD-ROMs in their own bedroom and have a vast array of information at their fingertips," he said. "But the unfortunate people who live in hovels with the entire family sharing one or two rooms how is that kid supposed to do his homework?"

In a related story, students around the country are also rumored to begin protesting bad lunchroom food, boring teachers and shortened bathroom breaks.

No, really!

smat.internet

Internet sexism

For women, logging on to the Inte can be the computer equivalent of walking past construction workers on their lunch

"R U horny?" come the messages. "So, what brings you here at this hour?" "Wanna chat privately?" Gender wasn't supposed to matter in cyberspace. But try telling that to anyone who has ever logged on under a name like Cindi or Veronica.

Rather than deal with all the posturing and harassment, many women are logging on to women-only discussion groups scattered around cyberspace. Public action Smattering?

Sure, what the heck. Any woman who has ever logged on to the local computer network knows this to be

While they may be flattered at first, it can soon become a big hassle to be female and

Maybe someone out there could organize some gender-specific forums on our little chunk of cyber-space.

If anyone has any ideas, we'd love to hear them. E-mail us at smatterings@spub.ksu.edu.

SMATTERINGS WERE NOT SPONSORED BY THE FBI

Tipping

It's expected ... (even from college students)

op quiz! What do you do when you've enjoyed a meal at a sit-down restaurant, and the server who gave you good service hands you the bill?

If you answered, "pay the bill," you're only half correct.

Your server is also expecting a 15- to 20-percent tip on top of the amount of the bill.

To some students, this might seem like a lot of money to be giving away.

Wendy McCullough, junior in human ecology, said she is tired of hearing customers say, "I'm sorry I can't give you a better tip. I'm just a poor college stu-

McCullough, who has been a server at the Chicago Bar & Grill for a year and a half, said, "I just want to say to them, 'Hey, I'm a college student too! This is how I pay my rent, car payment and bills.'

'When you're going out to dinner, you need to plan to bring enough for a tip, not just enough for the bill," she

McCullough said she usually averages about 15 percent in

"I guess 15 percent is reasonable," she said, "but when I do an exceptional job, I expect 20 percent."

McCullough said when she gets stiffed or receives a 10-percent tip, she is offended, and it makes her $2.13-perhour job even harder. "I think people believe we get paid don't realize that the tips are a majority of our income and we do get taxed for them.' McCullough said she thinks everybody should wait tables or do some sort of service job minimum wage," she said. "They in their life so they know how "Most college students do leave 15 percent, if not more," she said. "But, if you don't have the money to pay for a meal at a sit-down restaurant, as well as an appropriate tip, go to McDonald's." Amy Brunner, sophomore in English and political science, is a server at Carlos

She said families with younger kids are usually the worst tables to wait on when it comes to tips.

"I understand that they are families with a lower income," Brunner said. "But they require more attention than other tables, and I

> if you don't have the money to pay for a meal at a sit-down restaurant, as well as an appropriate tip, go to McDonald's.

> > WENDY McCullough Junior in human ecology and server at Chicago Bar & Grill

Art: Mike Marlett and Sara Smith

Story: Joyce Leftoff

Design: Dave Olson

about $9 or $10 an hour."

Parish said most of the time she gets decent tips

"Usually, the drunker they get, the more they tip," she said.

Parish also said she has to deal with a lot of rude comments and guys who ask her if she has a boyfriend. Her advice to K-State students is to put themselves in the server's place. Regarding tips, she said anything is appreciated. April Hasson, a K-State graduate, has been a server and bartender at the Rock-A-Belly Deli for three years. She said everyone has good nights and bad nights, but she usually makes 15 to 20 percent in tips.

'We get stiffed like everybody," she said, "but not too often."

Hasson said it's hard to deal with people the drunker they get because they become more demanding and rude.

"We have a good clientele and a lot of regulars," she said. "They watch our backs if anyone gives us trouble.'

Hasson said people need to realize that even though her job doesn't look like hard work, it is. Derek Kreifels, junior in business management, is a delivery driver at Domino's

He said when he does get tips, they average out to be one to two dollars a delivery. "There's more people that don't tip than do," he said. Kreifels said he makes minimum wage plus tips.

He said if he is delivering to someone that doesn't live very far from the store he doesn't mind not being tipped as "It depends on where they live," he said. "If it takes a long time to get there, I should at least get a dollar.'

Kreifels said he isn't hassled very

"The worst part is delivering to a party with a lot of drunks," he said.

The people interviewed for this story were very happy to give their opinions and advice about tipping. They all agreed the level of service should equal the amount of the tip.

The most important point they all wanted to make is 15 percent is the minimum now, not 10 percent.

If you think your server gave you poor service, don't just stiff them - talk to their manager about it and leave an appropriate tip.

Usually, the drunker they get, the more they tip. AMY PARISH

Junior in pre-med and waitress at Last Chance should be compensated for that extra effort."

Brunner said she expects 15-percent tips and thinks it is a

People need to have patience and understand what a server's job is," she but they need to be more considerate their servers as they would treat their response from their server," she said.

Mexican Café and Cantina, said people don't realize that a 10-percent tip isn't and they give you $7," he said. "Then of people looking at me like I have a the service from other waiters that I

When it comes to poor tipping,

Whiteside said Manhattanites are the a $30 table when they give me two or they act like they're doing you a favor.

problem when I give them excellent ser-

"I eat out often, and I don't get half

"I work my ass off for them," he said.

Whiteside said he expects to be tipped

"They think they're doing me a favor on ing and a server at Cactus Jack's acceptable anymore.

vice," Whiteside said.

give," he said.

three bucks.'

said. "They should expect good service,

Brunner said customers should treat own friends and people they do business

"Most likely, they will get the same

Richard Whiteside, junior in advertis-

"I hate it when they have a $70 ticket

'I always go that extra mile. I'm tired fair amount. For larger parties, she expects 20 percent.

when we are really busy."

between 15 and 20 percent or more.

know what good service is.

be," she said.

than she is now.

"I expect to be compensated fairly,"

Anita Kimball, senior in elementary education, is a server at Sirloin Stockade.

She said people don't realize that even though customers have to stand in own salad plates and drinks to the table, line to order their food and carry their

the servers still are only paid $2.13 an

"Our tips average out to be about 7 percent, which is half of what it should

Kimball said she used to work at

"I think it depends on how the people

Kimball said the worst people to wait on are the ones who are never satisfied,

"I wish those people would work

there one day," she said. "If everybody

Amy Parish, a junior in pre-med, is a

She said about half the time when she

She said the waitresses at Last Chance

'Rusty pays us pretty well," she said.

takes someone a drink, she gets a dollar.

$1.95, they give you two dollars and tell have to deal with a lot of drunks, so they are paid more than regular waitresses.

"Our tips and wages average out to be 'Most of the time, if the drink is you to keep the change," Parish said.

could be a server for a day, nobody waitress at Rusty's Last Chance

Pizza Hut and was stiffed there more perceive the place to be," she said.

no matter what you do for them.

would ever get stiffed.'

Restaurant & Saloon.

We get a lot of nickels."

he said. "People in this town just don't

IVERSIONS

Friday and Saturday → / "Maverick" — 7 and 9:30 p.m. at Union Forum Hall.

Macbeth" - 8 p.m. at

Saturday TI Caribe" - 9 p.m. at Bombers

Sick Fucker" — 2 p.m. at Nichols Theatre.

OCTOBER 21, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS 38 Act the 2 Excuse 23 Spirited 3 Opened robot 4 Big 4 Sleuth, 24 Gift-tag 39 Cleo's member of slangily slayer word 41 Counterfeit 7 One in a 25 Uruguay the brass black suit? 45 Oscar org. 5 Supply an's year the means 26 Stimpy's 12 Flamenco 47 Idolater's emotion 6 Hiawacheer 48 Large sofa 52 Malicious 28 Born 13 Italian tha's craft article 7 Close 30 "Bali 14 Esteem 53 Rectify 8 "The Gold 31 See 37 54 "Born in Bug" author 15 Glutton Across 32 Pilfer from 16 Restaurant the -55 Mamie's 9 Worker 33 Top-notch bench 18 "The -36 Cloverleaf insect 56 Dog in the 10 Morse-Daba exit Honey "Marvin' code click 37 Few moon comics 11 Previous to and far 19 Roughly 17 Smoke between 20 Galvaniz-58 Scone your last 40 Teapot ing stuff wash-down smoke 22 Mainland-DOWN 21 Arrogant 42 Equestri-1 November enne's garb 43 Affected memento conceited 23 Some Solution time: 25 mins. by caffeine where out 44 Jason's there 27 Insepaaide 45 Amos' pal rable 46 Laurel or 29 Regal seat Musial 48 Brylcreem 34 "Hammerin Hank' portion 35 It can make 49 Parisian Granny a 50 He'd tend real swinger a hoarse horse Yesterday's answer 10-21 51 Type units

PED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOOUIP!

NMSZ BZS NBDXZ WSZZGL

HMXDEGBZ XZ -

WMSJ SZQSQ BWMSU,

HBPUW

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: YEARLY CONVENTION OF HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONS MIGHT ALWAYS FEATURE PUNCH.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Z equals N

► LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

BILL AMEND

Reader asks for Cassandra's advice about sex

DEAR CASSIE. by Cassandra Duveaux

Dear Cassie,

I've heard a lot of things about sex, and I know a lot are probably rumors. So, I have a lot of questions about sex, but I'm afraid to ask. First, how far do you have to go to actually lose your virginity? Also, I've heard it's possible to get pregnant even if you didn't go all the way. Is this true? If so, what are the chances one can get pregnant that way? Still a Child considering your virginity lost is an answer that can differ from person to person. I consider people no longer vir-gins if they have engaged in intercourse.

You can be considered sexually

Dear Still a Child, Knowing how far you can go before

Write to Cassie: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS

ting, make-out sessions, or even hugs and kisses. That's because there are many sexual actions besides intercourse alone. And you can still be a virgin but be sexually active. However, if you haven't actually had intercourse, I would still eonsider you a virgin.

active if you participate in heavy pet-

As far as getting pregnant, without intercourse your chances are slim but not impossible. If the sperm is anywhere close to the vagina, there's a chance of pregnancy. (Sperm are great swimmers, remember, and can remain active for hours.) And don't be fooled into thinking pregnancy can't occur if you have sex standing up or in the shower. It can! When in doubt use a condom and keep asking questions.

▶ COLUMN

Definition of art changes with time

Art lovers and historians have asked this question for centuries, and the answer is continually chang-

For some people, paintings and sculptures may be the only thing that falls under the title of art, but the modern-art movement has opened people's eyes to a whole new side of expression.

Modern art has taken everyday objects, such as pop cans and light switches, and turned them into a creation that stands for the artist's beliefs or attitudes toward society.

In the 1920s, an artist signed toilet bowls as a social commentary.

His works revolted people back then, but now they are considered works of art and have been sold for billions of dollars in auc-

A simple urinal seems like it would hardly be a masterpiece, but it's more than the actual object that makes it so valuable to the world of art.

LIEGLER

The process that goes into the creation is often more important than the product that actually appears in a museum.

Artists have ideas behind their works and express their emotions through their paintings or sculptures. I saw a TV special about a blank canvas that was sold for millions at an art show.

My first impression was that anyone could paint a canvas white and call it art.

Starving college students could make a fortune if anyone could throw something together and sell it at an art show, but things don't work that way

The artist, just like musicians and writers, told a story through a blank canvas.

Ever since I was little, my favorite room at the Nelson Art Gallery in Kansas City has been the modern-art room. The splattered paintings, foam light switches and the wax replica of a museum guard have always intrigued me.

Most students probably think art museums are about as exhilarating as watching the grass grow, but there are a lot of things to be learned. In these days and times, it seems like you don't even need to take a step into a museum anymore to see how the art world has changed.

If you drive through the Plaza, it's hard to miss the oversized badminton birdies strategically placed in the Nelson Art Gallery's front and back lawn

For weeks after the sculptures were created, letters flooded the Kansas City newspapers.

The initial collective opinion was one of complete and utter shock.

Blending shuttlecocks and bronze Henry Moore sculptures was a giant leap in the right direction.

Although people might have initially been opposed to the idea, I think the opinions on the sculptures will change over time.

Just like technology, science and industry, art is also revolutionizing and changing around every Modern art is sure to take all the artists and art lovers along for the ride, so fasten your seatbelt and go experience the world of modern art.

Westloop Shopping Center near Hunam's Restaurant

We're Open Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m -7 p.m. Sat., Sun. 10 a.m.-7 p.m.

What do we have for you?

Scare up some business. Advertise in the KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

532-6560

1-800-226-8624

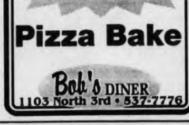

Call for a FREE

Student Travels magazine!

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

(for youl)

Collegian Advertising 532-6560

Today's Special!

Mr. P's Christmas Open House:

FREE: Cake . Cookles · Coffee · Pop Register for free gift certificates Oct. 26-Nov. 3

♦$50 Free Wedding Inviations ♦Kansas Gift Basket &Birthday Party Supplies ♦Christmas Gift

KMAN-KROCK Live Remote Sat., Oct. 29, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

SPECIAL SALES

Christmas Wrapping Paper

Reg. $4.99-$5.99 Our Price $2 Everyday $1 per roll!

1 arty Outlet

776-7547 • 318 Poyntz Manhattan Mon.-Fri. 9:30-8:00 • Sat. 9:30-6:00 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

Makin'it great!

CALL THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

AGGIEVILLE 539-7666

WESTLOOP 539-7447

•3RD & MORO 776-4334

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5

each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50

each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance s you have an establ Student Publications

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are d. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

255

Other

Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corpo

rate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in-come requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

SERVICES: INTERNATION-AL Students: DV-1 Greencard program, by U.S. Immigration.

Greencards provide U.S. permanent resi dent status. Citizens of almost all countries are allowed. For informa-tion and forms: New Era Legal Services, 2031 Stagg St., Canoga Park, CA 91306. Tel: (818)772-7168; (818)998-4425 Monday- Sunday 10a.m. 11p.m.

EMPLOYMENT/

CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our read-legian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170.

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000 - $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (208)545 - 4155 ext. 457682

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-

ARTIST NEEDED to paint

ATTENTION STUDENTS:

or airbrush names and design on license tag. Contact Kristy 395-5998.

Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-campus reps. C (800)783-2883 today.

1-800-FOR-AVON

310

(913)841-5716.

CANCELLATIONS DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEa-sonal and full-time en-

GET THE WORD OUT PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

PHONE 532-6555 FAX

532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

NABI MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Mon-Fri.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-M.L.Y. SO how's it feel to be over a quarter cen-tury old? Happy B-day —4-H gang.

Meetings/ Events TOASTMASTERS A mu-

ASTIMASTER'S A mu-tual support group for people who want to im-prove their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776–3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825. BOCKERS II Catering. Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering anywhere, discounts, Wareham, Days Inn, Houston Street. Call 539-9431.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Minimum seven month lease, no 537-8389.

110 For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. *2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

*****

AVAILABLE NOW Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. 776-3804.

9:00-4:30

**************

Now Leasing Large 2 Bedroom Apartments

1/2 block from campus/ 1 or 2 baths For Appointment call 776-3804

Managed by McCullough Developmen McCullough

Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claffin. CLOSE (ONE block), to campus. Two Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths. Not in complex. No pets. 539-4641.

MANHATTAN

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804. TWO-BEDROOM BASE

MENT, remodeled, $390, bills paid. 539-8401.

Available CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

For Rent-Houses NON-DRINKER

smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554. TWO-BEDROOM, UNFIN-

O-BEDROOM, UNFIN-ISHED basement, wash-er, dryer, refrigerator, fenced yard, pets ok, year lease available after finals or Jan 1, $450/ month, 531 Thurston, 587-0217.

For Sale Mobile Homes BRAND NEW '95 Champion Homes 14x64 through 28x56. Very af-fordable, immediate de-livery C/A skirting, ex-cellent financing. Coun-tryside, 539–2325.

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom house beginning in January, $200/ month; one-third utilities; washer and dryer; close to campus. 776-1890.

ROOMMATE needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to cam-pus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. 537-8967.

FEMALE TO share twobedroom apartment. Own room, free laundry, one block from campus, utilities paid, $202.50. Jan. 1. 537-4532.

MALE OR female, nonsmoking to share home beginning in Decem-ber. Quiet, wooded, westside. 539-6455. MALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom duplex. $145 plus one-third utilities. Half block from campus. Call Frank 776–3158. MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bed-room, two bath, fur-nished double-wide trailer. Non-smoker, non-drinker. $100. Share bills. Call 776-1038. NEED ROOMMATES im-

ED ROOMMATES Immediately, very nice house and neighborhood, carpeted, three bath-rooms, big yard, $250/month, no utilities. Send letter to 2306 Casement. Include telephone, we'll make appointment. E-Mail Native@KSUVM.KSU.Edu ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom, nice, new house, $200, 723 Bluemont, washer/ dry-er, own bathroom. 539–1056. Dec. 1.

SEEK MALE/ female room-mate. Wanted. Excel-lent location, great place, all utilities paid, free laundry facilities. Cheap rent. Call Chrissy 537-0438. THREE RESPONSIBLE individuals looking for fourth roommate. Close to campus. $170 plus one-fourth bills, 537-9813. WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

Sublease AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two-bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balcony, 587-9394. LARGE, CLEAN two-bedroom apartment. Avail-able anytime. Length of sublease and rent no tiable. Call 587-0034

Tutor

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tutor. Five years GTA experience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave message: 776–9317. Ask for Kip.

Resume/

Typing COMPUTER SUPPORT for

your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings). NEED SOMETHING typed?

I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years experience. Mazdas, Hondas and Toyotas also, Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kansas. 537–5049. 8a.m.—

> Not enough time on your hands to get everything done? Check the

Classifieds service directory. OLLEGIAN Kedzie 103 532-6555

Apt. Furnished 110 For Rent -Apt. Unfurnished

ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. DANCERS WANTED. Need extra money? Become an Exotic Dancer. Must be 18 or older. Call the Malibu Club after 6p.m. 1-762-4699. DELIVERY HELP needed! Responsible person needed part-time to help deliver pianos. Flexible hours, good pay for the right person, Apply in person, Mid-America Piano, 406 Poytnz.

EXPERIENCED STRIPPER platemaker to work 15-20 hours per week. Rate of pay is up to $6 per hour, depending on experience. Contact Larry Ernsting, K-State Printing Services, 8 Kedzie Hall, 532–6308.

INTERVIEWERS NEEDED, two shifts available, 11:30- 3:30 and 4:00- 8:00. Please apply between 12:30 and 2:30 at R.L. Polk, 3003 Anderson, Suite 913. Bet-ween Old Chicago Bar and Grille and Cactus Jacks in Village Plaza. LOCAL FRATERNITY is currently seeking an ex-perienced Dietician. Re-sponsibilities include sponsibilities include planning meals for 50 men, ordering, and maintaining $20,000 budget. Starting pay is $12.50 per hour. Please send resume and cover letter, and references to c/o Collegian Box #1. Positions Open

d County Community College Geary County Center Junction City Day and Evening Instructors: Part ime positions instructing courses in business, mathematics mputer science and other genera education courses for spring emester. Qualification Bachelor's required, Master's preferred. On-site interviews: November 4. Please call Diedre Capers at 913-238-8010 for ation and to schedule an

NOW HIRING for full or part-time help, flexible hours available, day shifts available. Apply in person Vista Drive In, 1911 Tuttle Creek vd. or 2700 Anderson

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681. 330

BIG MONEY part-time work. Positions avail-able immediately as campus reps. Call Business

Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employ-CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month ment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such business oppor-tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!
No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

Items for Sale

BIG JEWELRY SALE! All gold jewelry 30 - 50% off! Come to Cash Pawn and Gun, Inc. 1917 Ft. Riley Blvd., Oct. 21 and 22 and see. Re-member Christmas is soon! Treat yourself or COPIER RECONDITIONED

Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m. GENERAL ELECTRICclothes dryer, white—works great, $50. Call Jan at 532-1679.

IBM SELECTRIC II typewriter with correction. Re-cently checked and cleaned. Excellent con-dition. $100. Call 776-4398 mornings or ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Convenient westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson. POWERFLEX 350 eight weight straps over 20 different exercises $150, Tunturi stair climber machine $175, both like new. 537-8471.

WALNUT OR oak trim All Glass 55 gal. aquarium with hood and fluorescent lighting. Special $140.99. We may be hard to find, but when you get here you'll find the sweetest pets and best SERVICE in town. Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters, 539-9494.

Garage/Yard Sales

ATTENTION DIE Hard ga rage salers, gotta go to one last garage sale. Washer, dryer, exercise bike, much misc. 1005 Ratone. Sat., Oct. 22. 8

Antiques

KSU AND College of Ag collectibles 1896 to 1950 Wagon Wheel An-tiques, 409 Lincoln, Wa-

Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

TIME MACHINE Antique

Computers

ATTENTION DOOM Play ers. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hunand CD's dreds of titles available From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539–0801.

ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685. 450

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

Supplies

N.Stuff, 1105 Waters. Lovable and playful Per sians- black, calico cream, blue, or red, $249. Himalayan, $249. Himalayan/ Siamese mixed breed $79 beautifull 539-9494. WE HAVE Brazilian Rain-

HAVE Brazilian Rain-bow Boas, Sumatran Blood Pythons, Borneo Blood Pythons, five blood lines of Kenyan Sand Boas, High Veiled Chameleons, Bearded Dragons, Fire Salaman-ders, and many more. The areas largest selec-tion of top quality cap-tive bred reptiles and amphibians. We will not be under sold. Ani-mal House Pets, 210 N. 4th, 537–6111.

TRANS-PORTATION

4th. 537-6111.

Automobiles

1976 FORD Elite 235K miles. Good condition, custom exhaust, chrome wheels $1200. Call Quentin at 395-2097 and leave message. 1983 MAZDA RX-7: air, cruise, sunroof, bra, Clarion stereo, two extra wheels. Nice car, $2400. 1-494-2106, 539-3619. Leave message. 1984 PLYMOUTH Reliant. Excellent condition. Great work or school car. Very reliable, $1600

or best offer, call

1987 MUSTANG GT V-8 5.0 liter, red, five-speed, one owner, new tires. $4800, negotiable. Call Darren at 539-8395.

1994 BERETTA must sell V6, cassette automatic transmission, power locks, air conditioner, low mileage. Located in Silver Lake, KS. About 45 minutes east of Manhattan. Call after 5p.m. 1–582–5254.

TOYOTA, COROLLA, 1982. four-door, manual, air, good condition, best offer 539-4672.

Bicycles

1993 TREK 930, 19-inch. $395. Front suspension. 776-9862, leave leave

530

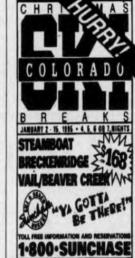

Motorcycles

1981 SUZUKI 550. Good condition, 8900 miles, great for school parking. $625 539-0539. $625. Call Jason

1990 HONDA, CBR 600F Hurricane, good condi-tion, helmet included, $2400 or best offer. Must sell. Call 587–8261.

Tour Packages

KANSAS STATE CLASSIFIEDS 103 KEDZIE · M-F 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

532-6555

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events

050 Parties-n-More

00 HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE 105 For Rent -

115 Rooms Available 120 For Rent - Houses 125 For Sale - Houses

130 For Rent -Mobile Homes 135 For Sale -

140 For Rent - Garage 145 Roommate Wanted

Mobile Homes

160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale

155 Stable/Pasture

150 Sublease

20U SERVICE DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

225 Pregnancy Testing 230 Lawn Care

235 Child Care

•220 Sewing/Alterations

240 Musicians/DJs 245 Pet Services

255 Other Services

250 Automotive Repair

30 EMPLOYMENT CAREERS 310 Help Wanted

320 Volunteers Neede Opportunities

FORSALE 400 MARKET 405 Wanted to Buy

410 Items for Sale 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

425 Auction 430 Antiques

435 Computers

420 Garage/Yard Sales

445 Music Instruments 450 Pets and Supplies

440 Food Specials

455 Sporting Equipment 460 Stereo Equipment

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

50 TRANS-PORTATION

510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

540 Car Pool

530 Motorcycles

TRAVEL/ TRIPS

620 Airplane Tickets

630 Train Tickets

610 Tour Packages

640 Bus Tickets

looking at something in their price range.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE

CATEGORIES

looking for, the classified ads

have been arranged by category

and sub-category. All categories

are marked by one of the large

images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number

TIPS FOR

WRITING A

CLASSIFIED AD

Always put what item or service you are advertising first.

This helps potential buyers find

Don't use abbreviations. Many

Consider including the price.

what they are looking for.

buyers are confused by

This tells buyers if they are

abbreviations.

designation.

To help you find what you are

NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

DEBATE TEAM

Young squad returns with 1 win

The award-winning K-State debate program has a young team this season.

'We're young, but we've got good talent," John Burtis, director of forensics, said.

This year's debate topic deals with all aspects of violent crime, he

The team returned from its first round-robin tournament at the University of South Carolina in Columbia, S.C., with one win in seven rounds, Burtis said.

"The last four rounds, we were beat by some of the top teams in the nation," he said.

Burtis said it was an honor to even be one of the 16 teams in the nation to be invited to the round robin.

Two of the team's young but talented debaters were sent to the tournament in Columbia, he said.

Susan Stanfield, head debate

City and county officials from all over Kansas showed up at the K-

State Union today to attend the fourth-annual Governor's Conference on Waste Reduction,

Recycling and Market Development and will begin at 7:30 a.m. and conclude at 5:30 p.m. today in the waste reduction, recycling and market development for the state of Kansas, said cities and counties from around the state are invited to topic for discussion that is current and of interest to Kansas citizens," participate in the conference.

The conference began Thursday

Claud Shelor, coordinator of

"Each year, we try to select a

There are two topics up for discussion at this year's conference. Thursday's topic was Substitute D for Kansas.

SERA L. TANK

K-State Union.

▶ GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE

coach, said Isaac West, freshman in political science, and Courtney Knapple, sophomore in speech, were the only freshman and sophomore invited to the round

Burtis said Coach Stanfield's approach is to prepare the young team for college debate.

"A student new to college debate has to adjust to critics such as college professors who know much more about debate and the subject matter than a high-school judge," Burtis said

Burtis said the major challenges to new college debaters is having to document almost everything they say and responding to arguments that come much quicker than those found in a high-school debate.

West said college debate demands more timely evidence.

We debate on current issues using evidence from that very week," he said.

"Substitute D landfills are where your trash gets dumped. They were established by a federal regulation called the Resource Conservationist development for post-consumer

one that is of special interest to him.

market together for the state of Kansas so more businesses will use recycled goods in production," he

Today's topic is market

Shelor said the second topic is

"I'm trying to get a cooperative Recovery Act," Shelor said.

Burtis said the new team members have to work hard in developing listening and criticalthinking skills.

The team competed in a regular tournament in Columbia the weekend following the round robin, West said.

"We placed 20th out of about 40 teams," West said.

The team has traveled to Southwest Missouri State University in Springfield, Mo., since the round robin.

West said the team won four rounds and lost four in Springfield. The team plans to debate in Emporia this weekend, he said. "Our goal is to win the Emporia tournament in the JV division,"

West said he and his partner compete in the open division, in which anyone can compete.

"We hope to get into the elimination rounds in the open

In the United States, recycling

"It's going on the Chicago Board has become a huge business of Trade, which means that when you accumulate enough, you will be able to buy and sell it," he said.

for the Can Manufacturer's Institute aluminum can recycling is a very aluminum-can is made out of used

Jenny Day, director of recycling

Washington, D.C., said

"Fifty-one percent of an opportunity, Shelor said.

large part of that.

aluminum cans," she said.

division to get people to notice us," he said.

West said K-State's debate program has proven to be successful because of the quality of the coaches and the reputation the team has built over the years.

Burtis said K-State has been in the national Final Four the last five

The Final Four tournament is the end-of-the-year tournament that K-State's team won two and four years ago, he said.

"The goal is to get in the Final Four at the end of the season," Burtis said.

Burtis compared the current squad to the squad of 1987, which became national champions in 1991. West said he was optimistic about the team's success. "If we keep the squad together, I don't see why we couldn't win national again by my sophomore or junior year," he said.

increase that number is to continue networks are there. So it is possible to get all those cans back and Deffenbaugh Industries trailer

Industries is to recycle oil, Shelor of through networking and using it recycle them," she said.

parked in front of the Union.

"The marketing is there, and the

One part of the conference is the

Another part of Deffenbaugh

"Used oil is very hard to get rid recycling.

Society defined by how it treats underprivileged

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 have a positive effect," Zerrer said.

"To me, a society is defined by how it treats its most underprivileged members," Zerrer said.

As much as they try to help everyone they can, the shelter does have to turn people away.

"It really helps if there are friends or family that can help," Norris said.

Zerrer said he wants people to leave there knowing it's got to get better somehow, somewhere.

"We count success and say it is worth that one success,' Zerrer said.

DENTAL ASSOCIATES,

for heating purposes. Deffenbaugh helps with that," he said. Day said the only way to THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

(for youl)

ollegian Advertising 532-6560

Student Support Group Needed for the Baseball Team Responsibilities involve:

Waste reduction, recycling topics at conference

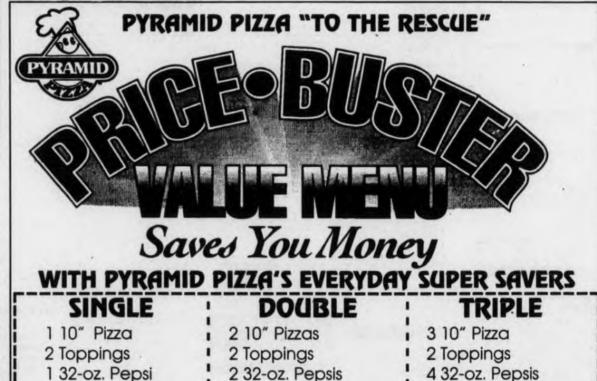

- Ushers
   Selling Programs
- Field Maintenance
   Ticket Sales

For more information call 532-5723.

Little Caesars® Pizza

YOUR PARTY! PARTY! SPECIALISTS  CALL 539-3333 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN, KS

PIZZA!PIZZA!" VALUE MENU CREATE YOUR OWN

CREATE YOUR OWN

START WITH WITH ONE TOPPING

ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.00 EACH

EXPIRES: 11-5-94 ( Little Caesars

VALUABLE COUPON

CREATE YOUR OWN

WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.25 EACH

EXPIRES: 11-5-94 (常) Little Caesars

VALUABLE COUPON

2 LARGE WITH ONE TOPPING ADD TOPPINGS OR EXTRA CHEESE FOR $1.50 EACH

EXPIRES: 11-5-94 (M) Little Caesars

NEW line of quality pizzas loaded with more of what you want!

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES!" MEDIUM $5.99 * ONE LARGE $7.99 Offer valid of participating corry-out stores. No coupon recessory. @1994 L.C.E., Inc.

PLUS TAX 2 LARGE $13.98

Can Say A Lot! Collegian Advertising

532-6560

SAVE up to $58 on place settings.

SAVE 20% on open stock

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

* * VOTER REGISTRATION * *

LAST DAY TO REGISTER TO VOTE

Today is the last day to register to vote for the Nov. 8 election. Students can register at the SGA offices in the K-State Union.

MONDAY WEATHER - PAGE 2

OCTOBER 24, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 45

More than 20 people competed in the Pi Kapp Mountain Bike Challenge Saturday at Tuttle Creek Reservoir. The course was three-fourths of a mile loop at

Area cyclists compete in Tuttle Creek race

AMY ZIEGLER

ountain bike riders from around the area have found that they have to travel to other cities and states to race, but during the weekend, they got to compete here in Manhattan.

Pi Kappa Phi, a fraternity at K-State, gave beginner, intermediate and expert mountain bikers an opportunity to compete in a mountain-bike challenge

The bikers raced on a three-fourths mile loop at the Spillway Cycle Area at Tuttle Creek.

Larry Keller, senior in marketing, said the fraternity was forced to cancel the event last year and cut down the course this year because of the flooding at Tuttle Creek. "This is a lot shorter than the other courses, which are usually a mile and a half. We're trying to make due with what we've got," Keller said.

Keller said a little more than 30 participants joined the race.

"There's a race in Lawrence tomorrow, so that hurt us because a lot of people are getting ready for that. I think a mountain-bike race is a good thing to have, but hopefully it will grow," Keller said.

The course consisted of four laps for beginners, six laps for intermediates and eight laps for experts.

The second annual mountain bike race at Tuttle Creek kicked off Saturday at 10:30 a.m., when the beginners took off on a grassy hill, sped through both smooth and rocky terrain and raced up and down hills to the Tray Schmidt, a 14-year-old Manhattan resident and winner of the beginner division, said it was his first

■ See FEW Page 8

► CAMPUS

UN delegate to speak on population

TRINA HOLMES

This year's World Population Awareness Week at K-State will focus on the recent United Nation's International Conference on Population and Development in Cairo.

The theme for this year's event will be "Implementing Cairo," said Robert Wilson, president of Students for Sustainability, board member of the Northern Flint Hills Audubon Society and graduate student in regional and community planning.

The week of videos and a panel discussion will be highlighted by a speech given by Patricia Waak, director of the Population Program for the National Audubon Society and member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nation's ICPD.

Wilson said getting Waak to speak was a big

"Listening to Patricia Waak will be a unique opportunity, because not only will you get an insider's view on what happened at the conference, but you'll also learn how population is related directly to environmental issues and problems," Wilson said.

Wilson said he hoped the week would show

■ See CULTURES Page 8

POPULATION AWARENESS WEEK

Monday, Oct. 24

"What is the Limit?" (30-minute video), 12:30 p.m. in Seaton 252

Tuesday, Oct. 25

"What is the Limit?" (30-minute video), 7 p.m. in UFM Building

"Finding the Balance" (45-minute video), noon in Seaton 252 and 7:30 p.m. in UFM Building

Wednesday, Oct. 26

"Population & Environment" (speech by Patricia Waak), 7:30 p.m. in Umberger 105

Thursday, Oct. 27

"Defining Progress: Development Issues in Manhattan & Riley County" (panel discussion), 7 p.m. in Manhattan Public Library

Friday, Oct. 28

"Human Population & Wildlife: An Audubon Perspective" (60-minute video), noon in Union 213

News Digest

▶ BOSNIA AND UN AT ODDS WITH SUGGESTION OF COURT-MARTIAL OF COMMANDER

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) - Relations between U.N. peacekeepers and the Bosnian government, awkward in the best of times, are approaching a new low with defiance by Bosnian troops and a suggestion that the U.N.

commander be court-martialed. Using increasingly scathing rhetoric, Bosnia's Muslim leaders are showing less respect for the multinational force assigned to protect Sarajevo and escort vital relief convoys across Bosnia. "UNPROFOR (the U.N. force) is like polluted air - it's polluted, but you can't live without it," President Alija Izetbegovic said this week.

Among the reasons for the heightened tension: For two weeks, about 500 Bosnian government soldiers have refused a U.N. Security Council demand that they leave a U.N.-patrolled demilitarized zone on Mount Igman, overlooking Sarajevo.

Sniping attacks by Bosnian government soldiers on peacekeepers have become routine. On Thursday and Friday, such attacks in the Sarajevo area drew return fire from French soldiers.

Bosnians complain that Rose makes a concerted effort to play up alleged misbehavior by government troops and play down Serb infractions

► HAITI RETURNING TO NORMAL; ARISTIDE SEARCHES FOR NEW CABINET MEMBERS

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) - Under watchful American eyes, shoppers and hawkers, trucks and minibuses jammed streets Saturday in a show of chaos and normalcy. But sporadic reports filtered in of continuing violence in the Haitian countryside.

Haiti's interim army chief announced Haitian authorities would begin searching homes for hidden arms, signaling a new level of cooperation with the U.S. military. At the National Palace, a week after he returned from exile under U.S. protection, President Jean-Bertrand Aristide was still consulting a wide range of political leaders about the makeup of his new government.

Claudette Werleigh, currently his interim foreign minister, has been considered the front-runner for the job. But a source close to the government said Saturday her name was encountering resistance within the Haitian Chamber of Deputies.

Whitewash

A Bucket brigader Todd Ploeger, senior in agricultural engineering, is handed a bucket of whitewash Saturday afternoon. Buckets had to be handed down the steep hill by a bucket brigade.

▲ Members of Tau Beta Pi whitewash the letters on K-Hill. The honorary maintains the letters by painting them every year.

▲ Due to the steep angle, members of Tau Beta Pi secured themselves with ropes in order to whitewash the letters.

TODD FEEBACK

NEWS BRIEFS

► YEARBOOK INVENTING WAYS TO COMBAT LOSS FROM MAIL-IN FEE PAYMENT

The Royal Purple may stand to lose more than 1,000 book sales when the mail-in fee payment system goes into effect.

That is what the yearbook lost last year at fee payment, Todd Fleischer, senior in marketing and editor of the Royal Purple, said.

With mail-in fee payment becoming more popular in the next few years, it will reduce the ability of many on-campus organizations to catch students when they have money and time to spend it.

One of the hardest hit may be the Royal Purple.

"Sure it is going to hurt, but we are coming up with other ways to help us when it becomes a problem," Linda Puntney, assistant director of Student Publications Inc. and adviser to the Royal Purple,

"We are trying to position ourselves to make it easier for students to buy the book," she said.

The yearbook is trying to use some of the resources that are available on campus at little or no cost, Puntney said. The yearbook staff has gone to a few organizations on campus to try and come up with different ideas to market and sell the yearbook,

The "Marketing Club, Advertising Club and a class called Promotional Strategies have all been asked to help the yearbook do research and sales.

The organizations are working on the problem, and Fleischer said he is waiting to hear from them.

He said the yearbook has already started doing things that are helping its sales.

"We made a Spirit Pack with the Union, and we also packaged it with the Wildcat Watch," Fleischer

"Last spring we did the Shoot Yourself, where anyone could come in and get group pictures doing just about anything," he said.

Puntney said she hopes the other organizations will be able to do some research that the yearbook does not have the staff to

Jeremy Blair, junior in marketing and president of the Marketing Club, said it has just started on the project, and they have some good

"Hopefully, we can come up with strong ideas that will enable us to help the yearbook enhance its sales and reach more students."

"We still have to meet with the Royal Purple and give them our ideas. If all goes well, and they like them, we can turn those ideas into reality," he said.

Steve Plocek, senior in advertising and Advertising Club vice president, said the yearbook would like to advance its sales to more than 500 books over last year.

The Ad Club is trying to come up with ways to remind people that, although they may not want a yearbook now, they will use it later on, and that should help the sales, Plocek said.

DOUG BASSETT

▶ DOUGLAS LECTURER TO SPEAK ON CORRUPTION OF ADVERTISING

A local author will speak at K-State tonight on the corruption of the media by advertising.

Kenneth Davis said he believes this corruption affects what the mass media covers including news, sports and especially politics.

"Our communicators are dominated by the business offices to sell goods." Davis said. "Politicians are paying $200,000 a minute for ads meaning they have to sell out before they get elected."

Unfortunately this present arrangement leads to mistrust, Davis said.

"America is sort of sick right now," he said. "Everyone suspects ulterior motives.

The mass media forms of television and radio carry most of the blame, Davis said, because they compete with education and schools.

Davis, a K-State alumnus, has written both about and for the political scene. His book was the first successful Eisenhower biography written after World War II. He was also a speech writer for Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower's opponent for the presidency in 1952 and Davis first broke into writing with a novel, "In the Force of The Night." He has also written "Morning in Kansas," which is about Manhattan. He is currently known in the publishing world as an authority on Franklin Roosevelt and is working on the fifth volume of his biography on the great former president's life.

Kenneth Davis' speech will be the third of four lectures for the Lou Douglas series which is in its 15th year. The series, which deals with controversial political and social issues, was named in honor of Douglas, a political science professor who died in 1980.

LECTURE

Author Kenneth Davis will speak at 7:30 p.m. today at K-State Union Forum Hall on "Mass Communications and the American Democracy." The speech is part of the Lou Douglas Lecture Series on "The Politics of Culture."

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20

At 10:40 a.m., an ambulance responded to north side of the K-State Union for a subject who had fallen and had a leg or ankle injury. The subject refused an ambulance and was taken to Lafene Student Health Center.

At 11:34 a.m., an ambulance responded to Bluemont Hall for a person having seizures. The person was taken to Lafene.

At 11:55 a.m., an ambulance responded to Durland Hall for a RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22

Damage over $500.

At 10:31 p.m., police received a call from Lot 17 Cody Place, advising that Lamont Adams Littlejohn had accidentally shot himself. Upon arrival. officers found the victim had a gunshot wound to the head. He was transported to Memorial Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. The incident is still under investigation.

person having chest pains. The person was transported to Saint reported his vehicle was hit by an unknown vehicle while parked in Lot A-30. Damage age accident occurred in the parking lot at Bob Dole Hall involving a vehicle and forklift.

At 4:02 p.m., a major-dam-

At 12:15 p.m., a person

Mary Hospital.

under $500.

At 11:10 p.m., police received a report of 10 to 15 cattle on the roadway north of Randolph on Highway 77. Officers were unable to locate

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 23

At 4:06 a.m., police received a report of an unwanted subject at 810 Moro St. Officers discovered a woman wearing no shirt and jeans was intoxicated and had passed out in the wrong

At 4:17 a.m., police arrested Joe L. Perry III. 327 Fremont St., for DUI at 4th and Poyntz streets. Bond was set at $500.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

- Have lunch with the members of the United Methodist Campus Ministry from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. today in the Union Stateroom 1.
- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.
- K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in
- the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building. ■ Chimes will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Union 213.
- French Table will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 2.
- The final oral defense of Wayne Coblentz is scheduled for
- 1:30 p.m. today in Throckmorton 1017. ■ The College of Education will conduct a Pre-professional
- Skills Test help session from 4 to 6 p.m. today in Bluemont 106.
- A speech on world population called "What is the Limit?"
- will be presented at 12:30 p.m. today in Seaton 252.
- KSU Collège Republicans will meet at 7 p.m today in Union

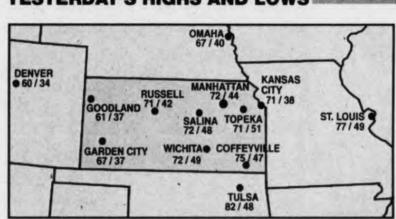

■ BACCHUS wil meet at 7 p.m. today in Union 202.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The

Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State
Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

Cool and sunny across the state. Highs of 55 to around 60 in the north, lows of 25 to 30 in the north and 30 to 35 in the south.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

Breezy and cool with a high around 60. Tonight, freezing with a low of 25 to 30.

TOMORROW III

Cool and sunny with a high in the mid-50s.

Today's Special!

Bob'S DINER

1103 North 3rd • 537-7776

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL SPECIALS! BIG DAWGS

THE ALCO Advantage

EVERY TUESDAY!

Receive a second set of 3" prints FREE with any exposure roll of 35mm, disc, 110 or 126 color print film left for developing and printing at our everyday prices! C-41 process only. Exludes larger 4" size prints and photo galaxy.

Daily 9 to 9, Sunday 11 to 6 · 3007 Anderson Ave.

537-3200 IMAGINATION GO TO YOUR HEAD!

Convenient Hours Open Sundays & Evenings 537-3200

COUPON 537-3200 $5 OFF Full-Priced Haircut $10 OFF Full-Priced Perm

Across from Goodnow Hall, Denison & Claflin, Manhattan, KS

Ask for Lori or Michelle

537-3200 537-3200 537-32

we've been there before; we'll be there again

Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Monday, Oct. 24

KSU College of Education Ambassadors 6:00 p.m. Steel Ring 6:20 p.m.

Human Ecology Council 6:40 p.m. Environmental Design Students Assoc. 7:00 p.m. National Honor Society in Psychology 7:20 p.m.

BACCHUS 7:40 p.m. American Society of Interior Designers 8:00 p.m. Alpha Zeta 8:20 p.m. Chimes 9:00 p.m.

KSU Water-ski Team 9:20 p.m.

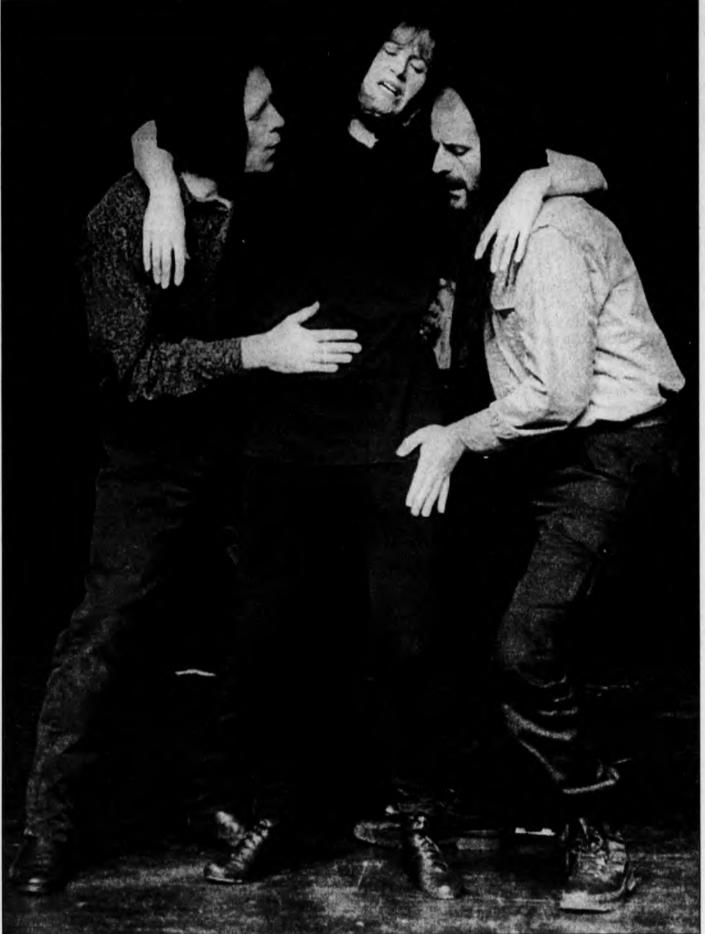

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

Actors Howard, Holly Wilson and Armstrong play witches at the beginning of the second half of "Macbeth" Friday evening in McCain Auditorium. Each actor of the fivemember troupe had as many as five different characters to play during the two-hour performance. DARREN

▶ REVIEW

Few actors, props pull off Macbeth

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

A king was killed, a wouldbe queen committed suicide, and an idealistic, insane wouldbe king was beheaded Friday and Saturday night.

No, this wasn't the final chapter of Britain's royal family, but the Actors', from The London Stage, riveting presentation of William Shakespeare's "Macbeth" at McCain Auditorium.

The Actors is an organization of a handful of professional stage actors from London which presents Shakespearean plays.

The idea behind the organization of putting the importance of the written language of Shakespeare's plays ahead of production value is the final product in a close, personal play that truly attains in quality what the play has attained in stature.

David Howey, playing the part of Macbeth, performed with sheer dramatic energy. One could peer into his eyes at any given moment and see the intense thought taking place.

What was particularly surprising, was the feeling that Macbeth got stronger toward the end of the play. In the first few scenes, Macbeth reacted fairly cowardly toward Lady Macbeth's assertions that, in hopes of becoming king himself, he kills Duncan.

Oppositely, in the final battles with Macduff, Macbeth seemed to have an assured air about him, falsely entrusted by disbelieved true prophecies.

After Macduff informs Macbeth he was not delivered at birth the usual way but ripped from his mother prematurely. Macbeth drops all notions of victory and accepts his defeat.

The Actors, consisting of five performers, presented Macbeth in a fresh, provocative manner. Each performer took on many different roles. It is hard to grasp how an actor can switch from one role to another in a matter of seconds.

Howey attributed the Americans' unfamiliarity with multi-role acting because we approach character acting from an intense background standpoint. We expect our actors to be the character - to know everything about that character.

So, it was great fun to watch the five performers run themselves ragged playing multi-roles in the production. Macbeth has a fairly large cast for a play, but the Actors did not delete anyone for convenience.

I was highly anticipating the witches' scenes, wondering how they could possibly pull them off. Well, they did and very effectively, at that. So close to Halloween, they did frighten.

With some simple red lighting and some orange-ish panty hose, Hecate (Stephen Casey), the Greek goddess of the underworld and purveyor of witchy thoughts, came to life in a wonderful splash of dramatics.

Casey brought down the house in his lively rendition of the porter. The porter has always been a controversial subject on the matter of Macbeth. Why did Shakespeare throw him in? It could probably be attributed to comedy relief. In the midst of all of this bloody killing and scheming, the audience surely required a respite of some sort.

Casey brought up the house lights and entered the audience into the play by choosing people as subjects of the porter's drunken spouting. At first, I was caught a little off-guard, after being motioned to join the porter. I got out of my seat, only to be scared back seconds later.

This was very fresh. I have never seen the porter played so lively before.

One of the most chilling, droll scenes in Macbeth is that of Lady Macbeth's sleep-walking. Holly Wilson was uncannily real with her invigorating take on the famous "Out, out damned spot" dialogue.

539-1900

(With sub or pasta purchase. Not good with other specials. Only valid at Manhattan store.) Expires 12/23/94

IN MANY COMPANIES IT TAKES YEARS TO PROVE YOU'RE MANAGEMENT MATERIAL... WE'LL GIVE YOU 6 TO 10 WEEKS.

FRESHMEN, SOPHOMORES AND JUNIORS

- Full-time students train during the summer only.
- Summer Pay $1,600 to $2,700.
- Disenroll from the program anytime after training.
- College Financial Aid $100 a month.
- Guaranteed Pilot Positions.
- Starting Salary $24,680 to $29,620.

Interview with the Marine Officer Selection Team 10 a.m. to 3 p,m., Monday & Tuesday, Oct. 24 & 25 in KSU Student Union

Call us in Kansas City at 1-800-531-1885 Women and Minorities are encouraged to apply.

ENVIRONMENT BEYOND THE NUMBERS

PATRICIA WAAK

DIRECTOR, POPULATION PROGRAM, NATIONAL AUDUBON SOCIETY

MEMBER, U.S. DELEGATION TO THE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON POPULATION AND DEVELOPMENT

THERE ARE NOW OVER 5.7 BILLION PEOPLE INHABITING THE EARTH, AND WE'RE INCREASING OUR NUMBERS BY 95 MILLION EVERY YEAR! FROM GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE TO SPECIES EXTINCTION, WE CAN NO LONGER IGNORE THE DEVASTATING EFFECTS OF GLOBAL OVERPOPULATION AND OVERCONSUMPTION.

Ms. WAAK WILL REVIEW THE RECENT UN CONFERENCE ON POPULATION AND DEVELOPMENT, AND WILL PRESENT AN OVERVIEW OF THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN POPULATION AND ENVIRONMENT AS DEMONSTRATED IN INTERNATIONAL AND DOMESTIC POLICY.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1994 7:30pm / UMBERGER HALL 105 KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

SPONSORED BY .... KSLI STUDENTS FOR SUSTAINABILITY, NORTHERN FLINT HILLS AUDUBON SOCIETY, KSU DEPT. OF GEOGRAPHY, AND KSLI DEPT. OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE / REGIONAL & COMMUNITY PLANNING. MAJOR FUNDING BY KSU STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION.

Trio Fontenay

Friday, October 28, 1994, 8 p.m. McCain Auditorium Kansas State University

Public/faculty: $14 Senior Citizens: $12 Student/Child: $7

Winner of the 1994 German Record Critics Award, this Hamburg-based ensemble has been praised for its technical excellence, richness of tone, and depth of interpretive imagination. Hear for yourself when the Trio performs:

> Haydn: Trio in A Major, Hob. XV:18 Schumann: Trio in D Minor, Op. 63 Brahms: Trio in B Major, Op. 8

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Tickets also available (with service charge) at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley).

Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

Presentation of Trio Fontenay is supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

PINION

"And if you're talking about people making decisions about drinking, people are entitled to know what sort of alcohol content is in the product that they're consuming." - Willis

Lyford, Coors spokesman, talking about Coors' desire to display their beers* comparative alcohol content on labels.

OCTOBER 24, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Royal Purple uses resources for problem

The Royal Purple is trying to find a solution to a possible decline in yearbook sales.

The Royal Purple could see a loss in sales when the mail-in fee payment system goes into effect next year.

Estimates are that the awardwinning yearbook could lose more than 1,000 book sales.

However, instead of sitting around and complaining about the situation, the Royal Purple decided to try and do something to alleviate the problem.

The staff has gone to a few oncampus organizations to try and come up with different ideas to market and sell the yearbook.

These groups include the Marketing Club, the Advertising Club and a class called Promotional Strategies.

These groups are already working on the problem, and they have already come up with some possible ideas.

One such idea is from the Ad Club. Their plan for marketing the Royal Purple includes reminding students that even though they might not want a vearbook now, they will want it later.

This cooperation between the different campus organizations is important because the groups are using the resources that are available to them on campus.

Maybe when several on-campus organizations work with each other, a problem such as this can be solved much more easily. Student groups that are faced with problems should follow the approach of the Royal Purple.

TOLES

Big vs. small college: differences wide as campus

■ GUEST

meaning of life in my humble abode, I suddenly realized that a high-school education probably wouldn't lead to my dream career as CEO of IBM. Not one to let the hard knocks of life get me down, I decided to depart unto the hallowed halls of education, widely referred to as college. Due to the fact that I went to high school in Topeka, there were only two college choices, K-State and that other school up the river. These schools absorbed so many high-school graduates that "the giant sucking sound," a phenomenon originally discovered by Ross Perot, while studying the effects of NAFTA on American jobs, seemed to whisk away virtually all students who intended to attend college. However, because of the superhuman skills that I did not possess and a very good economy car that I did have, I escaped

One day, while pondering the the wheat fields of Kansas and fled to the corn fields of Indiana. While in Indiana, I attended a small, private school, otherwise known as Indiana Wesleyan (IWU). For those of you who have attended K-State (a large, public school) for your entire college career, I will now attempt to compare the two types of schools so you will know what you are (or aren't) missing by going to a large, public school.

Sheer physical size

Just a few comparisons: While the map of K-State has a scale of 1 inch to 10 miles, IWU doesn't even have a map because you can see all the buildings on campus from any point on campus. If IWU was the size of one of this campus' four empty parking stalls, K-State would be the size of Jupiter. While any building at IWU could be reached in five minutes, I have often been encouraged to take food and water before journeying to any location here.

Class size

Although one can usually make out the facial features of a professor from the back of the room at K-State, professors at IWU often had receptions for their classes to get to know everyone better. (Not really, although the biggest classroom there couldn't seat the K-State football team.)

The food

It sucks, just like everywhere else. Enough said.

Construction is very popular among college administrators right now, because even IWU built a new building. (Not to mention all the roads in Indiana suddenly became structurally unsafe, causing the Department of Transportation to take drastic action and tear them all up and start over, much like the situation in Kansas.)

Anyway, a long time ago, in a place far, far away, the first construction foreman must have decided to build a wall around his or her construction site to prevent people from throwing themselves under bulldozers, sliding down garbage chutes and off the top of roofs, and misusing nail guns just for the pure entertainment value of it. These events caused the foreman to build a wall, historically referred to as "The Wall." Walls eventually became an important part of construction, and some workers almost liked building the wall more than building the actual structure. However, as the walls got bigger and more elaborate, people began to decorate them to make them

While the walls at IWU were actually chain-link fences, walls at K-State became a good place to leave messages for friends and remarks about mothers. This was a good idea until Big Brother decided the wall was ugly and displeasing to parents, and the construction was lovely and should be enjoyed by all, and hence, removed it, only to replace it with industrial-sized chain-link fence, which was still ugly.

The difference was that K-State made an effort to hide the wall by camouflaging the fence, but forest camouflage was purchased, and it didn't blend in with the construction, so everybody can still see it. However, at IWU, the administration purchased murals to place over the fence, which added greatly to the aesthetic value of the campus and pleased everyone.

As you can see, the differences between small, private schools and large, public schools are many, and the comparisons I have made here are only few. However, don't take my word for it, take a look around for yourself.

You'll thank me for it.

Jeremy Stephens is a sophomore in marketing.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ VOTING

Good candidate won't always follow party

As the granddaughter of a homesteader who was the first U.S. Marshal in his area, I thank those of you who have taken advantage of your precious privilege of voting by registering to vote and preparing to vote November 8.

Your privilege of voting has been kept for you by the loss of lives of many of my peers when WW II came along just as they launched their adult lives. But for their sacrifices, we could have a swastika flying from our flagpoles:

In deciding whom to vote for, voting a straight party ticket does not always acquire the best person for the job.

Watching how campaigners express themselves gives clues as to whether their approach to problems is objective or serving party agendas. Looking for how incumbents have responded or stone-walled ordinary constituents demonstrates to whom they feel accountable. Having courage to depart from party stances or even to stand alone instead of in protective packs show they have the courage of their convictions, without which nothing could be accomplished.

Sweeping generalities are not informative, and a candidate who has done his homework won't resort to them, not to political rhetoric which the uninformed mistake for "wisdom."

And something that is very important to understand is that candidates who are familiar with political processes know that it is easier to make promises than to deliver on them once in office. So, honest candidates will avoid making promises but will say, instead, that they will try. What may sound like being wishy-washy or avoiding "straight answers" when answers are qualified is the method of a candidate trying too hard to be truthful and avoid being misleading.

We should look for ones with open minds ready to benefit from the way other states have learned, often

Since none of us ever knows it all, keeping an open mind, ready to learn, prepares us to deal with the reality better than a mind-set based on party affiliation or position on a single issue. Incidentally, I am a Republican who will vote for Jim Slattery for governor.

Helen Roser Manhattan

▶ TIPPING

Restaurants should absorb cost

I read the story by Joyce Leftoff on tipping, and feel compelled to state another side to this social issue. Joyce provided us with more than a dozen viewpoints from people who work in service jobs, and the underlying theme from all of them was "We don't get paid enough. We expect 20-percent tips. You are a jerk if you tip less than 15 percent." What a bunch of whiners!

We did not hear even one viewpoint from someone who enters a restaurant, is confronted by a $15 tab for a burger, salad bar and bowl of soup, and then is expected to pay another $3 for the five minutes of time the waiter with the attitude spent taking an order and carrying it to the table. (By the way, what about the person who cooked the food, bussed the table or scrubbed the toilets?)

First, I feel that routine tipping is a concept whose time is past. It is the responsibility of the employer to compensate employees. If they do not, then they certainly have little right to charge for their "services" now, do they?

Second, when tipping becomes routine, it doesn't mean much. There seems to be little incentive to do a good job. I feel tipping should be reserved for those who do a good job as a positive reinforcement. Why should we reward mediocre performance? That is a Liberal idea! We should reward excellence.

If an employee feels they are inadequately compensated, they need to talk to their boss, or get

A friend of mine, who at the time did not even have a GED, used to routinely bring in more than $150 per night from her service job - more than I was making as an Engineer for the Boeing Company in Wichita! I think the expectations of many service employees are unreasonable, and when I get poor or bad service, I won't tip at all.

Does anyone know the origins of this social custom of tipping? Does anyone understand why it still

I thought the idea of passing minimum wage legislation was to prevent employees for working for less than some minimum standard, but it seems that tipping provides a loophole for shady employers to pay their employees nothing and still charge exorbitant fees for their menu items. Let's hear it from all in favor of dispensing with routine tipping!

Jeff Jenkins

Las Cruces, NM

▶ RAPE

Men need to be the solution

All men are potential rapists, but most men are not rapists. The problem with this is there are no specific characteristics of a rapist. A rapist could be of any socioeconomic class, of any race (most likely of the victim's same race,) in any occupation, any marital status or any education level. Most rapists know their victim. There is no way for a woman to identify the potential rapist, so therefore we must be wary of all men we do not know very well.

Most men are not rapists. In fact, it is a few minority of men who commit many rapes. The FBI interviewed 41 convicted rapists and asked them how many rapes and attempted rapes they had committed and not gotten caught. Out of 41 rapists, there was a total of 1,237 rapes and attempted rapes in which they were never reported or convicted.

NATALEE TUCKER Our problem is not that all men are rapists, but that 61 Inform yourself about society makes it very difficult for women to come the laws, speak forward, even more difficult out against the for police to make an arrest objectification of and near impossible to get a women. conviction. Rape has a very low conviction rate compared with other crimes. Women are often blamed when a rape occurs, and therefore are unlikely to come forward if they know a conviction will probably not be made. In another study of 69 convicted rapists, they were asked why they raped instead of beating or robbing the victim. (I assume most people know rape is a power crime and not a sexual crime.) Forty-four percent of the rapists said they raped because it was easier to get away with than blaming women and denying that rape happens quite frequently, please start taking action against rape. Inform yourself about the laws speak out against the objectification of women. When you hear another man talk about how he can manipulate women into bed, how he got someone drunk in order to score, or any of a variety of sexist remarks, SPEAK OUT! Tell those men that it is a crime, and start believing women who do speak out beating or robbing. My challenge is to all the many nice men on campus. Instead of getting defensive, about their experiences of rape. Don't put up with it when a defense lawyer asks the victim what color of underwear she was wearing. If more of you nice guys start speaking out about how wrong it is to rape, and if you start believing women, then maybe we can get more convictions, stiffer sentences and more women coming forward. The plain truth is that only men can stop rape, and I challenge all of you nice men to do whatever you can to make the world safe for the women you love.

Natalee Tucker senior in human development and family studies

SQUIRRELS

Fuzzy-tailed rodents attack students

Recently there has been a major problem on campus that I can't believe has been overlooked so far this year. I'm referring to the recent acts of violence committed by squirrels. Many students I have talked with complain of attacks by these little furry creatures. Some of my fellow students have shown me welts that prove they were the primary targets of a series of nut attacks from squirrels that sit on the trees above the sidewalk.

Squirrels have also been known to chatter and harass students with no provocation and possibly scare prospective new students away. The explanation for the sudden change in squirrel behavior according to my high-level sources, is the result of a radioactive leak from Ward Hall. The radiation was somehow absorbed into the nut supply, causing squirrels to be aggressive and easily provoked to sudden violent behavior. This is often referred to as the Hermann Donnert effect. The only solution to this tragedy is to eliminate all of the present squirrels on campus. It is sad that a species as fine as the squirrel has become twisted and evil by the carelessness of man and his quest for technological advancement.

If we do not put the squirrels out of their misery now, think of all the behavioral problems the offspring will have from being raised by violent and abusive parents. The offspring would most certainly suffer identity crisis and could become the squirrel generation X. They may question whether or not to become real squirrels and might even decide to join another species. The campus would not be able to handle the enormous costs of squirrel psychologists.

The elimination process could be made into a campus-wide activity. For a small fee, you can bring as many guns, dogs and other hunting equipment that you want on campus. The group that kills the most squirrels will win an "I bagged the most tail" T-shirt. Afterward, a squirrel-cooking contest could allow the best cooks at K-State to square off. The proceeds of the event could help re-populate the campus with normal squirrels, maybe even black squirrels from Marysville, Kansas! I hope you are now aware of this problem and until this problem is solved, I suggest the following safety rules.

1.) Wear long pants when walking to class through wooded areas. 2) Wear proper eye protection (squirrels are vicious, they go for the eyes.)

3.) Be on the lookout for flying nuts and chattering

4.) If encountered head-on with a squirrel, act like

Elmer Fudd, and hold a pretend gun. These techniques have saved many lives, so review them with your family and friends. Remember, squirrel attacks will continue to happen as long as the University administration looks away.

Jim Schneider

senior in geology

USA TODAY-CNN FOOTBALL COACHES' POLL

2. Nebraska 3. Colorado

6. Florida

9. Michigan 10. Virginia Tech 11. Utah 4. Miami 5. Alabama 12. Syracuse

8. Arizona

13. Duke

14. Ohio State

15. Texas

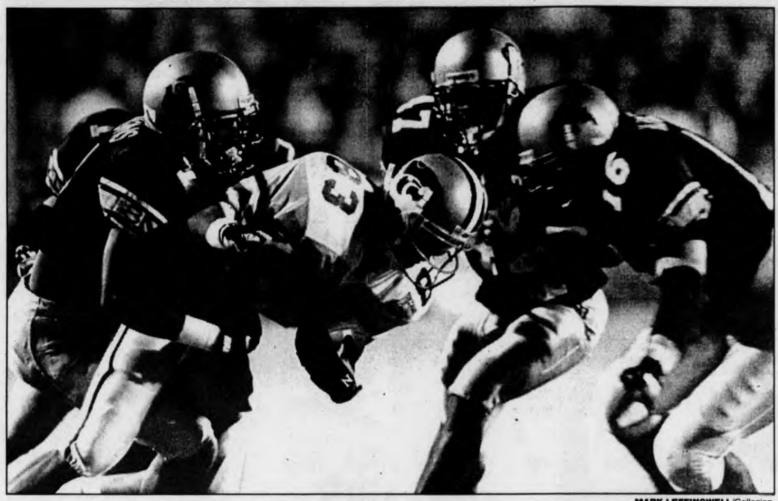

16. Virginia 17. Brigham Young 24. Oregon 18. Colorado St. 19. Washington St. 20. North Carolina

21. K-State

22. N.C. State 23. Southern Cal 25. Oklahoma

K-state is ranked 23rd in the Associated Press college football poll.

OCTOBER 24, 1994

K-State receiver Kevin Lockett is tackled by Colorado defenders in the Cats' 35-21 loss in Boulder. The K-State passing attack totaled 356 yards with 23 completions. This was the second week in a row that the Cats lost to the No. 2 ranked team.

No. 2 Colorado sprints past K-State

"On the first play I scored. I got in, and I was sure of it. They played it really well and ended up stopping us."

> J.J. SMITH K-State running back

WESS HUDELSON

BOULDER, Colo. -The Wildcats missed some big opportunities, and the Buffaloes cashed in on some big plays.

Colorado handed K-State

secondstraight loss Saturday

Colorado 35

Folsom Field.

With 11 minutes remaining in the contest, Colorado was faced with a decision on fourth down and less than a yard to go.

Quarterback Kordell Stewart made the first down on a quarterback sneak - a good decision by Colorado coach Bill McCartney.

On the next play, Stewart took off around the right end on an option play and scampered 60 yards for the game-winning touchdown a great decision by McCartney.

Running the option is my background, and I look forward to running it," Stewart said. "When I find a hole, it's great. When I don't, Rashaan finds it."

On the Cats' first drive of the second half, they found themselves with a first-and-goal situation from the 3-yard line after Chuck Marlowe blocked a punt three plays earlier, only to be stopped short at the one on four straight downs.

J.J. Smith apparently scored on first down as he ran through the right side of the line from the 3-yard

"On the first play I scored," Smith said. "I got in, and I was sure of it. They played it really well and ended up stopping Fullbacks Dederick Kelly and Rod Schiller tried from inside the one on second and third downs, but were both stopped. Smith tried to run wide to the left on fourth down, but was dropped for a 7yard loss ending

"We ran the ball up the middle three times and didn't score, so we had to try something different,"

Coach Bill Snyder said. The missed chance kept the score at 14-7.

The K-State defense stopped Colorado and forced a punt after the ball was turned over on downs, setting up K-State on the Buffaloes' 43. Again, K-State drove inside the Buffaloes' 20yard line only to have the drive stopped by linebacker Ted Johnson's interception off a pass tipped by nose tackle Kerry Hicks.

"We just lost the ballgame," quarterback Chad May said.

"It hurts everybody mentally, not physically. We just lost two tough ballgames in a row.'

May completed 23 of his 40 attempts for 356 yards. Late in the third quarter,

K-State tied the game at 14 late on a 30-yard run by

The scoring drive was set up by linebacker Laird Veatch's interception.

Stewart was hit as he was throwing the ball on the play, and Veatch settled under the wobbly pass for the easy interception.

Colorado fired right back on the second play from scrimmage after the Cats'

Salaam took an option pitch from Stewart 16 yards to the Cats' 18.

Salaam then scored on a 16-yard run after Stewart ran for two yards, putting Colorado ahead 21-14.

"You can't take away everything they have," Snyder said. "If you decide to take away one part of their game, you weaken yourself somewhere else."

Salaam finished the game with 203 yards and two touchdowns on 28

The Cats did manage a big play of their own on the ensuing drive when May hit Kevin Lockett with a pass near the Buffaloes' 40-yard line. Lockett broke a tackle and ran down the sideline to the 17. Three plays later, Smith scored from three yards out tying the game at 21.

K-State's last gasp came with 3 minutes remaining in the game, but the drive was halted when May's pass on fourth down and 10 from the Cats' 15 sailed incomplete.

► K-STATE-COLORADO SIDEBAR

Buffaloes' stars come through in crunch

CRESTON KUENZI

BOULDER, COLO. - When it was crunch time, Colorado's Rashaan Salaam and Kordell Stewart stepped up to make the big play. Their performance not only helped Colorado to a win over K-State, but they also increased their chances at earning the Heisman trophy in the process.

Stewart had 136 yards passing in the game on 10 of 18 com-He also racked up 127 yards on the ground in 22 attempts and scored three touchdowns. This was a career high for Stewart.

The biggest of the three touchdowns occurred early in the fourth quarter, directly following a critical fourth-down conversion by Stewart on a sneak.

"It was crunch time, and I had to make a decision," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said. "With him behind a good line, I figured we'd make it.'

That is exactly what they did, and on the next play, Stewart put the Buffaloes up for good when he scampered 60 yards on an option play around the right side for the score.

"Running the option is my background, and I look forward to running it," Stewart said. "When I find the hole, it's great. "When I don't, Rashaan finds

Salaam found the hole with the option several times during the night, including in the first drive, when he took a pitch and sprinted 53 yards for the touchdown to tie

"I didn't realize that I broke it," Salaam said, "In fact, I was kind of nervous that they would catch me. I didn't want to look back. I was actually shocked to be in the end

The 53-yard run was Salaam's longest touchdown this season.

McCartney said he was not surprised that Salaam and Stewart had the long runs.

"In the defense they were in, they were taking a lot of chances by bringing a lot of guys up to the line," McCartney said. "So, if you happen to hit a crease, you're

In the game, Salaam rushed 28 times for 202 yards and two touchdowns.

Salaam said he was happy with his performance considering K-State's defense against the rush.

"K-State played good touch defense," Salaam said. "That was the best run defense we've played against, except maybe Michigan, but they're right up there with Salaam said he was disappointed with the offense during the first eight minutes of the third quarter, during which the Buffs managed to cross midfield only once.

"We knew we needed to step it up," Salaam said. "We felt bad because the defense was stopping them, and we were putting up

After the Cats made the score 14-14 with 4:20 left in the third, the Buffs outscored them 21-7 the rest of the way, thanks to a Salaam touchdown run and a pair by

Stewart said the whole team will deserve recognition if he or Salaam wins the Heisman trophy.

"I think it's selfish to give it to one guy," Stewart said. "I think we'd both like the whole team beside us.

Colorado 35 K-State 21

STATS CU 35 Score First downs 21 21 Rushes/Yards 30-64 52-339 Passing 363 136 Return Yards 16 37 Passes Attempted 18 Passes Completed 24 Passes Intercepted Punts: Number/Yards 4-41 6-28 Fumbles/Yards 1/0 0/0 Penalties: Number/Yards 6/32 6/44 Possession Time: 28:49 31:11

Allen leads Kansas City to victory

ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -His coach said he's like a fine wine, and his linemen said he's a delight to block

His 34 year-old legs, churning like a teen-ager on a long touchdown run in Kansas City's 38-23 victory over Seattle, say Marcus Allen's grand career is far from done. "I can still run a little bit, guys," a grinning Allen told reporters bunched six deep around his stall. "I just saw an opportunity. Late in the third period, with the Chiefs protecting a 13-7 lead, Allen burst through a hole on the left side of the line, cut sharply right and sped 36 yards for his 117th career touchdown. He passed John Riggins for fourth on the career list with his longest scoring run since going 61 yards against Denver in 1985.

"That's an old dive play from our days as a powerrunning offense," said guard Dave Szott, who helped open the hole."It's supposed to get 5 yards max."

the Chiefs on top 19-7. Then, as if to prove once more how wrong people were three years ago to declare him washed up. Allen took Montana's handoff and ran for the two-point conversion.

"I was still thinking about that dropped pass I had earlier before the half," Allen said. "I just saw an opportunity. It was a great big hole, and I just hit it. There wasn't much else to

"I think that Marcus is like a fine wine. He keeps getting better," said Coach Marty Schottenheimer.

Montana threw two touchdown passes as the Chiefs won their seventh straight against the Seahawks and made the Seahawks 0-6 in post-bye games. Montana hit 21 of 31 for 270 yards and two touchdowns. 'He found

Kimble Anders with a 9-yard scoring pass in the second quarter and tossed a 21yarder to Lake Dawson in the fourth for the rookie's first NFL touchdown. Dawson Touchdown No. 117 put had five catches for 93 yards. Lin Elliott kicked three > who are 12-1 against Seattle in Arrowhead Stadium. The Chiefs took a 13-0 lead with Montana's scoring pass to Anders and Elliott's field goals of 49 and 34 yards field goals for the Chiefs.

in the second quarter. Since going two games without a touchdown, the Chiefs have scored 69 points in two games.

"This is what you hope you can do all the time,' Montana said. "But it's not feasible. We caught these guys on a lull, and we played well both offensively and defensively."

Dawson went to his knees to cradle Montana's 21-yard pass with 14:15 left in the game, capping an 81-yard march.

Steve Bono made his first appearance as a Chief and threw a 32-yard scoring pass.

▶ VOLLEYBALL

Oklahoma drops K-State to 2-4 in Big Eight

JULIE KUHLMAN

Should have, could have, didn't. This was the story of the K-State volleyball team on Saturday night.

K-State had a 2-1 game lead over the Oklahoma Sooners and should have put them away for the victory, but Oklahoma won the fourth game to send it into a fifth and deciding game.

The Wildcats then tied Oklahoma 10-10 in the fifth game but couldn't get ahead. So, the Sooners walked away with a 3-2 win in Ahearn Field House.

"We don't know how to win," K-

State coach Jim Moore said. "We play not to lose, and you have to play to Moore said playing to win might be a

"People are aware of us and aren't taking us for granted," Moore said. "We can't surprise anyone anymore.' The match looked promising for the cliché, but it's also a fact.

Cats from the beginning as K-State won the first game 15-11. However, Oklahoma came back. smacking the Cats in the face with a 15-5 win in the second game. K-State then won a close third game, squeaking by the Sooners 17-15.

The momentum was in K-State's favor, but once again, Moore said the Cats came out flat, and they found themselves in a hole, trailing 14-4. K-State then tried to bounce back

Jill Dugan digs a ball during the Cats' 3-2 loss to the Sooners Saturday. K-State's record is now 12-8, and the Cats have a 2-4 record in the Big Eight.

scoring five straight points, but the Sooners held on for the win, 15-9.

The Sooner victory in the fourth game forced a fifth game, and that game turned out to be the heartbreaker for K-

The Cats were only down 13-12 in the last match when Oklahoma scored two more points, the last on a side-out, to win 15-12.

'We didn't lose this in the fifth game," Moore said. "We lost it in the second and the fourth."

K-State was led offensively by Yolanda Young, who recorded 20 kills for the evening.

K-State is now 12-8 on the season, and the loss to Oklahoma has put the Wildcats at 2-4 in the Big Eight Conference.

the road a must win to get into the Big Eight Tournament," Moore said. 'If we had beaten Oklahoma tonight,

"This makes beating Oklahoma on it probably would have allowed us to be in the tournament."

phys. 18 Flowery

acid

21 Made

24 Avis

accessory

of vinegar

19 Derivative

sport of adjective

25 Every last crumb

26 Cribbage

28 Ricci and

31 Thought

33 Flop

Simone

35 Advantage

36 Deli array

38 One of

New Dragon Inn" — 8 p.m. at Union Little Theatre.

SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN

•/ Wedding Banquet" - 8 p.m. at Union Forum Hall.

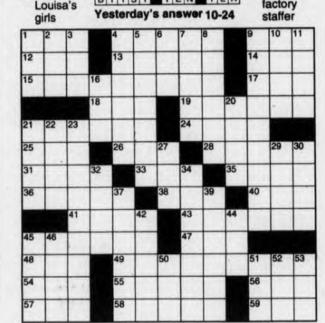

1 The Peach Blossom Land" - 8 p.m. at Union Little Theatre.

OCTOBER 24, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER 59 Politico Zatopek ACROSS 40 Monokini's lack Landon 16 Sort Spelldown DOWN 20 Ohio 4 Brunhoff 41 Get one's "Humbug!" county dander up 21 Injure 43 One of a 2 Lamb's 9 Tramcar badly set of dam 22 Shoppe 12 Holedrawers? 3 Blueprint description making tool 45 Multiaddition 23 Permission 4 She lost 13 Small egg married to take off celeb her sheep 14 "China 27 Sticky stuff 47 Intention 5 Ducked Beach' 6 Chestnut 29 Farming: locale 48 Lo-o-o-oprefix 15 Rooftop o-ong time 7 Sacrifice 30 Connery landing of an airor Penn 8 Read over 17 Anat. or 32 The gamut plane seat

34 Rotten Curve 9 Awaiting 37 45 Across 55 Heron's cousin a cance has a famous one 56 "Lorenzo's lation 39 Resolute 10 On the and coura-57 Appomatblue side 11 Olympic geous 42 Humontox VIP 58 All set runner gous Solution time: 27 min. Camera" 45 Ardor 46 Ruing the running 50 Coach Parseahian 51 Fluffy 52 "- Abner factory

CRYPTOQUIP 10-24

QTPXT GKPVGS HQPVVWU RWHA

BEES-GU Saturday's Cryptoquip: OUR NEIGHBOR, THE

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals M

MARINE BÍOLOGIST, IS SHORE OF HIMSELF.

▶ THE FAR SIDE

0

GARY LARSON

LIBERAL DUCK

MENS

CALVIN AND HOBBES

CALVIN, I'M TELLING YOUR PARENTS ABOUT THIS! NOW LET ME IN! PIPE DOWN, WILL YA ROZ? HOBBES AND I CAN HARDLY

YOU'RE NOT SUPPOSED HEY. IF YOU GO RENT US A VCR TO BE ME'LL PUT THE TELEVISION! TY NEAR A WINDOW SO YOU CAN WATCH TOO!

BILL WATTERSON ARE YOU 18? YOU COULD GET US "VENUSIAN VAMPIRE VIXENS!

▶ FOXTROT BILL AMEND YOU LIVE FOR THIS WEEK, HOW COULD I HAVE LOST ASK ME IF HAVE YOU SEEN HAVE YOU SEEN I'VE SEEN IT. MY PUMPKIN ?! I JUST CARVED IT ANYWHERE ?

Confused becomes problem for advice columnist

Ever since I've been a 3-year-old, I've had this urge to play with myself. I like it because I've done it so much, but now I don't want to offend or gross out my roommate, so I asked him to join in. He accepted. We did it in the bathroom and got caught. It was staff on duty. He started to slide his hands down his pants. We didn't know what to do, so we all got drunk one night, and more things happened between us than are speakable. Now I can't even stand to talk to or look at women. What do I do? Is this love? What is happening to me?

Please help, Confused & Handy

Dear Cassandra,

Dear Confused & Handy,

What is happening to you? Do you mean besides the fact that you are turning into a pain in my advice column with your ridiculous dilemma? Do you want a response as idiotic as your prob-

Let me get this straight. You think getting drunk with your friends, playing with yourselves, and inviting staff members to join in, is love?

Maybe you can turn to your roommate for support. Obviously, he understands in more ways than one.

Otherwise, stay the hell away from my bathroom.

New lead singer heads up Turquoise Sol performance

AMY ZIEGLER

Turquoise Sol's rolling percussion, strong horn section and new female vocalist made for an energy-packed performance at Snookie's Bar Thursday

KMKF-FM 101.5 invited the band to come and perform as part of its fourth birthday celebration named "Rocktober."

Eric Laune, K-Rock employee, said the radio station asked the bands Truck Stop Love, Turquoise Sol, and 311 to perform at Snookie's during three consecutive Thursday's in October.

Laune said K-Rock decided on the band Turquoise Sol because it is well known and liked around the area "Turquoise Sol has done some local stuff, and it has gotten a good response from here and in

The eight-member band from Lawrence delivered 2-1/2 hours of pure entertainment to a crowd of about 75 people. From the first song, bunches of people ran up to the dance floor and moved and danced to the captivating beat of the band. Turquoise Sol seemed to enjoy themselves on stage, and the crowd seemed to share its energy and upbeat attitude. One thing that made the band shine on stage was their charismatic stage presence. Tony Magliano jumped around on stage and beat the congo drums to produce such a strong rhythm that a person could feel and sense the vibes coming from the percussion. "I express myself through the music we do. I feel it, and it gives me a natural high," Magliano said.

Magliano, one of the original members of the band, said Turquoise Sol is getting more and more into cultural music and plans to release a new compact disc titled, "Dance of the Tambourine," in January

Magliano said the band has gone through many changes since it first started, but he feels good about the new members.

"I feel confident about the new lineup. We have strong players and creative songwriters, and our new vocalist is working out wonderfully. She fits the image of our band, and she has a beautiful, fullbodied voice," Magliano said.

Traci McMillan, a senior in equine studies and business administration at Park College, said she has been with the band for two weeks and Thursday was her first time on stage with Turquoise Sol.

As the night went on, she began to feel a little more comfortable with the microphone and the audience and turned out to be a welcome addition

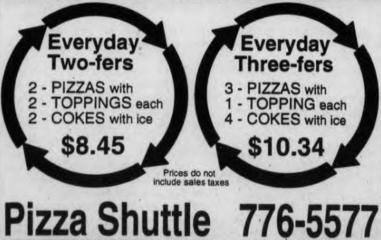

McMillan said performing on stage was a new experience for her.

It was kind of scary with all those people look ing at you and expecting you to entertain them. You don't want to let them down," McMillan said.

Turquoise Sol has improved since they last performed at Deltapalooza, but the band is sure to get even better as the new vocalist gets more experience on stage.

Taco Burgers 2 for $1.59 (reg. $1.20 each)

Burrito Dinner $2.99

(reg. $3.90) Good through 10-29-94

This coupon good for

PEPPER STEAK $3.90

1116 Moro 537-0886

Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m. 11 a.m.-Midnight

Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.

FREE DELIVERY (Minimum order $9)

Expires 11-10-94

KSU STUDENTS ONLY

World's Greatest Haircut Reg. *7* BUT WITH COUPON

ONLY

HIS OR HERS - "MATINEE" PERMS *29** Complete with cut! (MON.-THURS. Till 4p.m.) Long Hair-Extra

FAMILY HAIRCUT SHOPS OPEN NIGHTS AND SUNDAYS

JUST DROP IN

VILLAGE PLAZA W. Anderson 539-4043 (Near ALCO)

K-MARTPlaza E. Poyntz

776-6410

Expires: 12-31-94

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consécutive day rate)

classifieds must be paid in advance as you have an established account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are cepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or property classify any ad. HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention. DEADLINES

HOW TO PAY

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad-has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

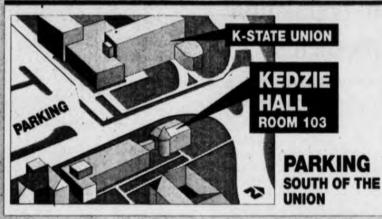

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT

PHONE 532-6555 532-7309 OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

Announcements

each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Load of Sports Cards 410 ed Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141.

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-VANCED FLIGHT Train-ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-'776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days. 030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-

Meetings/ Events

TOASTMASTERS A mu-ASTMASTERS A mutual support group for people who want to improve their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776–3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering anyham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431.

REAL ESTATE

For Rent-

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom aparttions with great prices. 537–1666, 537–2919.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month

For Rent-Unfurnished

lease, 537-8389.

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

********** CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064

WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30 ****

NOW Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Manhattan. Sundeck, hot tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. 776-3804.

Now Leasing Large 2 Bedroom Apartments 1/2 block

from campus/ 1 or 2 baths For Appointment call 776-3804

Managed by McCullough Development

'MANHATTAN Apartments, four-bed room apartments avail able now, Corner of College and Claffin.

CLOSE (ONE block), to campus. Two, three-bedrooms, nice. Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths. Not in complex. No pets. 539-4641.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASE MENT, remodeled $390, bills paid $390, to 539-8401.

Rooms

Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

For Rent-

Houses

NON-DRINKER smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

BRAND NEW '95 Champion Homes 14x64 through 28x56. Very affordable, immediate delivery, C/A skirting, excellent financing. Countryside, 539-2325.

Mobile Homes

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom house beginning in January, $200/ month; one-third utilities; washer and dryer; close to campus. 776-1890.

ROOMMATE FEMALE needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to cam-pus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. 537-8967.

FEMALE TO share two-bedroom apartment. Own room, free laun-dry, one block from

FEMALE/ MALE roommate needed Jan. 1. Nice own room. Cal 537-2611 leave mes campus, utilities paid, $202.50. Jan. 1.

MALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom duplex. $145 plus one-third utilities. Half block from campus. Call Frank 776-3158.

NEED A place to live? Family has room for college girl to live in. Board and food, exchanged duties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

NEED ROOMMATES immediately, very nice house and neighborhood, carpeted, three bathrooms, big yard, $250/ month, no utilities. Send letter to 2306 Casement. Include tele-phone, we'll make ap-pointment. E-Mail Na-tive@KSUVM.KSU.Edu

QUIET CONDITIONS, walk to campus and Ag-gieville, ample parking. Male student to share spacious two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Begin an-ytime from now to Dec. 1. $190. 776-3624.

small two-bedroom apartment $160/ month. Bills paid plus one-half cable and tele-phone. Call 776-5537. ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom, nice, new house, $200, 723

ROOMMATE NEEDED for

Bluemont, washer/ dry-er, own bathroom. 539-1056. Dec. 1. WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities.

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, cious, modern. Balco ny, 587-9394.

LARGE, CLEAN two-bed room apartment. Available anytime. Length of sublease and rent negotiable. Call 587-0034

DIRECTORY

Tutor

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tu tor. Five years GTA experience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave message: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

Resume/ Typing

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings).

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for Jackie.

GET

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS 532-6556

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

testing

·Same day results ·Call for appointment

campus in Anderson Village

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

250

Other Services

255

SS FOR COLLEGE corpoguarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services Dale L. Clinton, M.D. Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertise-ments in the Employ-ment/Career classifica-

Pregnancy Testing

Free pregnancy

 Totally confidential service

Located across from

Mon.-Fri.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kansas. 537–5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

rate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in-come requirements. No paycheck. Money back

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

ment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such employment op-portunity with reason-able caution. The Col-legian urges our read-ers to contact the Bet-ter Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

1-800-FOR-AVON. money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170. ALASKA EMPLOYMENT

Fishing Industry, Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

ARTIST NEEDED to paint or airbrush names and design on license tag. Contact Kristy 395–5998.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

BIG MONEY part-time work. Positions avail-able immediately as campus reps. C (800)783-2883 today.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, She Caribbean, etc.) SEa-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682.

DANCERS WANTED. Need extra money? Become an Exotic Dancer. Must be 18 or older. Call the Malibu Club after 6p.m. 1-762-4699.

DELIVERY HELP needed! Responsible person needed part-time to help deliver pianos. Flexible hours, good pay for the right per-son. Apply in person, Mid-America Piano, 406 Poytnz. EXPERIENCED STRIPPER

platemaker to work 15-20 hours per week. Rate of pay is up to $6 per hour, depending on experience. Contact Larry Ernsting, K-State Printing Services, 8 Kedzie Hall, 532-6308. HELP WANTED: Earn up to

$500 per week assembling products a

You'll never know unless you try...advertising.

CHANSAS STATE
OLLEGIAN
Gedzie 103 532-6555

home. No experience. (504)646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438.

NOW HIRING for full or part-time help, flexible hours available, day shifts available. Apply in person Vista Drive In, 1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd. or 2700 Anderson

OFFICE MANAGER needed for Jon's Notes of KSU. Job begins immediate-ly and continues through the school year. Approximately 15- 20 flexible hours/ week and $500 per month. Office is closed for all school vacations Business background NOT required. For more details contact Jon's Notes at 587–8381.

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ingal For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!
No experience necessary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

MARKET

Items for Sale COPIER RECONDITIONED

Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m. ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

POWERFLEX 350 eight weight straps over 20 different exercises $150, Tunturi stair climber machine $175, both like new. 537-8471

Antiques

430 E

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684. 435

Computers

ATTENTION DOOM Play ers. Doomania and Doom Companion CD's in stock $29.95. Hun-dreds of titles available. From Connecting Point Computers, 3208 Kim-ball Ave. 539–0801.

shape and very nice. $250, 776-7732. MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685.

FOR SALE: Brother Word

Processor- In great

MACINTOSH LC III 4/250 14-inch Apple monitor HP Deskwriter printer 539-1127.

Pets and Supplies

KITTEN PARADISE at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters. Lovable and playful Per-sians- black, calico, cream, blue, or red, $249. Himalayan/ Siamase miyed bread Siamese mixed breed $79 beautiful! 539-9494.

TRANS-PORTATION

Automobiles

1976 FORD Elite 235k miles. Good condition custom exhaust, chrome wheels $1200. Call Quentin at 395-2097 and leave message.

1983 MAZDA RX-7: air, cruise, sunroof, bra. Clarion stereo, two extra wheels. Nice car, $2400. 1-494-2106, 539-3619. Leave message 1984 PLYMOUTH Reliant Excellent condition Great work or school car. Very reliable, $1600 or best offer, 776-0882. 1988 TOYOTA Tercel, two door, automatic, white, best offer. 537-5025.

1994 BERETTA must sell V6, cassette automatic transmission, power locks, air conditioner, low mileage. Located in Silver Lake, KS. About 45 minutes east of Man-hattan. Call after 5p.m. 1-582-5254 TOYOTA, COROLLA, 1982

four-door, manual, air, good condition, best offer 539-4672.

Bicycles

1993 TREK 930, 19-inch. $395. Front suspension. 776-9862, leave

Motorcycles

1981 SUZUKI 550. Good condition, 8900 miles, great for school park-ing. $625. Call Jason 539-0539.

1-800-SUNCHASE

Having a garage sale?

If you're trying to sell your old stuff, let the Collegian help you. It's only $5 for 20 words. Come see us or give us a call.

> KANSAS STATE Kedzie 103 (east of the Union) 532-6555

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

020 Lost and Found 030 Personals

040 Meetings/Events

010 Announcements

050 Parties-n-More HOUSING/

REAL ESTATE For Rent -Apt. Furnished

Apt. Unfurnished

110 For Rent -

115 Rooms Available 120 For Rent - Houses

125 For Sale - Houses 130 For Rent -

Mobile Homes

135 For Sale -Mobile Homes 140 For Rent - Garage

145 Roommate Wanted

155 Stable/Pasture 160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale

150 Sublease

SERVICE DIRECTORY

205 Tuto

210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

220 Sewing/Alterations

225 Pregnancy Testing 230 Lawn Care 235 Child Care

240 Musicians/DJs

255 Other Services

245 Pet Services 250 Automotive Repair

300 EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

310 Help Wanted

320 Volunteers Neede .Opportunities

C FOR SALE 40

MARKET

405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

420 Garage/Yard Sales 425 Auction 430 Antiques

435 Computers

440 Food Specials

445 Music Instruments 450 Pets and Supplies

455 Sporting Equipment 460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

20 TRANS-PORTATION

510 Automobiles

530 Motorcycles

520 Bicycles

540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/

TRIPS 610 Tour Packages

620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets 640 Bus Tickets

CATEGORIES To help you find what you are

TIPS FOR

looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation

WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for.

abbreviations Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price

buyers are confused by

Don't use abbreviations. Many

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Cultures add to population problems

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

people that population is not a problem that only developing countries should worry about.

The question of population is one that is not easily solved because there are so many different cultures, religious views and beliefs involved across the globe, Wilson said.

For example, he said the issue of abortion overshadowed much of the media coverage of the Cairo conference.

Rather, the issue of population stabilization comes into play for areas of the world in which individuals desire to have the ability to control the size of their families, but either don't have access to or the money for contraceptives, Wilson

Few accidents in Saturday's race

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 time competing in a mountain-bike

"After I started out, I didn't think it would be that hard, so I put a lot into it and ended up the winner," Schmidt said.

The winner of the intermediate division, Simon Dirnberger, sophomore in aviation at Central Missouri State University, said he has been racing all his life but never has taken the competition too

"I've never really been into the training thing and joined races because there's more guys to ride from his original Cannondale is his front derailer.

been broken or upgraded. I've been through flats and broken chains, but if mine is screwed up, I just ride it anyway," Dirnberger said.

with," Dirnberger said. Dirnberger said the only part left

Everything on my bike has

Thowe's

Pumpkin Farm 1224 S. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, Ks

Open Oct. 2 - Oct. 31

9 a.m. - 7 p.m. daily

Don't miss your last chance to get a pumpkin!

Free hayrides

Saturday and Sunday

10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Contact Maxine, for information 539-1004 ongratulations

to the

Initiates.

Keller said a few accidents and the Aggie Bike Shop. occurred at the race Saturday.

'We've had a couple wrecks, but most of them drop out. If they can fix it, we usually let them race in the next division," Keller said.

Dave Haefke, of the Riley County EMS, said the fraternity hired the ambulance in case there were any accidents.

"We came out here in case something happened, but we hoped' nothing would. With this rough terrain, the potential for accidents is always there," Haefke said.

Bill Stolte, junior in wildlife biology and winner of the expert division, said he is part of a sixmember mountain-biking team sponsored by Briggs Jeep-Eagle

"I had my teammate with me during this race, and we were working together. I've been racing expert for a year and have progressed and gotten better as I got more experience," Stolte said.

Stolte said the team competes in 25 to 30 races a year across the nation, and is planning to get a club started in the spring and a collegiate team organized in the near future to get more people interested in offroad riding.

"It's a pretty new thing, especially in the local area, but I've noticed more trails and more people riding. It's pretty important for events to go on like this so people know about it," Stolte said.

K-State Bone Marrow Drive

Oct. 25, 4 to 8 p.m. Oct. 26, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. K-State Union

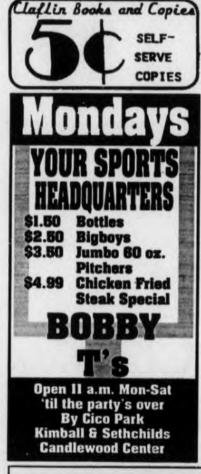

Being registered as a volunteer bone marrow donor isn't time-consuming or costly. All you need to do is have a small blood sample drawn from your arm. As the pool of donors increases, so do the odds of survival for people with leukemia and other fatal blood diseases.

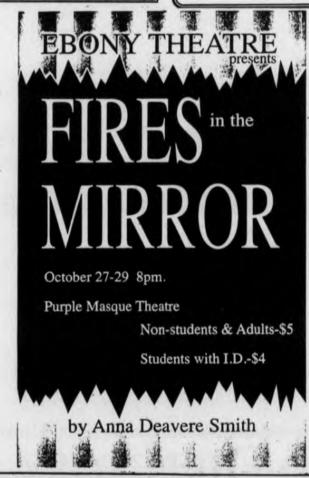

Sponsored by the K-State Student Alumni Board.

More sales tax for students

Maximum security prison next to elementary school

Overpriced: McPherson built a 48-bed facility for $3.2 million, but Riley County wants $8.2 million for a 54-bed facility!

Vote NO on the Jail Tax on Nov. 8

Paid for by JAIL CORP, Richard Bachamp, Finance Chairman

SHEILA KNOWS THAT 1% IS LESS THAN 3%!

Sheila rejected a 1% increase in state $ for KSU and held out until we got 3%!

Her opponent STILL thinks the Chronister Plan, which limits us to 1%, is better. (Collegian, 10/11/94)

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE A ROCKET SCIENTIST ON THIS ONE.

Paid for by Neighbors for Hochhauser, Rod Olsen, Treasurer

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2) $3.50 for faculty/staff $4.25 for the public

AVAILABL

Get Yours in 103 Kedzie Hall

Questions? Call 532-6560

A Collegian special section highlighting all the aspects of Halloween at K-State.

PAGES 5-8

OCTOBER 25, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 46

Wildcat Faithfin

CAMPOUT CALENDAR

Tuesday, Oct. 25

4-4:30 p.m. Portion of the K-State Pep Band will perform.

4:45-5:30 p.m. Men's basketball practice exhibition in Aheam Gymnasium. 9-10:30 p.m. Band concert with "Turquoise Sof" in Aheam Field House.

Wednesday, Oct. 26 8 a.m. Begin ticket sales for ICAT. Noon Begin General Admission ticket sales 5 p.m. Campout officially concludes.

A tent at the campout displays some student humor with a sign reading, "WECAT. We all contributed a thousand, eg. tuition."

DARREN WHITLEY

"We came prepared for the worst. They said there was a freeze warning for tonight."

AARON FLOERSCH Junior in management

"It's fun being out here if you don't freeze first."

> LEE ANN STEALMAN Junior in psychology

"Students really enjoy this. It's a tradition that has been going on for some time."

> ERIC MCPEAK Athletic ticket sales chairman

Melissa Thiesing, freshman in agricultural business, attempts to catch a nap Monday afternoon at the Athletic Ticket Sales campout near Ahearn Fieldhouse. Thiesing said she had been at the campout with the Catbackers since 8 a.m. and had plans to stay through the night.

Fans brave cold for basketball tickets

INSIDE

▶ Campers witnessed the roof of Ahearn

Field House

catch on fire

Monday, Also, a list of the year's

campout.

rules for this

Page 12

MIKE HIND

Collegian It's on.

The area around Ahearn Field House was transformed Monday morning into a makeshift campground for diehard K-State basketball fans. Campers will spend three days and two nights to keep their spots in line in order to get good tickets for the upcoming basketball season. The group Dream Team III now sits first in line waiting for tickets after a member saw the flag go up at 8:45 a.m. We had a guy come out at 8 a.m., and we got lucky enough to pull the right number out of a Jason Dellett, sophomore in ag-business,

Old couches and thermal underwear were the order of the day as students anticipated a successful season as well as cold weather.

"We came prepared for the worst," Aaron Floersch, junior in management, said of the cold weather gear he and his Pi Kappa Phi fraternity brothers had packed. "They said there was a freeze warning for tonight."

"The first practice looked rough, but it's the first practice," Floersch said.

Groups with names like Nads and Beefcakes threw footballs and lounged in stuffed chairs outside their multicolored tents.

Two Kappa Alpha Thetas awaited the arrival of supplies. 'We are waiting on blankets and tents."

Meghan Breneman, senior in elementary education, said.

"It's fun being out here if you don't freeze first," Lee Ann Steadman, junior in psychology

Ernie Rogers, junior in accounting and finance and member of the Beefcakes, said that even though his group was one of the first out after the prank flag was raised, there was no drop in enthusiasm.

"We have a small group so we have to be here whenever we can," Rogers said.

"If you don't have a group member present when they call roll, you lose your tickets," he Eric McPeak, athletic ticket sales chairman, said that the campers had been well-behaved during the campout.

"Students really enjoy this. It's a tradition that has been going on for some time.'

Ticket distribution will be on Wednesday, Oct. 26. People who don't camp out can also get tickets on this day.

ICAT members who don't campout can get tickets at 9 to 9:30 on Wednesday morning.

At approximately 3 to 3:30 in the afternoon, tickets will go on sale for non-ICAT members not camping out.

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

Freshmen Pi Kappa Alpha members Jeff Palmer, journalism and mass communications; Darren Wilson, advertising; Jeff Peterson, architectural engineering; and Travis Worden, business, play a game of cards with money at stake on the game at the campout. The four said they would probably have to sleep in their dome tent overnight to help secure the fraternity's 76 basketball Kenneth Davis speaks to a crowd during the Lou Douglas Lecture Series Monday night in the K-State Union Forum Hall.

▶ LOU DOUGLAS LECTURE

Author discusses corruption, democracy, media

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

Money-oriented enterprise such as commercial television has corrupted the media, especially in the area of politics, a local author said.

Kenneth Davis spoke on "Mass Communications and the American Democracy" as part of the Lou Douglas lecture series Monday night in Forum Hall.

Selfishness and pure self-interest is the ultimate motivator in all human behavior," Davis, author of President Franklin Roosevelt's biographies and several other publications, said.

Human perspective should be viewed as a process, Davis said, and freedom should be regarded as a relationship between self and world.

"It (human perspective) must be seen as stream of being connected with environment," he said.

"Connectedness is the essence of all things. Our connectedness is the essence of our individual selves."

Davis said democracy was the only ay to insure individuals' freedoms.

"Individual persons have been endowed by their creator with inalienable rights only protected by the government," he said. "Freedom is a quality of individual persons, not of persons in mass. Cooperation of persons in mass is through overnment."

Democracy recognizes the temporal and spiritual dimensions of humans, Davis said. "Democracy is the only form of government that realizes the whole human perspective," he said. Davis said we live in a machinedriven, computerized and corporate

"We live in a world whose elements are interconnected," Davis said. "In such a world, we need more and better government than ever before.

Political life, such as that of a senator or congressman, serves a dual role and is part of corruptive advertising, he said.

"They are not only ruled by the state but are also a ruler of the state," Davis said. "They are intensely active. They publish their own opinions as widely as possible, but they are also under an equal obligation to listen to opinions of others.

"Professional politicians are seen as bought and paid for, and thanks to commercial TV, they all too often are. They have to have TV time if they're going to win elections.'

Davis said television seems to ■ See MEDIA Page 12

▶ OBITUARY

Student dies; services set for Thursday

HOLAN SCHRAMM

Lisa Rupp-Whitson, a 25-year-old graduate student in sociology, died Sunday night after apparently ingesting cyanide, the Riley County Police Department said.

The funeral will be 2 p.m. Thursday at the First Christian Church in Scott City.

Rupp-Whitson was born in Denver. In 1986, she moved to Manhattan, where she was a student at K-State. She received her bachelor's degree in sociology in May

"She was a loving person, full of life. She loved people and her schoolwork," Glenda Rupp, Lisa's mother, said.

She is also survived by her father, Cletus Rupp, Garden City; two daughters. Linn and Anelise Whitson, Manhattan; and one son, Jakob Whitson, Manhattan.

News Briefs

PILOT'S LIFE IS SPARED IN AIRPLANE CRASH NEAR MANHATTAN AIRPORT

No one was injured Sunday night when a small aircraft went down in a milo field near the Manhattan Airport.

The accident occurred around 8:43 p.m., one-half mile south of Scenic Drive along I-70 and Rover

Officials with the Kansas Highway Patrol said that the pilot of the plane suffered minor cuts and bruises after his aircraft hit two power lines and a tree before coming to rest in the field. The pilot was the plane's only occupant.

"We heard a big boom," 14-yearold witness Travis Edwards said. "Then the lights in our house went out. All of our neighbors and us ran out to help, and my mom called 911. The pilot was really lucky — his plane is completely

Power in the area was restored approximately 45 minutes after the incident.

The FAA is still investigating the crash.

NICOLE POELL

TWO K-STATE STUDENTS COULD RECEIVE THE NEXT MARSHALL AND RHODES

K-State could claim two more winners of the Marshall and Rhodes scholarships.

Scott Rottinghaus, senior in biology and classics, and Brad Brenneman, 1993 graduate in accounting, have been selected as candidates for both scholarships.

Each of the scholarships provides the winner with awards of $40,000-$60,000.

The winner of the Rhodes scholarship will attend Oxford University in England. Marshall scholarship winners will attend Cambridge University.

Rottinghaus came to K-State as a presidential scholar.

"Another big scholarship I got was the Goldwater Scholarship," he said.

Rottinghaus is involved in several campus activities, including student government and a large research project he began when he was a freshman, said Larry Williams, associate professor for the division of biology and Rottinghaus' faculty adviser.

"For someone to get into research as a freshman is very unusual. He stuck with it for four years, too," he said.

Williams said Rottinghaus takes on more than a full load of classes and extra-curricular activities.

"He maintains a 4.0 GPA. He's probably doing triple or at least double what the average student is doing. On top of that, he's a very nice person," he said.

Brenneman now works at Bain and Co., Inc., in Dallas. If he is awarded one of the scholarships, he plans to continue his studies in business "If I get accepted, I plan on studying the relationship between ethics and business strategies," he said.

While he attended K-State, Brenneman was active on the Senate Finance Committee and Union Governing Board. He also worked as a youth mediator for Manhattan Community Services.

Brenneman said he is hesitant to comment too much on the nomination because he and Rottinghaus do not even know if they will be granted interviews at this point.

"I will say that I am honored to be selected by K-State. Whatever happens, I learned a lot about my personal and professional goals and how I want to achieve them," Brenneman said.

SERA L. TANK

▶ UPC PRESENTS CHILDREN'S CARNIVAL, COMPLETE WITH GAMES, CANDY, FUN

Free, free, free. On Wednesday night, children can enjoy a free and safe Halloween sponsored by the Union Program Council.

UPC and volunteers have put together a carnival for the community's children with more than 20 games and free refreshments. It will be from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Oct. 26 in the main ballroom of the Union.

"This year, we have over 20 games, a lot of which are new," Christy Drake, UPC Special Events chairwoman, said.

Drake said that in past years, the carnival has had more than 500 kids participating, and they are expecting more this year.

The standard carnival games will be offered, from the duck pond to bean bag tosses, and there is a game for all ages.

Prizes and refreshments will be available and are free of charge. With the many children expected and all the different games and refreshments to be served, there is a large task of staffing still ahead of the UPC staff.

Among the volunteers to help have been local schools and organizations, Drake said.

"Lee Elementary School donated some of the games, and the Sunset Zoo not only donated games but some free passes to the Zoo as prizes," Drake said.

There has been a lot of team work through UPC and Jardine Terrace too, Drake said.

"They helped with the publicity in that area since we are wanting to target the family members of K-State," Drake said.

Anne Trumbull, assistant coordinator of family housing, said that it was a way of promoting a way for residents of Jardine to participate in a campus activity.

"It helps the population that is forgotten a lot of times on campus,"

Trumbull also said she felt it was an alternative for families that couldn't get out on Halloween night or attend the party at the Frith Community Center.

The carnival is geared for gradeschool age children and is meant for the fun of Halloween. Costumes are not required but may be worn.

Promotion by family housing members included flyers and announcements at meetings.

"We felt it was a really good opportunity because it tied the children in with the University, and that's what we're all about," Trumbull said.

UPC will be staffing the carnival but is urging anyone interested in volunteering to contact Christy Drake at the UPC office on the third floor Union or call 532-6571.

LORI CAGLE

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

COMPANY TO THE DESTRUCTION OF THE PARTY OF T

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 23

At 1 p.m., a pasture fire was reported a quarter mile north of old quarry on Kimball extension on K-State property.

At 4:21 p.m., an ambulance was called to the playing field north of Haymaker Hall. Adam Inman was transported to Saint Mary Hospital for treatment of an injured ankle.

At 10:33 p.m., a juvenile was

RILEY COUNTY POLICE SUNDAY, OCTOBER 23

At 8:35 a.m., Roger Wilson, 1122 Kearney St., reported a car stereo, three mirrors and 11 cassettes were taken from his car. Two windows on the car were also damaged. Loss was $1,100.

At 6:07 p.m., Jon Reel, 926 Bluemont Ave., Apt. 10, had his personalized license plate stolen, Stolen was a Labette county license plate reading RU4REEL. A theft report was filed.

100. Pat Collins. A report was filed by the KHP. ad his At 9:19 p.m., Brian Long, stolen, 1100 Fremont St., reported his bicycle stolen. A theft report was

At 12:10 a.m., Toni T Williams, 726 Thurston St., N

At 12:10 a.m., Toni
Williams, 726 Thurston St., reported a mule subject sleeping in the front seat of her car. The subject was advised not to return.
At 3:55 a.m., Chad Failer,

Todd Meyers and Ronald Mertes, 431, Bluemont Ave., were the victims of vehicle burglaries. Taken were 50 compact discs and two men's coats. Loss was $840 reported missing from Jardine

Terrace. The 16-year-old subject failed to return home. Missing is Kristal Hurren, 5 feet 5 inches tall, 110 pounds, blonde hair and sounded at Bramlage Coliseum.

The area was checked, and everything was OK. The alarm

At 8:49 p.m., RCPD was informed of a possible plane crash. The crash was confirmed.

Dispatched was the EMS, rural fire department, FAA, KHP and

At 2:20 a.m., a trouble alarm blue eyes.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

BULLETIN

■ Circle K International will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union 206.
■ "What is the Limit?" will be presented at 7 p.m. today in the UFM Building as a part of World Population Awareness Week. "Finding the Balance" will also be presented at noon today in Seaton 252 and 7:30 p.m. today in the UFM Building.

■ Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 p.m. today Union 207. Schedules for the Chicago trip will be given

■ KSU Sailing Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 205.
■ The KSU bone marrow drive will be from 4 to 8 p.m. today

■ The KSU bone marrow drive will be from 4 to 8 p.m. toda on the second floor of the Union.

■ Black Student Union will meet from 6:30 to 6:45 p.m. today in the McCain lobby to have yearbook pictures taken.

CORRECTIONS

In the bike story in Monday's Collegian, it was incorrectly said the Pi Kappa Phi Mountain Bike Challenge was canceled last year. It was not canceled. The Challenge was consolidated into one race.

In a graphic in Friday's Collegian, the Taiwanese Film Festival presentation of "Wedding Banquet" was incorrectly said to be Saturday. "Wedding Banquet" will be shown at 8 p.m. today in Forum Hall.

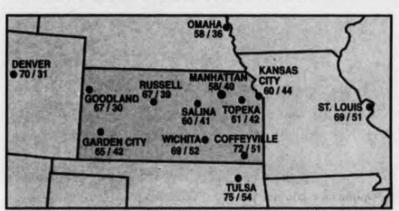

The Collegian regrets the errors.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-

AMEETS!

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

Chance for early morning showers and a possible thunderstorm in the southeast, otherwise mostly sunny. Highs in upper 50s to mid-60s.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

Mostly sunny with a high in the mid-50s and a low of 35. North wind 5 to 15 mph.

TOMORROW

Slight chance for showers. Highs in the 60s and lows in the

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Tuesday, Oct. 25

KSU Student Foundation Exec. Board 6:00p.m.
Honors Student Organization 6:20p.m.
Order of Omega 6:40p.m.
Black Student Union 7:00 p.m.

Pre-Physical Therapy 8:00 p.m. Dairy Science Club 8:20 p.m. Spurs 8:40 p.m.

National Ag Marketing Assoc. 9:00 p.m. Bakery Science Club 9:20 p.m. Strong Complex Staff 9:40 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

- SECONT Charle Assessed
- **CREF Stock Account . . . . . .
- CREF Bond Market Account . . . 7CREF Social Choice Account . . .
- * * * * * **

-\hrmmy-

ISN'T IT NICE WHEN THE EXPERTS DISCOVER SOMETHING YOU'VE KNOWN ALL ALONG.

Over 1.6 million people in education and research know that choosing TIAA-CREF was a smart move. And now everyone else does too. Because Morningstar—one of the nation's leading sources of variable annuity and mutual fund information—has some stellar things to say about our retirement investment accounts.

"This comfortable combination of risk and return has earned the CREF Stock Account a five-star rating."*

After studying CREF's performance history, Morningstar gave five-stars—its highest rating—to both the CREF Stock and Bond Market Accounts, and an impressive four-stars to the CREF Social Choice Account** In fact, the CREF Stock Account was singled out as having
"...one of the best 10-year records among variable

annuities."*** Of course, past performance is no guarantee of future results.

"...CREF is far and away the cheapest variable annuity out there."

Morningstar also called attention to CREF's

"...rock-bottom" fees-something that can really add to the size of your nest-egg down the road.

What's more, TIAA's traditional annuity—which offers guaranteed principal and interest plus the opportunity for dividends—was cited as having the highest fixed account interest rate among all annuities in its class.

We're happy to accept Morningstar's glowing ratings. But nice as it is to focus on stars, we'll keep focusing on something more down-to-earth:

building the financial future you want and deserve. For more information about our Morningstar ratings or TIAA-CREF, just call 1800 842-2776.

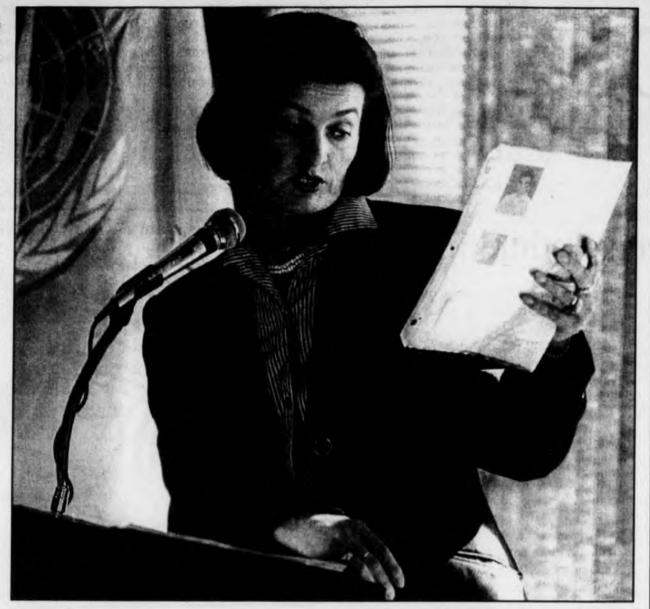

Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™

*Source: Morningstar's Comprehensive Variable Annuity/Life Performance Report January, 1994.
**Source: Morningstar Inc. for periods ending March 31, 1994. Morningstar is an independent service that rates mutual funds and variable annuities on the basis of risk-adjusted performance. These ratings are subject to change every month. The top 10% of funds in each class receive five stars, the following 22.5% receive four stars.

***Among the variable annuity accounts ranked by Morningstar; the CREF Stock Account was 1 of 12 growth-and-income accounts with 16 years of performance. Morningstar ranks the performance of a variable annuity account relative to its investment class based on total returns.

CREF certificates are distributed by TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services. For more complete information, including charges and expenses, call 1-800-842/2738, ext. 5609 for a prospecture. Read the prospectus carefully before you invest or send money.

Spomenka Bratovic of Bosnia, United Nations Day Luncheon speaker, reads a report about students she has helped bring to the United States for safety Monday in the Landon Room of the Ramada Inn. Bratovic has helped more than 30 people come to the United States in search of safety away from war-torn Bosnia. Bratovic's family has come to the United States for safety reasons. DARREN WHITLEY

Honored Bosnian woman reunites with family

CRISTINA JANNEY

Monday was a special day for Spomenka Bratovic.

She was honored for her efforts to help young people leave the war-torn country that was Yugoslavia at a United Nations . Day Luncheon. But what made this day special was that she was accompanied by her husband and two daughters.

This is the first time in more than three years that the family from Sarajevo has been together.

The Bratovio's oldest daughter. Elma, now a junior in architectural engineering at K-State, came to the United States four years ago as an exchange student to Manhattan High School. Shortly before she was to return to her home in Sarajevo, the war broke out.

Lejla, a student at Manhattan High School, joined her sister in Manhattan followed by her mother last fall.

Spomenka returned to Bosnia in June in an attempt to assist her husband, Selimbato, and five students to come to the United Selimbato and Spomenka returned to Kansas together a couple of weeks ago.

Spomenka said her journey was very difficult, but she was glad the family was back together

In her quest to bring her own family to safety, Spomenka has also worked to help young people leave Sarajevo and come to the United States to study.

She has helped more than 30 students come to the United

"Sometimes it was hard to know who I was or what I have become," she said."I realized I have a strong reason to fight the children. If I save one life, I haven't lived in vain."

She read the names of some of the young people she had helped and held up snap-shots of them as she spoke.

"They are eager to learn and go on," Spomenka said.

Lecture

Student Development

for 1994-1995

TO HELP

If you would like to help a student from Bosnia, call Bill Richter at K-State International Programs in Fairchild 304 at

She said the United Nations and people at K-State have been very helpful in her efforts to relocate students to the United 532-5990.

She said it costs about $10,000

■ See TRAVEL Page 8

Analysis says Cessna would create income, sales and new housing

LEIGH BELLINGER

Collegian
Manhattan and the surrounding area could see an increase of $35 million in personal incomeeconomic activity if Cessna Aircraft Co. decides to build its new plant here, according to a Manhattan Chamber of Commerce

The economic and fiscal-impact analysis was developed to show what kind of effect the project might have on the local area in personal income, retail sales and housing.

"I think we came up with numbers that can show this can have a positive impact on this region," Randy Martin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said.

Martin said the analysis was not put together for Cessna, but instead to show people in the community what the plant would mean to them.

The city of Manhattan is one of five Kansas cities in the running for the new plant. Pittsburg, Emporia, Hays and Independence are the four other cities. Cessna will decide in December where the plant, which will have a payroll of $20 million and 1,000 employees, will be built.

According to the analysis, the $20 million payroll would generate an annual personal-income increase of $35.8 million before benefits.

That has local business owners anxiously awaiting Cessna's decision. The new plant would bring with it, for most businesses anyway, new customers.

"There is no doubt it would be a shot in the arm for the community and our business," Jim Gaidos, general manager of Briggs Jeep-Eagle-Isuzu, said.

He said he had no way to tell just how much business would increase, but he was sure numbers would go up

"I couldn't tell you in cars," Gaidos said, "But it would be very, very beneficial and I can't see there would be any downfalls." Steve Nelson, owner of Bob's

Glass Shop, said the Cessna plant would be helpful, especially for his service related business. He said even if money is not spent directly at his business, any money spent in the community would eventually benefit the shop.

"It would be a bonus in all aspects that I can see," Nelson said. The president of the Kansas Lumber Homestore, Kent Glasscock, said any time personal income goes up, retail sales are sure to follow.

"It would be felt throughout the retail community," Glasscock said. There's no doubt about it.'

According to the analysis, an average of 45 percent of this personal income is projected to be spent on taxable retail sales. That means total retail sales in the area are projected to increase by $16.1 million.

The plant's payroll equals out to an average wage of $20,000 per year for workers. Currently, the average wage in Riley County is $16,167 per year, so Cessna would be paying wages 23 percent higher than the county's current average annual wage.

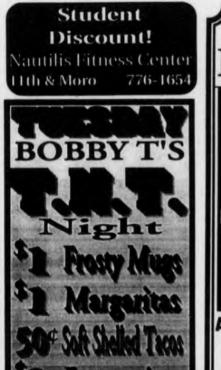

If Cessna decides to build the plant in Manhattan, according to the analysis, 500 new living units will be added in the area. This represents a 1.2 percent increase in the existing housing supply.

Since Manhattan is a major contributor to the incentive package that's being used to lure Cessna to the region, city commissioner Edith Stunkel said she would like to see an analysis that balances the costs with the benefits. That way the city of Manhattan might have a better understanding of what return it might be getting on their investment.

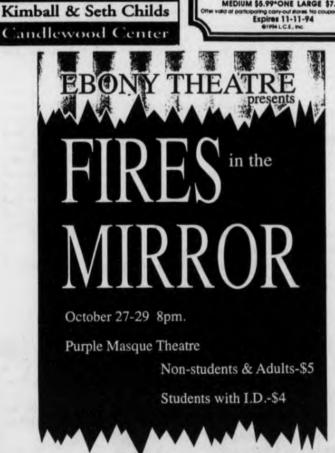

'We're told what the benefits are," Stunkel said, "But we aren't told what the relationship of those benefits is to the cost. That's the real issue.

The 500 new housing units was a good example, she said. She would like to have seen how many of those houses were expected to be built in Manhattan.

She said officials from the city and the Chamber of Commerce are ■ See PUBLIC Page 8

by Anna Deavere Smith

2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. 1-800-439-8956

10:30 a.m.

Warming the Chilly Climate for Women

Thursday, Oct. 27, 1994

The Public is Invited

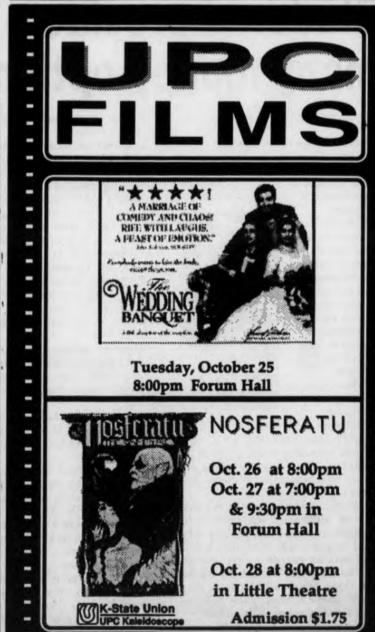

K-State Union Forum Hall

(Follow-up Session, 1:30 p.m., K-State Union Room 213)

Sponsored by the College of Education in cooperation with the KSU Foundation

CAMPUS EDITOR.....J.R. Prather A&E/FEATURES EDITOR .. Andrew Tomb SPORTS EDITOR ...... Wess Hudelson GRAPHICS EDITOR ...... Sara Smith COPY CHIEF ...... Robin Kickhaefer CITY-GOV. EDITOR.....Lola Shrimplin ASST. SPORTS EDITOR ... Jeremy Crabtree ASST. PHOTO EDITOR .. Mark Leffingwell

AD MANAGER ..... Ryndell Little ASST. MANAGER.....Ted Eller SALES MANAGER....Jim Stothard TEARSHEETS MGR... Ivonne Zaldumbide NEWS ADVISER ...... Ron Johnson AD ADVISER ......Gloria Freeland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Forum time, location needs rethinking

Student Senate wants to meet with students again. But the scheduling of the forum isn't convenient.

Student Senate has been and will be holding public forums to get students' views on how the $17,000 from the student fees overcharge should be spent.

The Student Affairs and Social Services committee is responsible for researching the possible ways of spending the $17,000. The committee has made its meetings open for groups or students to speak.

They opened one meeting last week. They are opening this week's meeting and the next two meetings also.

The committee had a table by the Union Stateroom to get suggestions. A bulletin board was set up to get suggestions also. The committee plans to have one forum in Aggieville and one forum on campus. The part in question is how public the remaining forums will be. The committee will be meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday Oct. 30 in the SGA offices. SGA has had public forums in the past. One of which was at Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon which 55 students attended. Not bad.

Forums to discuss an issue that involves all the student body, since everyone was overcharged, should be heavily advertised, announced and accessible to a good number of students.

Forums that have been announced well in advance and have been in goodsized places and at good times, such as the Union Courtyard around noon, have been relatively successful.

TOLES

Choice is easy for state treasurer job

several K-State students, are very interested in the upcoming state

Several students are involved in political clubs like the College Republicans and the Young Democrats. There are also some new clubs, like the K-State Students for Brownback and the K-State Students for Slattery, which have come about to support particular candidates.

There is. however, one state-wide race which seems to be drawing less attention than a local race for dog catcher. It's the state treasurer's

Sally Thompson, the current treasurer, is running for re-election after being elected to her first term in 1990. By most reports, she seems to be having a fairly successful term in office, and it showed, because until the last possible day to file for office, she faced no opposition. On the final day possible to become a candidate, she finally had an

Randy Duncan, the former chair of the Saline County Republican Party, of both governors Robert Bennett and

This year, several Kansans, including decided to put his name on the ballot and save the spot for another Republican who might want to run. After several more weeks went by and no replacement in sight, Duncan decided that he was going to run for the treasurer's office

> Duncan is focusing his campaign on the office itself. He has said that he wants "the Legislature to re-organize this office into the executive branch of the government of Kansas." He said that he believes that "making this office a gubernatorial appointed service department with State Senate confirmation, would cease the political posturing Kansas has long endured."

> He promises that by the end of his term in January, 1999:

1. He will reorganize the office.

2.He will increase external communication. 3. He will initiate state-wide field services programs. Well, on the surface that might sound all find and dandy, but when you look at some of his ideas and the record of the current state treasurer, you will come to the conclusion that Duncan really has nothing to run on. Let's take a look at some of the consequences of his ideas, and the record of Treasurer Thompson. 1. His most important campaign issue seems to be that he wants to eliminate the rights of Kansans to elect the office of state treasurer. His ideas of making it an appointed position is similar to ideas

Gov. Bennett wanted to eliminate the treasurer's office and the insurance commissioner's office and make them appointments of the governor. His plans hit a brick wall in the Legislature when Republican Insurance Commissioner Fletcher Bell fought to save his office along with then Democratic State Treasurer Joan Finney. After Bennett's plan failed, Gov. Carlin tried during his first term to make the treasurer's office a gubernatorial appointment. He also failed.

The truth is, if the office becomes a gubernatorial appointment and not one elected by the people of Kansas, then it will lose a lot of accountability and credibility. Through Thompson's innovative investment policy, Kansas taxpayers have earned an additional $22 million annually in interest income. In fact, it's that new $22 million earned by the state treasurer's office that cut in half the projected revenue shortfall during the 1993 Legislative session.

communication."

Thompson has increased external communication by traveling the state and telling people about the Unclaimed Property Act. More than 200,000 assets remain at the treasurer's office for owners to claim, for example, unclaimed wages and dormant checking/savings accounts. Treasurer Thompson has been urging people to contact her office to find out if they or any of their relatives might have an unclaimed property.

3. Duncan wants to "initiate statewide field services."

Treasurer Thompson has done this through creating and administrating the Municipal Investment Pool. The MIP has reached over $1.3 billion. The pool allows local governments to combine its idle funds for investment purposes. The pool has returned more than $36 million in interest to cities, counties, school boards and other pool members across the state. And every dollar earned this way means one less dollar Kansans must pay in taxes.

The fact of the matter is, the only reason why Duncan wants to make the Treasurer's office an appointment is a political one. Since 1974, there has not been a Republican state treasurer. Finney was in office for 16 years and Thompson had it for the past four. Both are Democrats. Finney was elected to five terms by fairly wide margins over numerous Republican opponents. Thompson racked up 64 percent of the vote in 1990.

So if anyone ever tries to convince you that the treasurer's office is inefficient or should be an appointed one, you will know the state treasurer's office, although not a glorious, highly noticed position, is working for you by earning additional money for local, county and state governments and always should be accountable to the voters of Kansas.

Aaron Otto is a sophomore in political science and business.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

EDUCATION

K-State lucky Chronister Plan failed

Recently, Ann Stevens indicated her support of the "Chronister Plan" for funding Higher Education in Kansas. She went on to suggest our current representative, Sheila Hochauser, had turned her back on K-State by objecting to this proposal. This is far from the truth.

Finding the funds to adequately support higher education is complicated and, unfortunately, often a highly political task. The plan Ann Stevens supports was originally proposed by Rep. Rochelle Chronister as a concept for the long term funding of Regents universities, including K-State. The plan was designed to set a firm limit on the amount of turn for letting each university increase its tuition.

In the near term, the Chronister plan looked to be a good deal for K-State, as it was clear that

BRAD WEHWICK

65 Hochhauser recognized the

was not in K-State's long term

Chronister plan

best interest and worked against

tuition was going to increase anyway. In this way, K-State was assured that the increased tuition would go to help the University and not be used to fund other governmental programs. This short term held the potential for some rather negative long-term consequences.

The concept was to artificially cap the amount of additional support provided by the state, and the university would become more self-supporting by using tuition as a major source of new funds. In effect, the state legislature would, for many years, be able to dodge their responsibility to support higher education and the politically difficult task of finding funds.

Sheila Hochhauser recognized the Chronister plan was not in K-State's long-term best interest and worked against it. Fortunately for K-State, the Chronister plan failed. Had it passed, the faculty salary increases and additional operational funding that we received this year would have certainly been much less. Moreover to have K-State make strides toward matching the per-student funding at other universities, additional rather dramatic tuition increases would necessarily follow at regular intervals. Rep. Hochauser understands that the funding of higher education is a shared responsibility. Her record demonstrates that she believes the Legislature has a responsibility to do its share and that becoming overly dependent on tuition is not in the best interest of the instituition or the students.

Brad Fenwick

associate professor of veterinary medicine

RESPONSE

Columnists get different responses

Why is it that people read Scott Miller's columns thoughtfully, respectfully and with feeling and yet dismiss Brad Seabourn's with a cursory glance or an angry letter to the Collegian?

Could it be sincerity vs. sneers, authentic vs. contrived writing, reflection vs. self-satisfied

Leo Schell professor in elementary education

Students provide many money options

$17,000?

This question has been posed by the Student Governing Association Committee of Student Activities and Social Services big poster outside of the Union Stateroom to get student responses about how to spend the extra money obtained when all of us were overcharged by 50 cents at fee payment this semester.

When I first saw this poster waiting for student input, I thought it was a great idea.

I said something to the effect of, "I mean, heck, we donated it? Why not ask us how we want to spend the money?"

to mention, a great recruftment tool?

But the dreamer in me realized this was only a fantasy.

Boy, I bet that would cost more than $17,000. (I'm so quick.) It might even cost, like, more than a million. (I grabbed my calculator.) If we donated 50 cents every semester, then we'd obtain a million dollar-parking garage (like I know how much parking garages cost - I'm sure a lot more than a measly mill) in ... 58 semesters."

to this column.

"Un-tear down the wall."

Keep reading, they get worse.

"Buy a garden hose to use on a bloated cow." (At least this is how I interpreted it. The handwriting wasn't too clear.)

suggestion list by one individual (at least it was written by one person). I'm not going to print all of it word for word, but the gist of it went like this:

Donate $1,000 to UPC for a Dukes of Hazard re-union ... use it as a goal post fund so we can tear down everyone's goal posts each week, win or lose ..." Start a damn gay newspaper so normal people don't have to read about it daily ..." (note the last part was a direct quote).

this project to become a medium for prejudicial, offensive comments directed at any group. There is more.

for kids under 18 months." Beneath this comment was written

"You shouldn't of gotten pregnant."

Then the retort followed: "Not all students are 18-to-22-years-old and some of us have children because we wanted to.'

need to find the maturity they lost back in public high school. Reading these posted comments on a day when the Union was host to a conference and many outsiders were flocking the Union was embarrassing.

Are we so foolish and fickle that we STUDENT must stupidly bash one pay for KU's goal posts."

another for no reason other than trying to look ... I don't know ... like a with their middle-school-bathroomdoor style of suggestioning, (yes, phone numbers were included), others gave logical and constructive

"Give it back in our tuition. Any business that over-charges on statements gives it back - why is SGA any different? Congress is tax and spend. SGA should know better than that. Have some integrity, STUDENT Buy a slurpee machine it's all the senators. Give rage.

it back." "More periodicals for Farrell."

"Give it to campus organizations for travel." "Safeness Awareness." "Study halls in each building, at least chairs. Or, three or four levels of parking on three or four lots." (A writer after my own heart.) 'We need a new scoreboard at the football stadium." "For starters, we should pay for KU's goal posts."

And, of course, there were multiple comments about parking and bike racks, more comments by bikers and walkers putting drivers down (Driving ... "is for lazy asses. Ride your bike!"). and requests to give it to financial aid for students.

Too bad so many people had to come by and waste everyone's time by writing the worthless comments. It lessened the credibility of the positive suggestions, the project and the student body as a whole.

Whatever SGA decides, I hope they decipher out the good from the ridiculous and keep in mind this amount of money probably will not solve any major problems. Like one person wrote:

"Why is everyone trippin' about $17,000?? It ain't that much." So, so true.

Kristin Brighton is a sophomore in English and mass communications.

How on Earth would you spend in the form of a

RISTIN RIGHTON

I even considered putting my two cents in, although I wanted time to think about a realistic answer. My initial response was to request a tenlevel parking garage equipped with glass elevators and a snack bar on the fifth floor. Wouldn't this be a nice addition to the K-State family and, not

Well, last Thursday I went back to read what my fellow students had to suggest. I should have known better. Let me show you some of the responses, so you can guess my point

"Send more troops to Kuwait." "Buy a slurpee machine — it's all the rage.'

And then, there was this multi-

I do not think that SGA intended for "(Use it for) child care on campus in all its grammatical glory:

And the final word, as of Thursday,

12:08 p.m.: "You welfare slut!"

Need I say anymore? Some people

For starters, we should smart-ass in front of whomever could be watching us write? Get a life. While so many ruined the project comments that I am sure will be helpful to SGA. For example:

OCTOBER 25, 1994

Party planning

Whether it's a costume party, or just a small gathering of friends, here's a guide to make your Halloween perfect.

Halloween party basics

COLLEGIAN STAFF

So. It's six days before Halloween and you haven't planned your party yet? Or maybe you've planned it but forgot a few things? We at the Collegian have come up with a few tips to make sure that your party goes off smoothly.

THEME

First, you need a theme. This is pretty easy, since it is Halloween, but it also give you a starting point. Decide whether it's a costume party, movie party, come-as-you-are, etc.

Props come next. You'll need the basics: cobwebs; plastic spiders, rats, mice and bats; and creepy

If you're looking for something out of the ordinary, try making tombstones and coffins out of cardboard and spray paint.

Confetti's Party Shop in Aggieville also has assortment of odd party

"We have everything from dry ice, fog machines and strobe lights, to body parts," Terry Walker, owner of Confetti's, said. "We have body parts that you can lay around, like feet, hands, brains and eyeballs. We also have tons of gruesome creatures like mice, rats, bats you name it."

Unfortunately, yesterday was the last day to reserve dry ice, but Confetti's is still accepting payment today. The strobe lights rent for $15 a night and the fog machine comes with a pint of liquid and rents for $45 per night.

Don't forget the food. Along with an assortment of Halloween candy and finger food, remember punch, pumpkin seeds and carmel PLATES, NAPKINS, ETC. If you're going to have food at your party, Mr. P's Party Outlet has an assortment of accessories.

"We have a large selection of plates and napkins. We have five or six designs and prices," Walt Pesaresi, owner, said. "We also have cake-decorating items, little ghosts, pumpkins and goblins."

When planning, don't forget silverware and cups.

■ COSTUMES Marie's Formal Wear and Costumes rents Halloween costumes at varying prices. Costumes rent for $25 and up, and each additional day is half-price. A store clerk at Marie's recommended that students rent costumes soon, because they are going fast.

Of course, if you're looking for a cheap costume alternative, try searching local second-hand stores, and Wal-Mart and K mart.

■ ACCESSORIES

Most stores have a wide range of fake blood, hair paint and face paint. Mr. P's also has a wide selection of witch hats and face masks, such as Bill and Hillary Clinton and Ross

PUMPKINS

Don't forget to carve a jack o' lantern or three. Instructions and recipes are located in a graphic on this page. Also, some stores sell carving kits that contain small knives that make face carving easier

CARVING A PUMPKIN TO SUIT YOUR PERSONALITY

This fall, jack-o-lanterns are being tailor-made to fit the attitude of the party, decorations or event. Nothing is against the rules.

Make sure that you draw on the pumpkin with a marker before you start cutting.

Scary face

Sad face

Alien face

TIRED OF JACK-O-LANTERNS? CARVE FACES INTO APPLES

How to make twisted gargoyles out of raw apples:

1. Peel off the middle 3/4 of the skin off an apple.

2. Carve a face, including ears, into the flesh of the fruit.

3. Soak the carved apple in an equal mixture of vinegar and water. Let the apple dry. The apple should shrink and contract, distorting

EATS: HALLOWEEN PARTY RECIPES

Halloween punch

Mix equal parts of 7-Up, ginger ale and pineapple juice. Color with orange food coloring and float orange sherbet on top. Peeled grapes (to simulate eyeballs) are optional.

Pumpkin seeds

Remove seeds from pumpkin and wash thoroughly. Place seeds on a foil-wrapped cookie sheet. Dribble melted butter on top and sprinkle with salt. Cook at 325 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until golden brown. For a low-fat option, punt the butter.

RECOMMENDED SCARY MOVIES

Texas Chainsaw Massacre Nighmare on Elm Street series Halloween series Poltergeist series

Night of the Living Dead Arachnophobia

Exorcist series Trick or Treat Fright Night Anything based on a Stephen King novel The Changeling

TRENDY COSTUME IDEAS

The Energizer Bunny The Mask (a la Jim Carey) Forrest Gump Beavis and Butt-head The Village People Characters from MTV's The Real World Kurt Cobain A KU Student The Stay-Puft Marshmallow Man Lyle and Erik Menendez Lorena Bobbitt #29 Mike Ekeler

Tonya Harding

The Reservoir Dogs Any of the cast from Seinfeld Any of the cast from Melrose Place A deck of playing cards A Pez dispenser to 9 p.m. on Halloween night

the Union Program Council.

The K-State Union is being host to a children's carnival sponsored by the special events committee of Wednesday night from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Union ballroom,"

Ginger Berry, senior in manage-

Berry said there will be candy

All the events are an effort to

"This is one part of our keep Halloween a safe experience.

dedication to serving the community. I think the Pi Kappa Alpha Halloween Hunt proves that fraternities and sororities at K-State are doing positive things for the community of Manhattan," ment information systems, said.

prizes given to children.

"There is free admission on

HALLOWEEN SPECIAL SECTION

► AGGIEVILLE

Drink some beer in disguise, maybe you'll win a prize

"The winner of the sexiest category may be a guy dressed up like a girl. We're not trying to get girls with the skimplest costumes on."

> DAVID SHAFER Champions promoter

From costume parties to witches' brew, Manhattan bars are gearing up for the Halloween weekend.

If you've got the best Halloween costume this year, you may find yourself with some extra cash or prizes. The ever-popular costume contests are back at several local bars.

Jeff Fellows, assistant manager of Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon, said the bar will judge the best Elvira and Kiss costumes Monday.

"We'll be giving away a $100 gift certificate to the first-place winner," Fellows said.

While you're enjoying $1.25 bottles at Last Chance, you'll hear live music from Submytion. Fellows said the band, dressed as members from the band Kiss, will play from 9 p.m. to close. To get into the Halloween mood at Champions Pub and Grill, customers will walk through a fog of dry ice. David Shafer, promoter of Champions, said prizes and gift certificates will be given to its costume winners Monday night.

"It should be the biggest costume party in the 'Ville," Shafer said.

He said the judges, including singer Jeff Barrett, will vote for the best costumes in four different categories: most original, ugliest or scariest, sexiest and best group costume.

"The winner of the sexiest category may be a guy dressed up like a girl," he said. "We're not trying to get girls with the skimpiest clothes on.'

Shafer said customers can enjoy black and orange Zimas, $1.50 bloody marys and bottles, $1.75 wells and $1 witches' brew.

Berlin Restaurant and Bar will have its Halloween party on Friday and Saturday nights.

Brian Tamashiro, manager of Berlin, said $100 will be given to the customer with the most original costume and another $100 for the sexiest costume.

"The contest will be held both nights," Tamashiro said. "So customers have two chances to win the Halloween go-ers can dance the ight away at Lucky Brew Grille with the sounds of the disc jockey. Lucky's is also host to a costume contest Saturday night.

Mike Klosson, co-owner of Lucky's, said that cash prizes and merchandise will be given to the customers with the best costumes. Drink specials include $2 vodkalemonades and $1 Natural Light cans.

TW Longhorn's is also having a costume contest. Troy Warnken, owner of TW Longhorn's, said he'll be giving away cash prizes for the first, second, and third-place costumes. Halloween drink specials include a Jack Daniel's punch for $2.25.

If you've sharpened your pumpkin carving skills this Halloween, then you may win some prizes for it at Auntie Mae's Parlor.

Rob Goode, owner of Auntie Mae's, said many of the regulars and bartenders really get into the contest.

"It creates a festive mood around the bar," he said.

Goode said customers can take advantage of the shot and drink specials Monday night.

Bobby T's Restaurant 'n' Bar and Kickers Bar and Grill will host the sixth-annual monster mash on Saturday night. Bob Limbocker, coowner of Bobby T's and Kickers, said a costume contest will be at both bars. A prize of $50 goes to the first-place costume, $25 to second place and $15 to third place.

Between singing a favorite tune and bobbing for apples, Limbocker said customers can enjoy $1.50 drink specials and $1 orange spider and bat

BoWinkle's Sports Bar will also be full of Halloween decorations and costumes.

Haley Webber, bartender at BoWinkle's, said the drink specials Monday night are $1 Old Milwaukee bottles and draws.

VISA

10 Colors

$1997

► CHILDREN

Safe trick-or-treating options

K-State organizations and community businesses have plans to make Halloween safe and fun for area youth.

The Aggieville Business Association is offering the safe alternative called Trick-or-Treat in Aggieville on Monday afternoon.

Cheryl Sieben, director of Aggieville Business Association, said participating Aggieville merchants will have posters in their windows the afternoon of Halloween, and children are encouraged to go in to trick-or-

"We're having it begin at 3:30 p.m. so that children can come in right after school and then go to their respective neighborhoods in the evening," Sieben said.

Sieben said the ABA has been conducting Trick-or-Treat in Aggieville for about five years and are expecting several hundred

"The event has grown every year. This year, we took fliers to the schools," Sieben said. We see children of all ages with and without their parents," she said.

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity is running Pi Kappa Alpha Halloween Hunt for the fourth year.

'It has been really popular in the past. This year we are having a haunted house part and a trick-ortreat part," Chad Underwood, senior in criminology, said. "We're expecting about 1,500 kids. We have candy for kids, and there will be coffee or cider for parents who are waiting on their children," he said. Underwood said area children can get candy or take in the haunted house, or both. "We want to offer a safe Halloween," Underwood said. Underwood said the Pike house will open its south door from 5:30 opportunity for kids of any age on

"We just want to provide a safe trick-or-treat place and the merchants enjoy seeing the trick-ortreaters in their costumes," Sieben

Underwood said.

▶ UPC

'Rocky Horror' to bring out the odd

SUMMER RUCKMAN

K-State students will go out in garter belts and fishnet pantyhose this weekend and jam to vintage Meatloaf.

The Union Program Council will host the fifth-annual Rocky Horror Picture Show, which will be shown at the Union Ballroom at midnight Oct. 28 and 29.

"It's a down-right odd tradition but well worth a buck-75," Cliff Pierron, senior in radio-TV broadcast and English,

About 500 students are expected to turn out for the ultimate movie experience, where audience participation has become an institution.

"No one goes for the movie," Pierron said. "No one would ever want to rent it and watch it at home, except to learn some

Dedicated, rowdy fans live out

ØEASTLAND

LIQUIDATION SHOE SALE

1000s of Pairs

MEN'S and LADIES'

Fall Styles AND Colors

ON SALE NOW through Oct. 29

SHOE FIT COMPANY

311 Poyntz, Downtown Manhattan

Limited Supply

the tradition by getting deckedout like their favorite characters from the movie.

Outfits range from Frenchmaid costumes and hump-backs to transvestites.

'A lot of costumes entail garter belts, sequined top hats, bikini briefs, marker tattoos, tassels on nipples and trenchcoats," he said

The fan who looks most like a character from the movie wins the costume contest, which will be before the show.

Even the audience has a leading role in the movie. They have their own lines and also shout helpful advice to the characters.

"Basically, people have the script memorized," Pierron said. "There are people who are there just to be rowdy so you miss some of the lines being shouted back at the screen."

During certain scenes, audience members throw props, such as toilet paper and playing cards, and squirt water guns.

"There's a scene when they get married, so everyone throws rice," he said. "At one part, they say, 'I'd like to propose a toast,' and everyone throws toast.

"You'll actually need the newspaper to cover your head when people squirt water guns during a scene with rain," he said.

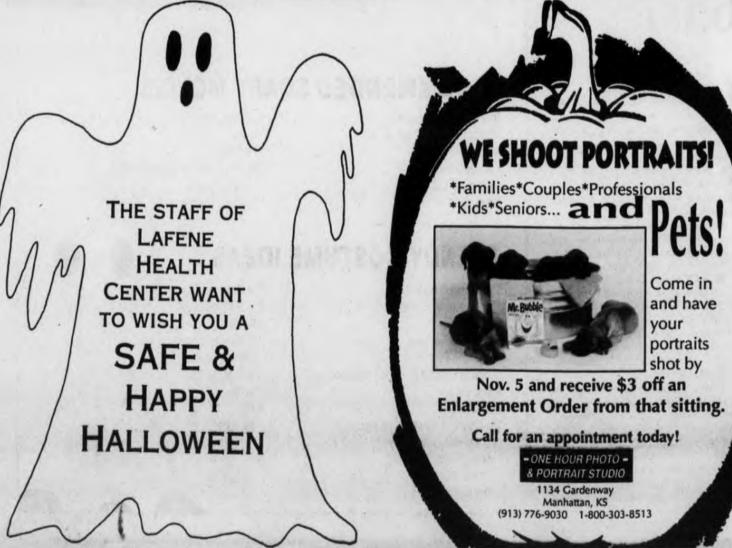

Prop bags with newspapers, toast, rice, newspapers and cards will be sold at the door for 25

"Wear old clothes, bring a squirt gun and toilet paper, buy a prop bag, and come early to get a good seat," he said.

The movie, which is from the 1970s, is based on a play whose script evolved as the audience participated.

"The play was really cheesy and melodramatic, and the film is too," he said.

Kelsy Ekart, 5, plays pumpkin tug-of-war with her 2-year-old sister, Lindsy, Saturday at Thowe's Pumpkin Farm. The Ekart's bought three pumpkins in preperation for Halloween. Thowe's Pumpkin Farms, at 1224 South Manhattan Ave., also sells cornstalks, gourds and Indian Corn.

Youngsters learn all about the 기원인지 PARH

Local farm educational for little ghosts, goblins

hay bale painted with an orange jack-olantern face is a sure bet that you've found Thowe's Pumpkin Farm.

Turning into the driveway on South Manhattan Avenue, you may notice scarecrows guarding the rows of pumpkins. A sack ghost is a favorite backdrop for pictures by school children. Maxine Thowe, dressed in a round pumpkin suit and green tights, explains to preschool students how pumpkins grow. She schedules tours during the week for children in grades preschool to 6th grade.

"I just try to bring it down to the children's level so that they can understand it," Thowe

Thursday morning, Thowe spoke to children from Wamego Head Start and the Children's Resource Center from Junction City. She explained how bees pollinate flowers, which then grown into pumpkins.

"There is only one day when each of the flowers can be pollinated," Thowe told the group. "If it is raining that day, the bees won't come and the pumpkins won't grow."

"But, as you can see, our bees did a good job this year," Thowe said. Children first hear Thowe's presentation, then they venture out into the pumpkin patch. Each child can pick a small pumpkin, and

■ See PUMPKIN Page 8

Story by Amy Simon

Haggerty, 9, waits for his family after choosing the pumpkin he wanted Saturday at Thowe's Pumpkin Farms. The pumpkin patch covers 13 acres and contains between 30-60 thousand

TODD FEEBACK

▶ HAUNTED HOUSES

Kansas City exhibits grand horror when it comes to houses

DOUG BASSETT

Huge eight-story brick buildings. with strange lights and loud music. Dark streets barely lit by the People preaching on the street and about 100 people in line before you. If the Manhattan and Topeka haunted houses are a little too scary for you, then don't even try the ones in Kansas City, Mo.

Some of the haunted houses are professionally run and are worked on all year round.

Most of them are more than five stories high with slides at the top to help you down.

There are mazes to get through and soft mushy floors to walk on, Monsters jump out of every corner and even fly down from above. Arms extend from cracks in the walls, and screams are louder than at Worlds of Fun.

Even though the lines are big at most of the houses, the wait is only about 25 minutes long.

This gives plenty of time for you to pull out your eight to 10 dollars to get the life scared out of you.

While you wait in line there are icecream trucks and other vendors available that sell everything from soda to Bibles. There are also scary characters running through the lines trying to entertain and make the wait seem shorter.

Once inside one of these homes of terror, you might be greeted by someone who says, "Ladies first, of

As you walk, you go up stairs and ramps, slowly working your way to the top. You can hear screams of other people and you hold on tight to the person you came with hoping not to lose each other.

When you get to the top of most of these houses, there is a slide covered in baby powder, or you sit on wax paper to reduce the friction from a five to eight-story slide.

You can't look forward to the adventure being over when you reach the bottom, because there are concession stands and novelty items for sale at the bottom of most of the Most of the houses are open from 7 p.m. until whenever the lines slow

Take about $20 if you want to go through at least two of the houses. It is a little cheaper if you go Sunday through Thursday.

Most of the houses will continue to run through the first week of

"We have a lot of history and there are some really good ghost stories associated with it, but the fire marshall said we couldn't hold it here because we don't have any sprinklers," he said. All proceeds from the haunted Chansler said. For the 16th year in a row, the Manhattan Jaycees are setting up a house will go to the March of Dimes.

we're the scariest." Mark Queen.

GETTING AROUND TO GET SCARED Greater Kansas City

It is fairly easy to get to some of the haunted houses in Kansas City.

Just take I-70 east all the way through Topeka into Kansas City. After you pay the toll in Kansas City, you have about 15 minutes of driving left.

Stay on I-70 east, following the detours. Just stay on I-70 until you get to the Kemper Arena exit.

Take a left at the end of the exit to 12th street. Take a right on 12th, then another right on Liberty. You will see lights and hear music playing. There are a few haunted houses right there, but there are also signs that tell you how to get to others not far away.

SARA SMITH/Collegian

"We also generally have two spooks wondering around. That means that whether you are in or out of the haunted house, we will take the opportunity to scare you." he said. children 12 and younger and $5 for Sunset Zoological Park will have their sixth annual SPOOKtacular Oct.

KEMPER ARENA N

SPOOKtacular consists of two parts: The Peek-A-Boo Path for younger children and Terror Trail's "Dearly Departed Tours."

The Peek-A-Boo path is from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

This trail is for younger children and will have familiar characters such as Mickey Mouse and Oscar the Grouch who will trick-or-treat with the 10:30 p.m. It is for those with nerves of steel. It has thrills such as the butcher shop and a madman with chain

Delta Sigma Phi prepares K-State for a traditional fright night this Halloween

SERA L. TANK

If you're thinking about scaring up

At least three haunted houses in the will be in the old Kite's Bar and Grill building in Aggieville, said Kyle Chansler, a fifth year senior in chemistry and chairman of the haunted house committee for Delta Sigma Phi.

The cost for admission will be $4 for children 12 and younger and $5 for adults. The house will be open from 8

Chansler said the Delta Sigs had originally planned for the haunted house to be set up in their fraternity house on Fremont

The haunted house will have

HALLOWEEN SPECIAL SECTION

Pumpkin lovers enjoy day at Thowe farm

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 they pick a larger pumpkin for each

Rachel Council, a preschool student with Children's Resource Center, said she enjoyed her field trip to the farm.

"I like my pumpkin because it is big and pretty," Council said. "I am going to make a pie with it. My mom is going to help me."

Karen Rodenbaugh, center director for Wamego Head Start, said students learn more by coming to the pumpkin patch than buying a pumpkin at a store.

"This is going to teach them that not everything comes from the store," Rodenbaugh said. "They see where the pumpkins are grown, and they get to choose their own."

Thowe said 3,000 children will tour the pumpkin patch this year.

This is the third year for the Thowe's pumpkin patch. Maxine had the idea after talking to a friend from California who had just taken her granddaughter to a pumpkin patch.

"At first, I thought there was no way anyone would come to a pumpkin patch here," she said. "Then I decided there may be a

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

to bring a student to the United obtained through the United Nations for the student to leave.

are hard to obtain, she said.

children.'

Special permission must be

Then the student must get a visa.

Both of these sets of documents

Families in the United States

"It does not take much,"

Spomenka said the blockade on then sponsor the students. They provide them with room and board

while they are in the United States.

Spomenka said. "It is nothing more than you would provide your own

Sarajevo has been more fierce in Public unsure

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

the ones working on the final proposal and they probably have an idea of what it will end up costing

"I'm sure people have in their heads this kind of cost-benefit ratio," Stunkel said. "It just hasn't been put out to the public in a way that can assure them that this is a

According to the Chamber of Commerce analysis, they would expect suppliers, support services and spinoff companies to relocate to the area, much like what has happened in Wichita. The effect of those companies wasn't included in analysis, Martin said, came from the Kansas Input-Output Model.

the Governor's Task Force in Support of Fort Riley and the Claflin Books and Copies

Check out our new location:

has moved from 413

Poyntz to 405 Poyntz. Open Tuesday-Sunday

Closed Mondays

Great blood & makeup

Gruesome props & decorations Large selection of masks

& costumes

and much more at

(In Aggleville)

dended Halloween hours for your convenience

SERVE

COPIES

Kansas Statistical Abstract.

The information used in the

of Cessna

good investment."

the analysis.

Travel hard for students

The family then planted pumpkins and began selling them a year later. Thowe said sales the first season were fair, and they were looking forward to even higher sales last year.

Then the rain poured. Only three acres of the 11-acre crop were salvageable, Thowe said.

The family raises six varieties of pumpkins. Thowe said Oz and Spooky are the two small types of pumpkins often used in pie baking.

The largest pumpkins are Big Macs. This includes a 123-pound pumpkin, which is the largest grown on the Thowe's farm.

Many visitors traveled to the Thowe family farm this weekend to choose a pumpkin to decorate or eat this Halloween.

Clusters of families spread out to pick their pumpkins. One family member, lifting the 30-pound fruit on their shoulders, would lead the others triumphantly from the field. Other visitors chose to view the farm on hayrack rides given by Art

K-Rock broadcasted live from the farm on Saturday afternoon. It tried to give away a car in a bingo game, but no one drove away from the farm with a new vehicle.

Life in Sarajevo is a fight for United Nations has done much survival, but hope still remains, she to aid the victims of the war through humanitarian efforts,

"Some have given the highest -

Although the United Nations has

"It is the United Nations' duty to been helpful, she said she thought the arms embargo against Bosnia prevent war, not end it," she said.

The United Nations should remain neutral for our own sake and

A Little Space

Can Say A Lot! Collegian Advertising 532-6560

international peace and security."

Spomenka said.

should be lifted.

their lives," she said.

The Thowe family also collected 300-400 cans of food for the Flint Hills Breadbasket, Thowe said. Children were given a free small pumpkin with every food donation.

The Thowe family also sells pumpkins and other produce to the Eastside and Westside markets. They grow corn, tomatoes, watermelon and cantaloupe on their 300-acre farm. They also raise cattle on part of their land.

The cattle eat the pumpkins that aren't sold during the holiday season, Thowe said.

Pumpkins are high in vitamin A and potassium. The seeds are high in iron and protein.

'We have to break open each pumpkin so the cows can eat it," Thowe said. "They can't pick up the pumpkin with their teeth because the pumpkin will roll everywhere."

Thowe said he is already thinking ahead to next year. The

PUMPKIN

The pumpkin patch will be open every day from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. until Halloween. Art Thowe will give hayrack rides next Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The pumpkin patch is at 1224 S. Manhattan Ave.

family plans to have a petting zoo next year and add more decorations.

It took several weeks for the family to decorate their farm with painted hay bales, scarecrows and wheat stalks.

"Art thought it would be nice to have scarecrows lining the driveway, but that would take a lot of work," Thowe said. "We may try to do that next year."

PATCH HOURS

Kids (under 10) $6.50

Where The Extras Don't Cost Extra Chicken Fried Steak Food Bar

Drink

Expires November 1, 1994 539-7363 622 Tuttle Creek Blvd South of Walmart

Having a Halloween Party? How about an ice cream cake? A Treat So Cool It's Scary.

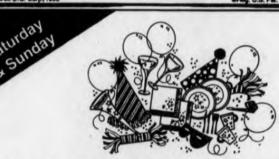

776-4117 TO ORDER

Manhattan Dairy

Mr. P's Christmas Open House:

FREE: Cake · Cookles · Coffee · Pop Register for free gift certificates Oct. 26-Nov. 3 ♦$50 Free Wedding Inviations ♦Kansas Gift Basket ♦Christmas Gift ♦Birthday Party Supplies

KMAN-KROCK Live Remote Sat., Oct. 29, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

SPECIAL SALES Christmas Wrapping Paper Reg. $4.99-$5.99

Our Price $2 Everyday $1 per roll!

776-7547 • 318 Poyntz Manhattan Mon.-Fri. 9:30-8:00 • Sat. 9:30-6:00 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

NO COUPON SPECIA EVERYDAY! 2 FOR KSU

5699 +TAX GET TWO 10' 1- TOPPING PIZZAS FOR JUST $6.99 + TAX. ADDITIONAL TOPPINGS FOR $1 AND THAT COVERS BOTH PIZZAS.

SUNDAY INSANITY

GET A 15" PIZZA FOR THE PRICE OF AN EQUIVALENT 10" PIZZA. VALID SUNDAYS ONLY.

WEDNESDAY SPECIAL $599 +TAX

GET ONE LARGE 1-TOPPING PIZZA FOR JUST $5.99+TAX. VALID WEDNESDAYS ONLY.

PARTY!!

NO COUPON SPECIAL 10-10" PIZZA = 785 SQUARE INCHES. 5-15" PIZZA = 875 SQUARE INCHES. 3 DOMINATORS = 900 SQ. ARE INCHES.
YOUR CHOICE ONE TOPPING $30.00+TAX.

111

SPECIALS EXPIRE 12/23/94. NOT VALID WITH OTHER OFFERS. PLEASE MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING.

WE DELIVER TO ALL OF MANHATTAN
NEW HOURS: 11 A.M.-1 A.M. SUN.-TUES. * 11 A.M.-2 A.M. WED.- SAT.
OPEN FOR LUNCH
TO ORDER, CALL: 776-7788

Childrens' Carnival

Nednesday, October 26 5:30 - 8:30 pm K-State Union Main Ballroom Don't forget to Admission is free!

Fishnet

Thigh Highs • Pantyhose • Stockings

Patricia's

Mon.-Thurs. 10-7, Frl. & Sat. 10-5

1224 Moro

TRICK OR TREATS HALLOWEEN IS MONDAY, OCT. 31

Candy Balloons Sacks Party Ware Candles T-Shirts Stickers and

LOTS OF TREATS!!

704 Manhattan • In Aggieville • 539-7654 Mon-Fri 8:30-8:30 • Sat 8:30-5:30 • Sun 12-5

1219 Bluemont Aggieville 537-5113 1/2 Sandwich & Cup of Soup $4.19

1/2 Sandwich & Bowl of Soup $5.19 Cup of Soup & Small Salad $4.19 1/2 Sandwich, Chips and K-State Shake $4.19

OKTOBERFEST SPECIALS

2 Half Sandwiches

2 Cups of Soup

Reg. $10.26 Not good w / any other special Limit 2 specials per coupon offer expires 11-5-94

OKTOBERFEST SPECIALS One Daily Special

One Whole Sandwich

SPORTS

CAT TACKLE NAMED TO BIG 8 LIST

Defensive tackle Tim Colston was named the Big Eight Defensive Player of the Week after he made a career-high 12 tackles in the 35-21 loss to the Colorado Buffaloes. Colston, a 6 feet and 1 inch, 265 pounder from Tampa, Fla., Mad two sacks for 18

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OCTOBER 25, 1994

BIG EIGHT COACHES

CU, NU clash for title

All eyes will be on Lincoln, Neb., on Saturday, when No. 2 Colorado comes into town to take on No. 3 Nebraska.

Although the winner of this game has determined who will go to the Orange Bowl the last five years, Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said there isn't really a rivalry.

"If both programs continue to do well, I think it will be a very important ballgame, but you never know how things are going to develop," Osborne said. "Six or seven years ago, if someone would have said that Nebraska-Kansas State would be a pretty big ballgame, I think most people would have laughed.

"I don't think Nebraska-Colorado would be a natural rivalry no matter what happens.'

Colorado coach Bill McCartney said his team will consider the Cornhuskers their rival no matter what Osborne says.

"They've made it pretty obvious they don't consider us rivals, but we'll probably always make them the red-letter game on our schedule," McCartney said.

McCartney said the Cornhuskers' offense is nothing new from previous years' teams.

"Offensively, every year we say they're typical of Nebraska, but this year they are vintage Nebraska," McCartney said. "They're offensive line is as good as I've seen, and they're very dangerous.

"That's why they're averaging 500 yards a game and 40 points.

McCartney said the Cornhuskers' defense will be extremely difficult to prepare for.

"On defense, they're the most athletic team we've seen," McCartney said. "They have a lot of speed and quickness. They do a lot of things that cause you a lot of problems."

Colorado quarterback Kordell Stewart said they will have to play well from the beginning in order to quiet the crowd.

"They have great fans," Stewart said. "If we go out there making mistakes and not doing what we're supposed to be doing, it will be real

"It won't be as hard if we go out there and play as well as we possibly can and get some points on the board early.'

Stewart said he would be disappointed if his team wins and it is not ranked No. 1.

"Well, of course, when we've beaten great teams and we have the opportunity to beat another great team," Stewart said. "Not being voted as No. 1 would be a heartbreak."

Osborne said Colorado has talent in many facets of their team.

"They're a very-sound football team," Osborne said. "The offensive line is excellent, the running back is good, the receivers are outstanding, and their quarterback is obviously a very fine athlete with a lot of experience.'

Although the Buffaloes have many talented players, Osborne said they will not key on any individual.

"We're not going to load up on any one player, because their whole team is great,"

Osborne said. Cornhusker linebacker Ed Stewart said the Buffaloes' versatility is tough to defend against. "What makes them so good is they have such a balanced attack," Stewart said. "They throw the ball well, and they run the ball well.

■ McCartney said K-State will have to be very successful the rest of the year to grab the nation's respect.

"They still have our attention and our respect," McCartney said. "They're going to have to win out and do what they did in the bowl game again, and I think they'll have the full attention of everyone.'

McCartney also said he would be very impressed if the Wildcats could accomplish that

"They've got some good teams left on their schedule," he said. "They've had some emotional games.

"For them to come back again this week would show an extraordinary amount of

Barnett burns Houston

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PHILADELPHIA - Fred Barnett hasn't done much for the Philadelphia Eagles this season — except on Monday night.

Barnett, returning from a knee injury that cost him the last 12 games of last season, caught five passes for 187 yards and a touchdown to lead the Eagles to a 21-6 victory over the Houston

"If there's any doubt all es about Fred Barnett coming back, he's certainly back," Eagles coach Rich Kotite said. It was Barnett's second great Monday night performance this season. On Sept. 12 against the Chicago Bears, he caught eight passes for 102 yards. In the Eagles' five. other games, Barnett has 17 catches for 257

"With all the blitzing they do, Calvin

(Williams) and I were praying we'd have a big game," Barnett said. "I was hoping I'd get a lot of balls thrown my way."

Randall Cunningham completed 13 of 24 passes for 310 yards and two touchdowns as the Eagles (5-2) stayed within a game of first-place Dallas in the NFC East and handed the Oilers (1-6) their third straight

"We have to keep working hard to get over this thing," Oilers coach Jack Pardee said. "We're struggling and we know we can get out of it. There's no magical way."

Cody Carlson, who has missed three games this season with a shoulder injury, returned to start at quarterback for the Oilers, but left the game at the start of the fourth quarter. Sacked twice, he finished 11-of-22 for 164 yards with a fumble and an interception.

"You have to play good defensively and good offensively and you have to protect the ball," Pardee said.

▶ TENNIS

Kuregian makes quarterfinals at Riviera Championships

COLLEGIAN STAFF Collegian

Karina Kuregian made another run to the quarterfinals of the Riviera all-American Championships.

However, it wasn't as difficult this season. Last season Kuregian had to fight through qualifying rounds before making it to the main draw and eventually the quarterfinals. She played ten matches in all.

Her nine wins in the tournament last season was a record.

"It was a very competitive tournament," Coach Steve Bietau said, "To be a quarterfinalist for the second year in a row is quite an accomplishment."

Kuregian worked her way to the quarterfinals by beating Estelle Gevers, of South Alabama, 6-3, 6-1 in the opening round and No. 14 Wendy Lyons, of Duke, 6-2, 0-6, 7-

"She fought hard at the end, and I feel that effort is what decided the match," Bietau said about Kuregian's match with Lyons.

Her only loss in the tournament was to UCLA's Kari Phebus, the sixth seeded player in the tournament.

Phebus was ranked No. 5 in the nation entering the match, and defeated No. 16-ranked Kuregian in two sets, 6-1 and 6-1. "She was disappointed with the last match,"

'Karina didn't always do everything she could, and when she did, Phebus had an answer

Overall, Bietau said Kuregian could take her game to a higher level.

"She probably could have played better," he said. "There were times she played well, and times she did not.'

"She didn't play her best in the quarters." The tennis team is now preparing for their toughest tournament to date, the Rolex Regional Championship in Tuscon, Arizona.

The tournament has a draw of 96 players which will last three to six days. The top two players from the tourney will receive berths to the National Indoor Championship in Dallas. Bietau said that Kuregian could be one of those top two players, and Dinah Watson could do well in Tuscon. "It's a big draw with a lot of good players. Karina could do well, and Watson's having a pretty good fall," he said.

Bietau said the tournament is an important one for the team because of two reasons. "It ends our fall season, and it is the one time when everyone in the region is at one place.' He said it could also give his team a chance to beat some ranked players.

"It will give all of them some big opportunities.

Preparation for the Rolex Regional, Bietau said, will be normal practice speed.

"It will be nothing out of the ordinary, you don't change anything you've been teaching all year for a tournament.

Darrel Link, junior in management, bumps the volleyball Monday night during an intramural volleyball match at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. Link's ROTC team lost to the Dunkees 15-4, 15-11.

Broadcasters struggling with K-State's nickname

Give credit to the K-State Jayhawks reoccurring error might have been they played an excellent game at Boulder considering the circum-

I mean, hey, Colorado is by far the best team in the nation, and for the Jayhawks to travel to Boulder, Colo.,

What's that? You say I have the mascot wrong? It's the K-State Wildcats?

Maybe in the state of Kansas. Watching a promotion for the game last Saturday, an ESPN commercial said, "Chad May and Kansas State will travel to Boulder, as the No. 19 JAYHAWKS take on the No. 2 Colorado Buffaloes.'

How insulting.

I mean, it's different when some po-dunk paper on the west coast makes the mistake, but we're talking about ESPN here.

These guys are supposed to know what they're doing.

Andre Coleman, a wide receiver last year who is now with the San Diego Chargers, told me at the Copper Bowl that some of the television stations in Tucson, Ariz, made the same mistake.

In last year's game at Minnesota, they printed K-STATE JAYHAWKS on the freakin' ticket stub.

An ABC commentator made the same blunder when the Wildcats were playing the Nebraska Cornhuskers two weeks ago.

A couple of years ago, the acceptable considering the status of the football program.

Not many people even knew K-State had a football team, let alone what its mascot was.

But now, after three consecutive weeks of television exposure and five weeks of being ranked in the polls, you would think start catching How hard is it to figure out when there's a people would

Wildcat on the side of their helmets? It sticks out bigger than life, purple and bold for everyone to see.

DEREK You don't see SIMMONS commercials saying, "Two teams battling for a national title will meet on Thursday night ... watch as the Colorado Rams butt heads with the Florida Seminoles tonight on ESPN. Your total sports network.'

And you don't see anyone saying the Kansas Wildcats, either.

What's the deal? Does it have to do with a lack of respect, or is it simply an honest mistake? Well, if the Wildcats didn't have respect before the Colorado game, you can bet they've got it now. You can bet they have it from Colorado coach Bill McCartney.

For three consecutive weeks, a television audience has been able to view K-State. "You can make a lot of different statements," K-State coach Bill Snyder said. They can be good, and they can be

I think it's safe to say the Wildcats' statements in the last two weeks have been good. Yes, they lost both games. But they lost to two teams that will probably finish in the top five in the country, with one of those teams (Colorado) winning the national championship in the Orange Bowl. If K-State can survive a brutal two weeks of battling No. 2 teams, the Cats will finish 9-2 and third in the Big Eight Conference. The Wildcats will be favored in all of their remaining regular season games, including Oklahoma, Iowa

State, Missouri, Oklahoma State and UNLV. Soon, very soon, this Jayhawk thing won't happen anymore. The K-State Wildcats will be as familiar to Colorado Buffaloes. And maybe, just maybe, in a few years, KU will be taking the field, and a commentator will say, "And now Glen Mason takes his Kansas Wildcats onto the field.'

football fans across the nation as the

OCTOBER 25, 1994

▶ CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS 1 Milwaukee 20 Blackbird product 21 Hardy many follower 5 Insubstandirectly 2 It'll get you 22 Augury 23 Dairy moving Passbook tial writings to the 8 Lose consume 41 Under: abbr. one's purchase prefix 42 Enthusi-4 Different 24 Heals, footing 12 Actress 5 Item for osteally 26 Uniform Sherlock Turner astic 43 Theatrical 13 "Sweet 6 Comadomas apple interval motion ments 48 Double cider" girl 7 In an 27 Presenta-14 Facility agent 15 Warehouse 49 Shot 14 Facility obvious tion 28 Seep 29 Lecherous 17 City of 50 Tart 8 Home of Sicily 51 Juror the brave look 18 -- de 31 Big truck theoreti 9 Carry on 10 "Money France 34 Library patron 35 Humiliate 19 Buyer, in 52 Clinton's instrument 11 Seckel 21 Red cent? 53 Advantage 37 Bear hair for one 24 Dandling Solution time: 24 mins. 25 Surrounded by outcry Mezzanine 30 Spy author jongg Deighton Charon's 31 Tumble 32 Prop for Markham's 44 Gunlobby org. man 33 Plea 35 Catch 40 36 Aussie

MPED? For answers to today's crossword, call tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOQUIP

YTOQHXTO

SYTVSVMMG

HJCX SHCV-QTC XJYG

OHEUO DHVQVO

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHICH ANIMAL IS THE BEST SWIMMER AT THE NORTH POLE? THE POOL-AR BEAR.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: S equals B

Cassie's advice in question

Duveaux

Dear Cassandra, How can you give advice to 20,000 very influential young adults? Are you a trained person or just someone who likes to tell people what to do in their life? I was just wondering who it is that I listen to. Don't worry, I'll still read your advice even if I don't know. Sincerely,

Who Are You?

Dear Who Are You, Hey, I don't ask the people who write me to give away their identity, so I don't think it would be fair to give away mine. Write to Cassie: However, I'm aware of the fact that if I tell 116 Kedzie Hall some people to go jump off the K-State Manhattan, KS Hill, they will. I have more experience than you'd think.

The gods play with Ted and Jerry

CALVIN AND HOBBES

► LIBERAL DUCK SHAWN ROBISON/COLLEGIAN GARY LARSON let's not Walk

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

I HOPE IT'S YOUR PARENTS! TO ME! BOY, YOU'LL BE IN

CHARLIE! SHOULD I TELL

IT'S YOUR BOYFRIEND,

SAY CHAS, DON'T YOU THINK YOU'RE NO! LET SETTLING FOR MIH OT TOO LITTLE IN THE GIRLFRIEND

BILL AMEND

WHEN THE TRICK-OR-TREATER BREAK THE INFRA-RED BEAM OUT BY THE MAILBOX, THE TAPE DECK KICKS IN, THE ONE BY ONE THESE ! IZED ARMS POP OUT OF

▶ LIVE MUSIC

Groups to perform blues tonight in All Faiths Chapel

Director said he wants audience to wear purple

TIM ORINDGREFF

Blues so deep it's purple.

That's the theme for tonight's Purple Blues Festival at All Faiths Chapel.

The Concert Jazz Ensemble, Jazz Combo No. 1 and the Jazz Trombone Quintet will perform at 85

"This show is basically honoring the blues. The blues is an American art form," Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies, said.

"When I came here, I found that concerts here were just that. They didn't really have a meaning. This one has a theme ... and if you're going to come, you've got to wear some purple," Wilson, the proud new owner of a purple trombone, said.

Each of the three groups will perform at least one blues number in its portion of the show.

"You will hear some things other than the blues in the show. CJE is only doing one blues tune, and we're going to feature some good players," Wilson said.

The Concert Jazz Ensemble is a 23-member group consisting of five saxes, five trumpets, four trombones, two vocalists, two pianists, two drummers, bass and vibes.

The vocalists are something new that we added this year," Wilson said.

Jazz Combo No. 1 is a six-member group consisting of two saxes, trombone, piano, bass and drums. Three of the combo members also perform with CJE. The Jazz Trombone Quintet is a new addition to K-State's jazz department this year.

"I'm hoping to expand on this and have a 10piece trombone choir next year," Wilson said.

Wilson said this is just his first year at K-State and plans on making the entire festival grow in the

"We can only get bigger and bigger," Wilson

tain and educate at area schools

Aaron Decker, sophomore in mass communications, Caisha Williams and Julie Kramer, both juniors in theater, perform for classes at Roosevelt Elementary School.

TIM ORINDGREFF

Using a talent to entertain people is one thing. but using it to educate is rare.

K-State's Growing Theatre Company does just

The Growing Theatre performs educational dramas dealing with difficult issues for elementary school children.

'Our biggest goal is to take some sort of message to the kids and to heighten some sort of awareness in them," Carrie Gilhousen, senior in English and director of the group, said.

The four-member company, after countless hours of rehearsal, is now performing a play titled, "A Friend Like Artie." The play is adapted from an award-winning William Allen White

The play tackles issues dealt with by a mentally handicapped child, Artie, and the people

"The play has a great message, and it's something I believe in. The kids like it and get a lot from it," Aaron Decker, cast member, said.

"Being this is my first directing experience, it has been a lot of hard work. But it's all worth it when I get to stand back and watch the kids smile at something we've done umpteen million times,"

Gilhousen said. Marti Meek, teacher at Roosevelt Elementary School, said the plays encourages students to be

"I love what they're doing. I want the kids to be able to do this themselves. Seeing a play performed without a lot of props is great. Having kids see this sort of thing really prepares them, Meek said.

After the show, the group stays and has a question-and-answer session with the students.

"It's a great opportunity for the kids to meet the actors and ask questions about what they've seen. It's amazing the things that kids pick up on in our plays," Gilhousen said.

"They ask us anything ranging from 'How many plays have you been in?' to 'Is that real coke on stage?' Sometimes, because I play a mean character, they're a little reluctant to talk to me, but overall we get a good response and they ask intelligent questions," Decker said.

The company performs in Manhattan and surrounding communities.

A Little Space Can Say A Lot! Collegian Advertising

Westloop Coin -A- Matic 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. 539-2131 129 Gardenway

City Farmers Surplus Flea Market Open:

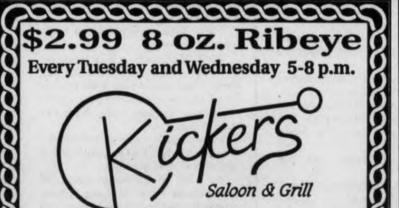

Tues. - Fri. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Sat. & Sun. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Appliances, furniture, household items, ewelry and clothing, sporting goods, tools, medical supplies, lawn equipment, antiques, home maintenance items, knick knacks and A LOT MORE. (A little bit of everything new and used at affordable prices.)

We Buy Used 501 Levis 201 S. 4th St.,

Manhattan, Kansas (the old Sears building) 539-8579

PITCHERS

Grain Science Club Flour Sales Wednesday, Noon to 4 p.m.

· Whole Wheat Flour

Stone Ground Whole Wheat Flour

Stone Ground Whole Rye Flour

· Pastry Flour

· Wheat Bran

· Wheat Germ

· Bulgar • Farina · Pancake Mix

Shellenberger Hall

Room 220

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advan-unless you have an established account inless you have an established account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are

ed. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or rrly classify any ad. HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run for for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad-has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, pi call us. We accept responsibility of for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555

532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Colle Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

Announcements

$50 REWARD for informa tion leading to arrest and conviction of thief who stole hood orna-ment from Mercedes at Jardine apartments Sat-urday night. Call Bill 532-6890 ext.18.

50 PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94-95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Load-ed Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141.

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

Meetings/ Events

TOASTMASTERS A mutual support group for people who want to im-prove their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile

BOCKERS II Catering.
Dances, bars, dinners,
Weddings, Alumni functions. Catering anywhere, discounts, Wareham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431.

HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice

one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919. QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month lease, no pets. 537–8389.

For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

AVAILABLE NOW.
Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Manhattan. Sundeck, hot lubs, laundry facilities.
Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now.
176-3804.

***** CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

CHASE MANHATTAN
Apartments, four-bedroom apartments available now, Corner of College and Claffin.

9:00-4:30

CLOSE (ONE block), to campus. Two three-bedrooms, nice Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths. Not in complex. No pets. 539-4641.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

120 For Rent-

Houses NON-DRINKER

smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom house beginning in January, $200/ month; one-third utilities; washer and dryer; close to campus. 776-1890.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to cam-pus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. 537-8967.

FEMALE TO share nice two-bedroom apartment. Own room, excellent environment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent $220, but negotiable, and able Dec. 15. 587-8618. FEMALE TO share two bedroom apartment. Own room, free laundry, one block from campus, utilities paid, $202.50. Jan. 1. 537-4532.

FEMALE/ MALE roommate needed Jan. 1. Nice, own room. Call 537-2611 leave mes-

LOOKING FOR: one female to share rent/ utilities on two-bedroom, one and one-half bath, furnished mobile home

References required. 537–3257. NEED A place to live? Fam-ily has room for college girl to live in. Board and food, exchanged duties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

NEED ROOMMATES im-ED ROOMMATES immediately, very nice house and neighborhood, carpeted, three bathrooms, big yard,
$250/ month, no utilities. Send letter to 2306
Casement. Include telephone, we'll make appointment. E-Mail Native@KSLUVM KSI Fdu-

ve@KSUVM.KSU.Edu QUIET CONDITIONS, walk to campus and Ag-gieville, ample parking. Male student to share spacious two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Begin an-ytime from now to Dec. 1. $190. 776–3824.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for small two-bedroom apartment $160/ month. Bills paid plus one-half cable and tele phone. Call 776-5537.

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom, nice, new house, $200, 723
Bluemont, washer/ dryer, own bathroom.
539-1056. Dec. 1.

1. Call 911

News Tips

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

Sublease

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa cious, modern. Balco-ny, 587-9394.

SUBLEASE NEEDED. Two males need a room-mate $215 a month. A block away from cam-pus and Aggieville. 539-2540/587-4666.

SERVICE DIRECTORY

Tutor PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tutor. Five years GTA experience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave message: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

Resume/

Typing COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539–1191 (evenings).

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

> Pregnancy Testing

> > Pregnancy Testing Center

539-3338 Free pregnancy

testing · Totally confidential

 Same day results *Call for appointment

Located across from

campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back

What do you do if you see a fire? 2. Then call us

532-6556

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

guarantee. Call (800)645-3525 for infor-

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readlegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

1-800-FOR-AVON. money down to start. Earn up to 50 percent of sales. 776-0170.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT Fishing Industry, Earn up to $3000-$6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transportation! Male/ female, No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext. ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, 66051. Immediate re-

MONEY part-time work. Positions avail-able immediately as campus reps. Call campus reps. C (800)783-2883 today.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribban et c.) SFe Caribbean, etc.) SEa-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext. C57682.

DANCERS WANTED, Need extra money? Become an Exotic Dancer. Must be 18 or older. Call the Malibu Club after 6p.m.

platemaker to work 15-20 hours per week. Rate of pay is up to $6 per hour, depending on experience. Contact Larry Ernsting, K-State

Printing Services, 8 Kedzie Hall, 532-6308.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assem-bling products at home. No experience.

Blvd. or 2700 Andersor

Job begins immediately and continues through the school year. Approximately 15- 20 flexible hours/ week and $500 per month. Office is closed for all school vacations. Business background NOT required. For more details contact Jon's Notes at Jon's 587-8381.

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring SORT Jobs- Hir-ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

Business Opportunities

MARKET

EXPERIENCED STRIPPER

Information (504)646-1700 DEPT.

NOW HIRING for full or part-time help, flexible hours available, day shifts available. Apply in person Vista Drive In, 1911 Tuttle Creek

OFFICE MANAGER needed for Jon's Notes of KSU.

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such business opporsuch business oppor-tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

Items for Sale

COPIER RECONDITIONED Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m.

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Convenient westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

POWERFLEX 350 eight weight straps over 20 different exercises $150, Tunturi stair climber machine $175, both like new. 537-8471.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique
Maul and Geeb Emporium, 6000 square feet,
antiques, collectibles,
estate jewelry, furniture, 4910 Skyway Dr.
four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m.
539-4684.

Computers

386SX, MAGNAVOX com puter and keyboard, 2 MB Ram, 40 MB hard drive. CD-Rom. In-cludes MS-Dos 6 and Soundblaster $500. 539-6643.

FOR SALE: Brother Word Processor— In great shape and very nice. $250. 776-7732.

MACINTOSH COMPUT

ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call Chris (800)289-5685. MACINTOSH LC III 4/250, 14-inch Apple monitor. HP Deskwriter printer $1600, negotiable, 539-1127.

Pets and

Supplies KITTEN PARADISE at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters. Lovable and playful Per-sians-black, calico, cream, blue, or red,

$249. Himalayan/ Siamese mixed breed $79 beautifull 539-9494

TRANS-PORTATION

Automobiles

1967 MUSTANG, blue $1550, 1969 Mustang, red $1300. 539-5553.

1975 MERCURY Marquis, 22,000 on rebuild, power everything, ex-cellent condition, very dependable, 539-3726.

1983 MAZDA RX-7: air, cruise, sunroof, bra, Clarion stereo, two extra wheels. Nice car, $2400. 1-494-2106, 539-3619. Leave message. 1984 PLYMOUTH Reliant

Great work or school car. Very reliable, $1600 or best offer, call 776-0882.

1987 MUSTANG GT V-8 5.0 liter, red, one own-er, new tires. $3900, ne-gotiable. Call Darren at 539-8395.

1988 TOYOTA Tercel, twodoor, automatic, whose toffer. 537-5025.

1994 BERETTA must sell V6, cassette automatic transmission, power locks, air conditioner, low mileage. Located in Silver Lake, KS. About 45 minutes east of Manhattan. Call after 5p.m. 1–582–5254.

TOYOTA, COROLLA, 1982, four-door, manual, air, good condition, best offer 539-4672.

Bicycles

530

1993 TREK 930, 19-inch $395. Front suspension. 776–9862, leave

Motorcycles

1981 SUZUKI 550. Good condition, 8900 miles, great for school park-bike, new chain, great condition, this bike is worth seeing! $850, 539-5005 leave mes-1989 KAWASAKI Ninia

ing. $625. Call Jason 539-0539.

1983 HONDA XR200R dirt

600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best offer. Must sale. Call 539-5068 after 8p.m

TRAVEL/

Tour Package

TRIPS

VACATIONS. BAHAMAS Cruise for two, $400 or best offer. Hotel stay in Tampa or Orlando for two, $100 or best offer. Must sell. offer. 776-3867.

> GET THE WORD OUT. 532-6555

$

COLORADO

Make music

Want to learn to play the guitar? Check the Collegian classifieds to find someone to give you lessons. Only $5 for up to 20 words. You'll make music in no time.

Worry about your baby while you're gone? The

A classified ad in the Collegian can help you find the right babysitter for your baby. It's only $5 for 20 words — and a night out for you. Give us call or come see us in Kedzie 103.

KANSAS STATE

OLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

BOARD 010 Announcements

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events

050 Parties-n-More

020 Lost and Found

105 For Rent -Apt. Furnished

Apt. Unfurnished

115 Rooms Available 120 For Rent - Houses

125 For Sale — Houses

Mobile Homes

155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space

130 For Rent — Mobile Homes 135 For Sale

> 145 Roommate Wanted 150 Sublease

165 Land for Sale

SERVICE

205 Tutor

DIRECTORY

215 Desktop Publishing 220 Sewing/Alterations

225 Pregnancy Testing

140 For Rent - Garage 240 Musicians/DJs 245 Pet Services

255 Other Services

230 Lawn Care

235 Child Care

300 EMPLOYMENT.

310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Needed

Opportunities

210 Resume/Typing 40%

> MARKET 405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale

> > 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

420 Garage/Yard Sales 250 Automotive Repair 425 Auction 430 Antiques

> 445 Music Instruments 450 Pets and Supplies

435 Computers

440 Food Specials

455 Sporting Equipment 460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

50U TRANS-PORTATION

510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles 530 Motorcycles

540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/

610 Tour Packages

620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets

CATEGORIES To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category

and sub-category. All categories

are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation. TIPS FOR WRITING A

CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by

Consider including the price.

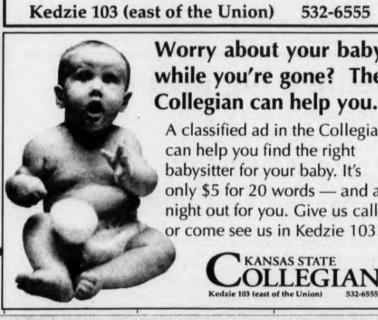

looking at something in their price

This tells buyers if they are

abbreviations.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE

NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegia

Artist Betty LaDuke speaks with Juan Carlos, graduate student in engineering, about his interpretation of her exhibit "Compañeras," Monday night in the K-State Union Art Gallery.

Artist's traveling contributes to work

LORI DAVIS

Well-decorated with adornments from around the world, Betty LaDuke visualized the plight of Latin America through the art of the communities'

LaDuke spoke to a group on Monday night in the Union about her visits to Peru, Chile, Guatemala, Mexico, Nicaragua and the San Blas Islands.

It was these visits that contributed to the exhibit now showing at the K-State Union Art Gallery.

LaDuke, from Ashland, Ore., is a professor of art at Southern Oregon State College. She said she became interested in many aspects of multicultural art from her past studies in summer camps as a child.

encountered in her youth were from an African American background. She said they influenced her a great deal.

One teacher in particular had such influence that she was prompted to study in Mexico for 3-1/2 years.

She said she studied the effects of changing environments on women's roles and responsibilities within their societies in her travels through Latin America.

"I was able to experience the extraordinary beauty of the craft that the women used as a way of controlling their lives."

The designs in the paintings and hand-made fabric and clothes related the women's life

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

dominate the forms of media paid make politics much cleaner," he said. "TV would not be getting the gobs of money they get from campaigning, which mainly become big business and is matter, mass media, especially the electronic media of TV and radio, is not free," he said. "It's largely free of government restrictions, but in professional community should be more in control of the media, people who are dedicated to the profession and the highest Television was destined to have greater effect on American mental standards of that profession.

Davis said he believes the

He said electronic media has

"For the blunt truth of the

"Getting control of TV would attention to by the public.

consists of namecalling.

enslaved to the economy.

bondage to commerce."

Media a big business experiences to the outside world. LaDuke said she found women have a strong place in the society in many of the cultures she encountered.

Africa has taken a large part of LaDuke's time in the recent past, and she said she is very excited about the different types of art she has seen.

'All the different cultures and art have prepared me for Africa. It's a real overlay of culture."

LaDuke said she plans to continue to travel and teach.

"It has become a part of my life," LaDuke said.

LaDuke has written four books about the plights of the multi cultural women of the world and has a book of her collections now available at the Union Bookstore for $25.

Any of the other books She said the teachers she authored by LaDuke may be ordered through the Bookstore upon request.

LaDuke visited the creativity and culture class Monday to speak on the use of viewing art as an anthropological tool.

"I thought it was interesting how she can take a piece of artwork and tell things about the culture by just looking at it," Sislo, junior in Amy anthropology and Americanethnic studies, said.

Sislo said she really enjoyed the opportunity to view the different art forms.

"They each had a unique style of their own," Sislo said.

LaDuke's exhibit will be on display at the Union Art Gallery created more evil than anticipated.

hundreds of periodicals, which led to an increase in mental stand-ardization and a decrease in government regulation.

subscriptions, he said.

diversity, he said.

► CAMPUS

Ahearn Field House threatened by small fire

Collegian The old barn burned one last

That's how one student described the events that were happening at the K-State basketball campout last night.

K-State basketball enthusiasts were treated to a brand of excitement that had nothing to do with tomahawk jams, threepointers or unruly campers.

Around a hundred students and campers watched Manhattan fire trucks tend to a small fire on a southeast portion of the Ahearn Field House roof.

Authorities believe the cause of

by the roofing company that is currently reroofing Ahearn.

At about 6 p.m., Norm Burge, videoproducer for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, was getting ready to take some footage of the basketball team handing out pizzas to campers inside Ahearn. That's when he noticed smoke in

"I looked up and saw flames coming out of the roof and licking up the structure," Burge said.

Manhattan The Department was notified, and a short time later, the fire department was on the scene.

"I saw a fire truck come up," the fire to be a heating torch used Justin Heldenbrand, sophomore in accounting, said.

Everyone went to get pizza and listen to (men's basketball coach Tom) Asbury talk. Then, the police started to tell everyone to move.'

All campers were moved to the east side of 17th Street while the fire was attended to.

"The fire burnt an area of about 3-by-4 feet," Larry Reese, Manhattan Fire Chief, said. "There are two small holes in the

Reese said the fire probably started when a heating torch used to heat tar or felt paper started the wood decking smoldering underneath. After a few hours, the wood decking eventually ignited.

Reese said it was fortunate the fire was discovered during the day in its early stages. "Fires on wide-open roof structures like this are hard to put out because they are so big,"

Reese said. Steve Burnett, assistant director of the Manhattan Fire Department, said the department and University facilities would get together to estimate the damage. Campers were allowed to return to their activities after the fire was extinguished. University Facilities estimated the damage to be around $1,000.

BASKETBALL CAMPOUT RULES

Rules for the 1994 basketball campout are available for campers at Aheam in the 1994 Campout Information Packet.

1. No alcohol will be allowed at the campout by anyone. Campus police will be patrolling from sunset to sunrise each night of the campout. Any group found with alcohol will be placed at the end of the line.

2. A list of all people who are buying tickets are due within an hour after your group has signed up. This list cannot change after being submitted.

3. A group tent must be set up with the group name on the outside of the tent within an hour of sign-up.

4. ICAT campers should set up on the north side of Aheam and non-ICAT campers on the east side. Groups that don't adhere to this rule will be dropped

5. A $25 deposit fee is required to insure the good condition of the grounds around Ahearn upon completion of the campout. Checks should be made payable to the athletic department. After the campout, if no damage occurs, the checks will be tom up and thrown away. This check must be turned in by 7:00 p.m. of the first day of the campout at the latest.

6. Roll will be called randomly throughout the campout. Roll calls come unannounced at day or night. If the correct number of people aren't present, your group will be docked to the number present during the time the roll was called. One camper equals twenty tickets.

7. Some safety rules include: No campfires, no urinating except in campout area, no jumping over the snow fence, no food, drink, or smoking in Ahearn during the movie or the concert, no water balloons, no playing catch on or across the street, no extension cords running from buildings and all guidelines are to be followed in the Student Life Handbook at all times.

PYRAMID PIZZA "TO THE RESCUE"

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES,

WITH PYRAMID PIZZA'S EVERYDAY SUPER SAVERS SINGLE DOUBLE TRIPLE

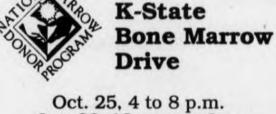

1 10" Pizza 2 Toppings

1 32-oz. Pepsi

2 10" Pizzas 2 Toppings 2 32-oz. Pepsis

2 Toppings 4 32-oz. Pepsis

3 10" Pizza

Oct. 26, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. K-State Union

Being registered as a volunteer bone marrow donor isn't time-consuming or costly. All you need to do is have a small blood sample drawn from your arm. As the pool of donors increases, so do the odds of survival for people with leukemia and other fatal blood diseases.

Sponsored by the K-State Student Alumni Board.

events

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton.

Trio Fontenay Friday, October 28, 8 p.m.

Consistently cited as the foremost piano trio, this Hamberg-based trio has earned a reputation for thoughtful programming and stylistic aquity and has been praised for its technichal excellence, richness of tone, and interpretive imagination. Hear them perform a trio of trios: Haydn's A Major, Schumann's D Minor, and Brahms' B Major.

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No.VIII, and Schubert's Death and the Maiden.

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you away!

Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, K-Stat e Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

nted in Part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National ment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are ted by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

KANSAS STATE J.F.G.A

Life examines the importance of support groups for AIDS victims.

WEATHER - PAGE 2

OCTOBER 26, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 47

ROBBERY SUSPECT COMPOSITE

The description of the suspect as released by police is as follows:

Black male Height: 5 feet, 6 inches Weight: 135 pounds Approximate age: 34 Hair color: Black Hair: Short, cut above ears and full Distinguishing features: Thick, very full mustache

THE SUSPECT'S JACKET

The robbery suspect was seen wearing a distinctive teal jacket.

SARA SMITH/Collegian

Good Samaritan returns money stolen from bank

SERA L. TANK

A K-State student thought he hit the jackpot Monday when he found some of the money stolen from a Manhattan bank.

The student found the money and thought it was his lucky day. He went to class. When he came back from class, he heard about the robbery and turned the money over to the police," said Captain Allen Raynor of the Riley County Police Department Investigation

The police would not release the name of the student, the amount of money that was found or where it was found pending further investigation of the case.

Police did say the amount of money that was found was only a fraction of the amount FirstBank, located on the corner of Denison Avenue and Claflin Road, was the victim of an aggravated robbery at 10 a.m. Monday.

'A black male walked into the bank, demanded money and indicated that he had a weapon," he said.

Raynor said that although the suspect implied he had a weapon, he did not show it to

There were no customers in the bank at the time of the robbery, but there were several employees, he said.

Raynor said the clerk gave the suspect an undisclosed amount of money.

The suspect, who was wearing a teal jacket, fled on foot.

The student who found the money is not a suspect in the case, Raynor said.

The bank has no comment at this time.

▶ CAMPUS

Graduate studies compound stress

NOLAN SCHRAMM

You've got a 12-page report due on Monday, two essay-style tests on Tuesday, and your car has blown a gasket. You've also picked up the flu from your roommate.

If you thought you had it bad as an undergraduate, try going for a master's degree.

"It's hard to put into words. I just know that it's stressful," Toni Farren, graduate student in the sociology masters program, said.

It doesn't help when there aren't many chances to share your troubles with people who understand, Farren said.

"There is not a lot of support within the program, there are not many people in the program, and there is little time," she said. Teachers' expectations are also much higher than in the undergraduate program,

■ See GRADUATE Page 12

FIRE SAFETY

Make sure your residence is equipped with working fire extinguishers.

Check for an adequate amount of smoke detectors, and make sure they have batteries.

Don't overload electrical outlets.

Don't leave open flames unattended.

Participate in fire drills. Close as many doors as you can when you leave your residence.

Crudely constructed sleeping areas often make search-andrescue operations difficult for firefighters, Donald Francis, Manhattan Fire Marshal, said.

CRAIG HACKER

Fires prompt action from city official

CORI CORNELISON

Past couch fires in Manhattan and a fire in Bloomsburg, Pa., which killed five people who were believed to be students. prompted the city of Manhattan fire marshal to publicize the importance of fire safety to students at K-State.

The fire in Bloomsburg happened at a house about one mile away from the Bloomsburg University campus Thursday

Fire investigators focused on a sofa on the porch of the residence. Bloomsburg Fire Chief Ralph Magill said a fire had started on the sofa earlier in the evening, and students thought they had extinguished it completely.

Students of Bloomsburg University said they had a party Thursday, the eve of Homecoming weekend, at the residence.

Some of the five people who died in the fire were members of the Beta Sigma Delta fraternity, but the residence was not a regular fraternity house, university spokesperson Jim Hollister said.

Couch fires happen frequently in Manhattan and not just in fraternities. They seem to be prevalent in the Aggieville area, Donald Francis, Manhattan fire marshal, said.

"It's bad that those people died, but it seems like that's when people learn the most," Francis said.

It is important that the fire department be alerted in any case of a fire, Francis are inspected twice a year, he said.

Fraternities and sororities on campus

"We don't have as big of a problem with sororities as we do with fraternities," Francis said.

Typical fire violations in the fraternities and sororities are blocked fire doors, firealarm systems out of service, emergency lights out and fire extinguishers missing, he said.

One frequent problem with fraternities is when students convert the study rooms into bedrooms. There are not smoke alarms in the room, Francis said.

A smoke alarm is required anywhere people sleep, he said.

When bunks are built in the rooms, there is such a small hole beneath the loft that if a fire would occur, we might miss the person sleeping there," Francis said.

Additionally, the sleeping dorms are sometimes not equipped with windows, and they don't heat them, so the outlets are sometimes overflowed with fans, electric blankets and alarm clocks, he said.

"Our biggest concern is the sleeping areas because that's where the majority of fires occur at night," Francis said.

It is also important that there are two exits available from a room such as a sleeping dorm, he said.

"When our house was inspected, we were told we needed to fix our doors sothey would close properly," Kevin Goering, business manager of FarmHouse fraternity and senior in agricultural engineering, said.

► CAMPOUT

Cold weather no deterrent for b-ball fans

MESSAGE SANDERS OF THE PERSON "Six blankets, six sheets and three comforters, that's how we stayed warm last night."

IAMES SPERMAN freshman in general engineering MIKE HIND

Basketball campers have had a day and a very cold night to think about it, and they have declared this year's campout a success. The campout, which began at 8:45 Monday morning around

Ahearn Field House, gives students a chance to show their support for K-State basketball by camping out

Most enjoyed seeing a glimpse of a Wildcat basketball practice directed by new coach Tom Asbury

Tuesday afternoon. Others anticipated a rockin' show from Lawrence's own alternative band, "Turquoise Sol," later in the evening.

The one thing all campers wanted to have from last year's campout was the temperature.

'Six blankets, six sheets and three comforters, that's how we stayed warm last night," James Sperman, freshman in general engineering, said.

Battling the cold even spawned some new campout jargon. "There was a lot of shpoonin last night," Doug Thomas freshman, ■ See CAMPERS Page 12

► HEALTH

Student cries foul over LIFE program

HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

If you're a K-State student joining the LIFE Program, expect to pay the same price, but don't expect the same

The LIFE Program is a fitness program run by the kinesiology department in Ahearn Natatorium and costs $30 for a membership.

Ed Orr, graduate student in chemistry and a member of the LIFE Program, said the program is great for the faculty and staff, but not so great for the student members.

Orr said on a recent visit to Ahearn during the noon hour, two students playing basketball were kicked out of Ahearn and told not to come back again during that time.

Orr said the students were kicked out due to faculty complaints.

"It boils down to faculty not wanting students beating them in basketball," Orr said.

The program isn't just limited for these two student members, Orr said. No students are allowed to use

Ahearn from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., even though they pay the same $30

for a membership, he said.

They took the students' money, and now they're kicking them out," Orr said.

He said he chose to be a member of the LIFE Program because it is closer than the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex and offers extras like body fat and cholesterol testing.

Ed Acevedo, assistant professor of kinesiology, said the program was designed as an adult-fitness program for faculty, staff and the community:

See RULES Page 12

News Briefs

▶ SCHWAN'S ICE CREAM PRODUCTS CAUSE FOOD POISONING OF 3 KANSANS

TOPEKA (AP) - The state Department of Health and Environment said there are two more confirmed cases of salmonella in Kansas linked to Schwan's ice cream products.

They are the second and third confirmed cases in the state. A previous case was confirmed last

Two of the cases are a boy and a girl in southeast Kansas, and the third is a boy in northeast Kansas.

Under its policy, the agency does not identify the victims or disclose their home towns.

On Monday, the department reminded Kansans to check their freezers to make sure they have no Schwan's Ice Cream products, and to return them if they find any of the products

It said Schwan's, which distributes its products directly to customers' homes, has informed those customers by mail or through their route drive recall procedures. The products were produced at the company's Marshall, Minnesota,

▶ DISTRICT JUDGE BARS U.S. FROM RETURNING CUBAN REFUGEES TO HAVANA

MIAMI (AP) - A federal judge today temporarily barred the U.S. government from returning the Cuban refugees that are being held indefinitely at the Guantanamo Bay Naval Base

U.S. District Judge C. Clyde Atkins issued the temporary restraining order this morning in an attempt to stop a military plane from leaving the base and returning 25 Cuban refugees to Havana.

Atkins ruled just one minute before the flight was scheduled to take off from the base at the southern tip of Cuba. It could not immediately be determined if the plane was stopped from leaving.

Immediately after the decision, an immigration official raced to a pay phone to call Washington to try to prevent the plane's departure for

Atkins issued the order at the request of a group of Cuban-American lawyers who sued the federal government Monday in an attempt to prevent any further repatriations and to ultimately win freedom for more than 30,000 Cubans held in detention camps at Guantanamo and in Cuba.

"This is the last resort," said former Miami mayor Xavier Suarez, one of the lawyers who filed the suit. "All political solutions are not working. It's time for a legal solu-

The Clinton administration has refused to let the detained Cuban refugees into the United States, saying they must return to Cuba and migrate legally. Many of the refugees say they would rather die

SCENIC CRUISE TURNS DEADLY FOR 20 IN SOUTH KOREA; 131 STILL MISSING

DANYANG, South Korea (AP) -Navy divers found 13 more bodies overnight Tuesday, bringing to 20 the death toll in a fire on a sightseeing boat cruising a scenic lake. About a dozen of the 131 passengers and crew were still missing and feared dead from the accident on the Chungju No. 5, traveling Monday on Chonju Lake in central South Korea, police said.

7:30 p.m. in Umberger 105

Today

Dozens of passengers leaped from the burning boat and swam to nearby boats. Thirty-three people were injured, many seriously, and some may die, police said.

The fire broke out in the rear of the boat and spread so quickly that some passengers were trapped inside, police said.

One survivor, Kong Hae-kyong, said she was almost suffocating

WORLD POPULATION AWARENESS WEEK

Population and Environment: Beyond the Numbers

Nations International Conference on Population and Development.

The following events are sponsored by KSU Students for Sustainability and NFH Audubon Society.

Patricia Waak, director of the National Audubon Society's Population Program, speaks at from smoke as she crawled through a broken cabin window and jumped into the water. She was rescued by a passing boat.

"I feel like coming alive from a hell," said Kong, 38, of Seoul. "I saw people dying in front of me."

Navy divers, under searchlights, combed through the partly-submerged boat and recovered the 13

POLICE REPORTS

K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 24

At 8:41 a.m., B&W Electric reported criminal damage to property at a construction site. Damage was to light globes.

Loss was approximately $180. At 11:04 a.m., a subject reported the theft of his student parking permit either at Veterinary Medical Sciences building or his residence. Loss

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25

At 2:33 a.m., a dispatcher heard the Manhattan Fire Department being called to FarmHouse fraterntiy, 1830 College Heights Road, for an alarm. The smoke alarm went off for no apparent reason. K-State

Police responded, and the

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 24 At 10:11 a.m., Teresa Vann,

an employee of First Bank, 1800 Claffin Road, Suite 100, reported a robbery in progress by a black male with a mustache, 5 feet 6 inches, wearing a multi-colored sweatshir. He was last seen carrying a white and purple bag with a black handleand traveling northbound from the bank through the businesses. There was an undetermined loss.

At 10:22 a.m., George

Manhattan Fire Department reset At 6 p.m., Melinda King, 721

At 2:50 p.m., Jaafar Jantan

At 5:53 p.m., Bill McNally reported his license plate stolen from his vehicle while parked at reported a fire on the east side of Ahearn Field House on the roof

inside. Manhattan Fire

Jardine Terrace Apartments.

Department responded.

Colorado St., reported the theft of a watch and necklace in the Ahearn Field House locker room.

Halverston, Clay Center, was arrested for sale of marijuana and not having a drug tax stamp. He was confined on $1,000 bond. At 10:41 a.m., Betty Holden, an employee at Commerce Bank, 727 Poyntz Ave., reported a white male had come into the bank, advised he was upset, had a weapon and wanted to do harm to himself. The subject was emergency transported to Pawnee Mental Health Services.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

The world is getting smaller. Make yours larger. Volunteer to tutor an international student in the Conversational English Program. Contact Kathy Hund at the International Student Center.

BULLETINS PROPERTY OF THE PROP

p.m. today in Umberger 105.

- National Society of Black Engineers will meet at 6:30 p.m.
- today in Durland 163. ■ The last oral defense for Larry Siebrands's dissertation is
- scheduled for 12:30 p.m. today in Bluemont 368. ■ The last oral defense of Wendy Siebrands's dissertation is
- scheduled for 8:30 a.m. today in Bluemont 368. ■ Pat Waak will present "Population and Environment" at 7:30

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. We need your name, address, phone number and student ID number.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK Sunny. Highs around 60 in the east to near 70 in the west. Fair in the evening with lows in the 30s.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TODAY

Sunny with a high around 60. Low in the mid-30s.

TOMORROW III

Warmer and partly cloudy with a high in the upper 60s.

Thursday Defining Progress: Development Issues in Manhattan and Riley Co. 7 p.m. at the Manhattan Public Library A panel of government representatives and citizens discusses local development issues. Friday Human Population and Wildlife: An Audubon Perspective A 60-minute video describes the first phase of the Audubon Society's "Sharing the Earth" project.

Let's Get Ready for

Live & Free

They will be dressed up like KISS!

ALSO

KISS and Elvira look-alike contests. Each winner will receive a $100 LAST CHANGE Gift Certificate.

Come See Last Chance Decorated Like You've Never Seen it Before (Plus Free Coors Prizes All Nite)

Plus $1.25 Coors Light Longnecks

TONIGHT Live Band (FREE)

Rhythm & Blues $2 Potato Bar All U Can Eat & 10¢ Jumbo Buffalo Wings

NIALA DI Tarana di Adulta (Tarana) di Adulta di Adulta (Tarana) di Adulta

Force Artist

SATURDAY, OCT. 29 10:30 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Interested?

Call for Info: (913) 232-3429

Laura Fatemi's art, which displays the essence of the nude female body, can be viewed in McCain Auditorium from noon to 5 p.m.

▶ REVIEW

Artist shows natural beauty of female body

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Collegian The natural essence of the nude female body is the core of Laura Fatemi's one-woman show in

McCain Auditorium. Fatemi's show is her thesis for her master's of fine arts. Her speciality is drawing, but she does use sculpture and mixed-media formats to some degree in her

The nude female in art figures prominently into art history. From figural sculpture's inception to modern painting, the nude female is a subject that has been revisited many times.

However, it wasn't until this century that the nude female has come under scrutiny. Pablo Picasso's "Les Demoiselles D'Avignon" depicted the harshness of a female nude, in this case prostitutes, through rigged

Presently, Laura Fatemi is taking us back to pure classical beauty with a definite, exciting modern twist.

It's so easy to dismiss classical work in this day and age, with so many isms and ists to look at. Fatemi has taken something with enormous historical heritage and transformed it into something timely and glorious.

Fatemi's nudes are not naked, and they certainly aren't pornography. Naked people are those who feel uncomfortable with their clothes off; nude people are those who celebrate their body as something beautiful.

Fatemi said she focuses on the natural images of the body and not the mythical elements. Instead of losing all meaning,

Fatemi's work is splendid to

Her central piece, "Dispelling the Myth," has all sorts of relaxed torsos arranged carefully in a make-shift sandbox, covered in

THESIS SHOW

Laura Fatemi's master of fine arts show is now in McCain Auditorium's lobby. Hours are noon rose petals and leaves.

The body, by association, is at one with nature. Walking into McCain, you can't help but notice the delicate torsos, ingrained with surface features that appear to

■ See NUDES Page 12

► REVIEW

Women's art show shocks with harsh presentation of woman's body, spirit

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

Collegian Art shows comprised of one subject can either work or not work well.

"Virtual: Zenana," a new show consisting of pieces by women artists from the K-State art department, is interesting and worth a curious visit if you have time, but it isn't necessarily one of the more coherent or best shows of this semester.

Bringing together women artists from the K-State art department into a one-week show commemorating women wasn't easy.

Trying to get the show to actually mean something universal to the K-State community is even harder.

What comprises most of the show are in-your-face paintings and drawings of feminine body parts.

And that "in-your-face' concept in most of the paintings is exactly what doesn't work in this show.

The easiest targets for women artists (or any artist, for that matter) trying to shock their public is the vagina, the penis and traditional religious iconography. It's also a good tip-off to unaccomplished work when more than one of the pieces is titled the tritely overused word "Memories."

It's not that the modern art connoisseur doesn't enjoy female nudes, but staring at a large, exposed vagina is hardly comfortable.

Granted, some contemporary art isn't comfortable and isn't meant to be comfortable, but the harsh depiction, in these same paintings, making the female body menacing, defies the purpose of this weekend's theme of the spirit of women.

Staring at a vagina is not necessarily spiritually en-

ART SHOW

The all-woman art show, "Virtual: Zenana," is now open in the Willard Gallery through this Friday. Gallery hours are from noon to 5 p.m.

grossing, even for women. It's not even witty. It's just easy.

When in doubt, shock 'em. Some female responses, overheard in the gallery when I visited, to the exhibit were generally negative.

Perhaps that is why the feminist movement is losing ground in America.

There are too many radicals who worship the vagina and don't consider the, well, conventional details of a woman's life.

That is not to say there are not bright spots in the show.

Anna Holcombe's "Tondo" is delightfully witty, depicting sculptural coffee mugs blended into a clay tondo. Holcombe slyly has materialized a feminine idol, the coffee mug.

Perhaps the warmest, feminine work can be attributed to Ann Carter's sweetly funny "Real or decaf, Martha?" The cartoonish style with a strict attention to hilarious detail makes Carter's work, perhaps, the most memorable.

Lea 'Cyr's "Traditions Missed" has the best handle on color in the entire show, outside of Laura L. Imel's

Cyr knows how to work color to her advantage, and her simple choice of subject matter refuses to stoop to the level of humiliation found in many other of the objects in the

NOVEMBER ENROLLMENT SPRING 1995

WHO: If enrolled on-campus MANHATTAN for Fall 1994

DATES: November 2-4, 7-11, 14-18, 21-22

> Your appointment time to enroll will be printed on the top right hand corner of your Class Enrollment form, and is assigned on a priority system of hours you have completed.

If you miss your appointment time, you can enroll after your assigned time through November 22.

If you have a financial hold(s), it will be printed on the lower left-hand corner of your form.

All financial holds must be cleared before you can enroll.

Spring 1995 Class Schedules are available in the K-State Union Bookstore

CLASSIFICATION Graduate student Senior/5th year Junior Sophomore

Freshman

NOTE:

APPROXIMATE STARTING DATE November 2 November 2 November 4 November 8 November 14

LOCATION

LOCATION OF CLASS ENROLLMENT FORM:

Agriculture Architecture & Design Arts & Sciences

Advisor's office Department office Pre-professional & undeclared in dean's office; others in department office Business Administration Pre-professional & general in Calvin 107; others in department office Pre-professional & general in Bluemont Education 13; others in advisor's office Department office Engineering Human Ecology Advisor's office Dean's office Graduate School

WHO:

If enrolled in a SALINA course(s) for Fall 1994

November 2-4, 7-11, 14-18, 21-22

DATES:

NOTE:

If you have a financial hold(s), it will be printed on the lower left-hand corner of your form.

All financial holds must be cleared before you can enroll. Spring 1995 Class Schedules are available on October 31.

PROCEDURE:

Beginning October 31, pick up your Spring 1995 Class Schedule in your department office and schedule an appointment with your

Beginning November 2, bring your completed Class Enrollment form to the Library Conference Room (Tech Center).

OCTOBER 26, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Campout style cramped by loads of rules

The basketball campout had its time. Now we should move on.

Tradition. That's always been a good reason to keep old practices around past their time. The same is true for K-State's campout for basketball tickets.

It was a cool thing. You could sleep under the stars with your friends, discuss the upcoming season and meet the players when they served the campers meals. It created excitement for basketball season early in the year and generated a lot of publicity for K-State.

But now there are so many rules and guidelines to the campout that it takes all the spirit and spontaneity out of the tradition.

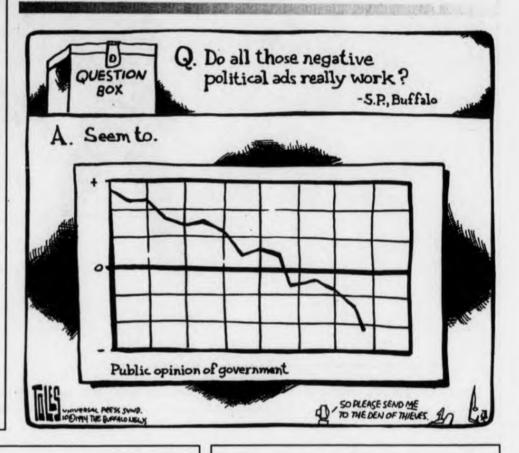

The rules state: no campfires, no urinating except in campout area, no jumping over the snow fence, no food, drink or smoking in Ahearn Field House during the movie or the concert, no water balloons, no playing catch on or across the street, no extension cords running from buildings, and all guidelines are to be followed in the Student Life Handbook at all times. Oh, by the way, K-State Police will be patrolling from sunset to sunrise each night of the campout. Sounds like a junior high lockin rather than a college event.

No one will argue that the rules don't make sense and that students shouldn't follow them. But now, it's just a quiet little gathering of Wildcat fans.

K-State fans and the basketball team would be better served if everyone lined up outside Bramlage Coliseum before the game, and we could get excited then, when the Cats need us.

TOLES

Kansas needs to jump on gaming boat

here is an issue that has largely eluded the candidates for governor this year. And while they have remained silent, the progress has been made.

The end result could involve millions of dollars for the state of Kansas.

The issue is gaming - more specifically, Indian gaming. Ever since Kansas embraced the lottery as a means of generating revenue, the four Kansas tribes (the Iowa Tribe of Kansas and Nebraska, the Kickapoo Nation, the Prairie Band of Pottawatomie, and the Sac & sought to establish casinos of benefit to both the state and their tribe.

Kansans should be aware of the issues involved in Indian gaming, and because the candidates are not really talking, I'm here to inform irst, there's the legal considerations. According to Indian Gaming the Regulatory Act, any state which allows any form of gaming must "negotiate in good faith" with all tribes within that state who want to run their own gaming operations.

Lespite the support Gov. Joan Finney has shown for Indian gaming, our Legislature has balked at requests to negotiate."

A good example of how this is supposed to work is the Mashantucket Pequot Tribe in Connecticut. When the Pequot expressed interest in opening a casino, the state was none too pleased. But after careful negotiation, an arrangement was made, in which both the state and the tribe receive revenue from the casino.

Has the arrangement been effective? Officials from the state of Connecticut have often praised the Pequot and the money they help generate for the state. More than anything; they are glad they entered into an agreement allowing them to share the wealth.

The Mashantucket Pequot have also fared well.

This tiny, once poor tribe just donated $10 million to the Smithsonian Institute, the largest cash donation in the museum's history. That money will help build the Museum of the American Indian in the final space on the Mall, with construction to be completed in the year 2001.

ansas, though, has not behaved in the same manner when approached by the Jocal Indian tribes. Despite the support Gov. Joan Finney has shown for Indian gaming, our Legislature has balked at requests to

And while ignoring the Indian tribes, they have begun negotiations with private corporations, latecomers to the gaming scene in our state. This has prompted several lawsuits by the tribes, accusing the state of violating the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act.

Most recently, all four tribes have begun negotiations with the owners of the Woodlands Race Track near Kansas City, hoping to join together for a mutual benefit. Officials from the Woodlands welcome the Indian tribes as partners, rather than competitors.

If the state fails to ratify this deal, Kansas stands to lose millions. Not only will the legal battles continue (with the feds forcing the state to allow Indian gaming a distinct possibility), but Kansas tourism will continue to lose out to more established riverboat gaming opportunities in neighboring Missouri. So when you evaluate candidates for governor and for state representative in the coming weeks, ask what their position on Indian gaming is. Vote for legislators who will negotiate in good faith with the Iowa, Kickapoo, Pottawatomie and Sac & Fox. Vote for a governor who will stand behind the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act. These are votes for revenue and votes for Kansas.

Dan Lewerenz is a senior in

ERIN MANSUR-SMITH

Many

fall into the

the trap of sexual power and a believing that harassment is just about between a supervisor subordinate."

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ HUNGER

Cats for Cans tries to end suffering

Here on the K-State campus, where we as students, faculty and staff, center much of our lives around work, classes and activities, it's hard to imagine that hunger is a problem in our community. It is, and we simply can't ignore the fact that it exists when hunger hits so very close to home. Long-term hunger has a whole different set of rules. According to the Dairy Council Digest, prolonged hunger not only lessens a child's physical abilities, but can also have longterm effects including stunted growth, problems with emotional behavior and a lower resistance

Two of the main causes for hunger that pertain not only to the United States as a whole, but also to Kansas and specifically to Riley County are the number of families living in lowincome situations, and the cutbacks in governmental spending on federally funded foodassistance programs. According to Shirley Bramhall, director of the Flint Hills Breadbasket, nearly 60 percent of Riley County residents fall in the low-to-moderate income bracket, which is below $17,000 per year. More than 20 percent live with incomes at or below poverty level (this figure does not include K-State students). The Society for Nutrition Education Journal attributes the problem as well to the shift in responsibility for food-assistance programs from the federal level to the state and local levels. Neither the states nor the private sector can possibly be prepared for such a responsibility or be expected to be equipped with resources sufficient to meet the level of need. Where shall we look for the solution to such a situation?

In search of a solution to effectively battle the prevailing hunger issue, we cannot depend on federal, state or local government funds to provide the necessary assistance. The hope for better jobs in the community and economic stimulation are possible, but they take time, and hunger doesn't wait.

We, the students, faculty and staff of Kansas State University can and will make a difference this year in the lives of nearly 6,000 Riley County residents. Cats for Cans collected 47,958 pounds of food and $3,028 in donations in 1993 through its efforts during Homecoming and Manhattan Town Center activities. The Flint Hills Breadbasket was able to produce $23 worth of food for every $1 donated in 1993. Cats for Cans has in the past done an overwhelming job in supporting the work of the Flint Hills Breadbasket, which in turn serves 88 Manhattan community agencies supplying food to the hungry. Under the direction of Ruth Ann Wefald and Professor Charles Burton. Student coordinator Laura House is heading up the K-State Cats for Cans effort. With minimal donations from each one of us, the increased need in the coming months (when trying to keep warm becomes an equally sought goal), obtaining the necessary resources to feed the hungry in our community could actually become Donations of canned food or money can be taken to the Cats for Cans castle at the Manhattan Town Center Mall between Oc. 29 and K-State Homecoming Nov. 5. Volunteers will also be collecting such donations at the gate prior to the K-State Homecoming football game. Support the Cats for Cans effort and help bring attention to the fact that hunger does hit close to home.

Ron Donoho senior in elementary education

Sexual harassment not always real clear

am a touchy person. I like to touch people and will do so with little to no encouragement. At the least sign someone needs reassurance or a little comfort, I am right there, rubbing backs, or giving hugs and smiles.

I'm also an outrageous flirt. Especially around the Collegian newsroom. It's impossible not to be, when you're in close contact 26 hours a day, 8 days a week with 50 people for whom bathing is a group event. Under those kind of conditions, I'd flirt with Quasamodo. As a matter of fact, I have.

Most don't seem to mind it. Some actually like it. As a couple of the photographers will tell you, nothing hits the spot when you've been sitting in front of the computer screen for hours like one of my toe-curling backrubs.

And if someone has minded, they haven't said anything to me about it. At the very least, no one has ever described it as harmful. Nor have they described it as sexual harassment.

But that just might be what it is.

According to the University, sexual harassment is "any behavior which, through inappropriate sexual content or disparagement of members of one sex, interferes with a work or learning environment." Examples of sexual harassment seem pretty clear-cut in the student-life handbook. It's behavior in which a person is made to feel like their grades or their job depends on putting up with sexual remarks and

Many students fall into the trap of believing that sexual harassment is just about power between a supervisor and a subordinate. They think that it is always a teacher they should expect it from, or a boss. We are not trained to think about it from another student, or from a co-worker who has no great influence over us. Meaning they don't decide our paychecks or our grades, but we do have to deal with them from day to day.

At first, it may appear as if my backrubs and smiles are hardly along the same lines as an instructor insisting a student trade an "A" for sex. But harassment on this campus shouldn't only be thought of just in that context.

Nothing is that clear-cut. Nothing is as it appears on paper. Sexual intimidation shouldn't just be thought of as happening between students and professors; it should be thought of as the point when a joke stops being a joke and when a touch stops being a friendly backrub from anyone, regardless of whom it comes from.

Sexual harassment is about power. It's about someone crossing the line, whether it is with a touch or with remark, whether it is from a professor or a boss or just someone you work

If there is even a hint of manipulation behind it, or if it just makes you feel uncomfortable, there shouldn't be any question about vocalizing your fears and putting a

We have to be very clear about how people's touches and words make us feel. We must watch ourselves. We must notice how we touch, how we talk to others and be aware of how we are perceived because we could be completely unaware we are making someone else feel uncomfortable.

No one has told me they are made uncomfortable by my hugs and other gestures of affection, but I'm not going to wait for anyone to tell me. Better to wait until I am asked for a hug than to Erin Mansur-Smith is a senior in English, theater and pre-law.

► CAMPUS

Ergonomics the key to traveling furniture show

A 40-foot traveling showroom full of furniture will be on display Thursday on the west side of Seaton Hall. The showroom from Fixtures Furniture of Kansas City, Mo., sponsored by the Department of Interior Architecture, will be parked there from 10 a.m. to 5

It will feature more than 40 ergonomic office chairs and a few tables. Ergonomics is the study of equipment design in order to reduce operator fatigue and discomfort.

The showroom will feature a ninth-generation office chair, which has been improved to help decrease repetitive strain from sitting all day, Bill Gapske, sales manager at Fixtures Furniture, said.

"With all the new problems that come up, we have to keep making improvements on the chairs. The ninth generation means there have been nine additions made to the chair,' Gapske said.

"We've moved beyond height adjustment," he said. "The chairs have a forward tilt-option, sliding seats, and the arms go up and down."

He said there are two trucks from Fixtures Furniture that travel all over the continental

United States. There are two trucks on the road 49 weeks of the year," Gapske said. "But this is our first visit to K-State." Judy Roland, interior invited."

department has been trying to get the showroom for three

"Bill Gapske is a personal friend of mine and a friend of the department," Roland said. "I was on the phone one time, and I asked him. When he said yes, I was so surprised I couldn't remember my next question."

Although the rolling showroom has never been here, K-State students have visited the company in Kansas City, Gapske

"We've been involved with the interior architecture program since its beginning in 1969," he

Fixtures Furniture is one of few manufacturing companies in the Midwest, Steve Murphy, head of the interior architecture department, said. "It's important for students to see the manufacturing of each individual chair, the assembly plant and how the chairs are shipped out," Murphy said.

'It's all done in house, which allows them to see the whole picture," he said.

Although K-State's interior architecture department and Fixtures Furniture have worked together, Gapske said the showroom is for anyone interested.

"It's for students who want input into their lives. They will be trying furniture for a business someday or for school now," Gapske said. "There have also been architects from the area

► HOMOSEXUALS

K-State gets good marks from task force

K-State, as a whole, reflects more positive than negative attitudes toward gay, lesbian and bisexual people, according to a report of the Task Force to Study the Concerns of Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Students.

Frank Saal, task force co-chair and head of the psychology department, said this is a positive step for K-State, but it still has a long way to go.

"An important general message is that the University is not as hostile and unaccommodating as some folks had feared," Saal said.

"On the other hand, there are some problems the University needs to work on in order to provide a better working and learning environment for everyone," he said.

The complete report is not yet available to the public, University provost James Coffman said.

The task force commissioned in fall 1991 to deal with some questions about policy, Robert Krause, vice president of institutional advancement, said.

"A couple of issues were raised, and we thought it would be important to get an assessment of those issues," he said.

Krause said one of the biggest issues that the task force had to research was the definition of married students.

"One problem was whether gay couples could live in student housing for married people," he

Krause said K-State would continue to follow state initiatives on that issue.

There were also concerns for the treatment of bisexual, gay and lesbian people on campus, Krause According to the report, 48 percent of gay, lesbian and bisexual people on campus are afraid of being physically assaulted. Krause said the task force had several recommendations for the University. One recommendation was for the University to adopt a statement of support for diverse populations.

Other recommendations were to establish a section in multicultural affairs for bisexual, gay and lesbian people to establish support services through the University and campus ministries and to encourage the faculty to assist in feedback. The task force also came out in favor of the diversity overlay requirement, which would include education about homosexuals, Krause said.

Frank Axell, president of the Bisexual, Gay and Lesbian Society, said he thought the communities of Manhattan and K-State are more open-minded than the rest of Kansas.

setting, and people are exposed to different cultures. They are more educated, and they learn from each other," he said.

"It's because this is a university

Axell said he is interested to hear what the task force recommended and what the report said.

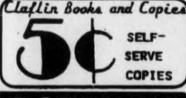

"I hope the administration will listen and do whatever they can to improve the climate for gays and lesbians on campus," he said.

"I hope the administration will listen and do whatever they can to improve the climate for gays and lesbians on campus."

FRANK AXELL President of the Bisexual,

Gay and Lesbian Society

COLLEGIAN

A Little Space Can Say A Lot! Collegian Advertising 532-6560

Choral Classics

Masterworks by Mozart, Mendelssohn, Durufle, Vivaldi and Widor

The Kansas State Choir The Kansas State Chorale

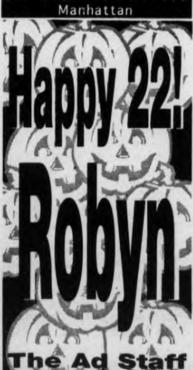

> Rod Walker, conductor William Wingfield, accompanist

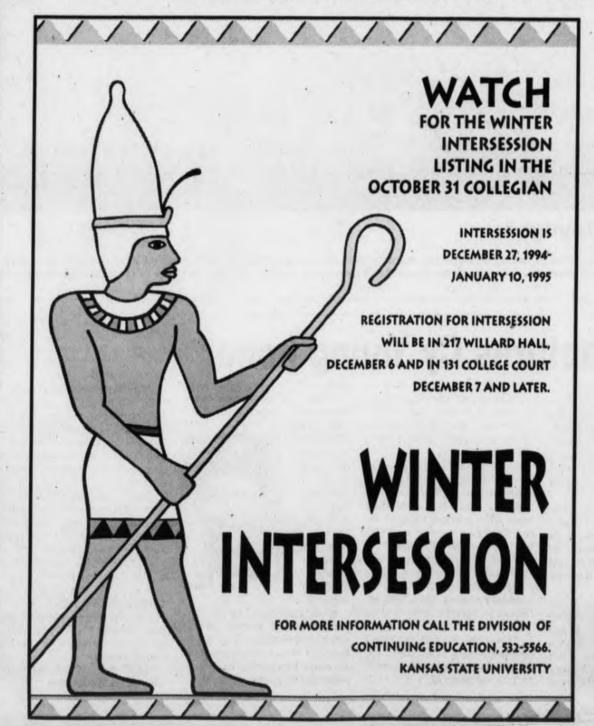

Mary Ellen Sutton, Guest Artist

Wednesday, Oct. 26, 1994 8 p.m. All Faiths Chapel

No Admission Charged

Wednesday Steak Night 8 oz. K.C. Strip Baked Potato Salad & Toast 6 Years The Place For The Original Steak Night! $2.50 Big Bob Beers Open 11 a.m. Mon.-Sat. til the party's over! 37-8383 • Candlewood

ICAT

SIDE OF THE FIELDHOUSE.

Drawing will be held October 28 KSU Homecoming November 5!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State tries to end 3-game streak without starting setter

CRESTON KUENZI

After dropping three straight matches, the K-State women's volleyball team was dealt - another blow yesterday. Coach Jim Moore said freshman setter Devon Ryning will miss a week to three weeks of action because of a case of mononucleosis.

With Chi Dau moving into the starting position, Moore said he is not sure how much drop-off will occur.

'I have no idea," Moore said. "I guess only time will tell."

The Wildcats play the University of Missouri-

Kansas City at 7 p.m. today. K-State swept the Kangaroos in three games earlier in the year. Moore said the fact that his team has played poorly against lesser teams and the loss of Ryning has him worried about the upcoming game against UMKC. Moore also said the Cats need to play well and win in order to get back to their early season

"We need to start working hard and do things we're supposed to do," Moore said. "We need to learn how to win.' Moore said his team will also have to change

K-State vs. UMKC

K-State takes on the UMKC Kangaroos tonight in Kansas City, Mo. The Wildcats have lost their last three matches.

its mind set as it enters the second half of the Big Eight Conference schedule.

When we first started winning, it was new and exciting and fun," Moore said. "We've become comfortable. We need to stop being comfortable and become more focused.

Moore said games in which they thought they would win fairly easily down the road have suddenly become more challenging without

"Teams like Missouri like to attack from the outside, and in the first match against them, we handled it pretty easily," Moore said. "Now that we've lost Devon's blocking ability, we're going to have to work a lot harder to beat them."

K-State will resume its Big Eight season at 7 p.m. Saturday against Missouri at Ahearn Field House. The game may not have appeared on

► FOOTBALL

NU, CU spoil Cats' bowl b

The Orange Bowl won't have the K-State Wildcats playing on the field, but many players and coaches said they felt that it should have.

"I think it was a common perception that this was a team that could play on New Year's Day," Coach Bill Snyder said Tuesday during a weekly press conference at Vanier Football Conference. "I say New Year's Day meaning the Orange

After losing two consecutive games to Nebraska and Colorado, it is out of reach.

However, questions were raised at the press conference about whether officiating had anything to do with the

Snyder said he would stand up for his football team, but he did not want to go through the media. He said he has filed a complaint with the Big Eight Conference concerning the officiating. Big Eight coaches are not allowed to make any comments about officiating publicly.

'My intention is to do it through the Big Eight Conference," he said. During the Colorado game, the Cats were faced with a first-and-goal situation on their first drive in the third quarter after Chuck Marlowe blocked a punt three plays earlier. They found themselves stopped short of the goal line on all four downs.

"On the first play, I was in. The others are questionable. Everything but my left leg was in," running back J.J. Smith said. "When I got out of the pile, I was very surprised they started the clock again. It could have changed the game completely.

Officials in the Nebraska-K-State match-up have also been criticized by Cats' quarterback Chad May by not stopping Nebraska's dirty play.

'Chad May is not prone to make any excuses or idle comments,"

Snyder said. Snyder said he is fully accountable for anything that any of the players or coaches do or say and remains accountable for the remarks May "May has a better understanding this room." Snyder said he has brought the officiating from the last two games up to Big Eight office and in each of the last two weeks has gone through the proper channels.

Referees are judged on their performance at each game by the Big Eight Conference. However, K-State stands to gain little from the complaint. "Maybe all we could expect to gain from it is maybe not putting our players in a position to be held accountable for the actions of people that we cannot control," Snyder said. Nonetheless, the Cats are remaining focused on Norman, Okla., and a Sooner team that has just come off of a 20-17 road win against

Snyder said the Sooners will play extremely hard and will be motivated. "With a win under their belt, there is an opportunity still to salvage the season and get into the postseason scenario," he said. Snyder said the Cats' preparation is based on what the opponent will do.

"Our preparation is based on that for our ball game against Nebraska and not what the oddsmakers say," he than anyone in this room or outside of

Smith said the Oklahoma game is very crucial to the team.

"We can't sleep against those guys," he said.

Snyder bitter after Colorado game once again

One year ago, Coach Bill Snyder was upset at his weekly press conference in the Vanier Football Complex as the media questioned him about not going for the win against Colorado, about his salary and about two players who were arrested for having a controlled substance in Aggieville.

Snyder was agitated when he was asked these questions, and he did his best to reply to the questions as best as he could.

I've seen Snyder in this state of emotion a couple of times - last year, the day after a running back was arrested for a DUI this season, and Tuesday.

At yesterday's press conference, Snyder was visibly upset because he was being hounded by the media about the officiating in both the Nebraska and Colorado games — especially the goal-line attempts to get into the end zone in the third quarter.

Snyder said he was talking with the Big Eight Conference about several incidents from both

"We're going through the right channels," Snyder said.

Along with the officiating problems in Colorado, Snyder wouldn't talk much about Chad May's eyes being poked in the Nebraska game.

Snyder said he would stand up for his team, but he didn't want to go through the media. He said he would go through the Big Eight Conference. Also, there have been incidents from the Nebraska game concerning a pass interference by a Cornhusker covering Kevin Lockett that was waived off, and about members of the Nebraska's traveling party being on the balcony of the Vanier Complex that have been mentioned to the league's

While most of the 30minute questioning dealt with the officiating, only a handful opponent, the Oklahoma Sooners. I talk about what happened last year because the team was able to get by the distractions and win three of its next four games, and I think this year's Because Snyder was dealing with a lot of topics outside of the upcoming game with Oklahoma last year, few questions were asked about the Sooners.

staff, and even the fans got behind Snyder. Usually, 50 to 75 K-State fans attend Cat Chat -Snyder's weekly radio show - in the football cheered Snyder when he walked into the room.

Maybe they overlooked lowa State, but the Wildcats were able to beat Missouri and Oklahoma State to go the school's second bowl game in 98

I have little doubt that Snyder will fire up his players, and K-State will bounce back to knock the living snot out of Oklahoma and will win the rest of determined to win the next four games and go to a postseason bowl.

ANDERSON

of questions were asked about K-State's next squad will fight back and win.

The team seemed to rally behind its coaching complex. That Thursday evening, there had to be at least 150 fans in the Big Eight Room, and they The Cats were able to knock around the Sooners in the next game after the week's events.

years.

its regular season games. Already, there are players saying they are

'We are shooting for the highest bowl possible," Lockett said. "I don't want to be sitting at home (in Tulsa, Okla.) during Christmas break.'

Passing daylight

Roy Robinson, freshman in milling science and management, throws a football to his roommate, Matt Wells, sophomore in business, Tuesday evening across the street from Haymaker Hall. He and his roommate were playing catch as the final half hour of sunlight was diminishing.

▶ BASEBALL

one captures Cy Young honor

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK - A little older and maybe a bit wiser, David Cone learned the lesson that often eludes baseball's hardest throwers: sometimes there are other ways to win besides strikeouts.

Rather than blowing away batters this year, Cone concentrated on getting outs with ground balls. Instead of fanning hitters with fastballs and hard sliders, he fooled them by changing speeds.

Cone's transition from the pure power pitcher with boyish looks to an all-around ace at age 31 for the Kansas City Royals was completed Tuesday when he won the AL Cy Young Award in a close vote over former teammate Jimmy Key.

This award signals a change of style, a Jimmy Key-style." Cone said. "He's probably one of the most intelligent pitchers in the game.'

Cone and Key, always a big winner with his soft stuff, toured Japan after the 1988 season as part of a major league All-Star team. They pitched together for the final two months of 1992 with the Toronto Blue Jays."

"That is a compliment," Key said after hearing Cone's comparison. "I think David, for whatever reason, has changed. He used to try to strike people

"Now he's just trying to get people out early in the count. He doesn't need to nit-pick as much as I do because he's got such great stuff."

Cone, coming off the worst season of his career, went 16-5 with a 2.94

ERA and did not lead the league in any category. Key, 17-4 with a 3.27 ERA for the New York Yankees, led the majors in wins.

Cone received 15 of 28 firstplace votes and finished with 108 points in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Key got 10 first-place votes and 96 points.

"I thought either one of us would've made a deserving winner. I'm hoping to get a chance to call him and tell him that," Cone said.

"My first instinct is to feel this might be a once-in-alifetime opportunity. I don't want to demean the award because of the strike. But when you look at the award, you're going to think about the despair of 1994.'

Randy Johnson, 13-6 with a 3.19 ERA and a major leagueleading 204 strikeouts for Seattle, received two first-place votes and finished third with 24 points. Mike Mussina, 16-5 with a 3.06 ERA for Baltimore, got one first-place vote and was fourth with 23 points. Greg Maddux won his record third straight Cy Young with a unanimous victory in the NL voting Monday.

The AL MVP will be announced Wednesday.

"We're friends, and I'm overjoyed for him," Key said. "It'd be nice to win one. But I don't put that much value in these things.

"It is the Cy Young, but I still think it's going to be tarnished in some people's eyes, and there probably will be an asterisk next to it in the so-called record books. He was voted the best pitcher for those number of games.

Cone struck out 132 in 23 games before the players' strike started Aug. 12. Key fanned 97 in 24 games.

Cone led the majors in strikeouts from 1990-92 and tied the NL record by striking out 19 in a game in 1991.

In August 1992, the New York Mets traded Cone to Toronto. Cone bumped Key out of manager Cito Gaston's playoff rotation and also started ahead of him as Toronto won its first World Series.

11.6

OCTOBER 26, 1994

Tidbits:

TAKING CONTROL

Because of the increased awareness about safe sex-caused by AIDS, 40 percent of condom purchases are by women.

Deficiency

Syndrome → a group of related disorders

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Aiding those with

TO KNOW MORE ABOUT AIDS, CALL ...

Riley County Health Dept.
Geary County Health Dept.
Pottawatomie County Health Dept.
Topeka AIDS Project
AIDS Hotline

776-4779 762-5788 ept. 457-3396 232-3100 1-800-342-AIDS 537-0688

For information about AIDS support groups, call Joan at 776-4779 or Dru at 537-5195.

AIDS

Local groups provide support, comfort for AIDS patients, HIVpositive patients and their families

o one is immune to AIDS, and no one can deal with it alone.

AIDS is the most severe, lifethreatening form of HIV infection.

It's a disease that leaves no survivors.

The victims and families of HIV and AIDS patients need care and support in dealing with the inevitable death of the infected person.

There are numerous groups in the Manhattan area that offer support, medical care and advice to infected people and their families.

people and their families.

The Riley County Health
Department has two separate support

"One group is for HIV-positive people only. It's a small, exclusive group," Joan Smith, MT: ASCP, MS at Riley County Health Department, said.

The group is for the patients only, and spouses or parents aren't allowed to go to the sessions. The topics and feelings discussed at the meetings are matters that only patients with HIV would understand.

Having people that aren't infected would have an effect on the discussions, Smith said.

The group is not meeting at this time because the attendance numbers were too low.

The Riley County Health
Department doesn't go out and find HIV-infected people in the community; they must come to the health department for help.

"Someone has to call us and tell us they are infected. Then, we give them another number to call to refer them to the correct people in the area," Smith said.

The Manhattan area has another support group for families of AIDS patients.

"This group was started by two mothers who each lost a child to AIDS. The group is for family and friends who are in the process of losing someone to AIDS. Those meetings are for socialization and support, and not too heavy a subject is discussed," Smith said.

Another group was formed in the community to cover all aspects of coping with the disease.

"The Manhattan AIDS Project is a grass-roots community organization formed to help those who have HIV," Smith said.

The Manhattan AIDS Project has several divisions that inform, educate and serve the Manhattan area. The AIDS Project covers a six-county area that includes Riley, Clay, Pottawatomie, Geary, Marshall and Washington counties.

The organization is divided into committees that are directed toward public relations, fundraising and education.

"With the funds we raise, we turn around and provide services to the community." Smith said. The clinic also provides legal aid, linkage with the SRS and disability checks, transportation and help for them to run errands, Smith said.

To care for the community, the AIDS Project works with the Kansas Department of Health and Environment. A specialist from Topeka comes to the Riley County Health Department once a month to provide medical care for AIDS patients.

The Manhattan AIDS project has at least 50 volunteers.

All volunteers are trained in dealing with the death of the AIDS patient, symptoms, safety precautions and eliminating prejudice.

Topeka also has an AIDS Project similar to Manhattan's. The Topeka AIDS Project offers weekly support groups and aid to people infected with HIV Pottawatomie County's health department offers testing for STDs and AIDS.

The health department works with Riley County and the Kansas Department of Health and Environment to refer people infected with HIV to area support groups, said Deb Lind, of the Pottawatomie County Health Department.

The state department offers many specific areas of help from assisting the partners of AIDS-infected patients cope to insurance continuation.

But, Pottawatomie County sends most of the patients on to Riley County for help, Lind said.

Manhattan's Hospice helps families and spouses deal with the loss of a loved one to AIDS and other terminal diseases.

Hospice offers counselors, nurses, social workers and support groups for patients and families to help the clients prepare for the death of a family member.

"If a patient in the Hospice program passes away, we follow the family or significant others for 18 months and help them cope with the bereavement process, which is grieving over the death of a loved one," said Jennifer Boyda, social worker with the Homecare and Hospice program.

Hospice provides care and support for any patients of a terminal disease, including AIDS.

"We do help AIDS patients. We just don't have an overwhelming number of them now. I imagine the numbers will increase, though," Boyda said.

Story by Christi Wright
Art by Mike Marlett
Design by N. Stewart Anderson

HISPANIC AWARENESS MONTH

closes celebration of Hispanic culture

K-State Hispanic faculty members led a panel discussion that concluded the activities for Hispanic Awareness Month Tuesday night.

Panel members shared their views concerning customs, economics, language and education systems in their countries.

Members of the panel were as follows: Salvador Oropesa, professor of modern languages; Carmen Sosa, national origin coordinator for the Midwest Desegregation Assistance Center; and Alberto Broce, professor of entomology.

Oropesa said in Spain, Christmas and New Year's celebrations are very similar to those of the United States.

"On Christmas eve, we eat a nice dinner and attend mass," Oropesa said. "Nativity scenes used to be very popular, but with the influence of American movies, Christmas trees have taken their place.'

Latin American countries have a variety of exotic foods. Broce said big, green iguanas are a popular delicatessen in Panama. Oropesa said baby eel is popular in Spain, but also very expensive.

The panel members said their language has become very Americanized. Oropesa said new words have been created for the Spanish language because of changes in technology.

Sosa said the lifestyle in Puerto Rico is more laid back than in the United States.

"Our concept of time is a little bit different," Sosa said. "It is still important, but nobody gets mad if you're five to 10 minutes late."

Oropesa said Americans invite friends to come over during a certain time frame.

"In Spain, it is rude to give a stopping time," Oropesa said. "We want our company to stay as long as they like.

In Mexico, people still take a break from work in the middle of the day for lunch and a nap, Broce said. However, Oropesa said this is not true of the big cities in Spain. The lifestyle, he said, is fast paced, much like the United States.

The panel members said their countries' technology was comparable to the United States.

"We are very lucky that most of the people have the essentials," Sosa said.

Oropesa said in Spain, the public-transportation system is used much more frequently.

"Gas is much more expensive -$6 to $7 per gallon," he said.

The education systems in Puerto Rico, Spain and Panama had some distinct differences.

Sosa said the Puerto Rican education system was very similar to the United States.

We have private and public schools and offer students financial aid," Sosa said. "Also, we have one of the largest medical schools, which is located in the Caribbean."

Broce said when he was growing up, Panama only had one university.

"Back then, you had to work during the day and go to school at night," he said. "It would take almost 10 years to get a bachelor's degree.

Oropesa said in Spain, higher education is reserved for the elite. He said the United States is lucky to have a system that's friendly to all students.

"One of the best things about the United States is that we have a democratic system," Oropesa said. "Students are given first, second and third chances.'

Yesica Chavez, senior in social work, said parents and counselors play an important role in influencing Latin students' pursuit of a college education.

"Sometimes, students don't realize college is affordable," Chavez said. "Someone needs to tell them they can apply for financial aid."

Several members of the Hispanic American Leadership Organization said they enjoyed the activities for Hispanic Awareness Month.

Jeannette Torres, junior in political science, said she attended the panel discussion to learn more about different cultures.

"I've grown up in the United States, so I don't feel like I know a lot about my culture," she said. "It makes you happy to know their are others who share the same kinds of Sonnia Torres, senior in Spanish, said the panel discussion was a good way to conclude Hispanic Awareness Month.

"Our theme this year was 'Hàblando el mismo idioma, Speaking the same language," Torres said. "This tied in well with the discussion."

$5.50 an Hour!

STUDENT SENATE

International panel Vote bends rules to help ICC buy food

BROOKE GRABER FORT

Student Senate voted Tuesday Night to amend its allocation rules in order to give money to the International Coordinating Council for food for International Week.

Ben Clouse, SGA treasurer, said Senate guidelines forbid Senate from funding food.

ICC requested $1,000 for food. The Allocations Committee recommended that no money be allotted for food.

Bill Muir, faculty representative, said he thought Senate should allow funding for food.

"When international students get together, it greatly surrounds food," Muir said.

Trent LeDoux, agriculture senator, disagreed.

"I don't think the students' money should be used to buy food for student groups," LeDoux said.

Motaz Hourani, ICC adviser, said food for International Week costs between $2,000 and $3,000.

Anderson, faculty representative, said Senate had previously funded food for ICC, and he thought Senate should fund

"I've been in Senate since 1987. Traditionally, this body has been a great support of this organization."

Brandon Clark, arts and sciences senator, agreed.

This body has funded hundreds of dollars, for food to this organization in the past. I think this precedence was set for a reason and should continue," Clark said.

"They are a significant part of the population, and they are considerably underrepresented by this body," Clark said.

Clark said he thought the Senate guidelines were established as a means of avoiding funding food for parties for student organizations.

Senate passed an amendment to allocate a $900 for the purchase of food by ICC.

Since the amendment was a violation of Senate guidelines, it needed two-thirds vote to pass, Clouse said.

The amendment passed.

ICC also requested funding for International Week, letters to be sent to group members and general expenses.

The group requested $3,804 total for International Week.

The Senate Allocations Committee recommended that Senate fund $934.20.

The Allocations Committee recommended funding for the rental of off-campus space, something that is not often done.

"Because the Union won't allow food to be brought in, they have to go off campus," Clouse said.

Food that is not prepared in a licensed kitchen cannot be served in a facility with a licensed kitchen such as the Union, according state health regulations.

Clouse said when University space is not provided, groups are allowed to rent space elsewhere.

The International Coordinating Council was the largest organization that Senate allocated money to Tuesday night.

Other groups receiving funding were Students for Sustainability, KSU Environmental Professionals and the 16 organizations that make

Before Senate discussed campus allocations, it had a visitor that discussed funding of a city project.

Rick Mann, chairman of the Jobs for Manhattan Committee, spoke to Senate about question No.2 on the Nov. 8 Manhattan ballot.

The question proposes an additional half-cent sales tax to be collected in Manhattan for four

"K-State has never been stronger. I feel Manhattan is very strong," Mann said.

However, Manhattan could be faced with economic troubles if Fort Riley closes, he said.

"If Fort Riley closes, more than 4,200 jobs in Riley County will be lost. Over 5,800 people will leave Manhattan - some of them students, and more than $4.6 million in sales will be lost," Mann said.

"Less sales is less jobs," he said. Mann said the sales tax, if passed, will protect current job opportunities, create more jobs and create more job opportunities for K-State graduates to remain in Manhattan.

He said the sales tax would also allow for K-State research to be used to make new products and Mann said the administration has been supportive of the tax increase.

He said the Manhattan city commission is working on the creation of a committee that will review the economic-development

The proposed sales tax would raise $8 million during the four years it is in effect, Mann said.

However, individual citizens will not notice a big increase in costs of products, he said.

"Let's say you have $100 per month to spend on retail purchases. The sales tax would cost you 50 cents," he said.

Mann said he felt K-State students understand economic development because the student body has voted to increase its fees in favor of enhancing campus buildings and services, such as the K-State Union and the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

The Muslim Community Association invites you to attend the last lecture of a series of four of a short course on: "Understanding Islam - I"

"Muhammad (Peace be upon him)"

HAMED GHAZALI

Vice President of the Islamic Society of North America

Wednesday, Oct. 26

Room 213, K-State Union - 7:15 to 8:30 p.m.

Refreshments and coffee served.

For more information contact Khalid Kebbati at 537-3759 or 532-6999.

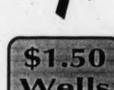

POPULATION &

ENVIRONMENT

BEYOND THE NUMBERS

MUSLIM COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

Auntie Mae's Wednesday, October 26 LIVE JAZZ & BLUES Featuring the unique sounds of

Come Early

NO COVER

Parlor 616 N. 12th (Aggleville)

For Seating

Have one of the BEST parties ever!

Rent a portable hot tub for your next partyl

Call Wayne 537-7587

539-7561

MEATSA! MEATSA!

PEPPERONI! PEPPERONI!

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

Wanted: People to take inventory in retail stores. Weekday mornings and wekends-mostly on Permanent/Part-Time Sundays. Math aptitude a must. Ten-key calculator experience is helpful, but not necessary. Starting at

You're In The Book

Apply in person by November 2!

Manhattan Job Service • 621 Humboldt

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2) $3.50 for faculty/staff $4.25 for the public

AVAILABL

Get Yours in 103 Kedzie Hall

Questions? Call 532-6560

DIRECTOR, POPULATION PROGRAM, NATIONAL AUDUBON SOCIETY

PATRICIA WAAK

MEMBER, U.S. DELEGATION TO THE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON POPULATION AND DEVELOPMENT

THERE ARE NOW OVER 5.7 BILLION PEOPLE INHABITING THE EARTH, AND WE'RE INCREASING OUR NUMBERS BY 95 MILLION EVERY YEAR! FROM GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE TO SPECIES EXTINCTION, WE CAN NO LONGER IGNORE THE DEVASTATING EFFECTS OF GLOBAL OVERPOPULATION AND OVERCONSUMPTION.

Ms. WAAK WILL REVIEW THE RECENT UN CONFERENCE ON POPULATION AND DEVELOPMENT, AND WILL PRESENT AN OVERVIEW OF THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN POPULATION AND ENVIRONMENT AS DEMONSTRATED IN INTERNATIONAL AND DOMESTIC POLICY.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1994 7:30pm / UMBERGER HALL 105 KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

SPONSORED BY .... KSU STUDENTS FOR SUSTAINABILITY, NORTHERN FLINT HILLS AUDUBON SOCIETY, KSUI DEPT. OF GEOGRAPHY, AND KSUI DEPT. OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE / REGIONAL & COMMUNITY PLANNING. MAJOR FUNDING BY KSU STUDENT GOVERNING ASSOCIATION.

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Nosferatu" - 8 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.,

11 _ 311 − 9 p.m. at

 Speed" − 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum

OCTOBER 26, 1994

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

NMYZN

VMYHMI DRM

TNA-TSGRWJOWL RZG

DZVSLU JMMO

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: LUSCIOUS BLUEBERRY PIE OUGHT TO BE CUT ONLY INTO BITE-SIGHS PIECES.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: N equals L

CALVIN AND HOBBES

Roommate excites himself with stuffed socks

DEAR Duveaux

Write to Cassie:

116 Kedzie Hall

Manhattan, KS

66506

Ever since I was very little, I had this strange feeling that I was different. I used to go in to my closet with some tissue paper and a sock. I would rub myself until I got very excited and then I would ejaculate into my sock. I would then put my sock on my foot. I love the fluid squishing between my toes; I do not know if this is normal, but I like it.

Dear Cassandra,

One day, I walked in on my roommate rubbing himself. I got excited and wanted to feel his fluid squich between my toes, so after he finished and left the room to clean up, I went over to the trash can and grabbed his fluid with a tissue and stuffed it into a sock and stuck it on my foot.

Well, the next time I walked in on him, he invited me to join him. Well, he has a girlfriend now and is never around anymore. I miss our group activity. Should I tell him I miss him, or should I find a new partner?

Yours Truly, Without a Partner

Dear Without a Partner,

Maybe you can ask your roommate's girlfriend if you can borrow her socks. Or better yet, her pantyhose. I'm sure she'd love to join in your little "love group activity." Who wouldn't want to spear their feet with your sperm and let it seep between their toes?

If all else fails and you really miss that squishy sensation, you can always fill your socks with macaroni.

▶ COLUMN

Manhattan could be home of 'Oklahoma'

It's always a sad case when a theatrical presenta-

It may not flop critically, but flop financially (no one goes to see it).

Sometimes there is just no way around it. It's either really successful, somewhat so, or a flop.

I would hardly call the negative, worried buzz surrounding Theatre's production of the musical "Chicago" accurate, but ticket sales have been a real drag.

Is it because no one knows about the show? Doubtedly. Advertising hasn't kicked in, but that hasn't stopped anyone before (remember trying to get tickets to "Oklahoma" last year?).

I guess what I'm getting at is K-State Theatre needs to set its sights level, not high or low, but just somewhere inbetween. Instead of trying to do something avant garde (or even somewhat contemporary) or trying to do something as old as Methuselah, K-State Theatre should set their sights on a traditional show and, hold on to your seats, do that show every year.

RUSSELL

FORTMEYER

I mentioned the musical "Oklahoma" earlier.

Do "Oklahoma" every year, and it is bound to eventually be superbly performed. Why, I bet CNN and all sorts of important people would come to recognize K-State Theatre's production of "Oklahoma" as the best around. You could even use the same costumes and sets (saving thousands upon thousands of student dollars).

You would also make Manhattan into a cultural destination (it could happen).

As a kid, I'm sure many of you went to see "The Nutcracker Suite" once a year during the holidays. Well, "Oklahoma" would be your modern-day Nutcracker (though, I admit you can't beat the name Nutcracker; maybe we could call it "Oklahoma Nutcrackers").

People from western Kansas would load up the Chevy and drive all day just to see the once-a-year production of "Oklahoma" and the ensuing, yet-tobe-conceived "Everything's Up To Date in Junction City" Spirit Festival at the K-State Union. Sound

OK. Don't think I'm crazy or something. This isn't all that unusual.

A small town in Germany called Oberommergau produces a passion play every 10 years, using all of the people who live in the town as the cast. Jesus has a real beard and is groomed to look just like him (at least like the pictures in German prayer books). People flock from all over the world to the play for a chance to see the epic event. See? I'm not so crazy after all.

Instead of the "Little Apple," Manhattan would be known as "Manhattan, Kansas - the home of

If anyone from the Chamber of Commerce is reading this, don't hesitate. Let's get this idea

■ See COLUMNIST Page 12

Grain Science Club Flour Sales

Products Include:

· White Flour

· Whole Wheat Flour

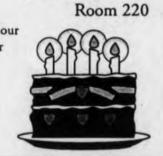

· Stone Ground Whole Wheat Flour · Stone Ground Whole Rye Flour

· Pastry Flour

· Wheat Bran · Wheat Germ

Bulgar

 Farina Pancake Mix

Shellenberger Hall

Wednesday, Noon to 4 p.m.

Fall Shoe Showing Featuring Riekers! New Styles! Now 10% off thru October

Olson's Shoe Service in Aggieville

Electrical and Computer Engineering Students

Early Enrollment for Spring 1995

Check the bulletin board behind the EECE office (Du 261) for details of the Early Enrollment procedures. Early Enrollment will only be conducted:

SENIORS AND JUNIORS:

Monday, Oct. 31 and Tuesday, Nov. 1,

1- 4:30 p.m.

ALL STUDENTS:

Monday, Nov. 7 and Monday, Nov. 14,

1 - 4:30 p.m.

EXTRA SESSION:

Tuesday, Nov. 22

Sign-up sheets are in the EECE office.

'No Coupon" Specials Everyday Everyday Two-fers Three-fers - PIZZAS with - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each - TOPPING each 2 - COKES with ice 4 - COKES with ice $8.45 $10.34 Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

K-State Bone Marrow Drive

Oct. 25, 4 to 8 p.m. Oct. 26, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. K-State Union

Being registered as a volunteer bone marrow donor isn't time-consuming or costly. All you need to do is have a small blood sample drawn from your arm. As the pool of donors increases, so do the odds of survival for people with leukemia and other fatal blood diseases.

Sponsored by the K-State Student Alumni Board.

and the state of t

Ntozake Shange (left), played by Vivian Ferguson, sophomore in journalism and mass communications, and Big Mo, played by Sapphira McAllister, graduate in theater education, rehearse "Fires in the Mirror" Tuesday at the Purple Masque.

► EBONY THEATRE CO.

Play responds to racial violence in New York

Collegian The Purple Masque Theatre will not be cold this weekend.

An upcoming play at K-State is sure to keep the theater fired up.

"Fires in the Mirror' is a response to the Aug. 19, 1991 black riots in the Crown Heights area of Brooklyn, New York," said Anita McAllister, graduate teaching assistant for Ebony Theatre Co.

She said the riots were sparked when a Hasidic Jew and his passenger, a rabbi, hit a 7-year-old black boy and his sister.

The boy, Gavin Cato, was killed, but his sister survived.

McAllister said the driver ran away from the accident but was later given aid by an ambulance driver. The ambulance driver left the two black children on the sidewalk to bleed.

As a result, a riot broke out, and three black boys stabbed Yankel Rosendaum, a Jewish scholar from Australia, on the street, McAllister said.

The play was written by Anna DeaVere Smith.

McAllister said Smith interviewed hundreds of diverse people after the riots. "Fires in the Mirror" is a series of monologues from the interviews, McAllister said.

The play was originally a one-woman play. Ebony Theatre Co. has eight actors and 19 monologues for the play.

The multicultural cast has contributed more than its acting skills to the play.

SHOWING TIMES

"Fires in the Mirror" will be performed at 8 p.m., Thursday through Saturday at the Purple Masque Theatre. It will be performed by Ebony Theater Co. Parental guidence is suggested.

"It is an exhausting play," Zachary Baze, junior in advertising, said.

Baze plays seven characters in "Fires." He said that has allowed him to see how naive he was about different cultures.

Erin Mansur-Smith, senior in English, pre-law and theater, said she is particularly emotional about the play.

"I can see how the communication and people were broken down," Smith said. "I just wanted to go back and change everything."

Smith portrays Cato's father.

"I had to become a student in learning how men carry themselves," Smith said. Hubbard said K-State students need to communicate more.

Hubbard said the group did this play because it is an example of the conflicts among diverse groups of people.

Hubbard said Ebony Theatre Co. introduces African American playwrights to K-State and the community.

"It enables African American students to expand and share their artistic abilities with the community," Hubbard said.

Library-book sale to run all year because of Farrell construction

ANNETTE RIEDL

Farrell Library will have an ongoing book sale in the lobby of the library because of the crowding caused by the Farrell expansion.

'We used to have a couple of book sales a year," Karen McCulloh, assistant to the dean of the library, said. "But due to the construction, we didn't have much room in the lobby, so we decided to make it a whole-year

Duplicate, donated and outdated books will be on sale, as well as textbooks from the K-State Union that aren't being used in classes, McCulloh

For just a couple of dollars, students can buy physics and biology books to make reports look pretty, McCulloh

Math students also like old math textbooks to use for practice problems, she said. The books on sale are sorted

The book-sale fundraiser raised $300 the first week, she said.

"Book sales have been a great source of revenue for the Friends of the Library," McCulloh said. The goal of Friends of the Library is $25,000, she said. "We have raised more than $6,000 yearly in book sales. We like to see the books used, and we need that income to support library projects," McCulloh

BOOK SALE

Book prices are $1 for paperbacks and $2 for hardbacks with some fiction and magazines costing less. Buyers may pay student workers at the security desk in the entry of the lobby.

Friends of the Library do different projects to raise money to improve the library's facilities and collections, she

The book sale is a good way to keep books out of the landfill, McCulloh

The Friends of the Library plans to run the book sale for a couple of months and then evaluate it, she said.

If it continues to bring in $300 a week, it may prove to be easier and more profitable than the old week-long method, she said.

Grant Griffiths, student library worker, said quite a few students seem to be buying books.

"Students seem to like having the book sale all year-long, instead of just one week out of the year," Griffiths

Like a coffee shop, the book sale has it regulars, too.

"Sometimes, you see the same people going through the books frequently," Griffiths said.

► HEALTH CARE

New Lafene assistant to relieve office burdens

TRINA HOLMES

If you think you've been getting the runaround at Lafene Health Center, now there's someone who can help.

Since Oct. 3, Frankie Aggers has been filling the new position of administrative assistant for patient relations at Lafene from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week.

Lannie Zweimiller, director of Lafene, said the position was needed because of the complex nature of the health-care facility. "We have been working hard to keep from giving the student the run-around when they come in to ask a question or want to get a problem resolved," Zweimiller said. "It's tough to do because we have a very complex organization here at Lafene Health Center," he said. "It's a very large health-care facility, and a lot of people are involved in the care of a particular patient or student." The goal of the position is to enable concerns resolved in an expedient manner, Zweimiller said.

"One thing this position is to do is to be the one place students can come to and get their question or problem resolved - not their actual health care, but a question regarding their health care, or concerns or problems involving the health-care center," Zweimiller said.

Aggers, whose office is located in Lafene 223, said she has already helped a couple of people find information they were looking

"When a student was wandering around, not sure who to ask or where to go, I've been able to provide information so the student could get what they needed and leave and go on with what they needed to do in a timely manner," Aggers said. "That way, they weren't wasting a lot of their time."

The position, which was presented to the Student Health Advisory Committee and then brought up before the University students to get problems, questions or administration for approval, also benefits interacting more.

Lafene staff members, Zweimiller said.

"It takes a burden off the health-care providers who have to spend their time resolving a problem that this position can resolve. Then they can provide the healthcare service they're there to do primarily," Zweimiller said.

"This is a more effective way to resolve concerns and solve problems, rather than taking health-care providers out of their environment," he said.

Because the position is a new one, Zweimiller said he and Aggers are still working on it and learning as they go along. "I told Frankie when we first talked that she'd be making her own footprints," he

Aggers said her goal for the position is to increase student satisfaction with Lafene. "I look for it to be a real positive aspect to the center," she said, "as students become aware of it, and staff members start using the position a little more, and I go out and start

► ARH

Marlatt wants to secede

MIKE HIND

Collegian A letter sent by the Marlatt Hall Governing Board to the K-State Association of Residence Halls about secession has prompted a meeting of all residence halls Wednesday evening.

"Unfortunately, they never indicated there was a problem until they presented a letter that said they were going to secede," Lin Bliss, junior in pre-medicine and history and KSUARH president,

"In the letter, they cited some examples, but the examples weren't anything the ARH had a part in," Bliss said.

Marlatt Governing Board officials declined to comment specifically on the secession proposal but hoped that all residence-hall students would be present at Wednesday's meeting.

Marlatt Hall residents were quick to respond. "I'm really not sure that the ARH is doing anything for us right now," Andrew Richter, junior in computer engineering, said. "I basically can't think of anything they've done for Marlatt this semester. If we secede, I don't think we'll miss very much."

Richter said he didn't think ARH was doing much for Hay-maker, Ford and West halls either. "It's just a bunch of people getting together and talking and not communicating to residence halls over here," Richter said. Matthew Koerner, freshman in architectural engineering, said that most people concerned with secession were upperclassmen. John Thompson, senior in speech and radio television, said the west side of campus was alienated from ARH.

They institute policy in spite of what we do on this side of campus." Thompson said. "I was on the governing board last year, and even though we didn't suggest much, whatever we did or whatever we were opposed to went unheeded.

Marlatt Governing Board and ARH will meet tonight at 8:30 p.m. inthe council chamber in the second floor of the K-State Union.

PERSONAL HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN CONFIDENTIAL ABORTION SERVICES

• Complete GYN Care • Pregnancy Testing

• Depo Provera & Norplant • Tubal Ligation

· Licensed Physicians/Caring Staff · Modern State-Licensed Facility PROVIDING QUALITY HEALTH CARE TO WOMEN SINCE 1974

COMPREHENSIVE 345-1400

0 | f h f 0 r w 0 m e n outside kcarea 4401 W. 109th (I-435 & Rose) 1-800-227-191 1-800-227-1918 Overland Park, KS TOLL FREE

WACKY WEDNESDAY!

IF YOU'RE GONNA WACK SOMETHING

SHOULDN'T IT BE WEDNESDAY?

Premium & Calls $2 • Big Beers $2 Kami Shots 50¢ Pitchers $2.50 • Wells $1.50 Draws $1 • Shots $2

NO COVER!

1119 MORO 776-7714

WE HAVE BUD LIGHT, COORS LIGHT, AND ICEHOUSE ON TAP

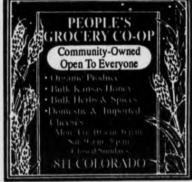

Mr. Goodcents gives you... Sub specials every day w/ choice of chips, potato salad or pasta salad. For just

1317 Anderson (Behind Varney's Book Store) • 539-1900

1116 Moro 537-0886 Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m. Sun.

11 a.m.-Midnight

This coupon good for PEPPER STEAK $3.90

Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries. FREE DELIVERY

(Minimum order $9) Expires 11-10-94

Halloween Is Almost Here!

Hurry! Reserve Your Costume Now! Let us help you put together that prize winner. We still have

Marie's Costumes

(We will be open on Sundays, Oct. 23 & Oct. 30) 2011 Ft. Riley Blvd. • 539-5200 • Open 10 a.m. - 7 p.m.

lots of items left from our big sale at 75% off...Hurry!

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 1 DAY each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25 each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOUSING/

For Rent-

AVAILABLE

Apt. Unfurnished

REAL ESTATE

AVAILABLE FALL very nice

Wow Leasings

Large

2 Bedroom

Apartments

1/2 block

from campus/

1 or 2 baths

For Appointment

call 776-3804

Managed by

*****

CAMBRIDGE

SQ. APT.

2 BEDROOMS

*FIREPLACE

*POOL

537-9064

WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30

**********

ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

NOW.

BOARD

Announcements

$50 REWARD for informa-tion leading to arrest and conviction of thief who stole hood orna ment from Mercedes a

Jardine apartments Sat-urday night. Call Bill 532-6890 ext.18.

Go as a donor

Earn $15

each time

plasma.

you donate

MANHATTAN

BIOMEDICAL

CENTER

1130 Gardenway 776-9177

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m.

Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

50 PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Load-

ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other)

when placing a per-

WANDA FROM GOOD-

NDA FROM GOOD-LAND. We met 10/21 playing pool in Char-lie's and it was your lucky day. Really en-joyed talking with you, but I turned around and you were gonel Gave my number to someone you know— hope you will call! -The Leprechaun.

TOASTMASTERS A mu tual support group for people who want to im-prove their public speaking skills. Also, an interesting forum. We meet twice monthly. Visitors welcome. Call Charlie, 776-3302.

Meetings/

030

Personals

ed Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141.

ATP instructor, Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine.

ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

from 5000-hour

HOW TO PAY

HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a leadline above your ad to catch the leader's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ade for three days free of charge.

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad as expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before moon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

GET THE WORD OU PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555

532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

(Except holidays

male ROOMMATE needed immediately. Extremely nice apart-ment. Pool, patio, own room. only $215/ month. Water, trash paid. 537-1679. ROOMMATE FEMALE some utilities paid. Min-225

FEMALE TO share nice two-bedroom apart-ment. Own room, excellent environment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent $220, but negotiable, and one-half utilities. Available Dec. 15. 587-8618.

FEMALE TO share twocampus, utilities paid, $202.50. Jan. 1. 537-4532.

one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-FEMALE/ MALE roommate needed Jan. 1. Nice, own room. Call 537-2611 leave mes-

LOOKING FOR: one female Four-bedroom near campus. 1700 N. Man-hattan. Sundeck, hot to share rent/ utilities on two-bedroom, one and one-half bath, fur-nished mobile home. References required.

tubs, laundry facilities. Central air/ heat. Two baths. Call now. 776-3804. CHASE MANHATTAN Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

NEED ROOMMATES immediately, very nice house and neighbor-hood, carpeted, three bathrooms, big yard, $250/ month, no utili-ties. Send letter to 2306 Casement. Include telephone, we'll make ap-pointment. E-Mail Na-tive@KSUVM.KSU.Edu

QUIET CONDITIONS, walk gieville, ample parking. Male student to share ytime from now to Dec. 1. $190. 776-3624. ROOMMATE NEEDED for small two-bedroom apartment $160/ month. Bills paid plus

ROOMMATE TO share

Sublease

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balcony, 587-9394.

SUBLEASE NEEDED. Two

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502. SERVICE

For Rent-Houses

Rooms

Available

NON-DRINKER AND smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554.

ROOMMATES NEEDED for a four-bedroom house. Nice, own room, spa-cious $187.50. Call 587-9131 ask for Heath-

Mobile Homes

COUNTRYSIDE BROKER AGE has 15 new and used mobile homes to choose from. Most on lot. We finance. Call Mike 539-2325.

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom house beginning in January, $200/ month; one-third utilities; washer and dryer; close to campus. 776-1890. tions with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

Card or Vise are ed. There is a $10 service charge sturned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or roperly classify any sd.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

EMPLOYMENT/

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

PROGRAMMERS.
SITEL Corporation, a leader in the telemarketing industry, is looking for experienced "C" programmers for its Inbound Services Group bound Services Group based in Omaha, Ne-braska. A strong work-ing knowledge of at least one Relational DMBS and two to three years programming ex-perience in "C" are required. Working experi-ence with Tandem Non-Stop SQL and Pathway, telemarketing industry knowledge/ experience, and a strong telecommunications background will be a significant advantage. A college degree in computer science and formal training and/ or practitraining and/ or practi-cal experience software engineering methods are strongly preferred. Title and pay will be commensurate with a competitive pay and benefits package includ-ing a 401(k) Savings Plan; vacation, sick and holiday pay; medical and dental benefits:

phone interview, please fax or mail your re-sume along with a day-time phone number to: SITEL Corporation, Attention: J. Snook, 7720

Crown Point Avenue, P.O. Box 34860, Omaha, NE 68134-0860. FAX:

(402)571-8613. EOE.

LASKA EMPLOYMENT-

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000

plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided.

materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

ATTENTION STUDENTS:

BIG MONEY part-time work. Positions avail-able immediately as campus reps. Call

CAREERS

Help Wanted

Pregnancy Testing

·Free pregnancy

Totally confidential

·Same day results

*Call for appointment

Located across from

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Musicians/DJs

BASSIST WANTED to complete metal/ hard rock band. Influences: Smashing Pumpkins,

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kansas. 537–5049, 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or in come requirements. No paycheck. Money back Call guarantee. Call (800)645-3525 for infor-

postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D.,

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

your budget. Advertise in the Classifieds. It's only

$5 for 20 words!

$

(913)841-5716.

Pantera and everything in between. Call Jeff 776-3819 after 5p.m.

240

250

Automotive

Repair

Other

Services

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

testing

bedroom apartment. Own room, free laun-dry, one block from

NEED A place to live? Fam-ily has room for college girl to live in. Board and food, exchanged duties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

NEED FOURTH roommate for four-bedroom house. Excellent environment, laundry, own room, close to campus. $170 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-9813.

spacious two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Begin an-phone. Call 776-5537.

three-bedroom, nice, new house, $200, 723 Bluemont, washer/ dry-er, own bathroom. 539-1056. Dec. 1. WANTED NON-SMOKING

and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

males need a room-mate $215 a month. A block away from cam-pus and Aggieville. 539-2540/587-4666.

DIRECTORY

Tutor

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tu-tor. Five years GTA ex-perience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave mes-

Resume/ Typing

your academic or personal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports, resumes thesis.

COMPUTER SUPPORT for sage: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 page. Call 537-54 after 5:30p.m. Ask for WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE

100

120 For Rent - Houses 125 For Sale - Houses 130 For Rent -Mobile Homes

140 For Rent - Garage

135 For Sale -

150 Sublease 155 Stable/Pasture

165 Land for Sale

20 U SERVICE DIRECTORY

306 EMPLOYMENT CAREERS 310 Help Wanted

250 Automotive Repair

255 Other Services

Opportunities

KANSAS TRADER is look ing for motivated indi-viduals to sell advertising for our paper, 20 percent commission to start! Make your own hours. Call 539-8100 for Volunteers

PART-TIME STUDENT employment, ORSP Copy Center 10-20 hours per week. Reliable, quick learner and ability to work without super-vision required; knowlvision required; knowledge of campus buildings preferred. Contact Dawn Caldwell, 2 Fairchild Hall, 532-6804.

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary.

experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

extra money? Become an Exotic Dancer, Must be 18 or older, Call the Malibu Club after 6p.m. 1–762–4699.

$500 per week assembling products at home. No experience.

(504)646-1700 DEPT.

DANCERS WANTED. Need

HELP WANTED: Earn up to

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter.

Over 15,000 openings! For more information call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901. SYSTEM ANALYST. SITEL,

Corporation, a leader in the telemarketing in-dustry is looking for a dustry, is looking for a Systems Analyst or Senior Systems Analyst for our Inbound Services Group based in Omaha, Nebraska. A strong working knowllational DBMS and a minimum of five years experience as a Programmer Analyst, with an additional one to leader or group leader experience are required. Applicants with previous work experi ence as a Systems Ana lyst will be given spe-cial consideration. A systems and at least programming languages (with either COBOL or C as one) will be ex-pected. Working experi-ence with Tandem Non-Stop SQL and Pathway and telemarketing in dustry knowledge/ ex-perience will be a signif-icant advantage. A BS or Masters degree in computer science (or 15 plus years industry ex-perience) and practical experience applying software engineering methods will be important factors in the eval-uation process. Title and pay will be com-

MARKET

Items for Sale Sabin 7025. Walters-Morgan Construction $195. 539-7513 or 537-0185 after 6p.m. ELECTRIC WORD Proces

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson. 430 Antiques

poration, Attention: J. Snook, 7720 Crown Point Avenue, P.O. Box 34860, Omaha, NE 68134-0860. FAX: 435 (402)571-8613. EOE. WANTED!!! INDIVIDUALS Computers student organizations and small groups to promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial mensurate with experience and education. SITEL offers a competitive pay and benefits package, including 401(b) Savings Plan; vacation, sick and holiday pay; medical and dental benefits; and basic life insurance. To schedule insurance. To schedule an initial phone inter-view, please fax or mail your resume along with a daytime phone number to: SITEL Cor-money and free trips. Call the nation's leader, inter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

Needed NON-PROFIT FOUNDA-TION needs U now-Nov. 5. Only couple hours can list volun-teer activity on you re-sume 1 Individuals/ groups 776-897. groups. 776-0897.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertise-ments in the Employment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such business opporsuch business oppor-tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information (202)298-9065.

COPIER RECONDITIONED

sor with spell check and extra supplies. $125; B/W portable TV $10; Patio drape and brass rod. 539-5819. TIME MACHINE Antique

Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

386SX, MAGNAVOX computer and keyboard, 2 MB Ram, 40 MB hard drive. CD-Rom. In-cludes MS-Dos 6 and Soundblaster $500. 539-6643.

FOR SALE: Brother Word shape and very nice. $250. 776-7732.

MACINTOSH COMPUTtem including print-er only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

MACINTOSH LC III 4/250. 14-inch Apple monitos. HP Deskwriter printer $1600, negotiable, 539-1127.

450 Pets and

Supplies N-Stuff, 1105 Waters. Lovable and playful Persians- black, calico, cream, blue, or red, $249. Himalayan/ Siamese mixed breed $79 beautiful! 539–9494.

Tickets to

Buy/Sell TWO TICKETS to the Okla homa game for sale 1-468-3545.

Trans-PORTATION

Automobiles

1967 MUSTANG, blue $1550, 1969 Mustang, red $1300. 539-5553. 1975 MERCURY Marquis

22,000 on rebuild power everything, excellent condition dependable, $1000. 539-3726. 1983 MAZDA RX-7: air, cruise, sunroof, bra, Clarion stereo, two extra wheels. Nice car, $2400. 1-494-2106, 539-3619. Leave message.

1983 SUBARU Wagonfive door, sunroof,

AM/FM stereo deck, automatic trans-mission. $975. Call 776-0744.

1987 MUSTANG GT V-8 5.0 liter, red, one own-er, new tires. $3900, ne-gotiable. Call Darren at 539-8395.

1988 TOYOTA Tercel, twodoor, automatic, white, best offer. 537-5025.

Bicycles

TREK 850 Antelope. Practi-cally brand new, call Mike for details. 587-8542.

Motorcycles

1983 HONDA XR200R dirt bike, new chain, great condition, this bike is worth seeing! $850, 539-5005 leave mes-

1989 KAWASAKI Ninja 600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best offer. Must sale. Call 539-5068 after 8p.m.

Car Pool

GOING TO Wichita this weekend? Call Amy at 587-9533. Will pay portion of gas.

Tour Package VACATIONS. BAHAMAS Cruise for two, $400 or Tampa or Orlando for two, $100 or best offer

1.800-SUNCHASE

NOBODY DOES SKI BREAKS BETTER!

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

030 Personals

040 Meetings/Events 050 Parties-n-More

> Apt. Furnished 110 For Rent -

> > Apt. Unfurnished

115 Rooms Available 210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

> 225 Pregnancy Testing 230 Lawn Care Mobile Homes 235 Child Care

240 Musicians/DJs 145 Roommate Wanted 245 Pet Services

160 Office Space

400 220 Sewing/Alterations OPEN MARKET

> 410 Items for Sale 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

430 Antiques 435 Computers

440 Food Specials

445 Music Instruments 450 Pets and Supplies

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

405 Wanted to Buy 510 Automobiles

420 Garage/Yard Sales 425 Auction

TRIPS 610 Tour Packages 455 Sporting Equipment

JU TRANS-PORTATION

520 Bicycles 530 Motorcycles 540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/

620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets

looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation. TIPS FOR WRITING A

CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are

CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by

abbreviations.

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom,

QUIET SURROUNDINGS

Hot Tubs, 537-1825. BOCKERS II Catering

Parties-n-More

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile

Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Wareham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431.

They might as well take a lit light bulb and shove it in your face. Has anyone ever heard of accent lights? Especially in an fluorescent, mass-marketed lights off and get some spots going.

(Your almond milk still kicks sophomore in architectural engineering, and wishes people did not know his middle name was

Russell Fortmeyer is a

Hint: turn those horrible

Rules in place for many years

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"It also gives the students in kinesiology experience in promoting fitness and gives them practicum hours," Acevedo said. The program is housed in the Natatorium, he said.

The hours are 6-7:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. and 5-9 p.m., he said.

During these hours, members of the program can use the field house, running track, weight room and aerobic classes, Acevedo said.

He said the program is funded by the membership fee and doesn't receive any money from the University.

Acevedo said the program has not allowed students to use Ahearn during the noon hour for the last five or six years.

During this time, students were still charged the same amount for a membership as the faculty, he said.

The policy was changed recently, and students were allowed in Ahearn at all times because the kinesiology students running the program felt it was unfair to charge the same for different privileges, Acevedo said.

However, the policy was changed back to restricting students during the noon hour because of crowded basketball courts, he said.

"We are trying to resolve this problem, but for now, we just can't accommodate the students," Acevedo said.

The student members are not allowed to use the basketball courts at Ahearn during the noon hour, but are still being charged $30 for their membership, Acevedo said.

He said the students are not being told of this restriction when they purchase their memberships. but they will be informed in the

If there is a need to limit student use more in the future because of overcrowding, Acevedo said the cost for a student membership would be lowered, but not for now.

"We want to be fair, consistent and straightforward from now on," he said

Orr said he doesn't think this is a fair policy.

'You can't take students' money to run the program, then deny them use of it," he said. "Maybe they should have banned the faculty rather than the students."

college in the first place? of you wacky campers to get off Graduate studies stressful, many outlets for help

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

As for K-State Theatre: don't

You have time on your

Don't take this the wrong way, but who the hell has the time to drop their school work and sit outside Ahearn Field House for a week waiting for lousy basketball asked question of: Why are we at

I think this ritual poses the oft-take this personally. I love your shows, but, hey, "Oklahoma" every year? Count me in.

rolling now!

tickets?

"You can't just not go to class like you can when you're an undergraduate. It's very competitive, and the work is difficult," she said.

This means large amounts of studying and little chances to socialize, Farren said.

"The graduate program doesn't offer much opportunity for social life in general," she said.

Jerry Williams, graduate student in sociology, said some graduate departments do better than others in organizing social events. "It's kind of hard to get to know people," he said.

Being single with no one to support you and your children can be stressful enough, but when you add the responsibilities of graduate school, it can really be tough, Williams said.

This is the kind of environment that graduate student Lisa Rupp-Whitson was in when she took her own life last weekend.

Williams, who shared an office with Rupp-Whitson last year, said he noticed a change in her attitude during the last six to eight months.

"She didn't seem as happy. She began to isolate herself, staying home to do work instead of going to campus," he said.

Rupp-Whitson is the second graduate student in two weeks to commit suicide.

Columnist gripes about campout, coffee shop

For some reason, I think the answer isn't to get basketball tickets. I thought I was here to get drunk every night, wait, scratch that, I mean study and go to class and eventually get a degree in Obviously, everyone on this campus can't get involved with organizations and clubs, etc; but.

and that is a big but, I would think most college students could find something to study if they really

I challenge each and every one wanted to.

OK. I'm a reasonable person.

"I believe there is a level of unconsciousness about this problem at K-State. We can no longer afford to be unconscious about it. It needs to be addressed," Williams said.

Farren said that many graduate students feel the stress especially hard around the time of midterms.

"You start thinking 'I must block out everything - I have so much work to be done, and I don't want to talk to anybody," she said.

Teachers' high expectations exams, papers and presentations can make it really intense, but students should never be afraid to talk to someone, Luis Posas, president of the sociology Graduate Student Association, said.

Posas said it is time for K-State to raise student awareness of the stress problem.

"The University should take a more active role in making channels of counseling available to the students," he said.

Carla Jones, assistant dean of student life, said the problems must be solved by student initiative, not by the administration alone. The best thing to do is to get help. Talk to an adviser or minister, or come to Holton Hall," she said.

Holton Hall houses several student-service departments, including the Crisis Center Inc.

Campers survive night's cold

your butts (not necessarily big and nachos in the Wal-Mart food espresso bar.

butt, though).

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

butts) and get productive. Join something. What about singing chorus in a new production of soap-box platform going, I might as well get one more thing off my chest. Espresso Royale. What's much as the next deprived-artist-type-person, but does that place lack mood or what? It's like trying to listen to a poetry reading while munching on a corn dog

While I've got this whole

Granted, I enjoy the drinks as Oklahoma?

with it?

More Gripes.

undecided, said of what he and his fellow Lambda Chi Alpha members and some Alpha Delta Pis did to combat the cold. "That's when you huddle really close together."

Campers also were enthusiastic about Coach Tom Asbury.

"It's cool to finally see him," Ryan Lamberson, senior in secondary education, said. "I'd just seen him on television. He seems like a good coach and motivator."

Some campers even invented new games to help pass the time. Balancing footballs in window sills on the north side of Ahearn was a favorite of some Lambda Chi

"You get more points for the higher windows;" Adam Gregory, senior in construction science, said. "Nobody has been able to do it yet.

Nudes give different perspective of body

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

have occurred during many years, laying on the floor in front of you.

You can get a glimpse of the casting process Fatemi used to make her torsos in the three photos "Silence of the Stance."

Fatemi's of paintings/drawings have very lineal qualities, as evident in "Winged Torso." Her piece, "Altered States," has a very Matisse-esque quality to its line. It's very much like some of Matisse's later work in that it atones to simplicity with lines.

She uses assorted tools (conti, charcoal) to outline her nudes and uses paint to fill in and enhance them.

Fatemi has included one bronze torso casting in the show. With this casting, Fatemi has torn and fragmented parts of the torso for a dramatic effect, but it does not quite convey the same natural, ample beauty she expresses in her drawings.

In this sex-crazed world we live in, where every day we are bombarded with sexual images of women, Fatemi has confronted us with something very different. No one looks as good as a runway model.

Fatemi has given us our true selves. The nude female is a natural occurrence, not a factory-built specimen designed for our pleasure.

The work in this exhibit is much more successful than her work exhibited in "Virtual: Zenana," the women's show in Willard Gallery. Her McCain show departs from the overwrought vaginal displays she exhibits in Willard and proves that Fatemi can work very successfully outside of shocking feminine iconography.

Since You Can't Pick the Weather,

The Mountain Light Jacket is an integr Expedition System®. Designed for the world's toughest peaks, it's made from waterproof, breathable Gore-Texe fabric with a full-feature hood, CoolMaxe mesh lining and rugged abrasion-resistant fabric.

304 Poyntz 539-5639

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 9-6 • Thurs. 9-8 • Closed Sun. Manhattan's largest selection of gloves, hats, wool socks, and cold weather gear.

THIS SPACE IS RESERVED

(for youl)

ollegian Advertising 532 6560

Eclectic Entertainment presents:

Michael Kolinsburger

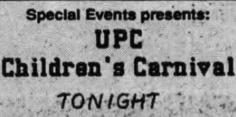

Tomorrow at 8:00pm

In Union Station

Admission is Free

K-State Union Main Ballroom 5:30 - 8:30pm

Lots of games, prizes and resments - So come join the fun!

UPC Special Events and Eclectic Entertainment present LIVE with guests WEEZER and FATIMA MANSIONS Monday, November 7 at Bramlage Coliseum Tickets on sale now For more information call 532-6571.

OCTOBER 26, 1994

BIG 8 FOOTBALL

PREVIEW FOR OCT. 29

Colorado at Nebraska

When: 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 29 Where: Memorial Stadium (73,650)
About the Buffaloes: Colorado has defeated five ranked teams so far this season. K-State gave a scare to the Buffs for most of the game last week. This will be quarterback Kordell Stewart's toughest challenge of the season. Tailback Rashaan Salaam is the nation's leading rusher. About the Cornhuskers: Nebraska quarterback Brook Berringer was impressive through the air last week against Missouri. Lawrence Phillips racked up his eighth-straight 100-yard rushing game against the Tigers. The Huskers only gave up seven points to a tough Missouri offense. In the past two games, NU has only given up 13 points.

Missouri at Iowa State

When: 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 29 Where: Cyclone Stadium (50,000) About the Tigers: Missouri hung tough with the Huskers for almost three quarters last week, but it folded in the fourth quarter. Quarterback Jeff Handy continues to play well for the Tigers, as every week he sets passing records for Missouri. The Tiger defense also played well during the first half.

About the Cyclones: Iowa State football has reached the bottom of the barrell. Last week, the Cyclones tied with Oklahoma State. ISU hasn't won a game all season, and the tie left it with a 0-6-1 record. Quarterback Todd Doxzon rushed for over 200 yards last week.

Okla. State at Kansas

When: 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22 Where: Memorial Stadium (50,250)

About the Cowboys: OSU is on a downward spiral. After winning three out of its first four games, the Cowboys have lost two in a row. In last week's game, OSU tied Iowa State. OSU quarterback Toné Jones is the Cowboys' leader on the

About the Jayhawks: Kansas might have lost its opportunity to go to a bowl game with a 20-17 loss to Oklahoma last week. KU had a 10 point lead going into the final 10 minutes of the game, only to allow the Sooners to come back. Running back June Henley still hasn't fully recovered from an injury. Quarterback Asheiki Preston is still playing solid.

BIG 8 PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

OFFENSE: Colorado tailback Rashaan Salaam rushed for 202 yards against K-State. DEFENSE: K-State defensive tackle Tim Colston had 12 tackles and two sacks against Colorado. The 12 tackles were a career-high.

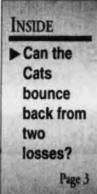

Quarterback Chad May is comforted by his father in the final moments of the Cats' 35-21 loss to Colorado. May threw for 363 yards, but K-State's final chance to tie the Buffaloes ended when May's pass fell incomplete late in the fourth quarter.

SHANE KEYSER

Cats put scare into Buffaloes

"When you play a great football team you must cut out the mistakes to play 100 percent on every play." CHRIS CANTY K-State

CRESTON KUENZI

In the end, Colorado proved to have too many weapons for K-

State to contend against. Although the Buffaloes ended up winning 35-21, beginning it looked as if the Wildcats would be the team with too many weapons.

Colorado 35

With the to-capacity crowd screaming in their ears, the Cats marched down the field on the opening drive as if Colorado's defense was still in the locker

Running back J.J. Smith capped off the nine play, 75 yard drive with a one-yard touchdown run.

Although the Cats only accumulated 64 yards on the ground, Smith said they did better than last week's negative seven yards rushing.

"I thought we did a good job running," Smith said. "The offensive line did some good things and opened up some holes this week. They came out and got the job done."

Kevin Lockett took a slant pass from quarterback Chad May and turned it into a 59-yard pass reception. The Buffs responded on their first drive when Rashaan Salaam took an option pitch and ran 53 yards for the score.

"They really made the running game difficult by playing an eightman front," Salaam said. "They tried to stuff us at the line, but we had success running the option and it kept giving us good yardage."

K-State cornerback Chris Canty quarters.'

said the Cats didn't play the option intelligently.

"We just had a few too many mental mistakes when they ran the option and let them into the end zone," Canty said. "We didn't execute as well as we should have

"When you play a great football team, you must cut out the mistakes and play to 100 percent

After falling behind 14-7, the Cats dominated the game from late in the second period to late in the third period.

During that time span, the Cats used a blocked punt, an interception, and some good defense to keep the ball in the Buff's territory for all but three plays.

Despite all of the chances, the Cats only managed to tie the score.

A missed field goal to end the half, a goal line stand by the Buffs, and an interception of a tipped Chad May pass prevented any further scoring.

The goal line stand by the Buffs was probably one of the most important points in the game, Colorado coach Bill McCartney said.

On the first-down play on the 3 yard line, Smith said he thought he made it into the end zone. However, the referees disagreed. "On the first play, I scored,"

Smith said. "I got in, and I was sure of it.' After two more tries were

■ See BUFFS Page 4

No. 16-ranked Kuregian reaches quarterfinals

JULIE KUHLMAN

For the second straight year in a row, Karina Kuregian advanced to the quarterfinals in the Riviera all-American Championships in Pacific Palisades, Calif.

"It was a very competitive tournament," Coach Steve Bietau said. "To be a quarterfinalist for the second year in a row is quite an accomplishment.'

Kuregian worked her way to the quarterfinals by beating Estelle Gevers, of South Alabama, 6-3, 6-1 in the opening round and No. 14 Wendy Lyons, of Duke, 6-2, 0-6, 7-

"She fought hard at the end, and I feel that effort is what decided the match." Bietau said about Kuregian's match with Lyons. Her only loss in the tournament was to UCLA's Kari Phebus, the sixth seeded player in the tournament.

Phebus was ranked No. 5 entering the match and defeated Kuregian 6-1 and 6-1.

"She was disappointed with the last match," Bietau said.

"Karina didn't always do everything she could, and when she did, Phebus had an answer for it." Overall, Bietau said Kuregian could take her game to a higher

"She probably could have played better," he said. "There were times she played well, and times she did not.' "She didn't play her best in the

The tennis team is now preparing for its toughest tournament to date, the Rolex Regional Championship in Tuscon, Arizona.

The tournament is a draw of 96 players that will last up to six days.

The top two players from the tourney will receive berths to the National Indoor Championship in Bietau said Kuregian could be one of those top two players, and Dinah Watson could do well in Tuscon. "It's a big draw with a lot of good players. Karina could do well, and Watson's having a pretty good fall," he said.

Bietau said the Nationals Indoor Championship is important for the team because of two different

"It ends our fall season, and it is the one time when everyone in the region is at one place."

"She probably could have played better. There were times she played well. and times she did not."

> STEVE BIETAU K-State tennis coach

Proud Sponsor of the Collegian Game Coverage

KSU vs. Oklahoma October 29, 1994

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

Senior forward Belvis Noland averaged 8.2 points and 4.4 rebounds in Big Eight Conference play last season. He was also an all-Big Eight selection to the Kansas City Star's Newcomer team.

BELVIS Taking basketball one game at a time

NICOLE POELL

ithout basketball, K-State's Belvis Noland wouldn't be the same.

"It's a different Belvis Noland when I'm out on the court," the senior forward said.

"Off the court, I'm a pretty quiet, reserved person, but playing basketball kind of lifts my spirits — it makes me really emotional. Basketball shows that other side of me."

It's that other side of Noland that has made him one of the Wildcats' biggest threats on the court this upcoming season.

Noland sported respectable numbers for the Cats last year, averaging 8.2 points and 4.4 rebounds in Big Eight play, and was an all-Big Eight selection to the Kansas City Star's Newcomer team.

However, Noland said he can and he will do more for his team on the court this year.

"Last season wasn't all I expected it to be, so hopefully this year things will change and I can do a lot of good for the K-State basketball team and for my teammates," he said.

Noland proved he could shine on the basketball court during his two years at Three Rivers Community College, where he led his team to a 32-2 record in the 1992-93 season, averaging 20.5 points and 7.7 rebounds per game.

That performance was enough to earn him thirdteam Junior College all-American honors from the NJCAA and the Basketball Times.

While he did enjoy a certain "star" status in his time at Three Rivers, Noland said that it's hard to tell if he'll reach those same heights in Division I ball.

"It's just hard to say, because on this level, there are so many different people here with the same amount of talent I have," he said.

"I just hope that I can do my best and show people that Belvis Noland is an outstanding player," Noland said.

In addition to his own personal goals, Noland said that his team's primary objective is to get the K-State basketball program back on its feet and back to the NCAA Tournament.

Noland said that even witnessing the football team's recent success has had a motivating effect on himself and the rest of his team.

"All of the athletes are one unit, and one team's success makes us all look good," he said.

Noland blocks KU's Greg Ostertag in the K-State loss at the Big Eight Tournament last season.

"It motivates me to work harder. It would just be a go to the NCAA Tournament and do well."

Another source of motivation for Noland is a certain three-year old boy — his son, Jamaal Rashad Noland, who lives in Alabama.

great thing if they go to'a bowl game and win, and we

Despite Belvis' hectic schedule, he said he tries to see his son as much as he can.

"I spent a lot of time with him this summer, and whenever I'm playing in the area, like last year when we were in Mississippi, my mother brought him out to see me."

Kids may also play a large part in Noland's future. He said he hopes to work with teenagers as a probation officer someday — that is, if he's not playing basketball.

Either way, Noland said he'll be happy.
"If basketball is in my future, that will be good, but if it's not, my life will still be good."

more bang for your advertising buck

wildcat watch

Dedication

Mary Kyle, RN, CEN Critical Care Staff Nurse

Yesterday's values, tomorrow's technology . Sunset and Claflin . Manhattan

Trauma Nurse Core Course Certified Advanced Cardiac Life Support Provider Pediatric Advanced Life Support Provider

"I enjoy emergency nursing because most of the time we are able to see results from our actions. It's a very rewarding area to work in." The People of Memorial Hospital

24-Hour Emergency Room

staffed by physicians who are certified in advanced trauma and cardiac life support

MEMORIAL

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Wednesday, Oct. 26

Thai Student Association 7:20 p.m.

KSU German Club 7:40 p.m.

Golden Key 8:00 p.m.

Tau Beta Sigma 9:00 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

WILDCAT WATCH

Delahanty, passes two runners at the KSU Invitational earlier at Warner Park earlier in the season. The men were picked to finish last in the Big Eight by the conference coaches.

Megan McGrath, runs for the finish line at Warner Park during the KSU Invitational. McGrath was a member of last season's cross country team that had a second place finish taken away.

Home-course advantage Swartz leads women

It counts this time.

The women's cross country team is free of NCAA sanctions and will compete for the Big Eight Conference title on it's home

The gun for the women's race will go off at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Warner Park.

Last season, the team had a second-place finish erased after the NCAA handed sanctions against the cross country and track and field team last January.

Coach Terry Drake said despite some disappointments on the women's team this season, he likes the way the team has been

"We've come around a little slower than I had hoped we would, but the strides we've made in the last week are really encouraging," Drake said. " I think their confidence is high. It's the best feeling any of us have had all

Senior Jeanene Rugan, who entered the season as the Wildcats' No. 1 runner, has found herself in a No. 2 role behind freshman Charity Swartz, but Drake said she may be coming around at the right time.

"She's been training so hard it may have held her back a little bit," Drake said. "She has really had several good workouts in a row. "I guess she thought that if she worked hard, like she has, that the races would take of themselves." Rugan said she isn't happy with the way she has been running so far this season. "I'm not anywhere near where I should be during races," Rugan said. "I just need to get more focused on the race and run through the pain."

■ See RUGAN Page 4

BIG EIGHT CROSS COUNTRY MEET

- The meet will be at Warner Park, which is off Fort Riley Boulevard.
- The women run first at 10:30 a.m.
- The men's competition then starts at 11:15 a.m.

Men's team picked 8th

The men's cross country team wants to improve on last season's finish - nothing more.

The men hit the course at 11:15 a.m. Saturday at Warner Park for the Big Eight's Cross Country Championships.

The men finished seventh last season, even though it didn't count due to NCAA sanctions. This season, the Big Eight coaches have predicted the Wildcats to finish in eighth place.

"It's not surprising to be picked there," Coach Terry Drake said. "Nobody expected us to do much, but they've done a little better than I thought they would."

Most surprisingly this season has been the performance of senior Billy Wuggazer. Wuggazer has taken over as the team's leader this season as the only runner to return from last year's squad,

"He trained hard over the summer for the first time, and he's finally just running up to his potential," Drake said.

Drake said Wuggazer and he may have had some differences ago," Drake said. "He's really last season that led to his disappointing results.

"I don't think he knew I was supporting him, because I had to deal with so many other problems with other people on the team," Drake said.

Last season, the men almost didn't have enough runners to field a team at the Big Eight Championships after injuries took their toll, Drake said.

"We had a long talk before he left for the summer, and I think we got some things cleared up,' Drake said.

Wuggazer said he noticed his running was improving at the end of outdoor track season last year. Wuggazer said finishing sixth place would be a reasonable goal for the team this season. "At the beginning of the year, I was hoping we could come in fourth, but now I don't know if that's realistic," Wuggazer said.

Junior Geoff Delahanty has run second behind Wuggazer most of the season, Drake said.

"Geoff is running so much better than he was a few weeks starting to come around."

► OKLAHOMA PREVIEW

OU's coach could be looking for a new job

NICOLE POELL

or Oklahoma coach Gary Gibbs, there's more than revenge at stake in this weekend's match-up with K-State.

His future as a Sooner coach and his team's bowl hopes are both riding heavily on Saturday's outcome in Norman, Okla.

Gibbs' critics have been burning up the phone lines since the Sooner's embarrassing 38-point loss to Colorado two weeks ago.

Oklahoma's slim 20-17 win against Kansas this weekend probably wasn't enough to shut them up, either.

"People always want us to win by 60," Darrius Johnson, Sooner cornerback, said. "We won't shut people up 'til we win the rest of our games and go to a real good bowl game, and then win that.' That scenario won't be too likely if the Sooners fall to the Wildcats.

K-State is 4-2 overall, 1-2 in the Big

If the team defeats Oklahoma and goes on to beat Iowa State, Missouri and Oklahoma State, its season record will stand at 9-2, good enough for third place and an Aloha Bowl invitation.

Anticipating an Oklahoma loss against Nebraska and K-State, the Sooners would end up at fourth place in the conference with a record of 7-4.

This would leave Oklahoma headed for the Copper Bowl in Tucson, Ariz., on Dec. 29.

Right now,

however, both teams are focusing on Saturday's task. "They've got a very quick, aggressive and talented defensive unit that forces a lot of problems for you," Gibbs said. "Chad May, the host of receivers and J.J. Smith are also very skilled. They're very well-coached, and when you look at their offense, I think you certainly have to be prepared."

While K-State coach Bill Snyder acknowledged that the Oklahoma game is big, he said it's no different from any other game his team prepares for.

"It's an important game, but they're all important games," he said.

"It isn't any bigger than the rest of the games we play."

But it will be big for the Cats. K-State will have to bounce back after suffering two-consecutive losses for the first time

K-State safety Chuck Marlowe said the "People always want us to win by 60 points. We won't shut people up 'til we win the rest of our games and go to a real good bowl

> DARRIUS JOHNSON Oklahoma cornerback

Darting in front of Oklahoma's Darrius Johnson, receiver Kevin Lockett grabs a touchdown in last year's meeting in which

K-State won 21-7. Cats' second loss on Saturday was hard for both him and his teammates to

"It's tough to accept that we're not going to the Orange Bowl as league champs," he said. "Unless some God-forsaken miracle

The Sooner players, on the other hand, were anything but down after beating

Kansas. "I'm looking forward to K-State," Johnson said. "I don't have any interceptions yet this year." Gibbs wasn't nearly as cocky as his cornerback.

"I think it's going to be hard to prepare for K-State's talent and athletic ability than anything else," Gibbs said.

"Everyone's seen their passing scheme now for a couple of years. It's trying to match up their people with our people, and if you're not careful, you have a tendency to ignore Smith and the running game. That's where they can really hurt you."

The game will start at I p.m. at Memorial Stadium in Norman, Okla.

Women's team finishes up season in Hutchinson

The K-State women's golf team ends the fall season with a disappointing outing last week at the Marilyinn Smith/Sunflower Invititational at the Prairie Dunes Country Club in Hutchison.

Wet and rainy weather did not help the teams' play. The K-State women kept a ninth-place position throughout the tournament (357-361-355=1073) finishing 22 strokes off of eighth place.

"In sports there is a saying, 'If you are scared get a dog, on that day we needed the city bound,"" K-State women's coach Tim

"I will admit along with the difficult playing conditions the tees were set back quite a ways for women's tournaments. Yet at the same time, the course played the same for everyone. We have no excuses," Jennings said.

"I was a very disappointed in their performance. This is not the way to end the fall season. We're going to have to get some guts before the spring season begins."

Finishing highest for the Wildcats was Debbie Crystal (88-90-89=267) and Staci Busch (90-92-85=267), who both tied for 33rd place.

with a 268 score. Donita Gleason finished in 44th shooting a 91, 88 and a 95 for a total of 274.

Mitzi Taylor was on the tail end of the K-State team standings with a score of 288.

With this being the last tournament of the fall season for the team, it is time to start conditioning for the spring

With NCAA regulations, the team and coaches are allowed 124 days of practice during the school

"So the team is on their own quite a bit of the winter months. They can get on a golf courses as much as they can to get some practicing in if they want." Jennings said. Throughout the winter months, the team will be on a four-eight hour/week strength and conditioning program to keep in "There is only so much that you can do under NCAA regulations." Jennings said. This was Jennings first fall season as the K-State women's

"This is something I wanted to do ever since I was a sophomore in college," Jennings said. "I have experience in teaching the game

GOLF RESULTS

■ The K-State women's team finished in ninth place at the Smith/Sunflower Marilyinn Invitational.

■ Debbie Crystal and Staci Busch finished in 33rd place for the of golf but did not know if I would ever get a chance to coach

"With this being my first season as a coach, I asked the team for one thing, and that was to improve each week and each tournament as a team and as individual players.'

Jennings said he felt good about the team's improvements.

With the fall season at an end this allows time for Jennings to start recruiting for next year.

"I really look for players that have played other sports and are self motivated." Jennings said.

Jennings said he feels that a strong improvement for the spring season will be having Jacque Wright, an Academic all-American last year, back from an eye injury that kept here out this

Wildcats drop tough match against Oklahoma at home

K-State loses lead, allows OU a victory

JULIE KUHLMAN

The K-State volleyball team had a 2-1 game lead over the Oklahoma Sooners and should have put them away for the victory, but OU won the fourth game to send it into a fifth and deciding game.

That's the way things were going for the Wildcats last Saturday night.

The Cats then tied OU 10-10 in the fifth game but couldn't get ahead.

So, the Sooners walked away with a 3-2 win in Ahearn Field House.

"We don't know how to win," K-State coach Jim Moore said. "We play not to lose, and you have to play to win.'

Moore said playing to win might be a cliche, but it's also a fact.

"People are aware of us and aren't taking us for granted," Moore said. "We can't surprise anyone anymore."

The match looked from the beginning, as K-State won the first game

However, Oklahoma came back smacking the Cats in the face with a 15-5 win in the second game.

"It was just terrible. Had we just come out and played, it would have been different," Moore said.

K-State then won a close third game squeaking by the Sooners 17-15.

The momentum was in K-State's favor, but once again Moore said the Cats came out flat, and they found themselves in a hole trailing 14-4.

K-State then tried to bounce back scoring five straight points, but the Sooners held on for the win, 15-9.

The Sooners' victory in the fourth game forced a fifth game, and that game turned out to be heartbreaker for K-State.

The Cats were only down 13-12 in the last match when Oklahoma scored two more points, the last on a side-out, to win 15-12.

"We didn't lose this in the fifth game," Moore said. "We lost it in the second and the fourth."

K-State was lead promising for the Cats offensively by Yolanda

Young, who recorded 20 kills for the evening, while the Sooners were led by Laura Rappard, who posted 26 kills.

The Cats continue to struggle at snatching wins, as they have lost their last 4 of 5 games, including one to Wichita State.

K-State is now 12-8 on the season, and the loss to Oklahoma has put it at 2-4 in the Big Eight Conference.

"This makes beating Oklahoma on the road a must win, and we'll probably need to beat Iowa State to get into the Big Eight Tournament," Moore said.

"If we had beaten Oklahoma tonight, it probably would have allowed us to be in the tournament."

The Cats didn't, and the loss was shattering as several players were

"It's not that they don't care. Last year they were used to losing, and they don't know how to handle the situation," Moore said. "They want this so bad.

"They're scared." The Cats travel to Kansas City today to face the University of Missouri-

Kansas City at 7:30 p.m.

"It was just terrible. Had we just come out and played, it would have different." JIM MOORE K-State volleyball coach

Rugan will run in last meet of her career

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Swartz surprisingly has been K-State's leading runner at every meet this year, Drake said.

"Charity and Irma (Betancourt) have both been pleasant surprises," Drake said.

Swartz said she didn't expect to be in this position so soon. "I thought I would be the fifth runner," Swartz said. "I learned to run more aggressively than I did in high

However, Rugan, who will be running in her last Big Eight Cross Country Championships, said team results are more important to her than individual results.

"This is my last chance to get another Big Eight title, and I'm hoping everyone can run well." Rugan said.

To do so, K-State must the Colorado overcome

The Buffaloes are ranked No. 3 in the nation by the NCAA Coaches' Association.

Colorado is led by Patty Roberts, who captured first place at the KSU Invitational.

K-State has been picked to finish fifth in the conference by the Big Eight Coaches. "The biggest surprise to me about that for me would be if we actually finished in fifth," Drake too well with senior Leslie Wells,

"We'll see about that," Wells

"We've been running more as a team this week in practice, and I think we're more ready for this week than have been all year.'

Wells said she has had more pressure on her this year because of her performance, and because it is her last shot at a Big Eight

"I'm a little nervous about the meet, but not as bad as I was in the last couple of years," Wells

"At the same time, I'm a little sad because it is my last time."

Wells said she has a bigger The development doesn't sit role on the team this year than in year's past.

"Before, I kind of relied on other runners to take care of the scoring, but this year I realize my performance has a big effect on how we finish," Wells said.

▶ COLORADO/NEBRASKA GAME

K-State players say Buffaloes have advantage over the Big Red

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who better to handicap next weekend's Colorado-Nebraska showdown than K-State, which has just played both teams? Trouble

Wildcats better team.

Moments

after No. 2 Colorado's 35-21 win over No. 19 K-State on Saturday night, the losers, who bowed to Nebraska 17-6 a week earlier, were asked to rate the best of the Big Eight. "They're both two great teams," K-State safety Chuck Marlowe said. "Colorado is more big-play oriented, while Nebraska is run, run, run.'

"It's going to be a very interesting game, but you have to give the edge to Colorado because (Nebraska quarterback Tommie) Frazier isn't playing. He does basically the same things that Kordell Stewart does, and Kordell has more weapons — (Rashaan) Salaam, (Michael) Westbrook, (Christian) Fauria," Marlowe said after the game. Wildcats defensive end Dirk Ochs said Colorado has it going right now. "It's going to be tough for Nebraska," he said. "They have beaten several highly ranked teams," Ochs said. "They are on a roll, and they have a good chance of winning in Lincoln."

K-State receiver Tyson Schwieger likes the Buffaloes chances of knocking off NU.

"I think Colorado will win," Schwieger said. "It will be a great game. Offensively, they are a lot better than Nebraska. They just have more weapons. Running back J.J. Smith, however, couldn't pick a favorite. "It's hard to say who will win," he said. "They both have a lot of great athletes and talent on both offense and defense, and they have great coaches and great traditions. It's going to be a good game. I'm definitely going to watch it." Quarterback Chad May said talent-wise, Colorado has better But it's in Lincoln, it's going to be a hardfought game into the fourth quarter. It ain't gonna be no blowout." Coach Bill Snyder said picking between the Buffaloes and the No. 3 Cornhuskers is too close to

"A week ago, I'd have said

Colorado," Snyder said. "Right now, well, it will be interesting. If Nebraska has some balance in the offense, they have

'Colorado has great balance, and they can be as good as any team in the country.'

Buffs come through on crucial 4th down

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

stuffed up the middle, Smith tried the left side and lost seven yards. "We ran the ball up the middle three times and didn't score, so we had to try something different,"

Coach Bill Snyder said. The rest of the Cats' miscues included dropped passes on offense and missed tackles on defense at critical points in the ballgame.

We have just been shooting ourselves in the foot," quarterback Chad May said.

"It hurts everybody mentally, not physically, that we just lost two tough ballgames in a row."

out of 41 attempts completed with two interceptions.

May threw for 363 yards with 24

Buffs' cornerback Chris Hudson said he has a lot of respect for May. "He's a fighter and a competitor. He is everything you look for in a quarterback," Hudson said. "We knew coming in that he was a guy that was going to put the ball on the money, so we just wanted to take some things away from him. "You can't really expect to stop a guy like that, and you can't really control him."

With the score tied at 21-21 in the fourth quarter, Kordell Stewart converted a critical fourth down and 1 yard to go from his own 38 yard

On the next play, Stewart took the ball 60 yards for the score, and the Buffs went on to the 35-21 victory.

Strong safety Chuck Marlowe

said the loss is tough to accept. "It's kind of frustrating," Marlowe said. "We were right in the game but just let them have the

"Everything they did we practiced for last week, but they just

Although the Buffs have many well known players, Stewart said they were not the main factor in the line and the great play calling," Stewart said. "Our offensive line held strong

"I credit this win to the offensive and did a great job as usual. "My hat goes off to them."

Got a tip? Call the Kansas State Collegian at 532-6556

UNITED WAY 1994

"A Tradition of Caring" ....

Caring By Sending Your Gift Today! YES, I CARE! I wish to help provide human services to the people in my community. Employer ____ Home Address

Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow ... Continue The Tradition of

City ____ Signature__ I'm enclosing my gift: ☐ Please bill me at my home: Total Gift Amount $__ Amount Enclosed Make checks payable to United Way of Riley County Bill be as follows: ☐ Semi-Annually ☐ Monthly Mail To: United Way of Riley County P.O. Box 922, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Golden Anniversary T-Shirts Are Available At: It's Greek To Me, Varney's Book Store, K-State Union Book Store, Monograms Plus, Vista Drive-In, Alco, Memorial Hospital Gift Shop and St. Mary Hospital Gift Shop.

United Way of Riley County

KANSAS STATE

Read a firsthand account of ROTC field training exercises.

OCTOBER 27, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 48

Jacquelyn Patrick, 7, giggles as Amy Lebley, junior in pre-nursing, puts a piece of felt on her head and asks her what she should do if she is on fire during a fire-prevention workshop for the Capable Kids Can program Wednesday afternoon at Riley Grade School.

Students teach children safety, esteem

SACHA HANES

group of second and third graders are learning self-care skills.

The program, Capable Kids Can, is being offered to the children at Riley Grade School through the K-State Cooperative Extension Service.

The program has enlisted volunteers from K-State and Riley County High School to increase the children's skills in safety and constructive use of their time when alone.

Six K-State students and two Riley County High School students volunteer their time to the program every Wednesday afternoon for six weeks.

"I like to work with kids, and this seemed like a good opportunity," Susan Golden, sophomore at Riley County High School, said.

The volunteers called the extension office to let them know they were interested. They were then invited to the With the help of K-State students, a two training sessions to get them ready to work with the children.

"I get so much out of volunteering. It is so rewarding," Amy Zebley, junior in pre-nursing, said.

The Capable Kids Can was designed by 4-H Youth Programs and Extension Home Economics Programs.

"Basically, it is for latch-key kids," said Jennifer Sager, program coordinator and senior in human development and family studies.

There are 32 children in the program, with about half second graders and half third graders, Sager said.

She said there is no screening process for who can take part in the program.

All second and third graders at Riley Grade School were given information on the program, and the first 35 to respond were admitted to the program.

"It is six weeks, not too long, not too short, but the kids get a lot out of it," Zebley said.

Each week a different topic is covered, giving the children structured lessons with visual and hands-on experience.

"Most of them already know what to do from school and TV, but here they get to practice. If they get into that situation they know what to do." Zebley said.

The topics include self-esteem. strangers and household safety, first aid and emergencies, fire safety, nutrition and kitchen safety, and severe weather.

"Some of the kids don't have any idea what to do when they are scared," Rachel Moots, junior in social work, said. "They need to know. If nothing else, they know

"A lot of kids are unaware of fire and safety and stuff. This has taught them what to do," Jody Peterson, freshman in elementary education, said.

"I'm surprised more kids aren't in the program. If I had kids, I would want them involved," Peterson said.

Peterson said she has worked with children in many different situations, and this was to give her more experience as well as to put on her résumè.

Sager said the program was originally for parents and children when Kansas Cooperative Extension Services and Riley Extension Services started the program, but it is geared for the children who are home alone because the parents are working. This means the parents don't have the time to come to the Sager said teaching the children selfesteem is the foundation that the program is built on.

'We feel that it's important for the kids to have self-esteem and know that they can do it," Sager said.

► CAMPUS

PAGE 5

Biology students suspected of cheating on test

SERA L. TANK

At least 70 out of the 716 students enrolled in Principles of Biology are suspected of cheating on the mid-term exam.

Diane Post, instructor of biology and the course coordinator, said there is a possibility that as many as 100 students enrolled in the class may have cheated on the mid-term test.

"We have good proof on at least 70 students, but there may be more. The list is still growing, but I think we got almost everyone," she said.

When Post discovered that there had been some cheating, the K-State Police were called in to investigate.

Post said the campus police were asked to help because of the large number of students involved and because there is some question about whether the students obtained the answer key unethically or illegally.

'We are not positive about how the key was obtained," she said.

Investigator Richard Herrman, of the K-State Police, said he investigated the cheating and turned the case over to the administration.

'My conclusion was that there was not criminal activity involved," Herrman said. According to University policy, students who

■ See STUDENTS Page 12

► HOUSING

Possible Marlatt ARH secession not resolved

CHARITY WOODSON

More than 50 Hall Governing Board members joined Marlatt Hall Wednesday night to discuss the future of Marlatt's membership with the Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls.

The meeting was a result of a letter drafted by the Marlatt HGB to the KSUARH after a 12-to-1 vote to consider the resignation of Marlatt Hall from the organization.

The letter was read at the Oct. 18 KSUARH general meeting by Marlatt Hall public relations representative Tom Madison, sophomore in mechanical engineering.

The letter outlined several concerns that the Marlatt HGB had with KSUARH.

It also stated that the Marlatt Hall HGB was willing to help in giving KSUARH ideas to better serve all residents in the residence-hall system.

At the meeting, KSUARH responded with its own letter, which outlined the benefits of belonging to KSUARH and also addressed the

■ See REPRESENTATION Page 12

► CAMPUS

Population increasing by 95 million per year

Collegian

There are more than 5.7 billion people inhabiting the Earth, and this number is increasing by 95 million every year.

These facts were presented in a speech given by Patricia Waak, director of the population program at the National Audubon Society, Wednesday in Umberger Hall.

Waak used a slide projector to share illustrations, graphs and photographs.

The world-population growth throughout history was shown as a J-curve.

"Eighteen centuries ago, it was a flat line. The rate of births equaled deaths," Waak said.

"That was when people were in hunter-and-gatherer societies, and they had to carry their babies on their backs, so it was easier to just have one. Then, as people settled in cities, the population began to grow," she said.

Waak reviewed the recent United Nations Population Conference she attended in Cairo,

China was a topic of discussion because it has the largest population, with 1.2 billion people, making up one-fifth of the total population.

Waak said China has created a policy to deal with the overpopulation. Women may only have one child. If they have a second pregnancy, they may lose their jobs and their economic benefits," Waak Zhigang Zhang, graduate student in special education, said he attended the speech because he was from China, and he wanted to see the American view about the Chinese population. "I think the policy is OK. Many people accept it," Zhang said. When you raise one child, you have more freedom, especially economically." The United States, which is the third largest in world population with 258 million people, also has birth rates on the rise, but the biggest concern is United States' consumption, Waak said.

"A U.S. baby consumes 30 times the resources of a baby born in India," she said.

■ See POPULATION Page 8

▶ CAMPUS

Red Power Rangers dominate the Children's Carnival

LORI CAGLE

Everything from cows to fire hydrants graced the main ballroom of the K-State Union Wednesday for the Union Program Councilsponsored Children's Carnival.

Children from Manhattan, Junction City and even Topeka crowded into the main ballroom to enjoy the free games, refreshments and prizes offered.

Volunteers from UPC staffed the games and ran from place to place making sure there were prizes for all the participants.

Red Power Rangers dominated the crowd of excited kids in Halloween garb. Traditional witches, vampires and clowns

TODD FEEBACK/Collegia

Dressed as a pirate, Tony Bell tries to squirt out a candle Wednesday night at the Union Program Council Children's Carnival. UPC sponsors the annual event as a trick-or-treat alternative.

added to the mix of upbeat costumes worn by the children.

Games from the "lollipop tree" to "squirt out the candle" had kids lined up again and again, or until their parents made them pass onto the next one.

Every player received a prize, which made everyone a winner, including UPC, who planned on this event being a big success.

"The turnout was better than we expected," Christy Drake, special events chairwoman, said about the more than 700 children participating in this year's carnival.

"We tripled the prizes from last year and still are close to running out," Drake said at 7:30 p.m., an hour before the scheduled closing

Ann Claussen, UPC adviser, said that 10,000 prizes, 40 dozen cookies and nine gallons of punch were ordered for the event.

By 6:30 p.m., about five cookies and a pint of punch were left, with children still flooding through the doors.

Megan Murphy, not yet 2 years old, was squirming in her homemade fire-hydrant costume as she pointed to the fishing game she wanted to play.

"She'll be 2 on Tuesday, and I think this will be her first real memory of Halloween," Lori Murphy, Megan's mom and keyboard operator at the Department of Clinical Sciences,

Greg Voss, senior in information systems, and his wife, Yvonne, brought their three children from Junction City to enjoy the evening's festivities.

"I got a harmonica," said cowboy Robby Voss, 2 years old. while waving his prize with a glowing smile.

His sister, Ali, 8, dressed as a fairy, said she was enjoying herself as she rocked back and forth, waiting to get her mother's permission to go back to the

The Voss' eldest daughter, 10year-old Katy, was dressed in traditional witch garb and had already mastered the lines well enough to be trusted to be on her

Daniel Haller, 6, was the Red Ranger and proud of it as he flashed his red arms out to show

■ See CHILDREN Page 12

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ TOPEKA HOSPITAL RELEASES THE 3RD OF 4 SURVIVING QUINTUPLETS

TOPEKA (AP) - The third of four surviving Morris quintuplets was scheduled to go home Stormont-Vail Wednesday, Regional Medical Center said.

In a brief statement, the hospital's information director said Mallory Morris, the first of the five babies born to Joan Morris of Wamego in mid-July would be taken home by her parents between 3:30 and 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Two of her sisters, Holly and Kasey, were released from the hospital last Thursday.

The fourth surviving sister, Jordan, remains hospitalized in fair

There was no estimate of when she might be released.

The fifth quintuplet, a boy named Evan, died 2-1/2 weeks after birth. Mallory was born on July 10, and the other four babies were born on July 13. Their father is Shawn

▶ RESOLUTION URGES BAN ON GULF WAR VETERANS DONATING BLOOD, TISSUE

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) -The Santa Cruz city council passed a resolution urging a ban on blood and tissue donations by Gulf War veterans until doctors investigate the vets' theories about virus or

The measure adopted Tuesday has no force beyond the statement it makes, but council members hoped the resolution would support claims by some veterans that they returned home with mysterious dis-

"It will put a little pressure on the medical community to say it's not all post-traumatic stress," said Dean Lundholm, president of the California Association of Persian Gulf Veterans.

"Something's going on. It needs to be looked at," he said. American Red Cross officials said their screening and that of government agencies would catch any contagion.

About 20,000 veterans have reported rashes, chronic fatigue, joint pain, internal ailments and other symptoms they blame on their Gulf War service.

The military said it cannot find any common cause for the Gulf War syndrome, making it difficult for veterans to receive compensa-

▶ IT ONLY TAKES SKIN AND BONES TO SHOW SEXUAL BIAS IN MEDICAL SCHOOL

CHICAGO (AP) - Anatomy textbooks use illustrations of male bodies more than twice as often as illustrations of females, perpetuating a bias in medicine against women, researchers said.

"As a result, students may develop an incomplete knowledge of normal female anatomy," the researchers said in Wednesday's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

They analyzed more than 4,000 illustrations in 12 commonly used anatomy and physical diagnosis textbooks.

Women were depicted in only 21.2 percent of all the anatomy text illustrations, while males were represented in 44.3 percent of the drawings and 34.4 percent were sexneutral, the researchers said.

In texts on physical diagnosis, the distribution was more equal - 21.5 percent female vs. 24.8 percent male, they found. But illustrations of women were largely confined to chapters on reproduction, suggesting women are still viewed in terms of mothering, the researchers said.

The illustrations may perpetuate the image of the male body as the normal or standard model for medical education, according to the research team led by Kathleen Mendelsohn, a student at the Medical College of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Michelle Harrison, an associate professor of family medicine and psychiatry at The Robert Wood Johnson Medical School/University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, said the findings are new but not surprising.

Eighteenth and 19th century medicine considered men's bodies as the norm, and women as other, said Ms. Harrison, who did not participate in the study but has been active in trying to increase women's roles in medicine.

"Medicine is really an apprenticeship. It's a trade, it's a skill," she said. "The methods and the attitudes are handed down and still exist within the textbooks and also within the organizations."

WORLD POPULATION AWARENESS WEEK

The following events are sponsored by KSU Students for Sustainability and NFH Audubon Society

Defining Progress: Development Issues in Manhattan and Riley Co. 7 p.m. at the Manhattan Public Library

A panel of government representatives and citizens discusses local developt

Friday Human Population and Wildlife: An Audubon Perspective

A 60-minute video describes the first phase of the Audubon Society's "Sharing the Earth" project.

DAVE OLSON/Collegia

POLICE REPORTS

K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF THE

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25

At 12:19 p.m., Justin DeMoss, 1965 College Heights Ave., requested an ambulance to Ackert 221 for an asthma attack. An ambulance responded and transported the subject to Memorial Hospital.

At 10:30 p.m., an alarm went off in Burt Hall because of a system malfunction

At 10:40 p.m., an alarm sounded in Van Zile Hall because of problems with the

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26

At 12:09 p.m., the campus dispatcher received a hang-up 911 call from Ford Hall 322. The line was busy when the dispatcher tried to reconnect. An officer was sent to the residence halls, and everything was OK.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25 11 At 7:25 p.m., a non-injury,

vehicle accident was reported involving Roscoe Ballew, 3124 Winston Place, Apt. 7, and a deer claimed by Woody Handshoe.

At 8:05 p.m., a non-injury. vehicle accident involving Suzan ton, and a deer claimed by Wayne Dickson, occurred, At 8:19 p.m., Jennifer McIntyre, 325 Yuma St., report-

Hawkes, 701 N. D St., Hering-

ed a subject driving around her

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26

At 2:50 a.m., Jeff Ellis, 1460 ject was transported to the Saint Waterford. Apt. 5, requested an Mary Hospital. ambulance. An unidentified sub-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our address is letters Capub.kau edu. We need your name, address, phone number student ID number

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18

- Lesbian, Gay. Bisexual Student Development Group meets from 1:30 to 3 p.m. today in Lafene 238.
- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building
- K-State Aikido Club will meet today from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.
  - Al-Anon will meet from 5 to 6 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.
  - Icthus will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union 212.
- Society of Manufacturing Engineers will meet at 7 p.m. today in Durland 127. Yearbook pictures will be taken at 8:20 p.m. in McCain 324.
- Rotaract will meet at 9 p.m. today in Union 205.
- Alpha Epsilon Delta Pre-health Honorary will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Union 206. Dr. Sue Zchoche will speak on the history of medicine.
- There will be a lecture on careers in student affairs at 10:30 a.m. today in Forum Hall, a brown-bag lunch at noon in Union 208 and a panel at 7:30 p.m. in Bluemont 123.
- K-State Students for Slattery for Governor will meet at 4:30 p.m. today in Union 205.
- The Association for Women in Science will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- Association of Computing Machinery will meet at 7 p.m. today in Nichols 122. There will be a discussion of writing and producing World Wide Web documents.

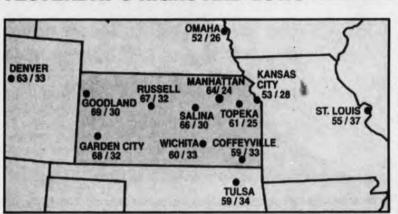

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Secondclass postage is paid at Manhattan Kan 66502

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

WEDA'S BEST DR

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

Breezy and warmer with mostly sunny skies. Highs around 70. Partly cloudy in the evening with lows in the 40s.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TODAY

Breezy and sunny, highs in the upper 60s. Lows in the 40s.

TOMORROW III

Warm and windy, partly cloudy. Highs in the mid-70s.

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Thursday, Oct. 27

Omega Chi Epsilon 6:00 p.m. AICHE 6:20 p.m. Agricultural Ambassadors 6:40 p.m. Society of Mfg. Engineers 8:20 p.m. The Rotaract Club 8:40 p.m. KSU Horseman's 9:00 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

fou may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

Force Artist

SATURDAY, OCT. 29 10:30 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Interested?

Call for Info: (913) 232-3429

► CAMPUS

Women's issues specialty of speaker

The first Women's Weekend will take place this weekend at K-State.

Events will begin Friday with the keynote speech and a special reception and end Saturday with a series of workshops.

MORE

Registration for the workshops will begin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in the Umberger Hall

lobby. There is a cost includes a luncheon

at Derby Dining

Center. For more information, contact

Marci Maullar at 532-

of $10, which

The keynote speaker will be Bernice Sandler, senior scholar with the National Association of Women in Education.

Her speech, "Not for Women Only: Gender and Institutional Change," will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Friday in the K-State Union Little Theatre.

Sandler was chosen because of her expertise and the activities she has been involved in concerning women's issues, said Anne Butler, director for women's studies and associate professor of counseling and educational psychology. "She has worked through and been instrumental in developing policies to allow women to have equal experiences in education at the university level,"

Butler said Sandler was involved in the Title IX legislation prohibiting sexual discrimination at the ■ See WORKSHOPS Page 8

Friday and Saturday has been designated the first K-State and Manhattan Women's Weekend. The following events are open to the public.

Lectures by Bernice Sandler

"Warming the Chilly Climate for Women" 10:30 a.m. today in Union Forum Hall

"Not for Women Only: Gender and Institutional Change" 9:30 a.m. Friday in Union Little Theatre

Wine and cheese reception

There will be a reception in honor of Bernice Sandler and Pauline Thornton at 7 p.m. Friday in Nichols Theatre. An art exhibit and performances by local women artists will follow. Cost is $5 at the door.

Exhibit by local women artists

An exhibit will be on display from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Saturday in Willard Hall Art Gallery. There will be a reception from 4 to 6 p.m. Saturday. For more information, call Barb Rutherford at 532-6605.

Earl Laih, freshman in engineering, performs a routine during Color Guard practice Tuesday afternoon outside of McCain Auditorium. Laih, who has performed on five different color-guard teams, is the only male on the team.

Flags make him just one of the girls

KRISTA COZAD

arl Laih doesn't think what he's doing is so different.

In fact, where he's from, it's common for men to do what he's doing. But here at K-State, it's a little out of the ordinary for a man to step out onto the football field to perform with K-State's previously all-women flag team, the Color Guard. Laih, a freshman in engineering, had performed on flag teams with his high school in Youngsville, Pa., as well as with an independent team out of He said performing itself isn't all-women's team is. "Most of the color guards I've anything new, but performing with an marched with, I haven't been the only guy. This is the 17th season I've marched, and the fifth color guard I've been on, and this is only the second one I've been on that didn't have guys," he

In spite of this, however, some of K-State's team members were a bit surprised at the beginning of the season. "A couple of the people that I tried out with were kind of shocked, I think," he said. Laih said he doesn't mind being the only man on the team, but he said both he and the team have had to make adjustments. "Most of the women on the guard haven't marched with men before, and that was new to me," he said.

Jeanne Lynch, freshman in elementary education who marches with Laih, said having Earl on the team is beneficial.

"He's had more experience than any of us. He's been on major color guards and winter guards - he really lends a lot to the flag corps," she said. "And he's really cool besides.

Laih and teammate Ginger Scott, freshman in mathematics, said that occasionally there are changes to the routines because of Laih.

"When it comes to writing the routines, sometimes they have to be altered a little bit," Laih said.

'Some of the moves for him are kind of different, but sometimes we forget he's there," Scott said.

Laih's differences from the rest of his teammates is probably the most obvious when it's time for him to change from his practice uniform into his game uniform with the rest of his

"I end up in the bathroom, and the rest of the team changes in the locker

So far, no one on campus has said anything to Laih about being the only male on the field. "But yeah, I stand out," he said.

Laih's wife, Danielle, said she doesn't mind her husband being on the

"I think it's great for him to have something fun to do," she said,

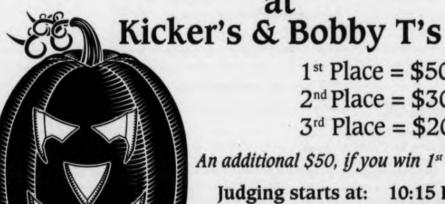

Danielle Laih said she wasn't worried about her husband being surrounded by women.

"Some of the other girls are married and trying to have kids, and the rest of them have school or are hard partiers. so I don't worry too much about Earl being attracted to them," she said. "He joins in on the conversations,"

Scott said.

"It's just like a little family, and he's just part of it."

6th Annual Monster Mash Costume Contest

1st Place = $50

 $2^{nd}$  Place = $30

3rd Place = $20

An additional $50, if you win 1st at both places.

Judging starts at: 10:15 Kicker's 10:45 Bobby T's

Come check out our SPOOKY drink specials.

You're In The Book

People, Places and Policies at Kansas State University

1994-95 Campus Phone Book

Only $2.25 with student ID (limit 2) $3.50 for faculty/staff $4.25 for the public

AVAILABLE

Get Yours in 103 Kedzie Hall

Questions? Call 532-6560

90% Off!

GIGANTIC LIQUIDATION CLOSEOUT

DOORS OPEN THURSDAY! ENTIRE STOCK MUST GO! MEN'S, WOMEN'S & CHILDREN'S FAMOUS NAME BRANDS

Anne Klein • Liz Claiborne • Guess • Ralph Lauren • Esprit • Coach • Oshkosh • Levi • Bill Blass and more

ALL SALES FINAL . NO REFUNDS . NO EXCHANGES.

You Pay $6

Hours: Mon.-Fri. 9:30 a.m.-8 p.m. Saturday 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Sunday

Noon-5 p.m.

Fashion Outlet

409-411 Poyntz Ave. Manhattan, Kansas

N FOR THE BEST SELECTION!

PINION

"That was the whole point. Was it drug money?" - Jon May, Manuel Noriega's defense attorney, concerning Noriega's appeal.

OCTOBER 27, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Students, faculty to blame for cheating

Students, who cheated, should receive a failing grade for the class.

Both the students and faculty share the blame for the recent cheating incident in a Principles of Biology class.

Diane Post, instructor of biology, said the department has evidence of at least 70 students, out of 716 enrolled in the biology class, who cheated on a midterm examination.

According to University policy, students caught cheating may be punished by failure on the exam, quiz or composition, by failure in the course and/or by expulsion from the University.

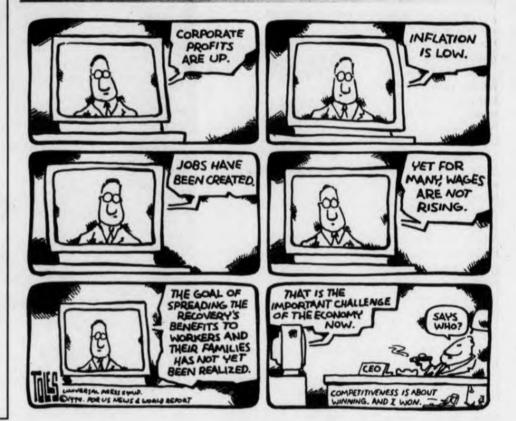

Although instructors should not have to guard answer keys, the reality is that cheating exists. Instructors should take measures to minimize the possibilities.

Most of the blame should be placed on the students, both those who stole the test and those who used the answers.

Students who gave in to the temptation of cheating have not only damaged their own permanent record, but also the reputation of the student body. Their actions have cheapened our degrees.

If K-State gets the reputation as Cheater U., what are employers to think when they read a student's grade point average on a résumé?

Those students involved should receive failing grades for the course. Instructors should review their testing procedures to see if they can be improved.

Noise from fraternity is obnoxious

MILLER

Greeks often times are undeservedly stereotyped as loud, inconsiderate party animals, although they are probably no more wild or rude than the student body in general.

Stereotypes, however, are usually grounded in some basis of fact. In spite of how most fraternities and sororities make positive contributions to the campus and local community, there are always exceptions. Unfortunately, these groups tend to reflect poorly on other fraternities and sororities.

One fraternity that could stand to learn to be better neighbors is Sigma Phi Epsilon. Some members of this fraternity have taken upon themselves to unneighborly at nearly all hours of the day. As if Manhattan needed World Cupstyle cheers anyway, these fellows have decided to kindly disregard any modicum of mature co-existence with the neighborhood. Whether it's 1 a.m. or 7 p.m., weeknight or weekend night, rude, inconsiderate, and unnecessary noises emanate from their house at ungodly levels of volume.

It doesn't matter whether you're one of the quieter Sig Eps, a member of another nearby fraternity, a non-greek student living in the area, someone who > doesn't even go to K-State, or a patient convalescing in Memorial Hospital next door, your sleep and study time can be continually disturbed and interrupted by these noisy greeks. The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is an equal-opportunity offender. Why don't they have enough common sense to shut up and grow up?

> > Sure, other greek and non-greek houses have parties and such, and there's nothing wrong with that. They're usually occasional, take place weekend nights, and they wind down by 11 p.m. or so. But Sigma Phi Epsilon recognizes no day of the week, no time of day, or the interests of almost no one else in the area when it comes to being noisy.

It's this kind of flagrant disregard for its neighbors that can lead one to feel intolerant of all Sigma Phi Epsilon's recreational noises altogether.

It's not funny.

Most neighbors accept noise as part of living in a college town. Most are also guilty of making a little noise themselves once in a while and recognize, quite correctly, that denying one group the right to carry on would backfire on

Yet there is a point when a community has to insist on certain standards of conduct so everyone can live together peacefully. Flagrant and repeated disrespect for neighbors is inexcusable and should not be tolerated. One fraternity (or any other group or individual) should not be allowed to trample on the rights of others without facing consequences.

What consequences do they face now? If a neighbor asks that the antics stop, that person, who is powerless to actually prevent the annoying behaviors, can easily be ignored and may even face vandalistic retribution.

Riley County Police can be called to handle the situation but they are already busy with more serious crimes. The police have better things to do than babysit obnoxious little kids.

As things are now, the most common "consequence" of being an inconsiderate fraternity is gaining notoriety, which is hardly a punishment when those involved would undoubtedly enjoy the extra attention.

Perhaps, then, the greek community should better police itself somehow. Habitually rude fraternity or sororities tend to mar the reputations of all greek organizations, however unfairly that may be true, and it's in the interests of all greeks to prevent a few of them from reinforcing negative stereotypes. Fraternities or sororities that are the subject of complaints should face penalties within the greek community.

Academic penalties would be an additional deterrent for greeks and nongreeks alike to prevent students from making the on and off-campus communities from becoming the domains of the obnoxious. Perhaps students should face academic sanctions after a fixed number of police complaints have been made against them.

At any rate, something should be done. It would be easiest, however, if both greeks and non-greeks followed the venerable Golden Rule and were considerate. There's a fine line between whining and bringing attention to a problem. Nonetheless, irresponsible behavior in a community should be pointed out and called the nuisance that it

Scott Allen Miller is a junior is radio/television.

66Y et there is a point when a community has to insist on certain standards of conduct so everyone can live together peacefully.'

COTT ALLEN MULLER

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ JAIL

Site near school, church makes no sense

On Nov. 8, Riley County voters will be asked to spend $5 million more for a Jail and Law Enforcement Center than a similar facility built in McPherson County in 1993. Construction of this fortified structure (roughly the size of the new Dillons store) on the proposed site (Sixth & Pierre streets) will cost county taxpayers more money now and in the McPherson County Law Enforcement Center houses 48 prisoners and has offices for 40 daytime staff positions. Construction costs were $3.2 million in 1993. The proposed Riley County Law Enforcement center will house 54 prisoners and offices for 54 daytime staff positions. Proposed construction costs are $8.2 million in 1994.

One reason for the $5 million difference in costs is that the site proposed for Riley County (2.1 acres) is only about one-third the size suggested by U.S. Department of Justice guidelines for a facility this large. Consequently, the proposed Riley County jail and offices are so tightly joined that the entire center is proposed to be built to jail specifications, including minimum 10-inch concrete, steel reinforced walls. In contrast, the McPherson facility site was built in an industrial park area with ample room for structural separation of the offices and the jail, so that the heavy jail-type construction was not required for the office portion of the facility.

McPherson County tried five different sites before choosing the most suitable. McPherson moved its jail complex from next to the courthouse to an industrial park area, 1.5 miles from the courthouse.

Imagine the difficulties to be faced at this residential neighborhood site 10 years from now when

Riley County estimates that we will need a further expansion to a 100-bed jail complex. This landlocked, neighborhood site for a large modern jail complex is an extremely costly proposition now and in the future.

Although you may see Riley County commission chairwoman Karen McCulloh waving a copy of the Small Jail Design Guide" published by the U.S. Department of Justice and calling it our "bible" on this issue, the county is not following its recommendations. It was our JAIL CORP group whose research brought these guidebooks forward and pushed for their use in determining the best site for this new complex. The guide states that communities need to be sensitive to their surroundings; that in general, a jail should be located in a government or industrial area and should not be located next to a church, a school, a residential neighborhood or a playground. The proposed site is in the middle of all four. Is this sensitive or fair?

The Riley County Jail Task Force was not an objective group of citizens looking for a solution. I was appointed on the committee as the only token person with a known position against the proposed site. Five persons were appointed with known positions favoring the site.

The height of the committee's irresponsibility was rushing our site review to get the issue on the

Riley County never did a cost analysis of any vacant land, including a site in the industrial park, which was offered by the city of Manhattan for the cost of only ONE DOLLAR.

Vote "NO" on question one on Nov. 8, and save taxpayers' dollars. We deserve a better plan from the Riley County commission .

CHECK POINTS

Decision to print locations OK

I am writing in regards to the letter sent to the Collegian on Oct. 20 about how the Collegian should not have posted the dates, times and locations of the sobriety check points. The letter was negative toward the Collegian for trying to "defeat the purpose" of the check points. However, the information provided by the Collegian was not confidential. Anyone can find out about sobriety check points by calling the local police department. They have to tell you where they will be. So, whoever made the comment that the Collegian was being "immoral," in my opinion, was wrong for coming down so hard on the Collegian.

Michelle Clark

junior in human ecology and horticulture

CASSANDRA

Advice needs to be given seriously

I think that the person who writes "Dear Cassandra" is out of control. It began last week when in the column for Oct. 20, Cassandra wrote a totally immature response to the person who accused him or her of being a "male chauvinist pig." Sure, anyone would be upset if called this, and it was not true. If I were wrongly accused of being such, I would approach it with more of an open mind to how the false calling came about. I would write a response that was not insultive, because that is like saying, "I'm paper, and you are glue.'

And besides that, a little bit of grammar would help show a bit of intelligence instead of adding to the characteristic of being an ass, which Cassandra seemed to have.

I hope that this can stop and the seriousness of the job is taken. Sure, one can have fun with their column, like making up a story about a fork and Johny Kaw, but in the recent replies, I have seen no humor. Instead, I see a temperamental ignorance, his or her which should be stopped.

Chantel Nichols freshman in microbiology

CASSANDRA

Advice column makes paper look bad

Does tabloid ring a bell? The question here isn't sex, vulgarity or immorality of most any kind; the simple answer to these are YES. The editor of Dear Cassandra, as well as other (but not all) members of the Collegian, have these charactertistics mastered. Sanity is the question. What are you thinking? Considering the "qualities" you have and the skill level you possess in the way of using those qualities; why don't you start your own think tank? You could run the Sun and other B.S. papers out of business. Hey, you've done that. Now, go take a few marketing classes and find your marketplace.

I apologize to a large number of readers out there for hardly getting started with the slams on tabloids, but they're not what my focus is on. After all, if people want to trade their money for trash, then so be it. However, every student at You could run the Sun and other B.S. papers out of husiness."

K-State has to pay for a subscription to the Collegian. I know it's only a few cents per copy, but the cost is not the issue. The thought of HAVING to buy a semitabloid bothers me. Your arrogance is unacceptable, and cussing someone out in writing is distasteful. As said by Henry S. Canby, "Arrongance, pedantry and dogmatism are the occuptional diseases of those who spend their lives directing the intellects of the young." Your wit is the salt of conversation rather than the wood. It disgusts me. So get out of the Bush league, and "Either write things worth reading, or do things worth writing," Franklin said.

Hopefully the journalism majors with integrity won't switch majors for fear of being categorized as a "journalist." We need all of those people we can get.

And yes, I expect a retaliation to this letter. Just remember though, any wannabe rebut will, again, be written by a "journalist."

Michael S. Bachelor freshman in electrical engineering

In Hocus Kansas State Collegian 5

Top photo: ROTC cadet Jared Seery, freshman in chemical engineering, talks with Private First Class Siegfried Owen of Fort Riley about the tank during the static display. Above: Loren Traugutt, senior in physical science, lies low in the grass while the Black Hawk helicopters land to pick up the ROTC cadets.

K-State ROTC cadets spend the weekend in field training

eeling self-conscious in my camouflage attire and a little nervous, I slowly opened the door of my friend's jeep parked in front of the Military Science Building Friday afternoon.

"Hey, are you the Collegian reporter?" one person asked as I dragged my equipment. Even in camouflage, I stood out.

I was soon to be leaving with about 70 K-State cadets and 10 Emporia State cadets in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps to experience firsthand field training exercises, better known as FTX.

After my escort for the weekend, Mark Wetherill, senior in journalism and mass communications, gave me some idea of what to expect, I overheard an interesting discussion about who was going to carry "the prick." Too embarrassed to admit that I didn't know what "the prick" was, I didn't refuse when someone asked me with a smile if I wanted to carry it.

I eventually learned that prick is slang for PRC, personal radio communicator.

A large group of cadets walked toward Bramlage Coliseum, fully clothed in camouflage, face paint and ruck sacks, and carrying M-16 rifles. Traffic was stopped by cadets holding their M-16 rifles, so that everyone could cross the streets as a group.

Upon reaching Bramlage, everyone covered their faces as the three Black Hawk helicopters landed in the parking lot. The cadets were given a briefing about the helicopters in general and about how to board and exit them.

Yellow ear plugs were handed out, and hats were taken off to ensure that they wouldn't fly off and get caught in the helicopter propellers or engine.

"Everyone make sure you have your soft hats close in case you need to puke," one cadet said.

Some cadets laughed, but several didn't hesitate to move their hat to a pocket where they could easily grab it if necessary during the

The four propellers on our helicopter started turning, and eventually, we were on our the obstacle course. way to our destination outside of Fort Riley. For the most part, the ride was relatively smooth, and one cadet, Michelle Snyder, freshman undecided, when I was on my way to the latrine in the even took a short nap on the way.

The next day, I found out the helicopter ride was the first time that Dustin Heder, freshman in physical science, had ever flown.

"It was my first time flying in anything." Heder said. "I thought it was pretty damn loud, but I liked it, and I'm very much looking forward to doing it again.'

The cadets walked a short distance, in formation, to the camp site. The MS-1s (firstyear military science students), were given instructions by two of the MS-4s about how to put up their tents, called shelter-halves. To set up a shelter-half, the MS-1s were instructed to find a buddy and snap the halves together to make one shelter. A little bit later, I had a discussion about the buddy system with Rolley Bateman. sophomore in architecture. He said it was strongly emphasized for several reasons, but especially for safejunior in animal science and industry, struggles through "Everything we do is as a team," Bateman said. "I rely on them for everything like they rely on me.'

I didn't think about it much until later

"Where are you going?" one of the senior cadets asked me.

"To the bathroom," I replied, wondering why it mattered or why he even cared.

"Where's your buddy?" he asked. That evening, while the cadets were getting ready for the night field excursions, Maj. George Stelljes talked about what would take place later that night. Again, the importance of using the buddy system, especially at night, was brought up. "It's purely a safety thing," Stelljes said. "If someone walks out by themselves, there could be a big hole or ditch.

"Suppose someone was knocked unconscious, a buddy can get our attention immediately and we can provide first aid," he said.

For supper, everyone ate MREs, meals ready to eat, that were vacuum packaged in August 1991.

One MRE has 3,000 calories and is made to sustain a soldier in combat for one day,"

Wetherill said. Steve Hebert, a Collegian photographer, and I sat down on the ground and decided to eat the MREs we had selected from our choice of 12. Hebert took out a pocket-knife and slit open the seal. I decided to eat the chicken a la king, but regretted it as soon as the package was opened. Hebert had spaghetti, but it didn't look much better, and I declined when he offered me a bite. The two of us spent more

■ See FIELD-TRAINING Page 10

Cadet Bart Ransone, freshman cadet in history, performs his ordered push-ups at the rifle range. The cadets were allowed to shoot M-16's Saturday at one of Fort Riley's shooting ranges.

Photos by Steve Hebert Story by Kimberly Hefling

Cadet Brian Vulgamore, freshman in agribusiness, assembles his shelter-half. The first activity the freshmen were taught was how to put up their tents.

9. Delta Delta Delta

10. WGWIT

fter 3 years, Kevin Lockett is NING HOME

-State receiver Kevin Lockett will get his chance to play at Memorial Stadium in Norman, Okla., but probably not the way he envisioned it would be.

OCTOBER 27, 1994

The sophomore from Tulsa wanted to be a Sooner, not necessarily playing against them.

But when Oklahoma neglected to recruit him out of high school, Lockett was forced to look elsewhere, finally choosing K-State.

For the first time in his collegiate career, Lockett will play in Norman, where he has seen several games. K-State and Oklahoma are scheduled to play at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

"I've been a Sooner fan all my life, pretty much," said Lockett, who set the Big Eight Conference freshman record with 50 catches for 770 yards in 1993. "But when they didn't recruit

Sophomore receiver wanted to be a Sooner, now he's their opponent me too heavily, I realized I wouldn't be a Sooner and started looking at other choices."

Lockett's receiving totals last season were also tops in the nation for a freshman.

OU's coaches might be wondering how they could let a local player with abundant talent escape.

Last year in Manhattan, Lockett riddled the Sooner defense with five catches for 93 yards, including a dramatic 22-yard touchdown catch in double coverage.

"I've talked to a couple of players who say maybe they did pass up a guy that has gone on to do some good things," said Lockett, who is expecting 30 to 40 relatives and friends at the game on Saturday. "I think it's good when they say that type of thing, because it means I'm accomplishing something. "Whether they thought I was a good player then or not, now they realize I'm a pretty good player."

Good enough to set yet another Big Eight receiving record. With his five catches for 78 yards against Nebraska two weeks ago, Lockett became the quickest player in league history to reach the 1,000-yard career-receiving mark.

"It makes me feel pretty good when I realize the type of receivers that have come out of the Big Eight," said Lockett, who now has 76 receptions for 1,145 yards in his career. "I guess it gives me a goal to shoot for: I can go for the Big Eight careerreceiving yardage."

To do that, Lockett would have to surpass former all-American Hart Lee Dykes, who had 203 catches for 3,171 yards from 1985 to 1988 at Oklahoma State.

So was Lockett angry when the Sooners didn't come knocking at his door? "Some, but not really," he said. "Because right about the time I was coming out, they weren't passing the ball as much as I liked. I always wanted to be a Sooner, but they didn't pass the ball all that much."

Lockett said he knows several of the players at OU, including quarterback Garrick McGee and receivers P.J. Mills and JaJuan Penny.

Garrick was my high-school quarterback my junior year," he said. "And P.J. Mills, we both came out of high school the same year. He was the receiver that they pretty much took over me.

Comparatively, Mills, a junior from Enid, Okla., has amassed only 850 yards in his stint as a Sooner.

Mills played in his freshman season, while Lockett was a redshirt. So, this is the third season for Mills and just the second for Naturally, the K-State-

Oklahoma contest is a big one for Lockett because of the people he grew up with. 'It will always be a big game for me because I grew up a Sooner fan," he said. 'And I didn't end up being a Sooner. "Now, I have the chance to go down there and hopefully win, so I can have bragging

> photo by Darren Whitley # story by Derek Simmons

▶ CROSS COUNTRY

ig 8 meet important to seniors

rights.'

WESS HUDELSON

The most important meet of the season has arrived for the men's and women's cross country teams.

The Big Eight Cross Country Championships come to Manhattan this Saturday at Warner Park.

However, the meet is most important to seniors Billy Wuggazer, Jeanene Rugan, Irma Betancourt and Lesley Wells.

Wuggazer perhaps has made the most astonishing improvement this season, Terry Drake said.

Wuggazer said he hopes to display his improvement at the Big Eight meet.

"I think he's just now starting to realize his potential as a runner," Drake said.

The coach and runner had a discussion at the end of last season that Drake said really cleared the air and started Wuggazer on a track toward success.

"I started to notice I was running better at the end of the outdoor season last year," Wuggazer said. "The training I did over the summer has been the difference.'

trained hard over the summer before and consequently, it took longer to get into shape for the season in the fall.

Wells, who is running in her fourth conference championship, said the meet may be emotional.

"Actually, I'm a little sad about it," Wells said. "This is my last time to run in the Big Eight meet."

Wells came to K-State from Cheney where she finished second in class 3A behind Rugan. Last season she captured first at the Big Eight Indoor Track and Field Championships in the 1,000 meters.

She said her role on the team is more important at this year's meet than it has been in the past.

"Before I relied on some of the older runners to take care of things at the meets," Wells said. "Now I realize that my points are pretty important to the team."

Rugan hopes to turn around a senior season which has been disappointing thus far.

"I'm not anywhere near where I should be during races," Rugan than I've ever seen her," Drake said. "I just need to get more Wuggazer said he never really focused on the race and run through the pain.'

Rugan qualified for the NCAA Cross Country Championships last season as a junior and was also a member of K-State's team that qualified for the meet during her freshman and sophomore years.

Coach Terry Drake said the reason for some of Rugan's poor performances this season are because of her training this season.

"I've challenged her a little bit." Drake said. "She wants to do her best this week and in the net couple of weeks.'

Rugan said one more Big Eight title is important to her.

"I'm just hoping that everyone can run well," Rugan said. "I think if everybody runs their best we could have a good shot at first.'

The K-State women took first place in 1992.

Irma Betancourt, a senior from Mexico City, has positioned herself among team leaders this season, Drake said.

"Irma has been stronger this year

BIG 8 RACE

VEUMA

The Big Eight Cross Country meet will take place at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Warner Park.

Betancourt missed most of last season with a back injury sustained after a fall at the National Invitational hosted by Penn State in Altoona, Pa.

The injury sidelined Betancourt for the entire indoor track season and half of the outdoor season.

Wuggazer, Rugan and Wells have been performing away from the course in the classroom as well. All three were named to the 1994 Phillips 66 All-Big Eight Academic Honor Roll.

Wuggazer and Rugan were honored for the third-straight season. Wuggazer posted a 3.9 GPA in accounting and Rugan maintained a 3.4 GPA in kinesiology/pre-occupational therapy. Wells joins them with a 3.1 GPA in secodary education.

▶ FOOTBALL

Cotton Bowl aligns with future Big 12

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DALLAS - The Cotton and Holiday bowls have linked an agreement that gives them access to teams from the Big 12, Pac-10 and Western Athletic conferences, as well as an opportunity to host Notre Dame.

The three-year agreement with a three-year renewal option was announced Tuesday evening expands the Holiday Bowl's postseason options while preserving the Cotton Bowl's tradition as a host for home

The Cotton Bowl, which historically has featured the champion of the soon-to-bedissolved Southwest Conference, this year lost a bid to keep a top New Year's Day TV slot during a realignment of bowls by conference commissioners.

For the 1996 game, the Cotton Bowl will have its choice of the SWC runner-up or Big Eight runner-up against the WAC champion or Pac-10 runner-up. The Holiday Bowl will get the two teams not chosen by the Cotton.

When the four SWC teams merge with the Big Eight in 1996, the Cotton will get the new conference's runner-up against either the WAC champion or Pac-10 runner-up.

In the Holiday Bowl, the Big 12 No. 3 team would play the remaining team not chosen by the Cotton.

If the WAC champion or Pac-10 runner-up, which normally would be available to the Cotton or Holiday bowls, is chosen as an at-large entry to one of the three top bowl games, the Cotton and Holiday would have the option of selecting Notre Dame if it's left out of the bowl alliance games.

"Pat Knight is a living example of why

Yes! That's what we want. Reporters seriously hyperventilate when we get

No. 4- Don't tell us the obvious. When we ask you why your offense had trouble producing, don't respond with, "We just couldn't get the ball in the end zone." Oh that drove me and my colleagues absolutely nuts last year was hearing this after every

I'm not naming any names, but one thing

"We just couldn't seem to get the ball really? Silly me, I should have known.

some animals eat their young.

quotes like that.

▶ COLUMN

Sports figures need to be more colorful

I just don't feel like writing a column this week, you know?

But I guess I'll just take it one day at a time, you know. I can't look past this week, you know.

I just want to help my newspaper team, you know, so with the good Lord willing, things will work out.

Hey, if you thought that was bad, try writing a meaningful, in-depth story from an entire interview composed of these lovely sports cliches and phrases. Unfortunately, most of the athletes who I have the pleasure of interviewing appear to have taken lessons from the Bull Durham/Nuke LaLoosh school of "How to talk to a reporter."

That's why I'm taking this time to offer my own interviewing tips to all of our Wildcat athletes, especially the football players

With Coach Snyder's boys getting so much national exposure lately, these little hints should prevent them from committing any major blunders if ESPN's Dr. Jerry Punch interviews them on the sideline.

No. 1- Eliminate "you know" from your entire vocabulary.

Hey, guess what? I DON'T KNOW. No, I don't know how it feels to get tackled by a 6-foot-8 tackle at the goal line. Tell me. That's why I asked the question. No. 2- Be honest. Who do you think you're kidding when you say you aren't thinking about the Orange Bowl, that you're just going "one day at a time?" Hey, if the fans are already thinking that far ahead, the thought has to cross the players'

A good example of honesty was former Oklahoma basketball coach Billy Tubbs.

Although I personally didn't love the man, Tubbs always expressed what he honestly thought.

A classic Tubbs example: "I don't give a shit how good they are - I'm still confident that we will win." Can't get more honest than that.

No. 3- Be colorful. Why would you want to sound like every other athlete ever quoted? Try and find some different way to express what happened on the field or the court. One of the best creative quoters I've been honored enough to interview is former Iowa State basketball coach Johnny Orr.

Sure, I've loved every quote this man has ever uttered, but this is one of my favorites:

about his son, Pat:

"Whooo, boy! I think the league's going to be a dinger again this year!" Or how about this one from Indiana basketball coach Bobby Knight, talking through the hoop. Gee, I'm so glad I drove all the way to Iowa just to hear that news flash!

NICOLE

POELL

K-State basketball game:

So, K-State players and coaches, just keep these friendly reminders handy, and I guarantee you'll have sports reporters beating a path to your door. You know?

Off road

Mountain biking grows as a sport, although Manhattan offers few locations

AMY ZIEGLER

Imagine plummeting down nerve-tingling hills, maneuvering around sharp curves and flying on hiking trail. Now imagine performing this feat on a mountain bike in a pack of competitors.

straightaways on a rocky, dusty

Mountain biking has risen in popularity during the past decade, and racing as a sport has become more competitive.

Simon Dirnberger, sophomore in aviation at Central Missouri State University, said mountain biking as a sport has grown considerably through the years.

"I grew up on four wheels. I remember that at my first race in Illinois, there were five or 10 of us max. Now there are huge groups, even hundreds of riders at races. It has become a lot more popular now and has turned into a fad sport," Dirnberger said.

Jim Gary, a Fort Riley resident who has been into mountain biking since the mid-1980s, said mountain biking is beginning to involve an establishment instead of existing as a free-willing individual activity like it was in the past.

"It's grown amazingly fast in less than 10 years. I remember riding in Phoenix, which is the mountain biking haven, and the only tracks on the trail were mine because no one was out there. Now that same trail is littered with mountain-bike tracks," Gary said.

Gary said although the sport is booming, Manhattan offers few locations for off-road racers to ride and train.

"I like open territory and being able to explore all day and not see the same trail twice. In Arizona and California, there is a lot more open land, but everything here is private property, and you can't ride on it," Gary said.

Gary said he rarely rides in Manhattan, as few trails exist.

Close in town, the trails are so short that there is not much to do on them except go around in a small circle. It's better tilan nothing, but it would be nice to have a better trail system somewhere.

WAID DAVIS, Owner of Aggie Bike

Fernando Salazar, junior in architecture, leads Bill Stolte, junior in wildlife biology, around a curve during a race Saturday in the Tuttle Creek spillway.

"I got burned out on Tuttle cemetery, but it is illegal. after a few months because they knocked out half the trails. Now I try to bike every day on the double-track Jeep roads at Fort Riley," Gary said.

Jeff Weaver, an alumnus of K-State and member of a Manhattan mountain-biking team, said he and the other racers often train at the cross-country course at Warner more trails.

"I'm hoping that more places will open up trails to us if we erosion and tearing up of the show some responsibility," Weaver said.

Waid Davis, owner of Aggie Bike Station, said people go mountain-bike ride in Manhattan mountain biking in Sunset except Linear Trail and Tuttle."

Little Caesars

"It's designated as a nature walk. Someone almost rode over a student there, so they posted it as off limits, but that doesn't mean that people still don't go there," Davis said.

Debbie Dugan, administrative aide for Manhattan Parks and Recreation, said signs prohibiting the use of bikes on the walking Park, but they are also looking for trail were posted for environmental reasons.

"We were having trouble with terrain. People don't use it now, and to my knowledge, there is no place where a person can legally Dugan said.

Davis said he would like to see more trails built inside Manhattan city limits.

"Close in town, the trails are so short that there is not much to do on them except go around in a small circle. It's better than nothing, but it would be nice to have a better trail system somewhere," Davis said.

Christian Arnold, junior in architecture, said he discovered off-road riding at Tuttle is better than riding on the sidewalks and jumping curbs on campus.

"You get more enjoyment out here and there's no bike cops," Arnold said.

Mark Alley, senior in mechanical engineering, said he has noticed more mountain bikes at K-State than in the past.

"If you look at the bike racks on campus, there aren't any touring bikes anymore. They're all mountain bikes," Alley said.

Davis said he has sold more mountain bikes than any other models in the three years that he has owned Aggie Bike Station.

Seventy-five to 85 percent of what I sell bike-wise is mountain bikes," Davis said.

Davis said students look for name brands, color and price when they select a mountain bike.

"In the lower end, from $200-$400, big names are fairly comparable. In the $400 and above range, the bike is designed for more off-road durability," Davis said.

Gary said he looks for simplicity and reliability when he looks at different models of mountain bikes.

"All the lightweight material is mostly junk. Within certain price ranges, it's fairly comparable, but some companies do a better job of putting together a stronger package for the money. It's a give and take because to get the price down, you have to skimp somewhere," Gary said.

ENTERTAINMENT

Up-and-coming 'smartass' loads act with satire

CASEY MILLER

"What do French people say when they get déjà vu?"

Students wanting an honest answer to this question may be disappointed when they go to comedian Mike Kollmansberger's show tonight at Union Station.

What they will get is an act consisting of similar observations, clever one-liners, innuendo and musical parody.

Kollmansberger's act has fueled his reputation as one of the most successful young comics on the road today.

Kollmansberger's career started in a totally different area professional tennis. While in Florida, practicing beside the likes of Pete Sampras, Jennifer Capriati and Jim Courier, Kollmansberger began doing stand-up comedy. Comedy won out because it was more fun.

"I'm doing basically the same thing," Kollmansberger said, "traveling around doing what I love.'

Kollmansberger describes his style as "smartass."

If he had to pick influences, early in his career it would be Steven Wright's use of bizarre oneliners. Now it is more the sarcastic style of humor like David Letterman.

'I'm not up there trying too hard, and hopefully it doesn't look like I am. I am not a clown!"

But don't worry, Kollmansberger's act is not entirely cerebral. He will tell a few off-color jokes, and there will be music as well. Kollmansberger uses a keyboard for musical parodies of Pink Floyd

COMEDY

Comedian Mike Kollmansberger will perform at 9 p.m. at Union Station in the K-State Union. Admission is free.

and Crash Test Dummies.

Kollmansberger has performed at both colleges and clubs and has no preference of one or the other.

I've had some of my best shows at colleges," he said. "Actually, there is some material that I can do at colleges and not at clubs. Whenever I do Crash Test Dummies at clubs, they think I'm talking about the ones in the cars."

Adding to Kollmansberger's reputation as a comic on the rise is the fact that he has been seen on Comedy Central and Comedy on the Road.

He is reluctant to say he will be appearing in the upcoming motion picture "The Break" playing a crazy tennis player. The film, scheduled for release around the time of next summer's Wimbledon, also stars Maftin Sheen and Rae Dawn Chong.

"I want to get into movies," Kollmansberger said, "but the attitude toward that, especially at colleges, is like, 'Oooh, Mr. Bigshot movie star!'

Meanwhile, Kollmansberger will be touring the country spreading his message, which is about nothing

"I take pride in the fact that my act has no social meaning whatsoever," he said.

Insert your ad here. Collegian advertising • 532-6555

estaura

Scare up some business. Advertise in the KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN 532-6560

THURSDAY NIGHT SPECIALS $1.25 BOTTLES $1.75

MEATSA! MEATSA! 2 Pizzas With Pepperoni, acon, Italian Style Sausage Beef Topping & Ham PEPPERONI! PEPPERONI! SUPREME!SUPREME! ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS 2 LARGE $13.98 NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES™ ONE MEDIUM $5.99*ONE LARGE $7.99 Expires 11-2-94

THURSDAYS Burger & Beer Night every burger comes with a frosty mug of beer or soft drink

$1.75 Zimas 50€ Zima Shots

 Free Jukebox DISCO & DANCIN'

> By CiCo Park Kimball & Seth Childs Candlewood Center

Don't miss Bob's Daily Lunch and Dinner Specials for October! Saturday, Oct. 29

Friday, Oct. 28

Ham & Beans

Thursday, Oct. 27 Hamburger Steak

Sunday, Oct. 30

Roast

Tuesday, Nov. 1 Beef & Noodles

Sol'S DINER 1103 North 3rd • 537-7776 Open 24 Hours

Monday, Oct. 31 Chicken Fried Wednesday, Nov. 2 Chicken Dinner

Chili Cheese Burger

K-State Party Headquarters!

Norman's hotspot for food. football, and live entertainment.

Join us for pregame. postgame and late night.

Congratulations on a great football season. We hope to see you at Brothers!

> Campus Corner 563 Buchanan (405) 329-0040

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-1515 Refined yet relaxed atmosphere Daily Specials

 Steak. Seafood, Pasta, Cajun BBQ, Oriental, & Southwestern •All major credit cards welcome Catering & Banquet Rooms •Children's Menu

 Sunday Brunch Buffet 10:30 a.m. to 3p.m.

•Drink Specials Every Night TV's Televised Sports Coverage

 Club Keno, Kansas Lottery Open until 1 a.m. weekends (Closed 10 p.m.Sunday)

BANQUET & CATERING COMPANY No One Caters Like We Do

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-7770 · Banquet Rooms, Seating Up

To 180 All Parties Welcome Weddings, Receptions •Hail & Farewell's - Party Trays •For All Your Special Events Sorority & Fraternity Parties & Functions

ΑCACIA ΒΣΨ FH AXΩ воп гфв ΦΚΤ ΣΧ XΩ KAO ΦΚΘ ΣΝ AFP ΔΞ ПВФ ДФЕ ΑΤΩ ΔΣΦ ΚΣ ΠΚΑ ΣΣΣ ΔΤΔ ΛΧΑ AEA ПКФ ТКЕ

3003 Anderson Ave. 537-8888

 Excellent Food and Service-Biggest & Best Margaritas in Town •Over 20 Tequilas•Earn Your Degree at Tequila University Sunday Brunch Specials Daily Specials •Tex-Mex Southwestern Style• Hrs: Open 11 am every day Closed 10 pm Sun-Thurs+11 pm Fri & Sat

Workshops, panels focus on women Go as a donor!

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

educational level.

She has also recently been named one of five Century of Women Special Achievement Award winners.

Sandler was the first person appointed to a Congressional committee staff working specifically on women's issues, Butler said.

Friday also includes events for high-school women.

Butler said 175 high-school students will be coming to campus from Manhattan and Junction City high schools to attend workshops focusing on issues important to

They will be joined by approximately 30 college women who will act as mentors for the day, she said.

"Workshops will range from professional-development tips to leadership styles to women in peace issues," Butler said.

Friday's activities will conclude with a wine-and-cheese reception at 7 p.m. in Nichols Theatre in honor of Sandler and Pauline Thornton, an Ohio educator and poet.

At 8 p.m., local women will display a variety of talents.

Marci Maullar, associate professor of theater, said the entertainment will include songs, poetry and a preview of the musical production "Chicago."

The cost of the tickets to Friday night's activities is $4 in advance or $5 at the door.

Maullar said Thornton will speak during the workshops Saturday. Thornton will discuss her research on women in 1950. "Pauline sees 1950 as a major turning point in women's lives," Maullar said.

Butler said the workshops will have presenters along with

"It is really designed to be interactive," she said.

"The panels will be like mentoring panels because it will be facilitated by women with five or more years of professional experience," Butler said.

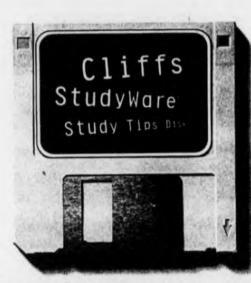

She said the discussion will professional from development to safety issues and beyond.

An art exhibit of local women artists will be on display in Willard Hall Art Gallery throughout the weekend.

Men are welcome to attend.

Priceless information. Free.

Change your study habits for the better with our free study tips disk. Ask for it when you check out Cliffs StudyWare for test preparation and course review. We cover tests from the SAT I to the GRE, and classes from biology to statistics. (Ask about our boxer shorts offer, too.) Details at:

nion Bookstore

K-State Union

Shop at the Store that Gives Back to You!

A Halloween Treat Just For You! 10 Gallon Aquarium

Only $6.99

Limit 1 per coupon Expires 11-7-94

Nutro Max Science Diet IAMS Proplan

Fish Prices Starting at 79¢

(behind Ed Schram Dodge)

coming

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton.

SUPPORT K-STATE FOR HOMECOMING

This is your chance to give the Cats a personal message.

Show your Purple Pride by placing a personalized Cat Tracker ad in the Collegian cheering on the Wildcats as they take on the Iowa State Cyclones this Homecoming Weekend.

Here's how it works; you tell us what you want to say, and we'll plug it into one of the three designs above which YOU choose. The ads will run together in the special Cat Tracker section of the Collegian on Friday, Nov. 4, the day before the Cats play Iowa State at KSU Stadium.

The ads can be from you, your family, your business, your living group, your friends or any other combination.

It only costs $5, so come on in to 103 Kedzie Hall to reserve your ad today.

DEADLINE: 4 p.m. Wed., Nov. 2

COLLEGIAN

Friday, October 28, 8 p.m.

Consistently cited as the foremost piano trio, this Hamberg-based trio has earned a reputation for thoughtful programming and stylistic aquity and has been praised for its technichal excellence, richness of tone, and interpretive imagination. Hear them perform a trio of trios: Haydn's A Major, Schumann's D Minor, and Brahms' B Major

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No.VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden.

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you

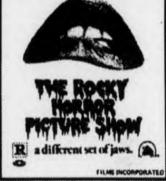

Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, K-Stat e Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

nted in Part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National material for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are ted by the K-State Fine Arts Fee

Friday, Oct. 28 & Saturday, Oct. 29 7p.m. & 9:30p.m. Forum Hall K-State Union UPC Feature Films

Friday & Saturday Oct. 28 & 29 12:00 Midnight

. . . . . . .

UNION Main Ballroom

K-State Union UPC Kaleidoscope

Admission $1.75

For more information, call the UPC Entertainment Line at 532-6570

DOWNTOWN WAMEGO 9-8 Daily 12-5 Sunday

$189.95

QUALITY! MADE IN THE

Vasque hiking boots have one piece leather which minimizes stretching. It's also extremely durable, breathable and flexible; plus it protects against water penetration, moisture load and walking in wet terrain. It features GORETEX.

ANDERBILTS ANDERBILTS ANDERBILTS ANDERBILTS

U.S.A.!

IVERSIONS

THE FAR SIDE

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Today 311 — 9 p.m. at

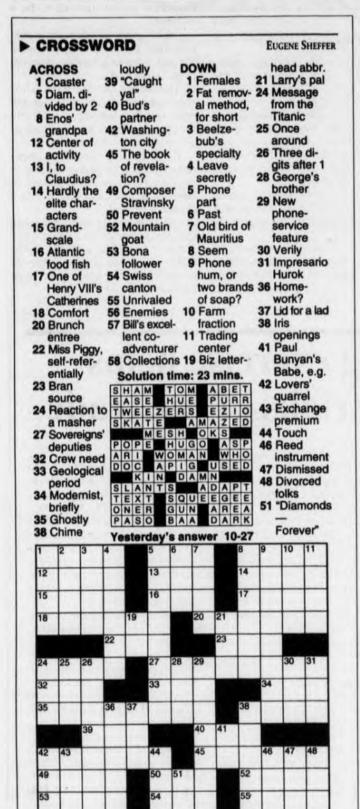

Friday
Speed* - 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum

■ /1 "Speed" — 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum

Puke Weasel and Hostility -9:30 p.m. at Charlie's

OCTOBER 27, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOQUIP

DZUW WDMLK XDLZUL'O

ZCRRC: "NSULU

NMAA, RSULU'O D NSUK. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: LOCAL DOCTOR WHO TREATS MANY AILING FLY-FISHERMEN HAS A WAD-

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Z equals M

311 IN CONCERT

Nebraska punk-rock/rap outfit 311 will play tonight at Snookie's Bar in Aggieville. The doors open at 6 p.m., and the show will start around 8 p.m. Tickets are $7 in advance and $10 at the door.

► LIBERAL DUCK

CALVIN AND HOBBES

TO WATCH, AND A BAG

OF COOKIES EACH!

▶ FOXTROT

I MEAN, HOW DID YOU EVER THINK OF THAT ?!-BERG AND MICHAEL CRICHTON DOLLS ARE A STROKE OF LIANT! IT'S THE BEST HALLOWEEN COSTUME EVER!

WHAT'S WITH THE WHITE MAKE-UP? ARE THIS

Rejection killing lonely reader; he wants to know if there is something wrong with him

Duveaux Write to Cassie: 116 Kedzie Hall

Manhattan, KS

I cannot get a girlfriend to save my life. I want a relationship really bad, but I can never get one. I have received a lot of grief from my friends and associates because I don't talk to girls. It's just that in the past, I have always been rejected. I have been rejected more times than the average man's threshold of pain allows, and the rejections were always hard on me. I don't see my standards, or anything else about me (besides the previous listed problem) as the reason that I am single. I cannot figure out why I constantly see these real ugly guys with very attractive females — ones that I would be proud to be with. I think I have everything a girl supposedly looks for in a guy, and I know I'm better looking than those other guys. I just can't approach a woman for a date. In a school of 20,000 or more, why does not one girl show any interest in me? Why can't they, for once, ask me out? I hear of it happening all of the time, but never to me. Can you

Signed, Cleaning Lady

help?

Dear Cleaning Lady,

Has it ever occurred to you that you're trying too hard? Lots of times love knocks on your door when you're least expecting it True, it would be great if your dream girl came up to you one night, dragged you to the dance floor and told you, "You're the one I've been waiting for." But this is Manhattan, not heaven.

If you get rejected, even continually, who cares? Who's gonna know? Besides, if she says no, she's not worth your time, anyway.

In the meantime, do things in a group. There's safety in numbers. Or say something like this, "Hey, a bunch of us are going to Aggieville at 8 p.m., you're welcome to join us.'

That seems non-threatening to your hopeful date, and if she accepts, and it goes well, then ask her out formally after you've already spent some time together.

Give her a chance to get to know you a bit. If you don't find someone special soon, don't lose any sleep over it.

You've got the rest of you life to be tied to someone else.

► CLASSICAL MUSIC

Trio Fontenay' the source for classical piano music lovers

Piano trio to fill McCain with the sounds of Haydn, Brahms and Schumann

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

lassical music lovers can take solace with the performance of world-renown piano trio "Trio Fontenay" this Friday in McCain Auditorium.

The trio is comprised of Wolf Harden, pianist, Michael Mucke, violinist, and Niklas Schmidt, cel-

The piano trio has made quite a name for itself in the classical-music world by offering wonderful recordings of complete piano trios by the likes of Mozart, Brahms and Mendelssohn.

Among the trios scheduled for the McCain performance include Franz Haydn's "Trio in A Major, Hob. XV:18," Robert Schumann's "Trio in D Minor, Opus 63," and Johannes Brahms' "Trio in B Major, Opus 8."

Not too many people may equate the word

"fontenay" with a piano trio.

A lot of you are probably asking what the word "fontenay" even means.

The trio said the name was chosen for two reasons. First, "fontenay" is the old French translation for "source" and "fantasy."

Second, it is also the name of the street near the Hamburg Conservatory where the trio first assembled to practice.

For the past 14 years, "Trio Fontenay" could be considered the "source" of classical-music piano trios in the recording world.

Currently, the trio is working with Teldec Classics records on its second recording of the complete Schubert trios.

The group has performed mostly in Europe for the past 14 years of its existence. The trio made its debut in America at Carnegie Hall's Weill Recital Hall in 1993-94. Its current North American tour includes Toronto, Buffalo, Houston and Kansas

Trio Fontenay has garnered numerous European awards, including the 1994 Preis Der Deutschen Schallplattendritik, the German Record Critics Award. In 1985, the trio won the first prize in the National German Music Competition in Bonn. Mark Morris, staff writer for the Kansas City Star, writes of Trio Fontenay's performance in Kansas City last week: "their warm sound completely filled the hall without ever being forced." "Ravishing may be too mild a word to describe the performance," Morris said.

The trio's performance in March of 1994 at Weill Recital Hall in New York was met with great critical acclaim.

Alex Ross, of the New York Times said of the trios performance: "The polish, balance and vigor of their playings are almost without peer among trios currently in circulation."

CLASSICAL MUSIC AT McCAIN

The classical performing trio, "Trio Fontenay," will perform at 8 p.m. on Friday in McCain Auditorium. For ticket information, call 532-6428.

Large selection of masks & costumes and much more at Confetti s (In Aggleville) for your convenience of Poyntz, Manhattan

Have one of the BEST parties ever!

Rent a portable hot tub for your next partyl

Call Wayne

537-7587 539-7561

Draw for your Halloween MYSTERY DISCOUNT and SAVE 10% to 30% Off all sweaters, skirts, slacks & blazers.

1225 Moro

Aggieville

NOW THROUGH NOVEMBER 2

Wood Headcovers

Golf Socks

Golf Shirts Windbreaker Jackets

Shoes Jumbo Drivers

• Umbrellas Individual Woods STAGG HILL GOLF CLUB PRO SHOP

539-1041 Holidome on K-18

• Golf Balls

Golf Gloves

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

A bat found its way into Anderson Hall Tuesday morning where it got comfortable on the ceiling.

► CAMPUS

Anderson Hall going a little batty

LOLA SHRIMPLIN

Imagine that an incoming student is looking at the pictures in Anderson Hall.

Something dry and leathery lands on his shoulder. No, it's not President Wefald congratulating him for choosing K-State. It's a bat.

A bat made its way into the main part of Anderson on Tuesday and was hanging from the ceiling in the main hallway.

"They try to go into the attic and somehow get confused and come into the main building," Shelly Broccolo, administrative officer in the office of the vice president for administration and finance. She said that it's rare for the bats to come into the main building, but when they do, she calls facilities, and they come get the offending creature.

"They catch them and cage them and set them free," she said. Warren Berg, facilities maintenance supervisor, said that they usually use a ladder and a bucket to get the bats out of

Sometimes the bats fly around, but no one has ever been bitten, Berg said.
"They always wear leather gloves," Berg said.

Facilities has removed bats from Seaton, Anderson and

"They just find a hole and crawl in," Berg said.

When a bat was previously in the building, one woman saw it and locked herself in the conference room, said Krissy Collins, student receptionist in the Office of Admissions.

Bats don't limit themselves to the main hall, either. One bat made its way into the back part of the admissions office.

"Ours have always been in the back," said Sally Routson. administrative officer and proclaimed office coordinator in the Office of Admissions.

She said that they never see the bats in the front part of the

One bat even came up from the basement and was sitting on the stairs, she said.

A worker caught it in her coat and set it free, Collins said.

The bats just kind of accidentally get into the buildings, said Dr. Christine Kolmstetter, assistant instructor in clinical services in the Veterinary Medical Center.

"You don't want to get bitten,"

She said that although it's rare, bats can carry rabies. It would be wise to get a net and wear heavy gloves if you're planning to try to remove the bat.

Bats are found in most campus buildings Kolmstetter said.

► MANHATTAN

FEMA distributes funds

City, counties receive money for food and shelter

DEANA TESKE

Riley and Pottawatomie counties and the city of Manhattan will receive $30.815 in emergency food and shelter funding this fall.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency has announced a plan for distributing $130 million in federal funding to states in need to help feed the hungry and shelter the homeless in the upcoming cold months, Ailleen Cray, chairperson of the local Federal Emergency Management Agency and executive director of the United Way in Manhattan,

The FEMA program has been distributing funds for 12 years, FEMA Public Affairs spokesperson, Marc Wolfson, said.

The program is appropriated by Congress, and the funds are distributed by a national board to the states and counties with the most need. Members of non-profit organizations like the American Red Cross and the United Way make up the national board, Wolfson said.

"Where the funding goes depends on the unemployment and poverty rates," he said.

After a county has received its funding, a local board consisting of representatives from area non-profit organizations will decide who receives a portion of the funding based on applications from the local agencies, Cray said.

This money is used to expand the existing programs that provide food and shelter to this area," she

The local board is made up of representatives from area non-profit organizations similar to the national board as well as government officials from each county receiving funding, including Manhattan.

A recent change in board participation is the requirement of each local board to have a formerly homeless person invited to be a

"This gives us firsthand insight into what the needs of these people are and what will benefit them the most," Cray said.

The board has 25 days after receiving notification to get the word out that funding is available for agencies, to review applications and to distribute the money.

Each agency needs to meet certain criteria to receive funding to be used for food for a pantry or costs of utilities and rent to run a shelter, Cray said,

"St. George in Pottawatomie County happens to have a high poverty level, so we will try to make sure the food pantry there is given assistance once they have applied," she said.

Field-training exercise helps cadets learn tricks of the trade

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

time staring at our food than actually eating it.

The MREs also had such items as crackers, peanut butter, coffee, toilet paper, matches, tobasco sauce and candy.

At about 9 p.m., Hebert and I left with the MS-3s. Their mission was to find the objective, which was about 700 meters away and take it over. The objective was distinguished by a red chemical light and was held by the MS-2s. The MS-4s helped oversee both the MS-2s and 3s.

When we were at a point close to the objective, Tony Bowman, senior in accounting, asked if we would like to see the night-field activity from the other viewpoint. He took us to the objective, where we found several MS-2s and MS-4s shivering in the cold and waiting for the MS-3s to arrive.

More than an hour later, at about midnight, the MS-3s still hadn't arrived, and the MS-2s were getting impatient. They began to plan a counterattack. Before the counterattack was necessary, the MS-3s arrived, and there was a mock attack. Blanks were fired from the M-16s, but the cadets just shouted "bang" when they were within 10 meters of each other as a safely precaution.

Richard Jones, sophomore in criminal justice and sociology, said the night raid was his favorite part of FTX this year.

"My favorite part was probably the night raid and shooting at the juniors," Jones said. "We knew they were lost, and we were tired of waiting, so we decided to go on the offensive and planned to attack."

The next morning at 5, we woke up and had a warm time." breakfast. Then, there was a tank and Bradley fighting vehicle demonstration. Before the demonstrations began, I was given a firsthand look at the tank by Pfc. Siegfried Owen. The tank travels at about 41 miles per hours and weighs about 66 tons. To drive the tank, there is a throttle, like on a motorcycle, and the tank has an automatic transmission and gauges similar to an automobile.

Later, I was given a ride, along with about six of the other cadets, in the Bradley.

"It's going to be bumpy," Lt. Roger Bowman said. "Stay in your seat, and don't scream."

After the bumpy ride in the Bradley, weapons were laid out for demonstration. At about noon, we left in vans and went to the rifle range. Since I'd never fired a weapon before. I was a little apprehensive when they asked me if I'd like to try shooting at the targets but decided to give it a try. I quickly learned that marksmanship wasn't quite my thing, even though my teacher, Dan Hellman, senior in accounting, said I was doing OK since it was my first time.

For some of the MS-1s, this too was their first opportunity to fire a weapon.

Megan Jeannin, freshman in animal science, said it was her first time but thought it was a good experience.

"I thought I was going to shoot 50 bullets and miss everything and get a zero," Jeannin said. "I'm not sure what my score was because they didn't tell us, but they said I did really well, especially for it being my first

Everyone loaded back into vans and headed for our last event of FTX, the obstacle course.

Throughout FTX, teamwork had been emphasized, but during the obstacle course, this was especially necessary. The cadets ran through the course in teams of four and encouraged each other, physically helping their teammates if necessary.

After completing the course, Snyder and Jeannin talked about how they felt about it.

"Awesome," Snyder said. "Halfway through, I thought, 'Shit, I can't do this,' but I did." Jeannin said teamwork played a big part in helping them through the course. "Our team was really good,"

Jeannin said. "We'd fall behind, and they would drop back with us and help us out."

After each team had completed the obstacle course, the cadets hiked up a hill to where the helicopters would return. The general topic of conversation was about what everyone planned to do when they reached home. which seemed to include pizza. beer and the K-State football game against Colorado. Even though the freshmen called the seniors "sir," the camaraderie and respect was evident as they joked with each other.

After the ride home as the cadets tiredly filed into the Military Science Building, a senior said, "Pretend like your day had just begun. We have a lot to do."

The cadets nodded their heads in agreement as they went in to spend the last few hours of an extremely long day cleaning their weapons.

Population affects water supplies

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

In a handout given after the speech, it was stated that Americans constitute only 5 percent of the world's population, but they consume 24 percent of the world's

"As the population grows, groundwater supplies are being replenished," Waak said. "Water is the only place where we come together with other species."

In Cairo, Waak said, there was a wetland area in the midst of the

"It's very impressive, but in fact, it's artificially created," she said.

"They have channeled water out there to help out the wildlife."

Waak said with these facts in mind, the main subject of the conference was how to achieve population stabilization without using abortion as an alternative.

"Eastern European countries have been using abortion as the said. "It's a scary situation." Waak said of the 113-page document passed out at the convention, there was only one paragraph about abortion in the 16 chapters.

The alternative suggestions provided to solve overpopulation included avoiding unplanned pregnancies, stopping at two, one or zero children and supporting others' decisions to limit family

Waak said everything people do can affect the world even when they don't realize it.

She gave an example of accidentally running into a friend from Hong Kong in a Hong Kong bookstore last summer. She said when she asked him what the odds were, he said, "Six million to one."

"We live in a very, very small world," Waak said. "The things you do in Manhattan can have an effect on the entire world."

decision is expected in December.

Construction is scheduled to begin early in 1995, with the plant complete, operational and rolling out its first plane all in 1996.

► INDUSTRY

Cessna officials, cities quiet about plans

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA - The race for a new Cessna Aircraft Co. assembly plant is hard to handicap because it's being run mostly out of sight. Officials with Cessna are being quiet about the rules and specifications for the contest and have sworn competing cities to "We are trying to mitigate the amount of Monday-morning quarterbacking from the various.

and sundry interest groups that get involved in this kind of thing,' Dave Franson, Cessna spokesman, said. "We have steadfastly refused to indulge in conducting this particular review in the media," he said. "We have said we wouldn't discuss the involved, and we still won't." The five remaining competitors for the plant that will assemble piston-powered planes are Emporia, Hays, Independence, Manhattan and Pittsburg. They entered the home stretch Wednesday with the submission of their final proposals.

The company will analyze the cities' packages of financial incentives, as well as transportation advantages and facilities - from ease of highway access to whether their airports have instrument landing systems or must install them so that Cessna can test instruments on its planes. A

·AGGIEVILLE 539-7666

Electrical and Computer Engineering Students Early Enrollment for Spring 1995

Check the bulletin board behind the EECE office (Du 261) for details of the Early Enrollment procedures. Early Enrollment will only be conducted:

SENIORS AND JUNIORS:

Monday, Oct. 31 and Tuesday, Nov. 1, 1-4:30 p.m.

Monday, Nov. 7 and Monday, Nov. 14,

EXTRA SESSION:

ALL STUDENTS:

Tuesday, Nov. 22

1 - 4:30 p.m.

Sign-up sheets are in the EECE office.

Halloween Is Almost Here!

Hurry! Reserve Your Costume Now!

Let us help you put together that prize winner. We still have lots of items left from our big sale at 75% off...Hurry!

Marie's Costumes

(We will be open on Sundays, Oct. 23 & Oct. 30) 2011 Ft. Riley Blvd. • 539-5200 • Open 10 a.m. - 7 p.m.

JLASSIFIEDS

ds must be paid in advance we an established account

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY

20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25

each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

each word over 20 - $.35 per word 5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

We reserve the right to edit, reject or roperly classify any ad.

HEADLINES For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

ss you have an establi Student Publications.

Cash, check. MesterCard or Vise are

ed. There is a $10 service charge

HOW TO PAY

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you wan your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CANCELLATIONS

remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS if you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

532-6555

532-7309

Antiques

Computers

386SX. MAGNAVOX com

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

Chris (800)289-5685.

Pets and

Supplies

Tickets to

Buy/Sell

MACINTOSH LC III 4/250.

KITTEN PARADISE at Pets

N-Stuff, 1105 Waters. Lovable and playful Per-sians- black, calico, cream, blue, or red, $249. Himalayan/ Siamese mixed breed $79 beautifull 539-9494.

14-inch Apple monitor HP Deskwriter printer

$1600, negotiable, 539-1127.

puter and keyboard, 2 MB Ram, 40 MB hard drive. CD-Rom. In-cludes MS-Dos 6 and Soundblaster $500. 539-6643.

ER. Complete sys-tem including print-er only $500. Call

TIME MACHINE Antique

Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m.

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

TRAVEL/

Tour Package

VACATIONS, BAHAMAS

JARUARY 2 - 15, 1995 - 4, 5, 4 08 7, RIGHTS

STEAMBOAT 168

VAIL/BEAVER CREEK NA

1.800-SUNCHASE

NOBODY DOES SHI BREAKS BETTER!

GET

THE

WORD

OUT.

532-6555

WYA GOTTA

STEAMBOAT

Cruise for two, $400 or best offer. Hotel stay in Tampa or Orlando for two, $100 or best offer. Must sell. 776–3867.

TRIPS

BOARD

Announcements

$50 REWARD for informa tion leading to arrest and conviction of thief who stole hood orna-ment from Mercedes at Jardine apartments Saturday night. Call Bill 532-6890 ext.18.

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

50 PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Load-ed Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141. ADVANCED FLIGHT Training from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128. COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

HOW IN the world would you spend $17,000? Have an idea? Come to Student Affairs and Sostudent Affairs and So-cial Services meeting Oct. 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the Office of Student Activities and Services and tell us!

PLAN A stunning winter wedding with Bloom-ing Dale's winter floral. Ask for Diane. 539–4751.

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days. 030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a per-

WANDA FROM GOOD-LAND. We met 10/21 playing pool in Char-lie's and it was your lucky day. Really en-joyed talking with you, but I turned around and you were gone! Gave my number to someone you know-hope you will call! -The

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms

Not enough time on your hands to get everything done? Check the Classifieds service directory

OLLEGIAN Kedzie 103 532-6555 and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

where, discounts, Wareham, Days Inn, Houston Street. Call 539–9431.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Minimum seven month lease, 537-8389.

For Rent-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919. ~~~~~~

CAMBRIDGE SQ. APT, *2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

SE MANHATTAN Apartments, four-bedroom apartments avail able now, Corner of College and Claffin.

9:00-4:30

ONE-BEDROOM. NEAR campus, 1807 College Hts., laundry facilities, central air. $405/month. Jan.- Aug. 776-6313.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

Rooms Available

like to help college girl, room and meals, exchange for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would

For Rent-Houses

smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554. ROOMMATES NEEDED for a four-bedroom house. Nice, own room, spa-cious $187.50. Call 587-9131 ask for Heath-

For Sale-

Mobile Homes

COUNTRYSIDE BROKER AGE has 15 new and used mobile homes to choose from. Most on lot. We finance. Call Mike 539-2325.

Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE LY: Two large bed-rooms in nice, spacious four-bedroom house. Cheap rent plus utili-ties. Lots of extras. 587-9131: Sarah.

BIG ROOM in two-bed-room, two blocks from campus, Aggieville. Move in now. Great house, no pets. $230/

BOCKERS II Catering. Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-room. only $215/ month. Water, trash paid. 537-1679.

ROOMMATE FEMALE

environment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent $220, but negotiable, and one-half utilities. Available Dec. 15. 587-8618.

FULLY FURNISHED house

LOOKING FOR: one female to share rent/ utilities on two-bedroom, one and one-half bath, furnished mobile home

NEED A place to live? Fam-ily has room for college girl to live in. Board and food, exchanged duties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

NEED ROOMMATES im-

hood, carpeted, three bathrooms, big yard, $250/ month, no utili-ties. Send letter to 2306 Casement. Include tele-phone, we'll make ap-pointment. E-Mail Na-tive@KSUVM.KSU.Edu QUIET CONDITIONS, walk apartment. Non-smoker. Begin anytime from now to Dec. 1. $190. 776-3624.

WANTED NON-SMOKING

AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two-

Resume/ Typing

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordpro-cessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, re-ports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings) month until May. 539-1056.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom house beginning in January, $200/ month; one-third utilities; washer and dryer; close to campus. 776-1890.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to cam-pus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month.

needed immediately. Extremely nice apart-ment. Pool, patio, own

FEMALE TO share nice two-bedroom apart-ment. Own room, excel-

FEMALE/ MALE roommate needed Jan. 1. Nice, own room. Call 537-2611 leave mes-close to campus for fe-male. $280/ month all bills paid. 539-6098.

References required 537-3257.

NEED FOURTH roommate for four-bedroom house. Excellent envi-ronment, laundry, own room, close to campus. $170 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-9813.

mediately, very nice house and neighbor-to campus and Ag-gieville, ample parking. Male student to share spacious two-bedroom and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities 539-1554.

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom, nice, new house, $200, 723 Bluemont, washer/ dry-er, own bathroom. 539-1056. Dec. 1.

Sublease

bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa-cious, modern. Balco-ny, 587-9394. SUBLEASE NEEDED. Two males need a room-mate $215 a month. A block away from cam-pus and Aggieville. 539-2540/587-4666.

Tutor

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tu-tor. Five years GTA ex-perience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave mes-sage: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642. EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Pregnancy Testing

225

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338 ·Free pregnancy

· l'otally confidential ·Same day results

*Call for appointment Located across from campus in

Anderson Village Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Musicians/DJs

240

BASSIST WANTED to com-plete metal/ hard rock band. Influences: Smashing Pumpkins, Pantera and everything in between. Call Jeff 776-3819 after 5p.m.

DRUMMER AND singer

needed for a heavy al-ternative, funkoblues band. Call 539-3926, leave message

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Automotive

Repair

Other Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call guarantee. Call (800)645-3525 for infor-

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-tan, KS 66502. PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services Dale L. Clinton, M.D.

Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertise-ments in the Employ-ment/Career classificament/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such employment op-portunity with reason-able caution. The Col-legian urges our read-ers to contact the Bet-ter Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, To-peka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

ATTENTION- COLLEGE Pro is now interviewing for Franchise Managers for next summer in KC. Wichita, and Topeka. All positions must be filled by February. Run filled by February. Run your own business. Build your resume and earn Internship credit while making good money to continue your education. I did it and made $10,000. For more information call Todd at 587-8255.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

BIG MONEY part-time work. Positions avail-able immediately as campus reps. Call campus reps. C (800)783-2883 today. UISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext. C57682. SHIPS NOV

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assem-bling products at home. No experience. (504)646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438.

KANSAS TRADER is look ing for motivated indi-viduals to sell advertis-ing for our paper, 20 percent commission to start! Make your own hours. Call 539-8100 for more information! PART-TIME STUDENT em-ployment, ORSP Copy Center 10- 20 hours per week. Reliable, quick learner and ability to work without super-

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire inter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

Needed

groups, 776-0897

Business

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employments in the Employ-ment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such business oppor-tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information (202)298-9065.

ELECTRIC WORD Proces

FOR SALE: Brother Word

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location

MOUNTAIN BIKE. Schwinn Hurricane, 16-inch. Toe clips. Good condition. Also, stairclimber for sale. Call 539-9485. edge of campus build-ings preferred. Contact Dawn Caldwell, 2 Fairchild Hall, 532-6804.

ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext.

promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial money and free trips. Call the nation's leader,

NON-PROFIT FOUNDA-TION needs U now-Nov. 5. Only couple hours can list volun-teer activity on you re-sume 1 Individuals/ groups 776-0897

Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454:

TWO TICKETS to the Oklahoma game for sale 1-468-3545.

MARKET

Items for Sale

sor with spell check and extra supplies. $125; B/W portable TV $10; Patio drape and brass rod. 539-5819.

Processor- In great shape and very nice. $250. 776-7732. across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

Leave message.

Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901. WANTEDIII INDIVIDUALS. student organizations and small groups to promote Spring Break

Volunteers

Opportunities

PORTATION

Automobiles 1950 CJ3A, Chevy 350, four speed, overdrive, Kayline top, much more, not show but very good, $5400. (316)835-2169 or (913)537-2456. 7 MUSTANG, blue $1550, 1969 Mustang, red $1300. 539-5553.

1975 MERCURY Marquis, 22,000 on rebuild, power everything, excellent condition, very dependable, $1000. 539-3726.

1983 SUBARU Wagonfive door, sunroof, AM/FM stereo tape deck, automatic trans-mission. $975. Call 776-0744. 1987 MUSTANG GT V-8

5.0 liter, red, one owner, new tires. $3900, negotiable. Call Darren at 539-8395. 1988 TOYOTA Tercel, two-door, automatic, who best offer. 537-5025. ACCORD- HONDA, 1982, four-door, five-speed, air conditioned, AM/ FM cassette, 90K, $2000.537-8967.

Bicycles

520 E

TREK 850 Antelope. Practi cally brand new, call Mike for details, 587

1983 HONDA XR200R dirt bike, new chain, great condition, this bike is worth seeing! $850, 539-5005 leave message.

1989 KAWASAKI Ninja

600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best offer. Must sale. Call 539-5068 after 8p.m.

Motorcycles

Car Pool

GOING TO Wichita this weekend? Call Amy at 587-9533. Will pay portion of gas.

> Track down your market with the Collegian

Target the 20,000 students and 5,000 faculty/staff with a classified ad.

It's only $5

for 20 words.

KANSAS STATE

JOLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

020 Lost and Found 030 Personals

040 Meetings/Events 050 Parties-n-More

U REAL ESTATE 105 For Rent -Apt. Furnished

110 For Rent -

Apt. Unfurnished

120 For Rent - Houses 125 For Sale - Houses 220 Sewing/Alterations

135 For Sale -Mobile Homes 140 For Rent - Garage

145 Roommate Wanted

150 Sublease

Mobile Homes

115 Rooms Available

130 For Rent -

155 Stable/Pasture 160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale

20 SERVICE DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

210 Resume/Typing 215 Desktop Publishing

225 Pregnancy Testing

230 Lawn Care 235 Child Care

240 Musicians/DJs

245 Pet Services

250 Automotive Repair

255 Other Services 305

CAREERS 310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Neede

330 Business

Opportunities

EMPLOYMENT

40% OPEN MARKET

420 Garage/Yard Sales 425 Auction

430 Antiques

435 Computers

410 Items for Sale

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

440 Food Specials 445 Music Instruments

450 Pets and Supplies

455 Sporting Equipment 460 Stereo Equipment

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

500 TRANS. PORTATION 405 Wanted to Buy 510 Automobiles

> 520 Bicycles 530 Motorcycles 540 Car Pool

610 Tour Packages 620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets

designation. TIPS FOR WRITING A

TRIPS

CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price.

looking at something in their price range

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN

This tells buyers if they are

CATEGORIES

looking for, the classified ads

have been arranged by category

and sub-category. All categories

are marked by one of the large

images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number

To help you find what you are

PERSONALS.

Students may fail

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

are caught cheating may be punished by failure on the exam, quiz, or composition by failure in the course and/or by expulsion from the University.

"We have not decided on a definitive punishment yet," Post

Bill Feyerharm, associate dean for the College of Arts and Sciences, said three options being considered for the students who have cheated are failure of the course, suspension from the University and criminal charges for stealing the exam.

Feyerharm said the names of students who were involved will not be released unless criminal charges are filed against them.

This investigation is being conducted under the guidelines set by our academic dishonesty policies," he said.

"This will remain an internal matter, and the names of those involved will not be made public," Feyerharm said.

John Fairman, assistant vice president for institutional advancement, said students who were found to have stolen the test were more likely to have criminal charges brought against them.

The rest of the students are more apt to fail the course, he said.

Fairman said the issue of cheating has the most serious implications to a university.

'If you water down your standards, ultimately the value of your degree is lowered," he said. Post said the students who cheated are not the only ones who are going to be hurt. 'Any time something like this happens, it's going to look bad for the whole University," Post said.

Employers are going to look at résumés from K-State, and they may start to wonder how the student got such a high GPA. The

Lin Books and Copies

Permanent/Part-Time

Starting at $5.50 an Hour!

WIII

value of the degree has been cheapened," she said.

This incident has also tainted Post's view of her students.

"When I walk into my class, I wonder which one of them has really done their work. It really colors your view of students and of individuals," she said.

Post said this incident will definitely cause some changes and tightening of security.

One thing that might change is less flexibility for students who are not able to take a test at the set time, she said.

"After this, how can you continue to accommodate students who have other obligations? Makeup exams may also come to an end," she said.

Post said the cheating will more than likely not only affect biology students, but also students in other

"Any professor who has a class with a large enrollment will probably take this incident into consideration when they are setting their policies," she said.

Jim Coffman, University provost, said the entire College of Arts and Sciences will reevaluate its testing procedures because of this incident.

"Cheating is an attack upon those values which serve as the foundation of our system of education and will not be tolerated," he said.

Everyday

Two-fers

2 - TOPPINGS each

2 - COKES with ice

$8.45

Pizza Shuttle

Wanted: People to take inventory in retail

Apply in person by November 2!

stores. Weekday mornings and wekends-mostly on Sundays. Math aptitude a must. Ten-key calculator experience is helpful, but not necessary.

Manhattan Job Service • 621 Humboldt

WATCH

2 - PIZZAS with

"No Coupon" Specials

Representation an issue Children enjoy games at in secession discussion

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

issues that were raised in the letter. Some issues covered were how the KSUARH makes its policies, how voting is regulated and how programs are put together.

The main discussion, however, focused on the need for more effective representation of residents in the hall by the organization.

"I don't think it is a goal for just Marlatt," said Matt Vanschenkhof, Marlatt Hall president and senior in hotel and restaurant management.

"I think it is a goal that all residence-hall students are represented better by the organization they are a part of."

Many residents are not happy with the way KSUARH represents them, said Marlatt Hall Chief Justice James Hall, senior in nuclear engineering. Members of the KSUARH executive board did not see a problem.

"We try to represent every resident, but we can't make 3,400 phone calls," Lin Bliss, KSUARH president and junior in pre-medicine and history, said. "We must rely on each hall to carry information back for us.

The Department of Housing and Dining Services, which oversees KSUARH, sees the interaction between Marlatt and the KSUARH as positive, assistant director of

(NO coupon needed. NONE accepted)

Everyday

Three-fers

- TOPPING each

- COKES with ice

776-5577

$10.34

3 - PIZZAS with housing Shah Hasan said.

"Regardless of the outcome, I think it will have a positive effect,"

Hasan said. Communication was a concern.

"There is a problem with communication when I'm supposed to be one of the most-informed people in the hall, and I don't hear anything," Marlatt Hall resident assistant Scott Schlessman, senior in advertising, said.

The issue of Marlatt's possible secession from the KSUARH was not resolved at the meeting.

There are a lot of issues that we still want to cover," Vanschenkhof said. "I still don't think that ARH represents my hall. They may be representing us, but effectively."

Another meeting will be scheduled at the next KSUARH general meeting on Nov. 1.

Union children's carnival

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

off his costume. Daniel said he enjoyed the fishing game, even though he couldn't remember what he'd won. His sister, Brandy, 9, sported a fuzzy pair of pajamas and big bunny slippers, while sucking on a large pacifier.

"I liked going to jail," Brandy said. "They scooted you in with all the fake spider webs, and if you touched the green papers you had to stay in longer.'

Kirsten Schultz, junior in elementary education, and Kristen Schultz, junior in radio and TV, stood back and enjoyed the smile on their nephew Brody's face as he played games.

Kirsten and Kristen's mother and father came from Topeka to bring their nephew to the carnival.
"I skirted that candle off," Brody said as he pushed his hand into his bag of goodies and pulled out the bright pink ball he won for extinguishing the candle with a squirt gun.

"Brody's just 2, but he really enjoyed it last year, so we told the girls to watch the bulletin boards to see when it was going on this year," Brody's mother said.

The Schultz's said they plan to come again next year because it was a great time.

By the smiles of the children, it was clear that a good time was had by all, Claussen said.

"It's my favorite program. It crosses all cultures and all ages. and it's a fun, safe way to spend your Halloween," Claussen said.

SNOOKIES & K-ROCK PRESENT

THURSDAY, OCT. 27

DOORS OPEN AT

TICKETS $7 IN ADVANCE / $10 DAY OF SHOW

THIS SHOW WILL SELL OUT! GET YOUR TICKETS NOW.

NOVEMBER ENROLLMENT SPRING 1995

WHO:

If enrolled on-campus MANHATTAN for Fall 1994

DATES: NOTE:

November 2-4, 7-11, 14-18, 21-22

Your appointment time to enroll will be printed on the top right hand corner of your Class Enrollment form, and is assigned on a priority system of hours you have completed.

If you miss your appointment time, you can enroll after your assigned time through November 22.

If you have a financial hold(s), it will be printed on the lower left-hand corner of your form.

All financial holds must be cleared before you can enroll.

Spring 1995 Class Schedules are available in the K-State Union Bookstore

CLASSIFICATION Graduate student Senior/5th year Junior Sophomore

APPROXIMATE STARTING DATE November 2

Freshman

November 2 November 4 November 8 November 14

LOCATION OF CLASS ENROLLMENT FORM:

COLLEGE Agriculture Architecture & Design Arts & Sciences

Business Administration

Education

Engineering Human Ecology Graduate School  LOCATION Advisor's office Department office Pre-professional & undeclared in dean's office; others in department office Pre-professional & general in Calvin 107; others in department office Pre-professional & general in Bluemont 13; others in advisor's office Department office

Advisor's office Dean's office

WHO:

If enrolled in a SALINA course(s) for Fall 1994

DATES:

November 2-4, 7-11, 14-18, 21-22

NOTE:

If you have a financial hold(s), it will be printed on the lower left-hand corner of your form. All financial holds must be cleared before you can enroll. Spring 1995 Class Schedules are available on October 31.

Beginning October 31, pick up your Spring 1995 Class Schedule in your department office and schedule an appointment with your advisor.

Beginning November 2, bring your completed Class Enrollment form to the Library Conference Room (Tech Center).

PROCEDURE:

FOR THE WINTER INTERSESSION LISTING IN THE OCTOBER 31 COLLEGIAN INTERSESSION IS DECEMBER 27, 1994-JANUARY 10, 1995 REGISTRATION FOR INTERSESSION WILL BE IN 217 WILLARD HALL, DECEMBER 6 AND IN 131 COLLEGE COURT DECEMBER 7 AND LATER. WINTER INTERSESSION FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL THE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION, 532-5566. KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

ATTENTION

■ Today is the last day to drop a class.

■ A DUI checkpoint has been scheduled for tonight on Denison Avenue. FRIDAY

75 55 partly cloudy

WEATHER - PAGE 2

OCTOBER 28, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 49

► SGA

Surveys prepared, reviewed by Senate

AMY SIMON

Students, faculty and staff will offer suggestions to the parking situation on campus when a survey is sent out this month.

Michele Meier, Parking and Campus Safety Committee chairwoman, updated Student Senate on the survey at its meeting Thursday night.

A survey will be sent to students, faculty and staff Nov. 7.

Meier said 600 students, 300 classified staff and 300 unclassified staff were randomly selected to complete this survey.

This survey allows respondents to choose among four choices to the parking problem.

A proposal offered in the survey is to build a 1200-car parking garage near Memorial Stadium. The estimated cost of the garage is $10.2 million.

Secondly, survey respondents may choose to begin a campusshuttle system. This system would take students from the Bramlage Coliseum lots to other points on campus at an estimated cost of $525,000 per year.

Another proposal would limit the sale of campus parking permits. People who live within three blocks of campus wouldn't be able to buy a permit. The final option is to do nothing and continue with the status quo.

Steffany Carrel, Student Senate representative to Faculty Senate, said maintaining the would take students from the status quo should not be an Bramlage Coliseum lots to other option to the parking problem.

"Do you really think that doing nothing should be an option?" Carrel said. "We have a real problem."

Brad Finkeldei, student body vice president, said students he has talked to think campus parking is adequate, because there are almost always empty parking spaces near Weber Hall.

"Some people do not think there is a parking problem because you can drive anytime on campus and find a parking spot," Finkeldei said. "Even though I may disagree with this, I think it is a valid solution that should be included on the survey.

Meier said survey results will be completed by Dec. 1. However, the group that will make the decision is undecided.

"Today, we were told that President Wefald's staff will make the final decision," she said. "Right now, that is unclear."

► CAMPUS

Campaign flyers sent illegally via campus mail

LISA ELLIOTT

Campaign flyers for Jobs for Manhattan were illegally mailed through campus mail last week.

The flyers were mailed from an unidentified department on campus, said Ed Rice, assistant vice president of the Division of Facilities.

"Our people go out and pick up mail from the departments," Rice said.

Campus mail is for interdepartmental business mail, said Loleta Sump, manager of support services for facilities.

Off-campus organizations are not allowed to send mail through campus mail, Rice said.

Campus-mail privileges have been abused before, he said.

Facilities employees try to monitor the mail, but some things slip through the cracks, Rice said.

"If we can trace it down to a department, then we tell them they can't do this," Rice said.

When the sender cannot be identified, the mail is forwarded to the receiver with an attached note that explains the policy and asks the receiver to notify the sender, Sump said.

Facilities Central Mail does not have time to research every piece of mail that comes in, Sump said.

All the sorting is done by hand.

The sorters identify questionable items of mail by sight during the sorting process.

When the department cannot be traced, facilities cannot take any corrective

Rice said the only corrective action could be taken by department heads and

"Most people don't understand or are not aware of it," Rice said.

When the sender is contacted, they are usually apologetic, he said.

SET CLOCKS BACK SATURDAY NIGHT

Don't forget to set your clocks back one hour Saturday night. Daylight saving time begins at 2 a.m. Sunday.

PHILL SPIKER/Collegian

Halloween Hanging

Ryan Edelman, junior in agricultural business, and Travis Vest, junior in animal science, put the finishing touches on their Halloween dummy hanging from their Chase Manhattan apartment balcony Thursday afternoon.

CAMPUS STREETS

CONSTRUCTION CONGESTION

New museum adds to campus confusion

STEFFANY CARREL
Collegian

Construction on the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art is about to begin, causing the usual disruptions to traffic and parking on campus. Nelson Britt, director of the museum, said upon completion, the Beach art museum will be one of those milestones that sets K-State and the surrounding community apart.

"The way I like to put it is that we will have a magnificent museum in a wonderful location on a beautiful campus," he said.

Progress on the museum, which will lie just east of Thompson Hall, will begin in the next week or two, said Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning and University architect.

"By the first full week in November, construction will be underway," he said.

In preparation for construction on the art museum, Carter said facilities is involved in a few activities.

"We've already started marking the A-1 lot for the construction trailers," Carter said. "And we're taking care of traffic.

"For example, soon the 14th Street entrance to campus will be closed to through traffic," he said.

As a result of construction on the museum, Lot A-1 will be reduced in size from 120 spots to 18, Carter said.

"In anticipation of the spots we're losing in A-1, we've added over 50 spots in the A-2 parking lot," Carter said. "Further, we're making some changes to Mid Campus Drive this weekend, changing the parallel parking to diagonal parking."

Carter said with all of the new parking spots they have added, the loss of spots in Lot A-1 will

See MUSEUM Page 12

Lot A-1 to close, Mid Campus Drive to become 2-way

LISA ELLIOTT Collegian

Parking Lot A-1 will close, and an additional section of Mid Campus Drive will become two-way on Monday as a result of construction.

Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning and University architect, said the entrance to campus at 14th Street and Anderson Avenue would also be closed for construction on the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art.

Lance Lunsway, parking control supervisor, said the street was being prepared for two-way traffic this weekend. Carter said facilities chose to change the traffic flow because it had to close all but 18 spaces in Lot A-1, the parking lot directly off 14th Street, for construction. "We looked at Mid Campus Drive as a candidate for having diagonal parking on the west side of the street," Carter said. The 30-plus diagonal parking spaces on Mid Campus Drive, along with the revisions in Lot A-2 creating 50-plus parking spaces, will help replace the 100 spaces lost in Lot A-1, he said.

See ADJUSTMENTS Page 8

CAMPUS PARKING, ROADS CHANGE

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

Due to the construction of the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art, Parking Lot A-1 will be mostly closed, and part of Mid Campus Drive from Kedzie Hall to Anderson Hall will be opened for two-way traffic. The changes will take effect Monday.

SARA SMITH/Collegia

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ COMPUTER NETWORK LINKS KANSANS BY INFORMATION SUPERHIGHWAY

Welcome to OzNet.

OzNet is a computer network that links the Kansas Cooperative Extension Service, the Agricultural Experiment Station and the College of Agriculture.

This summer, project members traveled to almost every county in Kansas to install this system and to train employees to use it, said Roger Terry, coordinator of the information and educational technical unit in the department of communications of the College of Agriculture.

Terry said OzNet is well into phase one, which gives electronicmail access to extension agents, the experiment station and faculty.

Phase two will incorporate internet access into the network, he

Terry said the idea for this project came in July 1991, and called for $750,000 over a three-year period ending in July 1995.

After July, funding will be needed for maintenance and support of the network, he said.

Terry said OzNet will benefit students by allowing them to e-mail professors in the College of Agriculture.

Faculty will benefit by being able to deliver information quickly, effectively and accurately, which will improve K-State's image, he

James Braun, OzNet project leader, said that almost every county-extension office in Kansas can transfer information between their county and K-State in seconds.

easier, faster and more cost-effective than mailing information.

Braun said that this is much

Counties call in on an 800 number, and any e-mail messages for them are downloaded to their computer, while their messages are downloaded to K-State and sent to the proper e-mail addresses, he Braun said that instead of mailing a memo to all county agents, they can e-mail the memo. This eliminates using mailing labels, stuffing envelopes and having to pay postage.

Terry said OzNet will be used to aid K-State in the areas of multimedia, distance learning and information management.

He said the network is a tool used to help agents and faculty manage information.

"The network isn't important, the employees and agents are," Braun said. "We're here to design a network to meet their needs."

JULIE KRAMER

► FORT RILEY STILL ON THE DEFENSE LIST OF POSSIBLE BASE CLOSINGS

The U.S. Department of Defense is getting serious about base closings, and Fort Riley remains on the list of bases that could close.

"There isn't going to be any more nibbling at the margin," said Col. Fred Hepler, executive director of the Governor's task force in support of Fort Riley, during his speech at the Rotary Club meeting Thursday afternoon.

Since the Cold War, Hepler said, defense isn't as important.

"The issues at the national level are taking a shift in an emphasis from defense to other issues, so they are cutting their resources," Hepler said.

On March 1, 1995, the Base Realignment and Reform Commission will release its list of bases that it proposes to close, Hepler said.

After that, BRAC may add bases to the list until May 17, 1995. "We're pretty much training as normal," said Mark Meseke, media relations officer at Fort Riley.

"We do provide information to the Army, but we don't serve as an advocate of Fort Riley," Meseke

"The decision is made in Washington rather than here," he said.

Fort Riley plays a large role in Kansas' economy, Hepler said.

"The military is the second largest employer in Kansas, and it has the largest payroll in the state," Hepler said.

According to Hepler, 26 communities supply employees to Fort

Because of the potential economic effect, Hepler said, the business leaders in the Manhattan community are certainly concerned about the possibility of the base

"The economic tentacles of the base stretch far into the community," he said. Hepler said that people still remember the negative effects the economy felt three years ago when the troops left for Desert Storm.

He said that it doesn't hurt to have influential politicians such as Sen. Nancy Kassebaum and Sen. Bob Dole on Fort Riley's side.

"Every base is protected by someone - politicians are very, very active in the process," Hepler

Hepler said everyone needs to speak with one voice and know the facts about the potential base clos-

JENNIFER PETERSON

► CESSNA RECEIVED PROPOSALS FROM FINALISTS BEFORE DEADLINE

WICHITA - The five cities that are finalists for Cessna Aircraft Co.'s new assembly plant all got their proposals in by the company's Wednesday deadline, an official

Cessna spokesman Dave Franson said there likely will be questions asked and clarifications sought between now and December's final decision on where the plant will be located.

Labor-availability surveys are still being conducted by some of the cities. But Cessna has said that data will be accepted despite the passing of the deadline.

Emporia, Hays, Independence,

Manhattan and Pittsburg are vying for the plant that will provide about 1,000 jobs and a payroll of around

Construction is scheduled to begin early in 1995, with the plant complete, operational and rolling out its first piston-powered plane all in

POLICE REPORTS

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26

At 4:26 p.m., Andrew Pole, reported his bike stolen from the

2006 College View Road, Apt. 1, east racks of Dickens Hall. THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27

At 2:48 a.m., subjects were stealing the tarp on the fence. inside the fenced-in area of The subjects received notices to Farrell Library construction appear.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26

At 8:02 p.m., two subjects in a Buick tried to take a cart full of meat from Food-4-Less at 401 E. Poyntz Ave. Pottawatomie County authorities were advised.

At 11:03 p.m., an intoxicated female was at the corner of Seth Childs and Shuss roads walking toward K-18. She said she was

At 11:10 p.m., a loud and obnoxious fraternity gathering was reported at the corner of College Heights Road and on her way to the Cock & Bull.

At 11:56 p.m., a subject requested an ambulance for a cut

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27

At 12:26 p.m., a British short-hair dog was caught in a dumpster at 701 Dondee Drive. The animal was released and taken to the shelter.

At 1:23 a.m. Julie C. Blickenstaff, 1405 Hartman Place. Apt. 18, was arrested for DUI at the corner of north Manhattan and Bluemont avenues. Bond was $500.

At 2:10 a.m., Joseph D. Rittman, 329 Laramie St., was arrested for DUI at the 900 block of Laramie Street. Bond was $1,000. At 2:20 a.m., a subject reported a battery at Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon. At 2:35 a.m., two unwanted males refused to leave Hardee's at 606 N. Manhattan Ave.

At 2:59 a.m., a Bell Taxi driver reported theft of services at the block of 14th Street. Loss was $11.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

Farrell Library will be closed Saturday due to construction. BULLETINS PERSONNEL PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O

■ InterVarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. today

K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.

■ There will be a meeting to discuss how to use the $17,000 at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the large conference room of the Office of Student Activities and Services in the Union.

■ Collegiate 4-H Halloween Costume Party will be at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at the Tuttle Creek Cottonwood Shelter.

■ National Society of Black Engineers will meet at 6:30 p.m.

Sunday in Durland 163. KSU Women's Union will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday in Union 205.

CORRECTIONS

The story on Earl Laih in Thursday's Collegian incorrectly said he had been on flag teams for 17 seasons. He has been on flag teams for 7 sea-

The Collegian regrets the error.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week

through the summer. Second class postage is paid at

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk. Kedzie 103. Manhattan. Kan. 66506-7167.

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

NAME OF TAXABLE PARTY.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

Windy and warm. Highs in the mid-70s with gusty south wind 20 to 30

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

TODAY

Partly cloudy with a high of 75 and a lowof 55. Gusty wind 20 to

TOMORROW IIII

Deliverance

including:

ALBATROSS / CLEAN MY WOUNDS / SEVEN DAYS

Sunny and Dry with a high of 68 and a low

Force Artist

SATURDAY, OCT. 29 10:30 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Interested?

Call for Info: (913) 232-3429

2615 SW 21st, Topeka

REFISIDE RECORDS Look for the Modern Reality display in store NEW MUSIC FROM THE EDGE.

TELL EVERYBODY KNOW VICTIMS OF COMFORT COME ON IN CITY BOY OKEh

each featured release

1231 Moro • 776–7373

Stay Streetsmart, Shop Streetside!

nativity IN BLACK A TRIBUTE TO BLACK SABBATH Featuring: MEGADETH WHITE ZOMBIE

COLUMBIA

BIOHAZARD COLUMBIA

OZZY OSBOURNE

on sale every day

$10.88<sub>cds*</sub>

Sale ends 11 21 94

ODD FEEBACK/Collegian

Clenton Owensby, professor in range management, sits inside one of five large plastic chambers used to research how carbon dioxide affects plants and vegetation.

Research

K-State leads the world in studying greenhouse effects ere at K-State, surgically altered sheep and five large plastic chambers north of Kimball Avenue are on the cutting edge of technology.

SUMMER RUCKMAN

"It's sort of a strange story," Clenton Owensby, professor in range management, said with a smile.

Little did Owensby know that his early interest in the greenhouse effect would lead him into a sixyear international research project.

Owensby begins his tale with a trip he took about six year ago.

"I was on the West Coast checking out environmental-research work," he said. "I talked to a fellow doing research in a field that interested me."

Studying the greenhouse effect on the ecosystem caught Owensby's attention, and he did some reading to learn more about the field.

"What they were doing, I didn't consider the right way," he said. "It should be done in the real world, not in a growth chamber."

Owensby said he felt that several important areas were not being addressed.

"No one was looking at the animal or water's relation with former quality." he said. "Those two relation with forage quality," he said. "Those two things were deficiencies in research going on." Owensby said he felt he could make a contribution.

"I certainly thought I had something to offer to the system," he said.

Owensby attended a meeting on elevated carbon dioxide levels on the East coast, which the U.S. Department of Energy was host to.

The department awarded Owensby's proposal with a six-year grant to study the greenhouse effects on the tallgrass prairie.

"It's a lot of money," Owensby said. "We average about $275,000 to $280,000 a year to do this research."

"The rest, as they say, is history," he said, smiling.

The grant proved to be a wise investment for the U.S. Department of Energy.

Today, six years after Owensby received the grant, K-State has established itself as a world leader in greenhouse-effects research, he said.

"We're on the cutting edge, addressing things no one else has done," Owensby said. "Our work

■ See K-STATE Page 8

The KSU/

Riley and Wichita State.

► MANHATTAN

Money for plasma donors causes decline in Red Cross drive

DEANA TESKE

Collegian

The American Red Cross is doing as much as it can to encourage people to donate blood, but when other centers offer payment for donations, money

Many blood and plasma centers like the Manhattan Biomedical Center pay people to donate their life-saving blood. The center pays $15 for each donation, manager Lisa Studnick said.

This is definitely an incentive for people to give, but how does this affect non-profit organizations like the Red Cross?

The Red Cross only receives blood on a volunteer basis, Thom Jackson, Executive Assistant for the American Red Cross in Manhattan, said. After the blood has been tested for diseases, it is broken down into red blood cells and white blood cells, called plasma. Then it is given to hospitals, which use large quantities of both, he said.

When a center pays its donors, it must then sell the blood products to the hospitals. Because the hospitals had to buy the blood, they must charge patients higher prices.

"This will drive up the price of blood and be very expensive for those who need it," Jackson said.

"Unfortunately, because other centers pay their donors, the Red Cross can't fully meet the hospitals' quantity needs because more people would rather be paid. Therefore the centers have more to sell," he said.

Manhattan Biomedical Center is associated with the North American Biological Inc., which has buyers who buy from the company, Studnicka said.

Jackson said because of this competition between profit and non-profit organizations, the Red Cross tries to inform the public that by being a non-profit organization it keeps the cost down and benefits everyone.

basically comes down to a blood and be question of ethics,"

"This will drive up the price of blood and be very expensive for those who

he said.

help

"Do you others, or do you

help

yourself?" THOM JACKSON

Executive assistant for the Manhattan chapter of the American Red Cross

Jill Hanchett, junior in premedicine, received $50 for each plasma donation when she had mononucleosis last spring. She gave seven times within 3-1/2 weeks.

need it."

"At that time, I did it for money, but they really needed it for research of mono so I thought it was OK," she said. It is a health risk; therefore, she saw the money as compensation for being sick as well as having bruised arms.

"In the future I would like to see it as more of a volunteer service and not for pay, but for my situation I thought it was appropriate," Hanchett said.

Studnicka said paying people to donate plasma is also returning donors for the time they spent at the center.

Another problem facing the Red Cross is that donors must wait 56 days after giving plasma to give blood. This allows the body enough time to build itself back up, Jackson said.

They have not felt any of this type of pressure because donating blood and plasma have nothing to do with being tested for a possible bone marrow match, said Dianne Lux, manager of donor relations for the bone marrow drive for Homecoming activities.

"The people waiting in line here are committed to helping patients who are relying on donors," she said.

The men of Delta Chi would like to thank all of those who have shown us support over the last two years, especially Greek Affairs IFC & Panhellinic Chartering Banquet Oct. 29,1994

Saturday 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
Playoffs Sunday at 10:30 a.m.
Championship at 1:30 p.m.

October 29-30 Anneberg Park Manhattan

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Threat proves Marlatt Hall has a problem

Communication should never break down this far, but Marlatt Hall wants to secede from the union, that is, the Kansas State University Association of Pasidence Halls

Marlatt has a legitimate gripe with KSUARH, considering that particular organization has done nothing to address the hall's complaints but plan meetings like the one with Marlatt on Wednesday, during which nothing was resolved.

Secession may or may not be an idle threat. But a residence hall wanting to secede from KSUARH is a symptom of KSUARH's problems. Even now, with Marlatt threatening to just leave the organization, not being taken seriously.

Whether or not Marlatt can secede is not the point. The point is that residents are so fed up that they want to, and it should have never reached that level. KSUARH should function well enough to prevent such dissatisfaction, and it doesn't.

Marlatt shouldn't secede from KSUARH. It shouldn't have to. This problem can and should be solved.

Secession from KSUARH would be a gesture of rebellion, but it would accomplish little for Marlatt. What Marlatt should do is try to function within the system with what they have, even if it is KSUARH.

But this will only work if KSUARH gets off its butt and tries to solve the problem. It should take the concerns of Marlatt seriously, as it should for all residence halls.

When someone wants to break away, you're doing something wrong. It's time to try a different approach (like discussing problems seriously and coming up with solutions) and see if you can get it right.

TOLES

Tutor program needs money

acking better suggestions, the Student Governing Association has a lot of leeway with a $17,000 overcharge from fee payment.

Suggestions ranging from an ice rink to a raise for the Collegian copy editors (my idea) have been made. All told, SGA will meet Sunday with very little to go on for how to spend a chunk of money actually sizable enough to make a difference someplace. It's funny how we always have lots of ideas "if only we had more money," and when we do have money, we don't have a clue what to do with it.

Meanwhile, the Academic Assistance Center continues to putter along on a $49,000 budget that was nearly cut by Student Senate last year. As it was, it kept its budget but was given no increases whatsoever. What can $49,000 do for a tutoring center? Only so much. One semester, my friend ranted and raved because there was only one Spanish tutor available for the entire University. You either took him Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 5:30 p.m., or you toughed it out on your own. Another obtained a calculus tutor on Tuedays — except there were three other students in the session. No master of calculus am I, but I understood from the friend that you can complete one or maybe two problems in a 50-minute period. So, she was able to ask her questions every third session, or every three weeks.

CHRISTY

LITTLE

There are two tutoring centers available on campus. One is Educational Supportive Services. It is federally funded and does not receive money from the University. It serves students who are low-income and/or are first-generation college students. It also serves students with all kinds of disabilities. Students must be U.S. citizens to use ESS. When you apply for tutoring, the center will automatically goes to the Academic Assistance Center.

Kathy Greene, interim director of ESS, said about 8,000 students qualify for ESS under those four guidelines. She said right now they serve close to 270 students this semester. This is accomplished through a staff of specialists and about 40 bytes.

check to see if you qualify for ESS. If not, your application

The Academic Assistance Center, which is not federally funded at all, is also operating with about 40 tutors. With these 40 tutors, it is serving about 700 students. That is averaging about 17 students per tutor. Director Mike Wiley said they cannot process at least 100 more applications because they either can't hire another tutor, or they can't overload the tutors they already have. They need money to lure tutors in biochemistry, chemistry, accounting and other subjects. They need a bigger staff.

The Academic Assistance Center is normally directed by two graduate assistants, but the center has only hired Wiley because it can't afford to hire another director. The center needs money for more supplies. It also needs to give their tutors a raise. Wiley said they have several tutors who have worked there three or four years without a raise. ESS tutors get their wages from federal funds, so their paychecks are stable and safe.

$17,000 would go a long way toward relieving some of these problems, although in the long run, it is more funding by Student Senate that will relieve the financial burdens of this high-quality educational service.

Perhaps if student senators and other students saw what this facility could do for them with $17,000 more, funding would become more of a priority during allocations. If you are one of those students unable to get a tutor, call the senators representing your college. The money they won't give the center is what will hurt you in the long run. After all, who doesn't need a tutor at some point in their college career?

Hopefully, no one else will have to be turned away from the Academic Assistance Center or have their application added to that stack of 100 that has yet to be helped.

Hopefully, it won't be you.

Christy Little is a junior in secondary education.

Delta Chi returns to greek system

s of tomorrow, K-State will officially have 32 fraternities on campus, with Delta Chi being the newest addition to the Greek system.

Delta Chi is not completely new to the campus, in 1975 it closed its chapter and sold its house due to low membership. In 1992, it made its official return and has been classified as a colony for the past two years.

On Saturday, Delta Chi will sponsor its largest event in its short history, a chartering banquet, where it will receive its charter from its national president and once again be an official chapter on campus.

During the last two years, the colony has traveled down a long and difficult road. Several people said when they were starting the new colony that they did not have strong enough alumni support to start up again. But that didn't stop them. Other people said, "you guys don't have a house or anywhere to live together," but even that didn't stop the founding fathers in 1992. To put this into perspective of how difficult of a task it is to start a new fraternity on campus, just remember there has not been a new one to start since 1978, and that was 16 years ago.

Once they got past the incredible task of establishing the fraternity, they began to work on their ultimate goal and vision of finding housing. As one of the members said, "if you think it is hard to find one good apartment in Manhattan, just try to find a good fraternity house or an entire apartment complex."

Last year, they almost got the old Alpha Kappa Lambda house, but the FIJI's beat them to it. Then last summer, they had worked out a deal with the Kappa Delta alumni to rent their house, but it fell through in June. So this year, they have been living in apartments spread out through the city.

The breakdown of the Kappa Delta deal stirred up the Delta Chi alumni, and they have organized a Housing Corporation, and the Alumni Board of Trustees has become more active.

Despite not having a house, what has kept the fraternity together for the past 2-1/2 years? As one member said, it could best be summed up in their fraternity's motto. It is a "Brotherhood of a Lifetime." He went on to say that it is just a little bit more inconvenient that everyone is not living together, but because of that, it makes their brotherhood just that much stronger.

The fraternity has also become stronger in number of members. When the fraternity started out, they had 56 founding fathers, and in 1993 it grew to 65, and at the beginning of 1994 they had 71 active and associate members. They are also trying something new with their pledge program that no other Delta Chi chapter has done before. They are going to have two associate-member classes in the fall and two in the spring. The first class started at the beginning of the school year, and the second one started in mid-October. The one spring-pledge class will begin in January.

Many members see the new fraternity at a pivotal crossroads, because they need to refocus themselves on finding long-term and short-term housing.

Their long-term goal is to begin construction on a new house by the fall of 1996. As you can probably guess this will not be a cheap endeavor. The last fraternity house built at K-State was in 1974, exactly 20 years ago. It is believed the going price to build a new fraternity house these days is around $1.2 million, not at all pocket change. So between now and 1996, the alumni, along with the fraternity will be doing some significant fundraising to begin to pay off the house.

As for short-term housing goals, the members of the fraternity have expressed a strong interest in all living together in one apartment complex next year, until their new house is complete.

Unlike other fraternities on this campus, who are established and have set traditions and projects, Delta Chi is just beginning traditions. As one member says, "we have to work harder for everything we do, but the results of pulling it off are just that much more rewarding."

And when the members of K-State's newest fraternity look ahead toward a bright, yet challenging future, they need only remember how far their chapter has come in only two years. If their brief history is any example of how well Delta Chi is going to do at K-State, then they have an incredible, long future ahead of them.

Aaron Otto is a sophomore in political science and business.

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ CHEATING

Faculty are not to blame for incident

Your editorial (and headline) yesterday implied that somehow biology faculty members were partially to blame for the recent outbreak of cheating in Principles of Biology. I assume that this is because faculty make it too "easy" for students to cheat, and thus should share the blame when cheating occurs. May I respectfully suggest that the editorial board of the Collegian enroll en masse in an ethics course next semester. Let me give you some reasons why I think that might be useful, starting with some revelations about how other universities deal with similar issues.

I went to graduate school at Stanford University. At that time, Stanford was on the honor system. Teaching assistants and faculty members did not even stay in the room when exams were given. Students were on their honor; cheating was discouraged essentially by peer pressure. If cheating occurred in such a situation, your logic would dictate that both the faculty and the other students would share part of the blame, because they made it "easy" to cheat.

How absurd. Those who cheat make that choice; they are not victims, and they must take responsibility for that choice. Those who did not cheat made a different choice. They should not be blamed for the moral weakness of their peers. Nor should faculty be blamed for the moral weakness of their students. Yes, we will all pay for this weakness, either by the weakening of the status of a degree from K-State, or by making changes in the testing scheme so that all students, cheaters and non-cheaters, have fewer options and less flexibility. And it is not fair that we will all pay those prices; sometimes life isn't fair. But it is most emphatically not fair, right, logical or acceptable that we are all thought to be at fault for the reprehensible actions of those who cheated. They did it; they should accept full responsibility for their actions. Please think a bit more deeply about these things the next time you put your collective heads together and generate a quick editorial.

David Rintoul associate professor in biology

> STEREOTYPES

1 person's thoughts affects others

He walked into our store and asked for a pack of cigarettes. Then he pulled out a gun, put it to my head and told my father to empty the register. Tears rolled down my father's face as he handed the man our money.

From that day on, I hated blacks. My family hated blacks. My friends hated blacks. We all hated blacks.

One person can negatively affect the way people think.

Because of incidents like this, I have spoken to various groups on the issue of racial stereotypes and why we should not let the actions of a few people determine what we think of an entire group.

I would be happy to address this, and any other issue related to this topic, to any group or organization on campus, including classes. Please call before 9 p.m. My phone number is 537-6028.

Charles Allen IV junior in advertising and education

▶ ALLOCATIONS

Student Senate looking for ideas

Thank you for bringing to the attention of the student body about "how on earth" should we spend the $17,000 Student Life Enrichment Account money.

The Student Affairs & Social Services Committee within Student Senate has been placed in charge of making recommendations on how to spend the money to the full Senate by the end of first semester. The account was created this year when students were accidentally overcharged 50 cents a semester in fees. In September, Student Senate decided to spend this money on a project(s) that benefits as many students as possible this year.

In addition to the 7:30 p.m. meetings on Oct. 30 and Nov. 6 in the Office of Student Activities and Services in the first floor of the Union, the committee has put up a large sheet of paper on a bulletin board in the Union on what to do with the money.

We will be having at least one forum on campus and one off campus to gather ideas. The one on campus will be Tuesday in the Gold Room of Derby Dinning Center and will start at 5:15 p.m. The off-campus forum's time and place have not yet been set.

We had a table outside the Union Stateroom last week. Senators and interns will talk about it when they do their visitations with clubs and living organizations this semester. The committee has talked with several different service providers and University officials about how the money should be used.

The goal of deciding how on earth to spend the $17,000 needs to be done by the middle to end of November. Any and all student suggestions on how to spend the money can be dropped off at the Office of Student Activities and Services, or you can call Aaron Otto, Chair of Student Affairs and Social Services Committee or myself with ideas or any questions you might have at 532-6541.

Patrick Carney senior in political science

Mr. Goodcents Subs & Pastas®

MR. GOODCENTS

► WOMEN'S WEEKEND

Sandler: Women unite against harassment

DEANA TESKE

Collegian Nations of women are standing up with other nations of women to fight sexual discrimination, a scholar in women's issues said Thursday in the first event of Women's Weekend.

Bernice Sandler, senior scholar with the National Association of Women in Education, gave a presentation titled, "Warming the Chilly Climate for Women" about peer-to-peer harassment on college campuses.

Sandler played an important role in the passage of Title IX, which recognizes the forms of sex discrimination in schools and the guidelines to follow when dealing with harassment.

She is an expert in policies affecting women on campus and has given more than 1,500 campus

Sandler first asked the audience to keep in mind the question, "How do we want men and women to relate after college?"

There is more to college than classes and books, she said.

"College teaches people to handle different races, classes and genders and how to meet that challenge," Sandler said.

To an audience well represented by women as well as men, Sandler explained what she said has been called "normal" behavior by men towards women on campuses.

In one instance she recalled, called "sharking," a fraternity pledge bit the breast of a woman.

In another, a group of men exposed themselves to a woman while surrounding her in a circle, Sandler said.

More often, men will scream obscenities below open dorm-room windows or talk about a woman's physical characteristics as she walks by, she said.

"By allowing this behavior to continue, we are only teaching men that this kind of behavior is OK," she said.

Sandler said this is not a new

"Boys have always teased girls,"

However, this behavior is getting worse and continues to increase at all levels, Sandler said.

Unwanted sexual attention, such as commenting on a woman's breast size, displaying pornographic photos and touching is sexual harassment, she said.

"The problem with this is most men think women like it when they comment about their sexuality, Sandler said. "But usually the woman feels she is not valued and is only a sex object."

Sandler said that in the classroom, a woman may be fearful of participating in discussion.

She may feel uncomfortable showing her intelligence or assertiveness because of ridicule she might receive from male classmates or even a male teacher, she said.

Sandler said men tease women because they are attempting to bond with their male friends and that females have always been portrayed as negative in a man's eye. "A boy is a boy because he isn't girl" is how young boys see themselves, she said.

The worst thing you can call a boy is a sissy or girl, right?"

She said schools need to have committees to examine peer-to-peer sexual harassments.

Counselors, resident assistants, campus police and students, including fraternity and sorority members and athletes, need to be educated about what is acceptable behavior, she said. Sandler gave several creative examples of how a woman can reply to a harassing comment.

"Simply say, 'I beg your pardon,' or if he tells you a sexist joke, pretend you don't understand and make him explain it a few

She also said taking comments lightly is another way to respond.

1317 Anderson

(Behind Store)

or Wheat Bread)

Capicola, Pepperoni,

5) Ham & Cheese

Sub Sandwiches

Half 299

299

299

299

299

299

339

299

100

Whole

499 cents

479 cent

499 cents

499 cents

499 cent

499 cents

499 cents

539 cents

150 cents

"If someone says 'You bitch,' just say 'Oh yes, and it's probably going to get worse, so watch out!'

What Sandler lacked in stature she made up for in humor, as indicated by audience laughter throughout her presentation.

To conclude, she returned to the question she had asked earlier.

"By allowing men to do this in college, they are being taught that disrespect is OK, and their relationships with others are based on power," Sandler said.

Therefore, women need to stand up and fight sex discrimination because no one should have to put up with bad behavior, she said.

We Deliver!

(minimum $5-limited delivery area)

539-1900

white or red sauce & garlic

359 cents

299 cents

279 cents

279 cents

179 cents

65 cent

75 cents

Hot Pastas

ENTERTAINMENT

African Music Night focuses on play

MOLLY WEIGEL

A play on culture shock and adjustment to campus life will be presented, in addition to music and dancing, on African Music Night Saturday.

The African Student Union and International Coordinating Council are co-sponsoring the event at 6:30 p.m. at the Manhattan Middle School.

The play, titled "The Stranger," will be presented by Daisy Kabagarama from Wichita State University, Siendou Ouattara, president of ASU, said.

Kabagarama, he said, came to the United States from Africa and will discuss her struggles in adjusting to the culture.

There will be performances by an ASU drumming group, singers and dancers, said Ouattara, graduate student in electrical engineering.

He said there will be a lot of interaction between the performers and the audience, and everyone is

Open To Everyone

Organic Produce

Cheeses

 Bulk Kansas Honey Bulk Herbs & Spices

• Domestic & Imported

539-4811

811 COLORADO

ADMISSION COST

Admission, which pays for the food, is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children. The entertainment is free.

encouraged to dance and sing

The admission charge, which pays for the food, is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children, he said.

Donna Davis, director of the International Student Center, said people are welcome to come later to the cultural events for free.

African snacks will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, Ouattara said. After that, entertainment will begin in the

The African snacks that will be served are mandazi, which is made of wheat, flour and eggs, and nsoombusa, which is similar to a tortilla filled with beef and vegetables.

Davis said in the past, the international events were usually in the spring. This year, however, they are trying to sponsor several fall events as well.

Last week, International Night had lower attendance due to the K-State football game, she said.

Quattara said he hopes people will come to learn about the African culture.

"It will be really informal," Ouattara said. "The more people that come, the more fun it will be.'

FREE DELIVERY

"During the day, too!"

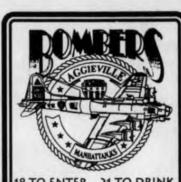

2 pizzas, 2 cokes, stix

(one topping)

Party Pack

$2.75 each pizza

18 TO ENTER 21 TO DRINK

HALLOWEEN SPECIAL:

BIG BEERS

1120 MORO 587-1850

Varney's Book 1) Mr. Goodcents Comb

Cheeses Available

Standard Dressings Lettuce-Tomato-Onlon Oregano Also Available

499 cents 499 cents Sides 499 cents 499 cents (6) 260 cents 539 cents 499 cents Seafood Salad 299 cents

> Tuna Salad Pasta Salad

Chef Salad

Large Coke, Diet Coke Sprite, Mr. Pibb 99 cents iced Tea (fresh brewed) 79 Seltzer Water 79 cents 99 cents Mustard-Mayonnaise-Pickles Jalapenos-Spicy Mustard

Party Trays Available

Prices are subject to change without prior notice.

minimum order 4 pizzas (Dine-in, Carry-out Only) Closed Sunday CHICAGO

Slice and Pop

11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

KSU Theatre & the Dept. of Music

Entertaining Razzle Dazzle, 1920's style Great Music...Great Dancing..... And All That Jazz!

Nov. 10 -12 - McCain Auditorium

Tickets on sale now at McCain Box Office Monday - Friday Noon to 5pm - Daily

Students/Seniors $8

General $10

For reservations call 532-6428

"A Dazzling Hurlyburly of Show Biz at its Spectacular Best!"

KMAJ's Halloween Special Buy one ticket at full price, Get a free ticket for a child age 12 or younger.

Join Sinbad for a night filled with Halloween laughter.

Enjoy free soft drinks for the costumed and free treats for the young tricksters. Spend a safe, memorable Halloween night with TV's top comic.

Coming to the

TOPEKA PERFORMING ARTS CENTER

KMAJ Special: Limit one free child's ticket per ticket purchased, free ticket void if not used by a child age 12 or younger. $27.50, $22.50, $17.50

Monday • 8 p.m.

TOPEKA PERFORMING ARTS CENTER • 8th & Quincy

Spotlight Sponsor

297-9000 or 1-800-949-8722 • Box Office Hours - Noon to 5 p.m. Mon. Fri.

Linebacker Mike Ekeler sacks Colorado quarterback Kordell Stewart at Boulder, Colo., last Saturday. The Wildcat defense collected five sacks during the game for minus 36 yards.

▶ FOOTBALL

3rd place at stake in OU, K-State clash

The Wildcats and Sooners will be fighting for bowl berth this Saturday when the two teams clash in Norman,

The Orange Bowl is not a probability for either team, but the chances for third place in the Big Eight Conference and a trip to the Aloha Bowl is definitely on the line.

"It's an important game, but they're all important games," Coach Bill Snyder said. "It isn't any bigger than the rest of the games we play."

K-State is 4-2 overall and 1-2 in the Big Eight Conference. If K-State wins and goes on to beat Iowa State. Missouri and Oklahoma State, its season will stand at 9-2 - good enough for a third-place finish in the conference.

Oklahoma has Missouri, Oklahoma State and Nebraska remaining on the schedule after the Wildcats. Anticipating losses to K-State and Nebraska, the Sooners would end up at fourth place in the conference with a record of 7-4 overall and 4-3 in the conference.

Oklahoma would then be bound for the Copper Bowl in Tucson, Ariz.

"People always want us to win by 60," Darrius Johnson, Sooner cornerback, said. "We won't shut people up till we win the rest of our games and go to a real good bowl game, and then win that."

Last Saturday, Oklahoma defeated Kansas 20-17 in Lawrence. Oklahoma posted a 7-3 lead at halftime but quickly saw the lead disappear when the Jayhawks answered with 14 unanswered points in the third quarter.

Oklahoma fired back in the fourth quarter with 13 points of its own. Quarterback Garrick McGee led the way for the Sooners by completing seven of his nine passing attempts for 100 yards during the quarter.

McGee, a junior-college transfer from Northeastern Oklahoma A&M. has started every game for the Sooners this season but has been inconsistent.

He was intercepted four times during the Sooners' 45-7 loss at Colorado Oct. 15. He has thrown nine interceptions compared to five touchdown passes in his first season at Oklahoma.

The victory over Kansas raised the spirits of the Oklahoma players after the Colorado blowout. "I'm looking forward to K-State,"

Johnson said. "I don't have any interceptions this year.

Coach Gary Gibbs said the Sooners' defense faces a difficult task in stopping the K-State offense.

"I think it's going to be harder to prepare for K-State's talent and athletic ability than anything else," Gibbs said. "Everyone's seen their passing scheme now for a couple of years. It's trying to match their people with our people, and if you're not careful, you may have a tendency to ignore Smith and the running game. That's where they can really hurt

K-State is trying to rebound from two consecutive losses for the first time since 1992. Additionally, players are dealing with the fact that the Orange Bowl is no longer a possibility.

"It's tough to accept that we're not going to the Orange Bowl as league champs," defensive back Chuck Marlowe said.

K-State has not beaten the Sooners at Norman since 1970, when the Cats, led by Vince Gibson, upended Oklahoma 19-14

GAME-DAY INFO

Date: Saturday, Oct. 29 Kickoff: 1:30 p.m. Place: Memorial Stadium

The opponent: Oklahoma Sooners Sooners to watch: #25 James Allen, RB # 8 Garrick McGee, QB

#76 Harry Stamps, RT #39 John Anderson, SS #44 Mario Freeman, LB #42 Darrius Johnson, CB

▶ CROSS COUNTRY

Big 8 teams descend on Warner Park Saturday

DEBO ADEJUNMOBI

For the first time in eight years, K-State will be the host for the Big Eight Cross Country Championships this weekend at Warner Park.

The gun for the women's race goes off at 10:30 a.m., and the men's race follows at 11:15.

Coach Terry Drake said he sees many advantages for his team in having the meet in Manhattan.

"Hosting this meet has got to be worth some points," Drake said. "The kids can sleep in their own beds at night, there's no travel, no eating in a hotel or any of that kind of stuff, so it's got to help.

"Add in the benefit of being able to stay on the same schedule as close as you can, and it's got to be worth something.'

If that wasn't enough, there are plenty of other reasons for the Cats to run well on Saturday

One is that the Wildcat women were picked to finish fifth by the coaches' poll, behind Colorado, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri. That didn't sit too well with senior Jeanene Rugan.

"We're all looking forward to seeing how we can do at this meet since we were picked to finish fifth," Rugan said. "I think that we're a lot better than that."

Drake thinks so as well.

"I still think that they (women) feel like they can win the thing," Drake said. "Colorado will be awfully hard to beat, there's no doubt about it. But we have to be in position to take over if something happens to Colorado.

"I think it's Colorado's to lose, but I most certainly want to be in position that if they decide they don't want it, we can pick it up.'

Another reason is that three

BIG 8 RACES

The women start the Big Eight meet at 10:30 a.m. followed by the men at 11:15 a.m. at Warner Park.

seniors, Rugan, Lesley Wells and Billy Wuggazer, will be running in the last Big Eight Meet of their careers. Drake said that he has used this as motivation for them all week.

"Getting to run their last one on their home course is pretty special," Drake said. "I most certainly want those three to take advantage of it. And with this new rotation that we're going to have with 12 teams, we'll only host this meet every 12 years. So it's a great opportunity for the young kids to do well also.' Rugan, who has run in the third spot behind Charity Swartz and Irma Betancourt all season, would love to break out of her season-long slump. Drake said that this meet is a perfect opportunity for her to do just that.

'I've been associated with Jeanene for a couple of years now, and I've been able to get a feeling when she's ready to run," Drake said. "She has that look about her, so I think she's going to have a good

On the men's side, the goal is to finish better than the last-place finish predicted for them by the coaches'

Wuggazer and junior Geoff Delahanty are expected to again lead a squad still in the process of rebuilding.

"We're going to be all right," Drake said. "Billy will definitely be the one who leads us, and Geoff is doing a lot better. I'd definitely like to see us take sixth or better.'

► VOLLEYBALL

Wildcats looking to sweep Missouri

BRIAN ANDERSON

K-State volleyball gets back into Big Eight action for the rest of the season tomorrow when the Wildcats take on Missouri at 7:30 p.m. in Ahearn Field House.

The Cats are coming off a three-game sweep against the University of Missouri-Kansas City on Wednesday by scores of 15-12, 15-9 and 15-0.

Coach Jim Moore said Missouri, who is 9-13 overall and 0-6 in the conference, shouldn't be overlooked despite its record.

When the two teams met on Oct. 8 in Columbia, Mo., the Cats beat the Tigers 15-17, 15-7, 15-10 and 15-7.

"They are a experienced team," Moore said. "They have several seniors on the team. When we played them, they hit the ball very hard."

Moore said the team hopes they can do well in the next six matches despite the absence of setter Devon Ryning, who is out with mononucleosis.

On Tuesday, Moore said Ryning would be out three weeks. Now, she could return in two weeks.

'We might get her back by the Iowa State match (on Nov. 9)," he said. "With Devon out, it hurts us blocking-wise.'

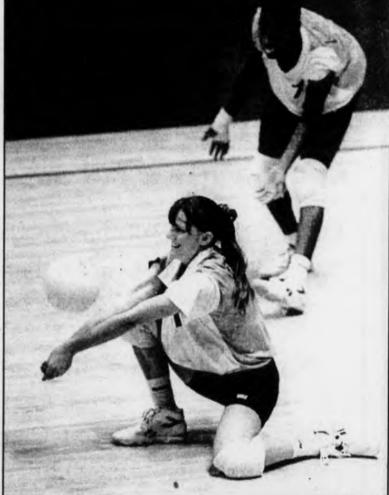

Ryning was replaced by junior Chi Dau, who recorded 40 assists and seven digs against UMKC.

A win for K-State (13-8, 2-4 in the conference) against the Tigers will guarantee a winning regular season for the program since the 1988 season when that squad went 15-13 under former coach Scott Nelson.

Moore said his team didn't mention wanting a winning season, but he is worried about getting into the Big Eight Tournament, which K-State hasn't participated in since

"We have to go 3-3 to get into the tournament," Moore said.

"If we beat Iowa State and Oklahoma (and Missouri), we are in.

Outside hitter Kathryn Wylie digs a shot against Oklahoma. K-State broke a three-match losing streak at UMKC Tuesday night.

► FOOTBALL Bowl game to announce Big-12 deal

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN ANTONIO - Alamo Bowl officials are expected to announce a multiyear deal to bring fourth-choice teams from the Big Ten and Big 12 conferences to the San Antonio game starting in

A news conference is scheduled for Friday to announce the deal, the San Antonio Express-News reported Thursday.

The Alamo Bowl apparently decided on the offer from the Big Ten instead of a third-place team from the Pac-10 Conference.

'We're whittling down our options and trying to be in a position to make a deal very shortly," Alamo Bowl executive director Derrick Fox said.

The Alamo Bowl is in the second year of a two-year deal with the Southwest and Pac-10 conferences. The Southwest's third-choice team will again play the Pac-10's fourth-choice team on Dec. 31 at the Alamodome.

The 1995 game reportedly will match the fourth-choice team from the Big Ten against the fourth choice from the SWC and the Big Eight. Four teams from the SWC will merge with the Big Eight in 1996 to form the Big 12.

Smatterings BY ANDREW TOMB

Compiled from Collegian staff and Associated Press reports

Daylight-savings time exposed as commie plot

ith all this darn talk about secession going on around campus, maybe we should take the time to re-evaluate this whole daylight-saving time thing.

How do they figure that they can mess with our internal clocks twice a year, causing countless slacker employees to be late for work and general uneasiness about it getting dark outside at three in the afternoon?

Well, I think we need to empower ourselves against this evil oppression, join together as a University and refuse to comply with daylight-saving time at K-State. We could further separate ourselves as a more free-thinking institution. (Look out, KU!)

It's obvious to me that those ladies who give the time over the phone (at the tone the time will be ...) are receiving their orders straight from the Kremlin.

The bars in Russia stay open another hour on Saturday night. Look it up, it's all

Have a safe daylight-saving time day, from all of us here at Smatterings.

Finney gives Jim 'Kiss of Death'

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Jim Slattery is reveling in an endorsement from Gov. Joan

Gov. Finney has said before that she supports Slattery, but she had not made a campaign appearance with him. She told a crowd of about 150 cheering Democrats Wednesday that Slattery's support for proposals to allow voters to bypass the Legislature and enact laws through the ballot was her principal reason.

(Ask anyone from California how great this flies.)

The Graves campaign was not impressed with the endorsements by Wagnon and Gov. Finney.

"We think it's minimal," said Mike Matson, Graves' press secretary of the event's importance. "Finney's a Democrat.

surprises here."
Well, Bill probably could not ask for anymore bad luck to shower on the Congressman Slattery is a Democrat. No

Slattery camp.

Rumor has it that Gov. Finney is handing out endorsements in exchange for 7-11 Slurpee coupons, seeing as she will be out of a job in three months.

Thank your lucky stars.

Penis pops up in logo after 8 years

The University of Kentucky will change its sports logo after receiving numerous complaints that the wild-cat's rolled tongue resembles a penis.

"We've had calls from supporters and fans who informed us that they thought this portion of the logo was offensive to them," Larry Ivy, associate athletic director, said Monday

"We thought it was just a joke initially, but we've had more than one call, and we took it seriously and decided to make a change."

The logo features a wildcat, with its mouth open wide and a roar "rolling" off its tongue.

University officials won't take any current Wildcat paraphernalia off the shelves.

But by the end of the week, any new merchandise will feature a modified merchandise will feature a modified tongue.

Jim Emon, who designed the logo eight

Jim Emon, who designed the logo eight years ago, called the controversy "ridiculous."

But Ivy said there were too many calls to just dismiss the complaints. He said the modification will hardly be noticeable.

"We do want the wildcat to still be able to roar," he said. "The roar just won't roll of its tongue like it used to."

Also new to the current backlash against logos of collegiate teams, we here at Smatterings have heard of a group that may want to change the K-State power cat, because the cat's lower jaw looks too much like Saudi Arabia.

No, really!

SMATTERINGS WERE NOT SPONSORED BY THE KSUPD

Students explore their creative sides with Halloween jokes

• story by Tawnya Ernst • • art by Mike Marlett & Sara Smith •

t's been one of those days.

Your boss at Kardboord Pizza has said you aren't fit to assemble his restaurant's infamous pies.

Professor Valdhinoz didn't appreciate your creativity on the essay test and branded it with a big red F. Your significant other wants to see somebody else, leaving you to face a cold autumn night alone.

To top it off, the neighborhood rug rats bedecked in Halloween costumes remind you that you weren't even invited to THE party of the season.

Then you grin, with just a touch of malice. Quickly, you look for your darkest clothing, throw it on and head down the stairs.

They won't know what hit them.
But before you step out and take revenge on the world, remember to take more than a penny's worth of common sense with you. Pranks can be dangerous. People's safety and property could be at risk. Before stealing your buddy's car or spray painting your professor's house, ask yourself if it's worth a trip to the police station.

Pranking does, however, give people a chance to explore their creative and devious sides.

Pumpkins are prime tools for pranks because of their availability. Stealing and smashing them is just a little bit easier than baking them in a pie.

"We used to get in a truck, drive around town and collect as many pumpkins as we could. Then, we'd go down main street and throw them out. The police got all pissed off because there were so many of them. It was a big mess. They almost couldn't drive down the street," Shawn Mead, senior in finance, said.

Over the years, pumpkins have a way of mysteriously sprouting up on campus, K-State Police Capt. Charles Beckom said.

"There seems to be some sort of tradition. Anderson and Durland are pretty common targets. You'll walk by, and there won't be anything around. Walk back by 10 minutes later, and there are 25 pumpkins growing on the steps," he said.

Pumpkins aren't the only tool of choice for pranksters. Eggs, toilet paper and forks weren't unusual either.

"When I was younger, I just made sure I didn't do anything permanent. I did a lot of toilet papering. In fact, I still do sometimes. A lot of my friends know I'm still famous for TP-ing," Laura Walker, junior in criminal justice, said.

Sometimes, the pranks took an unexpected twist.

Emily Ferguson, sophomore in psychology, said she recalled an egging incident. She and some friends had been out egging. They thought they might get caught, so they started to run.

"A friend of mine decided to be smart, so she put the eggs in her pockets while we were running, and they all smashed," she said.

Eggs aren't the only thing to get smashed. Joanne Jenson, freshman in secondary education, found herself mashing cereal when she stepped out her front door after Halloween one year. The trees in her yard had been blanketed with toilet paper, and her sidewalk repaved with sugary O's.

"They must have poured boxes and boxes of Fruit Loops all the way up the sidewalk, so that when I stepped out the door, I stepped on Fruit Loops," she said.

If Fruit Loops sound bad, imagine answering the doorbell only to find a smoking bag of manure on your front porch.

"I remember going out to a pasture and getting a big ol' fresh cowpie, and then putting it in a bag on somebody's front porch, lighting it and ringing the doorbell. That was back in high school," Greg Waren, freshman in architecture, said.
"I've really mellowed out now. It's too much of a hassle, and there are too many police out now."

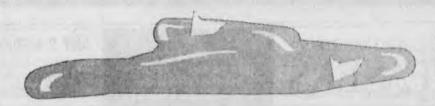

Executing pranks can be a bit hazardous and unadvisable when confronting the law.

"One time, we set off some Roman candles we'd saved since the Fourth, and we shot them off over the road when we saw a cop car," Jason Erkie, junior in computer information systems, said. "The cop got out and shone a light after us, but he didn't find us."

Toilet papering and fireworks are fairly typical, Riley County Police Lt. Brad Schoen said. However, there doesn't appear to be any dramatic differences in the number of pranks, he said. A lot of the activity depends on the weather and the day Halloween falls on. An increase in the number of DUIs, minors in possession and open containers is typical, he said.

"We make sure shifts are up to staff," Schoen said. "As always, Aggieville tends to attract the younger crowd who'll be out drinking, and while we don't step up force, we keep a concentrated eye on what's happening."

A friend of mine decided to be smart, so she put the eggs in her pockets while we were running, and they all smashed.

EMILY FERGUSON • sophomore in psychology

K-State research eliminates gaps

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

is new and unique in that respect." K-State's research is filling in holes in the international greenhouse effects research.

"We pioneered the ecosystemlevel work. We measure responses directly instead of estimating.

Jay Ham, assistant professor in agronomy, said the information K-State finds is used for global circulation models, which are used to predict how the earth will be affected in the future.

"The funding organization, the Department of Energy, gives grants to scientists to study effects of increased carbon dioxide in many different ecosystems - tropical rainforests, tundras and jungles," Ham said.

The global circulation patterns, which are the focus of much research, are inexact when predicting local effects, Owensby said.

"It's like a picture on the TV. The smallest dot in the global circulation model is 500 square miles," Owensby explained. "Within 500 square miles, there are essentially no predictions.

The research conducted here targets the effects of increased levels of the carbon-dioxide levels on the tallgrass prairie.

"We do know for sure that there will be an increase in carbondioxide levels," Owensby said.

Owensby, the project leader, said he is supported by a strong team of researchers.

Jay Ham and Chuck Rice are also from the Department of Agronomy. In addition, Alan Knapp, from the division of biology, and Pat Coyne, from the KSU Agricultural Research Center-Hays, assist with the project.

"We all get together and brainstorm and come up with ideas," Owensby said.

Five plastic chambers, located in a field north of Kimball Avenue, are the test sites for the research.

Within the controlled environments of the plastic chambers, the carbon dioxide is increased to levels predicted for the year 2050, which are double today's levels.

"Each chamber has a fan that pumps air into it," Ham said. "It flows through the chamber and out through the top. We use computers to inject carbon dioxide into the air stream before it flows into the chamber.'

Can't Believe It's

Buy One Cappuccino,

New Hours: 7 a.m. - 11 p.m. Daily

Get One Cappuccino Free!

Also good on Mochas & Lattes, with this coupon.

10 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sundays

FRIDAY NIGHT

at the Movies. . .

The Nightmare Before Christmas

Tonight, Oct. 28 8:30p.m.

ECM Campus Center

1021 Denison

539-4281

The K-State researchers can study the direct effects of the increased carbon-dioxide levels on the cropland plants and vegetation.

"What we study is how the increased levels of carbon dioxide affects the movement of carbon and water energy in the ecosystem, Ham said.

Alan Knapp, associate professor in biology, said the length of the research gives the results more credibility.

'It's significant in terms of being the longest-running experiment, Knapp said. "It's the same patch of land exposed for six years."

They have found some positive effects on the prairie ecosystem. Ham said one of the positive effects is that the prairie can withstand drought better under elevated carbon-dioxide levels.

"Under increased carbon dioxide, there is a decrease in the vegetation's water use," Ham said. "It doesn't need as much water."

Ham said the decreased use of water is due to the plant's stomata, or pores in the leaf, tightening under higher carbon-dioxide levels. Therefore, less of the plant's water is released into the atmosphere.

"That's a profound impact," Ham said. "In the future, if there is less rainfall, it suggests that the prairie might still grow because it can do it with less water.

In addition, the reduction of water loss, along with other factors, leads to increased grass production, Ham said.

The plants continue to grow under increased carbon-dioxide levels when they normally would stop growth due to water deficiency, Ham said.

Another focus of the experiments that resulted in positive results concerns the soil's ability to store carbon dioxide.

"Our primary focus right now is to look at the potential for the prairie to store carbon," Owensby

"Scientists of each region are studying it to see if their ecosystem can store carbon," Ham said. "It's important so we can predict how carbon dioxide will increase in global levels.

Ham said there has been an increase in carbon in the soils under plots with elevated carbon dioxide.

"It looks like some carbon can be stored in the soil. If that's true,

11th & Moro - Aggieville

537-1616

then maybe carbon-dioxide levels won't increase so fast."

Although there are several positive effects found in elevated carbon-dioxide levels, they don't outweigh the consequences of the greenhouse effects.

Factories, exhaust fumes and other pollutants have detrimental effects on ecosystems, Ham said.

"We put a lot of carbon dioxide into the air," Ham said. "And that's what is causing the so-called greenhouse effect.

One of the negative effects on the prairie was found through the original technique of sheep grazing. 'We're the only people who have ever done this under elevated carbon-dioxide levels," Owensby The sheep have been surgically altered so that what they eat during a collection period in the chambers is extruded from their esophagus into a bag secured to their necks, Owensby said.

"This is done for us to get diet samples that would be normally chosen by an animal," Owensby said. "Humans would choose a much poorer sample.'

The experiment found a reduced weight gain in livestock. This was caused by a decrease in protein and increase in fiber in the grass, which creates a lower-quality diet for livestock, Owensby said.

"It will cost ranchers and farmers by increased feed costs," Owensby

Being a part of an international research team identifies K-State as a leader in the greenhouse-effects

"It certainly adds prestige to be doing research that is on the cutting edge and on the forefront of technology," Owensby said.

$12 Student/Child: $7 an Record Critics Award, this inble has been praised for its ce, richness of tone, and depth of agination. Hear for yourself when the Trio

Haydn: Trio in A Major, Hob. XV:18

Schumann: Trio in D Minor, Op. 63

Brahms: Trio in B Major, Op. 8

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Tickets also available (with service charge) at Manhattan

Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union

Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley).

Presentation of Trio Fontenay is supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

Trio Fontenay

Michael Mucke, violin; Wolf Jarden, piano; and Nikl

Friday, October 28, 192

Kansas Sta

Public/faculty: $14 S

Winner of the

Hambur

tech

McCain Aud

Adjustments made for construction

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The 18 spaces left open in Lot A-1 are in the far eastern corner and are accessible through Lot A-2.

Now, when turning onto Mid Campus Drive from Anderson, the driving lane will be moved east to the lane where the parallel stalls by Calvin and Kedzie halls used to be. The west side of the street will be diagonal parking stalls.

"From the drive across from Kedzie to Anderson Hall will become two-way traffic," Carter

He said the street is wide enough for two-way traffic and the existing bike lane.

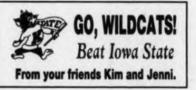

"We've had our guys out doing the survey work," he said. The painters will paint the stripes before Monday. Carter said facilities tried to leave as much of Lot A-1 open as they could for access to buildings for students and the Disabled Student Services Shuttle.

SUPPORT K-STATE FOR HOMECOMING

This is your chance to give the Cats a personal message.

how your Purple Pride by placing a personalized Cat Tracker ad in the Collegian cheering on the Wildcats as they take on the Iowa State Cyclones this Homecoming Weekend.

Here's how it works: you tell us what you want to say, and we'll plug it into one of the three designs above which YOU choose. The ads will run together in the special Cat Tracker section of the Collegian on Friday, Nov. 4, the day before the Cats play Iowa State at KSU Stadium.

The ads can be from you, your family, your business, your living group, your friends or any other combination.

It only costs $5, so come on in to 103 Kedzie Hall to reserve your ad today.

DEADLINE: 4 p.m. Wed., Nov. 2

COLLEGIAN Kedzie Hall 103 532-6560

YOUR

Little Caesars Piz Two great pizzas! One low price: Always! Always!

PARTY! PARTY! CALL 539-3333 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN, KS

PIZZA!PIZZA!" VALUE MENU

CREATE YOUR OWN

CREATE YOUR OWN

START WITH

ADD TOPPINGS OR

EXPIRES: 11-12-94 Little Caesars WITH ONE TOPPING

ADD TOPPINGS OR

participating Little Coesars. EXPIRES: 11-12-94

Little Caesars

CREATE YOUR OWN

EXPIRES: 11-12-94

Little Caesars

NEW line of quality pizzas loaded with more of what you want!

ANY 2 MEDIUM PIZZAS NOW GET - CAESARS SINGLES!" MEDIUM $5.99 * ONE LARGE $7.99

Offer volid or participating comy-out stores. No coupon necessary. 21994 LCE, Inc.

PLUS TAX 2 LARGE $13.98

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

/1 "Speed" – 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

"Nosferato" - 8 p.m. Union Little Theater. "Rocky Horror Picture Show" - midnight

"Speed" — 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum

Puke Weasel and Hostility - 9:30 p.m. at Charlie's. "Nosferato" - 8 p.m. Union Little Theater. "Rocky Horror Picture Show" - midnight Union Ballroom.

OCTOBER 28, 1994

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CROSSWORD EUGENE SHEFFER ACROSS 41 Mult. 19 Tennis insomnia 1 Airplane opposite 43 B-F link DOWN champ accesses 1 Aries 6 Feathery 44 Chip in 2 Bother 21 Benny, in neckpiece 3 2 billion 9 Apiece 45 Lummox pounds Framed Roger Rabbit" 12 Journalist 47 220 yards ing job 5 Pie man? St. Johns 49 Maria's 13 One, in predeces 22 Mimic combina 6 Peck x 4 Oohs' 52 La-la 7 Never tions mates lead-in 53 Skater 14 Brewery 26 Drive off output 8 Football in all 15 Business Babilonia directions bigwig 16 20 grains 54 Shows 9 Document 28 Jeopardy 10 J.R.'s mom 30 Lyricist courage 55 Emulate 18 "Cocoon" 11 Parts of Kahn Oscar Ross an audio-32 It equals winner 56 Teeter cassette 2.47 acres 20 Simon or totter 17 Do a 33 Conclu-Diamond quorum post-21 Man, in 57 Remedy vacation 34 Tone of azz slang chore some tales 23 That girl 36 Slowly 38 Floats Solution time: 26 mins. 25 Footless creature 39 Harden 27 Leader of Athens? yellow 42 Negates 29 Harmless 31 Shun 35 Coffee additive 37 Gambling game 38 Thin Cooperstown streaks of smoke

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873199¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC. CRYPTOQUIP

ZDYL-HXXJXJ LKMFYDE APZKH ELX NKRPH YLXXFVDRRO

J M N - E F X N N X J .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: FAMED DAIRY FARMER'S

MOTTO: "WHERE THERE'S A WILL, THERE'S A

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals F

CALVIN AND HOBBES

CALVIN, LISTEN CLOSELY. LOCKING ROSALYN OUT OF THE HOUSE WASN'T JUST MEAN, IT WAS DANGEROUS. IF YOU'D HURT YOURSELF OR IF THERE WAS A FIRE, SHE WOULDN'T HAVE BEEN ABLE TO HELP YOU.

YOU GO APOLOGIZE AND WE'RE SORRY TOO. I PROMISE YOU CALVIN WILL BEHAVE HIMSELF NEXT TIME FIVE WOULD HELP THERE

BILL WATTERSON

Reader offended by problems in Cassandra: 'clean it up or spare us stupid sexual details'

Dear Cassie,

Your column Wednesday was absolutely disgusting. What is with these losers writing in about having an orgasm in a sock?

I enjoy your column a lot, but this type of "problem" is uncalled for. The Collegian represents K-State and is distributed all over the state.

Could you please tell your writers to clean it up or spare us their stupid sexu-

Signed, No More Please

Dear No More Please,

Some of the letters I receive are pretty disgusting, I agree. However, I don't discriminate and whatever "problems" I receive, I'll be happy to comment on.

So you heard it here K-State. Your fellow students don't want to hear about obscene problems.

Let me tell you, some of the stuff I read is enough to make me sick.

Off-color humor, musical parodies in Union Station

AMY ZIEGLER

Collegian He was the king of sarcasm.

Mike Kollmansberger, a comic from New Jersey, presented an hour of off-color jokes and musical parodies Thursday in Union Station.

The event, sponsored by the Union Program Council Eclectic Committee, drew a crowd of around 125 people. Throughout his performance, he told crude and offensive jokes, but the crowd seemed to enjoy his sense of humor.

Kollmansberger said he has a routine specifically designed for college-age students, and although a comment or joke might be sarcastic, he lets people think for themselves.

The art of comedy is saying it without saying it. If people can't handle the conclusions, they can leave. It's a free country," he said.

He said he enjoyed the audience at K-State and has encountered some audiences around the country who don't understand his sense of humor.

He said he once received a letter from a university about his "x-rated" routine. Kollmansberger said they told him a few minutes before he went on stage that there were high school students who were coming to visit the college that afternoon.

"I don't have a last-minute Howdy Doody children's hour that I can switch to. If they are going to bring high school students in, they should have hired someone to dress up in a Barney costume and make balloons," he said.

Kollmansberger described himself as a "smartass," and he proved it through his jokes about Kansas drivers and nudist colonies. He had some good material, but often his stage presence and delivery was mediocre.

He often laughed at his own jokes and jumped from one topic to another in a matter of seconds.

The highlight of his routine was his impersonation of Pink Floyd and the Crash Test Dummies.

To the tune of "Another Brick in the The Wall," Kollmansberger sang a song about the life of mall cops. He entertained the audience with his clever lyrics such as "you wanted to be a real cop, now you're chasing a kid who stole a mop. Hey, Rent-a-Cop, leave those kids alone."

Next, he did a believable impersonation of the Crash Test Dummies.

He created the melody on his keyboard, and then lowered and warped his voice to sound like the lead vocalist. Kollmansberger's song about chicken-noodle soup ended with the traditional humming, but he changed it to Mmm, Mmm good.

He also hit on topics close to K-State. His jokes about cheating on biology exams got a favorable response from the audience.

"I heard students migh et arrested for on an exam. When they're thrown in the jail cell, and they ask Ricky the Rapist what he's in for, he will say he raped three women. When he asks you, you say you stole a biology exam, and he'll tell you to bend over because you're number four."

Kollmansberger's hour of comedy was a rollercoaster ride of sexual innuendoes and sarcastic comments, but overall, it turned out to be a success and gave students a way to relax and get a good

Westloop Shopping Center near Hunam's Restaurant

We're Open Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m -7 p.m. Sat., Sun. 10 a.m.-7 p.m. What do we have for you?

Bobby T's & Kickers present

5th Annual Monster Mash and Karaoke Party

Saturday 9:30 p.m. 'til the party's over

Costume Judging at Kickers 10:15 p.m. and at Bobby's T's 11 p.m. Cash Prizes & Certificates

$50 1st Place, $30 2nd Place, $20 3rd Place at each location. Orange Spiders Adams Apples Bat Terds

$1.50

Giveaways & Drawings Tricks and Treats for Everyone

NCHORNS

Halloween Party Costume Contest

Cash Prizes Saturday, Oct. 29th

Free Dance Lessons Tuesday & Wednesday

1115 Moro • Aggieville • 776-8770

Electrical and Computer Engineering Students

Early Enrollment for Spring 1995

Check the bulletin board behind the EECE office (Du 261) for details of the Early Enrollment procedures. Early Enrollment will only be conducted:

SENIORS AND JUNIORS:

Monday, Oct. 31 and Tuesday, Nov. 1

1-4:30 p.m.

ALL STUDENTS:

Monday, Nov. 7 and Monday, Nov. 14,

1 - 4:30 p.m.

EXTRA SESSION: Tuesday, Nov. 22

Sign-up sheets are in the EECE office.

KSU Food Safety Forum -Presents-

Food Safety Symposium

Friday, Oct. 28, 1:30-5:30 p.m. Frick Auditorium College of Veterinary Medicine

Invited Speakers from: Food Safety Consortium (KSU, Iowa State, & U. of Arkansas)

Food Animal Production Medicine Consortium (KSU, U. of Calif., U. of Floride, U of Illinois, Mich. St. U., & U. of Nebraska)

KSU- Human Ecology & Cooperative Extension

For more information call: 913-532-4258

► CAMPUS

LORI CAGLE

November plans to be a busy month for the Union Program

Among the many events planned are Laser Quest, a spectacular game of tag, which will be played in the main ballroom of the Union for six hours on Nov. 1.

"Six-person teams will play for 10 minutes at a time, so bring five friends and get in line, because it's first come, first serve from 2 to 8 p.m.," Melissa Wells, Eclectic Entertainment committee chairwoman, said.

The Live concert on Nov. 7, and a free concert in the Union Station Nov. 10 featuring Suede Chain from St. Louis, Mo., will have concert fans busy before Thanksgiving break.

A salute to Jean Renoir will be presented by the Kaleidoscope Films Committee the week of Nov. 2-4, followed by the Academy Award-winning movie "The Piano," Nov. 9-11.

Outdoor Recreation is sponsoring a mini-rappelling trip to Tuttle Creek Dam this weekend with a cost of $10.

"We have room for 40 people, and 18 to 20 have already signed up so there is still room," Arlen Olberding, Outdoor Recreation chairman, said.

In November, the Outdoor Recreation committee has planned a trip to the Wichita Mountains in southwest Oklahoma.

Cost will be $30, which will cover five meals, cooking gear and camping permit. It will be Nov. 11-13, and participants will hike more than 15 miles of trails at the National Wildlife Refuge.

Another event Olberding said he was excited about was the possible Dec. 2-4 ski trip to Crested Butte.

"It looks really good, and the

Today's Special!

Ham

& Beans

Bob's DINER

OPTICAL

VISION

$39

For more information on any and all of the events, you may contact the UPC office on the third floor of the Union or call 532-6571.

cost is going to be $70 or less, which will include lodging, transportation and ski rental for the trip," Olberding said.

The first lecture of the new Alumni Lecture Series will take place Nov. 4, Patrick Carney, chairman of Issues and Ideas Committee, said.

Randy Rathbun, U.S. Attorney to Kansas, will speak on politics and law, the war on drugs and environmental issues, he said.

"We are trying to get the personal White House photographer for President Ronald Reagan, Paul Swartz, for next semester's lecture," Carney said.

In addition to the College Bowl on Nov. 12 and 13, there will be a Faculty Lecture Series speaker on Nov. 15. The speaker for that series will be professor John Daly, whose lecture is titled "Who Lost Russia?'

"We have tried to implement a new lecture series every semester," he said. "Last semester was the faculty series, this semester is the alumni series, and next semester we are working on a Sports series."

Chrissy Hathaway, Arts Committee chairwoman, said the scheduled Nov. 7 poetry reading has been changed to Nov. 14 due to the Live concert.

IMPRESSIONS

HAIR DESIGN AND NAIL STUDIO

Introduces Debbie Poage & Sheree Schroder to their design team.

They're offering 25% OFF all hair care services. One time only w/coupon expires Nov 23 1129 Moro Aggieville 537-1332

Kansas State University

African Student Union presents:

1994 AFRICAN MUSIC NIGHT Saturday, Oct. 29, 6:30-10 p.m.

Manhattan Middle School-901 Poyntz

Acting play by: Singing - Drumming - Dancing Dr. Daisy Kabagarama Tickets: K-State Union (Oct. 26, 27, 28)

or call 7.76-8695

African 2 $1.50 children under 12 - $3 general Snacks < Sponsored by I.C.C.

Open Music Night

Friday, October 28 10p.m.-1a.m. Union Station

Country

Saturday, October 29 10 p.m.-1 a.m. Union Station

UPC plans busy month Candidates emphasize service to citizens

Candidates for local and state offices took a pop quiz Thursday

The League of Women Voters of Manhattan/Riley County sponsored a candidates' forum at the Manhattan Fire Station.

The forum featured candidates for the Riley County Commission and the Kansas State Legislature.

"I am committed to service," 1st District candidate Russell Frey, Manhattan, said.

Frey said networking with local governments, economic diversity and the new jail and lawelected. "I want to be a servant to the citizens," Nancy Bammes, 1st District candidate from Manhattan, said.

Bammes' top priority was the jail expansion, she said.

State representative Kent Glasscock, R-Manhattan, said he is not one of those people who talks about problems and focuses on the downside of things.

'I believe that we can solve the problems that we face. I believe that challenges can be overcome, and that's why I serve in Topeka," he said. "The day that I no longer enforcement center were the top believe that I can be part of the three priorities on his agenda if solution, that I can come face to face with the challenges and meet them head on, will be the day I > come home." State Legislative candidates for the 66th District, Shelia Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, and Ann Stevens, R-Manhattan, both responded to questions concerning sales tax. have always voted consistently in this district,' Hochhauser said in her closing statement.

water resources, health care and the Mary Greene, state legislative

LEAGUE

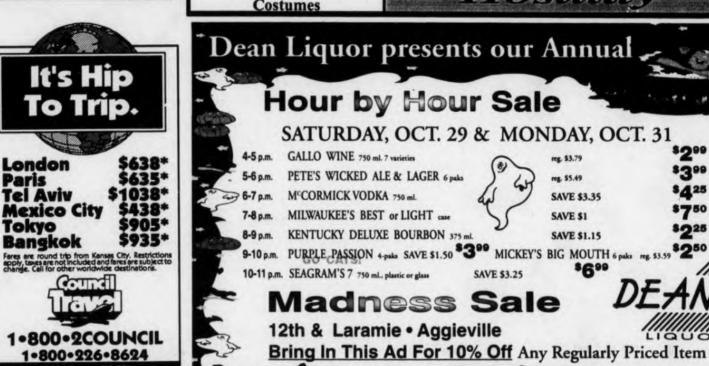

For more information about the league and its programs, contact: League of Women Voters Manhattan-Riley County, P.O. Box 835, Manhattan, Kan. 66502 candidate for the 106th District, also participated in the forum. The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan organization that promotes informed citizen participation in government.

Halloween Is Almost Here!

reg. $3.79

reg. $5.49

SAVE $3.35

SAVE $1.15

SAVE $1

Hurry! Reserve Your Costume Now!

Let us help you put together that prize winner. We still have lots of items left from our big sale at 75% off...Hurry!

Marie's Costumes

(We will be open on Sundays, Oct. 23 & Oct. 30) 2011 Ft. Riley Blvd. • 539-5200 • Open 10 a.m. - 7 p.m.

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. For free transportation within city limits.

call the church. Pastors Karen & Alan Selig 2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691 An American Baptist Congregation

Grace Baptist Church (2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)

◆ Sunday ◆ Three Unique Worship

Opportunities 8:15 + 9:30 + 11 a.m. Bible Classes For All Ages - 9:30 a.m. All-Age Family Hour - 11 a.m. Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m.

776-0424

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.

Pastor Harris Waltner 10th and Fremont Child Care Available FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

5th & Humboldt Worship & Praise 8:30 a.m. Traditional Worship 10:55 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. COLLEGE FELLOWSHIP Live Broadcast 11:30 a.m.

Angel 95 (95.3 FM) Wed. Eve. Bible Study & Youth Programs PASTOR DR. DONALD E. BREZAVAR UNITY CHURCH of MANHATTAN

1021 Denison Ave. (E.C.M. Building) Meditation 10:15 a.m. Service 11 a.m.

"The Daily Word People" WESTVIEW COMMUNITY

Welcome Back, Students Morning Worship 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday School 9 & 10:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.

1st, 3rd & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groups) 6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

ST. FRANCIS CANTERBURY EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY

Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel every Sunday at 5 p.m. Call 532-9099

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30., 11a.m. & 5 p.m. Confessions: Sat. 3:30 p.m.

711 Denison Chaplain: Father Keith Weber

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH 8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship

9:45 a.m. Church School Nursery provided for all services Omer G. Tittle, Pastor

776-8821 612 Poyntz DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH (LCMS)

Campus Pastor James Gau Sun. 8 and 10:45 a.m. Sat. Worship 6 p.m. Bible Class Sunday 9:30 a.m.

330 N. Sunset Ave. 539-2604

A Little Space Can Say A Lot COLLEGIAN . Advertising 532-6560

First Congregational Church 700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006 Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m.

Sermon: "From the Heart or Not At All" Sunday, Oct.30 Rev. Donald Longbottom

Lutheran Campus Ministries

WORSHIP Sundays 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel

Holy Communion celebrated every Sunday +sing, pray, meditate +pursue your questions of faith +hear a word of acceptance and forgiveness +bring a friend

Pastor Jayne Thompson 539-4451

-Open to All-

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less - $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 — $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50 each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

fieds must be paid in adv you have an est udent Publications. check, MasterCard or Visa are id. There is a $10 service charge

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the data you want your ad to run. Classified display ade must be piaced by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the data you want your a If you sell your item before your ad as expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.
You must call us before noon the day
the ad is to be published.

CANCELLATIONS

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, call us. We accept responsibility for the first wrong insertion. FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run for for three days free of charge.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified

532-6555

532-7309

OR WRITE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS K-State Collegian Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

BOARD

Announcements

$50 REWARD for informa tion leading to arrest and conviction of thief who stole hood orna-ment from Mercedes at urday night. Call Bill 532-6890 ext.18.

each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

50 PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Loaded Sports Cards 410 ntz, 537-4141. ADVANCED FLIGHT Train-from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine ATP multi-engine Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m.

HOW IN the world would you spend $17,000? Have an idea? Come to Student Affairs and Social Services meeting Oct. 30 at 7:30 p.m. ir the Office of Student Activities and Services and tell us!

PLAN A stunning winter wedding with Bloom-ing Dale's winter floral. Ask for Diane. 539–4751.

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driv-er's license or other) when placing a per-LIZ- CONGRATULATIONS on Truman Nomina-tion- Relax this wee-kend. C&B.

WANDA FROM GOOD-LAND. We met 10/21 playing pool in Char-ie's and it was your lucky day. Really en-joyed talking with you, but I turned around and you were gone! Gave my number to someone you know— hope you will call! -The

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime.

2. Then call us

Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537–1825.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any-where, discounts, Wareham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min-imum seven month lease, no pets. lease, 537-8389.

For Rent-Unfurnished

one, two, three and four-bedroom apart ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. MANHATTAN

AVAILABLE FALL very nice

Apartments, four-bed-room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

ONE-BEDROOM. NEAR campus, 1807 College Hts., laundry facilities, central air. $405/ month. Jan.- Aug. 776-6313.

ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three *****

CAMBRIDGE

SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS 9:00-4:30 ************

blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

Rooms Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY would like to help college girl, room and meals, ex-change for light chores. Available now- Write P.O. Box 652, Manhat-tan, KS 66502.

For Rent-

NON-DRINKER

smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References, 539-1554. ROOMMATES NEEDED for

AND

a four-bedroom house. Nice, own room, spa-cious $187.50. Call 587-9131 ask for Heath-

What do you do if you see a fire? 1. Call 911

News Tips 532-6556

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

For Sale-Mobile Homes

property classify any ad. HEADLINES

COUNTRYSIDE BROKER AGE has 15 new and used mobile homes to choose from. Most on lot. We finance. Call Mike 539-2325.

Roommate

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE LY: Two large bed-rooms in nice, spacious four-bedroom house. Cheap rent plus utilities. Lots of extras. 587-9131: Sarah.

BIG ROOM in two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, Aggieville. Move in now. Great house, no pets. $230/ month until May. 539-

FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bedrooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after 9p.m. FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to occupy three-bedroom apartment at Woodway. $208/ month plus one-third utilities and water. Call Susan, 587-8270. FEMALE

ALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to cam pus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately.

MALE ROOMMAIE
Extremely nice apartment. Pool, patio, own room. only $215/month. Water, trash paid. 537-1679. FEMALE TO share nice two-bedroom apart ment. Own room, excel-lent environment. Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent $220, but negotiable, and one-half utilities. Avail-able Dec. 15. 587–8618. MALE TO share two bedroom apartment Jan. 1. Own room, free laundry, utilities paid. $202.50. Close to cam-pus. 537-4532.

FEMALE/ MALE roommate needed Jan. 1. Nice, own room. Call 537-2611 leave mes-

FULLY FURNISHED house close to campus for fe-male. $280/ month all bills paid. 539-6098. LOOKING FOR: one female on two-bedroom, one and one-half bath, fur-References required.

to share rent/ utilities

NEED A place to live? Fam-ily has room for college girl to live in. Board and food, exchanged duties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian. NEED FOURTH roommate for four-bedroom house. Excellent environment, laundry, owi room, close to campus $170 plus one-fourth es. 537-9813.

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom, nice, new house, $200, 723 Bluemont, washer/ dry-er, own bathroom.

WANTED NON-SMOKING and non-drinking room-mate for basement furnished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities.

Sublease AVAILABLE DEC. 1, two-bedroom apartment across from Aggieville. One-half blocks from campus. Clean, spa

SUBLEASE NEEDED. Two males need a room-mate $215 a month. A block away from cam-pus and Aggieville. 539-2540/587-4666.

SERVICE DIRECTORY

Tutor

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tu tor. Five years GTA experience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave message: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

210 Resume/ Typing

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie

NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

539-1191 (evenings)

WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Musicians/DJs

BASSIST WANTED to com plete metal/ hard rock band. Influences: Smashing Pumpkins, Pantera and everything in between. Call Jeff 776-3819 after 5p.m. DRUMMER AND singer needed for a heavy al-ternative, funkoblues band. Call 539-3926, leave message 250

Automotive Repair

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair SAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Other Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corpo

rate scholarships and grants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhattan, KS 66502 PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

and abortion services Dale L. Clinton, M.D.

EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertise-ments in the Employments in the Employ-ment/Career classifica-tion. Readers are ad-vised to approach any such employment op-portunity with reason-able caution. The Col-legian urges our read-ers to contact the Bet-ter Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, To-peka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext. ATTENTION- COLLEGE

Pro is now interviewing for Franchise Managers for next summer in KC, Wichita, and Topeka. All positions must be filled by February. Run your own business. Build your resume and earn Internship credit earn internship credit while making good money to continue your education. I did it and made $10,000. For more information call Todd at 587-8255. ATTENTION STUDENTS:

Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, Ki 66051. Immediate re

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World trav-el (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEa-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. Information (504)646-1700 DEPT.

KANSAS TRADER is look-ing for motivated indi-viduals to sell advertising for our paper, 20 percent commission to start! Make your own hours. Call 539-8100 for PART-TIME STUDENT em week. Reliable, quick learner and ability to work without super-

115 Rooms Available

120 For Rent - Houses

125 For Sale - Houses

Mobile Homes

130 For Rent -

vision required; knowledge of campus buildings preferred. Contact Dawn Caldwell, 2 Fairchild Hall, 532-6804.

SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

WANTEDIII INDIVIDUALS, student organizations and small groups to promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial money and free trips. Call the nation's leader, inter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065.

$1500 WEEKLY possible

Wanted to Buy

WHITE WICKER furniture wanted. Don't store it for winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667 after 5p.m.

Items for Sale

ELECTRIC WORD Processor with spell check and extra supplies. $125; B/W portable TV $10; Patio drape and brass rod. 539-5819.

FOR SALE: Brother Word Processor- In great shape and very nice. $250. 776-7732. ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson MOUNTAIN BIKE, Schwinn clips. Good condition. Also, stairclimber for sale. Call 539-9485.

TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale. 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100. 12.0 cubi c foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from home! Call 537-4667 after 5p.m.

Furniture to Buy/Sell SUPER SINGLE waterbed, great condition, price negotiable. 539-8374 (Ask for Michelle).

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Empori-um, 6000 square feet, antiques, collectibles, estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Man-hattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

386SX, MAGNAVOX computer and keyboard, 2 MB Ram, 40 MB hard drive. CD-Rom. In-cludes MS-Dos 6 and Soundblaster $500. 539-6643.

COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 and 5.25 floppy, 85 Meg hard, 2400 bd mo-dem, two joysticks, SVGA monitor, $700, call Mo 776-4110. LAPTOP 386, 4MB RAM, 40 MB hard drive. Needs battery, $400. Call Mike 395–4806.

MACINTOSH COMPUT-ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685.

MACINTOSH LC III 4/250, 14-inch Apple monitor HP Deskwriter printer $1600, negotiable, 539-1127.

MACINTOSH LC III 4/80 33MHZ like new, 14 inch color monitor, extended keyboard mouse, 1.4 disk drive video support, Excel 4.0, Word 5.0 etc. in-stalled, only $895, 587-0948.

Pets and

Supplies

450

KITTEN PARADISE at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters. Lovable and playful Persians- black, calico, cream, blue, or red, $249. Himalayan/ Siamese mixed breed $79 beautifull 539-9494

TRANS-

PORTATION

Automobiles 1950 CJ3A, Chevy 350 four speed, overdrive, Kayline top, much more, not show but very good, (316)835-2169 (913)537-2456. 1967 MUSTANG, blue $1550, 1969 Mustang, red $1300. 539-5553.

1975 MERCURY Marquis, 22,000 on rebuild, power everything, excellent condition, very dependable, $1000. 539-3726.

five door, sunroof AM/FM stereo tape deck, automatic trans mission. $975. Call 776 1987 MUSTANG GT V-8 5.0 liter, red, one owner, new tires. $3900, negotiable. Call Darren at 539-8395.

1983 SUBARU Wagon

1988 TOYOTA Tercel, twodoor, automatic, will best offer. 537-5025.

ACCORD. HONDA, 1982, four-door, five-speed air conditioned, AM/ FM cassette, 90K, $2000, 537-8967.

Bicycles

520

TREK 850 Antelope. Practi-cally brand new, call Mike for details, 587-8542.

Motorcycles

1989 KAWASAKI Ninja 600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best offer. Must sale: Call 539-5068 after 8p.m.

540

Car Pool

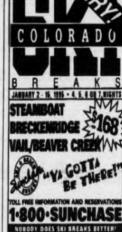

GOING TO Wichita this weekend? Call Amy at 587-9533. Will pay por-

TRIPS

610

Tour Package VACATIONS. BAHAMAS

Cruise for two, $400 or best offer. Hotel stay in Tantwo, Slu-Must sell. 77b Tampa or Orlando for two, $100 or best offer. Must sell. 776–3867.

Airplane Tickets

(913)681-5251.

to Cancellation limit-ed Las Vegas Thanks-giving weekend air/ MGM Grand/ Wedness day- Sunday from KCI starting at $364, tickets available. Call Ann Chi-len, Flagship Travel (800)659-2303 or home (913)881-5251

Worry about your baby while you're gone? The Collègian can help you. A classified ad in the Collegian can help you find the right babysitter for your baby. It's only $5 for 20 words - and a night out for you. Give us call or come see us in Kedzie 103.

JOLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals

040 Meetings/Events 050 Parties-n-More

100 REAL ESTATE 105 For Rent -Apt. Furnished

110 For Rent — Apt. Unfurnished

SERVICE DIRECTORY 208 Tutor

135 For Sale -Mobile Homes 140 For Rent - Garage

155 Stable/Pasture 160 Office Space

145 Roommate Wanted

200

165 Land for Sale

215 Desktop Publishing 220 Sewing/Alterations

225 Pregnancy Testing

230 Lawn Care 235 Child Care

150 Sublease 250 Automotive Repair 255 Other Services

> 300 EMPLOYMENT CAREERS

245 Pet Services

405 Wanted to Buy 240 Musicians/DJs

430 Antiques

310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Neede

Business Opportunities

40% MARKET

410 Items for Sale 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

420 Garage/Yard Sales

435 Computers 440 Food Specials

450 Pets and Supplies 455 Sporting Equipment

445 Music Instruments

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

TRANS-PORTATION

510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

530 Motorcycles

540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/

610 Tour Packages

620 Airplane Tickets 630 Train Tickets

640 Bus Tickets

WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD

Always put what item or service you are advertising first.

This helps potential buyers find

CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category

and sub-category. All categories

are marked by one of the large

images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number

TIPS FOR

designation.

what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price.

looking at something in their price

This tells buyers if they are

range.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Museum completion set for about 1 year

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

not be so dramatic.
"We're pretty close to even

"We're pretty close to even with the parking spots," he said. Britt said construction should take a little more than a year.

"We are targeting the inaugural for the museum for Jan. 14, 1996," Britt said. "And for that event, we are borrowing 70 works of art from 15 museums in the Midwest."

Britt said for the inaugural, the Beach art museum will have 24
Georgia O'Keefe works of art on loan from the Crosby Kemper

Foundation in Kansas City.

The art museum already has 1,500 works of art, Britt said, which are stored in a secure vaulted area.

"I would like to say that the most important part of this museum is that it will be environmentally controlled," Britt said. "The temperature and the humidity will be constant 365 days a year."

Upon completion, the 25,000square-foot museum will contain five galleries, the Kemper Educational Wing, which will feature a 140-seat assembly hall and classroom, a large commons area, and a bookstore and café.

Britt said the museum will be doing a great deal of outreach work within the surrounding community.

"On board we will have a museum educator whose primary function is to do community outreach within a 60-mile radius," he said. "And we hope to have young students come for field trips from the surrounding counties."

Carter said he has been impressed with the art he has seen.
"A lot of the art that I've seen "A lot of the art that I've seen the University owning — they're

UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL PRESENTS:

Monday, November 7

7:00 pm

Bramlage Coliseum

Tickets on sale now at the Bramlage Coliseum Box Office, Manhattan Center

Information Booth, K-State the Union Bookstore, McCain Auditorium, Vanderbilts and The Children's Book Shop in Topeka, ITR Office in Ft. Riley, and House of Sight and Sound in Salina

Charge By Phone (913) 532-7606

Tickets are only $15.00 (Plus service charge where they apply) very Midwestern artwork," Carter said. "Some of them, I'm just amazed we've got them. They're really beautiful."

According to information from the art museum, the drive to build an art museum was initiated by Ruth Ann Wefald, as she toured the state for several years telling of K-State's need for a museum.

Ross and Marianna Beach, of Hays, became interested in the project through Wefald's efforts.

In September 1991, the Beaches, both K-State alumni, donated $2 million to establish the museum.

Richard Seaton, of Coffeyville, United Missouri Bancshares and the Crosby Kemper Foundation of Kansas City, Mo., also gave private lead donations in support of the museum.

With Special Guests:

WEEZER

THE

FATIMA MANSIONS

"The design for the museum

STREETSIDE RECORDS® LUCAS UNDER CONSTRUCTION RECORDS® (lucacentric)

For Lucas, hip hop is all about diversity. He believes that hip hop can assimilate anything and everything--that it is a truly universal musical language. Brazilian folk songs, ragtime, African music(sampled backwards), big band swing reggae...this only scratches the surface of the Lucaclectic soundworld.

Sale ends 11/21/94

1231 Moro • 776-7373 Stay Streetsmart, Shop Streetside! STREETSIDE'S 20 Best Sellers
on sale every day
$10.00

Ballard's Warehouse Sale

OUTLET STORE

Sale Dates:

Sat., Oct. 29 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Sun., Oct. 30 12 p.m.-5 p.m.

INSIDE

WOMEN'S SHOES

	Reg.	Outlet	Sale
Reebok Instructor Pro MD	$84.95	$61.95	$45.95
Reebok LA 6000 Low	$59.95	$44.95	$32.95
Reebok Weather Max	$90.00	$62.95	$43.95
Adidas Tgamba	$70.95	$53.95	$39.95
Adidas Felicita	$64.95	$47.95	$33.95
New Balance 520	$70.00	$62.95	$43.95
Saucony Jazz 2000 Classic	$59.95	$39.95	$28.95
Nike Eternity	$49.95	$32.95	$26.95

YOUTH SHOES

5 $15.00
0 $15.00
0 $15.00
5 $15.00
0 $15.00
0 $15.00
5 $15.00
0

MEN'S SHOES

New Balance C1675	$69.95	$66.95	$41.95
Etonic Stable Air	$100.00	$69.95	$52.95
LA Gear LA Tech Light Gear	$74.95	$56.95	$39.95
Converse Zephry Mid	$65.00	$48.95	$29.95
Nike Decade	$29.95	$27.95	$22.95
Nike Supreme Tour	$54.95	$39.95	$28.95
Adidas Tech Tr.	$59.95	$37.97	$28.95
Saucony Jazz 2000	$59.95	$39.93	$31.95
Saucony Bango	$59.95	$54.95	$40.95
The state of the s

INSIDE

Bats...........1/2 PRICE!
Youth Crew...Reg $14.95 outlet price $6!
Major League Baseball Shirts & Jersey... 30%
Football Jerseys Reg. $18 now $7!
Exercise Clothing..1/2 PRICE!
Poundage $3!

OUTSIDE

-SHOES-MEN'S & WOMEN'S ONLY

$30

-SWEATS-Crews-Pants-Hoods $3

T-SHIRTS $1! SOCKS $1! 12 for $10!

-GEAR PRINTED SWEATSvalues to $37 SALE $8

ASST. NYLON JACKETS
Adult & Youth Pile-$12 Flannel-$10 Shell $8

500 Ft. Riley Blvd.

776-4557

AGGIEVILLE LOCATION

Sale Dates:

Sat., Oct. 29 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Sun., Oct. 30 12 p.m.-5 p.m.

Basketball BLOW-OUT!

20% OFF All Basketball Shoes!

20% OFF All Basketballs

30% OFF Selected Shoes

20% OFF Shorts (Saturday Only)

World Series Specials
MLB Hats...20% Off

1218 Moro

539-2441

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

NSIDE

AFRICAN MUSIC NIGHT

Manhattan experiences a sampling of African food, music and culture.

PAGE 12

OCTOBER 31, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 50

Moviegoers throw rice during the wedding scene of "The Rocky Horror Picture Show" Friday night in the Union
Ball Room.

MARK LEFFINGWELL Collegian

Uninhibited fun played role in Rocky Horror Picture Show

INSIDE

A close -up look at the winner of the costume contest.

Page 10

SUMMER RUCKMAN Collegian

he crowd chanted "VIRGIN! VIRGIN! VIRGIN!" as the first-time moviegoers were auctioned to the rowdy audience.

"I'm going to take bids on each person, and the highest bid gets to take them home," said Kevyn Jacobs, freshman in psychology, and master of ceremonies for the showing.

The virgin auction, which traditionally precedes the Rocky Horror Picture Show, set the atmosphere for a night of uncensored fun where anything, including clothing garments, goes.

About 600 people attended Union Program

Council's fifth-annual showing of the Rocky Horror Picture Show Friday and Saturday

The Rocky Horror Picture Show, which is based on an English play from the early 1970s, is a mad mix of science fiction and fantasy.

It's the story of an "ordinary couple" and one unforgettable night at the castle of Dr. Frank N. Furter, a mad scientist from the planet Transexual. Brad and Janet arrived on a special night, the unveiling of Dr. Furter's beautiful creature, Rocky.

"I concentrated more on what people were yelling at the screen and when to throw things," Shelley McCarthy, sophomore in kinesiology, said. "That was the fun part."

Audience members threw rice during the wedding scene, covered their heads with newspaper when it rained and threw toast when a character proposed a toast.

The audience set up the characters by asking them lewd questions, such as, "Are you a slut, Janet?" before Janet was going to say "yes" to a question from Brad.

The audience also would run onstage to help the characters.

"Don't drop it!" they yelled as the Master of Ceremonies kneeled at the bottom of the screen, unsuccessfully trying to keep a champagne bottle from crashing to the floor.

The actual storyline isn't what draws the people to the show. In fact, the movie itself is melodramatic and even cheesier than the movie "Grease."

"First-time goers really don't know what the storyline is, as shaky as it might be." Tim Aumiller, graduate student in theater, said. "There are a lot of plot jumps."

The success of "The Rocky Horror Picture Show" is uninhibited audience participation.

"Don't dream it, be it," is the theme and is about losing inhibitions.

"Everyone got into it," Tania Lee, sophomore in secondary education, said. "At a regular movie, you're expected to sit down and shut up."

Audience members dress like their favorite characters, yell helpful advice or rude comments to the characters, throw props at certain scenes, rush the screen, and dance to a song called "The Time Warp."

"It's a pretty racy movie, especially for a nice, little community like Manhattan. It's more than just a bad horror movie. It's a spoof on the tenseness of our sexual attitudes," Aumiller, who dressed like the transvestite Dr. Furter, said.

There are traditions that precede that

See ROCKY Page 12

STEVE HEBERT/Collegia

Travis Williams, alumnus, Laura House, junior in architectural engineering, and Scott Townsend, sophomore in architectural engineering, build a model of Nichols Hall Friday in the Manhattan Town Center.

FOOD DRIVE

Can structure built for a cause

PRUDENCE SIEBERT
Collegian

Cats for Cans launched its annual food drive with a replica-building project at Manhattan Town Center Friday night.

Last year, a model of Wagner Field was constructed from canned fruits and vegetables, primarily by members of the National Society of Architectural Engineering. Nichols Hall was this year's choice.

"It was castle-like and has features to build around that people would recognize," Laura House, Cats for Cans University chairwoman, said.

House, junior in architectural engineering, said the main purpose of the replica construction was to gain the public's attention.

"This is more of a publicity stunt than anything," she said. "It gets a lot of people's attention."

Scott Townsend, sophomore in architectural engineering and NSAE member, said the Nichols replica should generate questions and participation.

"A lot of people will be curious and will ask questions," said Townsend, who will be working the booth at the mall, taking cans and donations when people guess how many cans are in the

■ See STUDENTS Page 12

► SGA

More funding given to vet med; election regulations discussed

LOLA SHRIMPLIN

We have the money, we don't have the money, we have the money.

Student Senate passed a bill Thursday night that granted funding to the College of Veterinary Medicine to make up for the funds that were taken away from that college.

The College of Veterinary Medicine was allocated $6,500 in 1991. The college did not spend all the money that year. Instead of returning the money, as called for by Educational Opportunity Fund Guidelines, the college kept it. It again asked for $6,500 in 1992 and spent about $2,000 of it, Brad Finkeldei, student body vice president, said.

"They spent it illegally," he said.
About $7,500 was then removed from the College of Veterinary Medicine account. This left them with no funds for tutoring programs.

"We didn't make the guidelines clear, so it's Senate's fault," Tricia Nolfi, coordinator of student activities,

Senate had never asked for the money back, and Vet Med never offered it, Finkeldei said.

This was discovered when EOF recently started accounting for all its allocated funds.

Senate did grant $2,500 to the College of Veterinary Medicine for tutoring programs Thursday.

In other business, Senate discussed the first drafts of several bills, including a bill to establish an ad-hoc committee to create long-term planning within SGA.

"Is it possible for us to pass legislation within this body that will affect next year's Senate?" Pat Carney, arts and sciences senator, said.

Clayton Wheeler, Student Senate Chair, said Senate has passed legislation that will affect future Senates.

Senate also discussed the 1994-95 Election Campaign Regulations.

According to the regulations, K-State Union employees will not be permitted to wear any campaign materials while on duty. Classified employees are not allowed to vote in student-body elections.

The bill also states that the Elections Committee will be the Grievance Committee.

"We're just trying to have one good election — one," Chad Schneiter, Elections Chair, said.

The bill was held in committee and will be brought back up next week.

Trent LeDoux, agriculture senator, asked for $2,000 from the Student Life Enrichment Account to bring in the Johnsons for AIDS Awareness Week.

Johnsons for AIDS Awareness Week.

The Johnsons are an HIV-infected couple from Wisconsin.

That account consists of the $17,000 that students were overcharged at enrollment.

"I believe this is for the benefit of the whole campus," LeDoux said. The bill was sent back to Student

The bill was sent back to Student Affairs and Social Services Committee for consideration.

VOLUNTEER WORK

Student volunteers insulate home, work will help reduce bills

TAWNYA ERNS
Collegian

Blanche Stevenson's voice rang clear over the din of the machine blowing, insulation into her attic.

"It's just tickled me to death," the Manhattan resident said. "I've been wanting to get this done, but every time I price it, I think, 'Oh God!"

The home that she and her son, James, share, was in a fury of activity as volunteers from the K-State chapter of the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers insulated and weatherized the building weatherized the building.

The architectural engineering students worked in conjunction with Manhattan's Home Owners Maintenance & Energy Program. The weatherization was the group's annual community-service project.

"It's great that we can be able to help somebody and see the practical approach for some of the things we learned in class," Farrel Oard, fifth-year senior in architectural engineering, said.

Before digging into their task, the students performed the blower door test to determine the amount of air passing in and out of the house, said Brian Uhlrich, ASHRAE president and fifth-year senior in architectural engineering.

"We sealed off the door, put fans in front of it, pressurized the house and measured the air inside and out. Then we took the house's approximate volume and estimated how much air is leaking in or out," he said. "Next, we weatherstrip everything and then do the test again to see if we've made a difference."

difference."

The heating bill could very well be affecting the students' work. Stevenson had only 2 inches of insulation before the students added an additional 6 inches of paper fiber insulation, Sonja Redmon, HOME director, said.

"We want to help people put their income in other places, to food or something along those lines," she said.

Volunteers like ASHRAE allow the 11year-old HOME program to provide its more than 350 annual-service calls, she said. HOME only has three staff members. The program is funded by the city of Manhattan, Social Services and private donations.

"We don't have a lot of labor intensity. We have to really depend on volunteers. That's why it's so great to have ASHRAE. We're looking for other college groups to

See HOME Page 5

NEWS BRIEFS

TEAMS OF STUDENTS TO TAKE PART IN HIGH-TECH GAME OF HIDE AND SEEK

A battle of laser tag will be waged in the K-State Union main ballroom from 2 to 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Billed as a high-tech game of hide and seek, Laser Quest offers students a chance to escape the norm and travel into a futuristic urban environment.

This high-tech game of tag is sponsored by Union Program Council and is presented by Funny Business on Campus out of Grand Rapids, Mich.

"We thought it would be something different for the students," Wells, Eclectic Entertainment Committee chair-

"It's a nontraditional event that you can't do unless it's brought to you," Wells said.

"It's not something you can do everyday. It's something that's fun in a different kind of way," Wells

Teams will consist of six members each, up to 12 people playing

The two teams, suited for battle and armed with laser phasers, will hide behind various types of barriers and try to get as many laser hits

"If you're hit, you're not eliminated from the game," Wells, senior in accounting, said. "There's no elimination process, just points."

To increase the futuristic effect, black light, search lights, strobes, lasers, fog and a powerful sound system will be part of the laser-tag adventure.

"It's something students should come and experience," Wells said. "You pretty much don't experience things like this anywhere

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

► COURTESY INN TO BECOME MORE THAN HALFWAY HOUSE FOR INMATES

WICHITA (AP) - The former Courtesy Inn is no longer seeking tired motorists to fill its 37 rooms. Instead, Gareth Smith and Ron Waits are trying to fill the motel with nonviolent inmates from the Sedgwick County Jail.

The fledgling operation had just five residents last week when the new operators gave a brief tour of the grounds. They said the business had the potential to save thousands of tax dollars that normally would be spent on the Sedgwick County Jail.

"Our facility is not costing the taxpayer," Smith said. "That facility

"They have to pay their own way secure enough to be called a satellite jail house, the two men say, but not secure enough to be called a satellite jail. By charging inmates $10 a day for their rooms and making them buy their own food, Smith and Waits are hoping they can make a profit. The start-up capacity is 74 inmates - two men to a room but that could change.

Some inmates at the motel will be serving jail sentences, while others will be awaiting trial. They all will be there under a judge's order. They all must follow the rules or go back to jail.

There is no smoking in the rooms, and inmates are required to out. An inmate who wants to leave can, but he will be sent back to jail everyone must get up at 6 a.m.

An unarmed guard will be on-site 24 hours a day to keep the public out. An inmate who wants to leave can, but he will be sent back to jail when he is caught.

Smith and Waits said they began looking at the Courtesy Inn shortly after it was seized by federal agents July 8. The U.S. attorney's office called the $250,000 business "a crack house posing as a motel" when it alleged the owners were condoning widespread drug activity there. The owners denied the allegations, and it could be a year before the matter is resolved.

four-year colleges rose 6 percent year, and studies show a growing teaching. K-State's annual tuition

a. K-State's current annual tuition and fees four-year public schools

c. Last year's average

SARA SMITH/Collegia

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

THE STORY OF THE STORY OF STREET, STRE

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30

At 10 a.m., the Manhattan Fire Department was called to the Veterinary Medical Science building to check out an unusual odor. Department officials determined there wasn't a problem.

At 11:21 a.m., police received a report of smoke in a utility room at Jardine Terrace Apartments, Building P. The Manhattan Fire Department was sent to the scene and determined that the source of smoke was a burning sweet potato that had been left in the microwave.

At 12:55 p.m., police received a report of a stolen bicycle belonging to Minakshi Pikoo, of Jardine Terrace Apartments. Total loss was $134.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29

At 9:11 p.m., Daniel W. Reed received a notice to appear for urinating in public in an alley of the 1100 block of Laramie Street.

the yards. Officers were unable At 10:58 p.m., police responded to a suspicious-activi-

At 12:04 a.m., Troy R. the three subjects fighting were Huber, Van Zile 326, was issued just play fighting. with a notice to appear for unlawful use of an ID at the Lucky BrewGrille.

At 1:14 a.m., police responded to a fight in progress at 620 Osage St. Officers advised that to locate the subject. SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30

ty report from 3345 Effingham, where a white male with a heavy build was seen running through

At 2:36 a.m., police arrested Christine M. Huncovsky, 1126 Bluemont Ave., for DUI at Kimball Avenue Meadowlark Lane. She was released on $1,000 bond.

CAMPUS BULLETI

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Applications for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Deadline is Nov. 18.

All undergraduate students in a health-related degree program are eligible to apply for a Student Cancer Research Award of $500. Applications are now available in the Center for Basic Cancer Research in Ackert 234. Application deadline is Dec. 2.

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14 and will be available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

- K-State Songham Tae Kwon Do Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- K-State Aikido Club will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry Building.
- Chimes will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in Union 213.
- French Table will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. today in Union
- Students for the Right to Life will meet at 9 p.m. today in
- SPURS will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in front of the Union Come in costume
- Finance Club will meet at 7 p.m. today in Calvin 218.

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week

through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

C Kansas State Collegian, 1994

K-STATE STILL CHEAPER THAN AVERAGE

The average tuition at America's - twice the rate of inflation - this share of the money is going toward public relations instead of still falls $601 below the national average for four-year public schools.

b. Average tuition at tuition at four-year public schools

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

STATE OUTLOOK

A chance for morning rain east. Sunny to partly cloudy west. Highs 55 to 60 east and 60 to 65 west. Lows 30 to 35.

MANHATTAN OUTLOOK

A 40-percent chance for rain in the morning with a high in the mid-

TOMORROW #

Mostly sunny, with a high around 60.

Source: Associated Press

Huser & Strong

Attorneys at Law 537-4603

Serving K-State's students and faculty Free Initial Consultation Affordable Student Rates

IMPRESSIONS

HAIR DESIGN AND NAIL STUDIO

Introduces Debbie Poage & Sheree Schroder * to their design team.

They're offering 25% OFF all hair care services. One time only w/coupon expires Nov 23 1129 Moro Aggleville 537-1332

Electrical and Computer Engineering Students

Early Enrollment for Spring 1995

Check the bulletin board behind the EECE office (Du 261) for details of the Early Enrollment procedures. Early Enrollment will only be conducted:

SENIORS AND

Monday, Oct. 31 and Tuesday, Nov. 1,

JUNIORS: 1-4:30 p.m.

ALL STUDENTS:

Monday, Nov. 7 and Monday, Nov. 14,

1 - 4:30 p.m.

EXTRA SESSION: Tuesday, Nov. 22

Sign-up sheets are in the EECE office.

Dominos Pizza HOMECOMING

+TAX One Large One Topping Pizza Carryout or Delivery

-OR-+TAX One Medium One Topping Pizza Carryout Only

> NOT VALID WITH OTHER OFFERS
> PLEASE MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING EXPIRES 11-5-94

776-7788 517 N. 12TH St. Hours:

11a.m. -1a.m. Sun.-Tues.

11a.m. -2a.m. Wed.-Sat.

Get Smart.

Advertise in the Collegian 532-6560

HOCHHAUSER KSU, I'M FOR YOU! I've worked hard to get ...

- √ 5.25% increase for non-administrative faculty salaries
- ✔ Phase III and IV pay raises for classified employees

I'M READY TO GO BACK AND WORK HARD FOR KSU

Paid for by Neighbors for Hochhauser, Rod Olsen, Treasurer

YOUR REPRESENTATIVE WORKING FOR Y

K-State Homecoming

Monday, Oct. 31

Weber Hall

Crazy Cat Kickoff, 4 p.m.

Wednesday, Nov. 2 K-State Union

 Ambassador (Please bring fi

Homecoming

 Spirit Banners Thursday, Nov.

K-State Union Ambassador Elections, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Please bring fee card or student I.D.) Ahearn Field House

 Body Building Competition Preliminaries, 6:30 to 8 p.m. Announcement of Spirit Banner

Winner, 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 4, K-State Day K-State Union

 Ambassador Elections, 9 a.m. to 4 p.r (Please bring fee card or student I.D.)

Float Judging, 3 to 6 p.m.

Schedule

Ahearn Field House

 Body Building Finals, 7:30 p.m. Memorial Stadium

Bonfire Pep Rally, 9:30 p.m.

 Pant the Chant Contest Announcement of Winners of Body Building aturday, Nov. 5, Homecoming Day

Aggieville and Downtown Parade, 9 a.m.

K-State Union first floor Campus tours, 10 a.m.

KSU Stadium K-State vs. Iowa State Football game, 1:10

 Presentation of Ambassadors and announcement of overall winners, Halftime

Bramlage Coliseum Neak Frasty Stompdown '94 McCain Auditorium

Glee Club Performance, 8 p.m. Hear the Cats

K-State Singers/Men's Glee Club/Women's

Applications for 1995 Homecoming chairman and publicity chairman are available until Nov. 15 at the Alumni Association office. Call 532-6260 for more information.

MARK LEFFINGWELL/Collegian

Gene and Eva Stepp masquerade as George and Martha Washington during the Senior Fall Festival dance Friday night at the City Hall auditorium. About 40 senior citizens attended the dance.

► MANHATTAN

Area senior citizens dance the night away

DOUG BASSETT

It's been said that if you keep on dancing, you never grow old. Some senior citizens in Manhattan got a chance to try this out Friday

Ghosts and goblins of the older generation had a chance to dance the night away at the 33rd annual Senior Fall Festival dance.

The dance was a costume party featuring everything from Willie Nelson to Columbus.

There were cats, cowboys and cowgirls. Some of the seniors just dressed up instead of wearing a costume, though.

The festival is put together by the Manhattan Parks and Recreation department. The festival is an annual event, but the dance only happens when there is a lot of interest in it.

During the day, activities included live entertainment like first graders who sang songs and different types of games.

The dance was a joint project this year as a result of the senior prom we had this summer," Jami Ramsey, of the Riley County Senior Service Center, said.

The Manhattan Parks and with the Senior Service Center to put the dance together, Ramsey

"We didn't have anything to do with the activities this afternoon," she said.

"There was a lot of demand to have a dance, probably because of the senior citizens' prom we had this summer," Karen Perry, Manhattan Parks and Recreation supervisor, said.

The prom went great, and there was a great turnout, about 250,

The festival is not just for crowd," Thompson said.

Recreation department worked citizens of Manhattan. They try to get senior citizens from all surrounding areas involved, Perry

> "The entertainment this afternoon was great. There was a lady who whistled songs, and there was even some type of K-State band that came and played for us," Edith Thompson, Manhattan resident, said.

Lunch consisted of chickenfried steak and potatoes.

"The lunch was all right, but chicken-fried steak is about the only thing you can serve to a large

▶ UPCOMING EVENTS

Halls welcome kids

CHARITY WOODSON

Manhattan trick-or-treaters have seven extra places to stop this year. Seven of the 11 residence halls on campus are opening their doors Monday night to area children.

"We've invited in children from all of the grade schools and child-care facilities from Manhattan," Goodnow Hall director John Danos said. "We also sent out public-service announcements over the radio to get the word out."

Residents were sent letters by their Hall Governing Boards, inviting them to put up a sign on their door if they would like to hand out candy.

Most of the halls think that opening their doors for the children is a good way of reaching out to the community, Boyd Hall president Jennifer Cole, sophomore in biology, said.

"This way we can involve the community in what we do and what we are about," Cole said.

Residents of the halls also find the trick-or-treating entertaining, "It is fun to see all of the kids evening for tours.

dressed up," Smurthwaite Scholarship House president Carrie Hasty, sophomore in agricultural engineering, said. Getting ready for the trick-ortreaters is a big event, Putnam Hall director Lori Basiewicz, senior in English, said. We go all out," Basiewicz said. "The residents dress up and show the kids around."

Having the children in the halls gives back to the community in other ways, Danos said.

'It gives them a chance to see the University that is here in their town and see what a residence hall is really like," he said.

Inviting area children into the halls also creates a positive image of college students, Kelly Schmidt, sophomore in business administration, said.

"It shows that we're not all wild and crazy college kids," Schmidt said. "Once they see that we like participating in Halloween and that we like seeing the kids, it makes us seem better.'

The seven residence halls will be open to the public Monday

Students invited to service

BROOKE GRABER FORT

Collegian

Tuesday will be a day of remembrance.

Campus ministers will have a remembrance service at noon on Tuesday in Danforth Chapel in observance of All-Saints Day.

"In many denominations, All-Saints Day is a time to remember those that have died in the past year," Rev. Jayne Thompson, Lutheran campus minister, said. Thompson said University campus ministers are inviting students and faculty to remember those that have died during the past year. She said a group of campus ministers meets once a month for

It was during one of these meetings that the idea of the remembrance service surfaced.

"We will remember those that have died by name in the prayers," Thompson said.

"How they died isn't important. We want to invite students from all denominations on campus to join us," she said. Thompson said the candlelight service will include music and singing.

Denominations that will be participating in the service include American Baptist, Roman Catholic, United Methodist, Mennonite, Lutheran and Presbyterian, among others.

"It is an opportunity for the breakfast to discuss different entire community to come

Today's Special! . Chicken ried Steak

GIVE US A CALL FOR OUR SPECIAL PARTY RATES 539-3333 WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN

SUPPORT K-STATE FOR HOMECOMING

This is your chance to give the Cats a personal message.

how your Purple Pride by placing a personalized Cat Tracker ad in the Collegian cheering on the Wildcats as they take on the Iowa State Cyclones this Homecoming Weekend.

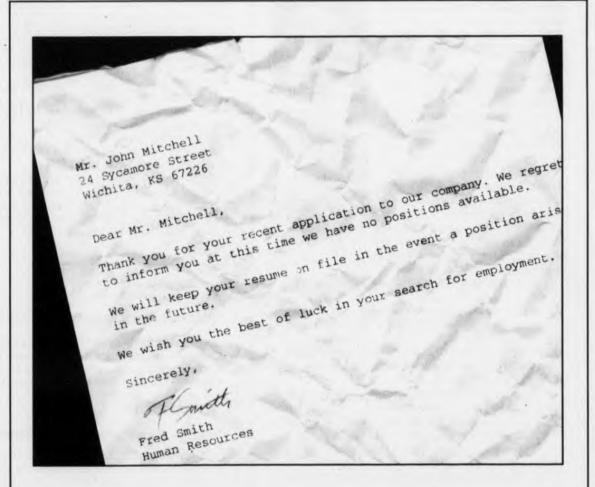

Here's how it works: you tell us what you want to say, and we'll plug it into one of the three designs above which YOU choose. The ads will run together in the special Cat Tracker section of the Collegian on Friday, Nov. 4, the day before the Cats play Iowa State at KSU Stadium.

The ads can be from you, your family, your business, your living group, your friends or any other combination.

It only costs $5, so come on in to 103 Kedzie Hall to reserve

DEADLINE: 4 p.m. Wed., Nov. 2

OLLEGIAN

Take THIS Job and Love It:

Are you looking for a fun, challenging place to work after you graduate?

Then come learn more about one of the fastest growing, most exciting telecommunications companies around: MCI.

MCI will be on your campus on Nov. 3rd and 4th to tell you about the employment opportunities and conduct interviews for inside sales.

As an MCI employee, you'll gain valuable sales experience, set yourself on a career path and take advantage of good pay and great benefits.

See your Career Placement Office immediately for more information.

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Help sessions would aid groups, colleges

Who has the money? Student Senate doesn't know.

Student Senate had to reappropriate money to the College of Veterinary Medicine Thursday night because of a miscommunication over funding.

Student Senate had appropriated the college $6,500 in 1991 and another $6,500 in 1992. It spent part of the money but still had about $7,500 in the account. Since the college had money in the account and did not think that it had to be returned, the college did not ask for any allocations in 1993.

It planned on using the money it had in reserve.

However, excess funds are supposed to go back to Senate.

The Education Opportunity Fund recently started an accounting process for all the funds it appropriates.

It discovered that the College of Veterinary Medicine had not returned its excess funds and requested the funds be returned.

This left the college without enough funds to run its tutoring program.

The Senate had to reappropriate money to the college for its program.

Senate has every right to track the money it allocates, but the organizations Senate allocates money to also need assistance in understanding the ever-changing allocations rules.

If a college doesn't understand the funding rules, how are smaller groups supposed to understand the intricacies of Senate allocations?

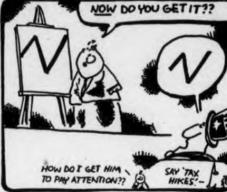

One suggestion is for Senate to offer several help sessions to strengthen communication between the colleges and campus organizations and Senate on allocations questions.

TOLES

SCOTT ALLEN MILLER

66 Why don't consider a multi-level underground-to solve some of K-State's problems?"

parking

parking garage

Experience is good in politics

father always says that not voting is like casting a vote for the candidate that you least want to win.

In this race, I'm not sure who not to vote for. Oh, I'm going to vote, that's for sure. It's just that the commercials are beginning to get to me.

The recent move is to throw out the incumbent for someone who is pure and untarnished by the Washington experience.

Jimmy Carter ran on the same platform. He is a nice guy and a caring person. He was just a lousy president. He's part of the reason we got a "B" movie actor in the White House for eight I'm sure we all remember Ronald "delegate everything humanly possible" Reagan. That's what you get when you go for people with no experience. Sure, he was governor of California, but conversely, Bill Clinton was governor of Arkansas, and the Republicans think he's the worst thing since the third term of Franklin Roosevelt. Just look at Sam Brownback's ads. He attacks John Carlin for everything from having three wives during his stint as Governor to lying about the death penalty. That's all you hear.

"Oh I remember John Carlin, and he's a liar," the ads say. The fact that Sam Brownback hasn't had a chance at a high office, so he hasn't got a record to attack, doesn't seem to matter.

The same with Bill Graves. The fact that he loaded a truck makes him qualified to be governor. Sounds perfectly logical to some people.

I'm not sure if John Carlin or Jim Slattery would be better in office. The point is that in trying to throw out all the incumbents, you are sending a bunch of people who know nothing about government at all.

They may be expert businesspeople, but that doesn't make them qualified to be elected to office. The thing about sending people to Washington who aren't experts in politics is that it's like sending a person who knows nothing about science to work in a nuclear power plant.

LOLA SHRIMPLIN 66T he point is I that in trying to throw out all the incumbents, you are sending a bunch of people who know nothing government."

Ka-boom.

Now, I'm not telling you who to vote for, lest you get that impression.

HRIMPLIN

I'm just saying you should be sure that the person you're voting for has some experience with politics. It can be studying politics for all it matters. They should just have some idea of the issues and what is going on.

It's not enough to be an outsider anymore.

Just because you can run a business, it doesn't mean you can run a country.

Conversely, just because you can run a country, it doesn't mean you can run a solvent about

People have lost faith in the system, and the best way to rectify that seems to be to send new people in. But what happens when these people get experience in their job? Will they be kicked out for knowing too much, thereby not being an outsider? It's something to think about.

Lola Shrimplin is a senior in political science.

Parking solution is underground

idiculous. Poorly planned. Unfair. These words and other pejoratives could be used to describe the parking situation at K-State.

For those of you who haven't had the opportunity to fight for a parking space on campus, here's a brief description of what it's like. Unless you're someone special (that is, anyone but a student), you have to pay to park on campus. You can obtain a parking permit for a mere $55 or feed a meter for up to two hours of parking.

This is what happens when you can even find a space. Like an airline, K-State is overbooked. There are many more parking permits than there are spaces. There are spaces reserved when luminaries such as the Federated Gravediggers Local #278 visit the campus.

Those are the days students miss class trying to find a place to park while precious spaces in front of the K-State

Union are full of non-paying vehicles with bumper stickers that read "I Brake for Corpses."

On most days, students have to have the turret on top of the Ford Escort armed and ready to "neutralize" anyone who tries to get in a parking space before they do. Passing periods can turn the parking lots into war zones as students compete with other students and high-school seniors for precious parking space. Small cars are lifted out of parking spaces and double parked to make room for gas-guzzling behemoths (this is known as "space hijacking.") Even more students park their cars somewhere just south of the Nebraska border and board shuttle airline flights to get to class. Does the FAA know about this?

WILLER

Seriously speaking now, something has to be done to remedy the parking problem if the University is to continue its momentous gains in importance to the state, region and nation. While the University could build more and more parking spaces on the north side of the campus, everyone knows that spaces closest to Anderson Avenue are the commodity in most demand.

Some people have advocated building a multilevel parking garage on the site of the parking lots next to the Union. Others have suggested a similar edifice where Memorial Stadium now stands.

Building a conventional parking garage over the parking lot would basically eliminate the aesthetic view of the Union and the campus from Anderson Avenue. While Memorial Stadium could stand renovation, the venerable location lends a nostalgic and dramatic vista to the south end of the campus. In addition, it was constructed with money donated years ago by students and faculty to honor those who fought in both World Wars. Destroying this stadium destroys the tribute they made.

What do we do?

An over-looked solution to the parking problem is a multi-level underground parking garage underneath what is now the Union parking lot. It only makes sense that when something necessary can't be built because it obstructs a view to consider building it in-ground.

Many large cities use underground parking garages. Sak's Fifth Avenue in Kansas City, Missouri's, Country Club Plaza district offers free underground parking to all Plaza shoppers and rowsers.

By putting the garage underground, Sak's preserved the wonderful beauty of The Plaza and simultaneously gave thousands of people a place to park. San Francisco, New York and Philadelphia, where realestate acreage is limited and expensive, have many underground garages.

Why not K-State?

Why not put up a scholarship as an incentive for the K-State student or team of students in architecture and design that design(s) the best underground parking garage?

Why don't we consider a multi-level underground-parking garage to solve some of K-State's parking problems? It's better to pay for a garage now than to pay the cost of being a college with no ability to grow and accept more students, faculty and visitors in the future.

Besides, there could be an elevator that would drop garage parkers (and their disposable income) right into the Union. Wouldn't that do the Union some good!

Scott Allen Miller is a junior in radio/television. Mr. Miller prefers Diet Coke over regular Coke.

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

► FRATERNITY

Sig Eps are considerate to community

We would enjoy the opportunity to respond to the hasty indictments levied in the Oct. 27 column by Scott Allen Miller concerning Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and the noise issue.

Sigma Phi Epsilon does insist on high standards of behavior for its members. We are concerned and aware of the fact that our neighbor to the north is a hospital. We have always maintained a very warm and cooperative relationship with hospital officials. We have never had a complaint from the hospital and have always made a special effort to inform them of any activities, which we feel might interfere with their responsibility to provide a pleasant environment for their patients.

It is important to this fraternity that we continue to be recognized for the very positive efforts and contributions that we make to our neighborhood, the campus and the community. We challenge Mr. Miller to visit our house and observe the considerable regulation that ensures a conducive learning and living environment for not only the members, but also for our neighbors. We can assure you that we have very high standards and would respond quickly and forcefully to stop and prevent "any rude, inconsiderate and unnecessary noises emanating from our residence." K-State fraternities and sororities are often praised for their considerable success on providing support and great benefit to the University and its mission. The greek community does indeed police its members very doggedly. We continue to set higher standards for ourselves than those placed upon us by the community. If on occasion, any of this fraternity's members make lapses in judgment, action is taken, and sanctions are imposed.

We welcome input from the community; it allows us to monitor our performance and better implement our programming. Our goal is to make balanced leaders for tomorrow's communities. We believe that we are succeeding in our efforts.

Marc Williams senior in music education

RESPONSE

Graduate program supported student

We in sociology were all greatly saddened by the suicide of one of our graduate students last weekend. Your article on stress, which came out on Wednesday leaves the impression, perhaps unintended, that the stress of graduate study caused her problems and that her faculty and fellow students were not caring enough.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Stress intensifies problems but rarely causes them. Her fellow students and her major professor had been concerned about her for several months. They went out of their way to help out and to give her support, especially after a close friend of hers committed suicide only two weeks before.

Your reporter seems to have had a clear idea of what he wanted to say in the article and asked questions with that in mind. As a result, a certain impression may have been created that was not intended by the students he interviewed. We have a fine group of faculty and graduate students who know each other rather well. Any suggestion that they are at all indifferent or uncaring is a bum

Lelah Dushkin director of graduate studies in sociology

CHEATING

Students deserve sole blame

Your editorial board is using some flawed thinking in assigning partial blame to the Principles of Biology faculty in the cheating scandal. Take a moment to think about the logistics of testing 716 students every week. This type of mass education requires computergraded, multiple-choice exams.

Although written essay-style exams would undoubtedly be a better way to test students' understanding of basic biological concepts, there would not be enough manpower in Ackert Hall to administer, grade and compile the results of such an exam even if all professors and graduate students were assigned to work on it.

The course designers have tried to balance the academic need for testing with the practical reality of educating such a large volume of students while at the same time avoiding draconian

ROBIN BENNETT 66T he blame I for this mess rests squarely upon the shoulders of the students involved They are adults, responsible for their own actions."

measures, such as totally eliminating make-up

Sadly, because some students were so lazy and dishonest that they couldn't be bothered to learn the material for an introductory-level class, any honest student who misses an exam because of illness or who has a class conflict may have no option for taking exams at an alternative time. The blame for this mess rests squarely upon the shoulders of the students involved. They are adults responsible for their own actions; no one forced them into this reprehensible behavior. Don't try to dilute their guilt by turning on the instructors.

Robin Gross Bennett graduate student in biology

HOME program gives helping hand

CONTINUED FROM PAGE

help out, too. You don't have to be a mechanic to provide services, you just have to be willing to spend a Saturday afternoon on a project. You have to have a lot of compassion and a lot of understanding for all kinds of people. It also helps to know enough people in town to beg, borrow and steal money."

HOME deals most frequently with people in the lower-income bracket who may be handicapped or elderly. One of the program's goals is to help the elderly maintain a self-sufficient lifestyle.

"For the elderly, there aren't a lot of options, living with friends or family. Then there's the long waiting list to even get into a nursing home, and once accepted, they often can't afford nursing-home care, anyway," Redmon said. "We're trying to help provide an option."

HOME has provided the Stevensons with that option. Stevenson, in her late 70s, and James are typical clients. Limited resources and health problems have kept them from maintaining their home at its peak. Stevenson has failing eyesight and has been through several surgeries. James has been hit hard by emphysema and asthma, which caused him to give up his trucking job. As a result, services provided by home are welcome, Stevenson said.

"They built the deck, mowed the yard and raked leaves. It's just been a million little things, so many I can't think of them all. Without them I'd be up to here," she paused and raised her hand up to her forehead. "In dirt and grass. I'm just so lucky."

Luck has seemed to play a hand in Stevenson's life. Doctors have told her it's a wonder she's still going strong. Stevenson has a tenacity that enabled her to survive the loss of her husband in the early years of their marriage. A widow at 35, she never remarried and managed to raise her son alone.

Her eyes lit up when she held a picture of her husband, Jim. He had been in the Navy during World War II. The two met at a party in Virginia, Blanche's home state. They married and came to live in Kansas near his parents. The six years they had together gave her many wonderful memories.

"We had some good times," she said.

Complications from head

Student

Discount! Nautilis Fitness Center

1th & Moro

injuries Jim sustained during service were to prove more serious than originally suspected.

Not long before his death, they were vacationing in Alcapulco, Mexico. Stevenson now considers what happened to be a premonition. She saw a beautiful black lace dress in a store. The vendor wouldn't sell it to her, explaining that it was a mourning dress and that it could mean bad luck. But Stevenson's desire for the dress overrid her own superstitions. Shortly after their return home, Jim had surgery.

"They (the doctors) boobooed and it killed him," she said.

His death came two days shy of "You just go on living the best you can. You go through so much when you're alone, but you learn a lot. I wasn't going to be defeated by anything. We're still at it I guess, James and I."

Her relationship with her son and those established with people from HOME and other programs have helped carry her through.

"If you have somebody who cares about you, it means everything in the world," Stevenson said. "A lot of people don't think it matters all that much. They think if I can survive, they can survive, too. That's not true. Everybody needs a helping hand."

> SPEAKER

Women's roles in universities changing in U.S.

Increases in awareness,

issues emerging

DEBBIE PILANT

Awareness of women's roles and issues in the universities and society has steadily increased since the 1970s, a scholar from the National Association of Women in Education said Friday.

Bernice Sandler, keynote speaker for the first K-State Women's Weekend, outlined those changes with the quality of a stand-up comedian in her speech "Not for Women Only: Gender and Institutional Change,"

Several changes have altered the role of women on university campuses across the country, she said.

The first was an increase in awareness of women's issues, she said.

"No one would've invited me to a campus in 1970, because women's issues were just barely emerging as issues," Sandler said.

She also said that at that time the words sexism, harassment and acquaintance rape didn't exist and talking about these issues was considered radical.

The elimination of overt policies limiting women's opportunities in education is another change.

Sandler told a story about a woman who had applied to an Eastern school to a male-dominated department.

They told her, "Your qualifications are excellent, but we already have a woman in the department," she said. She said she sees much less of this now.

"It has gone from horrible to just really, really bad."

The fourth change Sandler said she saw was women have organized around these issues and have worked to change them alongside men.

Policies forbidding sexual harassment or discrimination, and the development of the Women's Center have both played a part in the institutionalization of women's issues.

"Harassment policies have been placed within the structure of institutions dealing with women's issues," she said. "That means there are places where issues can be addressed."

Finally, Sandler said there has been an increase in women's studies and research. There are more than 30,000 classes dealing with women's studies and 600 institutions offering majors and minors.

"This is a tremendous improvement from when I went to school," she said. "When I went to get my doctorate, I wanted to do my thesis on some issue involving women, and my adviser said, 'Research on women? That's not real research."

Sandler then spoke about the challenges women still have to face.

She said issues such as child care need to be seen as family issues, because most women's issues extend to the whole family.

Pay inequity is also a serious problem.

"Women secretaries who write and speak English well and can operate office machinery well make less than drivers," Sandler said.

She said this has spilled over into education, as women have only a limited amount of scholarships and financial-aid opportunities.

The psychological climate for women also has not changed through the years.

Sandler said women receive, and sometimes participate in, subtle behavior that by itself may seem trivial, but when added up, a pattern can be seen.

She said harassment is a big part of this.

big part of this.

Sandler said 90 percent of those harassed don't make a complaint, and of the 10 percent that do make a complaint, 90 to 95 percent don't want to file a formal charge.

Sandler said women have a problem with getting respect for their work.

"Women are often thought of in terms of their sexuality rather than their abilities," she said.

Sandler gave several suggestions for dealing with these problems. Most of them dealt with harassment.

If there is a problem with harassment, a woman should always write it down and talk to others about it. Sandler said the one thing you don't want to do is ignore it.

"The harasser may think you like it," she said.

Susan Scott, assistant dean of student life, said there are many places on campus for women to go if they have concerns, such as the student life office and the Women's Center. "When I went to get my doctorate, I wanted to do my thesis on some issue involving women, and my adviser said, 'Research on women? That's not real research."

Bernice Sandler

Women's Weekend

keynote speaker

For long distance calls. Savings based on a 3 min. AT&T operator-dialed interstate

WARNING: Dialing Zero to Call Your Family Collect

YOUR SPORTS HEADQUARTERS $1.50 Bottles $2.50 Bigboys $3.50 Jumbo 60 oz. Pitchers $4.99 Chicken Fried Steak Special BOBBY T'S

3240 Kimball Ave. 537-8383 1-800-COLLECT

Can Be Hazardous to Their Wealth.

Dial it instead of "O" and save them up to 44%.

ASSOCIATED PRESS COLLEGE FOOTBALL POLL

2. Penn State

Florida

8. Florida State 9. Utah 10. Syracuse 11. Texas A&M

14. Colorado St.

12. Washington

16. Washington St. 17. Virginia Tech. 18. Arizona 19. North Carolina

20. Michigan

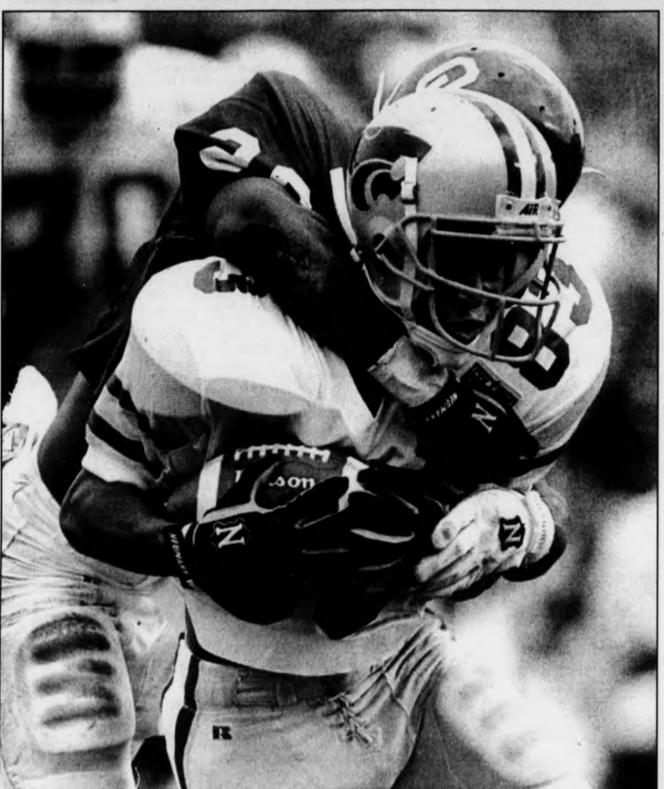

21. Oregon

23. Duke 24. Mississippi St.

25. Brigham Young K-State is also ranked 15th in the USA Today-CNN football coaches poll.

22. Southern Cal.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wide receiver Kevin Lockett is collared by an Oklahoma defensive back. Lockett was limited to one reception for 6 yards during K-State's 37-20 victory Saturday.

► FOOTBALL Little receiver produces big game

K-State receiver Ron Brown could be the quiet kid who sits in the back of the classroom.

Soft-spoken and smaller than the average football player at 5 feet 6 inches and 160 pounds, Brown is someone who could easily go unnoticed

But against Oklahoma at Owen Field, Brown was in the front row, and plenty of people noticed him.

"I think it's my best game by far," Brown said after Saturday's performance.

"Every time I touched the ball, I'd just try to make something happen. Today, it just happened."

Brown has been making plenty happen on the football field lately.

Against the Sooners, Brown caught seven passes for 59 yards, breaking his previous career best of five receptions and 56 yards against Southwestern Louisiana.

It took an entire half, however, before both Brown and the Wildcat offense got its engine started.

In fact, the Cats' only points in the first half came as a result of a blocked

"We were really tense throughout the first half — we just couldn't get going," Brown said. "But in the second half, we just calmed down and did the things we do in practice, and things came together for us."

Things finally did come together at the start of the third quarter.

With 13:04 on the clock and K-State clinging to a 7-3 lead, Brown caught a screen pass from quarterback Chad May and scrambled 19 yards to the corner of the end zone, giving the Wildcats their first offensive touchdown.

On the play before his touchdown, Brown picked up a first down on the same play, only from the other side of Brown also had a 69-yard touchdown run on a reverse with 9:24 remaining in the fourth quarter, giving K-State a 37-12 lead.

While Brown said playing in Norman for the first time made him a little nervous, once he hit the field, he said he felt much more confident.

"I was a little bit nervous before the game, because I knew it was going to be a tough place to play," he said.

"It's just that they're Oklahoma, and I know they have great pride, and also because of their tradition and their fans, so I just came in thinking I had to perform to the best of my ability here, and it just worked out." Coach Snyder was one man who was glad Brown got things to work

"Ronnie Brown made some bigtime plays in this ballgame," Snyder said. "I was proud of him, as I always

Brown, however, downplayed his

"I just work hard, do what I'm told and go out there and play," he said.

"I'm just thinking about winning. That's all that is on my mind right now. We just have to play everyone as if they're Oklahoma, Colorado or Nebraska, because anyone can get beat on any given day.

"I just want to help us win the rest of our games."

Cats upend Oklahoma for 2nd-straight year

The Wildcats made it two in a row against the Sooners for the first time since 1970.

K-State embarrassed Oklahoma 37-20 at Norman, Okla.

The Cats' offense was dominated by the Sooners' defense in the first half, limiting K-State to negative 2 yards rushing and 47 yards passing. However, K-State took a 7-3 lead into the halftime locker room by virtue of Chuck Marlowe's third blocked punt of the season. Junior Gordon Brown picked up the ball and scampered 16 yards into the end zone for the touchdown.

K-State's defense forced four turnovers in the first half and kept the Sooners' offense out of the end zone despite excellent field position throughout the half.

Everytime I looked up in the first half, we had our back to the wall," Coach Bill Snyder said. "Our defense kept us in the game. OU had great field position in the first half, and we were fortunate they did not score more than three points."

The Cats' offense got on track early in the second half with the help of another turnover.

The Sooners' Darrius Johnson fumbled on a punt return when Chris Canty

K-State 37

Oklahoma 20

Bobby Latiolais fell on the ball, giving the Cats a first down on the Sooners' 34-yard line.

Four plays later, Chad May hit wide receiver Ron Brown on a screen pass at the 17-yard line. Brown then followed the block of Kevin Lockett around the left end for a 19-yard touchdown.

spark."

Seven plays later, Chad May connected with Tyson Schwieger on a 25-yard touchdown pass, making the score 21-3.

"Special teams did everything," May said. "They gave us the ball in great field position. The offense didn't do much of anything."

scoring drives on five-straight possessions in the fourth separated him from the ball.

After an extra point by Martin Gramatica, K-State extended its lead to 14-3 with 13:09 remaining in the third

"Ronnie Brown made some big-time plays for us today," Snyder said. "He sparked our offense when we needed a

The Sooners had another punt partially blocked on their next possession by Mike Lawrence. The play set up K-State at Oklahoma's 47-yard

The teams then exchanged

The first was a 43-yard field goal by the Sooners' Scott

GAME AT A GLANCE

STATS

First downs

Passing

Rushes/Yards

Return Yards

Passes Attempted

Passes Completed

Punts: Number/Yards

Blanton, making the score 21-6 with 14:55 left in the contest.

The Cats immediately fired back with a nine-play, 71-yard drive, which was capped by J.J. Smith's 7-yard touchdown, expanding K-State's lead to 28-

Oklahoma quarterback Garrick McGee hit receiver Michael McDaniel on the next possession with a pass in the middle of the field. McDaniel broke a tackle and sprinted 65 yards for the touchdown.

The Sooners' joy was short lived when the snap on the extra point was fumbled. Blanton picked up the ball and tried to throw a pass into the end zone, only to have the pass intercepted by Chris Canty.

Canty darted 98 yards for a two-point defensive conversion.

As a result, Oklahoma netted only four points, and the score stood at 30-12.

"I saw him running out to the sideline, and I could tell who he was going to throw to and just broke on the ball," Canty said. Two plays later, Brown scored his second touchdown of the day on a 69-yard reverse play, making the score 37-12. Brown caught seven passes for 59 yards, as well.

McGee rounded out the scoring on another long pass to McDaniel. After a two-point

OU

20

23

42/103 -

308

21

6/162

-31:06

38/211

8/264

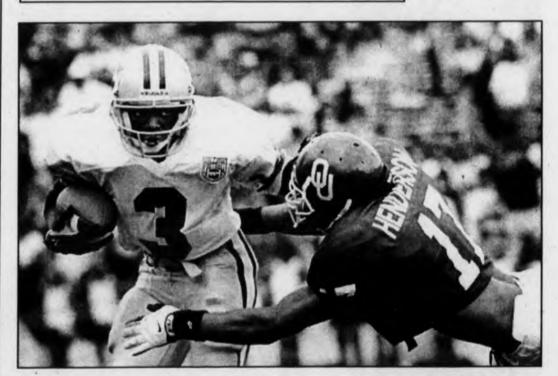

28:54

3/2

conversion, the score was 37-20 with 6:43 left in the game.

Snyder said the offensive line made all the difference for K-State in the second half.

"The key to the game was the play of the offensive line in the second half," Snyder said. "We had minus yards rushing in the first half and 250 in the second half. It was a pretty good display by our line against a good defense."

Ron Brown dodges strong safety Rod Henderson. Brown scored two touchdowns against Oklahoma in addition to catching seven passes for 59 yards.

▶ VOLLEYBALL

K-State turns back Missouri

COLLEGIAN STAFF

K-State improved its record to 14-8 and 3-4 in Big Eight play by defeating Missouri Saturday night at Ahearn Field

The Wildcats disposed of the Tigers in four games 15-9, 10-15, 15-7 and 15-12.

Missouri out-hit K-State, posting a . . 107 hitting percentage compared to K-State's .092. K-State did chalk up 11 service aces in the match led by Val Phillips and Kate DeClerk, who scored three each.

Chi Dau, who was thrust into freshman Devon Ryning was sidelined with mononucleosis, came through with 32 assists and also led the Cats in hitting percentage with .333.

Yolanda Young led K-State in kills with 17, followed by Jill Dugan with eight.

DeClerk, Dugan and Debbie Miller compensated for the poor hitting percentage with blocks. The trio tallied five, six and seven respectively on the night. K-State blocked 24 shots total on the evening.

Missouri's record fell to 9-14 overall and 0-7 in the Big Eight. Pascha Boyd led the Tigers the starting-setter role after with 12 kills. Boyd also recorded 10 digs and six block assists

> K-State Big Eight Tournament hopes are still alive with the victory. The Cats entered the contest in fifth place in the conference.

The top-four teams in the conference advance to the Big Eight tournament Nov. 25-26 in Omaha, Neb. K-State travels to Lincoln, Neb., to take on the Cornhuskers at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday night.

Nebraska is first in the Big Eight and ranked No. 2 in the Kate DeClerk and Yolanda Young attempt to block a Missouri player's shot. Young led the Wildcats with 17 kills during the match against the Tigers.

DARREN WHITLEY

John Etzel competes with a Nebraska runner Saturday during the Big Eight Cross Country Championships. Etzel finished finihsed 52nd in the race.

CROSS COUNTRY

Big 8 championships unkind to Wuggazer

CRESTON KUENZI

ome bad luck for the K-State men's cross country team caused it to place seventh and fall short of its goal for the Big Eight Conference Championships.

Coach Terry Drake said the Wildcats' top runner, senior Billy Wuggazer, experienced side cramps during the race, which caused him to display a sub-par

"Billy ran really bad because he stitched up," Drake said. "If he would have been where he's capable of placing, we would have accomplished our goal of placing sixth."

Drake said the cause of the cramps is unknown to him.

'Who knows what causes it?" Drake said. "It's just one of those things that happens, and they don't go away. "It makes it very hard to run."

The ailing Wuggazer finished in 38th position behind teammates junior Geoff Delahanty in 30th and freshman Mikkel Bjergso in 36th.

Delahanty said although he was the highest finisher for the Cats, he was still not altogether pleased with his showing.

"People have been telling me that I ran a good race," Delahanty said. "It was probably the best finish in a race that I've had, but it's still not even close to as good

"I might have gotten a little overzealous and just run a little too quick sometimes."

Delahanty said if Wuggazer and himself had run up to their potential, the outcome of the race would have been much different.

"Billy could have been top 10 easy, and I could have been top 15, if we would have run like we've been in practice," Delahanty said.

Placing fourth and fifth for the Cats was sophomore John Etzel in 52nd and freshman Jim Kirtley in 62nd for a team total of 195 points.

Iowa State placed first in the meet with only 29 points.

Wuggazer said the overall place of the team doesn't matter as much as giving the younger runners some experience at gi

"Since we have a lot of freshmen and sophomores, it's not really that important right now," Wuggazer said.

"As long as they get to know how the competition is and observe, then they'll be

In the NCAA District V Championships, Drake said he will not concentrate on the team's outcome because of injuries and sickness have taken a toll.

"Our fifth guy has got mono, so he's done after today, and our sixth guy has got shin splints so bad that he's done, too," Drake said.

"We're going to take a weakened team

"What we're really going to focus on is getting Billy to nationals and have Jeff and Mikkel running well."

"Billy could have been top 10 easy, and I could have been top 15, if we would have run like we've been in practice." GEOFF DELAHANTY K-State cross country runner

CROSS COUNTRY

omen group together to earn 3rd-place finish

The K-State women's cross country team finished in 3rd place.

team effort and improved pack running made all the difference.

This is what led the K-State women's cross country team to a third-place finish in the Big Eight Championships Saturday at Warner Park. Coach Terry Drake said the team depends on how the fourth and fifth runners place. 'The fourth and fifth girls ran great," he said.

"That's what got us into third."

Colorado dominated the course, placing six of its seven runners in the top 10 and setting a new Big Eight record for the least amount of points scored with 29.

Nebraska claimed second with 65 points, followed by K-State, which scored 103, edging out Missouri with 112 points for third.

"Missouri could have got us if it wasn't for our middle girls running so well," Drake said. Oklahoma placed fifth, scoring 125 points, while Kansas was sixth with 135, and Iowa State finished seventh, scoring 173 points. Rounding out the Big Eight was Oklahoma State, placing eighth with 204 points.

Drake said he was pleased with the individual placings of the women. "I was real happy. The only thing was that I was hoping to get someone in the top 10,"

Drake said. Freshmen Charity Swartz was almost there, placing 12th in a field of 62 runners with a time

Swartz said her performance was just Steve Bono. Montana had three turnovers that led to 13 Buffalo points - including a fumble and an interception in the last two minutes of the first half to turn a 21-7 game

"A couple of times, he just

Smith, who had seven hurries, six tackles and one sack in addition to scrambled away from me," said into a 31-7 rout.

Jeanene Rugan leads runners up a hill at Saturday at Warner Park. Rugan placed 17th five tenths of a second behind teammate Irma Betancourt.

"It was all right, I just hope I do better at

Not far behind Swartz at the finish line of the districts," Swartz said. 5,000-meter course were teammates Irma Betancourt and Jeanene Rugan.

Betancourt finished 16th - just five-tenths a second ahead of Rugan, who placed 17th. "Irma went right after it," Drake said.

Jeanene finished a lot better than she has.' "I think her best race is right in front of her."

Rugan said she was happy with her performance and was especially pleased with the team running so close together.

'We're running more as a pack," Rugan said. "I think our pack time was within 45

Lesley Wells placed 25th in the field, and Samantha McNamara was 33rd.

Rounding out K-State's roster was Ashlie Kinton, finishing 46th.

Rugan said the team has been working extremely hard in practice, and it is starting to come together. 'We've been running a lot better as a team in the last practices," she said.

Drake said the team is now preparing for districts, and he is hoping to take his team to the NCAA Championships.

'For the next two weeks, we'll focus on sharpening. We'll lower the mileage some and maybe raise the intensity a little," Drake said.

"I just don't want to mess them up."

WOMEN'S RESULTS

Freshmen Charity Swartz finished in 12th place at her first Big Eight Championships.

■ Senior Irma Betancourt finished in 16th place right ahead of senior Jeanene Rugan, who finished in 17th place.

Lesley Wells placed 25th in the field, and Samantha McNamara was 33rd.

■ The Cats' next meet is the District V meet.

Bills take advantage of turnovers

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. -Bruce Smith still knows how to give Joe Montana headaches. And the Buffalo Bills still know how to win big games. Smith forced an interception and recovered one of Montana's two fumbles Sunday, and Jim Kelly threw four touchdown passes to lead the Bills past the Kansas City Chiefs 44-10. "Before the game, in the locker rated R - adult language and a lot of violence," Smith said. "And we really went out there and showed them that particular style of play." It was a replay of last year's AFC championship game, when Smith helped knock out Montana with a concussion early in the second half, and Buffalo won 30-13 to earn its fourth consecutive Super Bowl berth.

This time, Montana wasn't their bye week intent on this ...

knocked them out of the playoffs two of the last three years. Instead, Buffalo handed them their worst non-strike loss since "They are champions of this conference until somebody beats them. Nobody's beaten them yet," Kansas City coach Marty Schottenheimer said. "This conference championship is still up for grabs. And until somebody takes it away from Buffalo, Buffalo's the team.'

Andre Reed caught five passes for 106 yards and two touchdowns, and Pete Metzelaars also had two touchdowns for Buffalo. Kelly was 14-for-22 for 184 yards, and the Bills forced five turnovers while giving away none for the first time all year. Buffalo had a 14-7 lead and a third-and-3 from its 38 yard-line when Kelly hit Reed for a gain of 57. It was Buffalo's longest play from scrimmage until Kenny Davis ran for 60 yards in the fourth

Reed caught it in the flat at the Bills' 43 and headed for the right sideline, racing all the way to the 5 before he was knocked out of bounds by William White. Three plays later, Thomas ran around the left side for 2 yards and a touchdown. On their next possession, handoff to Marcus Allen, but Allen never got the ball. Darryl Talley fell on it, and four plays later, Steve Christie's 49-yard field goal made it

When the Chiefs got the ball again, Montana was in trouble from the start. Smith ran over him on first down for a 7-yard sack. On second down, Cornelius Bennett grabbed Montana's arm as he tried to throw, and the ball came loose. Smith fell on it at the Chiefs' 25.

Three plays later from the 6, Kelly rolled left and found Reed in the back of the end zone to make it

The Chiefs opened the second half with a field goal, but on their second possession, they went backward. At their 30, Smith again hit Montana's arm as he tried to throw. This time, the ball was caught by Bennett.

The Bills moved it to the 13 before Christie's field-goal attempt was blocked, but the Chiefs were

On the second try, Christie was good from 26 yards to break Scott Norwood's team record of 13 straight field goals.

▶ COLLEGE FOOTBALL Defense smothers CU

in 1st-place showdown

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LINCOLN, Neb. Nebraska's swarming defense reminds assistant coach Charlie McBride of the "Junkyard Dogs," who helped Georgia win

If the defense keeps playing the way it has, the Cornhuskers could win their first national title since consecutive champion-pounded away and punished them from the first snap until the last," linebacker Troy Dumas said Saturday following a 24-7 victory over Colorado that boosted Nebraska from third to

Penn State remained No. 1 in the USA Today-CNN coaches' poll, but the Lions lead the Cornhuskers by only two points.

After giving up 32 points to Wyoming Oct. 1, the Cornhuskers have allowed a total of 23 to Oklahoma State, Kansas State, Missouri and Colorado. The Buffaloes, who dropped from second to seventh in the rankings, had been averaging 40 room, I told the guys, 'This game is injured, just ineffective.

The 38-year-old quarterback went 12-for-21 for 124 yards and was sacked three times before being relieved in the third quarter by the fumble recovery and forced fumble. "And then he walked over to me and said, I'm too old for Bills The Bills (5-3) came out of Chiefs making amends for an embarrassing loss to Indianapolis and proving they are still the team to beat in the AFC. The Chiefs (5-3) hoped a healthy Montana would be the difference against the team that has

Montana tried a wraparound the 1980 national championship.

ships in 1970 and '71.

Nebraska 24 Colorado

first in the Associated Press poll.

points per game.

"They are a real tough defense," Colorado tailback Rashaan Salaam said.

"They just play hard-nosed football. Salaam became the first back to gain more than 100 yards against Nebraska this season. But the Huskers forced quarterback Kordell Stewart into a poor 12-for-28 passing performance, didn't allow a completion of more than 22 yards and kept the Buffaloes to their lowest point total since a 52-7 loss to Nebraska in 1992.

'Our defense was fed up with everyone saying we couldn't stop them," cornerback Barron Miles said.

► HOMECOMING '94

'Kickoff' begins eventful week

Homecoming week officially begins today at 4 p.m. with the Crazy Cat Kickoff in Weber Hall. This year's theme is "Hear the Cats roar in '94."

Wildcat fans will gather at noon on Wednesday in the K-State Union for the pep rally. Wildcat football coach Bill Snyder, the pep band, cheerleaders and Willie the Wildcat will all be at the rally.

After months of planning, the Homecoming competitions will begin on Thursday.

The student groups have been working on the homecoming events since the end of August, said Matt Kastel, junior in interior architecture and Homecoming chairman for Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

"In the beginning, it's mainly meetings and organization,' Kastel said. "It's in the last few weeks that it comes down to doing the fun stuff. We are all really looking forward to having fun this week. That's what it is all about."

The Homecoming competitions will begin with the spirit-banner contest. Student organizations will have displayed the banners they have designed during the week.

The results will be announced Thursday night at the bodybuilding contest.

On Thursday and Friday nights, the annual body buildingcontest will take place at Ahearn

Thursday, Nov. 3

■ Union spirit-banner contest.

p.m. at Aheam Field House.

■ Body-building preliminaries, 6:30

Field House. Winners of the competition will be announced Friday at the bonfire.

There will be 300 chairs set up for anyone interested in watching the competition, said Becky Klingler, director of constituent programs at the KSU Alumni Association.

The bonfire will be at 9:30 p.m. Friday in Memorial Stadium. The K-State cheerleaders. Willie the Wildcat and the pep band will be there to entertain the crowds. Student teams will be performing their individual cheers in the "Pant the Chant" contest at the bonfire.

Saturday will begin with a parade in the morning, starting at City Park. More than 40 entries are expected in the Homecoming parade, Klingler said.

During halftime of the football game against Iowa State University, the new K-State ambassadors will be announced.

The student body will vote on one male and one female student to represent them at University and alumni events. Voting will take place Wednesday through Friday at the Union.

Other activities for Saturday include campus tours starting at 10 a.m. in the Union.

Klingler said she encourages all Wildcat fans to attend the Homecoming Week festivities even if they are not participating.

"All these activities are open to anyone wanting to watch the Homecoming events," Klingler

■ Football game against lowa

■ Neak Frasty Stompdown, 7p.m. at Bramlage Coliseum.

State, 1:10 p.m.

candidates

Being a resident assistant in a residence hall takes a person with certain qualities. The Department of Housing and

Dining Services looked for those qualities Oct. 22 and Oct. 29 during the Resident Assistant Assessment

CHARITY WOODSON

Eighty-seven candidates for spring and fall positions signed up and participated in the assessment

The assessment center put each candidate through eight hours of group activities and interviews.

"When you spend a whole day observing someone, you see who they are — the genuine person," West Hall director Michelle Black said. "That's important because we want real people on our staff."

Current residence-hall staff

each time

Academics. Sports. Clubs. Government. Elections.

Research. Entertainment.

Everything you need.

COLLEGIAN

Go as a donor!

Cliffs

StudyWare

Study Tips Die

Priceless information. Free.

Change your study habits for the better with our free study tips disk. Ask for it when you check out Cliffs StudyWare* for test preparation and course review. We cover tests from the SAT I to the GRE, and classes from biology to statistics.

K-State Union Bookstore

532-6583

(Ask about our boxer snorts offer, too.) Details at:

members assisted with the assessment center and evaluated the Center tests candidates for resident-assistant jobs

"It provided an opportunity for all of the candidates to meet a wide variety of staff members as well as have the staff members meet the candidates," said Mitchelle Ballard, assistant director of Ford Hall and graduate student in student counseling and personal services.

The assessment center was based on six competencies that housing used to see if the candidates have the basic baseline skills that they can build on, Black said.

"The competencies have been developed over the past three years," Black said. "It is what order to be a good staff member."

Half of the assessment center focused on group activities. Each candidate was part of a group of people need to be proficient with in eight to 10 candidates, she said.

The groups were given four sets of activities to work on, and the candidates were monitored to see how they responded.

We get to see how their behavior and skills are used in a variety of exercises," Black said. You'll be working with many different kinds of people, too."

Candidate Darcy Came, eshman in business freshman administration, said the group activities helped her.

"I learned how different types of people see situations differently," she said.

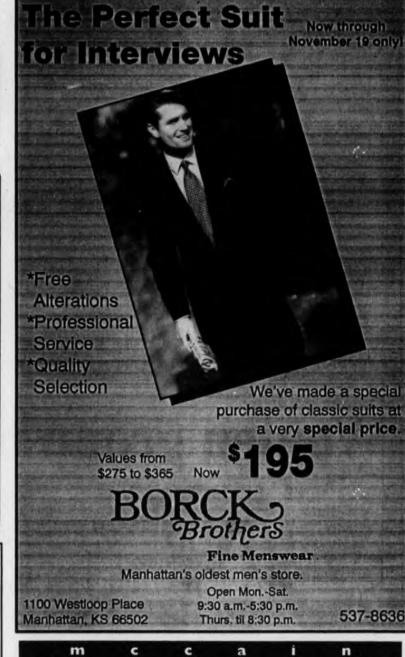

The other half of the assessment center focused on interviews. Each candidate was interviewed four times, with each interview focusing on a separate competency area.

"It has shown me that it is a big responsibility to be a staff member," Came said. "They don't want somebody in the position that isn't capable.'

The main goal of the assessment center was to show the candidates that they do have skills, said Pete Schmidt, assistant director of Goodnow Hall and graduate student in student counseling and personal

"This is just one way for them to have these skills pointed out to them so they can see what qualities they have in leadership, not just for housing, but for campus," Schmidt

coming

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton

The Ying Quartet* Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

Winner of the 1993 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Ying Quartet is a brothers and sister team of string virtuosos. For McCain audiences, the Yings will perform Mozart's "Hunt" quartet, Ralph Shapey's Quartet No. VIII, and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden."

R. Carlos Nakai and William Eaton* Friday, December 2, 8 p.m.

Nakai is a Navajo-Ute who honors tribal traditions while developing new musical expressions on his cedar flute. Eaton designs his own extraordinary instruments and composes music inspired by nature. The two come together to perform music that is haunting in its serenity and graceful in its simplicity.

Aladdin and the Magic Lamp Friday, December 9, 7:30 p.m.

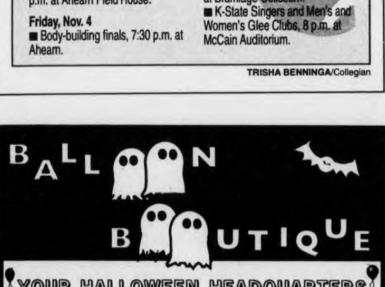

An Arabian nights tale of a poor tailor's son, an evil sorcerer, the sultan's beautiful daughter, and a couple of genies. You won't need a flying carpet: the lively music, colorful costumes, and special effects will sweep you away!

For tickets call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays; from 1 p.m. before weekend matinees; and from 5 p.m. before weekend evenings. Tickets are also available at Manhattan Town Center customer service desk, K-State Union Bookstore, and ITR (Fort Riley). Persons with disabilities call 532-6428.

* Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

you donate plasma. HOMECOMING ACTIVITIES MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL Monday, Oct. 31 ■ Kickoff, 4 p.m. at Weber Hall. ■ Bonfire and Pant the Chant contest, 9:30 p.m. at Memorial CENTER 1130 Gardenway NABI Stadium. 776-9177 ■ Voting for K-State Ambassadors in the K-State Union. Saturday, Nov. 5 Mon-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m., ■ Homecoming parade, 9 a.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 2 Campus tours, 10 a.m. at the Pep rally, noon at the Union.

YOUR HALLOWEEN HEADQUARTERS

Halloween baskets!

Custom Halloween decorations

Deliveries in costume on October 31st

Lots of decorations!

401 N. 3rd • 539-0106 M-F 8:30-5:30 • SAT. 9:00-3:00

A Halloween Treat Just For You!

10 Gallon Aquarium

only $6.99

Limit 1 per coupon Expires 11-7-94

Nutro Max Science Diet IAMS Proplan

Fish Prices Starting at 79¢

1105 Waters

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY OCT. 19 & 20

MONDAY/TUESDAY

OCT. 31 & Nov. 1 Nov. 10 & 11

THURSDAY & FRIDAY

TIMES: 8:30-11:30 A.M. & 1-4:30 P.M.

NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED

CASH/CHECKS ONLY - K-STATE I.D. REQUIRED $5.25 STUDENTS

$8.25 FACULTY/STAFF (1ST TIME OFFERED)

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED FOR PEOPLE WITH LONG TERM HEALTH PROBLEMS & ASTHMA

IVERSIONS

HOW TO FOLD A COLLEGIAN CROSSWORD:

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OCTOBER 31, 1994

For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

CRYPTOQUIP

OGTTPCW MFG NPHACT

ZR UHWXHUC

MHI IPGN AT LOSS VEGAS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: N equals P

CALVIN AND HOBBES

ANOTHER GORGEOUS,

WHAT A WASTE TO BE GOING TO SCHOOL ON LIKE THIS

YOU COULD STAY HOME

AL OU NOY CLUOM TAHM

BILL WATTERSON SLEEP RIGHT 10.31 1000

▶ FOXTROT BILL AMEND LET'S GO I'M MAKING A PARODY OF MTV'S "THE REAL WORLD." IT'S THIS PSEUDO-DOCUMEN I'M DOING A PROJECT FOR MY CONTEMPORARY CULTURE CLASS. YOU GET TARY ON MTV WHERE EVERY A GEIGER ONE SEEMS TO LIVE REALLY HIP, EVENTFUL LIVES. I'M COUNTER MAKING MY OWN VERSION

311's show drives audience crazy

CASEY MILLER

Collegian

Last Thursday, Snookie's Bar was host to one of the best new live acts touring the country.

Omaha's 311, with its diverse musical style, came out and for an all too brief 90 minutes, took

This band has a delightful identity crisis. Try to put a label on them — it can't be done. It plays metal, rap, funk, psychedelic, soul, thrash and punk, often in the same song.

311 is fronted by Nicholas Hexum, who is just about as cool as any lead singer can be. He goes from busting a mean rhyme to singing in tune just like (snap your fingers) that.

Co-vocalist SA Martinez played no instruments and didn't need them.

His voice was often reaching a high-pitched screech, giving the impression that he was plugged into some alternative source of power that no electric guitar could handle.

Bassist P-Nut really kept the band's sound together, playing some of the wildest range of sounds while standing quietly in the corner.

Drummer Chad Sexton can play as well, or better than any machine, and guitarist Timothy J. Mahoney could go from a heavy bar chord to a funky dance riff without a moment's delay.

311's live show can be best described as tight. The show was well-rehearsed and flawless. The band's timing was perfect. The band had a lot of energy and seemed to really be getting into its music. The band's enthusiasm spread throughout the crowd. 311's live performances are getting a reputation for driving audiences crazy. Hexum said early in the show, "Ain't nothing but a party, get funky!"

The crowd was only following orders.

311's lyrics came out so fast and furious there wasn't time for analyzation, but who cares?

This is live rock 'n' roll.

If you want to get into the deep meaning of words, go to a poetry reading. But for good music and mindless, crazy fun, catch 311 live while you can still afford it.

Roommates become annoying, bring excess baggage to apartments

XZR

FHNNA. Saturday's Cryptoquip: WHEN GIVEN A CHOICE, MOST WORLDLY-WISE GAMBLERS AVOID BETTING

Duveaux

Write to Cassie: 116 Kedzie Hall Manhattan, KS 66506

Dear Cassandra, I have this problem with a guy whom I live with. It may not seem that important, but it is bothering me.

This guy always refers to me as "son." As in, "Can you get this for me, son," or, Now listen, son."

Why does he do this? I doubt he even knows my mom, and I'm sure he's not her type. Does this freak actually think he's my dad? I'm ready to go for DNA testing, but I thought that I'd ask you first.

Sincerely, The Illegitimate One

Dear Illegitimate One,

You have quite an interesting situation there. Be honest, and tell him how much it bugs you when he calls you 'son.'

Give him some time, change can take a long time. If, after a few weeks, he still is doing it, ask him for an allowance or have him pay your tuition or bills. It may bug you now, but having him there could be turned into quite a profitable advantage.

Dear Cassandra,

Can you stand to give out some more advice on unwanted roommates?

First of all, there are four of us paying rent and an extra freeloading "wife." Our roommate, the "husband," is slowly going deaf and blind. Our problem is this: His "wife" comes over and eats our noodles and our salsa. She never cleans up after herself (I don't think she knows what a dishwasher is.) We're constantly taking phone messages for her at all hours, and she whines to her boyfriend whenever we watch something other than what she wants on television.

What can we do?

Signed,

Tom, Dick and Harry

Dear Tom, Dick and Harry,

You just have to be firm. Either demand that your other roommate's live-in pay rent or leave.

You do not have to put up with this invasion of privacy. You should refuse to take phone messages for her or clean up her

If she leaves dirty dishes, just put them in her bed - she will get the point.

If it does not get resolved soon, stop by the Student Life Office in Holton Hall for some more options.

REGULAR DRINK

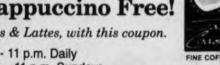

Limit 1 drink per coupon (With sub or pasta purchase. Not good with other specials. Only valid at Manhattan store.) Expires 12/23/94

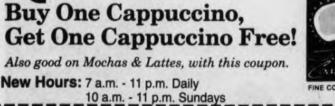

Can't Believe It's

539-1900

11th & Moro - Aggieville 537-1616

Get One Cappuccino Free! Also good on Mochas & Lattes, with this coupon.

1116 Moro

537-0886

Mon.-Sat.

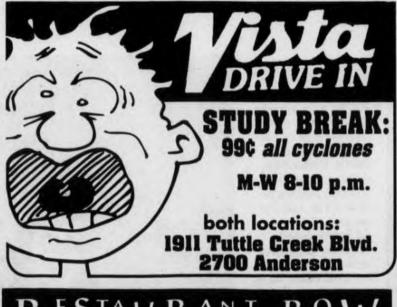

11 a.m.-1 a.m.

.m.-Midnight

This coupon good for MOO GOO GAI PAN $3.90

Dine-in & carryout Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries

FREE DELIVERY (Minimum order $9) Expires 11-14-94

Sancho or Burrito $1.29 each

With the aid of a Rocky Horror book Carrie Gilhousen, senior in English, and Tim Aumiller get ideas for Tim's makeup.

In Focus KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN "OH, BOCKY!!!"

In grandiose style, Tim Aumiller, graduate student in theater, struts his stuff in the costume contest before the movie. Aumiller took first place for the third year in a row.

It would seem appropriate that a K-State student who dresses like a drag queen for "The Rocky Horror Picture Show" is from a town named Liberal.

"I've always been mildly out there, even in high school," Tim Aumiller, graduate student in theater, said. "People didn't expect normal things from me."

The nice folks of Liberal would probably be shocked by a picture of him decked out in fishnet pantyhose, high heels, garter belts and skimpy lingerie.

"Liberal is far more conservative than Manhattan," Aumiller said. "It's a testament to God's sense of humor."

Aumiller, who has starred in many K-State Theatre productions, has played the role of Dr. Frank N. Furter for four of the past five years at the K-State showing of "The Rocky Horror Picture Show."

"It's definitely something I never play in theater," he said. "Frank is an interesting, androgynous transvestite. He's an interesting mixture of what I consider male and female in this culture."

Aumiller was first introduced to "The Rocky Horror Picture Show" his sophomore year by a friend who thought Aumiller could handle the complex role of Frank. Since then, Aumiller had two costumes professionally made.

"It was also for Halloween. Now I reserve it just for the movie night because it's not fun to walk around in heels for four hours," he said.

Aumiller said his theater background has prepared him for extraordinary roles, like playing an unusual transvestite. It also has taught him how to stay committed to a character once he's in costume.

"If you address me as Tim, I will not respond to you. Tim wouldn't ever wear these clothes," he said. Staying in character goes beyond the 1-1/2 hours of putting on makeup and getting dressed. Once in costume, Aumiller actually becomes Dr. Furter, the bold master of Transylvania with the accent, bold swagger and arrogant disposition.

"You can't be meek, you have to be proud. When he throws off his cape, he's ready to show people what he's got," Aumiller said.

The loss of inhibitions, which is a theme in Frank's character and the movie, is what draws Aumiller to "The Rocky Horror Show Picture" year after year. After graduation, he hopes to live in New York or Los Angeles and continue the act once a

"The fact that it has survived more than 20 years is a testament that it's more than just a bad horror movie," he said. "It's a spoof on the tenseness of our sexual attitudes.'

Aumiller said it's a very liberating experience to act like a character who is so uninhibited, and just being a part of the movie creates an energy that is very freeing.

'Part of the fun of the character is his shock value," Aumiller said. "I'm obviously not very conservative, so I like to throw a wrench into a lot of conservative people's lives."

There's more to Dr. Furter then meets the eye. Beyond the lingerie and garter belts, he's not like the average transvestite who wants to be a woman. He still has sideburns and doesn't shave — an interesting mix of being male and female.

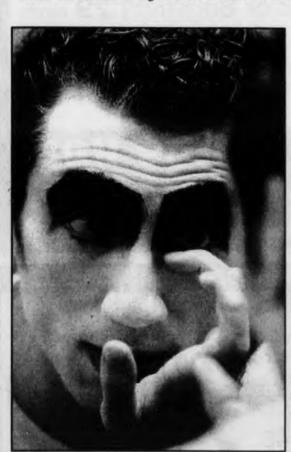

'That's why I find it such an entrancing character," Aumiller said. "Because I don't buy into too many stereotypes of what gender is. This character breaks them all. He challenges what it is to be male

"So many people say they find this character sexy, and I find that fascinating," he said. Aumiller said the camaraderie among the actors in the movie carries over to the audience.

"They made it tongue-in-cheek. That's part of its magic," he said.

"You can just tell how much fun the actors are having. I couldn't actually imagine getting paid for carefully puts on his eye makeup. As the transformation continues (left), Aumiller rolls on his fishnet stockings. Carrie Gilhousen, senior in English, (bottom) watches in disbelief as Aumiller becomes Frank As Frank (right), Aumiller, spotlighted by the projector, acts out parts of the movie

Aumiller (far left)

Story by Summer Ruckman

Photos by Mark Leffingwell

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

1 DAY 20 words or less — $5 each word over 20 - $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25 each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word 4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8

each word over 20 - $.35 per word 5 DAYS 20 words or less - $8.50

each word over 20 - $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY I classifieds must be peid in advance ess you have an established account Student Publications with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard or Vise are ed. There is a $10 service charge We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run found for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, plea call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

GET THE WORD OUT

532-6555 FAX

532-7309

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kedzie Hall 103 Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OFFICE HOURS MONDAY-FRIDAY 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

Announcements

each time you donate plasma.

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

on.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6:30 p.m.

Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m. $50 REWARD for informa tion leading to arrest and conviction of thief who stole hood orna ment from Mercedes a Jardine apartments Saturday night. Call Bil 532-6890 ext.18. Saturday,

Nov. 5 THERAPEUTIC TOUCH

HEALTH & HARMONY PATHWAYS CALL TO

REGISTER 537-8946

PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketball wax. Bases Load-ed Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141. ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128. COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6735 after 5:30p.m. PLAN A stunning winter wedding with Bloom-ing Dale's winter floral. Ask for Diane. 539–4751.

WANTED: MALE vegetarians for story in 1995 Royal Purple yearbook. Call Nora at 532-6557.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other when placing a per-

Homecoming Personals

for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Call 532-6555 for more info or come to 103 Kedzie Hall to place your personal. Deadline is one day before at noon.

WANDA FROM GOOD LAND. We met 10/21 playing pool in Charlie's and it was your lucky day. Really enjoyed talking with you, but I turned around and you were gone! Gave someone you know— hope you will call! -The Leprechaun.

Parties-n-More

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

BOCKERS II Catering Dances, bars, dinners, Weddings, Alumni func-tions. Catering any ham, Days Inn, Hous-ton Street. Call 539-9431.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Min imum seven month

For Rent-Unfurnished AVAILABLE FALL very nice

one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-ment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices. 537-1666, 537-2919. CHASE MANHATTAN Apartments, four-bedroom apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claflin.

ONE-BEDROOM. NEAR campus, 1807 College Hts., laundry facilities, central air. $405/ month. Jan.- Aug. month. 776-6313. *****

CAMBRIDGE

SQ. APT. 2 BEDROOMS *FIREPLACE *POOL 537-9064 WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30 ********** ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat. Laundry facilities. Three blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

For Rent-

smoker, for two-bed-room place. No pets. References. 539-1554. ROOMMATES NEEDED for a four-bedroom house. Nice, own room, spa-cious $187.50. Call 587-9131 ask for Heath-

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat-tan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes-

For Sale-Mobile Homes

COUNTRYSIDE BROKER AGE has 15 new and used mobile homes to choose from. Most on lot. We finance. Call Mike 539-2325.

Wanted

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE LY: Two large bed-rooms in nice, spacious four-bedroom house. Cheap rent plus utili-ties. Lots of extras 587-9131: Sarah. AVAILABLE SECOND se mester. Own large, nice bedroom in furnished three-bedroom house with fireplace, washer/ dryer. Rent $190 one-fifth utilities. Call AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Own large, nice, bedroom in fur-nished three-bedroom house with fireplace washer/ dryer. Rent $190, one-fifth utilities. 776-5966.

BIG ROOM in two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, Aggieville. Move in now. Great house, no pets. $230/ month until May. 539-FEMALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Non-smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after FEMALE ROOMMATE needed now or next se-mester. Five- minute walk to campus. One-third of bills. Call 776-6184. FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to occupy three-bedroom apartment at Woodway. $208/ month plus one-third utilities and water. Call Susan, ROOMMATE FEMALE needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to campus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. 537-8967.

ROOMMATE FEMALE needed immediately. Extremely nice apartment. Pool, patio, own room. only $215/month. Water, trash paid. 537-1679

FEMALE TO share nice two-bedroom apart-ment. Own room, excelenvironment Close to campus and Aggieville. Rent $220, but negotiable, and one-half utilities. Avail-able Dec. 15. 587-8618. FEMALE TO share two bedroom apartment Jan. 1. Own room, free laundry, utilities paid. $202.50. Close to cam-pus. 537-4532. FULLY FURNISHED house close to campus for fe-male. $280/ month all bills paid. 539-6098. WANTED NON-SMOKING

and non-drinking room mate for basement fur nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities. 539-1554.

Sublease JAN. 1 one-bedroom fur nished apartment. $250 a month, three blocks from Last Chance! SUBLEASE NEEDED. Two males need a room-mate $215 a month. A block away from cam-pus and Aggieville. 539-2540/587-4666.

AND

Tutor

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tu-tor. Five years GTA ex-perience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave mes-sage: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

210 Resume/

Typing

COMPUTER SUPPORT for your academic or per-sonal needs. Wordpro-cessing, spreadsheets, graphs. Papers, reports; resumes thesis. Contact Peggie 539-1191 (evenings). NEED SOMETHING typed? I'll type it for $1/ per

110 For Rent -Apt. Unfurnished

Apt. Furnished

page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for

WELL EXPERIENCED typis by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Pregnancy Testing

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing

 Totally confidential ·Same day results Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Musicians/DJs

DRUMMER AND singer

needed for a heavy al-ternative, funkoblues band. Call 539-3926,

Automotive Repair NISSAN- DATSUN Repair

Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-das and Toyotas also. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Mon.- Fri.

Services

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor-

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716. You'll never try...advertising. OLLEGIAN know unless you

EMPLOYMENT/

Help Wanted

CAREERS

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary! (206)545-4155 ext.

ARE YOU an organizer? Like to get people to-gether? Make $$$, gain excellent business excellent business ex-perience and earn free travel by marketing our Spring Break packages. Call Blue Iguana Tours 1-800-868-7423.

ATTENTION- COLLEGE Pro is now interviewing for Franchise Managers for next summer in KC, Wichita, and Topeka. All positions must be filled by February. Run your own business. Build your resume and earn Internship credit while making good money to continue your education. I did it and made $10,000. For more information call Todd at 587-8255.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month working on Cruise Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEasonal and full-time employment available. No ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634-0468 ext.

PART-TIME STUDENT em-ployment, ORSP Copy Center 10- 20 hours per week. Reliable, quick learner and ability to work without super-vision required; knowl-edge of campus build-ings preferred. Contact Dawn Caldwell, 2 Fairchild Hall, 532-6804. SKI RESORT Jobs- Hiring for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. DOORS OVER 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

VARNEY'S BOOK STORE is now taking applications for tempo-rary part-time full-time positions in the text-book department to assist with textbook buy-back. Possible employ-ment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Day-time, evening, and weethrough Dec. 18. Day-time, evening, and wee-kend hours are avail-able. $4.30 per hour. In-volves helping custom-ers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions re-quire diligence and a pleasant, service- oripleasant, service- oriented attitude. College ented attitude. College experience is strongly preferred. Apply in per-son downstairs at Var-ney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Dead-line for application is WANTEDITI INDIVIDUALS, student organizations and small groups to promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial money and free trips. Call the nation's leader, nter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

line for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reaconable. such business appor-tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars!
No experience necessary! Begin Now! For information call (202)298-9065. PROFESSIONAL. I need the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day, your own home. Mini-mal investment re-quired. For more infor-mation call 537-0837.

from the comfort of

OPEN MARKET

Wanted to Buy WHITE WICKER furniture

wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667 after 5p.m.

Items for Sale

ELECTRIC WORD Proces sor with spell check and extra supplies. $125; B/W portable TV $10; Patio drape and brass rod. 539-5819. ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor, Conveni ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson. MOUNTAIN BIKE. Schwinn Hurricane, 16-inch. Toe clips. Good condition. Also, stairclimber for sale. Call 539-9485.

Leave message TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale. 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100. 12.0 subic foot upright for $150. Great to store meat from home! Call 537-5667 after 5p.m.

Furniture to Buy/Sell

SUPER SINGLE waterbed great condition,*price negotiable. 539-8374 (Ask for Michelle).

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Geeb Emporium, 6000 square feet antiques, collectibles estate jewelry, furni-ture, 4910 Skyway Dr. four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12-6p.m. 539-4684.

Computers

COMPUADD 386SX16, 3. and 5.25 floppy, 85 MB hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds modem, two joy-sticks, SVGA monitor, MS DOS 6.0, $700, call Mo 776–4110.

ER. Complete system including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685. MACINTOSH LC III 4/80 33MHZ like new, 14-inch color monitor, extended keyboard mouse, 1.4 disk drive

MACINTOSH COMPUT-

video support, Excel 4.0, Word 5.0 etc. in-stalled, only $895, 587-0948. 450 Pets and Supplies

KITTEN PARADISE at Pets N-Stuff, 1105 Waters. Lovable and playful Persians—black, calico. seem, blue, or red Himalayan $249.

Siamese mixed breed $79 beautifull 539–9494

Sporting Equipment

MIZUNO MSX 1-3-5W Wilson Staff 3-PW Titleist DCI SW all excellent condition. Sun Mountain stand bag good condition. $600 condition. 1-395-5230.

MIZUNO MSX 1-3-5W Wilson Staff 3-PW Titleist DCI SW all excellent condition Sun Mountain stand bag good

TRANS-PORTATION

Automobiles

1950 CJ3A, Chevy 350, four speed, overdrive, Kayline top, much more, not show but very good, $5400. (316)835-2169 or four-door, five-speed, air conditioned, AM/ FM cassette, 90K, $2000.537-8967. FOR SALE: 1985 Ford Tempo. Runs great! $950 or best offer. Must sell! Call 587-8817, ask for

1983 SUBARU Wagon five door, sunroof, AM/FM stereo tape ACCORD- HONDA, 1982.

Bicycles

REK 850 Antelope. Practically brand new, call Mike for details. 587-

Motorcycles 1989 KAWASAKI Ninja

600R, good condition. 14K miles $2400 or best offer. Must sale. Call 539-5068 after 8p.m.

GET THE WORD OUT. 532-6555 Cruise for two, $400 or best offer. Hotel stay in Tampa or Orlando for wo, $100 or best offer Must sell. 776-3867.

VACATIONS. BAHAMAS

Tour Package

1111 CH R COLORAD JABBARY 2 - 15, 1995 - 4, 6, 6 OR 7, BIGHTS STEAMBOAT BRECKENRIDGE $168 VAIL/BEAVER CREEK NA

1-800-SUNCHASE NOBODY DOES SKI BREAKS BETTER

Airplane Tickets

DUE TO Cancellation limited Las Vegas Thanks giving weekend air/ MGM Grand/ Wednesday- Sunday from KCI starting at $364, tickets available. Call Ann Chilen, Flagship Travel (800)659-2303 or home (913)681-5251.

COLLEGE GRADUATES

"I drive a Jaguar, earned $4,000 in my second month and am helping professionals across the country do the same.' Interviewing for dynamic, enthusiastic, money motivated individuals to represent a progressive Marketing and Training Company, creating a global change. Serious Inquiries Only. Call for Appointment (913) 776-7975.

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events

050 Parties-n-More

HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE 120 For Rent - Houses 125 For Sale - Houses

130 For Rent -Mobile Homes 135 For Sale Mobile Homes

115 Rooms Available

140 For Rent - Garage 145 Roommate Wanted

150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture

160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale

DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

215 Desktop Publishing 220 Sewing/Alterations

225 Pregnancy Testing

210 Resume/Typing

230 Lawn Care 235 Child Care

240 Musicians/DJs

245 Pet Services 250 Automotive Repair 255 Other Services

300 EMPLOYMENT CAREERS

310 Help Wanted

320 Volunteers Needer Opportunities

OPEN MARKET

405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

420 Garage/Yard Sales

430 Antiques 435 Computers 440 Food Specials

425 Auction

450 Pets and Supplies 455 Sporting Equipment

445 Music Instruments

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell TRANS-PORTATION

510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

530 Motorcycles

540 Car Pool

TRAVEL/

TRIPS

610 Tour Packages 620 Airplane Tickets

630 Train Tickets

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category

preceded by a number

designation.

and sub-category. All categories

are marked by one of the large

images, and sub-categories are

CATEGORIES

TIPS FOR WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price.

This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price WE DO NOT USE PHONE

NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Food, dancing celebrated annual African Music Night

African Music Night was full of drumming, music and dancing. The African Student Union presented 1994 African Music Night Saturday at Manhattan Middle School.

About 100 people attended the

The evening started at 6:30 with a sampling of African cuisine.

Siendou Ouattara, ASU President, welcomed everyone to the program.

"If you feel like joining in at any time, feel free to do so," he said. The music was loud, and people were encouraged to dance in the aisles. The opening song, "Beautiful Africa," was led by Daphne Keboneilwe, graduate student in sociology.

Next, Daisy Kabagarama, assistant professor of Minority Studies at Wichita State University, read several poems she wrote about the beauty and pride of the African culture.

She said Africa is the mother of creation, humble yet majestic.

"Listen to the words carefully," she said to the audience.

A Ugandan traditional dance, called the Acholi Dance, was performed by Grace Ogwal, graduate student in food

The African Student Union Drummers gave the audience a sampling of African drumming in a twopart performance called the Rhythms of

A highlight of the evening was a two-part play acted by Kabagarama, addressing the trials and tribulations of an African woman coming to the United

In "The Stranger," she faced issues such as culture shock and adjusting to life on a school campus. All of the performers wore colorful costumes from their culture. Ouattara said he was very pleased with the turnout for African Music

It was an opportunity to tell people about African culture, he said.

African Music Night is not just a performance, Ouattara said, it is an exchange of ideas. "I want people to join the fun and participate in the program," he said. African Music Night takes place

TODD FEEBACK/Collegian

Dancers perform Soukouss: Zairian modern dance, at the '94 African Music Night Saturday night at Manhattan Middle School.

every fall, Ouattara said. The program has been going on since the mid 1960s.

"We try to bring in new things each year," Ouattara said.

He said this was the first year a play putting the program on for them.

was performed by someone other than the ASU members.

Ouattara said he hopes people look forward to coming, and that he enjoys

Students involved in projects to raise food

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"Money or cans gets them a guess, so I think a lot of food will be generated by this. It's going to a worthy cause," he

A prize package donated by the community will be awarded to the person who has the closest guess as to how many cans are contained in the Nichols likeness.

Linda Harvey, junior in human ecology and mass communications, belongs to Alpha Phi Omega, a co-ed service fraternity that requires 10 service hours a semester.

She said she decided to join her friend, Billie Reuss, NSAE member and junior in architectural engineering, to help with the construction of the can replica.

"It's a pretty good opportunity for our local pantries to get some food, and it gives exposure to the K-State people working with it," Harvey said.

Another NSAE member helping build the Nichols replica stressed the significance of the food drive.

'It's important for people to be involved with projects like this," Amy Bartel, freshman in architectural engineering, said. "They can see their surroundings and the struggles going on around them.'

'I've lived in Manhattan all my life, and I didn't really think about that many people in need," she said. "I take it for granted I live in a way I've never gone

House, who is on the Mayor's Holiday Tree Committee, said the food collected is distributed based on need.

"A lot of the food collections are done in Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, then distributed to the families in need,"

Donations can go a long way, House

"For every $1 donated to Flint Hills Breadbasket, they can turn it into $23 worth of food and different items," she said.

"The community backs us up so much. The students, faculty, everyone just does a great job," House said.

The all-campus activity has the potential to collect many cans, House said. Each college has a representative and the opportunity to have its own event.

The College of Education will sponsor 'Pie in the Face," which is a contest between students and faculty to collect

Order of Omega will have a Hunger Dinner and Miss a Meal to contribute to the food drive. Money that would have provided a meal for greek houses is donated to Flint Hills Breadbasket.

National Residence Hall Honorary will conduct its own segment of the food

"We're having a contest between the residence halls," Michael Kerr, junior in architectural engineering, said. "They go out and collect the food.'

Health Board questions food service codes

HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

A new food-service ordinance was considered at the Riley County/Manhattan Board of Health meeting at noon Friday.

Joe Kitterman, of the environmental department, addressed the inappropriateness of some parts of the existing code.

The code is for licensing food establishments, Kitterman said. This includes anything from restaurants to vending machines, he said. The code does not include establishments that provide only prepackaged foods and whole, uncut fresh fruits and vegetables, he said. Kitterman said the biggest change in the ordinance is in the supervision of food establishments.

"We want to stress education of managers to prevent food-borne disease," Kitterman said.

The new ordinance will require a food manager to be certified by a health officer by passing a test demonstrating knowledge of food-borne disease prevention, he said.

Training classes will be available to help prepare managers for the test, Kitterman said. The classes will teach food managers how to properly handle food. Kitterman said he thinks it will be about a four-hour course.

Kitterman said that the ordinance doesn't apply to K-State. He said even when the University becomes a part of Manhattan, it will still be exempt from city ordinances.

A Chamber of Commerce member asked the Board of Health to allow the chamber some time to respond to the proposed new ordinance.

The member said the Chamber wants the opportunity to meet with the restaurant owners to get feedback on what they want before the new ordinance is approved.

Meeting with the restaurant owners would help to avoid confrontations later on, the member said. The member said the training class is the main issue of concern

The Board of Health agreed to allow for input from the Chamber of Commerce and restaurant and other food-service owners on the ordinance. The board said that its main concern is not for the foodservice owners.

"Our focus is the safety of the public," Roger Maughmer, Board of Health member and city

Rocky Horror rookies become virgin slaves

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

showing of the movie: a virgin auction, a costume contest and a pledge to Transylvania, a planet of oversexed underdressed. transvestites

About 15 first-time moviegoers were isolated from the crowd and lined up onstage for the virgin

"What do you, as a virgin slave, have to offer?" the Master of Ceremonies asked each contestant. A harem of three girls offered a well-rounded package.

"I like to learn," the first one "I like to teach," the second said. "Just name it," the third one said.

A guy in the front row stripped down to his boxers and threw his jeans onto the stage. Other winning bids were $15, a Milli-Vanilli album, a nipple ring and 200 dildos. The most sexually outrageous bids won virgins. The virgin auction was followed by a costume contest, where members dressed like their favorite characters. Aumiller stole the show when he threw off his black, floor-length satin cape to reveal a costume fit for a San Francisco drag-queen ball. He said part of the fun of the character is his shock value. "My God! Did you see what he was wearing? Anybody that shows up in something like that is going to stand out," Lee said.

Aumiller wasn't the only audience member to get onstage during the movie. Everyone danced during "Time Warp," putting their hands on their hips, bringing their knees in tight and doing the pelvic

There are no words to describe the audience's trip to Transylvania. Charlie Tierney, freshman at Manhattan High School, summed it

"It's about transvestites. The audience members are all messed up. The weird come out," he said.

PERSONAL HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN CONFIDENTIAL ABORTION SERVICES

• Complete GYN Care • Pregnancy Testing

PROVIDING QUALITY HEALTH CARE TO WOMEN SINCE 1974

• Depo Provera & Norplant • Tubal Ligation · Licensed Physicians/Caring Staff · Modern State-Licensed Facility

COMPREHENSIVE 345-1400

VISA

health for womenoutside KCAREA 4401 W. 109th (I-435 & Rose) 1-800-227-1918 Overland Park, KS TOLL FREE

EVERY TUESDAY! SECOND SET OF PRINTS

Receive a second set of 3" prints FREE with any exposure roll of 35mm, disc, 110 or 126 color print film left for developing and printing at our everyday prices! C-41 process only. Exludes larger 4" size prints and photo galaxy.

Daily 9 to 9, Sunday 11 to 6 • 3007 Anderson Ave.

ter Job?

four career future in Manhattan depends upon a growing job ma et. A "YES" vote on Question 2 will raise funds to bring more and better jobs to Manhattan. Vote "YES" to invest in your own future.

ADVERTISEMENT PAID FOR BY JOBS FOR MANHATTAN COMMITTEE, PAT ALEXANDER, TREASURER

tulations AX on your

WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 1, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 51

SCHOLARSHIPS

Applications available today

Free tuition, or at least less financial stress, could be yours with just a little time and

"This is the time all students need to be thinking about getting information about scholarships," Nancy Bolsen, director of Adult Student Services, said.

"I think people don't think about the process until it's too late, and they've missed some opportunity they were eligible for," Bolsen said. "Because they've missed the deadlines, they can't be considered."

The application deadline for general scholarships is Feb. 1, and applications will be available day at the financial aid office in Fairchild Hall.

The applications are reviewed by the General Scholarship Committee and each of the

"For a student majoring in engineering, for example, the data from their application would be used for the General Scholarship Committee and sent to the engineering department for their consideration," said Larry Moeder, director of the Office of Student Financial Assistance.

He said the committee and colleges award numerous scholarships.

"K-State awards $4 million a year. $1.3 million in outside scholarship money is brought in by the student body that they have found in their communities or elsewhere," he said.

Moeder said there are ways in addition to the general application, to obtain scholarships and now is the time to be utilizing those resources.

"Now is a very good time to do scholarship search," he said. "Many deadlines are in CASHE is a reputable scholar-ship search offered by the financial assistance office. Moeder said students should beware of many of the search opportunities they receive in the mail.

"A lot of students get stuff in the mail about scholarship

See DEAN'S Page 5

► ENROLLMENT

Athletes to enroll in classes before general student body

SERA L. TANK

That wonderful time of year known as enrollment is here. It's time when you agonize over finding the right classes and cry when you realize that class you've been dying to take is full.

K-State athletes do not have to deal with that problem. No matter how many years they have attended, all K-State athletes enroll on Nov. 1. Don Foster, K-State registrar, said there are two main reasons that the athletes are allowed to enroll early.

"The decision was based on their time commitment to the University and the fact that they must remain in a minimum number of hours to live up to their demanding travel schedule," he said.

In order to help the athletes meet their commitments both academically and athletically, the University could either let them enroll with everyone else and go through the drop/add process, or they could allow them to enroll

■ See ATHLETES Page 5

> STUDENT SENATE

Election changes to be voted on

CRISTINA JANNEY

Student Senate will decide how to punish candidates who violate election regulations if changes in the regulations are accepted by Senate tonight.

Senate Elections Committee voted unanimously to amend the regulations it will present to Senate tonight so that the committee would hear grievances and determine if

CHANGE

Student Senate has changed its weekly meeting from Thursday evening to Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Bluemont 101.

there are regulation violations.

Violations would be reported to Senate with the results of the elections. Senate would then decide whether to accept the results of the election.

Under the proposed regulations, Senate will also decide whether candidates who violate election regulations would be allowed to take their Senate seats.

"I think this will eliminate a lot of problems and simplify the grievance process," David Norris, co-chair of the Elections Committee, said.

Last year, a grievance committee heard election-violation complaints. That committee made decisions on what types of sanctions would be levied on candidates that broke rules.

Disputes involving election regulations and the election and grievance committees' powers resulted in part of the student elections being recalled last spring.

This year's committee had concerns that it did not have the authority to dismiss students from the election or remove them from the ballot, so the members decided Senate should make decisions on sanctions.

Candidates would be able to appeal the decisions of Senate to the Student Tribunal, a student judicial board.

Information on violators would also be made public.

"We think the people should decide who they want in office," Norris said. "If they see someone has violated the rules, they won't vote for them, or they can go to their current representative and tell them they don't want them in."

The Elections Committee is also proposing reform in party regulations. Candidates for student body president and vice president will no longer be able to be affiliated with a party.

Chad Schneiter, co-chair of the committee, said the committee did not want the student body president and vicepresident candidates to mix money with the other candidates. He said it had caused problems in the past.

Other candidates will be able to campaign in parties with the requirement that all campaign materials have all the names of the members of the party on the material in the same size, color and style.

Schneiter said this regulation was to prevent candidates from using a disproportionate amount of party money to promote individual campaigns

Parties will still have to register, but they will not have to file an expenditure report. Individual donations by candidates to their parties will be ■ See COMPUTERS Page 5

Strong Complex I teammates Dustin Springer (left), sophomore in elementary education, and Aaron McClure, junior in park resource management, stuff themselves with chocolate-covered donuts at the Krazy Kat Kickoff Monday afternoon near Weber Hall.

The White Cloud contest provided a good laugh for Strong Complex I teammates Hannah Marshall (center), sophomore in prenursing, and Jennifer Graff, sophomore in agriculture economics.

"I kept thinking, 'Why the heck am I here?' It was just dangling there, and I couldn't use my hands."

> JENNIFER ENOS freshman in horticulture

"I wasn't sure if I'd be able to breathe much longer — I was choking on flour."

> JENNIFER LANGE freshman in business administration

"It was challenging to figure out how to bust them when they're flying all around. Once we got a rhythm going, it was all right."

CINDY MILLER senior in English

Homecoming week

Students participate in 3rd-annual

RAZY KAT KICKOFF

Olympics kick off Homecoming week festivities

CHARITY WOODSON

More than 90 students gathered on the lawn of Weber Arena Monday afternoon to kick off Homecoming week.

The students were participating in the third-annual Krazy Kat Kickoff, a wacky olympics competition, sponsored by the K-State Association of Residence

The Moore/Goodnow III team, Moore Than You Can Handle, was the overall winner, earning 50 points toward the residence-hall Homecoming competition.

Nine teams competed in six events. Each team consisted of 10 members from the residence halls' Homecoming covered donuts off of a string.

The event was kicked off with the Donut Eating Contest.

Each team had four members lie on their backs and eat chocolate sauce-here?" Jennifer Enos, freshman in horticulture, said. "It was just dangling there, and I couldn't use my hands. Once the sauce-covered team members cleaned up, the Kickoff moved on to the White Cloud contest. In this event, each team had to blow flour out of a bowl using only straws in order to uncover a hidden penny.

"I was just drafted today," Jennifer Lange, freshman in business administration, said. "I wasn't sure if I'd be able to breathe much longer — I was choking on flour.' The third event, K-State Trivia, was a much calmer and cleaner one. Each team had to answer 10 questions based on the K-State and Manhattan community. "Some of the questions came from a program we did for Earth Week last year," Lisa Grey, senior in secondary education and KSUARH Environmental Programs coordinator, said.

"The rest are residence-hall questions and general K-State trivia," Grey said.

Anxious to get moving, the teams then got to compete in Butt to Butt. Each team had eight members line up "I kept thinking, 'Why the heck am I butt to butt and pop balloons between themselves.

"It was challenging to figure out how to bust them when they're flying all around," Cindy Miller, senior in English, said. "Once we got a rhythm going, it was all right."

The next event, the Hoola Hoop Relay, was a fast-moving competition with a little twist.

Each team linked hands and, instead of using Hoola Hoops, used a rimless bike tire and passed it along the chain.

Whoever came up with these ideas are kind of crazy, but this was the best one yet," Jennifer Miller, sophomore in biology, said. "It was interesting to see how the whole team worked together to get the tire over you."

The last event, the Carpet Relay, was cut after the event was completed, and it was not counted in the overall judging.

"In the interest of fairness, it was cut because of a discrepancy. It wasn't properly administered," Lin Bliss. KSUARH president and junior in premedicine and history, said.

Overall, the event was a success,

"I think we did a lot. It took a lot of planning, but everyone had a good time," he said.

NEWS BRIEFS

▶ LUIS DONALDO COLOSIO'S ASSASSIN CONVICTED, SENTENCED TO 42 YEARS

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The man who assassinated Luis Donaldo Colosio, the ruling party's first presidential candidate, was convicted of murder Monday and sentenced to 42 years in prison, news reports

The sentence was imposed on Mario Aburto by a judge at the high security Almoloya prison west of Mexico City, according to the Televisa television network and the independent Excelsion news agency, quoting court offi-

Aburto, a 23-year-old factory worker, was seized by police immediately after gunning down Colosio during a campaign rally March 23 in

Judge Alejandro Sosa Ortiz told Excelsior that Aburto had been found guilty of premediated murder after seven months of trial and investigations.

Colosio's murder, coming on the heels of a New Year's Day uprising by Indian rebels in southern Mexico, shocked a country that had not experienced such an assassination in decades.

Polls showed that many Mexicans believed Aburto was part of a larger conspiracy - suspicions that gained strength after the Sept. 28 assassination of another politician, Jose Francisco Ruiz Massieu, was linked to a group of disgruntled politicians.

Police arrested three men linked to Colosio's security detail and charged them with involvement in the candidate's death. Prosecutors lately have said Aburto apparently acted alone, but the three remain in Colosio was the candidate of the Institutional Revolutionary Party. He was succeeded by Ernesto Zedillo, who was elected president in August.

▶ ANGOLA, ZAMBIA TO END FIGHTING, SIGN PEACE AGREEMENT IN NOVEMBER

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) -Despite continued fighting back home. Angola's warring rivals initialed a new peace agreement Monday intended to halt the 19year civil war.

By approving the pact worked out in 11 months of negotiations in neighboring Zambia, Angola's government and rightist UNITA rebels signaled their acceptance of a cease-fire and their intention to formally sign the document Nov.

Fighting has continued in Angola throughout the peace talks, increasing recently with the government's seizure of a key petroleum center at Soyo, 185 miles north of the capital of Luanda, during the weekend and their advance on Huambo, the rebel stronghold 300 miles southeast of the capital.

UNITA, which controlled the coastal town of Soyo for almost two years, complained that the government was trying to grab territory before the cease-fire. It was not immediately clear if President Jose Eduardo dos Santos and rebel leader Jonas Savimbi would attend the signing ceremony in Lusaka.

The war - one of Africa's longest - has claimed more than half a million lives since erupting on the eve of independence from Portugal in 1975. It also has devastated the economy and infrastructure of the oil- and diamond-rich

The war became a proxy battle of the Cold War, with the Marxist government backed by Cuba and the former Soviet Union facing off with South African- and U.S .backed UNITA, a Portugese acronym for the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola.

A 1991 peace agreement set up elections the following year, which dos Santos and his party won. But Savimbi rejected the results as fraudulent and fighting resumed.

▶ BOSNIAN SERBS SET ON REGAINING TERRITORY LOST IN ATTACK ON ROAD

SARAJEVO. Herzegovina (AP) - Government forces that have handed Bosnian Serbs their worst defeats in 2-1/2 years of war pushed ahead Monday with assaults on a supply route near Sarajevo and Serb-held towns in the northwest.

Serbs claimed to have blunted the offensives and promised hard fighting to regain lost territory.

Whether the Serbs have the troops, material and morale to rebound could determine whether the government's offensive will decisively change the course of the Serbs said that the government attack on the Serb supply road, near Trnovo, was backed by an estimated 8,000 troops travelling to the front from besieged Sarajevo through a tunnel under

U.N. peacekeepers confirmed that government forces pushed back Serb troops in northwestern Bosnia. Bosnia's official radio reported that government troops took 12 square miles of territory, closing in on the towns of Bosanska Krupa and Bosanski

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We accept letters to the editor by e-mail. Our se is collegn@ksu.ksu.edu. You must a your name, address, phone number and LID number with the letter.

Today's Special! -

Bob's DINER

Beef

& Noodles

Night

By Cico Park

Kimball & Seth Childs

Candlewood Center

ELECTRONIC COLLEGIAN

The Kansas State Collegian has gone electronic. Updated daily, you can find the Electronic Collegian on the World Wide Web @ http://www.spub.ksu.edu/

These reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County Police departments. Because of space constraints, not all crimes are listed.

K-STATE POLICE

THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NOT THE OWNER.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30

At 11:21 a.m., Ronnie Grice reported smoke in the utility room at Jardine Terrace Apartments, Building P. The Manhattan Fire Department was sent. The source of the smoke was found to be a burning sweet potato in a microwave in P-1.

At 11:49 p.m., an excessive

MONDAY, OCTOBER 31

At 8:54 a.m., Alan Hamilton and unattended van. It was a truck, which then struck a parked noise complaint was filed about the Alpha Tau Omega house. One person at the house took #### struck a parked and unattended

three-vehicle accident with damage less than $500.

responsibility and assured that the noise would not exceed any-

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30

At 4:30 a.m., Erin Paddack, Blue Springs, Mo., was arrested for possession of a controlled substance and drug paraphernalia. He was released on $500

At 3:36 p.m., Wanda Slagle.

3221 Stagg Hill Road, reported several shots fired from at least two weapons. An information-

MONDAY, OCTOBER 31

At 12:42 a.m., Vinson McCobb, 2428 Hobbes Drive, was arrested for DUI at Seth

Childs Road and Farm Bureau Road. Bond was $500.

At 6:13 p.m., Heather Moen.

517 Fairchild Terrace, reported a male flasher at the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. An officer was

At 9:07 p.m., Patrick Powell,

1323 Houston St., was arrested for DUI at K-18 and Seth Childs unable to locate the subject.

Road. Bond was $500.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Chimes junior honorary is awarding a scholarship to an outstanding junior. Applications are due at noon Nov. 14. Applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services.

Circle K International will meet 9 p.m. today in Union 206. German Table will meet 11:30 a.m. today in Union Stateroom 3.

Anyone interested in German conversation is welcomed. Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet 6:30 p.m. today by the McCain water fountain for yearbook pictures.

Sailing Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in Union Stateroom 3. Kansas Center for Rural Initiatives will present "The Will to Grow," a description of the social infrastructure needed for survival, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in Union 204. There will be a Student Government forum at 5:15 p.m. today in the Derby Dining Center Gold Room.

Pre-law Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in Union 213. Adult Student Services will have a brown-bag lunch from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1. Christian Science Organization will meet at 4 p.m. today in Career and Employment Services will have a Winning

Interviews Workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Union 206 Habitat for Humanity will meet at 9 p.m. today in the Union Big 8 Room for a general meeting and yearbook pictures. Black Student Union will meet at 7 p.m. today in Union 207.

Chi Alpha Christian Fellowship will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union

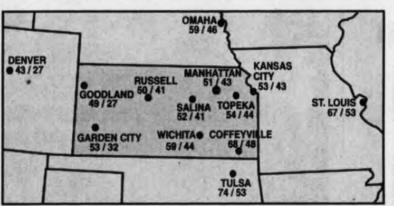

KSU Campus Ministries will meet at noon today in Danforth Chapel for "Remembering Those Who Have Gone Before Us: All Saints' Day Prayer."

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student news-paper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once week through the summer. Second-class postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State
Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-

WEATHER

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

Warmer, partly cloudy with a high of 75 in the west and 65 in the east. Night lows in the 40s.

Partly cloudy with a high of 62 and a low of 32. Wind 10 to 20

TOMORROW |

A chance for showers with highs in the 60s and lows in the 30s.

SUPPORT K-STATE FOR HOMECOMING

This is your chance to give the Cats a personal message.

your ad today.

how your Purple Pride by placing a personalized Cat Tracker ad in the Collegian cheering on the Wildcats as they take on the Iowa State Cyclones this Homecoming Weekend.

Here's how it works: you tell us what you want to say, and we'll plug it into one of the three designs above which YOU choose. The ads will run together in the special Cat Tracker section of the Collegian on Friday, Nov. 4, the day before the Cats play Iowa State at KSU Stadium.

The ads can be from you, your family, your business, your living group, your friends or any other combination.

It only costs $5, so come on in to 103 Kedzie Hall to reserve

DEADLINE: 4 p.m. Wed., Nov. 2

OLLEGIAN

we've been there before; we'll be there again

WE'RE BACK! Organizations

Through Nov. 9 from 6-10 p.m. in McCain 324

Tuesday, Nov. 1

Chi Epsilon 6:00 p.m. Hospitality Mgmt. Society 6:20 p.m. Advertising Club 6:40 p.m. United Methodist Campus Ministry 7:00 p.m. Hispanic American Leadership Org. 7:20 p.m. Alpha Mu 7:40 p.m.

Indonesian Student Assoc. 8:00 p.m. Education Council 8:20 p.m. Student Dietetic Assoc. 9:00 p.m. KSU Habitat for Humanity 9:20 p.m.

The 1995 Royal Purple portrait photographers are going to take a shot at you.

You may still reserve your copy of the 1995 Royal Purple at your sitting. Questions? Call 532-6557.

2 LARGE $13.98

TODD FEEBACK/Collegian

At Putnam Hall, Thomas Annis, senior in computer engineering, smacks two pieces of wood together to scare the trick or treaters that came to his room Halloween night. Annis said this was his third year participating in the event. Annis and his roomate were successful in scaring most of the trick or treaters. Many refused to enter their room and waited until the candy was brought into the hallway.

Roaming in the residence halls

Children visit residence halls for Halloween

DOUG BASSETT

Collegian

Candy, candy, candy.
That's what children of all ages could have gotten when they went trick or treating at the residence halls last night.

Ford, Moore, West, Putnam,
Boyd, Smurthwaite and Goodnow halls were open to anyone who wanted to get dressed up and grab some sweets.

Parents were able to rest at some of the residence halls while volunteers took the scary little goblins around to fill their bags with goodies.

"We have tour guides that help the little kids around about seven volunteers," said Jaime Allen, sophomore in speech pathology and French.

"There are orange pumpkins on the doors to let people who don't have escorts know which room to knock on," Allen, Ford resident, said.

"I have seen lots of Power Rangers, but the fairies are the cutest."

"We got people to sign up to help take the kids around while their parents relax," Brad Goman, senior in biology, said. "We put signs up in most of the elementary schools about tonight"

Every room that gave out candy in Putnam was checked by someone before the candy could be given out, Goman said.

"We went around to each room and checked out what they were giving the kids," he said.

Kimberly Plummer, a resident of Manhattan, was taking 3-year-old Justin around the halls because she said it's a

■ See RESIDENCE Page 8

Competition for costumed pets and owners

Animal House contest invites people and their pets

SUMMER RUCKMAN

At the first Animal House Pets costume contest, contestants weren't limited to having four legs — the numbers ranged from two to eight

Cats, dogs, tarantulas and small children, dressed like skunks and bees, competed for tasty pet treats and gift certificates Monday night.

Nana, a Heinz 57-variety terrier, ran away with first prize in the pet category.

Her owner, Doris Vazquez, senior in animal science, dressed her in a red-satin devil costume.

"I wanted to take her trick or treating," Vazquez said, "but no one takes dogs trick or treating."

Second prize went to the "Lingerie Cats," who were wearing lacy dresses and feathered collars.

Justin Estes, a fifth grader at St. George grade school, said the third-place contestant, a chow, wore his favorite costume.

"The pumpkin costume was the best, and the dog is pretty neat, too," Justin said.

He said he was taking a break from trick or treating and having fun watching the pets modeling costumes. "This is fun with the animals because I like them better than the candy," he said.

The Nobiz family swept the people category, decked out like four bumble bees

Conner, 3, and his sister, Torrey, 2, had black and yellow striped outfits with antennas, and their parents were all white with nets protecting their faces.

"We've dressed up in themes for the last three years," Jane Nobiz said. "These are our busy-bee tumblers, so we decided to make them bumblebees this year. And we had to be beekeepers. These are our little pets, anyway."

Manhattan resident Karen Garra dressed in a black cape and red horns and stormed in with a wild black dog, also attired in red devil horns.

"He's Demon, and I'm demonpossessed," Garra said, laughing. "When we want him to come, we summon the Demon."

Third place went to Anne Collins and her 4-month-old tarantula, Doodle.

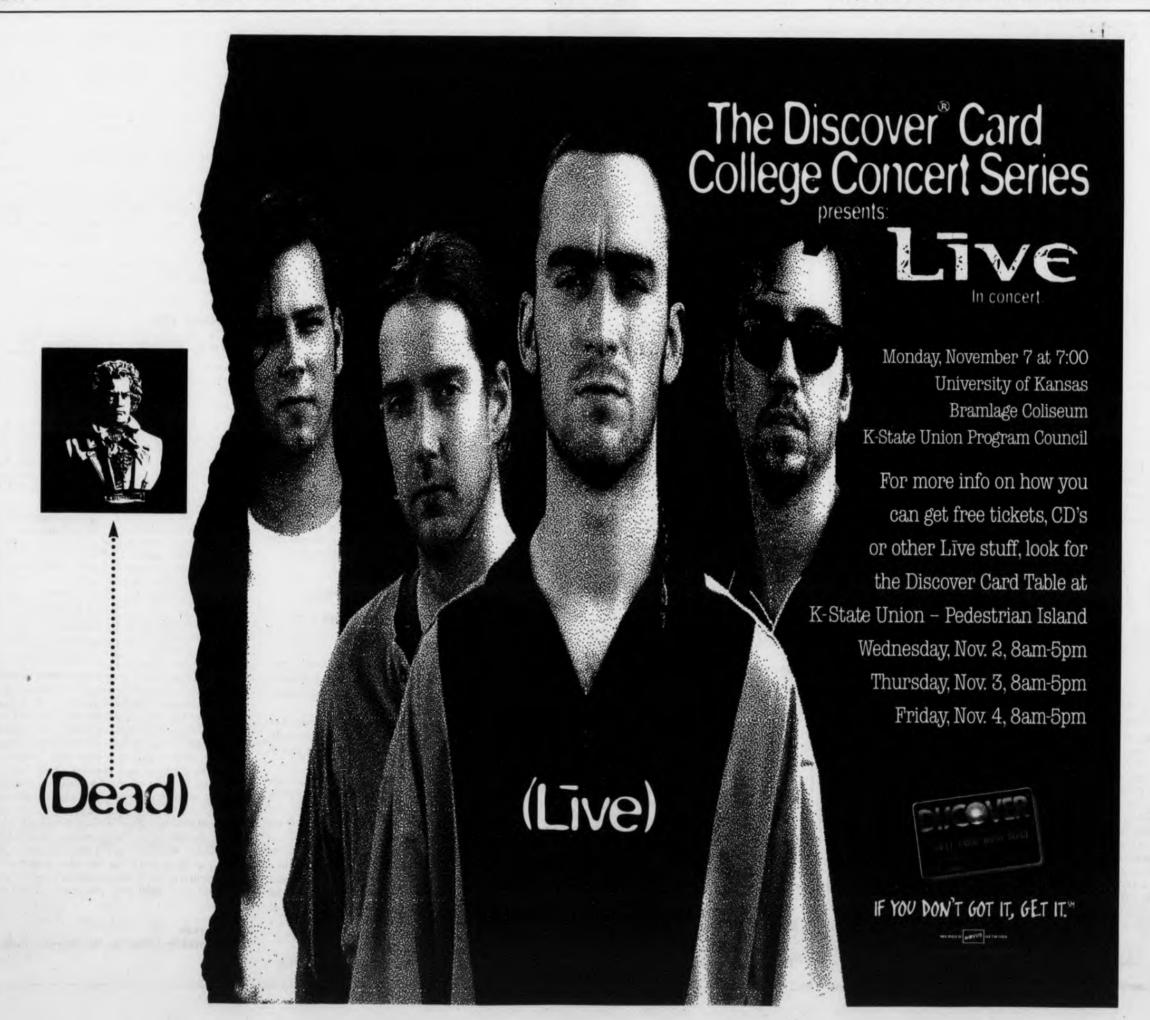

"Little Miss Muffet" sat on her tuffet (footstool), eating her curd (cottage cheese), when along came a spider (Doodle) and sat down beside

"I would have brought its siblings, Yankee and Dandy, but the rhyme only mentioned one spider," Collins said.

CRAIG HACKER/Colle

Doris Vaquez plays with her terrier, Nana, before the Animal House Pets costume contest Monday night. Nana won first-place in her devil costume.

NOVEMBER 1, 1994

IN OUR OPINION

By the Collegian Editorial Board

Senate works to improve election process

Student Senate and SGA are trying to correct the mistakes from last year's election.

It is pleasant to see Student Senate and the Student Governing Association trying to correct last year's mistakes.

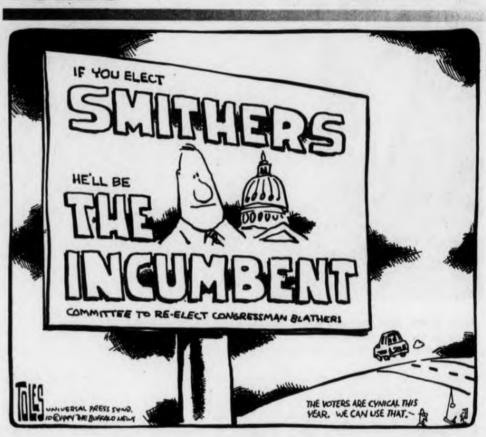

Student Senate is trying to redefine its approach to the elections. The proposed election rules are trying to move from a micromanagement position. The rules were set to where they nitpicked at every "if," "and" and "but" that were involved in elections. They have now taken a macromanagement position, giving candidates and political parties more latitude, and the Grievance Committee is now defunct, as it should be. The Elections Committee will now handle any grievances filed. If these new regulations are passed, the people most involved and informed with the elections will be handling any questions and grievances, as it should be.

But Student Senate should be careful. These new rules were first read last week at Senate during the late hours, and this week's Student Senate meeting has been moved to Tuesday night. Students should be given a fair chance to get involved or voice their concerns. Student Senate shouldn't be overeager to pass the regulations as soon as possible. On the other hand, Student Senate shouldn't sit on the regulations and try to dissect every piece to death.

Student Senate does deserve a lot of credit for trying to smooth out a process that has always been rather

TOLES

Free inquiry has a friend

or K-State students who have taken a class in hopes of becoming educated only to be subjected to ideological indoctrination, a new student organization will help you fight back.

Students Advocating a Valid Education a national organization dedicated to ensuring academic freedom for students, established a chapter at K-State in April 1994.

SAVE began in response to radical campus forces around the country that oppose classical American liberalism — free inquiry, and genuine education. The philosophy of the group embraces ideals kept by people of all viewpoints, but strongly opposes education systems that demand adherence to a narrow ideological perspective.

The group's charter says that students have the right to be educated by a variety of sources, not only those with which a professor may agree. Also, students have the right to express and defend ideas in class that the professor and students may strongly disapprove of. Finally, students have the right to be evaluated on the quality of their work, free of their instructor's political and personal prejudices.

Troy Tuttle, senior in secondary education, founder and president of the SAVE chapter at K-State, said the purpose of the organization is to serve as a watchdog group for students who believe their educations are being compromised by biased professors and politically correct attitudes.

The establishment of this organization comes at an ideal time when genuine education is being increasingly threatened around the country and at K-State by politically correct attitudes in academia.

Lynn V. Cheney, former chairwoman of the National Endowment for the Humanities, said of professors, "Some no longer question whether to use the classroom for political purposes; their only question is how most effectively to do

Threats to academic freedom are not isolated to Ivy League, coastal or typically left-leaning schools, where students risk expulsion by violating campus speech codes or political harassment for advocating values contrary to liberal

JOHN HART 66 Threats to academic freedom are not isolated to Ivy League, coastal, or typicallyy leftleaning schools.

K-State students have had their educations compromised by biased professors, as well. For example, in my time here, I've experienced personally, or other students have experienced, classes in literature that preach feminism, classes in philosophy that advocate Marxism or classes in biology that condemn anyone who questions atheistic evolution.

SAVE should do all it can to expose and criticize these threats to free education. Students who believe their academic freedom is threatened should make use of the group to ensure the quality of their education. SAVE could also play a very effective role in encouraging a truly diverse climate at K-State. Proponents of diversity in education normally define it as the consideration of a variety of ideas. In practice, however, such proponents often advocate not the consideration of many or all ideas, but their ideas. In hopes of creating a more diverse academic environment, Tuttle hopes to bring in speakers of a nature that the liberal Lou Douglas Lecture series, for example, would not entertain.

SAVE is an outstanding organization because it defends the principles that are essential to the success of the University. With the help of SAVE, K-State will be a place that teaches students how to think rather than what to think.

John Hart is a senior in political science.

Candidates stopped discussing issues

Dear Ms. or Mr. Politician:

One week from today it will all be over, and we won't have to hear about your exploits for at least two more years.

We won't have to hear claims for your support of robbing the elderly. We won't have to hear about your bounced checks and your voting record since Clinton's inauguration.

We won't have to hear about how often you switched your mind in the past, how you flip-flopped on your campaign promises. How when you served in a past office, high levels of some chemical were used on farms.

We won't have to hear that you are not a politician, but a

We won't have to hear accusations that you should have left your family half-way around the world to be near your constituency when it faced the flood.

We won't have to hear about your costly donatehundreds-by-the-plate fund-raising dinners, or your 3-donation corn-chowder supper

ISTIN

RIGHTON

We will be glad you are tucked away in Topeka or Washington, doing what you said you could do

And hopefully, you will do surprisingly well. Hopefully, you will not conduct your offices like your campaigns because if you do after this tainted election year of pot-shot attempts to sway public opinion, you will have a hard time gaining, or regaining, our respect.

Do you want more specifics? Frankly, the manner with which you have patronized us with your advertisements (especially on television) has been a turnoff — a complete disregard of your public's intelligence. You all are trying to manipulate our emotions so that we look at your opponent with dislike and cast our deciding vote against them, not for you.

In example, at the beginning of this campaign year, many of us faced the dilemma of deciding which gubernatorial candidate we liked better: our charismatic Secretary of State Bill Graves, or the popular, charming man who has served this district for many terms, Congressman Jim Slattery. Both seemed sharp and qualified. They even seemed to agree on many issues. It appeared that no matter who was elected, we would all win.

However, as pollsters make predictions and Nov. 8 beckons, the good old boys running for governor have left issues and proposals aside and are constantly slamming one another back and forth like a pair of bullies sparring for dominance of Playground Kansas.

One makes a punch, and the other, instead of mantaining his dignity and walking away, responds with an attempt to sock his opponent harder.

Nearly every day last week, we saw a new ad paid for by the respective campaigns fully backing this playground theory. Instead of presenting campaign promises, they attacked at our sympathies and each other.

Slattery's campaign attacked Graves' acceptance of money from an insurance company that, I guess, is known for robbing the elderly, so to speak, (which was well planned, considering the power of the elderly vote). Graves came forward and brought up the fact communications and English.

that Slattery had accepted money from the same company, which happens to be owned by Graves' father-in-law, but returned it just before attacking

Slattery's campaign did a horrible turn by creating a testimonial ad to pull at our sympathies. This ad features an elderly woman with cancer. She tells us that her bills have all been covered by her insurance, and was outraged Graves accepted funds from a company that could have defrauded another person in her situation. She ends the spot by saying Bill Graves should give the money back.

The ad infuriates us by twisting our emotions, threatening us with our morales and our dignity to make us want to vote against Graves, not for Slattery. This is a cheap trick, indeed.

Graves rebuts by telling us every ad Slattery makes is a negative attack on him. Then he resorts to spending the rest of the time slot pointing out socalled bad things about Slattery from his record, making sure to point out his voting for taxes and cuts in Medicare. The ad ends by saying Graves talks about the future of Kansas, just not saying what he says about it (an enigma kind of like George Bush's one thousand points of light).

By avoiding the issues and platforms, the campaigns are ignoring many of us who did not pay as much attention as we should have in the beginning, when issues were more highly discussed.

Many younger voters are like this. Those of us who care enough to vote, and unfortunately, not enough of us do, often don't follow a campaign at an in-depth level for the entire year before decision

Kristin Brighton is a sophomore in mass

READERS WRITE

Drop letters off at Kedzie 116 or send them to Letters to the Editor, c/o John Meirowsky, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506. We accept letters by e-mail also. Our address is letters@spub.ksu.edu. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo identification will be necessary for hand-delivered letters.

▶ KSUARH

Group does not serve halls

What has a head as big as an elephant? Easy: KSUARH. Where do these people get the idea that they are God and therefore can make any rule they want and get away with it? I am a resident at Marlatt Hall, and I have some good friends at Haymaker, and I have seen the effects of KSUARH policy at both residence halls. I can't name one thing that KSUARH has done for Marlatt. As far as I've seen, we could do just fine on our own. I understand that our hall-governing board just voted a 1-1/2 percent raise in our housing fee that will cover maintenance for 10 years. That shouldn't be necessary. I think KSUARH should be paying for that.

We sponsor all of our social events. We've had a dance and will be having another one Friday. We've had a volleyball and a softball tournament and other little events. We do all of this by ourselves and with nothing coming from KSUARH. Why should we secede? It's like we already have. And yet they are trying to make us change our mind by having another of those infamous "discussion meetings." Nothing ever gets done. I think that those meetings are just a way to show that they care about what we think. It's another example of symbolism over substance. They think that by showing they listen, everything will be all right. Well, if things don't start actually changing, I don't see any reason not to leave.

Like I said before, I have some good friends over at Haymaker - another victim of the arrogance of KSUARH. As most of you will remember, Haymaker is locked (at the main entrance only) with Validine, 24 hours a day. They didn't ask anyone if it was OK; they just went in and locked it up. The question is: Why? Are they afraid someone over there will get raped? Did this "discussion meeting" accomplish anything? Of course not.

God help us if KSUARH ever admitted to making a mistake. I think KSUARH should try something new: listening to the people it governs. If not, it will be a governing board with no one to govern - everyone will have left.

sophomore in mechanical engineering

▶ ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Vote yes on question No. 2

I will vote Yes on question No. 2, the program for economic development. This is an investment in our future. As a community, we must contend in a competitive world.

When a company (whether it is Cessna or one much smaller) is evaluating alternative sites for its investment, it looks for a community that is confident and invests in itself.

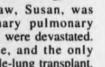

The sales tax will provide the means to make a difference in bringing good jobs to Manhattan. This is an effort to bring more stability to our economy. If approval of this question can bring in Cessna, that is great.

If Cessna doesn't come, we still need the program. It is not a free grant of money to a business. Funds will be used as an inducement for businesses to invest in Manhattan and create new and living-wage jobs. I encourage you to vote YES on question No. 2.

James Steichen professor in biology agricultural engineering

THANK YOU

Cultural Night helped daughter

When my daughter-in-law, Susan, was diagnosed as having primary pulmonary hypertension, my family and I were devastated. This is a hereditary disease, and the only treatment for it is a heart/double-lung transplant. Susan and my son, Steve, have been married for 20 years and have two sons, 13-year-old Ed, and 8-year-old James. This is the kind of thing that happens to other people, and when you read about it, you empathize with the people involved and then get on with your own life. It is happening in our family now, and we are coping the best we can. Susan has a very strong spirit, and if we can get her to the operating table, she will survive.

Last Saturday night, the international students at K-State, under the sponsorship of the International 66T hey dedicated the performance as a benefit for Susan, a person they've never met.

JOAN PARKER

Coordinating Council, presented Cultural Night at the Manhattan Middle School. A lot of hard work went into preparing for this event. They dedicated the performance as a benefit for Susan, a person they've never met. Through their having come in contact with me, they were generous enough to reach out to a member of my family. For years, I've known the international students who come to our campus are an exceptional group of people, but I was not prepared for such an overwhelmingly generous and loving act. I am deeply grateful to everyone involved and cannot find enough words to express that gratitude. All I can say to them and to all the other people who are supporting us with kindness, prayers and donations is - thank you, you have touched my

Joan Parker administrative officer in the foreign student

Athletes allowed to enroll early

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

early, Foster said. 'The University has made a decision that it makes more sense to enroll them early rather than do double work by enrolling them and then rearranging their schedules," he said.

Foster said there is no chance that athletes will fill a class.

There are only 210 varsity athletes at K-State, so the chances that they will fill a class are about zero," he said.

Foster said that while he realizes that there are other groups with equally demanding time schedules as athletes, they are not easily identified and probably don't have the schedules that athletes do.

"There are very few groups out there that have less flexible them to enroll early. Good or bad, schedules than the varsity athletes we feel that it's justified," he said. have," he said.

The reason athletes are different from other groups is because they have to enroll in at least 24 hours each year, or they cannot compete and will not receive their scholarship money, Foster said.

Foster also said he understands that students receiving certain types of financial aid have to enroll in just as many hours, but there are just too many students in that group to make an exception.

As far as singling out athletes without allowing other students with time commitments to enroll early, Foster said that was what the University decided.

"We made a decision to allow

Veryl Switzer, associate director, of intercollegiate athletics, said this privilege is a necessary one.

"We try to do this because of the rigidity of their schedules. We think this is conducive to allow those students to register so there is not class conflict," Switzer said.

Jim Epps, associate director of intercollegiate athletics, said he sees the need for early enrollment for athletes, but he said there are other students who also have a need for the same privileges.

"If you have iron-clad proof that you need to have early enrollment because of a part-time job or something, you can make a case,"

Dean's office offers scholarship help

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

searches. Students need to be very careful. Most just take the students' money, and they get nothing in return," he said.

Farrell and the Manhattan Public Library are also places scholarship information may be obtained.

"The library has quite a supply of publications on scholarships, such as 'Need a Lift?,' from the American Legion," Moeder said. "It offers a lot of scholarship information."

Many opportunities are overlooked, and many students are not aware they are eligible for scholarships, Bolsen said.

"Non-traditional students think there's no money out there for them, but there is," she said.

"There are many areas people don't think about," Bolsen said. "For example, the directory of Kansas Foundations. And this is just one resource. There's the College Blue Book, the Foundation

1,000 and many more."

Bolsen said many students are unaware of existing aids provided by the University.

For example, a booklet of scholarships is available for $1 in the arts and sciences copy center in Eisenhower 011.

Moeder suggested contacting companies various organizations to see what they

"Students should think about the organizations they belong to or their parents belong to and apply for scholarships," he said.
"They should look at places where their parents work and see if scholarships are available for dependents of employees," Moeder said. "Lots and lots of companies offer scholarships."

Although it may be timeconsuming, Bolsen said the application process could pay off in

"It's like a part-time job," she said. "It takes a little effort, but certainly the reward can be great."

Bolsen said she thinks many students don't have the perseverance or the help they need.

"I think students give up too quickly or don't have guidance," she said. "What is beautiful about our office is we will sit down and walk you through it, and that's what some people need."

Bolsen said the additional help Adult Student Services in Holton 201 provides can be beneficial.

"Some applications are more complicated," she said.

"Some need someone to brainstorm with them for the essay, like with the Dorothy Thompson (scholarship application, postmark deadline Nov. 1).

"They need someone to go over the essay. They need someone to check over their application. If they leave out critical information, someone else will get the money,'

Computers to assist voting process

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

recorded on individual expenditure reports

Mark Tomb, arts and sciences senator, said the regulations still need some work. Tomb was disqualified from the election last spring for being in a party that was not registered, but was later reinstated because the party members were denied due process.

Tomb also said he thought that a separate committee composed of different people should hear grievances.

"I think they need another layer before it hits tribunal," he said.

The Elections Committee has also proposed eliminating some rules that pertain to rallies, offcampus posting and distribution of campaign literature.

'We want to get away from micro-managed elections. We want to encourage spontaneity and creativity and have a free-thinking election," Norris said.

Another change in the elections could be the use of computers. Norris said this would reduce the number of people needed to work the polling place and count votes.

This would give us more time to concentrate on grievances," he

This is the first year that the Elections Committee is a standing committee. It has been meeting since the beginning of the semester.

Schneiter said he thinks the extra planning time will help the elections run smoother.

"Before, they only had five weeks to get the election together, and that was just not enough time."

International Study Tours

During Winter Intersession 1995

Australia and New Zealand

GENAG 505: Comparative Agriculture in Australia and New Zealand (3 UG/G)

A travel-study program to acquaint students with the agriculture of Australia and New Zealand and how it differs from the Midwest-Great Plains agriculture relative to climate, crops, soils, livestock practices, marketing, and cultural attitudes toward agriculture. The tour will include stops in Sidney and Brisbane, Australia and stops on both the north and south islands of New Zealand. Visits to agricultural research stations and overnight farm stays are also included. Associate Professor Keith Lynch, 532-1404. December 28, 1994 January 16, 1995. $1200 deposit due November 1; $2,700 balance due November 15; $225 (UG) or $336 (G) tuition due December 7.

Russia

HIST 103 and HIST 703: Moscow and St. Petersburg in Russian History (3 UG/G) The purpose of this course is to give you first, an overview of Russian history, and secondly, to allow you during January 2-9 to see the historical sites in Moscow and St. Petersburg where the country's political and cultural life have been played out. From the Kremlin to the Winter Palace, from fifteenth-century architectural monuments through the imperial period to institutions that have shaped Russian history for the last millennia. Occasions will be provided for students to meet average Russians, and experience the modern life of the nation as it sheds its Communist past. Associate Professor John C. K. Daly, 532-6730. December 27-29, on campus, 7:00-9:30 p.m.; January 2-9, Russia. $400 deposit due November 15; $799 balance due December 1; $225 (UG) or $336 (G) tuition due December 7.

Call instructors for details about these study tours.

Division of Continuing Education

England

ENGL 150: English Studies Abroad (2 UG) Travel abroad with selected readings, lectures and discussions which explore the relationships between literary texts and their physical and cultural environments.

Instructor Gary Clift, 532-6301. December 26-January 8. $200 deposit due October 18; $997 balance due November 15; $602 airfare purchase due November 16; $150 tuition due December 7.

IDH 782: Decorative Arts and Architecture in England (2 UG/G)

A study tour to acquaint the student first time in London, along with those who are repeat visitors of the rich artistic and cultural locations that make London one of the world's great centers of art and architecture. Experience through field trips, the major developments in London's architecture and town planning as well as related concepts in interior and applied design. View and study concentrated areas of design and furniture collections of the Victoria and Albert and Geoffreye Museums and interiors of targeted visits outside London. Study the development of English country houses (as has come to be regarded as the epitome of comfortable and gracious living, combining superb architecture, carefully integrated interior design, and well planned gardens,) such as the Elizabethan Longleat House. Become acquainted with England's rich examples of religious buildings, such as Gothic-style Westminster Abbey and Winchester Cathedral, baroque St. Paul's Cathedral by Sir Christopher Wren and modern Coventry Cathedral. Assistant Professor Ludwig Villasi, 532-1324. December 26-January 8. $200 deposit due October 18; $997 balance due November 15; $602 airfare purchase due November 16; $150 (UG) or $224 (G) tuition due December 7.

FINAN 498: England Study Tour (2 UG) A general study of the European financial systems, including the financial integration of Europe and the effect of this on U. S. and multinational firms.

Students taking the course will be required to prepare a report on their individualized readings and their observations from the visits. Assistant Professor Amir Tavakkol, 532-4375. January 2-10.

$250 deposit due October 14; $735 balance due November 15; $150 tuition due December 7.

GRAB YOUR FRIENDS AND GET SHOT!

YOU HAVE ONE LAST CHANCE

TO GET YOUR PHOTO IN THE YEARBOOK. NOVEMBER 1 AT RUSTY'S FROM 11 A.M.-4 P.M.

$3 OFF A RUSTY'S T-SHIRT IF YOU HAVE YOUR PICTURE TAKEN AND PURCHASE A 1995 YEARBOOK!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

► FOOTBALL

Schwieger sharing spotlight

Tyson Schwieger may not get much attention from the public, but his coach has definitely noticed him.

Coach Bill Snyder said he considers Schwieger a very fine player.

"He is a tremendous young man and has made improvements throughout his stay here," Snyder said. "He plays hard every week, and I'm very proud of what he's done."

Snyder said Schwieger deserves more attention than he gets.

"Tyson is an extremely fine player and is maybe a little bit underrated," Snyder said. "Mitch Running and Kevin Lockett have gotten notoriety, and Tyson has had the least amount of all of

"Yet, he's catching the ball as much as those guys and is playing with excellent consistency.

Iowa State coach Jim Walden said another K-State player has impressed

"There is no better corner in the league than that No. 1 out there, Joe Gordon," Walden said. "When you're a sophomore, and you line up and try to cover (Colorado's Michael) Westbrook one on one all night long and do it as well as he did it, that's good."

Walden said his quarterback, Todd Doxzon, should be able to play against the Wildcats after he was knocked out of the Missouri game in the first quarter.

"Yesterday, he felt much much better, and all indications show that he will probably be able to play," Walden said. "Unless there's a reoccurrence in the middle of the week or something he should be all right." Lofton recovers from neck opera-

Oklahoma State coach Pat Jones said receiver Chris Lofton is out of the hospital after surgery due to a concussion received in the Nebraska

"Last week, they installed that halo contraption on his head, which he's going to have to wear for 4-5 months,' he said. "They also fused some vertebrae in his neck, and he got out of the hospital Thursday and is now at

Jones said he is not sure whether Lofton's career is over.

"It hasn't been determined whether it's career ending, but I think it'd be doubtful that he'll play again.' Frazier applies for medical hard-

Nebraska coach Tom Osborne said quarterback Tommie Frazier has applied for a hardship year of eligibility. "I think it's been submitted to the Big Eight," Osborne said. "The area that's uncertain is simply how they count the Kickoff Classic. In order to receive an extra year of eligibility under the hardship clause, a player must have played in less than 20 percent of the games in a season. Osborne said the Kickoff Classic puts Frazier over the limit.

"If you exempt the Kickoff Classic, then Tommie has played in less than 20 percent of the games, and if you include it, then he's over," Osborne said.

Osborne said they were considering not going to the Classic before the Canty named player of the week

K-State defensive back Chris Canty was named Big Eight Defensive Player of the Week. He recorded 11 tackles and returned an interception for a twopoint defesive conversion.

Cats travel to Lincoln to face undefeated NU

K-State gets needed rest after match against 2nd-ranked Huskers

CRESTON KUENZI

K-State got back on the winning track Saturday against Missouri.

The Wildcats now find themselves in an unenviable position tonight.

K-State travels to Lincoln, Neb., to take on the No. 2-ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers at 7 p.m. today

The 21-0 Cornhuskers are coming off a thrashing of Colorado on Saturday and are preparing for their 13th consecutive NCAA tournament appearance.

Although the Cats took a game from the Huskers in the match earlier this year, Coach Jim Moore said it won't be so easy this time. "It's going to be difficult because we're certainly not going to take them by surprise this time," Moore said. "They just destroyed Colorado so they're definitely playing very well right now.'

Moore said his team will have an blocks during the match.

opportunity for some much needed rest after

"We need to try to play the best we can up there," Moore said. "We've had a lot of illness and injuries, and after this game, we've got a week off, so it will give us some time to heal.

Moore said it is important that the team plays well in order to get ready for the next three games and to make the Big Eight tournament.

We will have to beat KU, and if Oklahoma beats Iowa State, we will have to beat both of them also," Moore said.

K-State's record stands at 14-8 overall and 3-4 in the Big Eight after defeating Missouri in four games, 15-9, 10-15, 15-7 and 15-12. Hopes for a spot in the Big Eight tournament are still alive as well.

K-State is in fifth place in the conference the top four teams in the league advance to the tournament which takes place Nov. 25-26 in Omaha, Neb. Yolanda Young again led K-State with 17 kills on the night.

K-State also played tough defense with 24

▲ The K-State Crew had its annual class-day races this Saturday at Tuttle Creek Reservoir. The Crew has class-day races to give crew alumni an opportunity to row again. There was an awards banquet in the evening. Susan Hamma, crew member from 1980-83, has water dribbled on her while lifting the boat out of the water.

TODD FEEBACK

TODD FEEBACK/Collegian

Rowing to win are Jon Esau, crew member from 1989-91; Swede Gamble, member of 1963 founding team; and Grant Hebel, crew member from 1989-91 and senior in veterinary medicine, compete against the women's varsity/alumni eight. The men won the race.

Chiefs licking wounds after drubbing at Buffalo

ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -Safety David Whitmore, 24 hours after Kansas City absorbed a 44-10 beating, got on the elevator at Arrowhead Stadium and headed for the business

"I'm going up there right now and get my paycheck," he said, "before they take it back."

The good news for the 5-3 Chiefs after Sunday's debacle at Buffalo was on the injury front. Cornerback Mark Collins, injured so badly on the opening play that he was carted off under restraints, has "only" a very deep, very painful thigh

Defensive end Neil Smith's injured ankle was painful and swollen but apparently not a long-range problem.

Perhaps more worrisome is offensive tackle John Alt, who was still wincing from the back problem that he reinjured while tackling linebacker Darrell Talley after a fumble recovery. His backup, Derrick Graham, was having an examination for a shoulder injury.

Coach Marty Schottenheimer said Collins would be day-to-day as the Chiefs get ready to host the Raiders next Sunday night and reorient themselves toward their season's goal of the AFC championship.

"He had a little thigh pad in there, but it hit right on the side," Schottenheimer said. "He's moving around a lot better today. It's too early to know about this week but he's as tough as they come.

Schottenheimer said the restraining procedure was used on Collins because he was in such excruciating

Alt has been fighting a sore back for several weeks.

"Our obvious concern is this is lingering and lingering and lingering,' Schottenheimer said.

"The irony is that moments before he ended up aggravating it, he said, 'This feels better than it's felt in weeks."

▶ COLUMN

Oklahoma fans want coaching change

"After years of tradition, the Oklahoma Sooners don't lose games ... they Gibbs them away.

The above phrase, believe it or not, was printed on thousands of T-shirts and then sold to fans before K-State's game with Oklahoma last Saturday in Norman, Okla.

The suspect coach, Gary Gibbs, is on No, let me rephrase that. Gibbs just took a right cross from K-State and is down for the count. Ding, ding, ding. Standing outside of Memorial Stadium before the game, I watched as people paraded around the streets with their tickets held high in the air. "Anybody need two. I've got two on the 50-yard line. Anybody need two," said one man, wearing the freshly printed T-shirt. But nobody was listening.

I too had an extra ticket.

I couldn't Gibbs it away, either.

Remember the Big Three in the Big Eight Conference? It used to be Nebraska, Colorado and Oklahoma. Every year, those three teams would finish 1-2-3 in the league race, with the championship up for grabs.

Well, there is a new member in the Big Three. Yes, the Wildcats have booted the Sooners to join the elite in the Big Eight.

And don't be surprised if K-State remains in the Big Three, flirting with a conference championship for the next several years. At Oklahoma, however, it's time for Disgruntled Sooner fans left the stands in droves when the Wildcats began to turn up the heat on a cool, rainy day in Norman.

With 11:24 remaining in the game, J.J. Smith darted into the end zone, extending the margin to 28-6. K-State fans, which filled most of the southeast corner of the stadium, taunted OU fans, who were lined

With the 37-20 victory, the Wildcats moved to 5-2 overall, 2-2 in the league and umped to No. 15 in both polls. Providing K-State doesn't falter against hapless Iowa State, Missouri or Oklahoma State, the Wildcats will more than likely be spending Christmas up to get out the gate.

in Hawaii. Oklahoma, on the other hand, dropped to 4-4 overall and 2-2 in league play. The Sooners' postseason aspirations are in limbo considering they still have to play Nebraska to close out the regular

To understand the intense pressure Gibbs is under in Norman, you needed to look no further than a message being pulled by a plane during the game. "Hey Gibbs — Delta is ready whenever Former Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer, who is now the head man with the Dallas Cowboys, always talked about feeding the Football Monster.

DEREK

SIMMONS

No matter how many big games you win, no matter how well you compete with other teams around the nation, the Monster is still hungry.

Oklahoma fans are spoiled rotten. They got comfortable with watching the Sooners play for a national title year-in and year-

Losing, and that means losing to anybody, is unacceptable.

Larry Smith, who is now the coach at Missouri, knows a little about what Gibbs is going through right now. He felt the pressure at USC, a team that has seen plenty of glory days. But when Smith couldn't manufacture wins, he got the

"It's kind of interesting, the past two weeks you pick up their program, and they have a picture of one of the national championship rings on there," Smith said during the teleconference on Monday.

"People live in the past, particularly when they are glory days. Everybody thinks that just because your name is OU or CU or Notre Dame or whatever, that you are supposed to be undefeated all the time," he said.

"And if you are not, then it's the coach's fault." For coaches, it's a double-edged sword every year.

If you have a successful season, it's because you were blessed with abundant talent. If you lose, it's because you have a bad coach.

graded by their wins and losses. Injuries are no excuse. Players who cannot perform on game day is not a factor. Just win, baby.

But it's a simple fact. Coaches are

And in the end, if you can't produce the victories, like Gibbs, you pack your bags and call Delta.

Well, there is a new member in the Big Three. Yes, the Wildcats have booted the Sooners to join the elite in the Big Eight.

IVERSIONS

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Wednesday

Rules of the Game" - 8 p.m. at Union

Grand Illusion" — 7 p.m. in Union Forum Hall. Rules of the Game" - 9:30 p.m. in Union Forum Hall.

NOVEMBER 1, 1994

ED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873!99¢ per minute, touchtone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

11-1 CRYPTOQUIP

DKXYPUC AOBZZYX

ZUENY DUANKXT

HCKFC FUE UZNVT

ENBAHVYX

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TODDLER WHO PLAYED IN THE GARBAGE BIN WAS SLOP HAPPY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: A equals C

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

▶ FILLER ANDREW TOMB/COLLEGIAN a democrat Blah, Blah. The republicans It never would have are too negative. worked... That is the

► CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

▶ FOXTROT

BILL AMEND

Bewildered reader asks Cassie to provide demographics on Manhattan residents

Duveaux

Dear Cassandra,

There is an old saying about there being an a-hole in every bunch. Help me please!

Why does it seem like Manhattan has more a-holes per capita than any place else?

Is Manhattan the national breeding ground for these people?

Awaiting a response, In a Stink

Dear In a Stink,

I'm afraid I don't have much advice for you since you conveniently left out the specifics. What exactly seems to be the problem? Sure, Manhattan has its share of a-holes, but you're going to run into these individuals in any town you reside in.

I would have to say Manhattan has very personable, friendly people and is quite unlikely to be the national breeding ground for assholes. If it seems that everyone you're meeting happens to be one, you need to find a new group of friends to interact with.

Alternative band creates new style

Dillon Fence "Living Room Scene" Mammoth Records

Ratings: *** Sell plasma *** Check it out ** Think twice Giggle at it in bargain

If a band could have a split personality, Dillon Fence would be it.

The band's newly released compact disc, "Living Room Scene," is a blend of alternative, classical rock and blues.

During the 80-minute, 13-track CD, I often wondered if I was still listening to the same band. For the first five songs, Dillon Fence sounds like many of the other alternative rock bands out on The typical guitar-and-drum melodies, along with the singer's raspy voice, give the band a solid sound and a catchy beat. In the third track, "Queen of the In-Between," the lead vocalist, bassist and guitarist blend together in a harmonious trio of voices and complement each other beautifully.

The sixth song, "High School Sap," is the point where the band dives into a type of music far different from the earlier tracks. The musicians gently strum their guitars, the drum slows down dramatically, and Greg Humphreys' voice changes from a Rod Stewart clone to an almost eerie and romantic style. The next song begins with an unusual instrumental introduction, so unusual, in fact, that many alternative bands wouldn't dare try to incorporate something like it into their music. Madrigal bells, which are often heard in Christmas concerts or in church services, served as an opener to a delightful and upbeat song, named "The Day After Tomorrow." The last song is the most bizarre track on the

The mammoth 12-minute track, "Fayetteville," made me feel like I was in a nursing home one minute and like I was in a club watching a lounge singer the next. For a minute and a half, Mary Humphreys played a simple 1920s melody on a piano. After being a little shocked that something like that would be on an alternative-music CD, something else happened that was even more baffling.

he CD didn't stop spinning after the p stopped playing.

Five minutes of silence followed the brief intro-

I was about ready to turn it off when the guitars started up again, which startled me because I wasn't expecting any more music to be on the 13th

A 45-second set of guitars and drums followed by a few claps, and more silence led into a song by lead vocalist Greg Humphreys.

It provided a perfect end to one of the most unpredictable CDs on the market.

Pizza Shuttle

S250 Service Scholarship

Applications are available for the CHIMES Service Scholarship Monday, October 31 in the SAS Office.

Requirements

* Junior Standing * 2.5 GPA

* Exemplary Service Record

Due Monday, Nov. 14 at Noon in the SAS Office

Tuesday is MARGARITAVILLE "The biggest and best in town"

16 oz. Margaritas: Your choice - frozen or "on the rocks' only $2!!!

FREE CHIPS AND SALSA

Choose from one of our 20 tequilas.

3003 Anderson Ave.

537-8888

KSU Campus Ministries announces Days of Prayer: Gatherings for the entire KSU community.

Nov. 1 - 12 Noon REMEMBERING THOSE WHO HAVE GONE BEFORE US:

All Saints' Day Prayers Lawn of the Danforth Chapel

Dec. 4 - 1-3 p.m. ADVENT RETREAT

St. Isidore's Chapel, 711 Denison 5 p.m. ADVENT SERVICE Baptist Campus Center 6:30 p.m. POTLUCK SUPPER ECM Center, 1021 Denison

—DAYS OF PRAYER ARE OPEN TO ALL—

Sponsored by KSU Campus Ministries: American Baptist, Catholic, Ecumenical, Presbyterian and United Church of Christ, Episcopal, Lutheran-ELCA, Mennonite and United Methodi

Dominos Pizza HOMECOMING

+TAX One Large One Topping Pizza Carryout or Delivery -OR-+TAX One Medium One Topping Pizza

Carryout Only NOT VALID WITH OTHER OFFERS PLEASE MENTION SPECIAL WHEN ORDERING
EXPIRES 11-5-94

776-7788 517 N. 12TH St. Hours:

11a.m. -1a.m. Sun.-Tues. 11a.m. -Za.m. Wed.-Sat.

Rosalie Schmidt, teacher at Wabaunsee High School, Alma, helps her geography class with a jigsaw puzzle map of the world. Schmidt got a grant from the Rural Works program to go to K-State.

Program helps dreams come true

JANET McPHERSON

Collegia She used to come back to the house from the dairy barn at 7 in the morning to make hot breakfasts for her four children.

Now, at 7 a.m., she's on the road with her carpool for the 40mile drive to work.

At 42, Rosalie Schmidt is beginning her career as a highschool science teacher at Wabaunsee High School in Alma.

Schmidt graduated from K-State in July with a degree in secondary education with the help of the Rural Works program.

Rural Works helps farmers and ranchers and their families find ways to subsidize their farm incomes or make transitions from the farm to job or classroom training, Susan Durando, program coordinator, said.

Durando said the program is funded through a grant from the U.S. Department of Labor. The grant is administered through the Kansas Department of Human Resources and co-sponsored by the Kansas Department of Agriculture.

Rural Works is housed in the Farmers Assistance, Counseling and Training Service office in Leasure Hall. "We offer the same services FACTS does. We just have the money to back it," Durando said. The FACTS program was established by the 1985 Kansas problems and stresses resulting from complex social or economic situations affecting rural Kansas, according to a FACTS informational brochure.

"A lot of people think the farm crisis is over," Durando said. "I feel that we have a new crisis." Durando said some of the causes of this crisis are carry-over debts, drought and floods. She said people will call the FACTS hotline, discouraged that they don't have talents or skills. Durando said FACTS personnel help callers to see the skills it takes to run their farms or

She said often the producers or family members will discover they have marketable experience in finance, machinery repair, time management or planting and harvesting.

"Somebody somewhere needs to help them," she said. The FACTS office was able to help Schmidt.

Milk prices dropped during the 1991-92 school year, Schmidt said. She was working as a GED teacher and was inspired to go into teaching full time.

Schmidt found out there was support for her to go back to

She said the FACTS office helped her apply for a supplementary loan, and the Rural Works program helped with tuition, books and mileage to school during her last two semesters. Legislature to help alleviate degree in life sciences, and it took her 2-1/2 years to get her second

Schmidt said she already had a

Schmidt said Durando and Char Henton, FACTS family needs specialist, were very supportive.

Besides the money, the people I was in contact with were very encouraging," Schmidt said. "They're absolutely priceless."

"Char and Susan - I think those two are the programs' biggest asset."

Schmidt said she'd sit in class thinking about a downed cow or kids who couldn't find their socks and then think, "What am I doing

But now she said she wishes she would have done it 20 years

Schmidt said the biggest benefit of going back to school and becoming a teacher has been a rise in self-confidence and self-

"I needed to become more efficient," Schmidt said. "I am learning my own strengths and

She said she has been able to draw on her own natural talents that she didn't even know she had, which has been fun for her.

As the oldest of 12 children, the easiest part of her career transition has been working with "The kids are really neat," Schmidt said.

► FUNDRAISER

Man-Kan Campers raise money for needy

JANELL COE

Collegian The local chapter of the Kansas Campers Association, the Man-Kan Campers, is collecting tabs to benefit the Ronald McDonald House of Kansas and the Kansas Kidney Foundation.

"We found out about the project and started collecting tabs about two months before Nationals last year," Evelyn Lynch, KCA secretary, said.

The money raised for the project last year went to the Ronald McDonald House of Missouri, Lynch said.

The Kansas chapters combined, collected and turned in 200 pounds of tabs worth $1,200 at Nationals last year in Sedalia, Mo., Lynch

"We got a head start this year," Phyllis Cusic, president of Man-Kan Campers, said. "We have collection buckets located in Anderson Hall so far."

The money raised will be split in half between the Ronald McDonald House of Kansas and the Kansas Kidney Foundation, Cusic said.

Julia Jackson, KCA vicepresident, said the organization also recycles glass and whatever else members pick up when cleaning along the highway.

"We are a very active group," Jackson said.

The national, state and local chapters benefit a lot of people community-wide, Cusic said.

Man-Kan Campers helped with the water-safety project and also with the cleanup after the flood, Lynch said.

"We helped sandbag, and some of the members gave up their trailers and campers for the homeless people to stay in," Lynch

Club members made crafts for a sale to raise money to build a new

TO HELP

For more information on how to help, contact Evelyn Lynch, 539-7833; Julia Jackson, 537-1527; or Phyllis Cusic, 776-8153.

shelter house in the Tuttle Creek River Pond Area, Jackson said.

"Hopefully, next year we will be able to set up trash cans in Tuttle," Lynch said.

Anyone who wants to donate can take items to the following addresses: the Cusic's home at 1222 Deep Creek Road; the Lynch's home at 2830 James Ave.; or the Jackson's home at 3024 Wayne Drive.

We are always open for new members and to anyone who wants to get involved," Lynch said.

► K-STATE-SALINA

K-State planes aid students, faculty

HOLLY CHEGWIDDEN

University personnel may use University-owned aircraft from K-State-Salina for official business trips at low rates.

Tom Rawson, vice president for administration and finance, said the cost of traveling by University aircraft is from $1.50 to $2 per

Rawson said these low rates recover fuel, salary for the pilots and upkeep and maintenance for the planes Anyone on the University payroll may request use of the aircraft, Rawson said. The president's office decides whether to grant the request, he

The aircraft are piloted by senior flight instructors with airlinetransport ratings, Rawson said.

multi-engine Advanced commercial students are used as copilots for training purposes, he said.
"I think it's kind of a win-win deal," Charles Reagan, executive assistant to the president, said.

Reagan said it gives the student pilots experience in actually dealing with passengers and putting them at ease, and it also provides a transportation service for University personnel.

Rawson said the planes and other aviation equipment were acquired through a $7.7-million grant from the Department of Defense, issued about a year ago.

The planes used for University transportation are a Beech King Air C-90 A Twin Turboprop with six passenger seats and a Beech Baron B-58 Twin Piston Engine with four passenger seats.

The King Air rate is $2 per mile, and the rate for the Baron is $1.50

The planes are able to fly anywhere in the continental United States, but most of the flights are to surrounding states, Reagan said.

William Gross, associate professor and section head at K-

State-Salina's aviation department, said the qualified student pilots fly the aircraft from the Salina hangar to the Manhattan Airport.

Gross, a professional pilot, does all the flying while passengers are onboard, and the students co-pilot.

These flights help the students gain experience and also count toward their flying hours, Gross

The principal use of the planes is for training pilots, Reagan said.

He said the University uses the King Air about once a week and the Baron about once every two weeks.

"We're where we want to be with this program," Reagan said. "We want to make sure that the transportation tail doesn't wag the training dog.'

Gross said he would like to see the program increase its usage of the planes. It becomes more economical because the cost per hour goes down on the insurance.

"It wouldn't hurt my feelings to fly every day," he said.

Residence halls offer safe Halloween alternative

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

lot easier to keep track of the kids when they try to run off. "It's warmer and easier,"

Plummer said. In addition to just trick or treating, all of the halls that participated had each hallway decorated in the spirit of Halloween.

Some halls had cemeteries in their hallways, and West Hall set up a "Derby Disaster," made up of stuffed bodies of students who had dared to eat at Derby Food Center.

Some of the halls had contests to see which hallway was decorated the best.

"The best-decorated floor gets a free pizza party," Cindy Neill, junior in animal science and resident of Boyd Hall, said.

Commuter plane crash leaves no survivors

MERRILLVILLE, Ind. - An American Eagle commuter plane crashed Monday in northwest Indiana. There were no survivors.

Flight 184 from Indianapolis to Chicago went down about 20 miles south of Merrillville, the Federal Aviation Administration in Chicago said. The plane can carry up to 75

The plane was descending from an altitude of 10,000 feet to 8,000 feet when it disappeared from radar screens at Chicago's O'Hare Airport, said Don Zochert, with the FAA in Chicago.

The plane was an ATR-72, a high-wing, twin-engine propjet, Zochert said. It wasn't known how many people were on board

Four commuter airlines operate under the name American Eagle. The Eagle carriers are sisters of American Airlines and have the same corporate parent, Fort Worth, Texas-based AMR Corp.

The four Eagle carriers are Executive Airlines, Flagship Airlines, Simmons Airlines and Wings West. The fleet has 279 twin-engine, turboprop aircraft carrying 19 to 64 passengers.

A Little Space Can Say A Lot! Collegian Advertising _ 532-6560

"Our Business is Exhausting"

•GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE MUFFLERS*TAILPIPES DUAL SYSTEMS AUTO (AMERICAN & FOREIGN) •RVs•LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS CUSTOM PIPE BENDING •U-HAUL TRUCKS & TRAILERS

FREE ESTIMATES

2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. 1-800-439-8956 776-8955

K-STATE UNION

HALL ROOM 103

KEDZIE

PARKING

OFFICE HOURS

MONDAY-FRIDAY

8 a.m.-5 p.m. (Except holidays)

SOUTH OF THE

GET THE WORD OUT

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD IN KEDZIE 103

LASSIFIEDS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20 words or less - $5 1 DAY each word over 20 - $.20 per word 2 DAYS 20 words or less - $6.25

each word over 20 - $.25 per word 3 DAYS 20 words or less - $7.25

each word over 20 - $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less - $8 each word over 20 - $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

CYNTHIA, "IT'S OK guys, I can rent one of those machines from my store for $71" Happy Birthday, C.W. H.Z.

Parties-n-More

HOUSING/

For Rent-

REAL ESTATE

Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apart-

ONE-BEDROOM APART

QUIET SURROUNDINGS

776-3401.

lease, 537-8389.

For Rent-

Unfurnished

AVAILABLE FALL very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses. Excellent locations with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

*****

CAMBRIDGE

2 BEDROOMS

*FIREPLACE

*POOL

537-9064

WEEKDAYS

9:00-4:30

Apartments, four-bed

Laundry/ central air/ low utilities/ one and three-fourths baths. Not a complex. No pets. 539–4641.

ONE-BEDROOM. NEAR campus, 1807 College Hts., laundry facilities, central air. $405/ month. Jan.- Aug. 776-6313.

ONE-BEDROOMS AVAIL-ABLE at 1026 Sunset. $385- $395. Remodeled units. Central air/ heat.

Rooms

Available

blocks west of campus. 776-3804.

NEED A place to live? Fam-ily has room for femalel to live in. Board and

MALE ROOMMATE want eave message.

For Rent-

NON-DRINKER

Houses

food, exchanged for du-ties. References to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

ed $150 month, one-half utilities, own room in trailer, call 539-8449

smoker, for two-bed room place. No pets References. 539-1554.

CHASE

SQ. APT.

ment complexes and houses. Excellent loca tions with great prices 537-1666, 537-2919.

MENT, close to cam-pus. 1913 Anderson Ave. $280/ month-available Jan. 1 for study. Campus one mile, one-bedroom, some utilities paid. Minimum seven month

no

ADD A splash to your next bash. Great anytime. Birthdays, mid-terms and Wildcat victory par-ties. Wet-N-Wild Mobile Announcements 50 PERCENT off single sports cards! Just in-94- 95 Hockey and Bas-ketbell wax. Bases Load-ed Sports Cards 410 Poyntz, 537-4141. Hot Tubs, 537-1825.

BOCKERS II Catering.
Dances, bars, dinners,
Weddings, Alumni functions. Catering anywhere, discounts, Wareham, Days Inn, Houston Street. Call
539-9431. ADVANCED FLIGHT Train ing from 5000-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multi-engine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

CHRISTMAS OPEN HOUSE at Blooming Dale's, 1105 Waters— Sat., Nov. 5 9– 6p.m., Sun., Nov. 6 11– 5p.m. 539–4751.

BULLETIN

BOARD

Earn $15 each time you donate plasma.

BIOMEDICAL CENTER 1130 Gardenway 776-9177

MANHATTAN

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five air-planes. For best prices call Troy Brockway, 776-6/35 after 5:30p.m.

PLAN A stunning winter wedding with Bloom-ing Dale's winter floral. Ask for Diane. 539–4751.

WANTED: MALE vegetar ians for story in 1995 Royal Purple yearbook Call Nora at 532-6557.

Lost and Found

FOUND CAT around 1900 block of Hunting. Dark tiger stripe with pink collar. To claim contact 539-2605

FOUND: CROSS in Kedzie 106 call 762-8993 to OBJECT FOUND by red Baron on street bet-ween Ford Hall and VanZile Hall. Call 537-6028.

Personals

Thursday and Friday. Call 532-6555 for more info or come to 103 Kedzie Hall to place your personal. Deadline is one day before at noon.

COLLEGIAN

HOW TO PAY

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge in all returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

HEADLINES

a four-bedroom house. Nice, own room, spa-cious $187.50. Call 587-9131 ask for Heath-

ROOMMATES NEEDED for

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO car garage 5112 Murray. Near airport $500/ month. Two-bedroom duplex, 515 S. Manhat-tan $425/ month 539-7181 leave mes-

For Sale-

Roommate

Wanted

Mobile Homes

COUNTRYSIDE BROKER

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATE

AVAILABLE NOW. Large

LY: Two large bed-rooms in nice, spacious four-bedroom house.

Cheap rent plus utilities. Lots of extras. 587-9131: Sarah.

study room, laundry room, lots of extras

Low rent plus one-fourth utilities. 587-9131 or work 776-9759 Heather.

mester. Own large, nice bedroom in furnished three-bedroom house

AVAILABLE SECOND se-

AGE has 15 new and used mobile homes to choose from. Most on lot. We finance. Call Mike 539-2325.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you wan your ad to run. Classifed display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your a

FREE FOUND ADS As a service to you, we run for for three days free of charge. CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad-has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must cell us before noon the day-the ad is to be published.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, pi call us. We accept responsibility o for the first wrong insertion.

Call 532-6555 to place your classified.

Tutor

DIRECTORY

PHYSICS/ COMPUTER tu tor. Five years GTA ex-perience. Reasonable rates. Call/ leave mes-sage: 776-9317. Ask for Kip.

Typing

NEED SOMETHING typed?

I'll type it for $1/ per page. Call 537-9480 after 5:30p.m. Ask for WELL EXPERIENCED typist by day would like typ-ing at night. Laser print-ing. Call Judy 539-7100 or 456-9642.

Pregnancy Testing bedrooms in a spacious four-bedroom house with two bathrooms, Pregnancy

> Testing Center 539-3338 ·Free pregnancy testing

> > Totally confidential

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri.

9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Musicians/DJs

250

Automotive

Repair

DRUMMER AND singer

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 22 years ex-perience. Mazdas, Hon-

5p.m. Mon.- Fri

das and Toyotas also Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Kan-sas. 537-5049. 8a.m.-

needed for a heavy al-ternative, funkoblues band. Call 539-3926, with fireplace, washer/ dryer. Rent $190 one-fifth utilities. Call service 776-5966. ·Same day results AVAILABLE SECOND se- Call for appointment mester. Own large, nice, bedroom in fur-nished three-bedroom house with fireplace. washer/ dryer. Rent $190, one-fifth utilities. 776-5966. FEMALE ROOMMATE fo spring semester. Non smoker; three-bed-rooms; walk to campus; $215/ month; one-third utilities. 776-0096 after ROOMMATE FEMALE needed now or next se-mester. Five- minute walk to campus. One-third of bills. Call 776-6184. FEMALE ROOMMATE MALE ROOMMATE needed to occupy three-bedroom apartment at Woodway. $208/ month plus one-third utilities and water. Call Susan, 587–8270.

ROOMMATE FEMALE needed immediately to share three-bedroom duplex. Close to campus, washer/ dryer, own room, one-third utilities, $208/ month. 537-8967.

MALE ROOMMATE needed immediately. Extremely nice apart-ment. Pool, patio, own room. only $215/ month. Water, trash paid. 537–1679. MANHATTAN room apartments avail-able now, Corner of College and Claffin. CLOSE (ONE block), to campus. Two, three-bedrooms. Nice.

FEMALE TO share twobedroom apartment Jan. 1. Own room, free laundry, utilities paid. $202.50. Close to cam-pus. 537–4532.

FULLY FURNISHED house close to campus for fe-male. $280/ month all bills paid. 539-6098. RENT ONE of three-bed room apartment with two females. One block from campus. Rent $210, laundry facilities available. 776–1360.

WANTED NON-SMOKING

and non-drinking room-mate for basement fur-nished private bed-room. Walk to KSU. $150. Share utilities.

WANTED: FEMALE to share three-bedroom apartment with one and one-half bath. $220 a month, one-third utili-ties. Available Jan. 1. Call Marsha or Amy 776-0293.

150 Sublease

JAN. 1 one-bedroom fur-nished apartment. $250 a month, three blocks from Last Chancel 539-5571.

Other Services

CHANGE YOUR grades with Study Consultant. Free information $2 postage. Venus Co., P.O. Box 1351, Manhat-

and abortion services. Dale L. Clinton, M.D., (913)841-5716.

tion! Male/ female. No experience necessary (206)545-4155 ext

ATTENTION- COLLEGE Pro is now interviewing for Franchise Managers for next summer in KC, Wichita, and Topeka. All positions must be filled by February. Run your own business Build your resume and earn Internship credit while making good money to continue your education. I did it and made $10,000. For more information call Todd at 587-8255.

Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Central Distributors P.O. Box 10075, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate re-

SS FOR COLLEGE corporate scholarships and grants. No GPA or income requirements. No paycheck. Money back guarantee. Call guarantee. Cal (800)645-3525 for infor

PROMPT CONTRACEPTIVE

CAREERS

Help Wanted

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454. ALASKA EMPLOYMENT

Fishing Industry. Earn up to $3000- $6000 plus per month. Room and Board! Transporta-

Like to get people to-gether? Make $$$, gain excellent business ex perience and earn free travel by marketing our Spring Break packages. Call Blue Iguana Tours 1-800-868-7423.

ARE YOU an organizer?

ATTENTION STUDENTS

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING. Earn up to $2000 plus/ month
working on Cruise
Ships or Land-Tour companies. World travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.) SEa-sonal and full-time em-ployment available. No experience necessary. For more information call (206)634–0468 ext. C57682. PART-TIME STUDENT employment, ORSP Copy Center 10- 20 hours per week. Reliable, quick learner and ability to work without super-vision required; knowl-edge of campus build-ings preferred. Contact Dawn Caldwell, 2 Fairchild Hall, 532-6804. SKI RESORT Jobs- Hir ing for many positions for winter quarter. Over 15,000 open-ings! For more infor-mation call: (206)634-0469 ext. V57681.

SUMMER JOBS OUT-DOORS Over 10,000 openings! National Parks, Forests, Fire Crews. Send stamp for free details. Sullivan's 113 East Wyoming, Ka-lispell, MT 59901.

VARNEY'S BOOK STORE is now taking applications for temporary part-time full-time positions in the textbook department to assist with textbook buyback. Possible employment dates are Nov. 29 through Dec. 18. Day-Items for Sale sor with spell check and extra supplies. $125; B/W portable TV $10; Patio drape and brass rod. 539-5819. through Dec. 18. Day-time, evening, and wee-kend hours are avail-able. $4.30 per hour. Involves helping customers, moderate lifting and cleaning/ pricing books. All positions require diligence and a pleasant, service- ori-ented attitude. College experience is strongly MOUNTAIN BIKE. Schwinn Hurricane, 16-inch. Toe clips. Good condition. preferred. Apply in person downstairs at Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, KS. Dead-

WANTED DELIVERY and kitchen helper. Must person 116 Hunam Express.

line for application is Sunday, Nov. 13, 1994.

WANTEDIII INDIVIDUALS, student organizations and small groups to promote Spring Break '95. Earn substantial money and free trips. Call the nation's leader, inter-campus programs 1-800-327-6013.

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable such business oppor-tunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Busi-ness Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454. $1500 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars! No experience neces-sary! Begin Now! For information (202)298-9065.

PARKING

532-6555

532-7309

PROFESSIONAL, I need the help of a local dis-tributor who wants to earn up to $500 a day, from the comfort of your own home. Mini-mal investment re-quired. For more infor-mation call 537-0837.

MARKET

Wanted to Buy

WHITE WICKER furniture wanted. Don't store it for the winter. Let's deal! Call 537-4667

ELECTRIC WORD Proces

ICE COLD BEER and large selection of spirits at Polson Liquor. Conveni-ent westside location across from Alco at 3106 Anderson.

Also, stairclimber for sale. Call 539-9485 Leave message TWO SMALL deep freezes for sale, 5.1 cubic foot chest for $100, 12.0 subic foot upright for $150. Great to store 537-5667 after 5p.m.

Furniture to Buy/Sell

FOR SALE: ten piece mod ular sofa $50. 776-4401.

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique
Maul and Geeb Emporium, 6000 square feet,
antiques, collectibles,
estate jewelry, furniture, 4910 Skyway Dr.
four blocks east of Manhattan Airport. Open Tues.- Sat. 12- 6p.m. 539-4684.

435 Computers

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

Manhattan, Kan. 66506

OR WRITE

Kedzie Hall 103

COMPUADD 386SX16, 3.5 and 5.25 floppy, 85 MB hard, 4 MB Ram, 2400 bds modem, two joy-sticks, SVGA monitor, MS DOS 6.0, $700, call Mo 776-4110.

LAPTOP 386, 4 MB RAM, 40 MB hard drive. Needs battery, $400. Call Mike 395-4806. LASER TURBO XT 240

Meg HD, 3.5, 5.25 FD's, DOS 5.0, new monitor, loaded, $425 leave mes-sage 762-7661 Andrew. MACINTOSH COMPUTtem including printer only $500. Call Chris at (800)289-5685. MACINTOSH LC III 4/80 33MHZ like new, 14inch color monitor, ex tended keyboard mouse, 1.4 disk drive video support, Excel 4.0, Word 5.0 etc. in-stalled, only $895, 587-0948.

Sporting Equipment

MIZUNO MSX 1-3-5W Wilson Staff 3-PW Titleist DCI SW all excellent condition. Sun Mountain stand bag good condition. $600 1-395-5230.

MIZUNO MSX 1-3-5W Wil-son Staff 3-PW Titleist DCI SW all excellent condition Sun Moun tain stand bag good condition, $600. 395-5230.

TRANS-PORTATION

Automobiles

1950 CJ3A, Chevy 350 four speed, overdrive, Kayline top, much more, not show but very good, $5400 (316)835-2169 (913)537-2456.

1981 FORD LTD small V8 engine, runs good, body straight, good transportation. $400 cash 776-8590 or 485-2547 leave mes-1983 SUBARU Wagon-five door, sunroof, AM/FM stereo tape deck, automatic trans-mission. $975. Call 776-ACCORD- HONDA, 1982 four-door, five-speed, air conditioned, AM/ FM cassette, 90K, $2000. 537–8967.

FOR SALE: 1985 Ford Tem-po. Runs great! $950 or best offer. Must sell! Call 587-8817, ask for

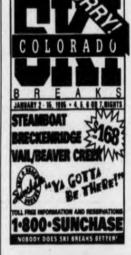

Bicycles

TREK 850 Antelope. Practically brand new, call Mike for details, 587-

TRAVEL/ TRIPS

Tour Packages

G H R

Airplane Tickets DUE TO Cancellation limit

et Co Cancellation limit-ed Las Vegas Thanks-giving weekend air/ MGM Grand/ Wednes-day- Sunday from KCI starting at $364, tickets available. Call Ann Chi-len, Flagship Travel (800)659-2303 or home (913)681-5251 (800)659-2303 (913)681-5251.

532-6556

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY 115 Rooms Available

010 Announcements 020 Lost and Found

030 Personals 040 Meetings/Events 050 Parties-n-More

Apt. Furnished 110 For Rent -

Apt. Unfurnished

120 For Rent - Houses 125 For Sale - Houses

130 For Rent -Mobile Homes 135 For Sale -

Mobile Homes

140 For Rent - Garage 145 Roommate Wanted

150 Sublease

155 Stable/Pasture 160 Office Space 165 Land for Sale

SERVICE DIRECTORY 205 Tutor

400

225 Pregnancy Testing 230 Lawn Care

235 Child Care

210 Resume/Typing

215 Desktop Publishing

220 Sewing/Alterations

240 Musicians/DJs 245 Pet Services 250 Automotive Repair

300 EMPLOYMENT CAREERS

255 Other Services

310 Help Wanted 320 Volunteers Needed

D FOR SALE 40% OPEN MARKET

405 Wanted to Buy 410 Items for Sale

420 Garage/Yard Sales 425 Auction

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

435 Computers 440 Food Specials 445 Music Instruments

430 Antiques

450 Pets and Supplies 455 Sporting Equipment

460 Stereo Equipment 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell 50 TRANS-PORTATION

510 Automobiles 520 Bicycles

530 Motorcycles

540 Car Pool

610 Tour Packages

TRAVEL/

630 Train Tickets 640 Bus Tickets

620 Airplane Tickets

WRITING A CLASSIFIED AD Always put what item or service you are advertising first.

This helps potential buyers find

CATEGORIES

looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category

and sub-category. All categories

are marked by one of the large

images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number

designation.

TIPS FOR

To help you find what you are

what they are looking for. Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations. Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBERS OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Recreational Services, Kansas State University, Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex

Watch for our full page ad on the 1st day of each month for program information and monthly calendar of Recreational Services Events!

individuals taking the following Items Into consideration can expect to have a healthler life. Physical Fitness Aerobic exercise three days per week for twenty minutes per exercise bout is recommended for proper fitness. This should include a warm-up and cool-down period. Walking, swimming, and bicycling are excellent activities for physical fitness.

■ Weight Control

It is best to maintain the body weight that is healthy for you. To lose weight and keep it off, change eating habits, reduce caloric intake and exercise regularly.

Events do not cause stress; rather, our perceptions of the event cause us stress. Imagine yourself being relaxed in a stressful situation to help thwart the stress of the actual event.

Blood Pressure

An annual blood pressure check is helpful in determining hypertension. Blood pressure can be controlled through moderate exercise, weight management, restricting fatty foods and curbing salt consumption.

■ Cholesterol The optimal level of cholesterol in the blood is around 200. Exercise and foods high in fiber can help control hypercholesterolemia.

Alcohol

If an individual is going to drink, alcohol consumption should be limited to seven or less drinks per week. Avoid drinking on an empty stomach and refrain from developing a frequent practice of social drinking.

■ Clgarette Smoking

If you do not smoke, try to avoid secondhand smoke. If you smoke, try to quit as soon as possible.

Vehicle Safety

Buckle up each time you enter a vehicle. Never drive under the influence. Pull over to dial the phone or look at a map. Avoid others driving erratically.

Working It Out= Wildcat Workouts:

make a difference.

Bring your canned goods for donation. You CAN participate in a great workout and you CAN relieve stress, burn fat, build cardiovascular fitness and help fill the Flint Hills Breadbasket in November? Yes, you can! Attend Wildcat Workouts regularly

"CAN you do it?" Can you during November and bring canned goods Tuesday, November 15, for donation to the Breadbasket. Last year participants in this special event workout donated over 90 pounds of canned goods. "CAN you do it?" Yes, you CAN!

Pool Action

Tuesday · November 15 · 7:30 p.m. Certified swimming instructors will critique your swimming style and share techniques to help you improve your strokes. Valid Student ID or facility use card required. This is not a "learn to swim" workshop.

Who's Who at Rec Services

Water Exercise Leaders in Action

KARLA JOHNSON is from Hutchinson, Kansas. Johnson, Junior in biology/pre-vet, has been a water exercise leader for Recreational Services since January. She said she became involved in water exercise while working at a YMCA in Texas. Johnson instructs both deep water jogging and water aerobics and said she enjoys the benefits of her work. "I get to meet people and have a great workout too," she said. Johnson said this type of exercise gives the body a better overall workout than a regular cardiovascular workout. In the future, she hopes to get involved with animal rehabilitation, which is done in the water. "This type of work would combine my love of animals and water," Johnson sald.

SHELLEY McCARTHY, native of Wichita, Kansas, has worked at Recreational Services as a water exercise leader and lifeguard for over a year. McCarthy, sophomore in kinesiology, said her interest in swimming triggered her pursuit of other types of water exercise. "Water aerobics is similar to land aerobics but is easier on the body and more comfortable because it is in the water where it is less hot," McCarthy said. She said that males and females of all ages attend her water aerobics sessions. In the future, McCarthy wishes to work as an aquatic director for a university or a health facility.

JADE MURPHY, also from Wichita, Kansas, has been working for Recreational Services since the beginning of the school year. Murphy, freshman in electrical engineering, is a water exercise leader and lifeguard at the Natatorium. She said that swimming has always been a big part of her life. "I started swimming before I could walk," Murphy said Murphy brought this interest in water exercise with her to K-State where she is currently instructing water aerobics and deep water jogging. She said she switched from highimpact land aerobics to water aerobics when she realized it was easier on her knees. Murphy's plans for the future include medical school. "I wish to become a doctor specializing in cancer treatment," she said.

Join the Fun!

Water Aerobics: Mon, Tue, Thu 11:30 a.m., 7:30 p.m. & 8:30 p.m. Deep Water Jogging: Wed 11:30 a.m. & 7:30 p.m.

HARRY KNOSTMAN, associate professor of architectural engineering and construction science, has been using the Rec Complex since it opened in October, 1980. Knostman, who works out four or five times a week, enjoys playing handball and using the cardiovascular equipment located on the second floor of the Rec Complex. On a typical day he uses the rowing machine for 15 to 20 minutes, followed by a game of indoor handball. "I enjoy taking a break during the middle of the day to workout and then I'm ready for the afternoon," Knostman said.

INTRAMURAL MANIA

NOVEMBER INTRAMURAL DATES TO REMEMBER

Event Entry Deadline: Bowling Bowling Tournament Entry Deadline: Sports Trivia Contest Sports Trivia Contest

5 p.m. 7 p.m.

Rec Services Office Union Bowling Center Rec Services Office

RC - Rec Complex

P - Pools

SEFORE BOB HAMELIN, WHO WAS THE LAST ROYAL TO WIN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE ROOKIE OF THE YEAR? The second annual INTRAMURAL SPORTS TRIVIA CONTEST will be held Thursday, November 17 in Union 213. Participants will take a 60 question test in the preliminary round. Four categories of sports will be covered on the test: Football, Basketball, Baseball and Miscellaneous. The top eight participants will advance to the final head to head tournament. If you are a Trivia Expert or a

(answer: Lou Pinella in 1969)

CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

The roofers have arrived, glass along the front of the building is complete and the skylights are installed. Site work has started in the front with sidewalks and entry ways being poured. We should be using the new gym for intramural basketball the second semester. The new offices will be open in February. The current office space will become the new entrance to the track. Weather permitting, the parking lot north of the building will be paved the week of November 7. Each day brings more excitement as the building construction moves forward toward completion in June.

Free Blood Pressure Checks!

-by Lafene Health Center -Tuesday, November 29 -5 p.m.-7 p.m. @ Rec Plex

Outdoor Rental Center

Rec Check

Rec Check provides program and facility information 24 hours a day by dialing 532-6000. Call Rec Check for Rec Complex and Pool hours, exercise sessions, intramural deadlines and more!

Facility users must be affiliated with KSU student, faculty/staff or Alumni Association

 Cards are not sold to the general public. Call the Recreational Services office at

532-6980 for details

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL Rec Check Rec Complex 532-6950 Outdoor Rental 532-6894 Business Office 532-6980 (Open Monday - Friday, 8 am-5 pm, including noon hour)

November 1994

Sports Buff- this contest is FOR YOU!!!

RECREATIONAL SERVICES ACTIVITY CALENDAR

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
	WATERWORKS latatorium)  DEEP WATER JOGGING  11:30am Wed  7:30pm Wed	1 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM11:30AM - 2:30PM5:00PM - 6:00PM7:30PM - 10:00PM Round 2 - Ind Sport Deadline	2 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	3 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM11:30AM - 2:30PM5:00PM - 6:00PM7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entry Dendline/ Bowling, 5 pm	# RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	5 RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM 7:00PM - 10:00PM
6 RC NOON - 12:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM 7:00PM - 10:00PM	7 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM11:30AM - 2:30PM7:30PM - 10:00PM  M Entries Begin/ Sports Trivia Contast	8 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM11:30AM - 2:30PM5:00PM - 6:00PM7:30PM - 10:00PM Round 3 - Ind Sport Deadline	9 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	10 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 5:00PM - 6:00PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	11 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM11:30AM - 2:30PM7:30PM - 10:00PM  M Entry Deadline/ Sports Trivia Contest, 5 pm	12 RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM 7:00PM - 10:00PM
		Weather Permitting -	Parking Lot North of Re-	Complex To Be Paved.
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
RC NOON - 12:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM 7:00PM - 10:00PM	RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM Round 4 - Ind Sport	RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 5:00PM - 6:00PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 5:00PM - 6:00PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	7:30AM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM 2:30PM7:00PM - 10:00PM
	Deadline	WORKOUT/ GAN You Do It?, 5:30pm		Union 213, 7 PM
20 RC NOON - 12:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM 7:00PM - 10:00PM	21 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM11:30AM - 2:30PM7:30PM - 10:00PM Round 5 - Ind Sport Deadline	22 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 5:00PM - 6:00PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM	23 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM11:30AM - 2:30PM7:30PM - 10:00PM Dec Card Sales Begin	Happy Thanksgiving!	All Facilities Closed.	26 RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM POOLS CLOSED FOR SUPER- CHLORINATION.
27	28	29	30		WILL DOA'T WORKSUIT
RC NOON - 12:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM 7:00PM - 10:00PM	RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM11:30AM - 2:30PM7:30PM - 10:00PM  IM Entries Begin/ 3-Point Shootout	RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 5:00PM - 6:00PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM BLOOD PRESSURE CHECK, 3-7 PM	RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM 11:30AM - 2:30PM 7:30PM - 10:00PM Round 6 - Ind Sport Deadline	6:30am M,W,F 6: 4:20pm Fri 11 9:00am Sat* 3: 4:	### WILDCAT WORKDUT: (At Rec Complex)    STEP AERO   CIRCUI'   30am   T, Th   3:15pm     1:45am   M,W,F   4:20pm     15pm   M,W,F   5:30pm     20pm   T,Th     30pm   M,W     00am   Sat*	Marie Santa

NOTE: Outdoor Rental Center CLOSED for the winter. Special requests for equipment can be made by calling 532-6980.

Pool use on T,Th, 5-6 PM, is shared with the Kinesiology Department. Participation is restricted to adult, fitness swimming and water jogging only.

WORDS OF WELLNESS: Behavior is a function of our decisions, not our conditions. Steven Covey

State Historical KANSAS STATE OLLEGIA

Section candidan K-State ambassador.

Exp. Date 00/00

WEDNESDAY HIGH LOW WEATHER - PAGE 2

NOVEMBER 2, 1994

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 99B, NUMBER 52

► CAMPUS

Students allege cheating was widespread

"One person calls a house, and then all the houses in the Greek system have the answers. Then they call their friends in the

A student caught cheating on a biology exam who alleges that the cheating was widepread in Greek houses and residence dorms."

AMY ZIEGLER

The answers to the biology exam were leaked from a student who took the early exam to possibly hundreds of students, 87 of which were for academic caught dishonesty.

A student who was caught for cheating and wishes to remain unidentified said the cheating scandal is far more widespread and goes much deeper than the biology department believes.

'It's been going on for years and years," she said.

She said no one broke into the computer system, but instead someone took the early exam and then passed the answers on to the greek system, the residence halls and to the rest of the community.

"One person calls a house, and then all houses in the Greek system have the answers. Then they call their friends in the dorms," she

She said the answers to each biology exam were in the phone-and-door room of her sorority house.

"It's domino effect. All the houses in the Greek system know about it. It's much more enormous than she (Diane Post, coordinator of the Principles of Biology program) thinks," she said.

She said she doesn't think the investigation is being handled fairly.

"It's been going on for three weeks now, and it's coming around to enrollment," she said.

She said she first received a letter from the University and was the eighth person to be interviewed by the K-State police.

"Everyone was telling them that they got the answers from someone who took the exam early. They said they would have ended the investigation right then, except they were trying to find out the person who took the early exam," she

She said since so few people were caught, the person who originally obtained the answers may not even be one of the ones who was notified by the biology department.

Several people out of the 716 students were singled out. while a lot of them slipped through the system, she said. It's unjust, she said.

She said she estimated around 150 to 200 people cheated on the exam, but only a small minority got caught by the University.

"They have under a 50percent ratio of catching people," she said.

Carrie Creager, sophomore in social work, said she was aware of cheating when she took biology last semester.

"It wasn't on quite a big scale as it was this semester, but there were quite a few people who were doing it," Creager said.

Creager said not all of the students who cheated on the exam this semester were caught because they corrected enough answers not to be picked up by the computer.

"I think people have been doing it all along, but when they looked at the answers and realized it didn't make sense, they changed a few answers, and it saved them," Creager

Post said any time you give an exam early, there is a possibility of cheating.

She said she gave an identical exam at the earlier time as the one which was given at 6 p.m. on Monday nights, because it was too much work to construct two different exams.

"Students don't realize how much time it takes to make a good exam. To make two exams in one week is timeprohibitive," Post said.

She said 5 percent of the students enrolled in biology took the early exam because of work or family obligations.

"The bulk of people

■ See CHEATING Page 10

Taking careful aim, Casey Brandt, freshman undecided, looks to "tag" an opposing team member during a sixon-six laser tag game Tuesday afternoon in the Union Main Ballroom. MARK LEFFINGWELL

Laser Ou

Students have a chance to fight a futuristic war

PRUDENCE SIEBERT

Screams, loud music, fog and flashing lights filled the Union Main Ballroom Tuesday - all part of a futuristic war.

Laser Quest, sponsored by Union Program Council, was offered to students for free, but for an expense to UPC of about $2,500.

UPC committee members said they were hoping for a good turnout.

"We're hoping to have at least 300, but since it's Homecoming Week, I think a lot of people are getting ready for other games," said Annie Gilliam, graduate assistant for the K-State Union and program adviser for the Eclectic Entertainment Committee.

Gilliam's hopes were fulfilled -Laser Storm attracted 420 participants from 2 to 8 p.m. Many of those participants, though, were repeat players.

"I was in the Union anyway, and this has kept me in here longer than I had wanted to be," Cliff Pierron, senior in radio/television, said.

"It's a lot of fun. I've played three times, and this will be four," he said.

Pierron, like others, was seen entering the battle arena many more times.

"I've been in there about 10 times," Sally Wallis, junior in chemistry, said. It's good way to get out aggression — yell and cuss and stuff. It's a good way to kill your best friends without hurting them. ALEX LANE, junior in civil engineering

"It's great. It's an adrenaline rush. 'We're awesome. Our team won 53-

5," she said. "We're becoming pros at this. We've had pretty much the same team. It's had a few variations.'

Kai Kaneshiro, senior in art and one of Wallis' team members, agreed they had become combat vets.

"We were doing so good, the guy that was running this grabbed a gun to help the other team," Kaneshiro said. "He alone killed our team 20 to 25 times. He got 20 or more points for the other team.

"Until that, we were ahead 30 to zero. They still lost. We beat them 55-25."

Another player, who could have been considered a pro by the end of the day, said he had not played before the opportunity at the Union.

"I like video games and stuff like that, so I thought I'd give it a shot," Jason Hamilton, senior in English and psychology, said. "Truthfully, it's a silly game, and I shouldn't be playing it."

Two teams of six players, a red team and a green team, donned headsets. sensors and phasers in this high-tech

Brian Riedel, freshman in computer engineering, said winning was a matter of getting set in an opportune spot.

You just pick a space, and you wait for them to pop up," Riedel said. "It's like shooting ducks. If you're the one to pop up, you're going to get nailed.

"It's like being in a shooting gallery.

■ See LASER Page 10

RESIDENCE HALLS

KSUARH policies updated

CHARITY WOODSON

The Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls passed a revised alcohol policy for the residence halls Tuesday night at the KSUARH general meeting.

The revised policy passed 15-8. "It was time to update it," KSUARH

President Lin Bliss, junior in pre-medicine and history, said.

Bliss said the policy had not been revised since early in 1992.

There was concern with the Board of Regents and the University attorney about loopholes in the existing policy," he said. "It is hard to enforce policies that are unclear."

The revision of the policy was also an effort to take away any liability exposure, said Shah Hasan, assistant director of Housing and Dining Services.

"That's where the loophole was that we needed to close," Hasan said. "We had to look at our alcohol policy and make sure that it works for our University."

Discussion focused mainly on what type of alcohol can be consumed within the residence halls by residents 21 years of age or older.

"We are concerned about the fact that you can buy 3.2-percent wine coolers, and the policy only allows cereal-malt beverages," said Matt Moore, Moore Hall KSUARH representative and sophomore in fisheries and wildlife biology.

The policy was later amended, allowing for all 3.2-percent alcoholic beverages.

The storage of hard liquor in the residence halls was another topic of discussion.

The previous alcohol policy allowed the storage of alcoholic beverages above 3.2 percent, even though consumption of anything more than 3.2 percent was prohibited.

The policy passed Tuesday evening by the KSUARH restricted the storage of alcoholic beverages as well as the consumption.

We had a problem with the issue of storage," Goodnow Hall KSUARH representative Jason Wagner, sophomore in architecture, said. "If people want to give hard liquor as gifts or take it to a party, they should be able to store it in their rooms until they do."

The wording of the policy was also a factor, and the board passed three amendments, making the policy clearer. Due to time restraints, the board voted to have remaining amendments until the next general meeting. The new policy will not go into effect until two weeks and one day after the next general meeting. ,

► SGA

Use for SGA money up in air

MIKE HIND

Members of the student body, Student Governing Association and facilities met Tuesday night in Derby Food Center's Gold Room to discuss possible uses for the $17,000 overcharge in fees for this

John Lambert, director of public safety, opened the suggestions with ideas students had approached him with concerning public safety.

lighting around the library, residence-hall area, Mid Campus Drive and Campus Creek Road were all student suggestions. He estimated the cost to be around $200 a light.

Lambert also talked of using the money to fund a police-escort service and additional bike racks.

Brice Hobrock, dean of the library, said that because the equipment budget was raided to help cover library construction, the

Lambert said additional $17,000 could be used to help furnish the library's future 24-hour study area

"Libraries are a bottomless pit for expenses," Hobrock said. "We've taken half of the equipment budget to help pay for the base bid."

Hobrock said the 24-hour study area will be equipped with stuffed furnishings. "We are going to buy

See USES Page 10

SGA election changes debated

NOLAN SCHRAMM

J.R. PRATHER

Students running for election in the spring may have more than just public scorn to worry about if they become corrupt.

A proposal was debated at Tuesday's Student Senate meeting concerning what do with people who are found guilty of corruption during their campaigns. Under current law, corrupt can-didates are removed from the ballot.

Under the proposed law, candidates will not be removed from the ballot. Rather, a press release that details the wrongdoing will be sent to the Collegian for publication, Derek Kreifels, legislative affairs chairman, said.

Students will then be able to let their respective senators know what they think about it, he said.

The proposal will return to the Senate Operations Committee for approval before being brought before the Senate again.

Among other items discussed was the formation of an ad-hoc committee to determine long-term planning for the Student Governing Association.

Casey Carlson, senate operations chairwoman, said SGA needs a committee like this to better see what they are doing and where they are going.

"We can't tell exactly what the committee will do, but we can

See SENATE Page 10

NEWS BRIEFS MA

▶ STOCK, WHEAT PRICES PUSH LOCAL ECONOMY TO HIGHEST LEVEL IN A YEAR

MANHATTAN (AP) — The index of leading economic indicators for Kansas was up in September for the third straight month, a K-State economist reports.

The September increase marked the first time this year the index had moved up for more than two consecutive months, Jarvin Emerson said Tuesday.

